TWO VETERANS LAID AT REST

Sp Sound for Last Time Over Comrades of Civil War. Members of Post 99, G. A. R. and Allied Organizations Pay Tribute

BALLARD HOLT
Ballard Holt, one of Andover's oldest and most highly respected citizens, passed away Saturday last, at his home on Maple street at the age of eighty-eight years and ten months.
Born at Chelmsford, March 20, 1837, he grew up at an early age with his parents, the Dean and Sarah Fletcher Holt, to the homestead at Prospect Hill, so almost his entire life was spent in Andover. Leaving public schools, he entered Phillips Academy with the class of '54, and at the time of death was one of the oldest members of the Phillips Alumni Association. At the break of the Civil War he enlisted in the 44th regiment, for nine months, returning to his home town at the expiration of that time, he again enlisted in Co. B, 11th regiment, remaining in the service until honorably discharged at the close of the war. He took part in many battles, being twice wounded. He was a Charter member of Post 99, G. A. R., serving in its various offices in that of Secretary for more than thirty years. He was absent from the meetings only four times in all that period.

At the opening of Memorial Hall Mr. Holt was appointed librarian where he will long be remembered by hundreds of Andover people for his faithful and efficient service for many years. Failing health led to his death at this time.

He was also Past Noble Grand of the Andover Lodge 230, I. O. O. F.
Beside his wife, he is survived by seven children, Mrs. Charles A. Bodwell of Bradford, John W. Holt, Arthur W. Holt, Walter Holt, Marion L. Holt, Percy R. Holt and Elsie Holt, all of Andover; two sisters, Mrs. H. A. Parsons of Andover, and Mrs. S. B. Wellington of Melrose.

Funeral services were held at his late home on Tuesday, members of Post 99, G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corp and Walter L. Raymond Camp Sons of Veterans, attending. Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, pastor of the South church, conducted the service. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery, the four sons of the deceased acting as bearers. As the flag-draped casket—surrounded by many beautiful floral and autumn tributes—was lowered to its last resting place, a most impressive committal service was pronounced by Dr. Bigelow.
"Taps" were sounded by a member of the girls scouts.

E. KENDALL JENKINS

Funeral services for E. Kendall Jenkins, G. A. R. member and former Essex county treasurer, were held Sunday afternoon at the family home, 39 School street. Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, pastor of the South Congregational church, conducted the service. Delegations from Gen. William F. Bartlett Post 99, G. A. R., the Woman's Relief Corps, and Walter L. Raymond Camp, Sons of Veterans, attended. Burial was in the South Parish cemetery.

The honorary bearers were J. Payson Bradley of Boston, Stanley B. Dearborn of Wakefield, both members of the Mass. 1st Heavy Artillery of which Mr. Jenkins was a member during the civil war. Henry B. Clukey, commander of the Gen. William F. Bartlett Post; John Cummings, senior vice commander; James Saunders, junior vice commander, and John J. Steward, chaplain. The pall bearers were: Joseph Foye, Ira Buxton, Charles G. Kibbie and Jesse Billington of the Walter L. Raymond camp. "Taps" were sounded at the grave by George Dove.

Tells of Experiences in Czecho-Slovakia and Mexico

Mrs. Claude U. Gilson gave the first of a series of lectures on Current History at the November clubhouse last Friday afternoon. Owing to the storm, not so many were present as at the opening of the department last year but twenty-five members enjoyed the entertaining account of Mrs. Gilson's experiences in Czecho-Slovakia and Mexico, both of which countries she has visited during the summer.
Tea was served with Mrs. Horace Poynter and Mrs. R. N. C. Barnes pouring.

To Lecture on Hornets and Wasps

Dr. Joseph Bequest of Harvard University will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Andover Natural History society to be held Tuesday evening in Punched hall. This subject of the lecture will be hornets and wasps.

Next Monday evening in Fraternal hall Indian Ridge Rebekah lodge will meet for its regular session and after the meeting a whist party for the members and their friends will be held. All members of the order are urged to attend.

A baked bean supper will be served in the Baptist church vestry on Saturday evening, from 5.30 to 7.30 under the direction of the senior Christian Endeavor society. Preparations are being made to serve a large number of persons and the public is very cordially invited to attend.

Pay Your Taxes on or Before October 31
As the first day of November, 1925, falls on a Sunday the question is raised as to what is the last day in 1925 under the provisions of Section 57, Chapter 59, General Laws, that taxes may be paid without interest.

An opinion from Jay R. Benton, Attorney General of the Commonwealth, under date of October 8, 1925, relative to this question, is to the effect that interest should be collected on taxes paid Monday, November 2, 1925.

This makes it necessary for the taxpayer, in order to avoid interest, to make payment on or before October 31, 1925.

Exhibition of Stone Graves and Idols
There has recently been installed in the Archaeology building, corner Main and Phillips streets, some stone idols found in an Indian mound in Georgia; also, a decayed skeleton, copper plates, and pearl beads. The original grave stones and earth were shipped from Georgia to Andover, and Mr. Moorehead has restored them exactly as they appeared in the ground. The exhibit is rather unique, and is open to the public throughout the week, up to 12 o'clock Saturday. The building is closed from noon Saturday until Monday morning.

Elected Cheer Leaders
At a recent meeting of the high school pupils Miss Jean Edmonds and Walter Markey, both of the senior class, were chosen cheer leaders for the athletic season. Both young people are very enthusiastic about athletics. Miss Edmonds has been a member of Punched basketball girls' team for two years, receiving her P and BB for good work.

Blizzard Howls in October
The earliest snow storm recorded in forty years, accompanied by a gale of wind, commenced early last Saturday morning and continued until one o'clock when the fall abated.

A sharp drop from 49 at midnight to the unseasonable temperature of 32 Saturday noon caused much discomfort. The thermometer stood at 63 at the same hour a year ago.

The slightly rising temperature of Sunday was followed during this week by typical October weather, bright and warm.

South Church Men's Club to Hold Ladies' Night

Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers will be the speaker at the ladies' night of the South Church Men's club to be held this evening in the vestry. This is the first time that Mrs. Rogers has spoken in Andover and it is expected that a larger gathering will assemble to hear her tonight.
There will be music by the choir and refreshments will be served.

Heart Day Held on Saturday

Although the weather of Saturday was very inclement, the young people who took hearts to sell for "Heart Day" for the Volunteers of America trudged about the town, and defied the snow and cold. The organization is very grateful to any who helped out this organization which helps needy women and children. Especially are the members of the organization grateful to the newspapers, the merchants who contributed liberally, those who sponsored the affair in town, and to Miss Margaret Hinchcliff who directed the sale of the hearts.
The children who sold the most hearts received prizes; first prize, Annie Baker, who sold $8.72 worth; second to Henry Lefebvre who sold $5.75; the third, to Jennie Shaneklas who sold $4.75, and the next two to Agnes Macfarlane and Eleanor Jenkins who were tied for this place.

Observe Anniversary of Affiliation with Grand Lodge

The sixth anniversary of the affiliation of the Woman's Auxiliary to Clan Johnston with the grand lodge was observed after the regular meeting held last evening in Fraternal hall with Mrs. David Forbes presiding.

A large delegation of members from Clan Johnston was present and in their behalf Mrs. Forbes was presented with a bouquet by Tanist David Robb. Grand Deputy Mrs. Tanish of Malden was a special guest of the evening.

There was a program of songs after which general dancing was enjoyed.

Refreshments of coffee, pie, ice cream, cake and cookies were served.

INSTALLATION AT FREE CHURCH

Choice of Rev. Alfred Clarence Church Approved by Council. Dr. J. Percival Huget of Brooklyn Delivers Installation Sermon

Christian optimism was the keynote of the exercises held in connection with the installation of Rev. Alfred Clarence Church as pastor of the Free Christian church yesterday afternoon and evening.
Following an organ prelude, the call to the council was read by Rev. F. A. Wilson, D.D., the oldest member of the Andover Association of Congregational Churches. Rev. Newman Matthews of the West church was appointed moderator and Rev. E. W. A. Jenkinson of Methuen, scribe. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Matthews and the congregation joined in singing "How firm a foundation."

The council was then organized with the following members:
South church, Andover—Pastor, Rev. E. Victor Bigelow; delegate, George J. Cummings.
West church, Andover—Pastor, Rev. Newman Matthews; delegate, Frederic S. Boutwell.
Seminary church—Delegate, George T. Eaton.

Ballardvale—Pastor, Rev. A. H. Fuller. North Chelmsford—Mrs. Yeomans.
Lawrence Street church, Lawrence—Delegate, Deacon Benjamin Smith.
South church, Lawrence—Deacon George E. Klein.

Riverside church, Lawrence—Pastor, Rev. Thomas G. Langdale; delegate, Deacon Wallace Apple.
Trinity church, Lawrence—Delegate, Deacon Wallace Abbott.
Lawrence United, Lawrence—Delegate, Deacon H. A. Howard.

First Congregational, Lowell—Pastor, Rev. Percy E. Thomas; delegate, Deacon Charles Randall.
Eliot Union, Lowell—Rev. Wm. B. Tut-hill.
All Souls, Lowell—Pastor, Rev. A. C. McGifford, Jr.; delegate, Deacon Dudley D. Page.

Highland church, Lowell—Pastor, Rev. Richard Peters; delegate, George S. Gilman.
First Church of Methuen—Pastor, Rev. E. W. A. Jenkinson; delegate, William Met-calf.
North Andover—Pastor, Rev. Clinton W. Carvell; delegate, A. A. Ariel.

Thompkins Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.—Pastor, Rev. J. Percival Huget; delegate, Mrs. Ida G. Keil.
First Congregational Church, Gardner—Pastor, Rev. Ernest E. Youtz; delegate, Dr. Herman Bone.

Congregational church, Willimantic—Rev. Arthur G. Wheelock.
Orthodox Congregational church, Biller-ica—Pastor, Rev. J. Harold Dale; delegate, Eugene E. Vining.
Rev. Charles J. Lowd of Methuen.

Pastor, Rev. Markham W. Stackpole of Milton. The records relative to the calling of Rev. Alfred C. Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., to be pastor of the Free Christian church were then read by Rev. F. A. Wilson, clerk of the church. His church membership was vouchered for by Mr. Wilson and his standing in the denomination by Dr. J. Percival Huget of the Thompkins Avenue Church of Brooklyn, N. Y. Rev. Mr. Church read a paper stating his religious convictions, his philosophy of life and his views on the Christian ministry which was eminently satisfactory to the Council. The roll was then called and many of the ministers and delegates in attendance availed themselves of the privilege of asking him questions.

Dr. Huget, with whom Mr. Church was associated for six years in Brooklyn, paid a generous tribute to the man whom the Free church had called to be its pastor, testifying to his sterling character, his loyalty, his patient industry, his fruitful service in the name of the Master as he had observed him in their daily associations as they worked together dealing with the anxieties and perplexities of men in a busy parish.

Mr. Church gave an account of his life, telling of his education and the parishes over which he had ministered.

The council then went into private session where it was voted to accept the choice of the church and Rev. Percy E. Thomas, Rev. William B. Tut-hill of Lowell and Deacon Smith of Lawrence were appointed to notify Mr. Church of their decision.

Dr. J. Percival Huget, pastor of the Thompkins Avenue church of Brooklyn, N. Y., delivered the installation sermon at the installation services which were held commencing at quarter past seven o'clock in the evening. The invocation was asked by Rev. William B. Tut-hill of the Eliot-Union church, Lowell and the minutes of the council were read by Rev. E. W. A. Jenkinson of the First Congregational church of Methuen.

Dr. Huget in opening his address expressed his peculiar pleasure in having the honor of preaching the sermon at the installation of Mr. Church and his deep personal interest in the occasion. He chose as his text the words found in the fifteenth verse of the third chapter of Joshua, "For Jordan overleth all his banks all the time of harvest," a part of the dramatic account of the wandering of the Children of Israel as they crossed the barrier to the promised land. Although the Jordan is in the story a barrier overcome by divine intervention, Dr. Huget said that it was also a prophetic and encouraging symbol of the recurring flow of divine blessing which flows down onto the lowlands of our life from the abundant resources in the hills of God.

He likened the periodicity found in nature such as the succession of the seasons and the alternation of day and night, and the periodicity of history to times of great moral quickening such as Pentecost and the Renaissance. Following the chaos of war he believes that we are on the eve of a brighter day. The bases of Christian optimism are hope, faith, experience and purpose and they have a direct bearing on three great problems of the present time, first, to whether civilization can solve its own problems; second, as to whether religion is adequate to the necessities and requirements of the new day; and third, as to whether in a constricted and ever smaller growing world,

LAWRENCE COLONIAL

Lawrence, Andover and surrounding towns are receiving the Norwood Players at the Colonial Theatre with open arms if box office receipts are taken as an indication of popularity.

Mr. Norwood has surrounded himself with a very fine lot of talented people and their presentation of "The Best People" this week at the Lawrence playhouse is really the most clever bit of comedy that has ever been offered playgoers at the Colonial.

ALPHA HALL
Norwood Players, Lawrence

The play moves along at a rapid rate with never a dull moment between laughs and a very natural but unexpected climax ends the performance just as folks would wish who witness it but who, however, are held to the last moment by the fact that the outcome of the characters portrayed therein.

New York and Chicago critics considered this play as Avery Hopwood's best contribution to the American stage when produced by Charles Frohman on Broadway.

Mr. Hopwood is America's biggest paid playwright, having amassed more wealth than any writer the world has yet produced and the really fine stock companies throughout the country are but too glad to pay immense royalties to reproduce his successes.

The offering for the second week by the Norwood Players is "The Last Warning" considered by all the reviewers as the outstanding mystery play in a decade. All lovers of mystery and thrills and not a few good laughs interspersed also, have a rare treat in store for them in "The Last Warning."

The story by Wadsworth Camp ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post as "The House of Fear" and was adapted for the stage by Thomas Fallon who is considered the most promising young playwright now staging Broadway successes.

Andover 0—Harvard Fresh 0

Andover and Harvard Fresh battled to a scoreless tie last Monday afternoon in a game in which both played straight football. Harvard had the best scoring chance in the final period when it worked the ball to Andover's 10-yard line, but the blue held for downs. Andover's only chance came in the second period, but Sandberg's attempt for a field goal from the 30-yard line who blocked. Richardson was the outstanding player on the field, his defensive work and punting being the best seen here for some time.

Capt. Harold Sandberg twisted his ankle in the last period and was forced to the sidelines and will probably be out of the game with Lawrence's High Saturday. Rideout broke a small bone in his wrist.

China and Japan Exchange Boy Scouts

Tokyo.—Fifty boy scouts from Japan will go to China this summer to pass several weeks in camps there. At the same time two dozen Chinese boy scouts will come to Japan for a visit.

The plan of exchanging boy scouts with various countries has aroused considerable enthusiasm among the scout leaders here.

It was stated that the boy scout organization of Hungary has begun negotiations with the Japanese organization with the view of exchanging visits. The Hungarian scout officials propose to send fifty boy scouts to Japan next year if a return visit of Japanese scouts can be arranged for the following year.

"Winchester's War Records" Commended

Among the numerous books printed this year by the Andover Press was "Winchester's War Records" and the publishers take satisfaction in quoting the following letters that have been printed and editor of the book, Henry B. Harris, chairman of the committee on historical records for the Town of Winchester.

October 10, 1925

Dear Mr. Cole:

I am sending you a copy of this week's "Winchester Star," which contains a letter from Mr. Lewis Parkhurst commenting on our book. Inasmuch as Mr. Parkhurst is a member of the firm of Ginn & Co., I believe you have reason to feel very much complimented by what he said concerning the work of the Andover Press.

Cordially yours,
HENRY B. HARRIS
Oak Knoll, Winchester, Mass.
Oct. 7, 1925

Mr. Henry B. Harris
Winchester, Mass.

My dear Mr. Harris,

I thank you very much for sending me a copy of "Winchester's War Records" recently published by the town under the direction of a committee of which you are chairman.

I have read the book carefully with very great interest, and wish to congratulate your committee on producing a volume of such value to our town. The binding of the book is most attractive, the typography good, the illustrations well printed and positioned on the page, the paper of excellent quality, and the work of the Andover Press to be complimented.

I am especially pleased that there has been brought together in this manner the names of all those who have served in the three wars waged since the town was incorporated. I note with much satisfaction that a photograph of the model of the forthcoming War Memorial has been used as the frontispiece. When this Memorial is completed and placed in position near the high school, I hope the names of all the soldiers and sailors mentioned in this book may be inscribed on suitable tablets which will be located in some appropriate manner adjacent to the War Memorial.

I was surprised to find how large a number of men represented our town in these three wars. It is a record of which we can all be proud, and this fact coupled with the splendid backing that was given by our citizens at home leaves nothing to be desired so far as the loyalty and public service of Winchester is concerned whenever the nation has been called upon to defend itself.

I have never heard mentioned before the fact that certain citizens of Reading were in the Civil War credited to Winchester. The story of our part in this war is told in a most vivid and interesting manner by three of our own citizens, and the memorial verses are most appropriate.

Chapters V and VI give a brief account of the divisions in which many of our men served in the World War, and the personal letters from the front show a glimpse of what war means, and will give future generations something to think about if we are again threatened with war. Altogether this book, compiled with so much difficulty and so much hard work, is a credit to all concerned.

As I understand it there is an edition of 2500 copies published, so that every family in town can have a copy by applying to the Town Clerk. I am sure that not only every family who had a son in the war but every family living here will want a copy as a constant reminder of the great sacrifice made by our young men.

I am glad to say we may be permitted to live on in peace and comfort and enjoy the blessing of a free people.

Sincerely yours,
LEWIS PARKHURST

Keeping Track of Time

A clock is useful for more things than a "time-to-get-up" alarm. It should stand for regularity in all health habits. Many people are not up to the mark physically because they are so irregular in habits of living that their body machinery no longer responds in a normal way. They may eat sufficient food and food of the right kind, and yet be underweight. This is very often due to irregularity in habits—a hustle to school or to work in the morning without breakfast, then a too heavy dinner. Meals should be well-balanced, sufficient for the body needs, and not over-sufficient. The habit of bowel evacuation should be a regular one. The largest percent of constipation is due to the fact that the individual has not established a regular time each day for bowel evacuation. In the same way, sleep will be soundest if one bedtime hour is kept.

How John McCormack Was Discovered

It has been said that the rise to fame of John McCormack, the eminent Irish tenor, who will be heard in recital at the Lowell Auditorium on Thursday evening, October 22, is one of the most remarkable in musical history. The question has been asked quite frequently: "Who discovered McCormack?" and there have been many answers. As a general rule the answers are wrong. The following brief but authentic sketch will be of interest at the present time:

John McCormack was born in the town of Athlone, Ireland, on June 14, 1884. He received his early education at the Marist Brothers School in his native town. At the age of twelve he was sent to Summerhill College, Sligo, where he graduated at the age of eighteen with the highest honors, taking all the prizes in his class in languages, mathematics and English composition. After his graduation from college his parents sent him to Dublin to take an examination for a scholarship in the Royal College of Science.

Apparently the idea did not occur to them that he would be able to turn his vocal talents to commercial account. One day he sat at the piano accompanying himself in one of his favorite songs, and a doctor from his home town entered the room. "Don't stop," said he, as McCormack started to get up from the piano, "begin it over again, and let me hear it all." When the song was finished the doctor took his leave. "I'm going to get Vincent O'Brien," he said, "I want him to hear you sing."

Vincent O'Brien was one of the most important musical personages in the Irish capital. McCormack sang "Then You'll Remember Me," from "The Bohemian Girl," "Young Man," exclaimed O'Brien, "there is a fortune in that voice. Don't you dream of being anything but a singer." Then and there it was arranged McCormack should become a member of O'Brien's choir at the Cathedral.

A few months later there was a big musical competition in Dublin. O'Brien persuaded McCormack to take part, and gave him private instruction. The young tenor easily carried off the first prize. His reputation made in the Irish capital, he became very popular and some of his friends organized a number of concerts with the object of getting funds to enable him to take a course of instruction in Italy. The concerts not only furnished him with the desired funds but added greatly to his reputation.

For two and one-half years he studied in Italy under a famous master, Sabatini, acquiring there the fine Italian legato and the perfect phrasing which made him a model of natural expression. "Hear my Giovanni," says Sabatini to his pupils. "His is the nearest of all to the perfect method of voice production. I am prouder of him than of any other singer who has come under my tuition." "When did you learn to sing?" someone asked of McCormack. "In my cradle," was his reply. What he meant was that he had always had the instinct of vocal expression. He did not mean that anyone can become a genuine artist without careful training. He is a consistent exponent of the gospel of hard work. Hour in and hour out he may be found at the piano studying new songs, or making sure of his absolute mastery of the old ones.

Andover people who wish to hear McCormack need not go or write to Lowell for tickets unless they wish to Gardner's Temple of Music, 379 Essex street, Lawrence, and Schack's drugstore, corner of Broadway and Lowell street, Lawrence, have secured a supply of seats in excellent location.

Punchard 7—Sanborn 12

Sanborn Seminary, outweighing Punchard High ten pounds to a man, won a hard battle Monday afternoon at the Andover playground. The Sanborn team was played, 12 to 7. The Sanborn team was a superior overhead attack which they unleashed in the second period. A 56-yard forward pass gave the winners their first score. Shortly after, two successive passes executed by the formidable combination, Cronin to Silverman, for a total of 35 yards, aided by a penalty inflicted on Punchard, gave the winners the second score.

Punchard waged a great battle even though defeated. Every member of the Sanborn team is a graduate of a high school and each one played on his respective school team. Sanborn was bigger and older, but although they knew more football than the Andover team they were not nearly as good in executing their knowledge of the game. They were better at hitting the line because of their superior strength, but Punchard gained as much ground by outwitting the Sanborn team.

A break of the game put Punchard in a precarious position early in the fray. They were defending their goal on the one-yard line, as the result of a bad pass, but Gordon Coutts, with his educated toe, kicked out from behind his own goal line, and the ball went in play on the 45-yard line. Punchard did not have any difficulty for the rest of the first period.

At the opening of the second they went on the offensive, when Coutts, the whole show in the Punchard backfield, picked up a loose ball on his own 25-yard line and ran to Sanborn's 45-yard line before he was tackled. Another Coutts to Doyle, and another, Coutts to Doyle, placed the ball on the Sanborn one-yard line, from where Phillips carried it over. Coutts kicked the goal.

The end of the half ended the scoring. In the first period all of the play was in Punchard territory. Several times their goal line was threatened but they held off the invaders when occasion demanded.

In the fourth, Sanborn continued to be the aggressor until Coutts intercepted a forward pass by his own 25-yard line. He was downed on his own 38 marker and from there his mates aided him in rushing the ball to within striking distance of the Sanborn goal. But Punchard was worn out and when they got the ball within the 10-yard line did not have the final punch to push it over. Just as the game ended, Sanborn kicked out of dangerous territory to the 50-yard mark.

Massachusetts Council of Religious Education Holds Convention

The convention of the Massachusetts Council of Religious Education, successor to the Massachusetts Sunday School Association, to be held in the North Congregational church, Springfield, on October 20-22, will mark the thirty-sixth year of the State Sunday School Association as reorganized by the late William N. Hartshorn in 1889.

Mr. Joseph N. Dummer, at present of Dummer Academy, was the first field secretary. He was followed by Hamilton S. Conant, general secretary for twenty-five years, under whom the Northfield Conference of Religious Education was established and a long series of inspiring conventions held. Reverend E. M. Ferguson, D. D., followed him in 1920, preceding the present secretary, Rev. Ivan S. Nowlan.

Among the more interesting events of the gathering at Springfield will be an illustrated lecture, Tuesday, in the North church, by Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, well-known missionary to Labrador. Dr. Grenfell will tell his wonderfully human story of the Northland and the insurmountable difficulties he overcame in his establishment of hospitals along the coasts of Labrador.

Other events are a young people's dinner, Tuesday evening, with addresses by Rev. P. F. Hayward, Chicago, superintendent of young people's work for the International Council of Religious Education, and Rev. C. I. Hellstrom, director of religious education for the Munn Avenue Presbyterian church of East Orange, N. J. On Wednesday evening will come the annual dinner of the Northfield Conference of Religious Education, and on Thursday evening the drama of "Amos," presented by local cast, directed by Mrs. Eleanor W. Whitman, Boston.

Among the morning and afternoon speakers on the convention program are Rev. C. N. Arbutle, Newton Centre, Professor of Religious Education in the Newton Theological Seminary and pastor of the Newton Centre Baptist church; Rev. A. W. Bevan, Rochester, N. Y., famous for his three-hour session Sunday school plan; Mrs. Maud J. Baldwin, children's division specialist, Malden; Rev. K. C. McArthur, rural secretary for the Massachusetts Federation of churches; Rev. A. H. Gage, pastor of the First Baptist church, Brattleboro, Vt.; John P. Whitman, recently returned from the Stockholm Christian Conference, and a score of specialists in religious education in charge of various conferences.

The association includes over 1800 Protestant Sunday schools, with a membership of about 270,000 persons. Any Sunday school is permitted to send the pastor, superintendent, and three additional members as delegates to the conference.

Essex Aggie to Play Manning High

The Essex Aggie football team will go to Ipswich next Saturday to play Manning High. A large number of students and graduates who live in that section of the county will be on hand to cheer for Aggie.

Committee Meetings

The work of the School year is now well under way and committees are holding regular meetings after school hours to advance the work as much as possible. The committee on assemblies and student welfare have had their first meetings and have outlined programs for the year.

How John McCormack Was Discovered

It has been said that the rise to fame of John McCormack, the eminent Irish tenor, who will be heard in recital at the Lowell Auditorium on Thursday evening, October 22, is one of the most remarkable in musical history. The question has been asked quite frequently: "Who discovered McCormack?" and there have been many answers. As a general rule the answers are wrong. The following brief but authentic sketch will be of interest at the present time:

John McCormack was born in the town of Athlone, Ireland, on June 14, 1884. He received his early education at the Marist Brothers School in his native town. At the age of twelve he was sent to Summerhill College, Sligo, where he graduated at the age of eighteen with the highest honors, taking all the prizes in his class in languages, mathematics and English composition. After his graduation from college his parents sent him to Dublin to take an examination for a scholarship in the Royal College of Science.

Apparently the idea did not occur to them that he would be able to turn his vocal talents to commercial account. One day he sat at the piano accompanying himself in one of his favorite songs, and a doctor from his home town entered the room. "Don't stop," said he, as McCormack started to get up from the piano, "begin it over again, and let me hear it all." When the song was finished the doctor took his leave. "I'm going to get Vincent O'Brien," he said, "I want him to hear you sing."

Vincent O'Brien was one of the most important musical personages in the Irish capital. McCormack sang "Then You'll Remember Me," from "The Bohemian Girl," "Young Man," exclaimed O'Brien, "there is a fortune in that voice. Don't you dream of being anything but a singer." Then and there it was arranged McCormack should become a member of O'Brien's choir at the Cathedral.

A few months later there was a big musical competition in Dublin. O'Brien persuaded McCormack to take part, and gave him private instruction. The young tenor easily carried off the first prize. His reputation made in the Irish capital, he became very popular and some of his friends organized a number of concerts with the object of getting funds to enable him to take a course of instruction in Italy. The concerts not only furnished him with the desired funds but added greatly to his reputation.

For two and one-half years he studied in Italy under a famous master, Sabatini, acquiring there the fine Italian legato and the perfect phrasing which made him a model of natural expression. "Hear my Giovanni," says Sabatini to his pupils. "His is the nearest of all to the perfect method of voice production. I am prouder of him than of any other singer who has come under my tuition." "When did you learn to sing?" someone asked of McCormack. "In my cradle," was his reply. What he meant was that he had always had the instinct of vocal expression. He did not mean that anyone can become a genuine artist without careful training. He is a consistent exponent of the gospel of hard work. Hour in and hour out he may be found at the piano studying new songs, or making sure of his absolute mastery of the old ones.

Andover people who wish to hear McCormack need not go or write to Lowell for tickets unless they wish to Gardner's Temple of Music, 379 Essex street, Lawrence, and Schack's drugstore, corner of Broadway and Lowell street, Lawrence, have secured a supply of seats in excellent location.

Phillips Bulletin Out
 The October number of the Phillips Bulletin, which will shortly be mailed to the alumni, contains, among other features, an article on William Augustus Stearns, of the class of 1823—later president of Amherst college—by Dr. Claude M. Fuess; a discussion of "What Education at Oxford Can Teach Americans," by John Crocker; a series of interesting notes on Europe, called "Flotsam from Summer Travel," by Professor Charles H. Forbes; an account of the recent discoveries of the department of archaeology in the Etowah mounds in Georgia, by Professor Warren K. Moorehead; and a description of the plans for the new George Washington hall now being erected on Andover hill. This issue is illustrated from photographs taken by Edward F. Ryman and William D. Brodwin of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.
 Among the school lectures arranged for the fall term are one on Nov. 3, by William W. Ellisworth, on "The Days of Great Elizabeth," and one by Alfred Noyes, the well-known poet, on Dec. 7.

Christian Endeavor Notes
 The Christian Endeavor meetings held Sunday evening had their usual large attendance with the topic "Stewardship" for discussion. This topic gave the members an opportunity to discuss the "Tenth Legion Department" of the Christian Endeavor organization, and it was pointed out that it is necessary not only to give money but also time and service to Jesus and His church. The leaders at the various meetings were: Daisy Stevens, Free church; Dora Dennison, Baptist church; and Fred Gould, South church.
 At the West church society meeting at the home of Frances Terwilliger, the members continued their study of "Progressive Endeavor." When the study is completed, several endeavors are planning to take the examination which is being given by the united society. The West church society will meet Sunday evening at the home of Roger Lewis.

 Looking Back Twenty-five Years

Miss Annie Smart and Miss Mary H. Foster attended the "At home" of a former Abbot classmate at Lowell Wednesday evening.
 B. Frank Smith and Benjamin Smith, Jr., have been spending the past two weeks on a shooting and fishing trip at Lincoln, Maine, and other places.
 H. A. Morse is taking a vacation of two weeks from his duties as clerk at Smith & Dove's mill, and is enjoying a visit with his brother, W. Byron Morse and family at Bayonne, N. J.
 Miss Alice M. Bell, daughter of John W. Bell sailed from Boston on the S.S. New England for Liverpool. She accompanied William Benton of Belgium, a flax merchant in whose family she will live for the ensuing two years. Mr. Benton's son will come to Andover to live with Mr. Bell's family while learning the business at Smith & Dove.
 Thirty-six new subscribers to the telephone exchange have been connected with central.
 J. Duke Smith, son of Joseph W. Smith, who was admitted to the bar in September is with the law firm of Storey, Thorndike and Palmer in Boston.
 J. Leyman Bilknop has resumed his studies at the Harvard medical school. Jack Belknap, last year's quarterback at Exeter, has entered the scientific department at Dartmouth college and will study mining and engineering.
 At the regular monthly meeting of the Andover Guild the treasurer's report showed that the cost of the vacation school was a little less than $500. The case committee approved the establishing of an emergency loan closet where physicians may find lint, linen, a cot bed, an invalid's chair, etc. Arrangements were made for a sale of clothing in October and the superintendent, Mrs. Frederick Andrews, was empowered to make arrangements for the sale of the vegetables raised by the pupils of the vacation school. The committee on music was authorized to establish a class in singing in case not less than thirty pupils promised attendance, at a fee of $1.00 for twelve lessons. A number of applicants were reported for various evening classes and sloyd work for boys was considered.
 At the Republican convention for Essex County, held at Salem, Edward B. Bishop of Haverhill was renominated for county commissioner and Arthur D. Breed of Lynn secured the nomination for county treasurer, defeating E. Kendall Jenkins of Andover, by only twelve votes.

Receives Historic Chair
 Phillips Andover Academy, has recently acquired through purchase, the historic chair in which Samuel Francis Smith wrote the hymn entitled "America." It is the only possession of the last surviving son of Dr. Smith, by whom it was sold to the school. With it is a brief statement regarding the chair's authenticity, showing that it has been in the Smith family for nearly one hundred years.
 It is appropriate that this chair should be in the possession of the academy trustees, for the house in which the hymn was written on Main street, is now used for school purposes and occupied by students. In the winter of 1832, Samuel F. Smith, then a young man of twenty-four and a student in Andover Theological Seminary, had a room in this house. On a gloomy day in February—the exact date is unknown—he was looking through some music books brought from Germany by William C. Woodbridge and given by him to Lowell Mason; the latter had placed them in Smith's hands, asking him to translate anything he cared for to or write marginal words to any of the music which he found in the books. He himself was looking for the tune of one of them, now called "America," and being pleased with its simple and easy movement, he glanced at the German words, and, seeing that they were patriotic, instantly felt the impulse to write a patriotic hymn of his own, to the same tune. Seizing a scrap of waste paper, he put upon it, within half an hour, the verses substantially as they stand today.

McCarthy and Carrolls Win
 The McCarthys and the Carrolls were the victorious teams in the Andover duck pin league Tuesday on the Essex Street alleys, each taking three points from the Porters and Sutcliffes respectively. In the Carroll and Sutcliffe engagement, Captain Sutcliffe was high man with 316. His single of 120 was also high. Carroll was runner up with a mark of 306. The scores:

Officers of Andover club were elected as follows: President, George H. Poor; vice president, Peter D. Smith; treasurer, Barrett Rogers; clerk, Charles L. White; directors, George H. Torr, Arthur Bliss, J. Newton Cole, J. A. Smart, and Lyman A. Belknap; entertainment committee, T. F. Pratt, H. B. Lewis, J. W. Manning, Walter Buck and Howard F. Wilson.
 In Andover, October 11, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Jenkins.
 In Cleveland, Ohio, October 10, a son, Harold Webster, to Mr. and Mrs. George D. Pettee.
 President Daniel H. Poor of the Ballardvale society presided at the quarterly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Union held in the West Parish church. A committee consisting of Albert Greenwood, chairman, Ballardvale, Miss Ella Holt, West, Charles W. Richardson, Free, Miss Lucy Mason, South, Perley F. Gilbert, Baptist, and Charles T. Woodbury, North Andover, was appointed to make nominations for officers to be elected at the next quarterly meeting.
 Miss Florence Richardson, daughter of John W. Richardson of Elm street, was pleasantly surprised by a number of her schoolmates who gathered at her home at twelve o'clock to help observe her thirteenth birthday. In order that Miss Flossie might be properly astounded on her return home her teacher kept her after school while she wrote a note to her mother. Alas! the young note bearer was curious, and a peep at what teacher had written prepared her for what was to be found at home. Games and music made the time speed all too rapidly. One of the delightful features of the affair was that each young lady brought a gift to Miss Flossie. During the afternoon, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Those present were Elsie Saunders, Mabel Foster, Mildred Ward, Ethel Rowe, Flora Lewis, Lydia Clark, Edith Clark, Ada Cole, Marion Dearborn, Lulu Abbott and Dorothy Wakefield.
 At the Arlington street church, Boston, occurred the wedding of Miss Alice Myrick Chase, daughter of Sydney Chase, treasurer of the stock exchange, and Dr. William P. Graves, son of Prof. William B. Graves of Phillips academy.
 The marriage of Miss Lucy M. Carleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Carleton of Reading, to Stuart Sargent Bell, son of Mrs. C. H. Bell of Frye Village, occurred at the home of the bride on Temple street, Reading, on October 4.

Reading Woman's Club Collects Interesting Statistics
 Of the 2076 family dwellings in Reading a large percentage are lighted by electricity. Those connected with the gas mains number 1269 and the average yearly gas bill per family as shown by the records is $37.00. These and other interesting statistics have been ascertained by the Reading Woman's Club.
 About a year ago the American Home Department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs started a nation wide canvass to ascertain the general sanitary conditions existing throughout the country.
 Each club has been furnished with a questionnaire seeking for information on this subject and many of them have enthusiastically entered into the spirit of the inquiry. Their findings are more or less official, as they were instructed in ways and means, one of which was to obtain much of this information from the books of the various private service companies, who have cooperated in every way possible.
 Other interesting facts brought out by this inquiry show that, by the telephone company records 1880 families are provided with telephone connection and 1360 according to tax records have automobiles. Other information is to the effect that Reading is fast making sewer connection, there is State inspection of drinkin' water, garbage disposal is arranged for, and that the general wage paid for household help is $11.00 a week, when board and lodging is included, and 40 cents an hour when the helper comes daily.—The Reading Chronicle, October 9, 1925.

Man and the Machine

Usually it is assumed that the coming of the Machine was of unmixed benefit to mankind. But occasionally some one comes along and points out to us in glowing terms the many blessings that have accompanied the development of our Machine Age. One such spirited account is to be found on Mr. Ford's page of the Dearborn Independent of recent date. Following is an extract from this enthusiastic editorial.

"Man minus the Machine is a slave; Man plus the Machine is a freeman. Contrast the people whose bodies are their only machines, and people who have modern mechanical inventions, and see who is slave and who is free. People who are capable of and fit for freedom liberate themselves from physical thralldom by substituting mind for muscle. The sail lathered man from slavery to the oar. The Machine releases man's energies from physical channels to higher activities. The Machine is man's dependable and multitudinous servant. Yet there are those who say that the Machine enslaves Men. Quite the contrary is true."

How attractive the industrial life of today would be were this Utopian view an accurate description of actual conditions! It seems, however, to be more ideal than real. It is true that about 1800, after the beginning of the Industrial Revolution, it was commonly expected that a new and wonderful era was to ensue in which man would sit by and let the newly discovered mechanical devices do the work for him. The near future was then pictured in much the same terms that Mr. Ford describes present-day conditions. Unluckily these predictions failed to materialize. On the contrary mankind was plunged into a serfdom to the newly-established industrial order such as it had probably never known before. Hours of work, instead of being shorter, became much longer. The factory brought with it, in addition to the twelve and fourteen-hour days for men, rigorous discipline, and (what was far worse) long hours of woman and child labor. Before the machine and the factory a shoe maker worked in his own home as hard or as easily as he pleased. He was his own master. His toil was cheered by the company of his wife. Often the cry and presence of his children would accompany his work at the last. And when he felt like stopping work there was no one to gainsay his intentions.

How different this is from the factory! Consider the monotonous, routine, irksome performance of thousands of men in Mr. Ford's own plants. Men known as "Bolt 17" are converted from human beings with emotions into very machines as they repeat their specialized operations with almost clock-like precision thousands of times daily, day after day. If such a worker is a free man, if he substitutes mind for muscle and so liberates himself from physical thralldom or releases his energies to higher activities, such a transformation is difficult indeed to follow. If Mr. Ford's many workers took their attention off their exacting work and let their energies wander to channels however high, there would be a multitude of sorry looking machines rattling along our highways.

It is true that sail replaced the oar. But the sail, in turn, gave way to steam. The coal heaver down in the dark, hot, dirty stokehold merits a great deal of sympathy if he would not rather spend his time pulling at an oar on deck in the fresh air.

The gasoline motor is probably the latest of the machines which have transformed our habits and methods. And yet, did not the driver of the slow moving yoke of oxen or of a team of horses feel far more free than a person who today drives a ten-ton truck through our streets all day? If either were to be called a slave, that obnoxious term would be more fitting to the man driving a faster, far heavier vehicle through road and traffic conditions requiring his undivided attention at all times. To say the least, the truck driver's work is far more machine-like.

All this is not said in condemnation of our machine age. There are advantages which compensate for the more exacting requirements of our modern industrial life. Chief among these is a tremendous increase in the production of necessities and luxuries which even the humblest laborer enjoys. But that the machine has on the whole tended to make men more mechanical in their tasks is a conclusion which seems inescapable.

Fortunately the sad industrial conditions which held a century ago are disappearing. The life which Carlyle vividly described in his "Past and Present" are now things of the past—even if not a distant past. There is, however, still vast need for improvement in the form of better working conditions, shorter hours, and the abolition of certain disgraceful child labor conditions in the South. Public opinion has been forming rapidly on these questions in the last few years and one of the most notable results has been the termination of the twelve-hour day in the steel industry. All this is of course encouraging.

Mr. Ford's position leaves nothing to be desired. For if man be free, he should be fully content. It is only when we regard the machine as limiting man's freedom that the situation can be regarded as a problem which is not yet wholly solved. Those who look at our industrial life in this light, while not complacent in their attitude, are nevertheless hopeful that in the near future conditions will be so improved that man will be as free as our machine age will permit. More than this can not be expected for the machine is here to stay. Our duty is to see that it does not get the best of us.

Tuesday Club Rummage Sale

The Guild will open at nine o'clock on the morning of Friday, October 24, for the rummage sale the Tuesday Club will hold at that time.

There will be an attractive assortment of useful articles in all departments, and early attendants will secure the best selections.

The Guild will be open to receive contributions on Wednesday afternoon and evening and all day Thursday. Anyone wishing to have packages collected, will please notify Mrs. M. W. Colquhoun, telephone 260, or Mrs. F. H. Hardy, telephone 69.

Please notice the sale closes at 6 p.m., and plan to come early.

The committee has received an auraphone which will be disposed of in connection with the rummage sale. This affords an unusual opportunity to anyone desiring such an instrument and anyone desiring further information on the matter should confer with Mrs. M. W. Colquhoun.

First Recital at Abbot

The musical season at Abbot academy will open with a recital by Walter Edward Howe, on Tuesday night, October 27, at eight o'clock.

The program is so arranged as to include music of all the great (so called) National Schools, and a period between 1600 and the present century. Italy is represented by Corelli; Germany, by Brahms and Reger; France, by Franck, Ropartz, Reuchel and de Malingrean; England, by West; America by William Jones. Franck was a Belgian, but his life was spent in Paris, and his influence has been so great in French composition he is usually placed among the composers of France.

The only transcription of the program is the Suite of Corelli, which was originally written for the violin, and arranged by Noble, the distinguished English composer.

Mr. Howe frequently places a new sonata on his programs, and while the sonata by John E. West is not new, it is very unfamiliar in this country, and will very probably be heard for the first time by many Andover people.

Of the modern group, it may be interesting to know that Ropartz wrote the "Introduction et Allegro," for his friend Joseph Bonnet, who has played in Andover. "L'Adoration Mystique," is the third movement of a strikingly advanced symphony—"Symphonie Symphonique," of William Jones has been played here by Mr. Howe before. He includes it in his program again because he considers it a work of outstanding merit.

The recital is given without charge—the townspeople of Andover being cordially invited to attend.

- The program:
- Suite in F Corelli
  - (Prelude)—Allegretto—Sarabande—Gavotta Giga
  - Prelude, Fugue et Variation Franck
  - Choral—Vorspiel Brahms
  - Praludium Reger
  - Sonata in D minor West
  - Allegro maestoso
  - Andante
  - Allegro pomposo; Fuga Ropartz
  - Introduction et Allegro Moderato de Malingrean
  - L'Adoration mystique Reuchel
  - Pastorale Jones
  - Piece Symphonique

Tony Sarg's Marionettes to Appear in Andover

On Friday afternoon and evening, October 30, at the Academy chapel, Tony Sarg's Marionettes will appear under the auspices of the Phillips Academy Dramatic Club. In the afternoon, at a performance designed especially for children, the marionettes will present "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" and several specialties. "Treasure Island" will be shown in the evening. Both performances are open to the public. Tickets, priced at twenty-five cents and forty cents for the matinee, and at seventy-five cents and one dollar for the evening performance, will be on sale at the Andover Bookstore beginning Saturday, October 17.

Tony Sarg is conceded to be America's leading marionette producer. Competent critics declare his work to be an artistic achievement of great merit, as well as an amazing exhibition of human and mechanical ingenuity. The puppets, each one of which represents in its finished form, an outlay of several hundred dollars, are designed by Tony Sarg and constructed with a minute precision which reproduces such detailed movements as those of the eye-lids, jaws, and finger joints. The manipulation of each puppet is an operation of the utmost delicacy, for some of the more complex figures are controlled by as many as thirty or forty wires, all under the direction of one person. Each operator, while manipulating his puppet, also speaks the lines assigned to his character.

The Sarg marionettes have appeared successfully over an extensive territory; this is their first visit to Andover. Their coming is a rare opportunity for the local public to enjoy an unusual entertainment.

Wedding

MCCARTHY—CRAGIN

In St. Mary's church on Monday afternoon at two o'clock, Miss Rita Cragin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cragin of 35 Butler street, Lawrence, became the bride of William J. McCarthy son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwaid McCarthy of 26 Pearson street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Alphonse Martel in the presence of a large number of the relatives and friends of the young people. The double ring service was used. Prof. Thomas F. Leonard, church organist, played the nuptial music.

The bride wore a gown of pencil blue satin-faced broadcloth and a picture hat of blue panne velvet. She carried an armful of white roses. Her only attendant, Miss Cecilia Cragin, a sister, wore a frock of bronze and khaki satin-faced broadcloth and a picture hat of golden brown panne velvet. Her flowers were Columbia roses. John McCarthy acted as best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Cragin residence. Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy left later on a wedding trip to Boston and New York. They will be at home to friends at 27 Chestnut street, Andover, after November 1.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. McCarthy was employed in the office of the Shawheen mills. She is an active member of the Lady Louise Circle. Mr. McCarthy is manager of the Essex bowling alleys in town.

Legion Bazaar Committees Appointed

The following committees have been appointed to arrange for the bazaar to be held in the Town hall, October 5, 6, and 7.

Auxiliary Bazaar Committee—Mrs. Freeman Abbott, chairman, Mrs. Fred Cheney, Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Robert Franz, Mrs. Percy Dole, Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. Joshua Hilton, Mrs. Trautmann, Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. Rodger, Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. Garside, Mrs. Eastwood, Mrs. Hartigan, Mrs. Doherty, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Harry Gouck, Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Peter Markey.

Auxiliary to Hold Election

The annual election of the officers of the Woman's Auxiliary to Andover, Post 8, American Legion, will be held Thursday evening, October 22, at eight o'clock. This is the most important meeting of the year, and a large percentage of the members are expected to attend. At the last meeting there were two candidates nominated for the presidency, Mrs. Frank Foster and Mrs. Fred G. Cheney. It is unfortunate in one respect that the field is not more hotly contested. Both of the candidates for office have done their share in making the organization successful, and in the event of the election of either candidate the Auxiliary is assured the benefit of steady, quiet and constructive direction.

"ALWAYS AT YOUR CALL"

WE TAKE ALL THE HEAVY WORK

Only a Little Ironing for You

All Washday work is trying enough, but most women will agree that the muss and the lags of washing, and ironing of the large, heavy pieces is hardest. This service relieves you of all this, and at a cost which you will agree is most moderate.

We call for your bundle; wash everything in clear, sparkling water—without rubbing or scrubbing; rinse in oceans of more soft water, and dry in a warm, purifying breeze that penetrates every pore, giving sweet, refreshing cleanliness.

This drying leaves many pieces ready to wear. Heavy flat work like sheets, table cloths, etc., we iron. We leave for you only the ironing of the lighter pieces—all the washing done; all the drying done, and most of the ironing.

You will find this service most inexpensive—really less than what it would cost you to do this work at home.

Telephone today and have us take your next washing.

Welcome Home MacMillan Arctic Expedition

ZENITH WEEK Oct. 4 to Oct. 9

Our Greetings to Commander MacMillan and Commander McDonald—home from the Arctic. The story of the MacMillan Arctic Expedition—"the greatest expedition of modern times"—is also the story of another triumph for Zenith radio.

"Zenith" was MacMillan's exclusive choice because he had found by actual experience that it gave sure, dependable results.

Zenith radio in the Arctic established new records for long-distance communication, penetrated the heretofore impenetrable Auroral Band. On this, his latest voyage to the Frozen North, Zenith radio enabled him to keep in instant touch with America, Europe, New Zealand—to all parts of the world—and to send back word of his discoveries to the civilized world.

What was good enough for MacMillan, the radio he relied upon and never found wanting, is good enough for you.

At the time we welcome home the MacMillan Expedition we welcome also the opportunity to demonstrate Zenith—"the best there is in radio"—in your home, at your convenience. Call or telephone, today.

Abbot Academy Notes

Miss Ruth Marceau of the Latin Department has resigned her position as she is soon to be married to Colonel Frank M. Gunby of Boston. She has been a highly valued teacher of Latin for the past eight years, and in addition to her teaching has been in charge of Draper Homestead for three years. Miss Marceau will be greatly missed and the best wishes of the school go with her.

Her teaching will be carried on by Miss Camilla Moses of Winchester. Miss Moses is a Radcliffe graduate and has had much experience in various schools in Massachusetts, her most recent position having been in the Winchester High School.

The senior middle class officers are: President, Miss Nancy Sherman of Andover; vice president, Miss Sara Hazell Kiddle of Andover; secretary, Miss Frances Gould of Andover; treasurer, Miss Susan Ripley of Andover.

On Saturday afternoon in Abbot Hall, the seniors gave a clever presentation of a model class meeting.

Rev. Markham W. Stackpole of Milton, conducted the Sunday evening service in Abbot Hall.

Professor Walter Edward Howe of the Music Department, will give an organ recital in Davis Hall on Tuesday evening, October 27.

Alden G. Alley will lecture in Davis Hall on Saturday evening at 8.30 o'clock, his subject being "America and World Peace."

The public is invited to attend this lecture without charge.

To Speak on "America and the World Peace"

Alden G. Alley, soldier, traveler, and educator, will speak Saturday evening, October 17, at half past eight in Davis Hall, Abbot academy, on "America and the World Peace."

No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend. Mr. Alley is a native of Massachusetts; he was graduated from the public schools, and received from Harvard College the degrees of A.B. and A.M., and for years has been a teacher as well as a student of international affairs.

He travelled in Europe before the war and was there as Lieutenant of U. S. Infantry from June, 1918 to March, 1919. In 1922, 1923, 1924 and the summer of 1925, he made trips to study international conditions first hand.

On these trips Mr. Alley visited practically every part of western and central Europe now playing important roles in the great international drama. He was in the Ruhr during the period of French occupation; he has investigated conditions in Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Austria, the Saar Valley, and the other important European centers. This last summer he visited Danzig, the Polish Corridor and the Baltic countries to study the conditions on Germany's eastern frontiers which menace world peace. Mr. Alley has been fortunate in discussing European problems with the men who play important roles in settling them. Among the statesmen with whom he has conferred are Mr. Benes, Lord Robert Cecil, Dr. Nansen and Viscount Ishii of Japan; he met also the judges of the World Court and many of the leading figures in the League of Nations.

Phillips Andover Carillon Recital

The programme of the recital to be played on the Carillon of the Memorial Tower of Phillips Academy, on Sunday afternoon at 3.30 by Dr. Pfattheicher will be as follows:

- Gavotte (from the sixth cello s.) Bach
- Sonatina I II Pleyel
- Choeur (Variations with theme in Pedal)
- Dendermonde-Nees Schumann
- Sonata Op. 118 Schumann
- Rhythmic Dance for Carillon Traumerl Schumann
- Minuet (from Don Giovanni) Mozart

What for Benefit of Athletic Association

A whist party will be held in Punchard hall, Thursday evening, October 22 for the benefit of the athletic association. A large sum of money was realized on the previous last year and the committee are hopeful of doing equally as well this year. Many valuable prizes have been secured for the high scorers. Refreshments will be served.

The committee: Mrs. Frank S. McDonald, Mrs. Joseph Fallon, Mrs. Monte Whitcomb, Mrs. David Coutts, Mrs. Fred Adams, Mrs. M. E. Dalton; Charles Dalton and Arthur Fallon.

Gen. Garibaldi to Speak Here

General Peppino Garibaldi, grandson of the great Italian patriot, who is on a lecture tour throughout the country, will speak before Andover Post 8, American Legion, Wednesday evening, November 11. Gen. Garibaldi has spoken to a large number of people since coming to the country and his visit here will be awaited with interest.

Entertained at Luncheon

Mrs. Charles H. Forbes entertained at luncheon on Wednesday at her home on Hidden road. Covers were laid for forty guests.

A contest, centered about a beautifully decorated cake, proved very entertaining. No one was successful during the day by the women in charge. Mrs. Frank Buttrick was chairman of the committee and assisting her were: Mrs. James Purcell, Mrs. David Coutts, Mrs. Andrew Kydd, Mrs. James Gordon and Mrs. Martin Sawyer.

There will be a meeting of the boys' gymnasium classes of the Andover Guild at the Guild House, Tuesday evening, October 20, at seven o'clock.

John J. Keefe, physical instructor for the past three years, has been reengaged for the coming season and will be on hand to talk over his plans. There will be a chance for a few games during the evening. All Andover hot and cold, and marshmallow roast supplemented the picnic supper.

Baptist Church Endeavorers Hold Outing

Members of the Christian Endeavor society of the Baptist church held an outing on Columbus Day at the home of the president, Raymond Wilson, on South Main street.

A hare and hound race was followed by games played both outdoors and indoors. A hot and cold, and marshmallow roast supplemented the picnic supper.

Obsequies

FRANK A. SCHULTZ The funeral of Frank August Schultz, seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schultz, formerly of Boston, took place at West Tisbury, Sunday afternoon, with the Rev. George A. Furness, pastor of West Tisbury church, officiating. The high and grammar schools turned out in a body, bearing flowers, and Bugler Robert Woodman sounded taps. The bearers were Charles Turner, Albert S. Cahoon, Jr., Norman Alley and Frank Silva.

The body was carried to Tisbury from Boston, where services were held at the Church of the Advent. There the Rev. Dr. John Higginson Cabot, former rector of Martha's Vineyard, and a friend of the dead lad, officiated.

Young Schultz was an upper classman of Phillips Academy, where he died on Thursday of last week. Last June he was awarded the Gordon Ferguson Allen Memorial scholarship of $250 for character and promise. The lad is survived by his parents and a brother and a sister.

GEORGE F. MINOR The funeral of George F. Minor, who passed away Tuesday, October 6, at the family home, 71 Main street, was held at the South church at 2.30 o'clock last Friday. Services were conducted by Rev. E. Victor Bigelow. Burial was in the South church cemetery.

The bearers were: Wakefield, Malcolm, Gordon and Payson Minor, all grandsons of the deceased.

Mr. Minor was an active member of the South church. He was superintendent of the Sunday school for many years, and a deacon of the church. He was born in India in 1840, his parents being among the early missionaries to that country. He came to Andover nearly fifty years ago.

Attend Dedication in Orange

Twenty-one members of the local chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star attended the dedication of the Eastern Star home recently purchased in Orange. The trip was made by motor bus.

The morning there was a parade, the Andover delegation being distinguished by paper pompons in the five colors of the star. At the dedication exercises in the afternoon addresses were made by the grand officers of the order.

Obituaries

ANDREW A. BROWN "Andrew A. Brown, leading figure in the American sugar industry for two score years, died at his home, 10 Presidio terrace, after an illness of four months. He underwent an operation for appendicitis a month ago.

Brown was sixty-five years old, and a native of Andover, Mass. He was president of the A. A. Brown Co., sugar brokers, and was in charge of sales for the California-Hawaiian Sugar Company. He has been connected with the sugar business in San Francisco since he came here forty-five years ago.

Brown was member of the Bohemian, University, Olympic, and Commercial Clubs, and a Mason.

"Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Ada Carrick Brown, and a brother, John W. Brown, who is now in Europe. Funeral services will be held at Grey's Chapel, Post and Devens street, at 11 a. m. Monday. Interment will be in Greenlawn cemetery."

The above clipping from a San Francisco paper refers to one of Andover's successful sons.

A Scotch boy born in a little cottage house in Frye Village, sixty-five years ago, he attended the Village school, and later the Purnard Free school, graduating in the Class of 1877. The next year, he went to San Francisco and made that the city of his adoption.

Business interests bringing him often to New York, he liked to come to Andover, and his frequent visits, go over the road to Lawrence which is in his memory, as often walked barefooted of a Saturday afternoon, his shoes in his hands to save the leather, but putting them on as he approached the city. He sat again in his seat in the family pew in the West Parish church which he joined when a member of the Purnard Free School.

Mr. Brown's wide acquaintance with men and matters made him interesting, his business acumen made him influential. Perhaps his most marked characteristic was generosity, the kind where the right hand knows not what the left hand doeth.

suspicious and antagonistic nations can be resolved into a great unity of mankind. With a positive optimism he expressed the conviction that although forces had existed which tended to separate men even as when a water course is traced back through its various tributaries to its sources in the high places, a point beyond the divide is reached where other tributaries united in a common stream, so mankind had passed the watershed of human history and forging their separate interests would be united in heart and purpose and be quickened again.

The charge to the pastor, given by Rev. Ernest E. Youtz, pastor of the First Congregational church of Gardner, was summed up in the words of Paul to the Thessalonians, "Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it."

He reminded Mr. Church that he was ministering to people of many different needs and that he must adapt his message to their varying requirements. For this service he must needs be a man of his working machine, not only of his mind but also of his body. A gospel that will stand investigation is meet for their spiritual food.

Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock of the First Congregational church of Williamamantic, Conn., whom Mr. Church succeeds as pastor of the First Christian church, gave the charge to the church. He told the dramatic story of Amundsen's flight in search of the North Pole. The reasons that all returned safely to port were that when cast away and separated in unknown seas they established communication, joined in comradeship, operated for a common end and were upheld by faith in their leader. These are the essentials by which a pastor and his church are upheld as they venture forth for Christ and his kingdom. Mr. Wheelock spoke feelingly of his relations with the parish when he first entered the ministry and asked the same cooperation with Mr. Church.

The right hand of fellowship was extended by Dr. E. Victor Bigelow of the South church and the services closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Alfred C. Church.

Music was furnished by a vested choir of thirty-five voices directed by Gerald F. Frazer, organist and choirmaster.

Recessional Hymn No. 541—Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken

The Benediction

Rev. Alfred C. Church Postlude—Marche Pontificale Tombelle

At half past six a supper was served to the delegates, representatives of the local Protestant churches and officers of the Free Christian church and its organizations. Grace was said by Rev. George E. Lombard of South Lawrence.

The supper room was decorated with autumn leaves and on the tables were baskets of calendulas and ferns, vases of chrysanthemums and of barberry and snowballs artistically arranged by Miss Florence Parker and Miss Annabell Richardson. The effective arrangement of autumn leaves, barberry and snowball on the pulpit of the auditorium was the work of Wendall Kydd.

The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, chicken and rice, cabbage and cream cheese salad, cranberry sauce, celery, relishes, oatmeal bread and rolls, cake, ice cream and coffee.

The members of the supper committee were Mrs. Thomas Peters, chairman, Mrs. James McMeekin, Mrs. E. E. Perry, Mrs. Sydney Batchelder, Mrs. William Morrissey and Mrs. M. J. Marr.

The waitresses were Bertha Cuthill, Ruth Perry, Ruth Saunders, Sadie McLeish, Jean McLeish, Helen Otis, Daisy Stevens, Marion Eliot, Etta Brown, Evelyn Mayer.

The members of the committee in charge of the installation were John C. Angus, chairman; Roy H. Bradford, Martin R. Sawyer, Frederick A. Wilson, Mrs. Frank A. Buttrick, Mrs. James McMeekin and Miss Mary Byers Smith.

Fire at Smith & Dove Mill

Three blows on the Smith & Dove whistle, three times in succession gave the alarm last Friday night at a fire at the mill. It was located in the winding room and was quickly put out by the fire fighting forces of the mill. The Andover fire department did not have to respond.

Free Church Juniors Elect Officers

At a recent meeting of the Junior Christian Endeavor society of the Free church, the following officers and committee chairmen were elected: President, Margaret Laurie; vice presidents, Fred Otis and Mary Marr; treasurer, Evelyn Marr.

Committee chairmen: Eleanor Ramsdell, prayer; George Simpson, lookout; Katherine Jamieson, music; Margaret Laurie, general.

Tendered Supper and Reception

A reception and supper was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Robertson of Fisher Island, New York, on Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Downs of North Main street. A large number of relatives and friends of the recently wedded couple gathered for the reception. Mrs. Robertson was Miss Margaret Armour of this town previous to her marriage.

A gift was presented by Robert Dobbie who in a few well chosen words told of the esteem in which the couple are held. Mr. Robertson responded in a fitting manner thanking the donors for the gift. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. Gifts and dancing were enjoyed until a late hour.

Mrs. William Ludwig and children of Lawrence spent the week-end with Mrs. Ludwig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haebler.

The Ladies' Circle of the Methodist church will meet next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The year's program will be discussed.

Mrs. Charles R. Higgins and son, James, and daughter, Gertrude, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. James Higgins of Tewksbury.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Anderson, Ballardvale road.

Mrs. William Tomlinson and sons, George and Dearborn, have returned to their home in Detroit, Mich., after a four months' visit with Mrs. Martha Dearborn on Andover street.

Rev. A. H. Fuller attended last Tuesday the meeting of the Andover Association of Congregational churches held at Methuen. Rev. A. H. Fuller is now serving his fourth consecutive year as secretary and treasurer of the association.

At the Sunday school session of the Methodist church, Sunday, a memory contest was held. The persons memorizing the parable of the Good Samaritan most perfectly were awarded the prizes. Miss Ruth Wells won first and Ina Bissett second. Florence Wells received honorable mention.

The following members of Ballardvale lodge, No. 105, I. O. G. T. attended the District lodge session held in Mayflower hall, Lawrence, Monday: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Pomeroy, Mrs. Hedley Davidson, Mrs. Kent, Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Christine Stewart, Miss Margaret Reid, Charles Litchfield.

Family night will be observed Sunday evening at the Methodist church when Rev. Clifford Reynolds will preach a special sermon for the occasion. It is hoped that all the families of the church constituency will attend. It was voted at the meeting of the Men's Brotherhood to attend this service.

Rally-Day Service at Methodist Church

An interesting and inspiring Sunday school Rally day service was held at the Methodist church Sunday morning with the pastor, Rev. C. W. Reynolds, and Superintendent of the Sunday school J. W. Stark in charge. There was special music by the choir with Mrs. Harry Wells as organist. The following program was carried out:

Hymn, "When the Morning Glids the Skies" congregation; responsive reading; invocation; hymn, "O Worship the King;" Psalm reading in unison; hymn, "For the Beauty of the Earth;" reading, pastor; hymn, "I Would Be True;" choir; "The Challenge of the Mothers;" Mrs. Harry Wells; superintendent's response, J. W. Stark; "Challenge of the Primary Children," Mrs. Clara Rollins; "Challenge of the Boys," Elwin Russell; hymn, "This Is My Father's World;" "O Son of Man, Thou Madest Known," Rev. C. W. Reynolds; "The Challenge of Youth," Carl Wells; response, J. W. Stark. Installation service of newly appointed Sunday school teachers and officers including Mr. Hymn.

One new candidate was initiated. Inter-esting reports were given by delegates to the district lodge meeting held in Lawrence. The mystery prize was won by Mary Stewart. The good of the order consisted of a pit party. It was voted to commence the meeting next Monday night at 7.30 o'clock.

New Library Books

The following new library books have been received by the Ballardvale Branch of the Memorial Hall library:

Hopkins—"Those Gillespies," Montague, "Smiley, Climbo," Norris—"Little Ships," Porter—"Keeper of the Bees," Wilson—"The Kenworthy's," Hegdron—"Boys' Life of Theodore Roosevelt."

TO GET RUBBER IN PHILIPPINES

1,500,000 Acres Suitable for Raising Trees — How Product Is Treated.

Washington.—From Burma or the Congo to the other end of a lead pencil in a little red schoolhouse in the United States is a long stretch, but rubber has made it. This substance that enables the school boy to snap paper wads at Goldlocks has made automobiles possible and has taken its place with coal and oil as a maker of history. Industry is looking for new fields not controlled by foreign powers. The United States Department of Commerce, in a report just out on an exhaustive investigation of the potential value of the Philippine archipelago for crude rubber, expresses the opinion that profitable production is possible there.

The reports hold that under favorable conditions an annual maximum output of 70,000 tons could be produced in the islands, in the southern portion of which approximately 1,500,000 acres are suitable for rubber raising. The report marks the completion of another stage in the department's world-wide survey of the rubber situation, started 18 months ago at the instance of congress and the trades when it became apparent that the legalized restriction of the plantation rubber output in British possessions might menace American consumers. In recent months higher rubber prices, feared by the American industry at the outset of the British restriction program, have been realized. The 70,000-ton potential Philippine output would compare with an annual import now of 340,000 tons by the United States.

When nature planted the rubber tree in the tropics she endowed man richly. Most people think rubber comes from the sap of the tree just as does maple syrup. Instead it is a sticky, milky juice of the tree flowing through surface cells just beneath the bark. It is known as latex and nourishes the tree through the latex system, according to a statement by the American Nature association of Washington. There are more than one hundred trees throughout the tropical belt encircling the world that produce juice that will make rubber. It, however, is a somewhat hetero-skeler property. Some of the trees in the four groups generally credited with producing caoutchouc do not live up to the family tradition, while other outside lands do possess the property.

A quarter century ago the world drew its rubber from the native forests. Wasteful methods prevailed and the world commenced to roll about in horseless carriages with soft tires. Demand leaped forward with the encouragement of custom, discovery and invention. Thus the Twentieth century has seen forestry principles applied to rubber-tree plantations set out, rotation of crops invoked, and an agricultural order brought into rubber production that eventually must find its way into America's timber-producing areas.

Various Trees Produce Rubber.

To the valley of the Amazon and the commercially known Para rubber is generally accorded the palm for superiority. In the lowlands, hot with steam of tropic sun and river courses, Hevea braziliensis prospers often to 60 feet in height and grows with two or three near relatives, all of whom are rich producers of rubber.

In Brazil a smaller tree produces Ceara rubber when it has reached two years of age. In Guiana two species of Hevea guayanaensis and pauciflora produce the rubber yield while the Peruvia rubber comes from a small drooping tree possessing a somewhat inferior rubber quality.

Much of the rubber coming into the United States originates with a relative of the breadfruit tree. This rubber tree is Castilloa elastica, native of Ecuador, Mexico, Colombia and Central America. This tree grows to considerable height and often reaches three feet around the trunk.

In Malaya, Siam, Burma, Ceylon and other tropical states grows the rubber-giving, Ficus elastica, but the transplanted Para rubber trees of Brazil have made this section of importance in the rubber-producing world. Africa has its Funtumia elastica of the Ivory coast and the Congo, a tall, erect tree giving a kind of rubber known as Ligos silk. There are other lesser centers and other interesting trees, for nature has widely distributed her largess of rubber.

Get Seedlings From Nurseries.

Methods of cultivating rubber plantations differ as well as processes of gathering. A rubber plantation is created much as a forest-tree plantation would be. Nurseries are maintained for the production of seedling rubber trees, raised from seed. The seed of the Para rubber tree, which may be accepted as the most truly representative of its large coterie of fellows, is a mottled brown, somewhat like a chestnut though larger. It is enclosed in a pod and drops out as the hull cracks. In the better plantations care is exercised in selecting the seed for the nursery.

The youthful trees sprout quickly and are soon ready for transplanting. In rows of about two hundred trees to an acre the leafy sources of our rubber supply climb upward, and in the case of Para rubber are ready to produce their first small crop at the

Bright Children Not Necessarily Delicate

The old idea that bright children are inclined to be sickly, "queer" and different from their less gifted playmates, has received a blow from the work of Dr. Lewis M. Terman, head of the department of psychology of Stanford university.

Since 1910, Doctor Terman, with the aid of 14 associates, has examined 250,000 school children. Of these, the best 1 per cent are being studied in greater detail, and their development followed as closely as possible to obtain definite knowledge of characteristics that distinguish young genius and to determine how they fulfill their early promise.

These superior children have been found to be as a class a little heavier, larger, better nourished and healthier than the average of unselected children of their age. Their ancestry is also somewhat longer lived than the average. Better proportioned physically and more stable nervously, these precocious children when actually examined have upset the old ideas.

In school work they surpass in all directions as a group and display a wider range of information. They are not freakish or irregular in their abilities. There is nothing strange or mystical in their interests outside their studies. They enjoy and play games, though they like games with thinking in them. They differ from the general run in degree rather than in any way that sets them off as fundamentally different.

Their superiority manifests itself at an early age, though it is not always discovered by

BURN 8c OIL WE SELL IT

WOODWORTH SAYS:

Why Worry About Coal Shortage?

You can keep warm this winter. You can save yourself the trouble of shoveling in coal to a hungry boiler, and shoveling out ashes with the accompanying dust and dirt, by buying a BALLARD.

The BALLARD is the Safe and Sane, Scientific and Modern Way to Heat Your Home

Compare the lack of attention needed for the Ballard with the constant care needed by your furnace or boiler. Compare the even temperature provided by the Ballard with the way an old-style heating plant overheats your home part of the time and underheats the rest. Compare the pleasant playroom your children can have in the basement of a Ballard-heated home, with the dirty, coal-filled cellar needed by the man who owns a furnace or boiler. Compare the boiler-owner's task of buying his whole winter's fuel supply early in the year with the easy accessibility of fuel supply for the owner of a Ballard Oil Burner. And remember, with a Ballard there are no ashes to sift, no barrels to empty, no coals to fill the house. Compare! Then act! $450 installed.

NO CONGREGATION FOR NEW CHURCH

Will of Illinois Man Gives $50,000 for Spiritualist House and Library.

Leroy, Ill.—They have broken ground here for a $50,000 church without any parishioners. There will be $25,000 expended for furnishings and extras. A pulpit for the preacher and seats for the communicants, but there will be no people. This house of worship will be dedicated on March 1, 1926.

The court has ruled that the structure must be built. It was provided for in the will of J. T. Crumbaugh, an eccentric farmer of this community. He died in 1905, leaving a will which plainly stipulated that the income from 1,100 acres of the richest land in McLean county should be set aside forever and be used solely for the construction of the church and also a public library to be erected here in Leroy. After sufficient funds accrued to pay the cost of construction, then the annual income from the land was to be devoted to the maintenance of the two institutions.

Relatives Contest Will. Relatives ignored by the testator immediately instituted suit to have the document set aside, alleging undue influence, incompetency and various other reasons. The litigation was carried on for a number of years and ran the gamut of the various courts from the lowest to the highest. The lower court declared the will invalid but the Supreme court set aside this finding and held that the will should stand. A new suit was filed in the Circuit court and again the plaintiffs won and the case was taken up. Again the upper tribunal decided for the will. For the third time, the relatives presented the issues in a new form in the Circuit court and a jury decided for them, but on the appeal the Supreme court refused to recede from its original findings and insisted that Crumbaugh was entirely rational and sane when he made the will and was a man of excellent judgment, prudence and foresight.

Heirs Give Up Battle. After three successive knockouts the disappointed heirs decided that they were up against a stone wall and the litigation ended. The defense of the will by the executor cost the estate $60,000 in attorneys and court fees and this had to be raised by the sale of property of various kinds. The litigation and resultant expense has delayed action upon the church and library, as it was necessary to accumulate sufficient funds to justify letting the contract. The fund is now ample and the contract has been let.

Crumbaugh and his wife were formerly Universalists, but five years before the former's death he became interested in spiritualism and joined that sect. He believed with sincerity that he could converse with departed friends and spiritualistic mediums took advantage of this belief and arranged numerous seances at his home. The Crumbaughs became the parents of a child that lived two months. It was the fancy of the father that his child became an adult spirit and was daily seeking to communicate with him. He engaged a portrait painter to place upon canvas a replica of the son as he would likely appear at man's estate had he been permitted to live. This imaginary portrait in oil was hung upon the wall of the Crumbaugh household and became a shrine at which the father daily worshiped, while with the co-operation of the mediums he believed that he was conversing with this child.

$20,000 for Maintenance. Opponents of the will stressed this point in the effort to prove Crumbaugh of unsound mind, but it failed to carry any weight with the Supreme court. There was little surprise when the will was read, to learn that his fortune, estimated at $250,000, had been left to found and support a Spiritualist church and a library. When Crumbaugh was alive there was a small group of neighbors who entertained the same faith, but all are gone and today, it is asserted, there is not a single believer in spiritualism in this community. Realizing the folly of building a church without a leader or congregation, the trustees conceived the idea of combining the church and library and utilizing one-half for an auditorium and the other half for the storage of books and also a reading room. The court ruled that this dual structure did not conflict with the will, and, accordingly, plans were drawn for the combination church and library. There will be a seance room where mediums may seek to communicate with the spirits, while there will be an auditorium seating several hundred people, suitable for meetings of Spiritualists or others.

The joint building will be 120 feet in length and 63 feet in width. There will be an income of $20,000 per annum for the support and maintenance of the structure. The Leroy library has probably the richest endowment and the largest annual income of any similar institution in the smaller cities of the United States. The will stipulates that the land must not be sold and that the income must be used exclusively for the maintenance of the two institutions. With ample funds the institution can be made of tremendous educational value to the community it serves and will likely be classed as a leader in library efficiency in the United States.

GIRL'S DREAM OF BEING POLISH COUNTESS FADES

Cannot Have Barrels of Jewels Because Poland is Now a Republic.

New York.—A countess for a day, with claims to the whole city of Lemberg, Poland, and eleven barrels of gold and jewels, Victoria Augustynowicz, twenty-three-year-old bobbed-haired stenographer, has seen her childhood dream fade after partial attainment.

The Polish consulate general recognized her contention that she was the descendant of a titled Polish family, but ruled that there is no longer a Polish nobility, the country now being a republic. "Countess" Victoria's claims to Lemberg and the treasure also have no basis which Poland can recognize, as they are merely founded on a family legend, according to G. L. Sawicki, secretary of the consulate general.

Victoria says, however, that the gold, jewels and land were seized from her great-grandfather by the Polish king in 1853 and that she verified the story at the public library before presenting her claims. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Augustynowicz, who settled in Chicago 35 years ago and both of whom are dead. "If I can't be a Polish countess I'll be an American one," she says. "The Austro-Hungarian government recognized the title in 1765. I guess the Polish government will recognize my rights when I present my proofs in court."

Former Austrian Princess Engaged to Wed Workman

Vienna.—A romance, started when a workmen's council intervened in behalf of the former Austrian princess, Elizabeth Windschgraetz, will culminate in her marriage to a social democratic member of the Austrian diet, Herr Petzneck. The council saved the princess from being ejected from her ancestral home, the castle of Schoenbrunn. It was at that time she became acquainted with Herr Petzneck, who proved himself a friend and adviser in regard to the upbringing and education of her children. Both of the principals have been divorced.

The princess is the granddaughter of Emperor Franz Joseph and the only daughter of the ill-fated Crown Prince Rudolph. Her son is now serving an apprenticeship in an automobile factory and a daughter is attending a girls' high school in Vienna, while the princess herself is living in a small flat in the city.

Girl's Heart Stops for Three Minutes, Is Revived

Lorain, Ohio.—Modern surgery triumphed over death at St. Joseph's hospital when Martha Ericson, eight, was revived after her heart had stopped beating for three minutes. An anesthetic had been administered by Dr. R. A. Stack, who was about to perform a tonsil operation, when he discovered that the girl had stopped breathing. Doctor Stack injected adrenalin into the heart. It was fully three minutes before the child began to show signs of life.

FIRST WHITE WOMAN TO ENTER FORBIDDEN CITY

Mme. Neel of France Dons Beggar's Garb and Spends Two Months at Lhasa.

London.—Fantastic adventures of a French explorer, Mme. Alexandre David Neel, who recently returned to Paris after an absence of fourteen years in the little-known regions of China and Tibet are related in the Matin, says a Paris dispatch to the London Chronicle.

Having been sent to India in 1911 on a mission by the ministry of public instruction, to study Buddhist texts of philosophy, she met in India the dala lama, who had been driven out of Lhasa by the Chinese.

"From that moment," she said, "it became an obsession with me to enter the Forbidden City itself at all costs."

She knew the language and customs of the country so perfectly that she was confident of being able to pass easily as a native.

Her first attempts were baffled, and several times she was beaten back, her attendants and cattle dying of cold and hunger.

Convinced that the great journey could not be made by a party, she set out in 1922 on foot with a single servant, crossing passes blocked with snow and taking roads that overhung perpendicular precipices.

But again she was turned back, "as if by some mysterious force," in her own phrase, and after a long detour she again found herself back at her base.

Finally, in 1923, she made the attempt on foot from China, accompanied only by a young Tibetan whom she had adopted. They were disguised as mendicants, and begged their way. They traveled through forests by night, followed sometimes by bands of nomads, but were never attacked, though they carried their lives in their hands and were stricken with fever through thirst.

Once across the mountains, they were in an unknown land, never before trodden by strangers. Through deep snow they toiled on, with death ever at their heels, until at last they were at the gates of Lhasa, and fringed into the city for which they had dared so much.

There they lived for two months, all the time as beggars, without their disguise being penetrated or their identity being suspected.

"There," said Mme. David, "we lived the life of poor folk among these strange people. It is, I believe, the first time this has ever been done, and I am pleased that it should have been a woman and a Parisienne who has succeeded in doing it."

Deeds of 1758 Found in Strong Box in New York

New York.—Robert S. Murray and John A. Murray of Alexander Murray & Sons opened an old safe out of which stepped the ghostly figures of Mary Darcy and Isaac Roosevelt, who lived here in the "thirty-first year of the reign of George II, our sovereign lord," or to be more exact, 1758.

The Murray firm bought several old safes for the purpose of salvaging their unknown contents. In one were found seven deeds, written on sheepskin and bedecked with seals and ribbons, which recorded the sale of land in New York in colonial and Revolutionary days.

The most recent of the deeds was recorded by Mayor Richard Varick, August 2, 1791.

Alexander Murray, safe expert for the police department, and his two sons have no idea where they obtained the safe which yielded these records of New York's past. Each deed is more than two feet square and written in fine Spencerian script on heavy sheepskin.

Travel Between U. S. and Mexico Is Evenly Divided

Calexico, Cal.—Figures released by the United States immigration office here showed that 9,830,708 persons passed through the Calexico-Mexical international port during the fiscal years of 1914-1925.

Of 4,909,601 persons who traveled from the United States into Mexico, 3,627,883 were aliens and 1,281,718 were Americans. Statistics from the Central American country were 3,639,277 aliens and 1,281,770 Americans.

The heaviest travel through the port was recorded during the summer months of June and July and the minimum movement in February.

Compliments of the United States customs office here revealed that the total imports into the United States at the port during the last fiscal year amounted to $6,165,601, of which $1,477,349 were dutiable and $4,718,252 were free. Exports to Mexico during the period of July 1, 1924, to July 1, 1925, aggregated $4,008,621 and collections at the port were $315,639.

Two Singed by Lightning

St. Paul, Minn.—All the thrills of golf are not in driving a long ball or striking a long putt. F. G. Newman of Chicago and his caddy, Donald Drews of 2908 Fortieth avenue south, Minneapolis, had a greater one than either of these at the Town and Country club the other day when a storm broke. Coming down the ninth fairway a lightning bolt struck so close that it singed their hair and scorched their bodies.

Annual Hunting Season Is Near at Hand

Director William C. Adams of the State Division of Fisheries and Game calls the attention of the public to the laws which will govern the shooting of upland game, so-called, this season.

As usual, the season will open on October 20 and will continue through November 20. During the period partridge, quail, male pheasants, woodcock, gray squirrels, rabbits and hares may be killed subject to the following restrictions.

Bag limits: Partridge—3 in one day and 15 in the season. Quail—4 in one day and 20 in the season. Woodcock—2 in one day and 6 in the season. Pheasant—4 in one day and 20 in the season. Squirrels—5 in one day and 15 in the season. Rabbits—5 in one day and no seasonal limit. Hares—2 in one day and no seasonal limit. Only male pheasants may be killed and a written report must be sent to the Division of Fisheries and Game, State House, within 24 hours stating the day, town, number and sex of the birds.

There is no open season on pheasants in Dukes and Nantucket counties. Strict attention should be paid to game birds killed, especially pheasants, and if a band is found on the leg it should be removed and sent to the Director with a statement as to the exact location where the bird was killed. This is in connection with research work to determine how far the birds travel after being liberated.

The taking of quail is prohibited in Essex, Hampden, Hampshire, Middlesex, Nantucket, Norfolk and Worcester counties.

The taking of hares in Essex county is prohibited. The open season on hares and rabbits will extend from October 20 to February 15. All persons who hunt, both men and women, must secure the regular hunting license from town or city clerks.

The Director makes a special appeal to hunters to respect the rights of the landowner and to safeguard his property. No real sportsman will abuse the privileges extended to him by the land-owners nor will he discharge firearms in thickly-settled localities or close to buildings.

It is also urgent that extreme care be used to prevent forest fires. Unless the sportsmen do their part to prevent forest fires the Department will again be confronted with the same situation as during the past two or three years when it has been necessary to suspend the hunting season because of the dry conditions of the woods and the prevalence of forest fires. It is hoped that this situation will not arise this year.

Mountain Top Bought by Private Capital

Mt. Watatic has been purchased by private capital and will be presented to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for a permanent bird sanctuary. The purchaser is the New England Federation of Bird Clubs which already has presented several tracts of land, and several islands to the State.

Its latest contribution, Mt. Watatic, is almost the only remaining important forest area of red spruce in Massachusetts. It is located in Ashburnham and Ashby. About one hundred acres on top of the mountain were bought by the federation when it was discovered that this virgin forest was about to be invaded by the axe. Negotiations were already in progress for the sale of the land to a lumber concern when Laurence B. Fletcher, Charles B. Floyd and Charles I. Whittle came to its rescue and tied it up for the Federation of Bird Clubs which has approved the purchase and in due course will execute a deed giving the property to the State.

"Word came to us," said Mr. Fletcher, "that this wonderful tract of land was to be sold to a lumber company which would cut down the spruce, and after visiting the property with Mr. Floyd and Mr. Whittle we decided to purchase it and thus save the day for it. There is an Appalachian Mountain trail running through the center of the tract to the top where there is a fire observation tower erected by the State Forestry Department. The officers of the Federation will present the land to the Commonwealth to be used as a reservation and breeding place, making the first inland sanctuary to be presented to the State."

Massachusetts is practically denuded of red spruce forests. This lot is said to be the largest still remaining. The mountain top is thickly covered with large trees, some of them two feet in diameter. As a forest it has attracted a great deal of attention among autoists because it is visible from the State road which runs along the southern face of the mountain. The mountain top commands a fine view of southern New Hampshire, a fine view of southern New Hampshire, of Vermont and the Berkshire hills, it being only about two miles from the New Hampshire line. What has saved it from the axe up to this time is partly its inaccessibility for lumbering operations, yet it was about doomed to go when the Federation of Bird Clubs learned of its availability. The price paid for it was far beyond what the State could pay for it under the law which permits the purchase of forestry land with public money, but under the latest legislation the Commonwealth is authorized to accept such gifts. The Appalachian Mountain is appreciated for its scenic value by the building of a trail through the tract and the Forestry Department has taken advantage of its strategic value as a point of observation in its fire protection system.

President Edward Howe Forbush, State ornithologist, who is president of the Federation of Conservation is to publish on Massachusetts birds. John A. Farley, assistant State ornithologist, who has been helping Mr. Forbush in gathering information for the forthcoming bird book, has made numerous visits to Mt. Watatic in quest of bird data. There bird life has remained largely undisturbed. Mr. Farley has found a sundant evidence of the pileated woodpecker. The golden crested kinglet, almost the smallest bird in North America, next to the humming bird, has been found to breed there. Various Canadian faunal warblers, such as the Magnolia and the Myrtle warblers, have been observed, and the white-throated sparrows are common, as well as the common snow bird. U. S. course there are many other forms of wild life there.

An Archie Bomb

Experiments are now being made, according to a reference in the Canadian Military Gazette of April 14, to an article in the Westminster Gazette, on an anti-aircraft bomb which, when within a certain radius of an airplane, "responds to the magnetic influence set up by the metal parts of the airplane." This influence, it is stated, gives the bomb increased velocity toward the plane. No amount of maneuvering by the pilot, according to the description, will enable him to escape, and the plane is doomed. The bomb is launched from the ground and, if found practicable, will eliminate the need of aircraft guns.—U. S. Army Recruiting News.

Hearing With the Hands?

To teach the totally deaf to hear through the palms of their hands is the purpose of an instrument invented by Dr. Robert Gault.

The instrument resembles a telephone receiver and operates on a similar principle to the telephone, except that, instead of carrying sound vibrations to the ear, it causes them to reach the hand or some other sensitive part of the body.

It is necessary for the person using the apparatus to recognize what speech sounds caused the particular vibration he detects through his sense of touch.

Third in Towns of State in Ability to Support Schools, Says Supervisor Burr F. Jones

The Shawsheen Parent-Teacher association opened the season Wednesday evening, when they held the first meeting in the Shawsheen school assembly hall, with nearly one hundred members in attendance. Mrs. Robert Todd, the new president, was in the chair, and a short business meeting was held. Mrs. Albert N. Wade and Mrs. Harold P. Kitchin were elected as delegates to represent the local association at the state convention, which will be held in Springfield the latter part of this month.

At the close of the business meeting, the members were treated to a very interesting talk by Burr F. Jones, supervisor of elementary education, department of education, at the State House, on the subject "Schools for the Whole Child."

He began by saying that he had a real interest in the new Shawsheen school as he sat with the officers when the plans for the school were in their most embryonic state. He complimented the town and village, on the fact that they had such a splendid school-house, and although there were many in the state the same size, there were few which were so well finished and which had such an excellent assembly hall.

He characterized the Parent-Teacher associations as a nucleus of interested fathers and mothers for proper education and schools for the children, and the most promising thing in educational affairs in the state today. The interest taken today is in direct contrast with methods of years gone by when the citizens voted for a school committee and with that duty over, considered their task ended.

Mr. Jones' department at the State House is deeply interested in statistics, and particularly those that deal with a town's ability to support public schools. He informed his audience that in Group 2, which includes towns with a population of 5000 and over, Andover stood third in this respect, being surpassed, only by Brookline and Milton.

The schools where knowledge and information might be gained, but today, their work is much more widespread. Junior high schools are starting clubs such as debating, radio, dramatic, literary, orchestra and even checker and chess clubs which teach the children to use their leisure time worthily. Education is getting back to the individuals and in many schools classes are being graded as to their ability. In sixty-five towns in Massachusetts there are 200 classes, comprising 4000 pupils, where individual instruction is being given.

Health education and health habits are being stressed more strongly today than ever before in place of the old idea of teaching physiology from text books. In conclusion, the speaker stated that there was a great deal of encouragement from the splendid statistics that Massachusetts was giving the schools and the interest that parents are now taking in their work through the medium of Parent-Teacher associations.

Following Mr. Jones' talk an informal reception to the teachers was held and refreshments were served by the executive committee.

The November meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, November 11, and Henry C. Sanborn, superintendent of schools, will speak on "Intelligence Tests and the Dental Clinic."

The officers for the coming year are: Mrs. Robert Todd, president; Mrs. Clarence W. Coolidge, vice president; Mrs. Roy D. Bradbury, second vice president; Mrs. Albert N. Wade, secretary; Walter P. E. Freiwald, treasurer. The chairman of the committee are: Ways and means, Mrs. Philip Blades; program, Mrs. Harold P. Kitchin; membership, Mrs. Leonard P. Johnson.

Obituary

ANNIE (MITCHELL) MORGAN
Mrs. Annie (Mitchell) Morgan, widow of John P. Morgan, died early Wednesday morning at the Henry C. Nevins Home in Methuen. She was born in Arbroath, Scotland, September 23, 1845, and came to this country when a young woman.

For more than fifty years she lived in old Frye Village, and kept a variety store, the "Bee-Hive," on the site of the present garage on North Main street and afterwards directly across the street. She was a writer of verse and some of her compositions were published in her native town.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon, with sermon by Rev. Dr. F. A. Wilson, pastor-eminus, of the Free church. Burial was in the West Parish cemetery.

Presented Diplomas

At the session of the Shawsheen Community school last Sunday morning, six children were presented diplomas in recognition of their graduation from the kindergarten to the primary department. They were to have received them last June on Children's Day, but owing to the absence of Rev. C. W. Henry, whose signature on them was necessary, they were held over until the present time.

Those who received the diplomas were: Barbara Payton, Barbara Porter, Dorothy Blades, Lincoln Morrison, Gordon MacLachlan and George Wray.

Attendance Record

A record of 100 percent in attendance, was turned in by the pupils of Miss Genevieve McNally's class at the Shawsheen school, for the school month just ended. This is a record held by very few classes in the town, and the pupils are to be complimented on it.

Shawsheen Juniors Lose

The Waverly A. C. of North Andover, defeated the Shawsheen Juniors Monday morning at Grogan's Field, North Andover, 32 to 0. The Waverly's line was too strong for the local youngsters as Martens was the only one who was able to gain consistently. Stewart and Berwick starred for the winners.

The committee will have home-cooked food to dispose of at reasonable prices and a generous patronage is anticipated.

Thursday Night Dances in Balmoral Hall

The management of the Balmoral Spa, has made arrangements for a series of weekly dances to be held Thursday evenings in Balmoral hall, beginning October 22. Sinclair's Balmoral orchestra of five pieces will furnish the music. The hall will have decorations appropriate to the changing seasons and favors will be distributed. In short, the management plans to do everything to make these dances successful and the patrons of Balmoral Gardens will undoubtedly welcome the opportunity to attend well-conducted dances so near home.

Dancing will begin at half past eight o'clock and continue until eleven. Admission fifty cents.

Thirtieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Christie quietly celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding last night at their home, 7 Arundel street, with a family gathering and supper. They received a number of beautiful gifts and a wedding cake was cut by the bride of thirty years.

George A. Christie and Margaret W. Scott were married October 16, 1895, by Rev. Frederick A. Wilson, then pastor of the Free Congregational church. They were both born in Scotland, but have lived here for forty years. They have one son, James P. Christie, and a granddaughter, Dorothy Christie.

Mrs. Christie belongs to Andover Chapter, O. E. S., Clan Johnston Ladies' Auxiliary, the Shawsheen Village Women's club, the Andover Historical society and the Andover Village Improvement society.

Mr. Christie's affiliations are St. Matthew's lodge, A. F. and A. M., the Andover Square and Compass club, Clan Johnston, 185, O. S. C., Garfield lodge 172, K. P., the Andover Historical society and the Andover Village Improvement society. He was for twelve years clerk of the school committee.

Those at the celebration were Miss Mary W. Scott, sister of Mrs. Christie and bridesmaid at the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Christie and daughter Dorothy, Mrs. Margaret C. Scott, sister of Mr. Christie, and her daughter, Margaret W. Scott, and Miss Dorothy E. Wanamaker.

Children Present Play

The children at the Shawsheen school brought Fire Prevention week to a close last Friday with a play, appropriate to the observance. All through the week they had been writing essays on the subject; two fire drills were held and several visited the fire station and took back a report to the rest of the pupils.

The play, however, presented by the pupils of Miss McNally's class, was the most popular feature of the entire program and the children deserve special credit in that it was done entirely by them, even to the training and costuming.

The title of it was "What Fire Did," and the scene was a broker's office in which the brokers, Rene Richards and Frederick Bume, were engaged in conversation. One of them carelessly throws a lighted cigarette into a waste basket which is taken out into the hall by the colored maid, played by Lola Todd.

Later the maid discovers that the hall is in flames. She rushes into the office, but the occupants' escape is cut off and they are nearly overcome before being rescued by the firemen.

The second scene again shows the office with the brokers wrapped in bandages and under the care of a Red Cross nurse, Alice Howes. They are talking over their experiences and agree that their suffering was all caused by a thoughtless act and that in the future they would be more careful.

The play was well done throughout, and all the parts were taken excellently. Miss Lola Todd as the colored maid, had a part during the entire play, and her comical actions during the entire piece kept the audience, which contained some of the parents, as well as the school children, in continuous laughter.

The cast was:
Brokers Rene Richards, Frederick Bume
Private Secretaries Edith Pelton, Helen Marie Ford
Martha, the maid Lola Todd
Red Cross Nurse Alice Howes
Firemen Charles Armitage, Alex Ritchie, James Fitzharris
The committee: Rene Richards, chairman; Alden Coolidge, Alice Howes, Frederick Bume, Helen Marie Ford, Edith Pelton and Lola Todd.

SHAWSHEEN'S DOUBLE WIN

Indians Defeat J. & P. Coats and New York Giants over Week-end Playing Brilliant Football

Shawsheen did a good week-end job and defeated both J. & P. Coats and the New York Giants by 2-0 scores in the American League games on Balmoral field. The double win sent the Indians up in the league standing and gave their supporters much to enthuse over. There is only one weak spot in the team, centerforward, and Owner George M. Wallace will remedy this at the earliest possible moment. He has plans for the best team in the league and at present there are very few teams better.

The standing:

Team	W	L	T	Pts.
Providence	7	1	1	15
Fall River	6	3	1	13
Boston	5	3	1	11
Bethlehem	4	2	2	10
Indiana Flooring	3	2	3	9
Shawsheen	4	2	0	8
Brooklyn	2	4	3	7
New Bedford	2	2	2	6
Giants	1	3	4	6
J. & P. Coats	2	3	1	5
Newark	0	5	1	1

In a gale of wind and a freezing temperature Shawsheen whitewashed the J. & P. Coats team 2-0 Saturday afternoon. The Indians won the toss and with the wind favoring scored twice before half-time. The Jay-Pees were never dangerous and were seldom in Shawsheen's territory.

Lorimer, who played a great game at left half, was the means of Shawsheen's first goal. His center to Wilson, was driven by the latter goalwards. Sinclair only partially cleared and Wilson catching the rebound drove into the net.

Two minutes later a fine combined passing dash by Wilson, Stradan and MacGowan enabled the latter to beat Parks.

The second half found Coats around Shawsheen's goal, but a brilliant defense by Thompson, Mills and Murdock, nullified all efforts to score. Harvie, outside right, was particularly dangerous and Murdock saved three wonderful drives. Shawsheen often attacked but no further scoring resulted.

The summary:
SHAWSHEEN J. & P. COATS
Murdock g. g. Parks
Thompson r.b. l.b. Allen
Mills l.b. r.b. Simons
Carrie r.h. l.h. McAvoy
Watkins c.h. c.h. Perry
Lorimer l.h. r.h. Drummond
Stradan r.o.f. l.o.f. McGraire
Dixon r.i.f. l.i.f. Collier
Wilson c.f. c.f. Wilson
Smith l.i.f. r.i.f. Adams
McGowan l.o.f. r.o.f. Harvie

Score: Shawsheen 2. Goals: by Wilson, McGowan. Referee: G. Lambie. Linesmen: Andrews, Crowther. Time: 45-minute halves.

Shawsheen plays J. & P. Coats tomorrow at Pawtucket and hopes to annex another win.

The locals continued on Monday afternoon where they left off Saturday and gave their clearest exhibition of the season in defeating the New York Giants by two goals to none. Shawsheen outplayed their opponents throughout the game and but for the wonderful goal keeping of Douglas the score would have been much larger. He was goal tend on the U. S. team at the last Olympic games and some of his saves Monday were remarkable.

Shawsheen's victory was decisive and after the first 20 minutes there was no doubt as to the ultimate winner. The score would be superior on the attack and the forward line worked smoothly. Murdock again proved his worth for Shawsheen and made several clever saves.

It was not until after 35 minutes of the hardest playing that Shawsheen put through their first counter, Stradan taking a pass

SMITH & DOVE DEFEATED

Smith & Dove played Manchester in an industrial soccer league game, Monday, as an opener to the Shawsheen-New York game, and were defeated 1 to 0.

The game was evenly contested with Manchester as the most aggressive side, and playing superior football. Manchester had the wind at their backs in the first half and the playing of Green and Dickson was the chief factor in their team's success.

Gentiles, who was playing left half for the Doves, tied hard to pull his side together, but slack methods on the part of the forward line saw many chances missed. The only dangerous effort was made by Craig, who hit the cross-bar with a great shot with Galloway beaten.

The summary:
MANCHESTER SMITH & DOVE
Galloway g. g. Hughes
Murray, r.b. l.b. Davies
Stewart, l.b. c.h. McAllister
Maser, r.h. l.h. Gentile

Dickson, l.i.f. r.i.f. Cruikshanks
Wallace, l.o.f. r.o.f. Mills
Wallace, l.o.f. r.o.f. Mills

Score: Manchester, 1; Smith & Dove, 0. Goal: Green. Referee: V. Dobson. Linesman: Banner and Jones. Time: one 40-minute period and one 35-minute period.
