"A man who does not know how to learn from his mistakes turns the best schoolmaster out of his life."—Henry Ward Beecher.

Possibly, during our existence as a dry goods firm, we have made some mistakes—everybody does. However, instead of blindly pursuing the same course, we have avoided all similar circumstances, and as a result we stand to-day at the head of the class in the Dry-Goods, Cloak and Carpet business.

Here are two mammoth stores, one on Essex street, the other on Common street; nearly 40,000 square feet of floor surface. The two buildings are so connected that they form one great establishment, which for architectural beauty, modern conveniences and business facilities is so far in advance of any other in this vicinity as to completely out-class them all.

An elevator takes you to every floor.
An improved electric cable cash railway "scoots" off with the money, and is back with the change in a jiffy.
Every department is a small store in itself.
Two floors for Carpets, one for Cloaks, and half of another for Underwear—that's the scale that our business is conducted on; you'll find it so if you investigate.
In Dress Novelies we lead. In Garments we lead. In everything we lead. No use to particularize. We are leaders, experts, masters in every branch of the business.

But do you for an instant imagine that we could gain this eminence if the goods, the prices and the treatment were not as they should be?
We'll sell anything in our line as low as anybody in the business—lower, if we can.
We will not handle doubtful goods.
Our clerks are courteous and attentive.

The publishers desire to express their thanks to the people of North Andover for the courtesy and aid extended to them in their labor of canvassing for the Directory, and also for the liberal patronage received for their first edition. While efforts have been made to have the Directory correct, patrons will please bear in mind the difficulty of compiling an edition of so large a list of names without an occasional orthographical error; and we trust that all who give the work any attention will look for its merits rather than its defects.
