LEAGUE OF NATIONS FROM WITHIN

Sir Herbert Ames Gives First Lecture on Alfred Ernest Stearns Foundation in George Washington Hall. Dr. Pfatfeicher Plays on New Organ

A large audience of students, teachers, and townspeople heard Sir Herbert Ames last Saturday evening, when he delivered the first lecture in George Washington Hall on the Alfred Ernest Stearns Foundation. For a few minutes preceding the address Dr. Carl F. Pfatfeicher played upon the new organ, and Sir Herbert, in opening his address, made a pleasant reference to the fact that this beautiful instrument was manufactured in his native city of Montreal. Sir Herbert, in his lecture, which had the general title, "The League of Nations from Within," outlined the organization of the league, and described in some detail the function of each section. He dwelt particularly on the dramatic moment in September, 1926, when, twelve years after the battle of the Marne, Stresemann, representing the German nation, accepted for them membership in the League of Nations, and Aristide Briand, representing the French Republic, welcomed the new member in eloquent language. Sir Herbert Ames referred briefly to several occasions when the League was able to avert war between European countries, particularly those which involved conflicts between Finland and Sweden, Greece and Bulgaria, and Italy and Greece. At the conclusion of his regular address Sir Herbert showed lantern slides illustrating the membership, organization, and work of the League.

Sir Herbert Ames' speech was well organized, logical and definite, and gave, in a brief period, a complete picture of the League of Nations at work. He made no attempt at any special plea for the organization, nor did he appeal to the United States to join it. He contented himself with representing the League as a working, official organization, thoroughly established, and likely to endure.

TEACHERS' STUNT NIGHT

Punehard Faculty Presents Amusing Program for Benefit of Andover Public School Teachers' Association.

"The Neighbors," the play which was so successfully given at a recent meeting of the Andover Public School Teachers' association was repeated at the urgent request of the high school students and was greeted on Friday evening by a crowded house.

The parts were exceptionally well cast: the mother who vigorously wielded the flatiron while she arranged the affairs of the neighborhood; the pathetic old grandmother whose chief interest in life seems to be sewing carpet rags; the bashful lover and the Yankee who had trouble with somebody's wood pile were perhaps most worthy of mention.

The prospect that one of the neighbors is to have an orphaned nephew "unloaded" on her seems at first a doubtful blessing, but when anyone enters into plans for a surprise and donation party, including ice cream and cake, small troubles like the devouring buffalo bug and a lame shoulder are forgotten in the common purpose of doing a kindness to someone else. Even the lover's tongue is loosened and all ends happily, even though the small boy fails to appear.

The old favorite, "The Lighthouse Tragedy," was given with great spirit, the ingenuity of the actors adding many elaborations of the episode which made it an unusually amusing performance.

Piano solos by Mrs. Henry C. Sanborn and Miss Marjorie Faunce, violin solos by John Sanborn, songs by Miss Roxanna Smith and monologues by Mrs. Emma C. Carter completed the program.

The program:

Piano solo Mrs. Henry C. Sanborn
Vocal solos Miss Roxanne Smith
Accompanist Miss Miriam Sweeney

Pantomime—The Lighthouse Tragedy
Lighthouse keeper Mrs. Alberta Espey
Villain Miss Rita Atkinson
Mother Mrs. Margaret Tate
Little Girl Miss Mary I. Sweeney
Doctor Miss Gertrude Berry

Barnett Rogers, one of Andover's most prominent citizens, and a leading business man of many years' standing in the community, died Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the family home, 3 Maple avenue, after an illness which became acute about a month ago.

Mr. Rogers had served Andover in a number of administrative capacities and last week was accorded the rare tribute of a public expression of esteem, confidence and sympathy by the voters of Andover on the occasion of his absence, through illness, from town meeting for only the second time in forty years.

BARNETT ROGERS

News of his death caused genuine sorrow in every section of the town wherein he had resided and served for many years, and public officials and citizens alike were touched with regret in the passing of the man who had taken such an active and effective part in the promotion of the town's welfare.

The late Mr. Rogers was born in Arbroath, Scotland, November 11, 1847. After attending school for a few years, he secured em-

Have you ever made good on one job.. for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

Big Banner Specials, Super-Classics, Photo Plays De Luxe, all summed up in one, are the offering at the Colonial Theatre for the coming week.

A variety of stars in some of the best photo plays released this season will be presented, leading off Monday and Tuesday with a great double feature program and continuing all the week with laughing pictures where one can enjoy a few hours of pleasure, forgetting such things as worldly cares. Monday and Tuesday will be given over to that Wonder Dog Star, Rin Tin Tin, in "The Hills of Kentucky" after which Lewis Stone and Billie Dove feature in that comedy drama "An Affair of the Follies." On Wednesday and Thursday, double features again with Thomas Meighan in "The Canadian" and Harry Langdon in his latest laughing success, "The Strong Man," and so it goes.

Elections Are Held at Phillips Academy
Braden Bayard Kane, of Radnor, Pa., has been elected to manage the Phillips Academy swimming team for the season of 1928. This past season he acted as assistant to ex-captain Harry Jones and proved very faithful in fulfilling his work. He is a member of the Upper Middle class.

William Smythe of Englewood, New Jersey, was elected by the student body to manage the Phillips Andover Academy basketball team for next season. Smythe acted as assistant of John Houston during the last year and it was through his earnest endeavor to help in all ways that he gained the berth next season. Smythe is a member of the Upper Middle class.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Looking Back Twenty-five Years

Charles A. Hill has severed his connection with the American Woolen company at Maynard. He is temporarily employed by Fox & Mosher, electricians, in Lawrence.

A sneak thief entered the buildings connected with the Theological Seminary last Friday and appropriated a coat and five pairs of trousers belonging to students. According to the report of M. B. Gurley, undergraduate treasurer, the expense of maintaining the Phillips academy football team last year was $2,839.67. The total receipts were $3,185.67. The balance on hand is $345.96.

Miss Mary King Marland of Wellesley college entertained a college mate, Miss Alice Buchanan of Omaha, Nebraska, over Sunday at her home in town. Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Valpey entertained at supper, the clerks at the market, with their wives or lady friends, at their home on Summer street, last Tuesday evening.

Seated at six long tables running the length of the Town hall last Friday evening was a representative gathering of Andover people who came to test the many ways in which the much-lauded and advertised shredded wheat preparation could be served to please the palate. There must have been over three hundred people at the supper and it is safe to say that nearly everybody awaited with curiosity, perhaps in certain cases not unmixed with anxiety, to see what a meal of almost nothing but shredded wheat would be like. Blessing was asked by Rev. A. T. Belknap of the Baptist church. After the toast was given an entertainment including piano music by Miss Sara L. Piddington, a reading by Perley F. Gilbert, violin solos by Miss Anna G. Stone, and an address by E. A. Stevens of the Natural Food company of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

At a meeting of the school committee held Monday evening, J. Newton Cole was re-elected chairman. Miss Anna E. Chase, principal of the Stowe school, was granted a leave of absence for the spring term. Miss S. Lila Barrett of Worcester, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke college, was appointed to fill her place.

Down at the Free church last evening the members of the Y. P. S. C. E., arranged a supper and popular song concert. The program included: "Strike up the Band," chorus; "Sweet Annie Moore," Miss Jean Dundas; "Aint that a Shame," Harry Saunders; "Down Where the Cotton Blossoms Grow," Miss Cecilia Kydd; "Everybody Has a Whistle Like Me," Alexander T. Miss Annie Smart acted as accompanist.

Mrs. F. A. Baldwin, wife of Principal Baldwin of Pynchard, left Sunday for Albuquerque, New Mexico, to visit her son, Ralph, who is there for his health.

At the ninth meeting of the Boys' club of the Andover Guild, two new members were elected; Howard Bell and William Foster. The dramatic department of the November added another triumph to those of former years when they presented "Scenes from Jane Austin's 'Emma.'" Those who took part were Mrs. Phillips, Miss Knowles, Miss Tryon, Miss Greenly, Miss Bosher, Mrs. Wurts, Miss B. French, Miss Gould, Mrs. McCurdy, Miss Butterfield, Miss Carter, Mrs. Barnard.

Andover citizens would do well to be on the alert in case the brown moth should make its appearance in town. If the citizens would save their fruit and shade trees, it will be necessary to fight the pest to extinction. They begin to crawl soon, and then the expense is greatly increased in fighting the moth. Not only do they destroy foliage, but minute barbed hairs of the caterpillars fly in the air and penetrate the skin like fish hooks, causing sickness. No report has been received of their coming to town, but they are bothering the neighboring city of Lawrence.

J. W. Burdick, P. A. '98, Yale '02, of Albany, N. Y., visited in town this week. Miss Riley of the Fleur-de-Lis, has been confined to her home by illness this week. A. W. Caldwell has been doing some painting at the residence of E. P. Chapin, Phillips street.

George A. Parker, real estate agent, has sold the double house on Bartlett street, owned by James Wood to William E. Burt. The Stillman Harnden property on Essex street has been sold through Barnett Rogers' real estate agency to Mrs. Isabella M. Crossan.

William J. Burns has recently purchased the building in which his tailoring establishment is located from Mrs. Cornelia of Brookline. Norman C. Myatt, of this place, has purchased through Barnett Rogers, six acres of land from C. C. Blunt on Highland road, north of Charles L. Carter's place.

H. A. Halsted, superintendent of schools at Andover, spent Sunday at the home of his cousin, H. S. Leach, of School street. Rather an unusual anniversary was observed by Moses L. Farnham, the senior clerk at Smith & Manning's store on Tuesday of this week. Thirty-five years ago that day he first entered the employment of the firm and his service with them has been continuous since then.

At a special meeting of the Board of Selectmen held in their office Saturday afternoon, the old board of fire engineers, Lewis T. Hardy, George D. Lawson, and Allen Simpson, was reappointed. A petition was received from Plato Eames and twenty-three others, asking that the selectmen lay out a street from Elm street, from between William S. Lawson's and Wendall P. Jenkins' to Summer street.

Between five and six hundred people were present in the Town hall last Sunday evening to head Mrs. Catherine O'Keefe O'Mahony's lecture on "The Famous Women of Ireland." Miss Annie Donovan, leader and accompanist, had charge of the musical program: Opening chorus, "Hymn to St. Patrick," choir; "Come Back to Erin," Gus Nolan; "The Harp That Once Thro' Tara's Halls," Miss Edith Higgins; violin solo, Miss Jennie Donovan; "Last Rose of Summer," Miss Margaret C. Donovan; "Wearing of the Green," Gus Nolan.

Herbert S. Whitten, who has been employed as clerk at Smith & Manning's store for several years, has accepted the position of foreman of Selectman B. Frank Smith's farm near Haggatt's pond. Fred M. Hill, who has been in charge at Mr. Smith's farm will leave the first of April to accept the position of foreman with George L. Averill.

Plan Scout Exhibit and Dance

Extensive plans are now being made for the Boy Scout Exhibition and dance to be held in the town hall on April 19 under the auspices of the executive committee of St. Augustine's Boy Scouts. Scouts from the Free and South churches will be present and give exhibitions of scout work. Dancing will be in order from ten o'clock until one with music furnished by a high class orchestra.

A high class radiola will be given away. Great preparations are being made now to have the boys get together and pass the tenderfoot tests so that they may be in uniform on at the parochial school hall during the past week should be completed shortly and the hall fully equipped for the headquarters of the scouts.

Plans are also being made to provide for a summer camp for the boys. Three troops will be organized within the next few weeks and all boys interested should turn in their application cards to the rectory not later than Sunday. The announcement of the first meeting of the boys will be made shortly. The scout masters who will take charge of the boys have completed their course in intensive scout training given by Deputy Commissioner Dr. Nathaniel Stowers.

Boy Scout leaders of the different troops in Andover held a meeting at Camp Manning at the Pumps pond on Sunday afternoon. The young men hiked to the pond and prepared their own dinner after which plans were talked over regarding the work of the Scouts and ways and means of making the Boy Scout movement more successful in town.

Among those who attended the meeting were Dr. Nathaniel Stowers, Stanley Lane, Alexander Black, C. J. Bailey, Carl Currier of Lawrence, Bertram Scott, Commissioner Harvey Bacon, Joseph McCarthy, Roderick Cannon, John Alexander, Burchard E. Horn, Joseph Schultz, William Haich, W. A. DeLerty, Wendall Kydd, Fred Cronin and Thomas O'Riordan.

Your Health Should Come FIRST!

If you should play the part of the good Samaritan and visit the wonderful tuberculosis hospital at Middleton, or at any hospital for that matter, and asked the patients therein what they would prefer to everything else in the world, they would answer, unambiguously, "MY HEALTH!"

Good health is the very foundation of happiness—and, as such, deserves the fullest consideration. It must come FIRST if one wishes the good that the world has to offer. The first requisite, therefore, is GOOD FOOD. Thus, any food that contributes to the health of a person represents money well spent.

As regards the food for YOUR home, BREAD, being "the staff of life," is the most important article you buy. The next time you order a loaf of bread, give a thought to the QUALITY—NOT the price.

Bakers who have a reputation for baking a QUALITY product consider it their duty above all else to make this a healthier nation. They do not—WILL NOT—stoop to baking an inferior quality. This is the ideal of the 20TH CENTURY BAKERY, Inc.

Just as long as you ask for 20TH CENTURY BREAD you are certain to get a product that is NUTRITION TO THE LAST CRUMB. Every cent you pay goes for QUALITY. We know that the vast majority want GOOD FOOD. And it is for those who wish to bring up healthy, happy families that we are baking in the finest bakery in this section of New England a loaf of bread that contains the very finest of ingredients, prepared by the most skilled bakers. It's yours for the asking—

20th CENTURY BREAD

Junior High School Notes

Some excellent records were made in the semester which ended March 11. Pupils having such were presented with Commendation Cards at the morning assembly on Tuesday.

The Nature Club is spending some time in out-door study nowadays. Last week the members, led by Miss Hird, proceeded up Bartlet street to Rabbit's pond where they studied maple, birch, and oak trees. This week the kinds of trees on the school premises were the bases of study.

Last week's question was:—What per cent of Andover's school population is housed in the central group of buildings?

Andover had last year an average membership of fourteen hundred. Of this number nine hundred, or sixty-four per cent are in these central schools.

Question III—In the Junior High School what is the ratio of the number of places for recitation to the number of studies required? Members of the Dramatic Club as well as the Health Club are at work on plays to be presented later.

Baseball and other outdoor games are beginning as the grounds become fit for use. Miss Anna E. Chase is missed very much from her classroom, and her continued illness very much regretted. Her work is being carried on very acceptably by Miss Rita Scully of Lawrence.

Endeavors Attend Meeting in Lawrence

Junior Christian Endeavor rally was held at the Calvary Baptist church in Lawrence on Saturday afternoon which was well attended by members from the Junior societies of the Free and Baptist churches in this town. Hymns, a talk, a story and games made the meeting an interesting one and the Calvary Juniors served refreshments to their guests.

Those who went from the Free church were Catherine Jamieson, Hetty Farnsworth, Helen Holden, Margaret Holden, Margaret Edgar, William Perry, Herbert Otis, and from the Baptist church Beulah Dennison, Winnifred Ward, Everdick Thins, Margaret Manning, Mrs. C. N. Bartlett, Russell Stevens, Effie Ross and Ethel Manning.

Continuation School

The object of the Continuation school is to help the employed youth to make immediate and prospective adjustments (social, civic or economic) from their status as full time pupils to that of responsible wage earning citizens.

When a child, between the age of fourteen and sixteen years, having successfully completed the sixth grade, desires to leave school and go to work, the law requires him to take certain steps before he can be employed.

1. He must have a promise of employment card signed by his future employer.
2. His school record signed by the school principal.
3. His birth certificate from the city or town where he was born.
4. A health certificate signed by the school physician—who examines the child to see if he is physically fit to carry on the particular work he desires to do.

After he has obtained these four requisites, the superintendent of schools gives him an "employment certificate" or a permit to leave school for work. The employer keeps this card until the minor leaves his employ, when it is returned to the Superintendent of Schools.

The law requires that these children work no more than eight hours a day—between the hours of 6:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., except in the harmful trades such as work around dangerous machinery, scaffolding, or operating motor vehicles. Every employer is required to post a list of all persons under 16 years of age in his employ, in the rooms where they are working, stating their ages, the hours of employment and their meal hours.

All children under 16 years, having found suitable occupations must spend four hours one day each week in the Continuation School. At present in Andover there are about 30 girls and 32 boys in this school. The boys and girls are under separate supervision and there are two classes of each every week.

The first two hours of the four-hour period are spent in cooking or sewing for the girls, and manual training or shop work for the boys. The girls learn to cook simple meals and also to act as hostesses, to wait on table, to set the table properly and to serve the meal. In the sewing class they are instructed in style and durability of materials, in color combinations and in the creation of an attractive ensemble.

The last two hours are divided into 20-minute periods among the following subjects—English, Arithmetic, Civics and Americanization, Spelling and Hygiene. Much emphasis is based on the study and understanding of English, to increase the vocabulary, to be able to write and spell correctly and to increase the powers of appreciation and discrimination. The study of personal and community hygiene is another important phase of this work. Health is the basis of right living, thinking and working. The practical use of every lesson is emphasized and its application to the individual child.

The Continuation School is composed of about as many children from Lawrence as from Andover. If a child lives in Lawrence and works in Andover, he must go to the Andover Continuation School and on the other hand if he lives in Andover and works in Lawrence he must attend the Lawrence Continuation School. At the end of the term Lawrence pays Andover half the expenses of each child who has attended the Andover school.

The last and one of the most important phases of the Continuation school program is the "follow up" work. The instructor visits personally the home and the employer of each child in the school. In this way, the instructor ascertains the attitude of the parent toward the child's job, his plans for his future, and to what extent the parent will help the child to carry out his plans. In visiting the employer the instructor learns in detail, what is the child's job and how he is doing it; what jobs are successively next and what he must know for each; what is the best opportunity ahead without training and with training; and what is the training needed.

Having interviewed the parents and the employer, a digest of the situation is made and the best methods of helping the child to meet his present job and those of the future are formulated.

Hold Choir Smoker at Christ Church

A very successful joint smoker for the members of the South Church Men's club and the men of Christ Church choir was held at Christ church parish house last Friday evening with nearly one hundred fifty present.

The meeting was opened by Gordon S. Brown, choir-master; the speaker, Robert T. Bushnell, district attorney of Middlesex county, was introduced by Myron H. Clark, president of the South Church Men's club. Mr. Bushnell's subject was "Crime and Criminals."

The musical part of the program included the following songs: "The Admiral's Broom," by George Leacock; "Bonnie Sweet Bessie," by Robert Carill; "Oh, Promise Me," by Charles Valentine; "Dear Old Pal o' Mine," by Robert Deyemond; and "On the Road to Mandalay" by George Leacock.

Most of the singers are well known as entertainers at similar gatherings. Mr. Valentine was new to his audience and was well received.

Refreshments of cheese, coffee, and doughnuts were served by Caterer Rhodes.

Rebekahs Hold Comdrum Supper

At the meeting of Indian Ridge Rebekah lodge, No. 136, held in Fraternal Hall Monday evening, a comdrum supper was served, with the following menu: Product of the barnyard, a la Ireland, Curd Island of Delight, Love's symbol, Boston's overthrew, Brazilian beverage, and Adams ale.

The following committee was in charge of the supper: Mrs. Carl Elander, Miss Charlotte Hill, and Mrs. Elmer Conkey. The waitresses were: Miss Annie Anderson, and Miss Milly McLeod.

Transatlantic Sailings

Miss Mary Hurley of North Main street, and James E. Beattie of 8 Binney street, Shawshen Village, were passengers on the S. S. Caronia of the Cunard line from Boston Sunday afternoon. Miss Hurley returns to her home in Skibbereen, Ireland. Mr. Beattie will visit his relatives in Arbroath, Scotland. These bookings were secured through Rogers' Steamship Agency, Musgrave Building, agents for all steamship lines and special tours everywhere.

Many others have been booked for later in the season. Intending tourists should secure reservations at once as travel abroad this season will break all records.

Avoid Dry Rot

The industrial changes taking place in the southern New England states are far-reaching and serious. Massachusetts, being the most highly industrialized state in the Union, has more at stake than any other. Whether these changes will mean our permanent undoing, or whether they are to be merely a transitory stage leading to good times in the future depends not on chance, or fortune, but on the integrity and the earnestness with which we work out our own salvation. The industries which started here a century and a half ago as a matter of necessity will remain here unless offered real, tangible inducements. Competition from other parts of the country has become so keen that we now have to face a great industrial crisis.

The symptom of our condition is the gradual but persistent exodus to the South and West, of what we once considered among our most firmly established industries. A general cure cannot hope to halt this exodus, but it must aim to slow it down as much as possible, and to make up for this loss by encouraging new industries to take the place of the old. This two-fold program must be put into execution in a most determined manner.

The machinery to carry out such a program already exists in the form of the New England Council—a strong group of representative business men and political leaders who are instilling New England with a new spirit. Perhaps the first obstacle to contend with is a state of lethargy which still persists in many parts. We quote the following from the Massachusetts Council's letter to Governor Fuller last month.

By the same token, New England is not seeking new enterprises as vigorously as other sections. As an illustration, when newspapers recently carried the story of the contemplated move of the Otis Company of Ware to the South, more than one hundred and fifty invitations were received by the company to locate in other sections of the country, though not one was received from New England. We cannot expect to hold our capital, management, labor, and much less our youth, if the impression prevails that our communities are indifferent to the welfare of their present industries and not eager to secure additional industries. Not until everyone is familiar with the facts, and realizes how serious the situation really is, can New England take an aggressive attitude in this matter. Any smooth-tongued politician who tries to make us believe the times are prosperous should be lynched. We can no longer, like the ostrich, refuse to face the facts without courting disaster.

Local business cannot be developed, and new business cannot be encouraged to come here on a sentimentality basis. It is only cold, material advantages that impress. And so, New England must help the manufacturer lower his cost of production in order that he may compete effectively with other parts of the country. Among the main overhead burdens which are due to the town and state, where the industry is located is taxation, usually excessive and often unjust.

Things have come to such a point that some near-by concerns, rather than pay taxes on property and machinery which is not earning, are scrapping their equipment and tearing down their property. Towns must learn to give credit for depreciation on both property and machinery, the way the Federal Government does. As long as communities continue to tax as heavily in a period of depression as they do in prosperous times, they are killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

Desperate situations require drastic remedies. When New England wakes to the fact that the situation is serious, the proper measures, however radical, will doubtless be found to cure it. Today the South and West look upon us as decadent, unable to meet the demands of the new situations confronting us. But New England, once she has made up her mind, will gird her loins and march on to new conquests in the fields of industry.

Barnett Rogers

The muffled staccato tones, that carried shrewd sense and constructive suggestion to the attentive ears of our citizens for so many years in Town Meeting, have become still. Mr. Barnett Rogers was a helpful force in the sane development of our town along practical lines. He was unruffled and unafraid in public service, and won support through his clear presentation and his unflinching perception of the psychology of the crowd. All paid tribute to his keen wit and pungent humor, the lighter graces of a vigorous, earnest, clear-headed and public-spirited manhood. He thought in terms of the public weal; we remember in the terms of gratitude.

Vierne to Play Dedicatory Recital

Demands for tickets for the dedicatory recital on the Martha Cochran Memorial organ in the George Washington auditorium commenced Monday morning before they were actually ready for distribution. The recital will take place on Monday evening, April 11, and will be played by M. Louis Vierne, first organist of North Dame, Paris, and will undoubtedly be the outstanding event of Andover's musical season.

M. Louis Vierne long ago won a position of international fame, not only through the distinguished quality of his performances as an organist and improvisator, but also by virtue of the brilliance of his compositions. Born at Poitiers, France, in 1870, he received his first serious musical instruction at Paris under the supervision of no less a person than the great Cesar Franck himself. Later, studying with Widor and Guilmant, he won the first organ prize at the Conservatory at the age of twenty-four, being appointed assistant to Widor at St. Sulpice, and becoming assistant to Guilmant in his organ classes at the Conservatory until the master's death in 1911.

In 1900 he was appointed to the enviable post of Titular Organist of Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris, a position which entitles the recipient to a life tenure. Although forced by ill health to relinquish all musical activities for some years, M. Vierne has recently returned to his duties with health restored and the maturity of his powers. Numerous concert tours in England, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Germany and Austria have firmly established his reputation as one of the foremost performers of the day. Always noted for his gift of improvisation, M. Vierne has developed this gift among many of his pupils. Among them figure the names of such well-known performers as Bonnet, Boulanger, Barie, Jacob, as well as numerous American and English organists of distinction.

As a composer Vierne has achieved success in nearly all fields of composition, with particular emphasis on his organ works. These include five symphonies, works of great breadth, superb construction and brilliant color, which are in the repertoire of every organist who makes any claim to distinction. For several years rumors have been abroad in America concerning a projected Vierne tour in America, but it has remained for the present management to translate these expectations into fact. It will be a rare privilege for organists, students and lovers of the organ generally to thus have the opportunity of hearing the compositions of one of the foremost modern composers played by the composer himself.

Christian Endeavor Union Meeting

The regular March meeting of the Andover Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the Trinitarian Congregational Church, North Andover, on Monday evening at 7.30. The Endeavorers will go in a body on the 6.32 train. Andover Union is planning for a large delegation to go to the Essex County C. E. Union Convention to be held April 19th, in Beverly with Salem Union and plans will be made for transportation. The speaker of the meeting will be Rev. Arthur Barber, pastor of the Trinity Congregational Church, Lawrence. Mr. Barber will speak about his trip through Europe last August with the Christian Endeavor party. There will be a social hour following the meeting in charge of the North Andover C. E. society. All young people of the town are invited to be present.

Rulon Robison Gives Program of Songs

The music department of the November club presented Rulon Robison, in a program of songs at the regular club meeting on Monday, varying the usual custom of giving a program by their own members. Mr. Robison is one of the staff of the Conservatory of Music, and the vocal teacher at Phillips academy. He has also been heard this winter at the Symphony concerts.

The musicale was much enjoyed by a large audience, very evidently eager for more. Mr. Robison repeated several songs and added others in response to the appreciative applause. The program was rather modern and many of his hearers expressed the hope that they might hear Mr. Robison again in a program of finer songs.

Miss Kate Friskin of the music department of Abbot academy played the piano accompaniments.

The program:
Posate, Dormit
Danza, danza, Fanciulla
I Battitori di Grano
Ich rolle nicht
Im wunderschönen Monat Mai
The Knight of Bethlehem
She
Oh Mistress Mine
Chorus Gentlemen
Dein Angesicht
Oh, When I was in love with you
Theodore
Old Christmas
My Menagerie
Oh dear, what can the matter be!
Five Eyes
Hawaiian Love Song
You Are Her Eyes
Oh Would God I Were the Tender Apple
Blossom, Old Irish song Arranged by Fisher
Following the entertainment tea was served with Mrs. Charles E. Abbott and Mrs. Thomas Allen pouring.

The department of drama is meeting this afternoon with Miss Mary Bell at her home on Bartlet street.

The department of art met on Tuesday with Mrs. G. M. R. Holmes at her home on Bartlet street.

The department of literature met on last Wednesday with Mrs. E. Victor Bigelow, Locke street.

The department of music will meet on Monday, April 18, in George Washington hall. An organ and piano recital will be given and members may invite guests.

The next meeting of the November club will be held on Monday, March 28, when J. Burford Parry will give an illustrated lecture on "Wales and Her People." Afternoon tea will be served.

A special business meeting of the regular members of the November club will be held at the clubhouse on Wednesday afternoon, April 6, at two o'clock.

Legion Cast Rehearses Minstrel Show

One of the prominent members of the cast for "Everybody Out" will be Frank Hughes, who served with the Yankee division in France and is now a member of Andover post, No. 8, American Legion. Tickets are out and may be obtained from members of the cast or from the committee in charge of the show. Arthur L. Coleman is the general chairman of the committee and will be in charge of the tickets. Commander Ralph T. Berry will take charge of the program. Frank P. Markey will be the stage manager and Joseph Remmes will have charge of the lights. Other members of the committee are: Joseph A. McCarthy, Herman J. Hilton, P. Edward Wilson, Claremont I. Gray, Frederick R. Hulme and George McKenzie. P. Edward Wilson, Eugene Zalla and George Brown are working on the specialties.

Free Church Endeavorers

The Christian Endeavorers of Free church held a social in the primary rooms Tuesday evening. Games were played and refreshments of sandwiches, cake and cocoa were served. Those present were: Doris Manning, Helen Saunders, Margaret Purcell, Margaret Laurie, Frances Cameron, Emma Stevens, Evelyn Mayer, Marion Elliott, Phyllis Stickney, Ruth Perry, Eleanor Ramsdell, Bertha Cuthill, Mayhew Stickney, Lafayette Stickney, William Bradford, Alec Stewart, Alex Black, Harrison Brown Jr., William Barnett.

Christ Church Notes

Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock the service will be in particular for the Young People's Fellowship. The lessons will be read by Sumner Davis and Jean Edmonds, the prayer by Wendell Lever, while the service for admission will be taken by the Rector. We look forward to the address which will be given by the Rev. R. A. Heron of Grace Church, Lawrence.

In the Church School during Lent the missions story is told each Sunday before the school by one of the members. Last Sunday William Bliss spoke on "The Gate of Opportunity." This Sunday the talk will be about "Light in Dark Places," by Edward Howe. The posters which illustrate these subjects won prizes in competition among the young people throughout the Episcopal Church in the United States.

The attendance at the Tuesday evening service increased 50 percent this week over last week. These talks on the gospel of St. Luke, with discussion, with the use of the map and the blackboard, are interesting and instructive.

Pines Thinned Out on Indian Ridge
During the winter the old pines on the Indian Ridge Reservation have been thinned out, the standing wood being purchased by Mr. Damon of Concord Junction, who set up a saw mill in the vicinity. The money realized from the sale of the lumber amounting to 125,000 feet will be used for cleaning out underbrush and reforestation. The reason given for cutting the trees is that they were deteriorating. The work was carried out under the direction of John C. Angus.

Guild Minstrels Rehearse
A rehearsal for the Guild minstrel show was held at the Guild Wednesday night with Robert Winters directing. The cast will be made up of sixty members. John Burline, Andrew Jackson and Thomas Darby will be seen as ends. All made big hits as end men last year in the Guild's "Pirate" show. One of the new ends will be Arthur Lavery, who made his first appearance as an end in the K. of C. show. He has appeared in a number of specialties. George Hyde is playing the piano accompaniments during the rehearsals. The show will be staged in the town hall after Easter.

employment when a mere boy in a flax mill in his native town and served a long apprenticeship as a flax-dresser.

At the age of twenty-four years, with eight other young men of Andover, he decided to leave Scotland and it was finally agreed among them to come to America instead of going to Australia, which was their other choice.

The group sailed from Liverpool on October 16, 1871, and ten days later disembarked at New York, after a passage that was considered remarkably fast in those days. They paid a brief visit to Baintree, a flax-center, and from there journeyed on to Andover.

All were soon engaged by the Smith & Dove Manufacturing company of Andover. That concern was in need of skilled workmen at the time and the arrival of such a group of expert flax-dressers, "hacklers" in the vernacular, was considered quite an event in textile circles.

Of the number only one, Alexander Lamont, father of Walter M. Lamont, agent of the Wood Worsted Mills, is still in the employ of the company, and he with three others, James Soutar of Shawheen Village, Alexander Dick of Lawrence, and William Greig of Connecticut, are the only surviving members of the original group.

The late Mr. Rogers left the industry in 1890 to embark on a business career which was developed into an outstanding success by the application of the three principles of courage, perseverance and integrity. Opening quarters in the Carter block in Elm square, he became Andover's first real estate dealer and conducted the Rogers Agency for over thirty-five years. Continuously for thirty-three years Mr. Rogers' advertisement has appeared on Page 4 of The Andover Townsman, a record unequalled by any other advertiser.

For a number of years he served as the Andover correspondent for the old Lawrence American, under the regime of the late George S. Merrill. He added insurance to his rapidly increasing business and later became agent for steamship tickets, serving patrons for twenty-five years for all trans-Atlantic lines, and later the coastwise trade.

His keen business acumen and sound judgment made him for years a man much sought after for advice on all matters pertaining to real estate and appraisal of estates. His ability as an auctioneer was widely recognized and his services were always in demand.

He devoted unlimited time and interest to the service of Andover and was recognized not only as a keen student of town government, but a loyal citizen whose hearty support was lent to all movements for a better community.

He served on the Board of Public Works from 1913 to 1921, and for six years was its chairman. For over forty years he was one of the ablest debaters in town meetings and only on two occasions in that long period of time had been absent, both times on account of illness.

Other public bodies also benefited by his training and experience. He was for a number of years a member of the street lighting committee, and two years ago was appointed to serve on the committee for revision of the town's building laws.

For a quarter of a century he had been a trustee of the Andover Savings Bank, missed but one meeting in that span of years. No better appreciation of his worth to the town could have been expressed in the action of the voters last week in extending a vote of confidence which was duplicated by the trustees of the bank at their annual meeting.

The late Mr. Rogers was a staunch Republican in state and national affairs. He had been for years a member of the Republican town committee, and many times a delegate to the state and county conventions. A great believer in an adequate protective tariff, he made a study of the question and was so well versed that he "stumped" for McKinley during the latter's presidential campaign. He was a great reader of books on all topics, both here and abroad, and retained this rare fund of information.

His fraternal affiliations were St. Matthew's lodge, A. F. and A. M.; Andover Lodge, 230, I. O. O. F., and the Andover Club of which he was one of the first members. He was a member of the Episcopal church, and at one time had taught a class of young men of the parish.

Those who survive him are: his wife, Mrs. Annie (Watson) Rogers; one son, Alexander H. Rogers, publisher of the Lawrence Daily Eagle, and The Evening Tribune; and one grandson, Irving E. Rogers, of Andover.

The funeral was held this afternoon at two o'clock from the home on Maple avenue, and out of respect, places of business were closed. Rev. Charles W. Henry, rector of Christ church, conducted the services and spoke of his great services to the community. There were delegations from the various bodies with which he had been for years associated and from the Masonic and Odd Fellow lodges.

Burial was in the family lot in Christ church cemetery. The bearers were Frederick S. Boutwell, treasurer Andover Savings Bank; Dr. William H. Simpson; Charles G. Gilliard, worshipful master of St. Matthew's Lodge, A. F. and A. M.; Andrew Kydd, Alexander W. Sheriff and George A. Christie.

WILLIAM A. MELDRUM Word has been received of the death of William A. Meldrum, a native of Scotland, and for many years a resident of Andover, who passed away on Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Susan Meldrum Neal, of New Durham, N. H. He was ninety-four years of age.

Mr. Meldrum, while in Andover, was employed as a flax dresser in the Smith & Dove mill. His wife died in Andover in 1903. Besides his daughter, Mrs. Neal, he leaves another daughter, Mrs. Frances Meldrum Weeks of Somerville, for many years a teacher in the Andover public schools, and a son, John Meldrum of Montrose, Mass. There are six grandchildren.

The funeral was held in Free church parish house this morning at 10:30 o'clock, with services conducted by Rev. F. A. Wilson. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery.

MRS. ALEXANDER RAMSAY Mrs. Alexander Ramsay, aged eighty-seven years and seven months, passed away Sunday, March 20, at the home of her son, John Ramsay, 257 North Central avenue, Wollaston. Mrs. Ramsay was born in Andover, Scotland, and spent her early life there, coming to this country thirty years ago.

Besides her husband, Alexander Ramsay, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Barbara Chase of 121 North Main street, and three sons, James Ramsay of Ludlow, Alexander of Everett and John of Wollaston. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery Tuesday afternoon, when a committal service was read by Rev. Frederick A. Wilson.

The bearers were the three sons, James, Alexander and John Ramsay, and Alexander Valentine of Andover.

MISS FLORENCE LUSCOMB ADDRESSES THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

"Had the Legislators of Massachusetts adopted the slogan 'Eventually, why not now' in regard to the various Bills presented to them during the present session, there would be less cause for complaint of the multiplicity of bills to come before the Legislature."

Miss Florence Luscomb, speaking before the League of Women Voters, Thursday at the Phelps House, on "Legislation of the Past Year" characterized the present session as sterile, as having accomplished very little constructive legislation or made any progress.

The Jury Service Bill, which was of special interest to the League of Women Voters, though endorsed by various organizations, throughout the state, made not a dent in a Legislature, which would keep woman on a pedestal and confine her activities to the Ladies' Aid Society.

Legislation in regard to milk, which would compel milk dealers throughout the state to either pasteurize the milk or have only tuberculin tested cattle, failed to pass. And yet, Massachusetts has more persons with tuberculosis from infected milk than any state in the Union.

Three minor bills are still pending, having to do with licensing of pasteurizing plants, supervision of handling of milk, and re-embursement of farmers for tuberculin cattle.

The State Department of Industry and Labor is required to have an Assistant Commissioner, "who shall be a woman." An Assistant, the incumbent of this office, has been allowed to participate only in minor matters. A bill to make this office that of Associate Commissioner was thrown out.

Two bills in regard to the prison situation came before this Legislature. The first would institute payment for labor of prisoners, enabling them to be self-supporting while in prison, and also to contribute to the support of their families. Thirty-two states have adopted this plan and require the prisoner to set aside some money for the time when he shall be released. The bill was defeated.

The second bill which is still in committee, would permit building a wall around a piece of state land in Norfolk, and building work shops there. To relieve the crowded conditions at Charlestown, some of the prisoners would be sent there to work in the shops and till the ground.

Even though Massachusetts has more children in industry between the ages of fourteen and sixteen than any state in the Union, except Rhode Island, the bill to raise the school age limit failed to pass.

Among the minor measures which were defeated was a provision to extend the absentee voting law to cover cases of illness, a measure to modify the 48-hour law for women and children in industry, a bill to permit a Referendum on Prohibition, the Sunday sports bill, and a resolution which should find a peaceful solution of all our troubles with Mexico and Nicaragua.

A bill which has already passed the House and will come before the Senate on Friday would give party machinery a chance to select a Referendum on Prohibition, the names on this slate to appear first on the ballot. The League of Women Voters opposes any attack on the Direct Primary.

Perhaps the reason for the defeat of all these bills in the present Legislature is due to its determined effort to bring about a biennial session. Be that as it may, since these bills must eventually be passed "Why not now?"

At the conclusion of Miss Luscomb's talk, tea was served. Mrs. Arthur Leonard and Mrs. Carl Pfattheich acted as hosts last evening.

The next meeting of the League of Women Voters will be on Thursday, April 14, when Miss Mary Driscoll will talk on "Preventive and Educative Aspects of Social Hygiene."

ANDOVER CLUB ENTERTAINS NORTH ANDOVER Members of the North Andover club carried off the honors in bowling, bridge, whist and billiards, leaving Andover supremacy only in pool, at a tournament held with the Andover club as hosts last evening.

The Andover men were not able to win a single game at either cards or billiards, while they won all four games at pool. J. Ryley was high single for Andover with 103 and J. Ross high triple with 297. This was bettered by at least two North Andover bowlers, R. Wilcox rolling two singles of 104, with a total of 298, and Wainwright with two singles of 105 each, one of 113 and a total of 323.

Play continued till a late hour, after which refreshments of crab meat rolls, coffee and cream and coffee were served by Caterer Thomas E. Rhodes.

A Town Meeting in Winthrop, Mass.

Andover, Mass., March 23, 1927 To the Andover Townsman:

Through the suggestion of a friend who has had an interest in Town affairs in Winthrop for many years, I attended with several others, the Annual Meeting last Monday evening. As citizens of Andover we were given a friendly welcome by the town officials and provided with excellent seats for observation.

Winthrop is a town of about 17,000 population, mainly of homogenous people but with an area much smaller than Andover so that it is more compact and thickly settled. For some years the government has been by a representative form of Town Meeting.

Formerly six per cent of the voters were elected as town meeting representatives by ordinary balloting at annual elections. Later when women became voters, the proportion was reduced to three per cent. This today with the town officers and the Advisory Committee (corresponding to our Finance Committee) gives a limited meeting of about 200 members.

Each member is chosen for a term of three years with one-third elected annually, thus giving a number which does not make a cumbersome ballot when handled by precincts.

The Annual Meeting was held in the Junior High School which has a seating capacity of about 400. The voting members were checked off on the lists as they entered and occupied the front part of the hall. Other citizens well filled the remainder. A large percentage of the voting members were present, made up of men and women.

The meeting opened at eight o'clock. The moderator and clerk were the only persons on the platform. The Advisory Committee sat together at the front on one side and the report of this committee in considerable detail and with brief reasons for the opinions advanced, had been printed in pamphlet form and circulated some time previously. The recommended expenditures for the usual expenses of the several departments of the town were taken up first and pushed through with expedition, the moderator punctuating each vote with a sharp rap of his gavel. A few questions were asked by voters and answered promptly by members of the Advisory Committee. A small increase was moved at one point and voted after short discussion.

Another similar request was voted down decisively. Where a motion was required a town officer or a voter produced at once the necessary wording in writing so that the proceedings went ahead with much smoothness, the total appropriations for these items being about $729,000.

Several ordinary committee reports were then heard and the usual action taken as to the lighting committee, overseers of the poor, the borrowing of money, the election of a planning board, and a small modification of the zone plan, with the result that all of these matters were completed a few minutes before nine o'clock.

The meeting then had reached Article 10, the report of a committee appointed to choose a location for a new town hall involving some consideration of the building which would be erected. Three of the five members of the committee recommended one site and two members in a minority report, another site. As soon as the matter was placed before the meeting general discussion followed for two hours. This question had been before the town for some years and was evidently of much general interest. The two recommendations were first explained by the advocates of each who stated the reasons for their opinion clearly, maps and plans being displayed on the walls for reference. The discussion showed good temper, definite ideas and strong though differing opinions. The speaking was not confined to a few persons, a good many of the voters taking part and generally expressing their ideas clearly, though naturally difficult for the moderator to follow. The Moderator discouraged personalities and it seemed to be an unwritten law that members should not be referred to by name but as the "previous speaker" or some other impersonal designation. Several of the women members were particularly active. The speaking was confined mainly to the voting members though there were one or more instances of a citizen in the rear half of the hall, asking a question or expressing an opinion, thus showing how non-partisan town meeting attendants may be.

It was a good business-like discussion of a problem of general public interest. There was little attempt at oratory although some of the speaking was exceedingly good and effective. The primary aim seemed to be to bring out the different viewpoints in a direct way and reach the best final conclusions. At about 10:20 one of the women voters felt that more thought on the problem was desirable and moved that the whole matter be laid on the table but this was quickly and decisively defeated and the discussion went on. At about 10:50 when it was evident that the main argument for the two plans had been presented, a motion was made that a vote be taken at 11:00 and that when the meeting adjourned it should be for two weeks. At 11:00 the vote was taken and the majority report adopted by a large margin, there being apparently many more in favor of it than when the discussion began. The meeting then adjourned to assemble again in two weeks when the remaining articles will be taken up.

My first feeling was that a representative town meeting in its general characteristics was very much like a meeting of the older type only smaller. There was the same method of procedure and freedom in expression and exchange of ideas. It differed, in handling matters with more expedition, in showing greater evidence of previous study, in having definite votes prepared, thus facilitating prompt action, and in general it gave evidence of a somewhat established habit of reaching conclusions after reasonable discussion. The meeting was more disciplined in its procedures than the average meetings of the older type and the atmosphere was somewhat that of a well established legislative body. The town evidently looked constantly to the Advisory Committee for guidance, and again and again speakers expressed appreciation of its work even though differing with its conclusions. This Committee is composed of fifteen members, a number of whom have served for many years, thus gaining a thorough knowledge of town affairs which the voters appeared glad to use so that the conclusions of the Committee are very generally sustained.

COMMENDS THE TOWNSMAN Dear Mr. Editor: For about forty years I have been a subscriber to the Townsman, looking forward every week to its coming. The paper is well set up, the news items well written, the general matter good; in fact the whole layout is a credit to Andover. I do not know of any town the size of Andover that can boast of so good a local paper.

I was proud of our paper—more so than usual—after reading the account of the town meeting in last week's issue. This issue alone was worth a whole year's subscription. This report was well written, the editorial to the point and the whole paper a credit to the Townsman organization. The circulation should be much greater than it is. It should be a weekly visitor to every home in town.

Play Whist for Benefit of Fraternal Building A successful house whist party was held at the home of Mrs. William Forsythe on Burnham road, on last Friday evening, the proceeds to go toward the Fraternal Building association building fund.

Prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. William Gorrie, box of candy; Fred Westcott, set of glasses; Mrs. Riley, apron; Mrs. Collins, face powder; Douglas Hutcheson, basket; Mrs. Watt, toilet set; James Edgar, socks; Mrs. James Craik, safety razor; James Douglas, towels; Miss Agnes Stewart, apron; Mrs. Manning, vanity case; David McIntosh, tooth paste, and Mrs. Thomas Thain, towel.

Insurance Man on Extended Business Trip Frank L. Brigham, general agent of the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance company, is on an extended business trip through Ohio and New York state, where he is speaking before the service clubs, chambers of commerce, and Kiwanis clubs, in various cities on the subject of "Fire Waste." This work is being done in behalf of the National Fire Waste Council of Washington, D. C., with which organization he is associated.

Mr. Brigham has spoken before many business clubs and schools in the principal cities of New England on this subject and no doubt his endeavors to emphasize the seriousness of this menace will reap results.

Mr. Tuthill speaks at Free Church At the regular midweek meeting of the Free Church, Mr. Tuthill of Lowell spoke on the second commandment, "I the Lord, Thy God, Am a Jealous God," and gave a very interesting sermonette to a large attendance. The Punchar quartet sang the following hymns: "Hushed Was the Evening Hymn," "Beneath the Cross of Jesus."

Refreshments were served by the committee: Mrs. H. A. Ramsdell, Mrs. Donald Laurie, Mrs. William Orr and Mrs. James Gordon.

Legion Auxiliaries Meets A meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to Andover Post, 8, American Legion, was held Thursday evening at headquarters with Mrs. Bessie Franz presiding.

Plans were made to attend the meeting of the Essex County Council to be held in North Andover on April 16. Arrangements for "poppy day" which will be held about the middle of April were also talked over. Mrs. Ethel Robinson, president of the Lawrence Auxiliary, was present at the meeting and plans, were made for a big whist party to be held some time after Lent in the Winter Garden, Lawrence, under the joint auspices of the auxiliaries of Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and Methuen. The proceeds will be used to send the Essex County president to Paris.

Refreshments of cocoa, cake and cookies were served by the good-of-the-order committee.

I. O. O. F. Notes At the meeting of Andover lodge 230, I. O. O. F., held in Fraternal hall Wednesday evening a rehearsal of the initiatory degree was held. The next rehearsal will follow the meeting next week and the degree will be worked on the first Wednesday night in April in Fraternal hall. Plans are now under way for the banquet and entertainment to be given by the former ways and means committee of the Fraternal building association for the members of Wauwinet lodge of North Andover and Hope lodge of Methuen who took part in the minstrel show staged in the town hall last spring for the benefit of the ways and means committee.

St. Augustine's Dramatic Club Meets At the meeting of St. Augustine's Dramatic Club held in the parochial school Monday evening, Mrs. Robert Franz was elected to serve as treasurer of the club. The following committee was elected to draw up suitable by-laws for the club: Mrs. Robert Franz, Miss Anna Hennessey, Miss Helen Carroll, Henry Schultz, Joseph Doherty, John Robertson, and James McLaughlin. The committee in charge of the entertainment and dance held in the town hall on St. Patrick's night reported on the proceeds of the show. Following the business meeting solos were given by James McLaughlin, Charles Murray, Anna Hennessey, and Henry Schultz, with Miss Angeline McCarthy at the piano. Edward McCabe favored with piano selections. The meeting was well attended and before closing all joined in dancing the Paul Jones and the Virginia Reel.

ANDOVER CLUB ENTERTAINS NORTH ANDOVER Members of the North Andover club carried off the honors in bowling, bridge, whist and billiards, leaving Andover supremacy only in pool, at a tournament held with the Andover club as hosts last evening. The Andover men were not able to win a single game at either cards or billiards, while they won all four games at pool. J. Ryley was high single for Andover with 103 and J. Ross high triple with 297. This was bettered by at least two North Andover bowlers, R. Wilcox rolling two singles of 104, with a total of 298, and Wainwright with two singles of 105 each, one of 113 and a total of 323. Play continued till a late hour, after which refreshments of crab meat rolls, coffee and cream and coffee were served by Caterer Thomas E. Rhodes.

PUNCHARD ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PLANS

The Executive Committee of the Punchard Alumni Association is planning to hold a mid-year reunion, entertainment, and dance in Punchard Hall, on Friday evening, April 1, to which all former members of the school in Andover and vicinity are cordially invited.

PUNCHARD ALUMNI ASSOCIATION PLANS

The work of the Alumni Association is quietly but steadily going forward. A large number of alumni have enrolled already as members for the current year, and it is hoped that many more will add their names before the annual banquet and reunion in June.

PUPILS AND TEACHERS TO GET RICH PRIZES

Should children be taught street and highway safety at home or at school? This question, of concern alike to parents and school officials, is one that hundreds of thousands of elementary school pupils will be asked to solve in the near future.

BRUSH FIRES KEEP FIREMEN BUSY

Saturday afternoon the local fire department was kept busy answering three calls for brush and grass fires in a little more than an hour.

WINS FIRST PRIZE IN LAWRENCE

A delegation from Ballardvale lodge No. 105 made a fraternal visit to the Lawrence lodge last Friday night. The good of the order was in charge of Mrs. Alfred Landgren, in honor of her birthday.

JUNIOR HELPERS MEET

The Junior Helpers of the Congregational church held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Roy Haynes, Marland street, on Monday afternoon to rehearse for the play.

Hall Memorial, Farrytown, N.Y.

The Hall Memorial in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery, Farrytown, N. Y., shows the value of delicate architectural moldings. The quiet dignity and simplicity which Saint Gaudens secured in the winged figure is admirably carried out in the arrangement of proportion and detail. Seldom do figures and monuments display such unity of sculpture and architectural features.

The arrangement of the panels is worthy of attention as examples of the judicious utilization of space. We will be able to show you how a stone of moderate proportions will emphasize the memorial value of a small plot of ground. Let us discuss the monument question with you.

ROGER W. BABSON SAYS THERE IS NOT MUCH COMPETITION AMONG MINING ENGINEERS

General Managers and Presidents Are Continually Being Promoted from the Ranks—Syndicates and Underwriting Offer Opportunities for Money Making—No Marked Change in General Business

Babson Park, Florida, March 22, 1927. Roger W. Babson today continues his discussion of leading industries. This week he analyzes the mining industry. His official statement is as follows:

Profession Not Overcrowded
When I was a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, thirty years ago, Mining Engineering was one of the popular courses. Young men had held up to them examples of very successful men who—like John Hays Hammond—had started penniless as humble mining engineers and had amassed great fortunes. Moreover, there was a certain romance about the profession which attracted young men who thought they would like to be pioneers, run risks, and play for large stakes. At that time Richard Harding Davis' book known as "Soldiers of Fortune" was published. I well remember how it was devoured by us students. And let me add, that the book should be just as interesting today to young men who like a story. As a serious study of the profession, I suggest the book "Engineering as a Profession" by Professor George F. Swain of Harvard College, one of the ablest engineers of today.

Under present conditions some of the romance is gone from mining, but surely enough is left to attract any boy who loves adventure. The real truth is that the hardships of the profession make it rather unpopular at present. The very experiences which attracted young men thirty years ago, now are looked upon as handicaps. Bath rooms, parlor cars and theatres, which then were looked upon as luxuries, are now considered necessities! Hence camp life is no longer attractive. Moreover, very few educated girls are today willing to go into the wilderness as wives as did Mrs. John Hays Hammond and others. Hence the profession is now classed with the merchant marine as suitable only for those who do not care for a home. This very fact, however, makes more opportunities for those who are willing to leave home and go to a mining town in the mountains. There is not much competition among mining engineers. Any graduate of good character can easily get a position in mining engineering.

Money Making Opportunities
There is not much opportunity in mining for the young men who desire to be in business for themselves. Mining is an industry which must, to be successful, be carried on in large units by large corporations. This means that mining, however, much as it is maligned, is a legitimate field for the investor. The truth is that mining would practically be impossible today were it not for those willing to invest in mining companies. The fact that mining must be done by large corporations results in making it necessary that young men who engage in mining shall also work for some corporation. Of course there are opportunities for advancement. The general managers and presidents are continually being promoted writing other opportunities for money making. Almost without exception the stockholders of the large mining companies are very considerate of their engineers and allow them to come in on all good things.

The unpopularity of mining engineering among young men today, makes the profession rather attractive to me. The greatest opportunities exist both for employment and investment among those industries and localities which at the moment are unpopular. As a boy I learned that when a blueberry pasture becomes popular it is a poor place to get blueberries and that the most blueberries are always in the swamps and briers where city pickers don't like to go! Things that come easily usually don't amount to much. Both jobs and investments, which carry no risk, very seldom yield any profit above a living wage or simple rate of interest. As great prizes and opportunities for both service and profit exist today as ever, but they are for those who are willing to combine knowledge, service, and courage. The time to buy stocks is during panics when no one wants them; the place to buy real estate is where mortgages are being foreclosed; the industries in which to invest or work are those temporarily unpopular. This is why transportation with busses offer such opportunities today.

Mining as an Investment
When investing in mining stocks one should continually keep in mind that his capital or stock interest should be amortized each year. Dividends from mining stocks are much like apples taken from a barrel. A portion of every dividend is a return of a part of the principal and should be considered such. Dividends from a mine or oil well should therefore be much larger than from a public utility stock, in order to have the same amount for depreciation and improvements. If, however, one receives 7 percent from mining stock, he can consider only 4 percent at most as income, for the balance should be used to amortize the investment. Very few mines have a safe life exceeding thirty-three years. This means that a mining stock should yield at least 10 percent in order to sell at the same price as a public utility stock yielding 7 percent.

I advise both young engineers and all investors to beware of small mining companies. Wild cat mining was a good gamble once, but it is no longer. Even prospecting today is a rich man's job and something which only the large companies can afford to do. It almost seems to the statistician that more money has been invested in mining ventures than has ever been taken out of the ground! Keep away from the small speculative mining stocks. Today perhaps even these are not popular; but they have been and will be again. There are styles in speculation, as in hats and gowns. What is unpopular today may be the rage a few years hence. When small mines and new mines are popular, keep away from them. In connection with advice to beware of small mines and new mines, it is interesting to note that notwithstanding the great increase in the volume of total United States business since 1919, there has actually been a decrease in the number of concerns doing business. This shows how this concentration of industry into large corporations applies to all lines. In 1919 there were 214,383 concerns manufacturing over $5,000 of products. In 1923 this number decreased to 196,309. Today the number is even less.

Mining Stocks
Mines may first be divided into six groups according to the kind of ore mined. There are: (1) the gold mines of which Hollinger is generally considered one of the best (2) the iron mines of which Great Northern Ore is a leader (3) the silver mines and miscellaneous mines of which U. S. Smelters is a very good example (4) mines of other companies specializing in lead, zinc, and the non-ferrous metals (5) the copper mines and (6) the coal mines. The most speculation has been in the stocks of copper mines. The Copper Companies may be classified as follows: (1) the Lake Coppers which mine the raw ore and which once were very prosperous. Of this group Calumet and Hecla was the leader and probably still is. (2) The low grade coppers which use steam shovels and expensive refineries of which Kennecott is a very good example. (3) Companies which combine all classes of mining and even manufacture the copper into wire, shingles, and hardware such as Anaconda.

At the present time the price of copper metal is low due to two causes:—Copper is indestructible and is one of the few metals used in industry that does not rust, corrode, or wear out rapidly in other ways. From an industrial angle this fact is a great asset for copper, but from a sales angle it is a real handicap. The second-hand copper market is always holding back the price of the metal. The other reason for the low price is the great low grade mines which are being developed in Africa. The Katanga Mines in southeastern Africa are the largest at present. Owing to the tremendous supplies and the cheapness of labor, these mines are holding down the price of copper all over the world. How long this will be a serious factor, no one can tell; but at present there is little immediate hope for very much higher prices. Yet these very facts may make the better copper stocks a good purchase later.

A Little Out of the Way But It Pays to Walk

MINING AS A BUSINESS

Oil Companies

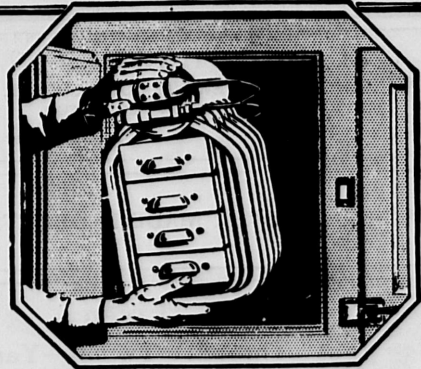

It would be unjust to the "oils" to discuss mining companies without a word about the oils. Surely they represent a very important industry which is attracting a fine group of men. Oil companies which only produce oil, should be avoided; those which both produce and refine are fairly good; while the best either to work for or to invest in, are those which produce, refine and distribute. The Standard Oil of New Jersey is perhaps the most conservative of the oil companies although there are several good ones today. Oil will always be used; but it may not always be "mined" or pumped from the ground. Some day oil will be manufactured from shale, coal or perhaps from a vegetable product. Whatever way oil is produced, it must always be distributed. Hence the companies which have the markets are the ones to select either for employment or investment. These are real companies, the income from which may be considered as real dividends; but the income from merely producing companies should be used to amortize the investment. There never yet has been found an oil well that will not run dry.

No marked change has taken place the past month in general business. There has been some increase in unemployment in certain sections. The automobile and the building industry are not up to what they were a year ago. On the other hand, considering all lines and all sections of the country, the Babson-chart still registers 8 percent above normal. The most significant decline noticeable is in connection with unfilled steel orders. This is due primarily to the slackening tendency in automobile production and new building. Declining demand for steel will cause a decrease in iron mining and coal mining activity. The latter, however, is better than it was a year ago. Coal mining has benefited during 1926 from the British Strike, and from improved labor conditions in this country. The present fear of another coal strike to begin in April of this year, is helping now to market coal. If such a strike comes, however, it will affect principally the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, which today mine approximately 35 percent of the coal compared with 85 percent five years ago.

Be ready for hot weather—make your ice box a Frigidaire

IF IT were possible for you to keep your ice-box filled—constantly—24 hours a day—you would still not have as good refrigeration as the Frigidaire frost-coil will give you, without any attention on your part.

If you have any standard make of ice-box, you can have Frigidaire installed in it and from that time you can forget about refrigeration. Your meats, vegetables and other foods will be kept better than you were ever able to keep them before. Spoiled foods will be a thing of the past.

Come in and let us demonstrate Frigidaire to you.

Punchard Loses to Johnson by Narrow Margin

In one of the most exciting games ever played on the Andover Guild floor the Johnson High girls' sextet defeated the Punchard girls' team by a 26 to 25 score. The victory gives the suburban championship to the Johnson team, who have won five of their six games against, Methuen, Woodbury and Punchard.

Seldom has a game ended as the one Wednesday. Johnson had a one-point margin on the rivals with a minute to play and the home team supporters were cheering like mad for a basket that would give Punchard the victory. The Andover girls finally worked the ball down the court to their rivals' basket and Mae Elander took a shot that dropped through the net for what appeared to be the winning points for Punchard, when Coach Phyllis Collins of the Johnson squad who acted as timekeeper notified the referee that the basket did not count as she had blown a whistle to end the game, just before the basket was scored. Miss Carpenter who officiated splendidly throughout the game, did not hear the whistle because of the cheering, but could not but declare the points made by Miss Elander were void, and the victory went to Johnson but only by the narrowest of margins.

The Andover girls outplayed their victorials rivals more than three-fourths of the game, but did not take full advantage of their opportunities, the forwards because of their anxiety to score, missing several easy shots.

On the other hand, the Johnson forwards took full advantage of their chances, and missed very few shots at the nets. Miss Costello displayed a keen eye for the hoop and scored 15 points for the winners. Grace Parker was the high scorer of the game and made 17 of Punchard's points. The Ballardvale girl fought valiantly to give her team the victory, but hard luck on a couple of shots for goals in the last period was all that prevented her from being the heroine.

Captain Frances Metcalf and Ella Larkin were effective in preventing the Johnson forwards making more points than they did and both players gave their all to turn the tide for a Punchard victory.

Ruth Graffam was probably the real reason for Johnson's victory. The North Andover girl guarded wonderfully well and prevented Mae Elander from getting more points for Punchard. Although the Punchard forwards were trying all the time to get loose for a shot at the nets, Miss Graffam, usually was blocking and guarding so efficiently that very few chances for easy goals were given.

The game attracted the largest crowd of the season and kept the spectators on edge throughout the 32 minutes of play.

Bowlers Show Gains

Several gains were registered this week by the Square and Compass bowlers. Ike Kimball's 277 pushing him up several notches. George Nielson came up to an even 91 mark and Ralph Baker advanced a pin. F. Robertson, R. Hardy and H. W. Wadman cannot be shaken from their first three positions in that order, but J. P. Christie, H. Cairnie, G. Nielson, D. Preston and K. R. Batcheller are all closely bunched and a slip by any of them now will send them down the list.

THEATRE NOTES

REPERTORY THEATRE

Another new play comes to Boston for its first production at The Repertory Theatre on Monday evening. "The Monkey Talks," which has been the sensation of the European theatre, and has recently had a successful production in New York, is something novel and unique. It is an English version made by Gladys Unger of a French play, entitled "Le Singe qui Parle," by Rene Fanchois, and it brings to the stage the exceptional scenes, people and incidents of a Parisian circus. The plot is made especially interesting by several groups of unusual characters, among them being a retired lion-tamer doomed by the malignancy of fate to be the manager of the motion picture theatre; a clown with a joyous contempt for actors who have to learn the words which have been written for them and to repeat them night after night; a charming and pretty tight-rope walker, and to cap the climax, two monkeys.

Opportunity will be given in this play for a series of notable stage settings, and they will be made especially for The Repertory Theatre from designs by Jonel Jorgulesco. The cast will include Mark Schwed as Fath, the monkey who talks, Charles Evans as Sam Wink, Louis Leon Hall as Louis, Ruth Taylor as Nelly Goldsmith, Linda Ann Carlon as Miss Dora and Agnes Elliot Scott as Countessa Almenza.

Season Nears End

A single pin was all that stopped the Tyreans from making a clean sweep over the Tubals last Tuesday night in an Andover Square and Compass club bowling match. The Tubals won the first string by that one pin but the three remaining points that the Tyreans took gave them a little firmer hold on the second position in the standing. It was no walk-away, however, for the winners their margin being seven in the second and ten in the third. "Dave" Hovers picked up four spares in his last string which helped him to the high single of 107 and he was tied at 288 with K. R. Batcheller for high triple.

The Hiramans started out with a one-point lead over the Cairns in the standing and at the end of the first string were down in the cellar with their opponents. They didn't stay long as G. A. Christie's 101 and Smith's 97 helped them win the second string by 49 pins. They also took the final one and a total. Beside having high single G. A. Christie's 280 was best triple.

The Biffs had vision of being the first team to score a four-point win over the Jays, but these dreams came to an abrupt end. They had taken the first two strings by 22 pins, mainly through the work of "Ike" Kimball, who hit 101 and 87, but Baker pulled the leaders out of a hole in the last one, going 110 for the best single and giving his team the string by 24 and the total by two. Baker's 296 triple was the best of the match.

Nature Good Physician

A Boston doctor, who has been giving some suggestions to his fellow doctors on the treatment of accidental wounds, says the main thing to do with a wound is to let nature do her best and not interfere too much with her.

Nature, he points out, says the Pathfinder Magazine, prevents infection by various methods. Blood washes out the wound, carries away a certain amount of the foreign matter, including bacteria. The blood also contains certain "antibodies," which act as chemical antiseptics and kill bacteria. Nature, he claims, repairs wounds by bathing the injured tissues with serum which contains cell blood, and with white blood cells, which absorb and digest badly damaged tissue.

NEEDLES TIE LEADERS

Buttons Lose a Point While Opponents Clean up. Final Match Next Week Will Decide Championship

The Needles went into a tie for first place in the Thimble club bowling league Wednesday afternoon when they took all four points from the Scissors. They had a 27-pin lead for the first two strings but just squeezed through on the last one by a single pin. Mrs. Baldwin's 84 was high single and Mrs. Clark had 230 for high triple.

The Buttons who have been leading since the third week of the league were forced to share their top position with the Needles when they lost the last string of their match by 5 pins to the Pins. They won the first second and total. Both teams rolled well, Higgins having 244 for high triple.

The Thimbles, by winning four from the Spools, went from last to fourth place. The match was close all the way. The Thimbles took the first by 5, the second by 4 and the last by 6. Mrs. Kimball had 81 for high single and Mrs. Wadman's 214 was high triple.
