of Andover

Hugh Stone married Hannah (2) Foster, daughter of Andrew (1) Foster and Anne---, Oct. 15, 1666(1667). While ^{he was} drunk, he murdered her by cutting her throat, on April 20, 1689. For this crime he was hanged on Gibbet Plain, out on the Reading Road near the Jenkins' place. Their children were :

John, (2), b. Nov. 24, 1668; m. ^{cousin/} Mary Russe, ^{dau. of John Russe, (2)/} Nov. 14, (1689)1690.

Simon (2), b. Oct. 8, 1671; m. Esther Foster, Dec. 1716; d. in Lancaster, 1747. In 1690, Simon served under Lieut.

Bancroft and was wounded during an assault by Indians on the garrison at Exeter. He had 9 bullet wounds and lay on the fields, apparently dead. Indians came to strip him, and trying to cut off his head, made dreadful wounds. The soldiers suddenly appeared and the Indians made off, having taken Simon's scalp.

While men were burying the dead, Simon was seen to gasp and he was hurriedly placed on a litter and carried to a surgeon. To everyones' astonishment, he recovered.
