at takes arranged in a hollow square. These also had candle decorations.

The waitresses, members of the Girls' Friendly society under the direction of Mrs. Walter E. Howe, were kept busy serving the following menu: Fruit cup, cold turkey with dressing, mashed potato, gravy, green peas, rolls, ice cream, cake, coffee, punch and smokes, the last named provided through the courtesy of Albert W. Lowe.

Following the supper remarks were made by Gordon S. Brown, organist and choirmaster and by the rector, Rev. Charles W. Henry, Mr. Brown spoke appreciatively of the cooperation of his choir and outlined plans for future accomplishment. Mr. Henry preached a sermonette, taking his theme from the red, white and green of the Christmas decorations. The red of the ruby symbolizing fire, spirit and energy, the white of the diamond purity and light, and the green of the emerald springtime and joy. With these symbols in mind he commended to his hearers the forming of character with zeal and joy.

House under the auspices of the Andover League of Women Voters. "Electric Power and Public Welfare" will be presented by the two men in Massachusetts most capable of viewing this subject from every angle.

LaRue Brown, LL.B., senior member of the law firm of Brown, Field and McCarthy, is a lawyer of distinction particularly in the field of social and industrial legislation. Chairman of the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission, 1912-1914, Special Counsel for the United States in Shoe Machinery and ether cases brought under the Sherman Act, he has become, identified with "the people's side of the case" in a very definite way. He is now giving much time to the Public Franchise League an organization interested in securing for the users of public utilities the best possible terms.

Mr. Brown was assistant Federal Attorney-General during 1918-19 and General Solicitor of the United States Railroad Administration in 1919-21. Thereafter, until 1925 he was retained as special council.

Mr. Brown was "raised" in Kentucky and educated at Harvard, a combination reflected most agreeably in his interesting personality.

Sheldon Wardwell was born in Massachusetts, attended the public schools there and St. Paul's School in Concord, New Hampshire. He graduated from Vale in 1904, and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in that same year. During 1907-08 he was secretary to Hon. Wm. H. Moody, Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court and in 1909 entered the Legal Department of the Boston Elevated Railway Company as trial attorney.

Subsequently he entered the office of Burdett and Wardwell and has since specialized in the regulation of public utilities, first for the Street Railway Companies, and the last few years for Gas and Electric

An interesting program of classic as well as modern numbers was given by Miss Isabelle Yalkovsky, pianist, and Sadah Shuchari, violinist, at the fourth concert on the James C. Sawyer Foundation which took place in the George Washington auditorium on Thursday evening.

The Brahms sonata which opened the program, played by both young artists, was perhaps the finest thing of the evening. Miss Schuchari played with beautiful tone, and remarkable technique and the accompaniments of Miss Yalkovsky added beauty to the number.

The program was on the whole brilliant and showy which made a distinct appeal to a large proportion of the audience as was evidenced by the storm of applause. Many would have preferred something quieter and more sustained, but the first visit of Miss. Yalkovsky and Miss Shuchari added another to the long list of musical treats sponsored by Phillips Academy.

Speed of Ustrich

A full-grown male ostrich stands some eight feet high, from the crown of its head to the ground, and weighs about 300 pounds. Its speed, when running "all out," its said to attain 26 miles an hour. At such times it is generally believed to derive no small stands from its wines used as as alls.

Contributions have raised to the almost two thousand dollars a reward for the conviction of the St. Louis men who sewed up a terrier's mouth so that he could not bark. In the matter of cruelty to animals, the wrong has been on one side, even back to the days when Balaam's beast of burden, having been beaten because she dodged a sword directed toward her master, said: "Was I ever wont to do so unto thee?".

Memorial Hall Librar

Trustees of the Memorial Hall

Jentlemen:

I herewith present the report of the ibrary for the twelve months ending December 31, 1929.

During 1929, the library issued for home use 62,624 books, a circulation of 6.2 books.

62,624 books, a circulation of 6,2 books capita of the population. t was open 57 hours a week for ten months 166 hours a week for two months. t issued 533 new borrowers' cards, making otal of 4383 cards in actual use, almost ser cent of the town is inhabitants, t placed 899 new books on its shelves. t answered innumerable questions, varyfrom how to cook cabbage to how to plan we theatre building.

Fortunately there never was a time who es recent books upon vary-subject, and they have met onse. Not long ago we were from the Boston Public oks upon Italian art. Upon presented, we found that very one from our own col-he surprise of the inquirer-that she wished she had had been some discussion advisability of having the a Sundays. Although the ten tried before with nega-r to test the present wishes the Trustees arranged to room on Sundays through lary, planning to continue ald use show that it was feul records of the Sunday areful records of the Sunda kept, and at the same time of the weekday use, in ord-of comparison. The librar uously from three to nine intously from three to nine in and evening, and the average ple, contrasted with a weekday 5 people daily. These figures sive as to the desires of the y as 75 per cent of the Sunday igh school students, already in oming every day. This result y in line with reports from husetts town libraries. The fore discontinued the experi-two months' trial. Sunday opening is an example its community. It is always glad of suggestions as to methods of better serving it Respectfully submitted, Never, from that moment, did Roland Hayes waver in his purpose to become a singer. His decision involved long uphill years of education, of training, of struggle for recognition, achievements which he paid for with hard, humiliating "jobs." His friends constantly advised him to waste no more time on a career which no negro had ever entered. But with his dream before him, Roland Hayes seems never to have been in doubt.

Thus, the singer treasures the phonograph which first lighted in him the flame of ambition.

Recently a friend of Roland Hayes sent him, from Chattanooga, Tennessee, an old phonograph. The instrument is out of date, but the singer prizes it for the meries that cling to it. This phonagraph is intimately connected with what was perhaps the most significant turning point of his life.

Roland Hayes was at the time a poor farm lad. He had come to this "city" to attend a school, and to earn wages that were a boon to his struggling family. His job was foreman in a sash weight factory.

The young man sang as he worked, and Sundays he sang hymns with the choir of the local colored church. Such singing and such music were the extent of his musical experience. He had never even heard of Schubert, Calhoun, a negro teacher of singing, became interested in his voice and urged him to study to be a singer, Roland Hayes was not interested. To him, professional singing meant only jazz, which he detested.

But Calhoun was insistent, and that evening took him to a white man's house. There he heard some phonograph records of Sembert, he made some phonograph records of Sembert, he made some phonograph records of Sembert interested in his voice and urged him to study to be a singer, Roland Hayes was not sittles and the terest of friends have made generous gifts. ## Courteous Circle Hears Address by Mis Florence Luscomb

Miss Florence Luscomb field secretary for the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, was the speaker at a social meeting of the Courteous Circle of The King's Daughters held last Monday evening in the South church vestry.

Miss Florence H. Luscomb, from the time when she took her degree in architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and practiced that profession, still one whose doors are grudeingly half-opened to woman. She campaigned actively for woman suffrage, in the days when democracy for women was still unpopular. She was not only a leading worker in Massachusetts, but was called upon to assist in half a dozen other states.

When political equality was won and the movement for the political education of the millions of new voters began, she as Assistant Executive Secretary of the Boston League of Women Voters was actively connected with it. She was a popular lecturer on civic and legislative problems, and co-author of the "Manual for Massachusetts Voters", now in use in many schools throughout the state. Then as Assistant Secretary of the Massachusetts Civic League she worked for various social welfare measures. She resigned to become Director of the Joint Board of Sanitary and the Momen's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Miss Luscomb spoke in part as follows:

It is strange that those who were willing to ther Cavalry and served until the end of the life war, being discharged June 30th, 1865.

On December 7, 1865 he married Miss on December 3, 1865 he married Miss of Mary Anne Wishart in Lynn and was blessed with her companionship until his death, a period of sixty-four years. They settled in North Andover where Mr. Saunders worked as a machinist until 1893 when he bought the "Cooley" place in Frye Village which he farmed with much enjoyment and profit to his health for several years. Later he served as janitor of the Town Hall building until his retirement to private life in 1913.

He was one of the most active and interested members of General Wm. F. Bartlett Post 99, G.A.R. of whom only three now remain; Henry Clukey, James Doyle and John B. A. Russell.

He experienced many hardships in the war but suffered no wounds. In one battle was captured by the Confederates but in the confusion of the fight managed to escape to the Union lines, though he collapsed under the strain of his exciting experience.

His alert mind kept him interested in the affairs of the nation and in his last years he found much enjoyment in reading.

His home life was of great confort to him and in his long illness he had the devoted care of his wife, children and grandchildren.

The members of his family remaining are is widow, three sons, George W., of Boston, Frank M. Hoy of South Acton and Mrs. Annie Saunders Alley; four grandchildren, the Misses Ruth and Helen Saunders, Frank Alley of South Acton and Mrs. Annie Saunders Alley; four grandchildren, the Misses Ruth and Helen Saunders, Frank Alley of South Acton and Was conducted by Ryev, F. The Pan-American Arbitration Treaty now pending ratification, also deserves the support of the people. It is the most thoroughgoing arbitration treaty we have ever signed, for it pledges us and our southern neighbors to arbitrate practically every kind of dispute, without the large exceptions which have made previous treaties almost worth-less. If it is adopted never again will a war with Mexico threaten over an oil dispute, nor will we invade Haiti or Nicaragua and kill their inhabitants over porperty rights which

A good homemade damp-proofing paint for cellar walls or floor can be prepared by dissolving paraffin in gasoline or kerosene warmed to 80 degrees F. Several coats of a 10 to 20 per cent solution (3-4 to 1 1-2 pounds of paraffin per gallon of gasoline) are usually applied. The more dilute solution is best for stone, and the heavier one for brick or concrete. Work of this kind should be done only where there is good ventilation and, as gasoline is highly explosive, no open flame should be permitted in the vicinity of the operation. The gas oline or kerosene may be warmed in a vessel of water previously heated.

Milk should be strained in the milk room, a never in the barn.

In making Boston brown bread be sure to star it for about 31-2 hours in well-buttered molds before baking it to dry out the top.

Clean milk put into a sterile container and packed in ice will remain sweet for weeks. On the other hand, milk which is not cooled and kept cool may be sour in a few hours.

A combination of salt and sugar and salt-peter makes a good "cure" for pork. Salt used alone is apt to make the meat rather harsh and dry, but the sugar mellows the cure and improves the flavor of the meat. A good grade of dairy salt, or table salt, should be used.

A Blow Does Not Cause Cancer

In a public statement issued by the State Department of Public Health, the fact is stressed that cancer is not caused from a blow or wound received some time before. Scientific research finds no relation between such physical injury and the development of a cancer. All attempts made to produce cancer na nimals by traumatic methods have so far failed failed

Long continued irritation, not sudden injury, appears to be the most important contributing cause of cancer. Not all irritating influences are equally dangerous. New light is constantly being shed on those likely to lead to cancer, so that if possible they may be avoided. Certain tars, oils and aniline dyes have been implicated and practical information has thus been obtained as to the necessity of taking precaution in various industries.

Scientists who

Scientists who are working to find the actual cause of cancer all agree that long,

Parent-Teachers Meet

There were a large number present Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the Shawsheen Parent-Teacher association to hear Dr. Olive A. Cooper of the department of mental diseases of Massachusetts give an interesting and instructive talk on "Habit Forming in the Child". She dwelt on all phases of the subject and her remarks were greatly appreciated by the members.

A short business meeting was held and the banner for attendance was won by Mrs. Donald's room. At the close refreshments were served with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Garrisel S. Chase, chairman, Mrs. Harold A. Rutter, Mrs. Harold T. Ralph Houston, Mrs. Fred H. Morrison, Mrs. Harold A. Rutter, Mrs. Harold T. Rutter, Mrs. Harold T continued irritation of some particular part is the dominating secondary influence in its development.

Examples of irritation likely to be in part responsible for causing cancer are: a smoker's pipe, a wart or mole or scar upon the skin menacing some particular spot.

Massachusetts has a rational program to awaken the public to sane thinking about cancer. Also, through its cancer hospital at Pondville and its state-aided cancer clinics, Massachusetts has special facilities for the care and early diagnosis of patients suffering from cancer. In April, 1922, she made her debut, appearing as soloist with members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. So amazing was her talent even then that Herma Devries, the well-known Chicago critic wrote, "This child is only thirten year and already gives ample and evident proof of more than artistic precocity."

of more than artistic precocity."

Not yielding to tempting offers of immediate engagements for the girl, he parents sent her to New York for furthe study. There she won a fellowship in the class of Olga Samaroff at the Juilliar Foundation Graduate School. She took theory and ear-training with Frankia Robinson, harmony and counterpoint with Rulpin Goldmark, chamber music with Georges Enesco and Felix Salmond, and orchestral conducting with Albert Stossel. She was offered, too, a vocal scholarship and studied singing for a while with Leon Roblie and Paul Reimers. This branch of music she abandoned for lack of time.

Miss Yalkovsky has given numerous recitals and appeared as soloist with the American Orchestral Society of New York, with the Philadelphia Orchestra, and with members of the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. For so young a pianist she has a phenomenally large repertoire of very wike scope. A dozen concertos with orchestra are on her list, as well as many chamber works. Her recital programs include, beside important works of Bach, Scarlatti and Beethoven, the usual romantic repetoir, including the colossal Liszt B Minor Sonat, no less than fourteen Debussy preludes and many modern works ranging from Scriabis to Prokofieff. Although the police were notified immediately the miscreants had made a successful get-away. After the remains have been viewed by Selectman McTernen, Hamel will probably receive the customary damages for some unusually handsome damages for some unus Rhode Island Red birds.

According to the police from fourteen to fifteen hundred fowl have met death by dogs during the past twelve months.

Free Church C. E. Notes

A very successful meeting of the Free church C. E. was held Sunday evening, January 5. A group from the First Congregational church of Lowell invited the society to a convention of the Andover Association of the Voung Peoples Institute, to be held Saturday and Sunday, January 11 and 12, 1930.

a convention of the Andover Association of the Young Peoples Institute, to be held Saturday and Sunday, January 11 and 12, 1930.

It was decided to hold a new form of meeting next Sunday. Mayhew Stickney will lead and all will be very welcome.

The annual Pop Concert will be held Tuesday February 11. Mr. Stickney, who served successfully as chairman last year, has consented to take charge of the affair again this year.
