OPENING OF ABBOT ACADEMY

Large Enrollment and Few Changes in Faculty Promise Successful Year. Teachers Return After Summer Months of Travel and Study

Abbot academy will reopen on Tuesday of next week, September 20, with an enrollment of 182. The pressure for admission this summer has been strong, and it has been found necessary to provide places for six more boarding students. The enrollment now stands: 141 boarding students, 41 day students, a total of 182. This taxes the capacity of Draper hall and of the dining room to the utmost, and it has been necessary to enlarge two rooms so that they accommodate two students instead of one.

While workmen have been busy all summer upon the building and grounds, few noticeable changes have been made. In Draper hall, hardwood floors have been laid in eight or ten more rooms on the third and fourth floors. The refurbishing of the Senior parlor, which was the gift of the graduating Class of 1927, will be much appreciated by the incoming Senior class. The parlor has been attractively redecorated, and the furniture upholstered. The resurfacing of the drive about the circle greatly improves the approach to the Academy.

It is pleasant to announce that there are few changes in the faculty. Miss Matthews, who has been a member of the staff since 1916, has a year's leave of absence, which she proposes to spend in travel and study. She expects to spend some time in Spain and in the Holy Land. It will be remembered that her principal classes are in Spanish and Bible. She has spent the summer in travel in England and on the Continent and is now in Madrid.

Her work will be taken for the year by Miss Jean Eleanor James of Albany, New York. Miss James is a graduate of Vassar college. After teaching in this country for some years, she taught for four years in Presbyterian schools in India. Since her return to this country, she has been Director of Religious Education and Executive Secretary in Young Women's Christian Association work, chiefly in connection with what is called the "Central Field" with headquarters in Chicago.

The Academy is fortunate in securing a young woman of such wide travel and experience to fill this important position. Miss Chickering and her sister, Miss Helen Chickering, are establishing a home for the winter on Central street. They will occupy the house formerly occupied by Mrs. Ezra L. Abbot. Miss Moses has continued her study for her Master's degree at the Harvard University summer school, and Miss Burt has been doing field work in Geology at the summer camp of Cornell University.

Several members of the staff have enjoyed travel in Europe this summer. Miss Grimes spent some weeks on the Continent, in Italy, Switzerland and France. Miss Charlotte Johnson, the head of the Infirmary, has been taking walking trips through the British Isles and was last reported from the north of Ireland.

Miss Doris McDuffee joined a "Student Friendship" party, under the leadership of Miss Anne Wiggins of the National Board of

HEARING ON MAIN STREET

Interested Parties Appear Before County Commissioners. Plans for Widened Boston & Maine Bridge Presented

A hearing was held before the county commissioners in Salem last Friday on the petition of the Selectmen of the Town of Andover for a decree ordering the reconstruction and widening of the bridge over the Boston & Maine tracks on North Main street.

Before the road can be built however, a decree must be made by the county commissioners ordering the reconstruction of the railroad bridge. There is no contest on the matter, the railroad, the Eastern Massachusetts, the Town, County and State, each having agreed to pay a fifth of the cost of the bridge when the matter came before the legislature. It is expected that the road and bridge will be rebuilt next season.

At Friday's hearing, Chairman Frank H. Hardy of the Andover selectmen stated that the reconstruction of the bridge was part of the plan for rebuilding and widening North Main street. He said he understood the State Highway department was to make plans for the road and the Boston & Maine railroad was to submit plans for the bridge.

F. C. Shepherd, consulting engineer for the Boston & Maine, presented preliminary plans for a bridge 66 feet wide, having a roadway 40 feet wide. The remaining width would be used as a location for the street railway tracks and for sidewalks. The width of the roadway on the present bridge is only 20 feet. The plans for the new bridge call for a structure made of structural steel encased in concrete. If the plans are satisfactory, they can be turned over to the state immediately to establish the grade.

F. G. Sawyer, representing the Eastern Massachusetts Street railway, objected to the plan submitted on the grounds that the location allotted for street railway tracks was not satisfactory.

It was then voted to continue the hearing until October 18 to allow the Boston & Maine and the Eastern Massachusetts time for further consideration of the plans.

Selectmen Frank H. Hardy and Andrew McTernan, and Frank L. Cole, superintendent of the Board of Public Works, attended a hearing on appropriations held yesterday at Salem by the State Board of Public Works, Department of Highways preparatory to preparing the State budget for 1928.

Selectman Hardy, in asking for a State appropriation for rebuilding North Main street, a trunk line from Boston to the north, stated that Andover was ready to contribute one third of the expense of the highway if the State and County did the same. Commissioner Williams has reserved his decision as to the State's share until November 1.

The school bells pealed out their musical summons last Monday morning, calling back to their studies scores of Andover's boys and girls who through the long summer vacation, have been enjoying a rest or change of some sort.

At Puchard the new regime went into effect with the beginning of the term. No longer the Puchard Free school, but now the Puchard High school, supported in part by the Puchard fund and in part by the town, two separate schools are in reality welded into one.

F. O. Baldwin still retains the principalship and will make Greek and Latin his principal subjects. W. J. Henderson is a new teacher. He taught a portion of last year at the Newton High school and at Puchard will be in charge of the sciences.

Visitors to the grounds will have opportunity to buy the handwork of these Indians. Their handmade sweet grass baskets and Indian goods of all descriptions have traveled to all parts of the world.

While the majority of these are well educated American citizens, they still cling to their old customs and speak their native tongue. The costumes these Indians wear are considered the most gorgeous in the east and are of great interest to all visitors.

A Complete Indian Village to Be at the Fair

A complete Indian village, with all its wigwams, campfires, papooses, squaws and braves, living in original costume as in days gone by, will be one of the many interesting features at the Topsfield fair to be held this year at Topsfield from the 14th of September until the 17th, inclusively.

The tribe to be present at the fair is the Passamaquoddy from Maine, where thousands of visitors to Pleasant Point, in that state, have made their acquaintance with the well known tribe.

The Indians are coming to the fair grounds direct from their reservation with the chief of the tribe in personal supervision. Visitors to the grounds will have opportunity to buy the handwork of these Indians. Their handmade sweet grass baskets and Indian goods of all descriptions have traveled to all parts of the world.

While the majority of these are well educated American citizens, they still cling to their old customs and speak their native tongue. The costumes these Indians wear are considered the most gorgeous in the east and are of great interest to all visitors.

All comers to the fair grounds will have opportunity of seeing these Indians perform their native dances twice daily on the stage set up on the spacious grounds.

Walter Meader will explain the meaning of the Indian dances the customs and speak of the Indian's life during the past. Methods of basket making and bead work will also be explained. Bows and arrows for the youngster will be on sale.

In "The Advance" of September 4, 1902, a portion of a bright and interesting article under the title of "A Month at Andover" written by Grace Kinsey Ide read as follows: "While students' halls are deserted by theologues, 'fem sems' and Phillips boys, the life of real Andover people goes on actively, if not strenuously. On Sunday the Old South church is filled with eager, reverent listeners, a midsummer fruit of heresy, training and environment. The Sunday-school is large, perhaps because superintended by a business man who goes into Boston every day, and yet finds time to plan for his school in business-like ways. Andover is not dead in any sense of the word. The streets are lively with steam roller, automobiles, and electric cars, with delivery wagons and workmen completing the new athletic field, clubhouse, dining hall and archaeological building. On account of electric cars, people are gradually coming from Lawrence and other cities to build homes in Andover. This helps the churches, but not the tradesmen, as the new folks and others go to the convenient cities to shop. In consequence, those obliged to trade in Andover find prices ridiculously high. Think of thirty-seven cents a pound for chicken and seven dollars a board for a room plus five dollars for table board! And yet, the honor of living here is considered so great, no one dares demur, especially in summer time."

Miss Agnes Gillen left on Wednesday for Bridgewater to attend the Normal school.

Last Saturday morning shortly after seven o'clock an alarm of fire was sounded from Box 52 at the engine house for a fire at the T. E. Rhodes bake shop on East Chestnut street. The buildings and contents were damaged to the extent of about $500; about $300 to the contents including a great deal of breadstuffs and other things which the bakers had made up this morning.

variety of pigeons known entered in this display, a total of six hundred seventy-eight birds.

There are eight hundred seventy-six birds entered in the fancy and Utility classes in the main Poultry exhibit, representing all the popular breeds and many of the rare breeds seldom found except at a big show of this kind. Practically all of the birds are owned and raised by citizens of Essex County and represent a fine example of the high quality and magnitude of this important agricultural industry.

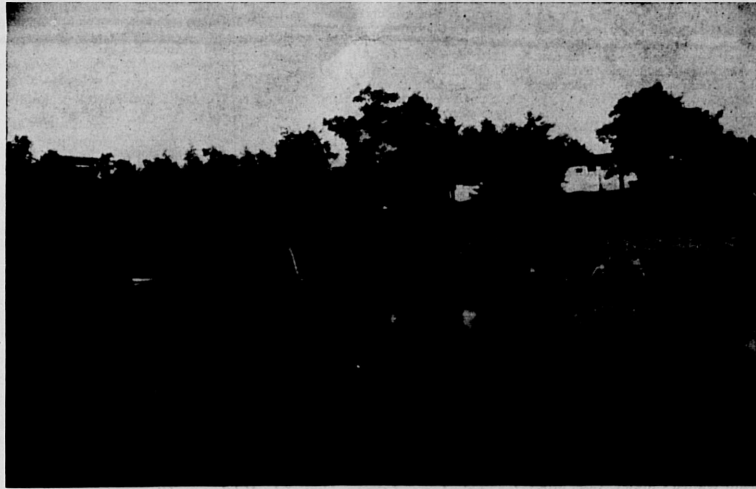

General chairman W. B. Moore of West Beabody and Supt. A. J. Moulton of Topsfield, together with every member of the Poultry Committee, have worked hard to put on a Poultry show this year that will please the most particular of poultry lovers.

Plans Under Way for Christmas Seal Sale

Plans are now under way for the biggest Christmas Seal sale in the history of Essex County. The Essex County Health association has ordered 2,700,000 Christmas seals. This exceeds last year's amount and is necessitated by the increased amount of money that must be raised to meet the needs of the association. The fight to stamp out tuberculosis has been waged with much more intensity than ever before during the past two years but there is need for a still more vigorous fight if the disease is to be completely stamped out. Tuberculosis still occupies a very high place in the causes of death in Essex County.

William T. Frary, publicity director of the association, is working at the present time to bring the message of the Christmas seals before every person in the County. He urges everyone to become acquainted with the work of the Association and the necessity for a huge sale of seals in order to carry on.

At the present time the Essex County Health association is holding its annual exhibition at the Topsfield fair. Visitors are invited to inspect the special booth which is being used to display the work of the association during the winter months combined with that of the summer health camp. Scales are on hand to weigh the children and a representative of the association is present to tell the youngsters what their normal weight should be and the means to attain it. The exhibition is one that shows clearly the type of work that is being done in the interest of health.

Miss Cora L. Cooke, field secretary, at this time appeals for volunteer workers to assist in the details of the seal sale. Anyone interested should apply to 286A Cabot street, Beverly.

The carnival afforded an excellent opportunity for those interested to see what has been accomplished during the season at the swimming beach. The very general interest and approval was evidenced by the large attendance and hearty applause.

The bath houses are now closed for the season.

Efficiency is nothing but a combination of cleanliness, orderliness, good health and plain, old-fashioned hard work.

Sixteen Hundred Seventy-Seven Birds On Exhibition in One Building

The largest Poultry Show ever staged in Essex County is all ready for the thousands of poultry lovers to look over in the new building devoted to this exhibit at the Topsfield Fair.

One hundred Turkeys, the largest number ever assembled in New England, will occupy cages on both sides of the main aisle, which is one hundred fifty feet long. Credit for this mammoth Turkey display belongs to Mr. John Cox and Mr. C. S. Knowlton, both of Hamilton, members of the Poultry Committee.

Stop Jay-Walking!
The safety drive, inaugurated at a luncheon in the chamber of commerce yesterday noon addressed by a group of eminent experts, emphasizes the need of definite changes. One of these, every reader of The Herald, and everybody else in the country should adopt as the equivalent to a New Year's resolution, to become operative this morning: Do not jay-walk.
Marcus Dow, the New York expert, reports that it has been found there that seventy-five per cent of the accidents to pedestrians in getting over streets occurred at places other than the regular crossings. The jay-walker thus invited a lot of risk to himself, besides slowing down traffic. If this practice were entirely abandoned, traffic could flow much more evenly, regularly and rapidly, to its own convenience and safety; and the community would be better able to take care of everybody on crossings.
Why do we not all agree on reading this, hands up, that we promise never again in city streets to cross other than at the places intended for that purpose? The argument is demonstrably sound that this is the thing to do. A score of other good recommendations came out at yesterday's meeting, but in order not to diffuse the lesson of the day, we mention only this one. Stop jay-walking!

The above editorial from Tuesday's Boston Herald brings home a point that cannot be overlooked. It is well known that if pedestrians would use a reasonable amount of care in crossing the street, accidents would be reduced to a minimum. In every city or town regular crossings are laid to enable the foot traffic to cross under the protection of a traffic officer or a marked safety zone. Except in the case of children, who cannot be expected to know better, there is no reason why these designated crossings should not be used. If for any reason a person must cross the street at other than the regularly prescribed zones, every precaution should be taken to be sure that any approaching vehicle is not near enough to endanger a safe crossing.
With the increasing use of the automatic signal lights at crossings, the situation becomes somewhat more complicated. Who can say that this method of controlling traffic at intersections is a satisfactory substitute for the human traffic cop? The mechanical element makes it far from perfect to direct human beings, except where the system is as well regulated as in some of the larger cities, or where an officer personally operates the signals. The value of these automatic lights has been proven at some crossings, but at others they do more harm than good. Authorities should use discretion in placing these signals that they may not become a nuisance.
With the ever increasing traffic, both motorist and pedestrian must use care, particularly in congested districts. If everyone will be alert and realize the danger to life and limb, many accidents will be averted. Municipal authorities must do their part to place traffic officers where they are needed, to make the crossings as safe as possible. Every one should and must remember and practice the slogan that fits the situation so well—"HEADS-UP."

Editorial Cinder
The continued success of Andover's first experiment in community recreation was demonstrated last Saturday afternoon when the water carnival was held at the close of the fifth season of supervised recreation at Pomp's pond swimming beach. The swimmers' evident pleasure in this sport as a form of recreation, their skill in the life-saving demonstrations, showing their ability to be of real service, and the interest and enthusiasm of the spectators made the venture seem entirely worth while. Excellent discipline was maintained throughout the afternoon and the event was a great credit to the popular life guards, Frank McBride and John Robertson and to the swimming beach committee.

Local Men Members of Roadside Stand Association
At a meeting held at the Essex County Agricultural school on Thursday evening, September 8th, the members of the Roadside Stand Association of Massachusetts, who reside in Essex County, met and perfected the plans for a branch of this organization. The officers elected were: Chairman, Melville E. Grey of Wenham, vice chairman, Harvey Turner of Andover, secretary-treasurer, Carleton M. Stearns of Danvers.
The purpose of the Roadside Stand Association is to furnish information relative to the use of the trade-mark, the ear of corn sign, adopted by the association and to educate the public to an appreciation of the outstanding values of this trade-mark. These are:
1. Only quality products handled by these members.
2. 60 per cent of produce handled must be grown on the member's farm.
3. All produce handled must be grown in the community in which the member lives.
4. All produce must be fresh and reasonable in price.
The first program to be executed by the newly organized group is a booth at the County Fair at Topfield this week. All members are contributing some of their excellent produce for this booth.

Lest We Forget
The late John Cornell, who was a plain man himself, wished to do something for the Town in which he had prospered and left in his will substantial funds for Andover schools, also a fund to establish an Art Gallery, unique in its way since the studies were in black and white only. The writer recalls the night of the brilliant opening, when the citizens of Andover, and invited guests met to do honor to the donor and view the results of his very thoughtful and generous legacy. The committee chosen to select the pictures were most fortunate in having for the chairman the Rev. Francis Howe Johnson who with true artistic tastes, supplemented by years of travel, gave valuable assistance.

Now I am told the Art Gallery, as an exhibit, will be discontinued, the pictures to be used in decorating the rooms of the library, and the public school buildings of the town. That good results may be obtained from this upheaval, it is hoped that a plentiful supply of catalogues will be on hand and that each and every work of art, if this has not already been done, will be suitably inscribed with the name of the donor, and the picture. All honor to the memory of the late John Cornell!

Former Andover Man Drops Dead
Archie L. Whittemore of 29 Newport street, Arlington, a well-known Boston caterer, who dropped dead at his home Wednesday evening will be remembered by many Townsman readers as a former resident of Andover. About twenty years ago, he was associated for several years with Thomas E. Rhodes in the catering business and made his home on Summer street. He was the caterer at the banquet held in connection with the 100th anniversary of Andover's Masonic Lodge and has also done business in Andover on other recent occasions.

The immediate cause of Mr. Whittemore's death was the severe stress under which he labored while searching for his automobile, which had been stolen from the street in front of 116 College avenue, West Somerville. He dropped dead at his home, while the search for the automobile was still in progress.

The car was recovered by Patrolmen Thomas F. Dufly and Frank Healey of the Medford police early Thursday morning near the new Winthrop street bridge over the Mystic River as Joseph P. McNally and Robert McCormack, both sixteen and both giving Charlestown addresses, were attempting to escape after they were ordered to stop by Officer Dufly.

Dufly saw the car traveling at high speed on Main street near South, recognized the number plates as belonging to a sedan which had been reported stolen by the Somerville police and ordered the boys to stop. They refused and was pursued by another machine and set out in pursuit up South street. At South and Winthrop streets Officer Healey saw the speeding autos and headed off the stolen car as it was about to go over the bridge. The boys tried to escape by stopping the auto and taking to their heels, but the fleet-footed policemen were too much for them and they were gathered in to await transfer to the Somerville police station.

Archie L. Whittemore was born in Hubbardston fifty-eight years ago. Early in life he entered the catering business and was connected with the firm of C. C. Whittemore of Boston. He was a member of the Boston Stonemasonry, K. T., Shriners and the Blue Lodge of Boston and of the Jamaica Plain Lodge of Odd Fellows.

Wednesday he was not feeling well and he was in the doctor's office his machine was stolen and was piled up in a taxi cab and died soon after reaching there. His wife, a son and a daughter survive.

The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the residence.

New Candidates Report at Puncard

Thirteen new candidates were added to the Puncard high school football squad on Tuesday afternoon when intensive training started on the first day of practice. With the 21 that reported on Monday, the squad now numbers 34 candidates. Many of the new men are either in the freshman or sophomore class.

Two teams were lined up Tuesday and sent through a long signal drill. Nothing but regular plays, however, were used. The first team was comprised entirely of boys who were members of the squad last season, while the second team comprised all new men.

Walter Batchelor and Ralph Murphy did not work out Tuesday but are expected to report some time this week.

Coach Eugene V. Lovely is well satisfied with the two teams he used, with the addition of Batchelor in the first team backfield. He does however, miss the services of both Hall and Allen, who will be lost to this year's team.

The two teams lined up as follows on Tuesday:

FIRST TEAM	SECOND TEAM
M. Murphy, l.e.	r.e., Watson
Forsythe, l.e.	r.t., Porter
Nicholas, l.g.	r.g., Kierstead
Lawrence, c.	c., Stickey
Morrissey, r.g.	l.g., Dumont
Ladd, r.t.	r.t., Loosigan
Russell, r.e.	l.e., Craig
Crowley, q.b.	q.b., Ronda
Polgreen, l.h.b.	r.h.b., Cromie
C. Murphy, r.h.b.	l.h.b., Lynch
York, f.b.	f.b., Dwyer

The following players reported Tuesday afternoon, exclusive of those who reported to Coach Lovely on Monday. Sullivan, Green, Craik, O'Connor, Low, Keating, Marcus, Bourne, Kierstead, Kibbee, Otis, Watson and Loosigan.

Coach Lovely's most arduous task this year will be to develop a quarterback to fill the place left vacant by William Murphy, star field general the past two years. Polgreen and Chris Murphy may be developed into a quarterback for this season's eleven but Mr. Lovely is not certain yet which one will do the best work.

The color of canned salmon is no indication of its quality. It indicates variety. There are several kinds of salmon and these vary in color after canning from a bright red to almost white.

Try a stuffing of green peppers made of equal parts of fresh corn, cooked macaroni (in small pieces), and tomato, seasoned with butter, salt and pepper. Any minced cooked meat on hand may be added.

In serving a vegetable plate include one food that contains some protein, as for example, green peppers or tomatoes stuffed with a meat mixture, cauliflower or potatoes scalloped with cheese, spinach with hard-boiled eggs, or sweet corn pudding made with milk and eggs.

Corn fritters may be made from left-over corn on the cob. To 4 tablespoons fresh corn add 1 teaspoon melted fat, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk, 1 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt. Mix to a batter and fry in deep fat.

Curried veal is a good dish to serve when lima beans are in season, because the flavor of curry goes well with lima beans. Cut 2 pounds of stewing veal into small pieces and simmer in water enough to cover until almost tender. Then add 2 cups of fresh lima beans. In another pan cook 1 medium-sized onion, chopped fine, and 1-2 a green pepper, chopped, in a small amount of butter. Add to the meat. When the beans are done, thicken the liquid slightly with a little flour which has been mixed with 1-4 teaspoon curry, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, and a little cold water. Smith & Dove to Play Soccer on Saturday

Smith & Dove soccer team will be at home Saturday at Andover and will entertain Lusitania "Rees" on the Smith & Dove field in a Boston and District League game.

Smith & Dove this season is in the northern division of the Boston and District League, which has been split up into two divisions, northern and southern. The northern clubs are Smith & Dove, Woburn Tamers, Woburn Independents, Lusitania Rees, while the southern division takes in Fore River, Brockton, Shamrocks, Readville, Armenian Americans and Bird & Sons.

Both divisions should furnish some very attractive soccer this season and the coming of Lusitania Rees, last season's champions of the Boston and District League, to Andover Saturday, should furnish an abundance of thrills for the local soccer fans.

Both Smith & Dove and Lusitania Rees were on the losing end last week, but the Doves will have another chance with Boston Celtics as the game last Saturday came to a halt when rain interfered and further play was abandoned.

Lusitania Rees, last season's champs, bit the dust in meeting Woburn Independents at Blake field, Cambridge, by 2-1.

Considerate

The artist had agreed to paint the portrait of a beautiful young girl in her very becoming lavender evening gown.

The girl's mother decided, as she thought the matter over at home, that she would prefer to have her daughter wear a yellow dress.

A few days later the portrait painter received a message over the telephone from the young girl: "Mother thinks I'd better wear my yellow dress and hope you haven't forgotten the paint yet!"—Vancouver Province.

One Year's Moose Bag

It has been estimated that about 10,000 moose are killed in Canada each year. This seems a heavy slaughter, but far from there being any danger of extermination from this toll taken by the moose hunter, authorities in different sections are of the opinion that a killing of twice that number could be made each year, and the natural increase would definitely offset any danger of the extinction of the moose.

CHATTER

Many an otherwise good man makes a poor husband.

A cynic is a man who laughs at the world with tears in his eyes.

A young man doesn't begin to rise in the world until he settles down.

Many an indulgent husband allows the indulgence to stop with himself.

One can't estimate the amount of moral courage a man has by his physical dimensions.

Bradlee Hall Building Sold

Bradlee hall, situated at the corner of River street and Andover street, has been purchased by Harry Nason of Clark road. Mr. Nason is making extensive repairs and plans to have the building painted and ready within four weeks.

The ground floor will be used for a store and will remain as it is for the present. Mr. Nason expects to put in an up-to-date store front in the near future.

The upper floor will be used for a hall, where dancing may be held and entertainments given. The stage will be taken out and a dance floor extend the length of the building. This floor will be an exceptionally fine one. An orchestra pit will be added to the side near the river. There will also be two toilets and a check room. It is being shingled, painted, and the ceiling is being plastered.

Mr. Nason plans to put in a portable stage later on, making an addition to the orchestra pit. It will then be possible for plays to be given.

The work is being done by Harry Nason, Louis Nason and Charles Sherry.

It was built many years ago under the direction of J. P. Bradlee, and was for the benefit of the people employed in the mills. Situated near the center of the town and ideally located, it was used by the people of the village for entertainments.

For years free entertainments and lectures were held every other week in the hall, furnished from a fund left by Mr. Bradlee. Each fall season tickets were given to the employees of the mill and people of the village to attend the series of entertainments, which were of the highest class. At that time there were no moving picture shows and the theatre was not regarded as it is today. High class entertainments, which were given gratis, were greatly appreciated by the people of the village.

During these years, the rooms under the hall were occupied by F. G. Haynes and company, then by Poore & Riley; Harry Colbath's grocery store and lastly as a crock factory.

First American Jade

Within a year, it is expected, the first American Jade in history will be on the market. It will come from a deposit in eastern Oregon, where Joseph Reusz, a German chemist living in Seattle, says he has found it in all shades of rich green, says the Christian Science Monitor.

Some one has been there before him, several hundred years ago, Mr. Reusz believes, for on approaching the limestone from an almost inaccessible quarter, he stumbled on a barrier shutting up the mouth of a cave. Removing the obstruction he found himself in a hillside cavern glistening with mica set in colorful walls. Examination of the walls showed that excavation had been carried on by means of a tiny pick.

It tapers at a more acute angle than other shafts of this character, but its ample, well-modified base makes such an arrangement an artistic one. Its base has a beveled treatment that is modern and pleasing.

If you are considering having a shaft erected or a simple stone placed to mark the grave of a loved one, you will find it a common-sense arrangement to do business with us. We place no extra tariff on sorrow, but charge just what our work and materials are worth.

BOOST ANDOVER — LIVE IN ANDOVER

M. T. WALSH CO., ON ESSEX STREET IS OLDEST PLUMBING AND HEATING CONCERN IN ANDOVER

Experienced Workmen Equipped to Give Service and Honest Work at Fair Price—Foreman Has Been Plumbing Inspector for Twenty-five Years—Shop of Fireproof Construction Built in 1926

The M. T. Walsh plumbing and heating business was built on honest dealings and is one of the oldest established businesses in Andover. It had its beginning about 1835 in a little tinmith's shop back of the present Baptist church.

The business was bought in 1853 by William Barnett. For him, M. T. Walsh "served his time" and worked as a journeyman for twenty-five years. He finally bought the business with the good-will in 1885 and carried it on until his death in November, 1921. Following his death, the business was taken over by his son, George D. Walsh, who had been associated with his father continuously for nineteen years. The business is still run and registered under the firm name of M. T. Walsh.

Years before plumbing and heating came into the life of the people of Andover, tinware of all kinds were made in the old tinmith's shop and some pieces that were made forty or fifty years ago are still prized possessions in some of the older households of the town. Not only was tinware made for Andover trade but itinerant peddlers would gladly buy a large part of the stock to supply the record of being the longest-established plumbing and heating concern in Andover. Its men have the necessary experience and are equipped to give service. Besides the usual work connected with plumbing and heating, they make a specialty of tin and copper roofing.

The business was conducted for over forty years at 11 Essex street, in what is now the Colonial theatre, built originally by the Boston & Maine railroad for Andover's first station.

In the summer of 1926, the M. T. Walsh company built a new and up-to-date shop at 28 Essex street next the post office. It is a fireproof building built of cement blocks with a tin roof. The style is that of mill construction with no posts.

Some of the more recent jobs done by the M. T. Walsh company include the plumbing and heating systems in the new block at the corner of Main street and Punchard avenue, also in the remodeled Dr. Richards' house which was moved from Main street to Punchard avenue and in the remodeled Burns store on Main street.
