Mrs. E. J. Prescott, of North Andover, Speaks on "The Women of Old New England"—Colonial Ball to Be Held on Washington's Birthday

"Women of Old New England and Their Ways" was the subject of the talk given by Mrs. E. J. Prescott of North Andover, at the annual meeting of the Andover Historical Society held Monday evening in the vestry of the South church.

Mrs. Prescott has the happy faculty of painting vivid word pictures of the times of our forebears, and for a short hour her hearers lived again the busy but not unhappy life of the New England housewife of long ago, a life which centered about her hearthstone and her church. She told of the daily work necessary for the wellbeing of her family, the spinning and weaving and the preparation of the simple food, of the books she read, of her garden, and her recreations. These same New England housewives are the ones, said Mrs. Prescott, who kept the hearthfires bright and by their industry laid the foundations for our present prosperity.

At the business meeting, presided over by Dr. Charles E. Abbott, the report of the secretary was given by Mrs. J. Edgar Folk, and in the absence of Miss Helen Eaton, the report of the custodian also. The society has enjoyed a successful year and forty-seven new members have been added. Among the articles recently added to the collection at the society's rooms are the handle of John Brown's blacksmith shop at Harper's Ferry, a Bible dated 1825, and a brass skillet, which belonged to seven generations of Hannah Holts.

The treasurer's report, given by George Abbot, showed that the receipts for the current year were nearly $400 in excess of the expenses. He also enumerated the permanent funds, with their gains for the year.

The report of the nominating committee was given by Miss Ella Holt and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Dr. Charles E. Abbott; first vice president, John V. Holt; second vice president, Miss Bell J. Butterfield; treasurer, George Abbot; custodian, Miss Helen Eaton; secretary, Miss Grace Jenkins; directors, William A. Trow, Rev. F. A. Wilson, Mrs. Benjamin K. Bradley, O. P. Chase and Miss Clara A. Putnam.

The president expressed the appreciation of the board of directors and of the society for the very efficient work of the secretary, Mrs. Folk, who retired from office because of other and more pressing demands upon her time.

The president, Dr. Abbott, announced that the Colonial ball, which was such a marked success last year, would be repeated next February on Washington's birthday. He also called attention to the aim of the society to have a permanent home and mentioned the life membership fees of $25, and the memorial funds as aids to this end. The memorial funds, with $50 as a minimum, may be given in memory of any individual, each fund being deposited as a separate account and kept in perpetuity.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

ANDOVER GUILD OPENS

Mrs. Herbert F. Fraser Chosen as Superintendent to Be Assisted in Girls' Work by Miss Blanche Holmes.

Mrs. Herbert F. Fraser has been engaged as superintendent for the Andover Guild during the coming season. Mrs. Fraser, who has been assisting recently at the Lawrence Y. W. C. A., is admirably qualified for the position by her wide experience in community work.

She will have as assistants in charge of gymnasium classes, Miss Blanche Holmes of Andover, a graduate of Sargent School, and John J. Keefe, director of the boys' groups at the Guild for several years past.

The full schedule of activities will not begin until December first, but the gymnasium work will be started immediately. Mr. Keefe will meet his first class on Tuesday evening, November 3, at seven o'clock. On Friday evening, November 6, Mrs. Fraser and Miss Holmes will hold an informal reception for the Guild girls, as announced in another column. A schedule of classes will be published later.

The Guild seeks the support of the people of Andover in supplying the following needs:

1. A pianist for a moderate remuneration is paid. Those interested should communicate with Mrs. Fraser, 18 Salem street, or C. C. Kimball, 50 School street.

2. Volunteer workers. The Guild will welcome the assistance of all interested in recreational or educational work among young people. Telephone, Mrs. Fraser, Andover 729-M.

3. Games. There is need for games of all kinds such as checkers, ring-toss, parcheesi, crokinole, etc. Jig-saw puzzles are extremely popular. The Guild is particularly anxious to secure a small pool table of the "Burrrows" type. The collection of games is in charge of Mrs. W. Dacre Walker, 121 Main street.

Have you made a bird-bath, or a lily-pool, or garden ornament of any kind? If so will you not come to the annual meeting of the Improvement Society in the library of the High School, November 9, and tell about it?

Prof. Forbes will speak, Mr. Gatterson, Mr. Poynter and several ladies have promised to give some account of their own experiences; the meeting will then become an open forum for the discussion of any branch of garden lore.

ATTEND SPECIAL SERVICE

Members of Square and Compass Club Present at Evening Service at Baptist Church.

Comparing one's life and character to a great building, Rev. C. Norman Bartlett of the Baptist church preached a special sermon Sunday evening to the Square and Compass club who were guests of the church at the evening service.

He took for his text, the fifth verse of the second chapter of the first Epistle to Peter, "Ye also as living stones are built up a spiritual house." He mentioned the great cathedrals of Europe, St. Peter's, Milan, Cologne, Rheims, St. Paul's, and hoped that all would some day be able to see them and admire their grandeur. These buildings, he said, were not built in a day, even centuries passing from the time the corner stone was laid until the spire was topped. Then he mentioned the beautiful cathedral which is being built in New York City, that of St. John the Divine, and the Episcopal cathedral which is being built in Washington, and gave these as instances of a revival of architecture in church building here in America. To these great cathedrals both princes and people have poured out from their wealth, so as to have a part in the building of them.

Then Mr. Bartlett compared the building of our lives to these great cathedrals. He said that everyone should hire a great architect, as a cheap one is very costly in the end. The example of Jesus Christ must be taken for a pattern, as he has in Him every variety of loveliness, and knows the way to build character from corner stone to spire.

There are people, he said, who delight to look on and criticize the material building and just so are there people who like to look on and criticize a spiritual one. Jesus Christ is not only the architect but the owner of the cathedral of lives, and it grieves Him to see people working so slowly in uprightness. There are many things to hinder the building up of character; there are dishonest contractors, there are those who wittingly carry out their own ideas in defiance of the Master's plans, there are those who from sheer laziness will not work, and there are those who from over-sensitiveness give up. Mr. Bartlett said that if one's conscience were as sensitive as one's pocketbook, the millennium would come tomorrow.

Just as the skyscrapers of New York have foundations hundreds of feet into the earth, so the height of our achievement depends on the depth of our faith in Jesus. As one would not desecrate a beautiful building with mud and filth, so one should not desecrate the cathedral of his life with careless living and defiling speech. Other foundation hath no man than Jesus Christ.

The service was well attended by the members of the club. During the offertory Selden Billington played a violin selection.

Halloween games, Halloween decorations, and Halloween refreshments, were in order when the Philathea and their friends gathered in the Baptist church vestry last evening.

Lured by the music of old-time songs, ghosts appeared, which were of such solid substance that they shook hands with everyone present. The ghosts were Bruce Torrey and Dora Dennison.

Fairbanks Outstunts Self in New Film

Just an intensely appealing love story with many complications because of conspiracy and intrigue; a story replete with high adventure that gives the greatest opportunities ever for athletic prowess, fear-some stunts and feats of utmost daring and skill—such is the description of the latest Douglas Fairbanks' photoplay, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," which is announced as the feature attraction coming next Monday and Tuesday to the Colonial, Andover, November 2 and 3.

The management of the Colonial theatre is authority for the statement that in his new screen play Fairbanks has departed temporarily at least from such historic characterizations as "Robin Hood" or the imaginative fantasy of his "Thief of Bagdad," and now has given to his public a picture that outstunts anything he has ever produced; a picture that affords him the widest possible scope for his well known athletic abilities.

"Don Q, Son of Zorro," is not at all related, as many have thought, to the Cervantes masterpiece "Don Quixote." The picture was made from the novel "Don Q's Love Story," by K. and Hesketh Pridmore, and was adapted for the screen by Jack Cunningham. Don Q is the son of Zorro and the roles of both son and father are portrayed by the versatile star.

Chief of the stunts in "Don Q, Son of Zorro," spring from the use by Fairbanks of the bull-whip, a very long, very slender and very sinuous lash, menacing and terrible in its execution when in the hands of a skilled person. This whip, which had its origin in the early ranch days of Southern California when it was used by cattle drovers, consists of a lash fastened to a short butt-like handle, and that tapers in its length of fifty or sixty feet from a thickness of an inch or so to the slenderness of a small cord.

With this whip Fairbanks performs feats that are startling in its use as weapon both offensive and defensive. With it he wins the plaudits of the Spanish populace; with it he saves the lives of many persons, one his arch enemy, when an enraged desperado escapes from the ring and runs a small cart through the streets. He frustrates the plans of conspiring enemies against his lady-love and himself. As a matter of fact, according to critics, this whip of fact, of Don Q becomes all that the duelling sword was in the hands of the hero in "The Mark of Zorro."

In addition to presenting high adventure, most appealing romance, startling melodrama and mysterious conspiracy, Mr. Fairbanks has gathered around him photoplayers of exceptional ability and known popularity. Mary Astor, young, beautiful and accomplished, is the leading lady, while Jack McLaughlin and Donald Crisp, who also directs the picture, are seen in the main supporting roles. In the cast are the Countess De Lanti, Warner Oland, Jean Hersholt, Lottie Pickford, Forrest and Albert MacQuarrie.

MAJESTIC

The eagerly awaited engagement of Pat Rooney and Marion Bent in their uproarious musical comedy success, "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady," begins at the Majestic theatre, Boston, November 2, for two weeks and should by all odds prove to be one of the most satisfying entertainments of the season.

Hearing the irresistible comedy lines from the pen of Edgar Allan Woolf will claim your closest attention and seeing the cyclonic dances of Pat Rooney and a score of other nimble-footed artists and the interpretative terpsichorean numbers of the specialists sandwiched in between the mating chorus gyrations staged by David Bennett, who also put on the dances in "Rose Marie," will enable you to enjoy the relaxation of intensity over the affairs of everyday life, to indulge in pleased smiles and then break into the heartiest laughter. It is the most hilarious comedy seen in the theatre in years and the serious equal to Broadway's most pulchritudinous mind-disturbers. Exuberant wit permeates the action and yet there is no neglect of that foil of pathos skillfully interwoven in the story to accentuate comedy situations. It bill. If so, all audiences attending "Rosie," are able to add a long list of credits to the medical account. The lyrics of "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady," are by Cliff Hess and the music by Jos. Santley, the elaborate costumes by Brooks Mahieu and the ten scenes were designed and built by Donald Ackerman. An agitated, syncopatin' symphony orchestra of ten pieces carried with the company, plays the dance music. There never is a quiet sole in the house. The Rooneys are at their best in their new big production.

WILBUR

Youth, beauty and charm will romp at the War theatre, Boston, Monday night, November 2, when the Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert's musical comedy "June Days" will begin an engagement, with Wyn Richmond, Jack McGowan and Jay C. Flippen heading the splendid Broadway cast. Adapted from Alice Duer Miller's well known story "The Charm School," Fred Coote has supplied a score of the prettiest little tunes, neatest melodies, precious bits of jazz, and close harmony, that has been heard in some time and to these J. Seymour Felix has staged a series of unbelievably glorious numbers. In fact it is the chorus that has stopped the show at every performance, and are just the lively irresistible, appealingly charming young school girls that they are supposed to be in the story.

It's a clean, bright, original entertainment, "June Days," the story of a young man who inherits a school for girls, and becomes its Carruth, and Mrs. Jennie Saunders; Sons of Veterans—James Hovey, captain, Arthur Holt, D. F. Chase, George Marland, Walter E. Buxton, and J. D. Russell.

Married in Lawrence, October 24, Walter E. Buxton of Andover, and Miss Eva A. Berry of Lawrence, by Rev. A. H. Amory.

Mrs. Charles O. Cummings of 105 Washington avenue, corner of Elm street, expected to have a little business talk with a neighbor last Monday night. When she answered the doorbell, she found not only Mr. John Richardson whom she expected, but also Mrs. Richardson, Miss Flossie Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Knight, Mr. and Mrs. John Holt, Miss Mabel Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Peabody and daughter of North Reading, and Harley Simons of North Andover.

The occasion of the surprise party was Mrs. Cummings's birthday, and the guests remembered her with many pretty and choice gifts. During the evening the hostess led the gathering to the dining room where refreshments were served. She had invited several of her friends but did not expect so many. Those who came were not empty-handed, so there was a plentiful supply of edibles. One of the good things provided was a birthday cake, one having been made by Mrs. Cummings also, who is an expert in such matters. The gathering broke up at an early hour, but North Reading guests wished to catch a car.

President of Girl Scout Council Addresses Lions

Mrs. Fred H. Eaton, president of the Girl Scout council, and Mrs. Walter T. Rochefort, captain of a troop which she formed herself, spoke before the members of the Lions club at their noonday luncheon on Tuesday in Caledonian hall, Lawrence, on the Girl Scout movement. Mrs. Eaton was the first speaker and was introduced by King Lion Albert Emerson. Mrs. Rochefort was introduced by Mrs. Eaton as a "Scout Captain and Scout Mother."

Mrs. Eaton said in part: "You are a community service club. We have a community service club. The Girl Scout is also a community service club. Each Scout takes pride in doing a good turn each day, and is most conscientious about it. We all know the road of service is the road to happiness. The Girl Scouts are at all times happy. There are today in the United States over 150,000 Girl Scouts. They are also organized in the various possessions of the country, and are international as well, all working towards the same end. At a meeting a year ago in England, 1,100 were present, representing twenty-six countries of the world. It is a wonderful organization for girls, healthful, patriotic and most practical."

Punchard Girls' Basketball Team Begins Practice The girls of the Punchard high school basketball team held their first practice session of the season, Monday afternoon in the Guild hall. QUALITY— Never Goes Out of Style STYLES change, to be sure, but day in and day out, year in and year out, people DEMAND quality in their food. Nothing new will do, unless it's BETTER.

20TH CENTURY CREAM BREAD

And that's just why you'll be content with this bread day in and day out—yes, for weeks, months, even years. You'll find that it will still have that same wonderful quality that was famous back in grandma's days—but with a quality that is even BETTER—because of scientific mixing and baking. You'll never know what you have missed until you try this wonderful loaf of truly HOME-MADE BREAD.

Local Women Attend President's Conference

A President's Conference was held in Boston at the new Old South Church on Monday, October 26. This Conference was called "To give an opportunity for fellowship and interchange of ideas among the leaders of associations, unions or guilds, whatever name is applied to the central organization of women in the church."

Mrs. John Voorhis Holt, president of the conference, presided. The conference was well attended by representatives from the women's organizations in the churches of greater Boston and throughout the state. At a short business session, Mrs. Holt was elected to serve as president for the ensuing year.

The program was arranged to be most helpful in suggestions for "Building up the Missionary Program" for the year for both Junior and adult work. Suggestions for the "Social Life of the Church" which women's organizations could plan as well as "Clubs for Business Women" were presented and discussed with great interest.

Some of the outstanding pieces of work carried on in individual churches were presented: "The School of Missions" at the Congregational church in South Weymouth, which is a most valuable educational force in the life of the church; "The Interchurch Day" which is held by Andover at South church each year in March was presented by Miss Fannie Davis. What this day means to this community in bringing all the women together from the different churches for a day of fellowship and thinking along the lines of our common interests, was received with great interest by the conference and will doubtless be considered in many other communities as a necessary part of their church program.

The "Fellowship of Prayer" movement was presented with such a vital urge as the foundation upon which the whole structure is laid. A beautiful noon devotional service under the subject, "A Litany of Peace" was conducted by the president of the women's society of the hostess church.

The afternoon session presented a program involving larger aspects of church opportunities, considering such subjects as, "Anticipating the Golden Anniversary of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Union," "The significance of the merger to our church life," "The International Spirit of Clean Living," "Cultivating the Spiritual Life."

The churches in Andover represented at this conference were the Chapel Woman's Union by Mrs. Horace Poynter and Mrs. Henry Hopper; the Woman's Union of the South church by Miss Fannie Davis.

Eleventh Birthday Party

A birthday party was held last Friday evening in honor of Miss Catherine Winters of 4 Cuba street. Piano selections were rendered by Edna Anderson, Rita Walsh, Rita Hastings, and Catherine Winters. Vocal selections were given by Mae Hastings, Florence McCarthy and Anna Gill. Games were played during the evening. Those present were Rita Wash, Vera Connelly, Jessie Connelly, Edna Anderson, Rita Hastings, Mae Hastings, Catherine Hastings, Anna Gill, Rita Anderson, Catherine Winters, Grace Dentremont, Marie Dentremont, Alice Connelly.

Ladies' Mission Circle Changes Its Name
At the Baptist church, the Ladies' Mission Circle had charge of the Wednesday evening meeting, and carried out a unique and pleasing program.

After the opening exercises, Mrs. Mary Jackson and Mrs. Joseph Holland rendered a beautiful duet, entitled "Ivory Palaces." The members of the "Folded Hand" society took the floor, beginning their missionary meeting by singing one verse of the following hymns, "Will there be any stars in our crown?" "No, not one."

Following came reports. After this came various details of a missionary meeting of an inactive society, rather showing how things should not be done.
Then the pastor's wife gave vivid reasons why one should love the missionary work throughout all the world, showing the wonderful work done in our own land for multitudes of "New Americans," and others.

She also gave some idea of the great missionary work down in many of the foreign fields, telling of some missionaries personally known. As a soldier once said, "The stars and stripes never retreat," so let us, as soldiers of the Lord Jesus, say and do the same.

As a result of this talk, the name of the Society was changed to "Helping Hand Society."

The Magic Carpet
Once upon a time in the mystic land of Persia, there was found among the treasures of a king, a wonderful carpet. One had only to sit on it, wish to be somewhere, and behold the carpet would fly till the wished-for place was reached. For hundreds of years it carried kings and princes upon the most amazing adventures. No one knows what finally became of it, but it may be that its last threads went into the make-up of the first Youth's Companion. For, like the magic carpet, the Companion for 1925 carries you to the land of your heart's desire—up into the Maine woods with the lumbermen; out on the Western plains where the warlike Navaho Indians live; far up into the gold regions of Alaska; and away on the Southern Seas in search of treasures and lost islands. All you need for such extraordinary adventures is a young heart and a Youth's Companion. Don't lose time in getting started; subscribe now and receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1926, and
2. The remaining issues of 1925.
All for only $2.

3. Or include McCall's Magazine, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $2.50.

Study Groups to Be Formed by League Members

"Child Welfare," "Social Hygiene" and "The Primaries" are the subjects which will be considered by study groups from the Andover League of Women Voters. These groups will meet in private houses fortnightly, and carry on their studies quite independently of the general meetings of the League, although arrangements may be made to share the fruits of their study at an open meeting.

These plans of the winter's work were outlined on Monday afternoon at a meeting held at the home of Miss Amelia Shapleigh on Hidden road and attended by about twenty-five persons. The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Mildred Gutterus, field secretary of the Massachusetts league, an enthusiastic exponent of the purposes and accomplishments of that organization.

Miss Gutterus believes that the League is a necessary and unique force in the future of American democracy. By means of its schools of politics, candidates meetings and publications, it has been a leader in disseminating information and raising the average intelligence of the electorate. Besides being an impartial educational force, the League has a unique and intangible influence on the public mind, a point which Miss Gutterus illustrated by several incidents which had come to her personal notice.

She commended the plans for study, made by the local league, saying that there was at the present time a tendency toward too much passive education and passive recreation, and that the working out of problems in study groups would be a great help in the present very complicated duty of voting intelligently.

Following the discussion, tea was served by Miss Shapleigh, with Mrs. Arthur L. Goodwillie pouring.

Abbot Academy Notes

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Marion Littlefield of Bradford gave the first in a series of talks on Hygiene.

Miss Josephine Hammond of the English department gave readings from some of the modern poets on Sunday afternoon.

After The Reverend Ralph Harlow's talk in Davis Hall on Sunday evening in behalf of The Friendly Relations Committee of the Y. W. C. A., Mr. Howe gave a short organ recital.

The Abbot Dramatic Society has elected two new members: Miss Jane Ruth Hovey of Melrose, and Miss Sydna White of Waban. The Junior class elections resulted as follows: President, Miss Louise Anthony of Garden City, Long Island; vice president, Miss Margaret A. Neville of North Andover; secretary, Miss Ann Miller of Philadelphia; treasurer, Miss Shirlee Austin of Lawrence.

On Tuesday evening, Walter Edward Howe gave a delightful organ recital, the first in a series of Faculty concerts. The program was varied and interesting, the Sonata by West being especially effective.

The school is attending the Annual Field Day with Bradford Academy on next Wednesday, November 4, when the Abbot students will be the guests of the Bradford students and the usual contests in tennis, basketball, hockey, croquet, and clock golf will take place.

Christian Endeavorers Met in Reunion

About fifty members of the Essex county delegation to the Northfield conference held this year in August, met in reunion on Saturday and Sunday at the Main Street Church of Christ in Haverhill. The reunion gave the delegates an opportunity to meet the friends who were made at Northfield and exemplify the great friendship of the great Christian Endeavor movement.

The reunion also recalled to memory the splendid advantages of Northfield, of the happy moments spent in class and at play. This was brought out at the after-dinner speeches which were very amusing and interesting.

The reunion opened at 4:30 o'clock in the Main street church, with the registration and assignment of rooms, after which many of the delegates took the opportunity of seeing the city. At 5:30 a banquet was served by the Haverhill Union Northfield club.

The feast was followed by the after-dinner toasts with Abbott B. Foster of Manchester as toastmaster, as follows: "Altogether," Miss Arvilla Scoville; "Challenge," Miss Amelia M. Drew; "Education," James C. Purrington; "Games," Chester T. Neilson; "Happy," Dorothy C. Trott; "Opportunity," Henry O. Scott; "Love," Miss Dorothy Butterworth; "Tomorrow," Richard L. Wiggins.

After the banquet, the delegates were entertained by the Haverhill Union Northfield club by a Hallowe'en social. A pleasant evening was spent in the playing of games, singing and other amusing stunts, until a late hour when the party broke up to be entertained by the members of the Haverhill union at their homes.

Sunday morning the delegates attended the church services in different churches, and in spite of the rain there were large numbers present.

In the afternoon the reunion was brought to a fitting close, when with other members of the Haverhill, Lawrence, Amesbury and Andover unions, they all attended the citizenship rally for these unions. Those who attended from this district were Margaret Brown and Dorothy Butterworth of Lawrence, Effie O. Ross, Amelia M. Drew, Margaret Richardson, Dorothy C. Trott, Edna Albers, Raymond Wilson and William Barnett.

Athletics for All

Most of the people of Andover seem to show but little concern over the fact that athletic activities at Punchard are limited to the development of school teams. At a given time of the year there are about thirty men out for the teams and the rest of the students can do nothing but look on, and while the athletes get plenty of exercise, the vast majority of students gets none.

The benefit to be derived from participating in some form of organized play is considerable, for competitive sports develop in the player a strong, agile body and an ability to think rapidly and accurately under mental and physical stress. Moreover, they produce an attitude of good sportsmanship on the part of the players which will remain a valuable asset throughout life. For these reasons it is regrettable that more high school students of both sexes should not have the opportunity of taking part in organized sports. At present only about fifteen per cent of the boys and almost none of the girls receive supervised training.

Considering the limited facilities at Punchard, it is surprising to see how successful the regular teams have been, and the students may be proud of their achievements in competition with other schools. If more students could take part in sports and make up some minor teams, the school spirit would be much more intense and the varsity teams would, as a result, be still better.

Extensive participation in sports requires more instruction and additional facilities. Although the present coaches work commendably, more time should be given to the supervision of class and group teams, so that every student should have the opportunity to get the training which is now limited to those who need it least. Students as a whole exert themselves less physically than they did years ago. Idle hours are more apt to be spent in a moving-picture house than in working out on a farm. Consequently, exercise at school is necessary for the physical health of our youth.

A gymnasium at the school is a necessity. Most high schools of one hundred or more pupils have basketball and track activities, but Punchard High School students, while interested in these sports, are unable to engage in them for lack of equipment. The winter months are, therefore, athletically inactive. The gymnasium which has been used during the winter is inadequate for the proper development of varsity, class, and minor teams. A good floor and sufficient coaching would ensure a good basketball team, which could easily clear expenses. It would also provide facilities for many others to play for basketball is probably the most popular of school sports.

To have such a gymnasium would go a long way toward realizing the democratic ideal of "athletics for all" at Punchard.

Editorial Cinders

Residents of Andover will be pleased to read the preliminary report on the proposed improvement of the library, and all await with interest the more detailed account of the proposal. The Townsman again invites all criticisms and suggestions on the part of citizens interested in this plan.

With the full moon now at hand mothers should be cautioned to keep their children from going out after supper because our streets are unlighted during this period. At this particular time, in addition to the danger from automobiles driving along our lightless streets, we have the customary lawlessness which accompanies Hallowe'en. The combination of dark streets, motor traffic and youthful brigandage makes it doubly dangerous for little children to be about at night time.

Lecture by Mr. Ellsworth

In the Phillips Academy Chapel, on the evening of Tuesday, November 3, William Webster Ellsworth, who is well-known to Andover audiences, will give an illustrated lecture called "The Times of Great Elizabeth." Mr. Ellsworth describes the court, the adventures, the voyagers, and the writers of this stirring period, using lantern slides to show unusual views of places and people under the Virgin Queen. It will be recalled that Mr. Ellsworth, a year ago, delivered in the Chapel a most entertaining talk on "Shakespeare and Old London," which proved to be of interest to the student body, especially those who were taking courses in English history or literature. This new lecture is intended to be a supplement to that one, and it will undoubtedly be full of valuable information. Admission will be free, and the general public are cordially invited to attend.

Inspection Night for Relief Corps

An inspection meeting was held in G. A. R. hall Tuesday evening by the Women's Relief Corps. The work of the inspection committee was letter-perfect and they received the commendation of the officers. During the business meeting several donations of money were made for charitable purposes. It was voted to have the executive committee conduct a whist party. Refreshments were served after the meeting. President Mrs. Alexander Crockett presided.

Square and Compass Club to Hold Pop Cabaret

The Square and Compass Club is planning to run a pop cabaret and Hallowe'en party in the Shawshen cafeteria this evening. Admission will be charged and tables may be reserved for parties of four or more for an additional cover charge by notifying the committee chairman, John Erving, at 28 York street or telephoning Andover 945-J.

There will be dancing, cabaret entertainers, souvenirs and favors and Sinclair's Balmoral orchestra will furnish the music. The entertainment will consist of piano selections by Rollo Hudson, who broadcasts from WEEI and other stations, selections by Billy Barker, a comedian and story teller, who is also a broadcaster, dancing by cabaret girls, including Grace Chapman, and "The Dancing Wirths" who specialize in classic ballroom dancing, and have had several years' fame in the Hippodrome in New York.

The committee in charge consists of George A. Higgins, I. R. Kimball, F. H. Morrison, and John Erving.

Punchard to Play Gloucester Saturday

Surprised on 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buxton of 19 Summer street who were intending to quietly celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on Saturday, were pleasantly surprised in the evening, when nearly thirty of their friends called to help make the evening a memorable one.

Mrs. Buxton was presented with a beautiful bouquet of sweetheart roses, which concealed a ten-dollar gold piece. Whist was played, and refreshments were served.

During the afternoon Mrs. Buxton also received a bouquet of twenty-five bride roses. Congratulations and best wishes were received during the day from Mr. and Mrs. Buxton's many friends, both in Andover and out of town.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Buxton was Miss Eva Berry of Lawrence, and at the ceremony which was performed in Lawrence on October 24, 1900, Rev. A. H. Amory was the officiating clergyman.

Ladies' Benevolent Society to Hold Supper

The members of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Free church are making extensive plans for their harvest supper and entertainment in the vestry, Wednesday, November 11. At the last meeting of the organization, plans were formulated for the affair, and each member of the committee appointed is anxious to have an unusually successful event. A supper consisting of baked beans, cold meats, potato salads, pickles, doughnuts, pies and coffee will be served at 6.30.

Mrs. Stanley V. Lane and Mrs. Clarence C. Coolidge comprise the committee in charge of arrangements for the entertainment program.

Mrs. Roy H. Bradford is chairman of the general committee and is ably assisted by Mrs. Alice Archibald, Mrs. Etta Silva, Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. Harry Chadwick, Mrs. David Couts, Mrs. David May, Mrs. James Purcell and Mrs. Dana Clark.

Trip Around the World

Plans are already being made for an entertainment to be given in April by the A. P. C. society of the South church. It will be called "A Trip Around the World," and will be something new in Andover. There will be five countries represented, at least, and the entertainment will be progressive, as each country will be staged in a different house.

America, China, Holland, Scotland and the North Pole have been chosen as the places to be represented and appropriate articles will be for sale and entertainments will be given.

It is hoped that the public will bear this in mind, and plan for the proposed tour of adventure which will be open to everyone. Automobiles will convey the parties to the various houses.

Preliminary Report of Library Trustees

At the last town meeting, the trustees of the Memorial Hall Library were granted five hundred dollars to aid them in the study of plans for the enlargement and reconstruction of the Memorial Hall building. The problem is a twofold one: more room must be provided for the ever-growing needs of the library; and some plan must be found, if possible, that will keep the old building, erected by the loyal sentiment of a generation ago, yet change its architectural appearance to conform to the better standards of today.

That more room is needed is apparent to every user of the library. With a circulation of over 50,000 books a year among more than 3600 card holders it is clear that the administrative facilities are very inadequate. The stock room is so limited that many valuable books have to be kept in out-of-the-way corners where they are not directly accessible to the visitor at the library. There is only one room for readers—so crowded at times that children have to create an eyecore. Andover is a beautiful town, but its beauty has not been increased, for the most part, by its public buildings. If anything is to be done to the library building, architectural considerations should be given large weight.

These, in brief, were some of the facts the Trustees had in mind when they asked for the appropriation. Through the courtesy of the Massachusetts Library Commission, it was found that Mr. H. J. Carlson of the firm of Coolidge & Carlson, Boston, was retained by the Commission as a consulting architect, and that his services were available, without cost to the town, for advice and suggestion. At an interview with Mr. Carlson, our problem was explained and he was asked for suggestions. The result is a preliminary plan and an elevation drawing submitted by him. The trustees are placing these in the widow of the Savings Bank. Mr. Carlson has been asked to secure a rough estimate of the cost of carrying out his plans, and this will be made public when it is received. The trustees are agreed that the adoption stand or to sit on the floor to read. The use of the library for reference purposes has increased amazingly in the last few years. The young people in the school are taught to use it and they have responded eagerly to the teaching. Let any doubter visit Memorial Hall in the late afternoon or early evening and he will be convinced. The building is badly arranged for present-day needs. The Memorial Hall on the second floor which should be a shrine for all good citizens, is so constructed that it cannot be used for meetings or public gatherings. The pictures purchased from the Cornell Fund are placed in the third story; access to that room is difficult if not positively dangerous, and few people seek it. Merely to increase the size of the building without reference to its appearance would of this plan would transform a building which however precious its associations, is not an addition to the charm of Andover, into a dignified, beautiful home for the library, adequate to its needs and worthy the precious sentiment which it embodies. They are not, however, pledged to details and they will welcome helpful criticism. They intend to discuss some of the arrangements provided by the new plans, in the near future, in the newspapers of Andover and vicinity.

PROPOSED ADDITIONS TO MEMORIAL HALL LIBRARY

Obituary

MISS MARGARET MIDDLETON
Word has been received of the death of Miss Margaret Middleton, who passed away at her home in Northampton at the age of seventy-three. The funeral services were held Thursday at the late home.

Miss Middleton was well known in town, where her father, James Middleton, was connected with the old Frye Village mill of the Smith and Dove company. They resided in Andover about forty years in the house now occupied by William C. Coutts on Maple avenue. The family left town twenty-five years ago, but kept up acquaintanceships here.

One sister, Miss Jean U. Middleton of Northampton, and two brothers, George of Ripon, Wisconsin, and James of Hyde Park, survive.

MRS. LOUISE R. BAILEY
All of the friends of Mrs. Louise R. Bailey were greatly shocked to hear of her death which occurred Thursday, October 22, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Livingstone of Abbot street. The funeral services were held Sunday, October 25, at 2.30 p.m., in the chapel at the West cemetery.

She leaves to mourn for her, two daughters, Mrs. Clifford Dunnells, and Mrs. Harold Livingstone, both of Andover; two sons, Warren A. of Hiram, Me., and Arlon W. of Andover; three grandchildren, Edith Louise Dunnells, Vernie Ethel Livingstone and Emily Grace Livingstone; two sisters, Mrs. Asbury Huntress of Brockton and Ernestine Wentworth of Hiram, Me.; and a brother, Ansel W. of Lowell.

Mrs. Bailey was born in Hiram, Me., but came to Andover at the time of her marriage to Alphonso Bailey, whose death occurred a few years later. She was afterward married to her brother, Henry Bailey, who she survived. She lived in West Andover until a few years ago when she moved to Andover. She was a member of the Andover Baptist church.

All who knew her, will ever remember the indomitable spirit and courage which she showed through her whole life as she worked to keep her family together till they grew to manhood and womanhood; a spirit and courage which could not be dimmed by hardships or sickness; thinking always of others till finally called to rest.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation by President Coolidge

President Coolidge proclaimed Thursday, November 26, as Thanksgiving Day when gratitude should be expressed for many and great blessings which have come to the people during the past year.

"The nation has been brought with safety and honor through another twelve months," the proclamation says, "peace at home and abroad with the public health good, with harvests and industries productive and labor well rewarded."

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA: A PROCLAMATION

The season approaches when, in accordance with a long established and respected custom, a day is set apart to give thanks to Almighty God for the manifold blessings which His gracious and benevolent providence has bestowed upon us as a nation and as individuals.

As we have grown and prospered in material things so also should we progress in moral and spiritual things. We are a God fearing people who should set ourselves against evil and strive for righteousness in living, and observing the golden rule we should from our abundance help and serve those less fortunately placed.

Now therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States do hereby set apart Thursday the twenty-sixth day of November next, as a day of general Thanksgiving and prayer, and I recommend that on that day the people shall cease from their work and in their homes or in their accustomed places of worship, devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received and to seek His guidance that they may deserve a continuance of His favor.

Done at the city of Washington, this twenty-sixth day of October in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fiftieth.

CALVIN COOLIDGE, The President.

Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State.

Andover 0—Yale Second 14

Princeton and Army plays were used Saturday by the Yale Second eleven in pinning a 14 to 0 defeat on Phillips Academy in a game played on Brothers field.

The first Yale touchdown came in the second period following a march from their own 25-yard stripe. A forward pass from Andover's 30-yard line to the three-yard mark furnished Yale with a scoring chance after Andover had in the first period forced Yale to relinquish possession of the ball within their 14-yard line.

The forward, Riley to Scott, fell into Scott's clutches at the 3-yard mark. Lapham was shot through tackle for the first score.

The second Yale score followed a drive from the Andover 48-yard line with the Yale backs sending the Blue back to their own goal line by a withering attack, Riley, Andrews, Starr and Lapham supplying the ball-carrying action that brought the pigskin to within two yards of the Andover goal where Lapham with a mighty thrust off-tackle counted.

The Andover backs were practically helpless before the heavy Yale line. Both sets of linemen who were used during the encounter threw back the Andover backfielders and the little ground could be negotiated by the Blue.

Rideout, with his hand in a plaster-cast, started at left end for the Blue but at the close of the first period the game Andover wingman was again injured. In the face of such great odds Andover did well to hold the college scrubs to such a low score.

Richardson was the outstanding defensive figure in the Andover lineup. Backing up his line he gave a remarkable exhibition, smashing up play after play from tackle to tackle, and driving in on swing end runs in a number of instances before they started, while Crandall, the Blue's 130-pound back, also gave a skilled all-around exhibition of play.

Gill, Andover end, and Manning, former Choate school star, also flashed for the Blue. The summary: YALE 2ND ANDOVER

Punchard 40—Reading 0

Punchard High, superior in all departments of play, shut out Jake Aldred's Reading High team in a one-sided classic Saturday afternoon at Reading. The final score was 40 to 0, a clear indication of the offensive strength of the Punchard team.

The "four ponies", as the Punchard backfield has been termed, rode to a high and mighty victory. Nothing could stop them. One first down after the other followed. The same was true of the scores but of course they did not happen as frequently.

Coutts of the Punchard team was one of the outstanding players of the game. Once he took the ball on his own 25-yard line and ran 74 yards for a touchdown. It was the longest run of the game and one of the best plays. The other Punchard backs had little difficulty in making their way through the weak Reading line.

Coutts scored two of the touchdowns for Coach Lovely's aggregation. Murphy, Phillips, McDonald and Doyle each made one. Coutts kicked four goals after touchdown.
