Your oil thins out quicker in winter

There is a simple reason why this is so. Each time you use the choke to give a rich starting mixture, a small amount of raw unburned gasoline finds its way into the crankcase—dilutes your oil. Diluted (thinned) oil cannot maintain the protecting film between metal parts — keep them from grinding together. Watch your oil closely in cold weather. Don't let it thin out to the danger point in winter so as to threaten proper lubrication.

Fresh oil quiets your motor, cuts down wear

cuts down wear

You can tell the difference at once when you change to fresh Socony lubricants. Your motor will run smoother, will be less noisy—and noise denotes wear. Perhaps you have not noticed that your motor is noisy until you make this change of oil, because dilution and its results are so gradual. The danger is there just the same—and you will notice the difference at once when the fresh Socony lubricant is in your car

Flushing is as important in winter as in summer

Just as much dirt, metal particles and carbon find their way into your lubricating system in winter as in summer. They can be removed only by flushing. Give the inside of your motor a bath with Socony Flushing Oil. Socony dealers and Service Stations make a point of furnishing this very necessary service.

Change your oil NOW! Your motor will thank you

There are several weeks more of winter weather. Be prepared for them by visiting your Socony dealer and Service Station now. Have your old oil drained off-your crankcase flushed—and refill with the Socony lubricant which has the proper body to give you the best lubrication at varying the best lubrication at varying temperatures. Then you may know that there is no needless wear—for Socony lubrication is Certified Lubrication.

country in the world? And what is being done about it?

An eminent judge says "The front line trenches for the prevention of delinquency are the public schools." But teachers are laboring under the necessity of educating children according to standardized curricula. They stress the importance of problems relating to sex, dishonestry, disobedience, disordeliness and failure to learn. Mental hygienists consider unsocial form of behaviour most serious. Such differences in attitude imply essential differences in attitude imply essential differences in methods of treatment and discipline. The conference group after studying "Parents on Probation" could not but feel that lack of understanding on the part of parents was a large contributory cause to delinquency. This much is certain, that the study, by groups, of these questions pertaining to youth and its normal growth under normal conditions might materially aid in spreading the gospel that "the child is more important than the system." As an individual he must experience a democracy that will day by day train him to be a good citizen.

Miss Dorothy Shapleigh gave an interesting digest of an article on the "visiting teacher" and her importance in co-ordinating home and school life for the child. This movement, first started in 1907 by private subscription, has grown but slowly. At present twenty-nine cities in fifteen states have visiting teachers, but with the new realization of the need for understanding the child as a whole,—mentally, physically and socially,—the services of the visiting teacher may soon be a requirement of every community. The services of the services of the results of the services of the services teacher may soon be a requirement of every community.

Mrs. G. Milton Friese finished her sum many of the "History of the Juvenile Court" and its treatment of cases. Until we can by wise adjustments rid ourselves of juvenile delinquency, it mean much to youth that their midsemeanors may be heard in other than a criminal court, that the public is excluded from the trial, and that emphasis is laid on helping rather than punishing the offender. When boys and girls must be held in detention homes while factors of their case are looked up, efforts are made to interest them in gardening, baskerty, domestic science etc., in fact everything possible is done to make normal living look attractive. More work such as is done by the Judge Baker Foundation, more trained probation workers, more follow up work is needed be fore the percentage of delinquents can be reduced.

In an editorial in "Childhood and Charton and the community of the control of th

In an editorial in "Childhood and Character" by Arthur Dean, we read, "Parents and teachers forget, sometimes, that the whole purpose of all that they do is to so direct youth that it can later direct itself. Some try to do it with only love and sympathy and wonder why they sometimes fail. Some use understanding of youth and sympathy and wonder why they sometimes fail. Some use understanding of youth and of principles of education, and it is this group which compels, by its power of intelligent method, youth to walk the first mile in such a way that it gladly of its own accord walks second.

The society, after much deliberation, has chosen the dates from May 30 through June 1 for this celebration. On Friday and Saturday, May 30 and May 31, a number of the old and historic houses will be opened to the public. At each house the visitors will be welcomed by a hostess dressed in costume appropriate to the period which the house represents. Exhibitions of furniture and other objects of interest connected with the early history of Andover are also being arranged. On Sunday, June 1, a union service will be held in the South Church, the oldest church organization in what is now the town of Andover.

Taming of the Shrew

A spirited interpretation of "The Taming of the Shrew" was given by members of the Senior class of Abbot academy at Davis hall on Tuesday evening. The simple stage setting was characterized by color effects and well managed lighting. The last scene as the revellers clad in rich silks and velvets were gathered about the long banquet tables lovely with candlelight and flowers was one of the prettiest scenes ever staged in Davis hall.

The play was directed by Mrs. Bertha Morgan Gray.

Has Your Home Adequate Telephone Service?

There should be three telephones in every moderate-sized house—in the kitchen, living-room and bed-room. All three may be connected on

In larger houses there should be additional outlets for use with extension telephones.

The service charge for connecting extension telephones has been sharply reduced; also the charge for outlets.

It costs very little to have the convenience of these telephones—about three cents a day for each extra instrument. They may be installed with or without bells, as you desire.

Our advice on telephone arrangements is yours for the asking. And we hope that you will ask for it by calling our Business Office.

Forest Fire Prevention

penetrates the woodlands it dries up the dead leaves and under brush scattered on the ground at the base of every tree, making ready kindling for a carelessly dropped cigarette, cigar, lighted match or other fire dealing weapon.

There is nothing on this earth more valuable to the welfare of our natural resources and wild life than the forests. Everything depends upon our trees. Without foliage the wild game would soon disappear, as their cover and protection would be gone. Streams and small lakes would soon dry up and the moisture of the ground would be absorbed by the dry soil and result in the ruination of every blade of grass and second growth timber surrounding the territory affected.

uilded. But this idea is now deemed anti-uated and, like all notions thirty years old,

"is a good mental training, an accurate and thorough habit of mind: not the flitting away of the attention by a multitude of small matters of which the pupil does not get enough to develop consecutive thought."

Our superintendent was privileged to hear Pres. Lowell say this, but he tells us in his report that Mr. Lowell was "biased in his premises and biased in his conclusion." When a man's statements are biased at both ends precious little reliance can be put upon their middle. But we need to remember that the "biased" man is he who fails to agree with our superintendent. When it comes to "bias" I take my stand with Pres. Lowell, for I fully agree with him when he says: "Repeated mental exertion is the one thing least emphasized and sought for in this new Junior high school to mitten and the chairman of the School Committee as to commandeer all their oratorical and literary powers in an endeavor to convince us of its smerit?

commandeet all their oratorical and literary powers in an endeavor to convince us of its merit?

Our school authorities have attempted to answer this question but in language so general, so hazy and ambiguous that we Laypeople, untutored in technical phrases, stand suppliant on the threshold of their erudition.

I find scattered through the school reports and in recent utterances of the chairman of the School Committee, what purports to be definitions or statements declaring the real purpose or aim of the new Junior high school. I give them to the reader in the hope that his power to unravel the unravelable and to transcend the untranscendable will illuminate his darkness: The superintendent tells us that the object of this new building is through handwork to enable children to "find themselves." Doubtless this is a great and worthy achievement if accurately done. For over 65 years I have been trying to find myself, but my own experience and that of others is that it takes one's entire life to really "find one's self." At the Junior high school age some children, have what they think, is a clean cut idea of themselves—of their abilities, their "likesand dislikes" and of their major preferences. Could these old-time children at that early age have had the superb privilege of this "modern trend" what physical, mental, and spiritual struggle they would have escaped!

The chairman of the school committee attempts to be more specific and illuminative. He says: "The object of the Junior high school is to reveal the attitude and interests of the children."

Now here is a phrase that at first blush we school is to reveal the attitude and interests of the children, "

Now here is a phrase that at first blush we can seem to get our minds around, and coming first hand (?), "right off the bat", we instinctively "stop, look and listen." Note the simplicity and lucidity of this definition: "The object of the Junior high school is to reveal the attitude and interests of the children."

every blade of grass and second growth timber surrounding the territory affected.

Fires each year bring a loss in the neighborhood of $33,000,000, to say nothing of the vast amount of loss to our natural outdoor beauty from a scenic standpoint.

The Laak Walton League of America has long sponsored a nation-wide program to place the forest fire hazard at a mimimum. Local chapters of the League have organized fire fighting brigades in many territories and their alert efforts have been responsible for the elimination of disastrous fires on several occasions.

The necessity of forest fire prevention should be broadcast in every community. Campers and travelers through leaving burnt embers, dropping matches, setting old stumps afire and neglecting to smother the smouldering ashes have caused the loss of thousands of dollars worth of timber.

Save the trees for posterity and help protect America's natural beauty and wild life. It's up to you.

had to be proven before it was adopted by these men. They now use Diesel engines. Yet Andover's B. P. W. states "No statisticad data can be obtained as to life and reliability of the Deisel type of engine." It may interest the voters of Andover to know that the old oil engine sold by Andover for junk is at the Lynn Quarries working every day.

The latest U. S. census shows that the value of oil engines manufactured exceed the combined value of all steam engines and all steam turbines combined including even the huge turbines for the electric super power systems. Now in regard to the life and reliability of the Diesel engine a conservative estimate is twenty years. The repair cost on hie lower operating cost in a few years will pay for the cost of installation. In view of the fact that it took Andover's B. P. W. just one year to find out that the Diesel engine was the most economical way to pump water I would suggest that Andover voters give them one more year to obtain the statistical data as to the life and reliability of the Diesel type of engine but would by no means suggest that the matter be left to an investigating committee to investigate the investigating committee unless we have an investigating committee. We do not want a little nigger in the water pipes that will cost the taxpayers $200 per month whether they use it or not.

I thank you,

Finally, in 1910 was appointed a committee upon "The Reorganization of Secondary Education" for Massachusetts headed by a member of the Massachusetts State Board of Education, Mr. Clarence W. Kingsley, Their accomplishment was the pamphlet called "Cardinal Principles of Secondary Education," This is the "Law and Gospel" of this field of Education today and formulates "The Seven Objectives" of Junior high school work. It is interesting to note that these seven objectives make the platform on which rests and works and the other afternoon: "If these objectives was the pamphlet of Headers, As our excellent principal, Miss Putnams add the other afternoon: "If these objectives could be as fully understood and realized as our school authorities and teaching forces throughout the country are trying to have them be, the result, whout question, would

The meet consisted only of foil bouts and Choate showed decided superiority in this division.

All five of Andover teams competing on Saturday were on the short end of the count. The wrestling team closed its season with a 14 to 13 defeat from Harvard freshmen; the swimming team lost at Worcester caademy 2t o 30; the basketball team at Borwn freshmen of 1-2 to 38 1-2. It was the most disastrous day of the year for the academy teams.

ANDOVER COLONIAL

With the greatest cast of stars that ever contributed to the making of one motion picture, "The Hollywood Revue," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's huge musical extravaganza comes Wednesday and Thursday, March 12, and 13 to the Andover colonial theatre. Stars of stage and screen stars of vaudeville, opera and radio, stars of all the wonderful amusement fields of the twentieth century, in one huge parade, with twenty song hits, abundant comedy, tuneful melodies and dialogue that sparkles, to say nothing of the largest dancing chorus of beautiful girls that ever dazzled an audience are features of six-footers, and she sings and tap dances.

John Gibert and Norma Shearer give a version of "Romeo and Juliet."

Cornad Nagel makes his debut as a singer. Bessic Love gives generously of her talents.

Joan Crawford ravishes the eye and sings a crooning melody.

William Haines and Gwen Lee are there with one of the famous Haines "gags" to which Karl Dane and George K. Arthur lend a few deft touches.

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, two famous comediennes, do their stuff.

Charles King of "The Broadway Melody" fame, introduces new songs.

Gus Edwards appears in several numbers to which he contributed songs.

The Philathea class will neet this evening the bard of the contributed songs.

The Albertina Rasch Ballet give some of their eye-filling dance ensembles.

The Brox Sisters and others also take part in this spectacular show.

Lenten Services

Harry Dalton. Refreshments followed the talk.

A "Good Will" project. For five Fridays beginning March 14th Church school pupils will meet immediately after day school in the parish house. The purpose of these meetings will be to prepare for a "Good Will" afternoon to which all the adults of the parish are invited. The boys and girls will work out an exhibit so that others many learn about "Good Will" through "Our World at Work" in China, Japan, Africa, The Philippines, and the Miners in America. The exhibit will show something of what each country does for us, how the people live, and what the church is doing for them. This will be a corporate effort as all organizations of child-hood and youth will take part. The Woman's Guild will share in the work by giving the talks on the church's work in the several fields. A series of Lenten services will be conducted by the Shawsheen Community church beginning March 9. The services are to be held in Balmoral hall and all with the exception of two will be at 7.30 in the evening. Those on April 6 and 13 will be at 10.30 a.m. directly following the Sunday school sessions. Rev. Alfred C. Church of the Free church will be the preacher March 9, and Rev. C. W. Henry will preach at the March 16 service which will be followed by the annual meeting of the church. The final service will be the annual Easter concert April 20 at three o'clock by the Community Sunday school. These services are for all the community and all are most cordially invited to attend. March 9, 7.30 p.m.—Preacher Rev. Alfred C. Church, Free church. March 16, 7.30 p.m.—Preacher Rev. C. W. Henry, Christ church. Followed by annual meeting.

March 23, 7.30 p.m.—Preacher Rev. Newman Matthews, West church. April 7, 10,30 a.m.—Prepether Rev. F. R. Shipman, South church. April 7, 10,30 a.m.—Preacher Rev. F. B. Noss, South church. April 13, 10,30 a.m.—Preacher Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Wilson, Free church. April 20, 3.00 p.m.—Easter service. Easter message, Rev. C. N. Bartlett, Baptist church.
