ANDOVER GUILD PLAY NIGHT

Boys and Girls Give Program of Games, Exercises, Boxing and Music to Illustrate Season's Work Under Miss Davis and Her Assistants

More than two hundred fifty boys and girls took part in Guild play night held last Friday evening in the Town hall under the direction of Miss Margaret Davis, superintendent.

The Boy Scout bugle and drum corps, smart in their new capes and caps of blue and red, opened the program with martial music and drill. This was followed by tumbling stunts by the kindergarten class whose agility on the mat and parallel bars was surprising.

The entire floor of the Town hall was filled by junior and intermediate girls who rhythmically went through their exercises under the direction of Miss Thelma Beck.

The boys Glee club stunt was the dramatic rendering of "Songs of the Sea" in costume, the dramatic personae including sailor lads in white trousers and middie, as well as fierce pirates with swords and top boots.

In the twinkling of an eye the floor was again filled with groups of elementary girls who bounced balls, threw bean bags or skipped the rope (six under one rope) or played some other game for a few minutes, moving on to some other sport as the accompanying music changed.

Four intermediates gave an amusing skit after which the younger boys took the floor for their exercises, the swinging of Indian clubs and apparatus work. This was varied by two contributions by the girls, a group of lullabies and solos by Rita O'Neill.

Boxing bouts between the so-called "paper-weight champions" as well as the senior boys roused great enthusiasm among the onlookers.

The program ended with "Taps" by the Girl Scouts under the direction of Miss Catherine Swett, after which everyone joined in social dancing with music furnished by Ma's Collegians.

The participants went through their stunts with interest and enthusiasm, and the exhibition gave a very good idea to the spectators (who were unfortunately few in number) of the way the young people have spent many of their spare hours during the winter.

Miss Margaret Davis, superintendent of the Guild was assisted by Mrs. Emma G. Carter, Mrs. Frank Crawford, Mrs. Frank Cole, Miss Caroline Abbott, Miss Elizabeth Hession, Miss Hazel Valentine, Miss Catherine Swett.

Natural History Society Holds Spring Bird and Flower Meeting

The regular May meeting of the Andover Natural History society was held Tuesday evening in the Goldsmith library in the Punched building with Miss Florence L. Abbott presiding.

Miss Abbott told of several interesting observations she had made on spring birds. The next speaker was Edwin T. Brewster who surprised his hearers with the statement that New England's mineral products amounted to $55,000,000 a year. They include granite, marble, mica, slate, lime, sand, gravel and even semi-precious stones, copper and silver.

The rarest flower, with perhaps the exception of the yellow lady's slipper, which grows in Andover, the whorled pogonia, was exhibited by Winthrop S. Boutwell. Mr. Boutwell, who is a native of West Andover, spoke of the rich field for botanizing which he had found in his youth in the vicinity of Wood hill, and deplored the devastation wrought by the building of the power lines from the North Tewksbury line to Lawrence. A slash 350 feet wide has been cut through Deer Jump woods and over Wood hill, sacrificing acres of mountain laurel and favorable stations for habentaria and trailing arbutus.

Mrs. Edwin T. Brewster exhibited several specimens of grasses now in bloom.

The next meeting will be held on June 24 when a walk will be cut through Deer Jump woods and over Wood hill, sacrificing acres of mountain laurel and favorable stations for habentaria and trailing arbutus.

THEATRES

METROPOLITAN THEATRE
At the Metropolitan theatre this week one of fiction's greatest villains again thrills the audience in "The New Adventures of Dr. Fu Manchu". Warner Oland again plays the role of this sinister gentleman who brings menace and death to a quiet household and those who witnessed the first Fu Manchu picture will surely want to see this other adventure of this arch-villain, while those who missed the first picture will find this film a story complete in itself and one that will furnish numerous thrills and laughs. The same capable cast supports Mr. Oland - Jean Arthur, Neil Hamilton, O. P. Heggie and William Austin playing the leading roles. On this stage this week is a singularly appropriate show entitled "Lanterns" - an Oriental revue built around the talents of a group of young people who give you a new idea in entertainment. The Chinese Whoopie Revue is a Far-Eastern version of a jazzy musical show, while Pickard's Chinese Revue is to play red-hot music in a surprisingly Broadway manner. Jones and Wilson impersonate two sightseers in the Orient and bring laughs galore to the show. Arthur Geissler leads the Metropolitan Grand Orchestra in "Sweethearts on Parade". Operatic airs will be played on the new organ by Arthur Martel. For the week starting May 29th the attraction on the screen is Clara Bow in "True to the Navy". On the stage is a Public production, "Coney Island".

Andover Man Interested in Highway Safety on Massachusetts Islands

State trooper William A. Andrews carried the message of highway safety to the automobile frontiers of Massachusetts on Wednesday, when he delivered his hints and warnings to the school children of the island township of Gosnold and of the communities on the Island of Martha's Vineyard. This was the first time that most of the children in those places have seen a uniformed member of the State Police Patrol. Touring the State under the direction of the Governor's committee on street and highway safety, officer Andrews has already given practical object lessons in safety to more than 200,000 school children. The assignment to the islands was made in response to the plea of the local school authorities, who pointed out that although automobiles are few in their territory, an understanding of safety principles is part of a child's education which can no longer be neglected. A local branch of the Governor's committee was recently formed in Gosnold at the instance of W. Cameron Forbes, formerly Governor-General of the Philippines, and Cornelius A. Wood. "Heavens," said the young miss, as she inspected Granny's wedding ring, "what heavy, unwieldy things those were fifty years ago." "Yes, dear," said Granny, "but you must remember that in my day they were made to last a lifetime."

A. V. I. S. Plans to Beautify North Main Street
One hundred plants of euonymous vegetans and quarter as many of ampelopsis have recently been planted along the top of the cement retaining wall on the east side of North Main street under the direction of the Andover Village Improvement society.
The plants were supplied by George D. Millet and the work was done by employees of J. P. McCabe, the contractor, whose men constructed the wall. Gravel was removed to the depth of a foot and replaced with loam before the vines were planted. It is hoped that within a short time their tendrils will reach out and cover the ugly gray cement precipice.

Supper was served by Caterer Weigel of Lawrence with the following menu: cold tongue, cold pork, cold ham, chicken salad, mashed potatoes, green peas, sweet pickles and radishes, rolls, coffee, ice cream, cake and cookies. After the supper there was an interesting program.
The address of welcome was given by Chief Templar, Mrs. Gordon Grant. The address of appreciation was given by Miss Paulding as follows: Shawheen lodge was instituted on May 19, 1929, with thirteen members. P. G. C. T. Sutcliffe was the instituting officer. There were visitors present from a number of lodges in the district. In his talk P. G. C. T. Sutcliffe stated that if all members endeavored to get a membership of 35 people by July 19 of this year the grand lodge would present a flag to the organization and on July 20 at the district lodge meeting held in Amesbury, Mrs. Gordon Grant as a delegate brought back the flag and also had the honor of bringing back the banner to Shawheen.
On July 22 a reception for the receiving of the flag was held in the community room with 125 members and friends present. An entertainment was given and remarks made by a number of officers who wished the Shawheen lodge success. The lodge also had the honor of receiving the state flag from General William F. Bartlett Women's Relief corps, 127, of Andover. G. C. T. Addie Johnson and a number of officers and friends were present.
The Shawheen lodge held the banner 20 months until May 2 when it was delivered to the General Fisk lodge of Lowell but it was won back again on August 1 for gain in membership.
It was just one year ago when the organization commenced its successful temperance work and with a hard road to travel success was attained and today there are fifty-six members on the roll.

He said a survey of eighteen Massachusetts cities showed a decrease in arrests in sixteen cities in 1929 compared with 1924.
The entertainment continued with a solo by Mrs. Alfred R. Harris accompanied by Mal Lundgren. Miss Stewart danced the highback fling and a parlor dance, accompanied by Miss Valentine at the piano. A specialty dance by two young ladies was an added feature.
Rev. Alfred C. Church of the Free church, Andover, was the next speaker. Mr. Church touched on conditions when the open saloon prevailed. He said such organizations are needed to stop "liquor traffic". He said that if these societies were needed in the time of the saloon they certainly are needed now when the bootlegger is selling poison that may take a close neighbor. Mr. Church said, "I believe we never will go back to the pre-war conditions and to the condition of the old saloon when we had a saloon on every corner."

Murphy's Arcadians at Roseland-on-the-Merrimack Tonight

One of the most popular dance orchestras ever to visit the Merrimack valley will be heard this evening when Billy Murphy's sensational Arcadians come to Roseland-on-the-Merrimack for a return engagement as a result of an unprecedented popular demand. The Arcadians, who succeeded Mal Hallett on Broadway, New York, last winter, win more friends for themselves wherever they are heard. Roland Russell's Ramblers will occupy the orchestral stage for the week-end dance tomorrow evening.

The Ramblers are making history at Roseland, where they have established a new attendance record on three successive Saturdays. No less than 2217 people heard them last Saturday, thereby shattering all attendance records in the history of this popular ballroom. They will also be heard at Roseland three times next week, on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, when check dancing will prevail.

Mal Hallett, who was given a thunderous ovation on the occasion of his return to Roseland on May 16, when his friends presented him with a huge silver loving cup, will play a return engagement there next Friday evening, May 30. As the occasion will be a holiday, it is freely predicted that Hallett will again establish a new attendance record.

Director O'Brien Reviews Telephone Situation

"I do not see that anything would be gained by another referendum at this time," writes William H. O'Brien, director of Telephone and Telegraph Utilities in a recent letter addressed to Representatives Lane and Ganley.

The full text of the letter is given below: May 16, 1930
Representatives Thomas J. Lane and Arthur F. Ganley, Lawrence, Massachusetts.
My dear Representatives:

The Andover situation is still a very disturbing one. As you know, we have had two referenda, the first one by the Selectmen of the Town of Andover with the cooperation of this Department and the Telephone company. All the literature in that referendum was signed by the Selectmen of Andover who did everything possible to see that everybody got a chance to vote and I have never agreed with those who said subscribers did not know what they were voting on. The Selectmen did everything in their power to make the whole matter clear.

That referendum showed 85 per cent of the total subscribers voting, and of this 85 per cent only 52 per cent voted in favor. The difference between the monthly base rate payments by Andover subscribers of those voting for and against the change was $11.00 in favor.

In spite of this, a movement was started for another referendum and while many of the people back of the movement were sincere, it was very unfortunate that a campaign of slander was started against us by a certain group, to make it appear that we were opposed to the doubling-up of Andover with Lawrence, when, as a matter of fact, we had worked out this form of referendum in Lynn-Saugus and Salem-Beverly-Danvers-Peabody very successfully, these two places, with Andover-Lawrence, being the only places left in the State with the option of local or district service up to 1925.

Chairman Hardy of the Board of Selectmen, in urging another referendum, said he believed the business men of Andover who had voted 96 against to 74 in favor of the change in the first referendum would vote very strongly the other way. While the business subscriber was not the determining factor, he certainly had to be considered in any decision following a referendum.

You will recall that a meeting was arranged at Andover which was attended by a large group and it was assumed they were subscribers. They voted unanimously for another referendum which was arranged to be taken by the Inspectors of this Department. This was carried out very successfully, our Inspectors having a card showing the existing rates and the new rates which would apply if Andover voted to go into Lawrence.

We have had many referenda on various matters during the years I have been here, but nothing quite as extraordinary as the second referendum at Andover which again resulted in 85 per cent of the subscribers voting of which again 52 per cent voted in favor and the monetary difference on base rate monthly payments was $12.00; and this in spite of the fact that the meeting referred to had apparently been unanimous.

In the case of the business men, instead of 96 against and 74 in favor, the vote was 125 against and 65 in favor.

Chairman Hardy of the Board of Selectmen urged that we count as individual subscribers the different departments of the town government, the heads of which were responsible for their overhead expense. We agreed to this and it is rather interesting to note that of the 13 department heads of the town of Andover, 4 voted in favor and 9 against.

It was recognized by all reasonable men and women in Andover that the Commission, in the face of the results of these two referenda, could not arbitrarily require the Company to make the change.

While the slanderers continued their activities, it was very encouraging to receive letters, telephone calls and personal visits from many of the fine, fair-minded people of Andover commending our work and our efforts to solve the problem because after all is said and done, it was entirely up to the subscribers of Andover who voted practically 50-50 on each referendum.

With a desire to further cooperate with you, I went to the meeting at Andover which was recently called by you and did my best to have it understood just what we had done and why we had done it. It was unfortunate that several things of a vulgar nature were said. I think the great bulk of the people present got a better understanding of the whole situation.

I tried to make it clear that what we had done in the shape of referenda was entirely irregular but like many things that we have done and are doing, was an attempt to solve a more or less vexatious problem in a common-sense way, realizing that it was a pretty even affair, aggravated by the slanderous utterances of a certain group.

Please don't misunderstand me on this phase of the matter. I don't consider the slanderers as representative of the splendid citizenship of Andover.

Following the last meeting, as you know, the Lawrence Tribune conducted a poll on this whole matter which, as I understand it, several weeks. It was a very sincere attempt to get an expression of opinion from a substantial percentage of the Andover subscribers. The Tribune is a very high-grade paper with three or four thousand subscribers in Andover and it was rather discouraging to find that with several weeks' opportunity to vote, only about 16 per cent of the total number of subscribers in Andover took the trouble to cut out a vote and mail it to the Tribune office.

Under all the circumstances, I do not see that anything would be gained by another referendum at this time, particularly with the atmosphere of mud and slander that has attended the discussion of the case since the first referendum. Because of this unfortunate situation and the fact that at this season of the year it probably would be difficult to get an expression of opinion from a very large percentage of subscribers, I feel that the matter might very properly be passed along until later in the year, say September, when the decent and right-thinking people of Andover may decide to call a halt on mud-slinging and see if they can't create a more favorable atmosphere with a more pronounced spirit of cooperation.

I again wish to emphasize that all we have done was irregular but we have never quibbled over those things when we felt we could work out something that would be satisfactory.

We appreciate that you both have worked very hard in this matter and we have tried in every way to cooperate.

Sincerely,
(Signed) W. H. O'BRIEN
Director of Telephone and Telegraph Utilities.

The Tercentenary at the Memorial Hall Library

In honor of the Tercentenary the Memorial Hall library has on exhibition its oldest treasures. As one enters the reading room, the two bulletin boards show a map of Andover 1830, with the name of its inhabitant lettered beside each house; views of the town on old postcards depicting a square unfamiliar to the present generation and an interesting broadside relating to the Abbot monument erected in the South church cemetery in 1843.

The exhibition case contains relics of more value. There is a report issued in 1820, a single sheet, showing the expenses of the Town of Andover for the year ending March 3. It contains these items, among others:
Schools $1200 00
Powder for Powder House $24 00
Bounty on Crows $22 90
Services for Selectmen $124 71
Entertainment of Selectmen $79 51
One wishes that an itemized account of the "Entertainment of the Selectmen" had been preserved!

The total expenses of the town in the year 1820 were $4373.21. Ten years later in 1830, the year in which the Rev. Norman drew his map, they totaled $6598.71.

In the same case is an old Bible, printed in Cambridge, England, in 1762 and used by the South church until 1862. At that time it was presented to Mr. Henry Abbot, one of the oldest members. It was later given by Miss Charlotte S. Abbot to the Memorial Hall.

But the most valuable and interesting manuscript in the case is what is supposedly the original tax warrant sent to the town of Andover in 1754 demanding payment of 77 pounds, 11 shillings, or produce amounting to that value. The bill was sent by Harrison Gray, Treasurer of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, in the 28th year of the reign of Our Sovereign Lord, George the Second, of Great Britain, King. This assessment could be paid in produce if shillings were scarce, in "Good Merchantable Hemp, in Good Blowery Iron, in hollow Iron Ware; Indian Corn without the Eye; Pork; Barrel Beef; long Whalebone; Bees-wax; Bayberry Wax, or Try'd Tallow."

The library also has on exhibition a few books printed in Andover with the imprints of Gould and Newman, Warren F. Draper, Mark Newman, Flagg and Wardwell, Gould, Newman and Saxton. There is a very large book containing the manuscript reports of the pupils attending the Punched Card high school during the period between December 1858 and December 1868. Grandfathers and grandmothers may find in its pages their own names, now forgotten, in algebra, history, rhetoric and deportment.

In courtesy to returning visitors, the Memorial hall will be open all day on Memorial Day, May 30th. No books will be issued but members of the staff will be present to act as hostesses.

Boy Scout Rally
 The eager, earnest faces of Boy Scout contestants in the Scout rally on the playstead this week spoke volumes for the worth of the organization.
 Such tests of speed, skill, agility, mental alertness and sportsmanship cannot but be helpful to the boys of the town who make up the various troops. The urge to right-living, to friendliness, thoughtfulness and kindness is before Boy Scouts constantly,—henceons to guide them aright on the road to maturity. The benefits accruing from such organized activity during adolescence is bound to be reflected in the development of the sturdy citizenship so sorely needed in the world today.
 The Boy Scout movement in Andover has been notably successful since its inception. The growing interest in it assumes increasing inspiration to goodness, honesty, industry, self-helpfulness, generosity, reliability and fair-mindedness among the boys of the town, which means much in the making of successful manhood.
 The men of Andover who are devoting so much of their time to guiding and training the Scout members will find their reward in watching the gratifying results of their labors among the boys.

Lawlessness
 Believe it or not, as the saying goes, it is becoming more and more apparent that abhorrence of crime prevails in England whereas almost glorification of it exists in America. The reason for the difference in the national attitude towards lawlessness is clear. England punishes America too often condones. Murder means hanging in England and Canada, and prompt execution following conviction. Few murders escape paying the penalty for their crime under English law; only a small percent are executed in the United States.
 Over-protection of the slayers, due to legal technicalities, sentimentalism, political pull and weak prosecutors paves the way in this country for delays that often defeat the ends of justice.
 Similar conditions prevail all down the line from major crimes to misdemeanors. Thus real fear of the law is dissipated with the natural result that violations of the law increase. Where disregard of the law is general, the effect on the young soon appears, and lawlessness, which would be unlikely to arise if wholesome respect for the law were the prevailing sentiment, develops.
 Too often the police efforts to detect and reduce lawbreaking are hampered by interference by those who exert influence in behalf of the accused. If there is reason for leniency in a given case the police authorities will exercise it without persuasion. When there is no excuse for leniency, the police ought not to be compelled to exercise it because of the importunings of some higher authority.
 The solution of crime waves lies in adequate punishment of all convicted persons without unnecessary delay. Those accused of crime are entitled to a fair trial, but they have no right to expect anything more. Prompt punishments acts as a deterrent, delays foster indifference to consequences and thus stimulate law-breaking.
 The sooner prompt and stern dealing with criminals prevails—within the bounds of humanity, of course—the sooner proper respect for law will spread in the land where it is now so flagrantly disregarded.

Editorial Cinders
 "You will find it less easy to uproot faults, than to choke them by gaining virtues."—John Ruskin.
 With its membership reduced to three veterans of the Civil war it is not surprising that Gen. William P. Bartlett post 99, G. A. R., has decided to disband after Memorial day this year. An honored organization that has figured prominently for many years in Andover's patriotic activities thus will quietly disappear, but a sturdy young group of veterans of another war, Andover post 8, American Legion, will take its place and carry on Bartlett post work as well as its own. The graves of departed veterans, so carefully tended by the ever lessening ranks of the older organization, will receive the same loving attention in the years to come that they received in the past. In offering the privileges of its post to Andover's remnant of Civil war veterans the Legion has shown a commendable spirit which will be appreciated not only by the men affected but by Andover citizens, all of whom are vitally interested in the welfare of those

Harvard Club of Andover to Hold Annual Meeting
 Wednesday, May 28, at 6.45 is the time, and the Andover Country club at Shawshaven village the place, of the annual meeting of the Harvard Club of Andover. John Jackson Walsh of Boston, president of the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary, Inc., one-time candidate for Governor, and, as a boy, a resident of Andover, will be the guest, as will Fordyce T. Blake, '12, of Worcester, vice president of the N. E. Federation of Harvard Clubs. A good dinner, good speaking, and good fellowship ensure a good attendance.

Clean Up Week
 Mrs. Lotta Johnson, Board of Health nurse reminds dilatory householders that this is "clean-up week." Winter ashes, tin cans, and such waste should find their last resting place in the dump.
 Under favorable conditions it will be possible to get a permit for a bonfire at the Central Fire station, providing a means for disposing of other types of rubbish.

Notice to W. R. C.
 All members of the Women's Relief Corp who are going to attend church in Ballardvale are requested to meet in front of the Musgrave building, (ten o'clock Sunday morning). Sale and Supper at Unitarian Church
 The North Parish Unitarian church will hold a sale and a lobster supper Saturday afternoon, June 7; sale from two till 8.30 o'clock, supper at six o'clock.

Y. P. F. Stunt Night
 A successful entertainment and dance was held Wednesday evening in the Christ church parish house. The proceeds will go towards the fund which sends two or three delegates to the church conference in Concord, N. H., next month.
 The "stunt" was in the form of a radio program, Donald Dumont being the announcer over Station Y P F. The first number of the evening was a group of songs by the Girls' Orchestra. This included the "Stein Song", "Should I", "Following You", "Lazy Louisiana Moon". The orchestra was accompanied by Miss Minnie Valentine at the piano.
 A country "bum" taking the place of the doctor in his consulting room and the disasters which resulted, was the next scene. The part of the doctor was ably filled by Fred Winn; the "bum" by Whitney Wells the patients by Thomas Gorrie.
 "Mrs. Figgetti in a Street Car", a monologue by Ella Larkin, was very entertaining. Amy Phillips then gave a military tap dance.
 "Joe" and "Vi", the eternal "squabblers" who always "make up" in the end, were impersonated by William Bliss and Bessie Downs.
 The Girls' Orchestra then gave "My Wild Irish Rose" and "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" with Bessie Downs as soloist.
 After a short intermission during which candy was sold, the scene opened on a class room of the "good old days". The efficient professor, Albert Swenson, had all kinds of lessons and received all sorts of answers from his pupils, James McGrath, Francis Sparks, James Gordon and John Auchterlonie.
 Fred Winn and Whitney Wells, dressed as Turkish women gave a dance which was wonderfully "graceful."
 "Betty at the Baseball Game" was very good by Dorothy Winn.
 The supposedly stupid maid applying for a position at the exclusive home of Bertha Hilton, was really the young lady's best friend who had gone on the stage.
 Just "crazy" motions were the sum and substance of the eccentric dance given next by Amy Phillips.
 The latest news from the Y. P. F. studio was then broadcast and followed by general dancing until midnight. Mal's Collegians furnished the music.

Obituary

J. HOWARD WINSLOW

J. Howard Winslow, well known on the Cape as a resident of Brewster nearly all of his life, having been born at the homestead on the hill-top, passed away at the place of his birth early Tuesday morning, the thirteenth instant, at the age of eighty-five years.

He followed the sea in early life, travelling as far as Calcutta, India. He established a grist mill near his home. For some time he was a manufacturer of ice cream, supplying camp grounds, hotels, etc. and was also engaged in cranberry raising.

More recently he has been known as Deacon Winslow, being deacon and treasurer of Brewster Baptist church for many years. Of sterling character and with faith undisturbed, he has served his Master faithfully, ever loyal to his church and his denomination.

He is survived by two daughters, Mae F. Winslow, Brewster, Mrs. George C. Dumnells, Andover, and one son, Kenelin Winslow, Newtonville, eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the late home, Thursday at 1.30 o'clock, his pastor, Rev. E. D. Matthews, assisted by Rev. A. T. Ringold, officiating. Miss Gladys Parker of Sea Pines school sang "Shall we gather at the river" and "God be with you till we meet again."

The bearers were grandsons of the deceased.

STILMAN D. FIELDS

The funeral of Stilman D. Fields, 24-year-old son of Albert and Elizabeth Rand Fields, who passed away Monday morning at the Robert Brigham hospital, Boston, was held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. Joseph A. Rand on Reading road, Andover. Services were conducted by Rev. Charles W. Henry, rector of the Christ Episcopal church. Burial was in Ridgewood cemetery, North Andover.

Since coming to Andover he had made his home with his aunt, Mrs. Joseph A. Rand. He was formerly employed by the C. W. and his aunt, Mrs. Joseph A. Rand, through his courteous and pleasing personality made many friends.

About six months ago he entered the employ of the Andover Steam Laundry, formerly owned by his uncle, the late Joseph A. Rand, but owing to his serious illness was unable to assume any active part in the management.

He was the grandson of Mrs. Jennie A. Rand of North Andover and Mrs. Mark Fields of Lawrence.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received.

Card of Thanks

The Legion takes this opportunity to thank all who helped to make their annual Poppy Day a success. While the returns were not so large as in the last few years, it was nevertheless better than was expected considering the industrial condition of the town. We are especially thankful to the pastors of Andover who spoke so well about this day, the Sunday before to their congregations, also the school teachers, and the advertisers in the Andover Townsman who so willingly gave us space in their ads.

Did you hear about the Scotchman who took his caviar in capsules so he wouldn't acquire a taste for the stuff?

Dr. G. H. Driver Installed Pastor Rev. Dr. George Hibbert Driver was installed as pastor of Village Congregational church, Dorchester Lower Mills, Thursday evening, May 15, in formal ceremonies at the church. A number of clergymen from other Congregational churches in Greater Boston took part in the service, and the sermon of installation was preached by Rev. Dr. Raymond Calkins of Cambridge. An unusual feature in the service was a hymn, "O Zion, Mount Where Vision Guides," written for the occasion by Dr. Driver himself.

A council of Congregational churches in the Suffolk South Association, was held in the afternoon. At this time, Dr. Driver was "examined and found worthy" to be installed as pastor of Village Congregational church, Dorchester Lower Mills, Thursday evening, May 15, in formal ceremonies at the church.

The call for this ecclesiastical council was issued by Deacon Murray Ruggles, clerk of the church, and a committee including Mrs. Walter A. Cheney, Mrs. Herbert A. Watson, Deacon Albert H. Dunn, Deacon John W. Pussell and Deacon Gregory T. Morrill.

At the installation, a report was made of the afternoon's council and after which Rev. Alfred J. Barnard of Rosindale delivered the invocation. Rev. Norman King of Central church, Dorchester, read the Scripture and the sermon by Rev. Dr. Calkins followed. Rev. Austin Rice of Wakefield offered the prayer of installation.

Rev. George M. Butler of Dedham extended the right hand of fellowship on behalf of Congregational churches. Rev. Frank G. Putter of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Dorchester Lower Mills, attended the good wishes of other churches in that community; Rev. Frederick E. Emrich of Jamaica Plain delivered the charge to the pastor, and Rev. Vaughn Dabney of Second church, Dorchester, charged to the people. The hymn written by Dr. Driver, and the benediction pronounced by him, concluded the ceremony.

Dr. Driver is a native of Lynn, and returns to his home state after distinguished service elsewhere. He was educated in the high school of Wakefield, and received his degree of Bachelor of Arts from Amherst college, the same institution later conferring upon him the degree of Master of Arts. Before attending a theological school, he was principal for two years of Hopkins academy in Haverhill.

Graduated from Yale Divinity school with highest honors, he was awarded the Hooker Fellowship which gave him the opportunity of two years' study abroad, where he attended the American School of Oriental Study and Research, at Jerusalem, and the universities of Marburg and Berlin. His pastorate here included the old First church, Exeter, N. H.; the English Congregational church, Lansford, Penn., at Park Avenue Congregational church, Meadville, Penn., and the first church in Ellsworth, Maine. During the World War, Dr. Driver served as religious work secretary of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A., devoting a year and a half to welfare and religious activities in Camp Mills, L. I., and Camp Devens. Dr. Driver is married, his wife being the daughter of the late Judge Charles L. May of Andover. They have two children, Helen Lucretia and Faith. Dr. Driver is an occasional contributor to theological and general periodicals.

Natural History TEACHER: "Rastus, what animal is most noted for its fur?" RASTUS: "De skunk; de more fur you gits away from him de better it is fur you."

Which First? "Above all," said the mistress to the new maid, "I want obedience and truthfulness." "Yes, madam," replied the girl. "And if anybody calls when you are in, and you say you are out, which shall come first—obedience or truthfulness?" —The Churchman

Not Up-To-Date A traveling salesman found himself in a village hotel dining room when a heavy downpour of rain set in. Addressing the waitress, he remarked: "It looks like the Flood."

"Like what?" the girl inquired. "Like the Flood. You've read of the Flood and how the ark landed on Mount Ararat, haven't you?"

"No, sir, I haven't seen a newspaper for three days," confessed the waitress. — Exchange

Steppe by Steppe A Russian was being led off to execution by a squad of Bolshevik soldiers one rainy morning.

"What brutes you Bolsheviks are," grumbled the doomed one, "to march me through a rain like this."

"How about so?" retorted one of the squad. "We have to march back."

Reasonable Doubt The jury had acquitted the defendant of horse-stealing because of the powerful plea of his lawyer.

"Honor bright, now, Bill," said the lawyer, as the two left the court house, "you did steal that horse, didn't you?" "Well, now look here. I'll be honest with you. I always did think I stole that horse until I heard you make the speech to the jury. Now I'll be doggoned if I ain't got my doubts about it."

The Packard roadster which he was driving when last seen bears a New York license plate, the number beginning with the figures 53.

Early this morning the car was said to be seen in the yard of Samuel Hulme on Brook street where its occupant was startled by Mr. Page the milk man. He backed out of the yard, drove down Brook street across the railroad tracks, through the old Free church road and up Harding street where he is said to have been seen by Martin Doherty.

Although pursued by police and State constabulary, he continues to elude capture.

Who Was the Highway Killer of 1929?

Who was the highway killer of 1929 in Massachusetts? Who was his victim?

The feeling is so widespread that it is always "the other fellow" who is involved in accidents and circumstances to blame, that the governor's committee on street and highway safety, analyzing the detailed reports of all the automobile fatalities in this state last year, evolved two composite characters, as answers to those two questions. The surprising result revealed both unfortunate subjects as creatures of pure carelessness and not of hazardous conditions or adverse luck.

The 1929 highway killer is identified by facts and figures as follows:

He was a physically perfect, sober, alert man, over 25 years old, who had driven an automobile for more than five years. He was driving a passenger car equipped with two-wheel brakes in perfect order, as was also his emergency brake. His lights and other equipment were in good condition. He was driving in broad daylight, between 6 and 7 p. m. on a beautiful clear Sunday afternoon, proceeding straight ahead on a straight, smooth bituminous pavement, the surface of which was absolutely dry. There were neither obstructions on the highway nor to the driver's view. On the other hand, there were no traffic lights and there was no traffic officer on duty. The location was a thickly settled residential district, yet the driver was moving more than 25 miles an hour. He was going too fast for existing conditions and was to blame for the death.

The victim is identified, likewise by the statistics, as follows:

He was a physically perfect, sober, attentive man over 55 years old. He was crossing the street between intersections in the same district through which the "killer" happened to be driving. Aside from the fact that he did not attempt to cross the street at its intersection, he was not otherwise at fault. He died of a fractured skull.

SOCONY LEADERSHIP

Last Year Socony introduced Socony Special plus Ethyl—by every test the finest motor fuel.

And now SOCONY LEADS AGAIN

A wonderful new service to add to the life of your car

AS A RESULT of a year of close cooperation with the leading manufacturers of motor cars, Socony announces a new lubrication service for car owners.

Eleven thousand men have been trained in 53 schools to render this service—a Certified Lubrication Service.

If you take your car today to a Socony Station displaying the special sign shown above, you can know positively that it will be lubricated right at every single point.

The cost will be no more than you have been paying for hit-or-miss lubrication service.

There are about 40 points on your car that require lubrication. The 36 popular makes of automobiles have an average of thirteen models apiece, representing the production of only the past three years.

36 cars × 13 models × 40 lubricating points = about 19,000 lubrication points which the service man must remember—as well as the proper lubricant for each.

Many cars require 7 different lubricants for different parts. No wonder that service men cannot carry all this in their heads. No wonder, when you drive your car away from a station, you often wonder whether some points have been missed.

Working with the manufacturers, Socony engineers have developed special charts showing every lubrication point on every model of every leading make of car, and indicating just which lubricant should be used.

Special tools have been acquired to enable the service men to reach every grease cup, every joint, every single lubrication point.

Finally—in 53 schools conducted by lubrication engineers—11,000 Socony Service men have been trained to lubricate your car not only thoroughly but quickly, to save your time.

Take your car in today and have it made ready for its summer's work. Watch the chart as the service man covers each point. Note how quickly and surely he works. No guesswork, no carelessness, everything sure. That's why we call it Socony Certified Lubrication Service.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

Before making your summer automobile trips, write to Socony Touring Service, 26 Broadway, New York City, for best routes and information on road conditions.

SOCONY Certified LUBRICATION SERVICE

What is it?

A service performed for you by men scientifically trained in schools over a period of 16 weeks, in the expert lubrication of cars.

These men work from special charts—prepared by Socony engineers with the cooperation of the car manufacturers—showing every point to be lubricated and indicating the exact kind of lubricant to use at each point, as recommended by the car manufacturers. They have the proper tools, they use Socony lubricants—best in the world.

What it means to you

Socony Certified Lubrication Service assures proper lubrication for your car.

The use of the chart of your own car assures you that not a single lubrication point has been missed and that the proper lubricant has been used at each point.

Where can you get it?

Socony Certified Lubrication Service is available at Socony Stations displaying the sign above. More stations will be commissioned to render this service as their operators prove they are qualified.

ROGER W. BABSON SAYS ONLY SUCCESSFUL MERGERS ARE THOSE OF PUBLIC BENEFIT

If a Merger Cannot Stand Spotlight of Publicity It Ought Never to Be Started—Big Industrial and Public Service Combines Can Succeed Only as They Draw to Themselves the Highest Calibre of Management

Babson Park, Massachusetts, May 23, 1930. Business men and investors should get the idea out of their heads that all mergers are successful and therefore desirable. As a matter of fact, most of the consolidations of the past fifteen years have been unsuccessful both from a business and investment viewpoint. They have failed because they were not justified on economic grounds. Those that have succeeded were those economically sound. Unquestionably the trend is toward larger units in industry, merchandising, and finance, and this trend will continue. However, only those mergers which are intended to give better service to the public at lower costs can be permanently successful.

If a consolidation can pass the test of public welfare and if the management is high-grade, the chances are 99 out of 100 it will succeed. Hence, to men who are considering employment in a newly merged company and to investors who are considering putting their funds into such a company, I recommend that they first determine what is the real purpose behind the merger. You can tell from the purpose what the results will be.

Motives for Merging

The reasons for consolidations may be roughly divided into two classes—the sound and the unsound. In the first class the men behind the merger see clearly certain definite economies in production costs, in overhead, or in marketing which will enable the combined companies to operate more efficiently and to pass their savings along to the public in the form of lower prices. They see that research can be maintained on a larger scale than any of the single companies could afford. Perhaps they see that the pooling of resources, both material and human, will result in a higher efficiency. Such mergers always attempt to maintain the services of the better men in the various companies, because they know that managerial talent is the most valuable asset that any consolidation can have. At the same time an opportunity is afforded to weed out the deadwood in each of the companies. The reason behind successful mergers is better service to the public and hence greater financial returns.

On the other hand, the unsound reasons for merging are: to unload watered stock on the public; to help weak sisters; for the purpose of changing excessive prices; to monopolize raw material; for the gratification of personal vanity of the management; the belief that mere size signifies success; to cover up inefficiency of management; the vain hope of avoiding necessary research to fit the products to changing markets. All mergers conceived for these reasons—and there have been many of them—have failed or will fail. Last year during the wild speculative mania, it was possible to sell almost any sort of stock at high prices. This led to a number of unscrupulous mergers whose main purpose was to profit from the juggling of stocks. These were mergers for speculation rather than for operation, and the investor who was caught in them is likely now to be disgusted with the whole merger idea.

Another type, while not necessarily unscrupulous, is unsound and ill considered, is a merger to help out some of the weaker companies which cannot stand on their own feet. Frequently it happens that the weaker companies drag down the strong rather than the strong pulling up the weak. Oftentimes business men think they are getting a bargain when they buy the assets of an unsuccessful company at prices far below the apparent book value. They forget that the real value of any company's assets lies in the use to which they can profitably be put. Obsolete equipment is costly at any price! Many consolidations have fallen by the wayside because of the mistaken idea that the merging company was getting a bargain when taking over a weak sister.

Must Take Public into Confidence

Industrial and financial leaders who are promoting huge combinations of the present day must not only make sure that their books actually will benefit the consumers, but they must also take the public into their confidence and show them how they will benefit. The average citizen looks askance at this rapid trend toward gigantic combinations engaged in the production and handling of his necessities of life. He fears monopoly. He questions whether this great power may not be misused to his own disadvantage. Such suspicion is fertile ground for political agitators. Therefore, when putting together an honestly conceived and economically sound merger let the promoters tell the public just what they are doing and why they are doing it. Show what economies are to be made through the principles of mass production, mass distribution and lower costs. There is no need for secrecy. Instead there is great need for the fullest publicity. If a merger cannot stand the spot-light of publicity, then it ought never to be started.

The Employees' Problem

These big industrial and public service combines can succeed only as they draw to themselves the highest calibre of management. Every merger uncovers executive ability in subordinate positions. At the same time, it uncovers executive inefficiency. Some men complain that mergers are throwing them out of work or lessening the importance of the work they are doing. Perhaps at the start this may be true, but after a while individual merit will tell. Those men who are working hard at their jobs, rather than spending their time knocking the new interests,—cooperating rather than obstructing,—will find new and larger opportunities in the bigger organization. This applies where a merger is soundly conceived, honestly executed and operated for service rather than speculative profit. On the other hand, if a man is employed in a company where unsound motives for merging exist, he should get out of that company and tie up with a sound concern with capable management whether merged or unmerged.

Business by the Babsonchart now registers eight per cent below normal compared with ten per cent above normal at this time a year ago.

Punchard 5—Howe High 1

PUNCHARD	ab	r	hb	po	a	e
Punchard High won its sixth game in a row and its second this season over Howe high at Billerica, at the Andover playstead Monday afternoon, 5 to 1.	4	0	1	3	3	0
Howard Walker again excelled at the bat, and repeated his performance of last week at Billerica, when he smashed out a home run in his first time up. Howe had secured a one-run lead in its opening half of the inning, and Walker's hit evened the count in the latter half.	4	0	0	0	4	1
Punchard scored two more runs in the third, sufficient for victory, as later events made certain. Walker's bat aided in sending over the fourth run in the seventh inning, which was followed by the fifth and final run a moment later.	3	0	1	0	0	0
The Punchard pitchers, Raymond Gallant and Lafayette Stickey, had a tendency towards wildness, but Howe secured but two hits off Gallant in three innings, and the same number from Stickey in six.	2	0	0	0	0	0
Phillip Collins twirled the entire contest for the visitors. Both teams accorded their pitchers creditable support throughout the contest, which was fast and cleanly played.	2	0	0	0	0	0
With two out in the first, Gallant fumbled an easy grounder by Stearns, the latter scoring on the next play, a long drive into center by Phillip Collins. Grady went out, Asonian to Pearson. For Punchard, also with two out, Walker hit a stinging drive into center to make the circuit. Wallace fanned.	4	0	1	6	0	1
In the second Howe went out in order. For Punchard, Lowe went to second when Stearns threw wild to first on his single to short. Pearson popped out to Klemka, but Asonian reached when Klemka dropped Collins' throw from third. McTernan and Gallant went out in order.	4	0	1	2	0	0
With one out in the third, Stearns singled to center and stole second. O'Neil walked, but Stearns and Phil Collins went out in order. For Punchard, Davidson beat out a hit to first. Bissett fanned. Davidson stole second, and scored, as Collins pitched wild to Walker on his fourth ball, Walker making third, and scoring on Wallace's sacrifice fly. Lowe flied out to center.	4	0	1	2	0	0
Stickey replaced Gallant in the box for Punchard in the fourth, and retired Howie in order. Pearson, Asonian and McTernan flied out in order on three pitched balls for Punchard.	4	0	1	2	0	0
Klemka doubled to right in the fifth for Howe, and stole third, but the next three fanned in order. With two out, Bissett singled and Walker doubled for Punchard, but Wallace flied out to O'Neil.	4	0	1	2	0	0
Stearns walked in the sixth, Collins popped out to Walker and Pearson fumbled Grady's grounder to first, but with two on, Harry Collins fanned and Shattuck, replacing Paradise, in right, grounded out to Bissett. With one out, Pearson singled to left for Punchard, Asonian flied out to Chambers. McTernan singled to right, and was caught at second attempting to stretch it.	4	0	1	2	0	0
With one out in the seventh, Staskivicz singled to right, stole second, but was caught attempting to steal third. Chambers walked, stole second and gained third on a balk by Stickey, but O'Neil fouled out to Wallace. For Punchard, Stickey singled to left. Davidson beat out a bunt to first. Bissett fouled out to Grady. Walker doubled to left scoring Stickey, and he himself scored on Wallace's foul pop to Pearson. Lowe popped out to Stearns.	4	0	1	2	0	0
In the eighth, Stearns walked, was sacrificed to second by Phillip Collins but was caught off the bag, Stickey to Walker. Grady walked, but Harry Collins grounded out to Asonian. For Punchard, Pearson singled to short, but was forced at second on Asonian's grounder to short. O'Donnell, batting for McTernan, singled to third. Asonian was forced at third on Stickey's roller to Harry Collins, and Stickey was forced at second on Davidson's grounder to Stearns.	4	0	1	2	0	0
Shattuck reached on Stickey's fumble of his grounder in the ninth, stole second but was caught in an attempt to steal home after Klemka had grounded out to second. Staskivicz flied out to Davidson.	4	0	1	2	0	0

Accomplishments of the Board of Public Works for March and April

A portion of the report of Charles T. Gillard, superintendent, given at a meeting of the Board of Public Works held on April 3 was as follows:

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

A section of Woburn street is now being covered with gravel and rolled preparatory to treating with tar. When this section is completed the connecting link to Wilmington will be a hard-surfaced road where formerly it was very difficult to travel.

A section of Ballardvale road near a large culvert was so narrow that it was dangerous for automobile traffic. The section of the road has been filled with gravel which makes it much safer.

Street signs have been erected where requested and the old street signs in West Andover are being replaced with new signs. Every catch basin has been given a thorough cleaning this past month.

WATER DEPARTMENT

The cellar of the water works shop was cemented and will be used as a store room for heavy castings.

The eight-inch water main pipe has been installed across the Main street railroad bridge.

The report of the Superintendent for the month of April was on May 5:

WATER DEPARTMENT

The building located near the high service reservoir on Prospect hill containing the telemeter instrument has been repaired.

In many places on the shores of Haggitt's pond where the deciduous trees were removed this past winter, 1600 white spruce trees have been planted.

In the way of the new road at Andover square the main water gate boxes have been repacked and the water services have been renewed. This should insure unimpaired service and preclude the necessity of disturbing the new road in the immediate future.

The Boston road water main installation was started April 8th. It has been necessary to remove considerable ledge and incidentally take care of drain water. During the progress of this work it was necessary to remove a section of ledge 6 feet deep running a distance of 150 feet. This required considerable blasting and the drilling of the holes was accomplished by using an air compressor. This installation is now over 75 per cent complete.

In the way of the new sidewalks on North Main street, all water gates have been brought to grade.

The coal shed adjoining the pumping station at Haggitt's pond was in very poor condition and the building has been braced where it showed signs of weakening.

A new Red truck equipped with pipe carriers has been purchased for use in the Water Department.

A very serious leak occurred the evening of April 12th in a lead house connection on Carver street and this was promptly repaired.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

During the early part of the month, sand for blanketing streets was screened at the sand pit at the Shawsheen school, thus insuring a generous supply when it is needed.

The snow fences have been taken down, tagged and stored away.

On April 3rd the steam roller started to work on Woburn street where a gravel road has been constructed. After the completion of the work on Woburn street the roller scarified and rolled a section of Danabrook road, Lovejoy road, Bannister road and Argilla road. The scraping of the country roads was started April 3rd and about 50 per cent of this work has been accomplished.

The benches at Shawsheen square have been given a coat of paint which greatly improved their appearance.

Due to frost action, four of the cement slabs on Haverhill street were raised which caused them to break. These have been repaired.

Abbot street in the vicinity of the cemetery was scarified, rolled and given a 45 per cent dust layer.

The shoulders of a section of Porter road and Wolcott avenue were filled with gravel, thus insuring a well-graded road. During the past month the following streets were blanketed with asphalt and tar: a section of Andover street, Tor street, a section of Phillips street, Ballardvale road, Clark road, a section of Woburn street, and a section of Porter road.

A section of road along the side of the Town Farm was widened so that two cars can pass abreast.

The drain lines on School street, Pearson street and Avon street, have been installed preparatory to building permanent roads.

Old highway fences on Jenkins road have been repaired and a few sections of new fence have been built as a safeguard for automobile travel.

A new Ford truck was purchased for the highway department.

PARK DEPARTMENT

The benches in the Park have been reconditioned and painted, and this helps to beautify its general appearance.

A section of the Park near where the new sidewalk was built was covered with rich loam and well seeded and rolled.

The rock pile on the south side of Whittier street (extended) is being improved by using appropriate shrubbery, and this will be transformed into an attractive spot.

Andover Juniors 8—Fessenden 4

Last Saturday afternoon a baseball team made up of Andover Juniors journeyed to West Newton and defeated the Fessenden School Middlets in a very interesting game, 8 to 4.

John Endicott was on the slab for the Andover Juniors and held the Fessenden team to four hits while he sent 12 down via the strike out route in the six innings he worked on the mound. Frederick Stott, south paw, twirled the seventh inning and allowed only one run to cross the plate.

The Juniors opened the game by scoring three runs in the opening frame with the Middlets tallying two in the last half of the inning. In the second inning the Juniors scored another run making the score 4 to 2. The fourth and fifth innings the Juniors collected four more runs while the Middlets got one in the fifth and one in the seventh.

Oswald Tower featured in the field for the Juniors making two spectacular catches. The hitting of the Juniors was outstanding.

Score by innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7
Andover Juniors 1 2 3 4 5 6 8
Fessenden Middlets 2 0 0 1 0 1 4

Punchard 8—Rockport 3

Punchard high won its seventh consecutive game of the season at the Andover playstead Wednesday afternoon when they defeated the Rockport high team, 8 to 3. Until the eighth frame when Punchard scored three additional runs to the five already maintained, the game proved interesting.

The home team started off with three in the opening frame and from then on until the eighth had plenty of trouble with Cleaves, the opposing pitcher. Rockport scored twice in the fourth and only a fast double killing, Asonian to Walker to Pearson prevented further trouble from the invaders.

Tommy Low worked for the suburban club and again held the opposition at bay. He allowed but six hits, four of which came in the fourth and three of them in succession. Captain Howard Walker of the home team gave a brilliant display at shortstop. He accepted seven chances, many of which were very difficult, and also figured in a double killing. He was easily the outstanding player on the field.

Reed opened for Rockport with a hit to right but was left as the next three men went down in order. In Punchard's half, Davidson singled, Gouck was passed and Walker singled, scoring Davidson. The next two men went out. Gouck scored when Holgerson caught Pearson's foul fly. Low singled, scoring Walker. Bissett singled but Asonian flied out to Pearson.

In the second of the first two men went out. Humlin reached on Bissett's error and Johnson fanned. With one out in the latter half, Davidson was passed and left as the next two men went out.

Rockport was retired in order in the third. With one out in the latter half, Pearson singled and was forced at second. Bissett died at first.

In the fourth, Lamb, Perk and Holgerson singled in order. Cleaves fanned. Humlin singled, scoring two mates. Johnson hit into a double play. With one out, McTernan was hit and stole. Davidson flied out. Gouck singled, scoring Davidson. Walker fanned.

Rockport was retired in order in the fifth. Wallace opened the latter half with a single, stole second. The next two men went out. Bissett fanned, but Holgerson missed the last strike but ran down Wallace at the plate.

In the sixth, Rockport went out in order. One was out in the second half when McTernan reached on an error but was thrown out at second. Davidson singled and stole. Gouck died at first.

Again the visiting team went out in order in the seventh. One was out when Wallace singled and reached second on Cleaves' error. Pearson flied out. Low singled, scoring Wallace. Bissett was passed and Asonian flied out.

With one away in the eighth, Reed was hit, stole second, went to third on an infield hit and scored on Pearson's wild throw to third. McTernan singled in the eighth and reached second on Powers' error. Davidson fanned. Gouck singled. Walker doubled, scoring McTernan. Both Gouck and Walker scored on a wild pitch. Wallace died at first. Low reached on Reed's error. Bissett flied out.

Two were out in Rockport's half of the ninth when Johnson was passed and left and Powers flied to Low. The summary:

New York Has Largest of World's Carillons

The most famous carillon in the world is the St. Rombold's carillon of 45 bells at Malines, in Belgium. The belfry at Bruges has 47 bells, a like number found from Antwerp's cathedral spire. In the belfry at Mons are 44 bells and from the belfry at Ghent 52 bells still ring even as they did when the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain was signed on Christmas eve, 1814. At Amsterdam, the Netherlands, and also at Middleburg, Delft, Utrecht, The Hague, Groningen and at Arnhem, famous carillons are found. Patriotic Americans have placed upon the Louvain (Belgium) library a carillon of 48 bells. In Canada there are five modern carillons, including Simcoe of 23 bells, Guelph of 23 bells, Toronto university of 23 bells, Toronto Metropolitan church of 23 bells and Ottawa of 53 bells, this last carillon being placed in the tower of the Parliament house. In the United States there are approximately 30 carillons. The most important of these are at New York, a carillon of 63 bells, the largest carillon in the world, the gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in memory of his mother; at Cohasset, 51 bells; at Mountain Lake, Fla., 60 bells; Chicago, 43 bells; Germantown, Pa., 48 bells; Cranbrook, Mich., 45 bells; Gloucester, Mass., 31 bells; Birmingham, Ala., 25 bells; Detroit, Mich., 28 bells; Princeton university, 35 bells; Andover, Mass., 37 bells; Mercesburg, Pa., 43 bells; Morristown, N. J., 35 bells; Albany, N. Y., 60 bells; Norwood, Mass., 50 bells; Plainfield, N. J., 23 bells; Cincinnati, Ohio, 23 bells; Springfield, Mass., 47 bells; Indianapolis, Ind., 60 bells, and Rochester, Minn., the Mayo clinic, 23 bells.

"Radical," Term Applied to Advanced Liberals

At the mention of the "radical" there is immediately conjured up in the mind thoughts of Communists, Bolsheviks or some other revolutionary group whose ideas run counter to those of law-abiding citizens.

That radicalism, however, is not a modern exerescence is known to all who have studied the movement.

The original radicals, in the word's present political sense, constituted an English party, active early in the Nineteenth century.

These radicals were really included in the Liberal political group of the day, the radicals being those members with more advanced ideas.

Henry Hunt and others who were in favor of radical reforms enjoyed the distinction or obloquy of being the first to be termed "radicals," the name being applied to them in 1818.—Kansas City Star.

Punchard 8—Rockport 3

Punchard high won its seventh consecutive game of the season at the Andover playstead Wednesday afternoon when they defeated the Rockport high team, 8 to 3. Until the eighth frame when Punchard scored three additional runs to the five already maintained, the game proved interesting.

The home team started off with three in the opening frame and from then on until the eighth had plenty of trouble with Cleaves, the opposing pitcher. Rockport scored twice in the fourth and only a fast double killing, Asonian to Walker to Pearson prevented further trouble from the invaders.

Tommy Low worked for the suburban club and again held the opposition at bay. He allowed but six hits, four of which came in the fourth and three of them in succession. Captain Howard Walker of the home team gave a brilliant display at shortstop. He accepted seven chances, many of which were very difficult, and also figured in a double killing. He was easily the outstanding player on the field.

Reed opened for Rockport with a hit to right but was left as the next three men went down in order. In Punchard's half, Davidson singled, Gouck was passed and Walker singled, scoring Davidson. The next two men went out. Gouck scored when Holgerson caught Pearson's foul fly. Low singled, scoring Walker. Bissett singled but Asonian flied out to Pearson.

In the second of the first two men went out. Humlin reached on Bissett's error and Johnson fanned. With one out in the latter half, Davidson was passed and left as the next two men went out.

Rockport was retired in order in the third. With one out in the latter half, Pearson singled and was forced at second. Bissett died at first.

In the fourth, Lamb, Perk and Holgerson singled in order. Cleaves fanned. Humlin singled, scoring two mates. Johnson hit into a double play. With one out, McTernan was hit and stole. Davidson flied out. Gouck singled, scoring Davidson. Walker fanned.

Rockport was retired in order in the fifth. Wallace opened the latter half with a single, stole second. The next two men went out. Bissett fanned, but Holgerson missed the last strike but ran down Wallace at the plate.

In the sixth, Rockport went out in order. One was out in the second half when McTernan reached on an error but was thrown out at second. Davidson singled and stole. Gouck died at first.

Again the visiting team went out in order in the seventh. One was out when Wallace singled and reached second on Cleaves' error. Pearson flied out. Low singled, scoring Wallace. Bissett was passed and Asonian flied out.

With one away in the eighth, Reed was hit, stole second, went to third on an infield hit and scored on Pearson's wild throw to third. McTernan singled in the eighth and reached second on Powers' error. Davidson fanned. Gouck singled. Walker doubled, scoring McTernan. Both Gouck and Walker scored on a wild pitch. Wallace died at first. Low reached on Reed's error. Bissett flied out.

Two were out in Rockport's half of the ninth when Johnson was passed and left and Powers flied to Low. The summary:

Baby Carriages First Used by Royal Families

Baby carriages did not make their appearance until the middle of the Nineteenth century, when, according to a historical sketch published by a carriage company, a man appeared on a street in New York and attracted a good deal of attention by pushing a baby carriage which he had designed and made. That man was Charles Burton, an lithographic artist who had come from England, and who returned to his home country with his baby carriage as soon as he discovered that he had hit upon a popular idea.

He made some more carriages in the parlor of a house near the Kensington palace and almost immediately received orders from nobility and royalty, including Queen Victoria, who bought three, Queen Isabella of Spain, who bought one, for her son, later Alphonso XII, and others. The royal houses quickly learned of the convenience of the baby carriage, and it reached the homes of the poor.—Detroit News.

Stowe 7B Stands in First Place

Class 7B won a league game yesterday afternoon when they defeated 7A-1 by a 13 to 2 score.

A heavy hitting of team 7B was in large way responsible for their victory. Frederick Stott pitching for 7A-1 pitched good ball but was given poor support by his teammates.

Clifford Walker, younger brother of Howard, Punchard high's captain made four hits out of four times at bat for 7B. As a result of the game 7B now stands in first place with two wins and no losses.
