TOWN CLERK IS APPOINTED

PHILLIPS INN OPENS

Beautiful New Hotel Welcomes Throng of Visitors at Opening of School—Mural Paintings by Sindona

It is a far cry from the "stone shell of a building" with its wooden addition, used from 1893 to 1929 by the Trustees of Phillips academy as a hotel to the palatial new fire proof Georgian colonial building of brick and stone built on the old Stowe house site on Chapel avenue which was opened under the old name of the Phillips Inn the first of this week.

The setting under the old elms with the view over Rabbit's pond in the foreground to Lawrence and the distant mountains beyond is one of great beauty and with the completion of the landscaping of the grounds will make it a harmonious part of the campus.

The pillared portico gives a feeling of hospitality confirmed by the spacious lounge which occupies the entire ground floor of the main building. A fireplace with a Peele portrait of George Washington in the panel above is directly opposite the entrance door. The floor of wide boards of quartered oak is the only wooden floor in the entire building all the others being of cement. Oriental rug, old maple tables and deep wing chairs and sofas give an atmosphere of comfort. The clerk's office is at the right and a writing room furnished in amethyst and blue is at the left of the corridor leading to the east wing. A handsome secretary lends distinction to the latter room.

The beautiful and dignified parlor is on the ground floor of the east wing. Wainscoting and a dented cornice might look to the uninitiated like the work of Samuel McIntire but are in reality made of plaster conforming with the fireproof construction of the building.

The restful gray wall paper was especially imported from Alsace-Lorraine and is a satisfactory background for the old steel engravings. Over the fireplace hangs a portrait of Martha Washington also by Peele. An interesting touch on the mantel is a pair of green glass vases with ivy repeating the green of overhangings and carpet.

Much of the furniture is from the Mabel Brady Garvan collection of the Institute of American Arts and Crafts at Yale university and other pieces are Sloan's copies of interesting early American pieces. A Hepplewhite card table is at either end of the room over one of which hangs a reproduction of a

The period of sixty days as set forth in the act has no particular significance other than to make clear that the temporary appointment could be made and business carried on, at the same time making it possible for the citizens to elect a lawful successor in case they chose to do so.

As I understand it, there is nothing to prevent the re-appointment of a person unless the vacancy is in the meantime filled by a regular election. Many towns under the old law had assumed the right to appoint a temporary town treasurer to act during the absence of the regularly elected town treasurer when he was on vacation, and an attempt was made to have legislation which would authorize the appointing of a deputy town treasurer. This, the Legislature re-

Mr. Frank H. Hardy
Chairman, Board of Selectmen

Dear Sir:

Confirming our conversation relative to Chapter 172, Acts of 1930, an act providing for the appointment of certain municipal officers in certain cases, I would state that under the old law there appears to be grave doubt as to what rights officers have to appoint officers pro tem. In fact, in applying this section regarding town clerks we found that an appointment made under Section 14, Chapter 41, General Laws, would not be the appointment of a town clerk, but merely of a clerk. It was also found that the special act which was passed which allowed the appointment of officials to act during the incapacity of other officials was not sufficiently broad to allow them to act in cases of vacancies. For example: In the city of Salem, the tax collector died, and no one could legally collect taxes until after an actual appointment had been made by the Mayor and confirmed by the Council. Other similar cases have arisen, and probably work has been carried on in the past without proper authority, and hence the passage of Chapter 172 of this year.

As I understand it, there is nothing to prevent the re-appointment of a person unless the vacancy is in the meantime filled by a regular election. Many towns under the old law had assumed the right to appoint a temporary town treasurer to act during the absence of the regularly elected town treasurer when he was on vacation, and an attempt was made to have legislation which would authorize the appointing of a deputy town treasurer. METROPOLITAN THEATRE
George Arliss, considered by the greatest character actor of the day, comes to the Metropolitan Theatre for the week beginning Thursday, September 18, in his latest vehicle, "Old English". With the memories of "Disraeli" and "The Green Goddess" fresh in mind, it is expected that the week will be a record breaking one in point of attendance for Arliss is a great favorite here as elsewhere. "Old English" is a story with an English background as the title suggests. You see Arliss as Sylvanus Heythorn, shipbuilder and operator, whose business fortunes in the winter of his life are gaining steady momentum down hill. His creditors are pressing him. Yet despite his age—he fights. In the cast with Arliss are Leon Janney, the famed boy actor, Doris Lloyd, and others of equal fame.

On the stage will be presented a Boris Petroff revue, "Jewels" with Ross and Edwards, Roma Brothers, Olga Mosely, Jerry Coe, Lillian Shade and the Foster Girls.

The Metropolitan Grand orchestra under the direction of Arthur Geisler presents "Moments with Friml" featuring Allan Rogers, master of ceremonies.

Dancing continues nightly in the Grand Lounge of the "Met".

"Three Faces East" with Eric Von Stronheim and Constance Bennett is featured at the Metropolitan beginning September 25. Charles "Buddy" Rogers comes October 2 for a personal appearance at the "Met".

MAJESTIC THEATRE
Laughter continues to hold sway at the Majestic theatre where John Drinkwater's brisk comedy, "Bird in Hand" will enter upon its fourth week Monday evening. Mr. Drinkwater has fashioned a particularly deft, witty and wise comedy from the conflict between generations, of the manners of current youth set against the adherence of elders to things as they used to be.

The title of the play is derived from the name of a quaint inn in rural Gloucestershire, and it is in the "Bird in Hand" hostility that the entire action transpires. The complications of the comedy emerge through the strenuous objections of the class-conscious, proud old inn-keeper against the affection his pretty daughter entertains for the son of a nobleman. Throughout there are scenes that often become hilarious in their comedy aspects, yet the piece is noteworthy besides for its keenly drawn and thoroughly human characterizations.

"Bird in Hand" has enjoyed one of the most successful careers of any modern comedy. It was first presented more than three years at the Birmingham Repertory company, of which Mr. Drinkwater was one of the founders. Then it was taken to the Royalty Theatre, London, where it ran for more than a year; it was during that time that Lee Shubert saw the piece, and contracted for its appearance with the original cast in this country. Now "Bird in Hand" is providing most genial entertainment to Bostonians following a run of over 500 consecutive performances in New York.

The fine cast in "Bird in Hand" comprises Walter Edwin, Daphne Warren Wilson, Eliot Makeham, Olga Slade, Frank Petley, John Warburton, Ronald Dare and Arthur Ridley. The expert acting of these artists adds materially to the effectiveness of Drinkwater's original and splendid comedy.

A Handicap
A teacher was showing his pupils that the letters "ous" at the end of a word often meant "full of," such as furious, full of fury, and malicious, full of malice.

He asked for a sentence illustrating the point he wished to make clear, and received this effort:
"Johnny couldn't run because he was so pious."

As Sarcastic as a Traffic Cop
A fellow came along the other day, rolled his fliwver to the filling fountain and asked for a gallon. The uniformed gas tanker looked disgusted.

"Must be you are weaning it," he remarked.—Holyoke Transcript.

To Hold Colonial Costume Ball in Boston Garden
Plans are rapidly nearing completion for one of the greatest social events ever held in the history of the city, the Colonial Costume Tercentenary Ball which will take place Friday evening, October 17, at the Boston Garden.

The ball will be the concluding feature of the tercentenary observance in Boston and the proceeds of the affair will be donated to worthy local charities. The ball has the hearty approval of Mayor Curley and he is honorary chairman of the event.

Noted social leaders of Greater Boston are members of the committee conducting the ball and they intend to make this affair the outstanding event of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. It is expected that the Boston Garden will be thronged and a crowd of 20,000 persons is anticipated.

The project was suggested by Russell Codman, Jr., and when he obtained the approval of Mayor Curley and the co-operation of the City he immediately set to work to stage the most magnificent and unique spectacle that Boston has ever witnessed.

Probably the most spectacular feature of the evening will be the colorful grand march, participated in by hundreds of society folk in Colonial dress.

Boxes will be sold for the ball and anyone wishing to observe the grand march may do so from their boxes if they so desire. Occupants of these boxes will also be allowed the privilege of dancing, of course, as will anyone attending the affair.

Music will be furnished by a noted band and orchestra, the name of which will be announced later. Prizes will be awarded for various types of Colonial dress worn by entrants in the grand march. The prizes will consist of valuable Colonial antiques and silver.

Another feature of the ball will be the attendance of several famous motion picture actors and actresses. Some of these will be brought on from New York and other cities while others are expected to be in Boston at the time the affair is held.

Famous dancers who have entertained society and royalty on many occasions will also form part of the entertainment. Still another feature will be a beauty parade for which a prize will also be awarded. Beauties from far and wide are expected to participate and the committee declares that the greatest display of pulchritude ever witnessed in Boston will be present.

Mayors of Massachusetts cities and selectmen, Congressmen, societies and clubs throughout the state will be asked to send representatives to the ball. A meeting will be held of Greater Boston merchants in the near future when plans for co-operation will be discussed.

It was originally intended to hold the event during the week of October 5th, but inasmuch as the American Legion convention will take place here at that time, it was decided to hold the ball later. The ball will really be the climax of Boston's tercentenary celebration and the committee feels that because of its worthy purpose it will be highly successful.

Costumes from the time of Governor Winthrop and the Puritans down to the days of the Revolution and later periods will be on display at the ball, the committee is assured.

The committee in charge of the affair, headed by Mayor Curley as honorary chairman, is as follows:

Chairman, Russell Codman, Jr., treasurer, Gordon Abbott of the Old Trust Colony company; Newell Bent, Russell Burrage, Frederick C. Church, Jr., Julian Codman, Amory Coolidge, Carl P. Dennett, George Peabody Gardner, Jr., Huntington R. Hardwick, Edward A. McLaughlin, Jr., Thomas A. Mullen, Richard F. Paul, John T. A Remedy for Poison Ivy Rash

Of all the remedies that are recommended for the suffering caused by poison ivy there is one which is really efficacious and which deserves wider advertising. That is a five per cent solution of potassium permanganate. This remedy is recommended by Dr. James F. Couch, of the United States Department of Agriculture, an expert on poisonous plants.

Any druggist can mix it in a few minutes and the cost is little.

Bathe the affected skin freely with the solution, swabbing it on with a soft cloth or bit of cotton and the poison will be oxidized and destroyed in a few hours. On very tender skins the solution may be diluted one half.

This treatment leaves a brown stain which can be removed with soap and water. As this means is rather slow, a one per cent solution of oxalic acid may be preferred since it works immediately. If the skin is broken and oozes, raw the oxalic acid will produce a stinging sensation. In such cases the slower, less painful soap and water method may be employed.

Persons who are obliged to work among poison ivy and poison sumac may prevent infection by washing exposed parts with a fifty-fifty mixture of water and glycerin to which five per cent of ferric chloride has been added. Allow it to dry on the skin.

Anyone desiring to destroy poison ivy by spraying, consult the County Agricultural Agent, Francis C. Smith, at the Essex County Agricultural school, Hathorne, Mass.

The Scotsman approached the plot at Benedict Field and was bargaining as to the charge for a ride or Pittsfield. Finally they agreed and the canny Scot climbed into the plane. Having gone up about a thousand feet the pilot turned the plane for the return trip to the field. He noticed the Scotsman waving his arms wildly and evidently shouting. The pilot wrote a note to the Scotsman which read:

"Write what you want to say as I can't hear you on account of the motor." The reply came back, "It'll make any difference in the price you can turn off the fan, it's plenty cool up here."—Berkshire Eagle.

Fred A. Swanson is sitting as a juror at the session of Superior Civil court which is being held in Lawrence.

Blanchard Frye, son of Chief Frye, has returned from Kingston, N. H., where he has been spending a week with relatives.

Roy W. Lindsay returned to Andover Monday from Portland, Maine, where he has been spending the summer playing in an orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Whitcomb returned from their honeymoon last Friday evening and are now living on Elm street. Friends of the newly married couple put some hours during the night and when Mr. Whitcomb opened the front door in the morning he was confronted with a fine array of garden produce with cards bearing appropriate remarks.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron E. Gutterman have gone to Kearsarge, N. H., for a vacation of several days.

Howard W. Bell has returned to Andover from Bethlehem, N. H., where he has been spending a portion of the summer.

Some changes have been made in the Town clerk's office in the Town hall allowing much more room for the clerk and selectmen.

The Helping Hand society of the Free church was very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Alexander Dear at her home in Scotland district yesterday afternoon.

The Balladeale employees of the street department who went out on strike last week returned to work on Tuesday morning but the local men are still out. In all probability the men will not be employed by Superintendent Lovejoy again as he is not at all pleased with the way the men acted in the matter. They struck at a time when they supposed that he would need them the most in repairing Main street, but he was fortunate in securing enough men to finish the job.

Christ church choir baseball team defeated the Roger Wolcotts of North Andover last Saturday afternoon. The game was interesting and very close, being a pitcher's battle between Jewett and Woodhouse, the former having a trifle the better of it. The game was undecided up to the last inning the score being 3 to 3. The following was the line-up of the local boys: William Jewett, p.; Frederick Eastwood, c.; George Collins, 1b.; Edward Lawson, 2b.; David Warden, s.s.; William McCreadie, 3b.; William Sellars, l.f.; Everett Collins, c.f.; Philip Cheever, r.f.

Miss Gertrude Bentley was injured while riding home from work at the Tye Rubber factory Monday evening on her bicycle. She lost control of the machine on North Main street hill and was thrown off. Dr. Torrey was summoned and dressed her injuries. She was taken to her home in a carriage. By Miss Bentley's endeavoring to turn out for a woman who was crossing the street her forehead was struck a stone. She was severely shaken up by her fall and her face and hands were quite badly cut. For several minutes she was unconscious. No bones were broken and she is at present resting quite comfortably.

The services at the South church Sunday will have especial interest in the fact that a son of Andover, Rev. Arthur G. Cummings, will occupy the pulpit.

An important business transfer was made this week whereby the plumbing business and stock owned by E. C. Pike and recently purchased by E. Rogers and J. H. Chapman passed into the hands of two well-known young men John S. Buchan and Joseph W. McNally who have already taken charge. The firm will be known as Buchan & McNally. Both young men have had considerable experience in the plumbing business. Mr. Buchan having sixteen years, the last ten of which were with William Forbes & Sons, Lawrence, and Mr. McNally has been with E. C. Pike for fifteen years. Both started in the business at the bottom and are considered thorough practical workmen. All plans for the future of the business have not been perfected as the senior member of the firm has been confined to his home in West Parish, having recently undergone an operation for appendicitis. He is married and has one child. Mr. McNally is unmarried and lives with his mother and sister on High street.

The Theological seminary will begin its ninety-eighth year with the opening assembly in Bartlett chapel at 3 o'clock on Wednesday, September 20. The faculty are gathering from their various summer outings in good health. William Walker Rockwell goes to Union Theological seminary as assistant professor of Church

Weather Made to Order for the Home

The recent terrific heat wave in the United States has focused attention on the necessity for providing means of maintaining lower temperature in the home as well as in industrial buildings to prevent unnecessary fatigues.

Already many theatres, factories, and public buildings, including the White House office building, have been fitted with cooling devices which regulate the humidity and temperature.

For several years the gas industry of the United States has been working on small units which can be installed in homes and will control temperature and humidity within a narrow range, with the expectation that in time it will be possible to install such apparatus which will maintain a uniform temperature throughout the year, and at the same time control the humidity and circulation so as to provide healthful as well as comfortable conditions.

Already there are a number of heating systems on the market which provide for purities, heating it by means of a gas flame, humidifying it by passing it over containers holding water and positively distributing it throughout the house by means of a blower. Because of the humidity in the air of this home-made weather, a considerably lower temperature (with less consumption of fuel) can be endured in the home without discomfort. This system is particularly unaffected by wind conditions which are apt to cause unsatisfactory results in homes which are heated by warm air systems depending upon gravity alone for distribution and circulation. By shutting off the gas from those systems in the summer time, it is possible to produce comfortable temperature conditions within the house many degrees below the outside temperature on extremely hot days. Experiments now under way combining the principles of gas heating with gas refrigeration are successful, it will not be many years before it will be possible to insure the maintenance of uniform healthful air conditions within the home throughout the whole twelve months at any desired temperature.

history. The outlook for attendance indicates no greater and possibly somewhat fewer members than last year, in the regular courses, although the correspondence, and the application for privileges of a special sort have been very heavy.

Phillips academy will open for its one hundred and twenty-seventh year next Wednesday morning. From present indications it looks as there will be a larger number of new scholars this year than there has been for the past few years. It is expected that in the enrollment there will be the son of Governor Higgins of New York and the son of Chief Engineer Stevens of the Panama canal. There will also be three Cubans and two Chinese. There have been no great changes or erections of buildings at the academy during the summer the only alterations being on the Wood's house on Bartlett street. The house has been made over into a neat and commodious cottage with all modern conveniences and up-to-date plumbing. Mr. and Mrs. Sheffy will occupy a portion of the house and have charge.

The Lawrence Canoe club regatta held Saturday on the Merrimack river in Lawrence was one of the most successful in the history of the club. The racing event in which principal interest centered was the single double blade for the Lawrence Canoe club trophy. This race is open to any amateur canoeist and to become the property of the winner must be won three successive seasons. Alexander Ritchie of this town had won the race two seasons and his many friends hoped that he would be able to secure a third win and lift the cup, a feat which no one has been able to accomplish since the cup was offered in 1894.

Mr. Ritchie lost this year, a new-comer in local canoe racing circles, Burchard E. Horne, winning the race handily. Ritchie was a member of the following crews which won first prizes: cub four, tandem single blades and war canoe.

Extensive alterations and repairs are being made by Postmaster Arthur Bliss in the local post office. The registered letter and money order departments have been changed from the north side of the office to the south where they were located in the former building. The north door of the building has been closed up and this space is to be used by the carriers. The drop box has been placed near the south door entrance so as to avoid a crush when patrons call for the mail at the carriers' window. The work is being done by Hasty & Cole.

Judge Poor has sold his real estate, No. 78 Main street, long occupied by him as a residence, to Ernest W. Pitman, the well-known contractor. Mr. Pitman will occupy his new home some time in October and Judge Poor and family plan to spend the winter in Boston.

At a meeting of the school committee held on Monday evening, the resignations of Miss Florence E. Bailey of the Punchedard faculty and Miss Mabel A. Richardson of the Bradlee school were accepted. The former was inducted in French and German in Punchedard and has accepted a similar position in a school in California. The appointments included Miss Phoebe L. Hosmer who has had several years' experience in the Orange High school. Miss Charlotte Holt who has been teaching for several years in Middlebury, N. H., and Miss Lola Murch, a graduate of the Castine Normal school.

Postmaster Arthur Bliss has received instructions from the post office department at Washington that in the near future all rural delivery boxes will be numbered.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hutchins on Elm street presented a very pretty scene last evening, the occasion being the marriage of their youngest daughter, Carrie Louise, to Clare W. Norton of Lawrence. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur L. Snel of Fitchburg, a cousin of the bride. The bride was gowned in a rich creation of white silk muslin and wore a veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses and lilies of the valley. Little Elva Hutchins, the flower girl, was very prettily dressed in white mulle over pink tulle.

The Andover public schools opened after the annual vacation on Monday morning. The teachers include: Punchedard—Charles L. Curtis, principal. Greek and Latin: C. L. Barton, sciences; Grace Lina Burt, mathematics; Alice A. Brown, commercial branches; Susie L. Austin, history; Blanche S. Jacobs, English literature and composition; Phoebe L. Hosmer, French and German.

Florida's Entry Into Family

By treaty of 1819 Spain ceded Florida to the United States on July 1, 1821. This came as a result of many long controversies between the two countries in regard to Florida. Civil government was not established until 1822.

King's Daughters Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Court-ous circle of The King's Daughters with installation of officers was held at the South church vestry on Monday evening. Preceding the business meeting a supper was served to about forty persons by the social committee with Miss C. Madeleine Hewes, chairman. Mrs. Myron H. Clark presided at the business meeting and the charge to the officers was given by Mrs. Horace Hale Smith. The officers are: Leader, Mrs. Myron H. Clark; vice leader, Mrs. Frank L. Brigham; recording secretary, Mrs. Alvin Zink; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John A. Arnold; treasurer, Mrs. William Gibson; auditor, Miss Grace A. Jenkins.

The annual reports were given by the secretary and treasurer and by the chairman of the various standing committees.

To Give Lecture on Whaling Industry

Although New England is linked with the whaling industry in the pages of history, the average resident is familiar with the legends of the sea only through such sea yarns as "Moby Dick," or the shots in the movie news reels. Now, however, for the first time one of the gigantic sea monsters is being taken on a tour of the country. At the present time it is on exhibition alongside the Mechanics Building in Boston. A specially built observation car is "anchored" to the Boston and Albany tracks and there at close hand one marvels at one of the largest finback whales ever captured.

The whale is being exhibited as an educational treat by the Pacific Whaling company, which maintains the only whaling fleet operating in western American waters. "Aimee," as the monster has been nicknamed by the crew, is 55 feet long and weighs 68 tons, and was captured after a terrific battle lasting fifteen hours off the Catalina Islands. So large was the whale that a hasty meeting of executives decided that it was more valuable as an exhibit than in the usual commercial channels. Several scientific societies were appealed to and a secret method of embalming worked out by which the carcass was preserved in its entirety. Then a special glass observation car was constructed around the whale and it was sent on a tour that has at last brought it to the east coast. Hundreds of thousands have viewed the sea monster and thrilled at its enormous size and the powerful fins that drive it through the water at a speed of fifteen miles or better an hour.

A scientific lecture is being delivered to all visitors by Capt. Augustus Folger, one of the old time whalers from Nantucket, and a character known in half a hundred Atlantic ports. The exhibit will be in Boston for three weeks and after visiting a few more cities will be presented to one of the scientific museums of the American government.

Town Clerk Vacancy

The selectmen have solved temporarily the problem which confronted them through the sudden resignation of George A. Higgins as town clerk by appointing George H. Winslow, secretary of Board of Public Works, to serve until a special election is held, probably in November.

This action was taken after Miss Edna P. Sellars, clerk in the office of town clerk, had declined to accept the appointment offered her by the selectmen.

There has been some uncertainty as to the course to pursue in regard to filling the vacancy, some contending that a special election is necessary. The selectmen have secured legal opinion, however, to the effect that they can reappoint to cover the period up to the annual town meeting in March.

This seems a sensible interpretation of the law for it would appear to be a matter of unnecessary expense to hold a special election to provide a town clerk for only a few months.

Cinders

"We need only obey. There is guidance for each of us, and by only listening we shall hear the right word."—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The strike of students at the Water-town High school was unjustifiable mass action, but the outbreak was mainly due, according to responsible Water-town residents, to the fact that the school committee ignored petitions presented by parents protesting against the change in the school hours. Had these petitions been given a public hearing, undoubtedly a solution could have been reached that would have proved satisfactory and Water-town would have avoided the unpleasant notoriety which was an indirect aftermath of laying aside the petitions without giving them consideration.

Cregg for District Attorney

Ex-Senator Hugh A. Cregg of Methuen, who won the Republican nomination for district attorney after an aggressive contest, is practically assured of election as a result of his success in the primaries, but he will conduct an active campaign, nevertheless.

While Mr. Cregg's total vote was less than 500 more than that cast for Edward F. Flynn, his chief opponent for the nomination, it is very unlikely that the recount petitioned for by Mr. Flynn will make any material change in the result.

Mr. Cregg, if elected will have a wonderful opportunity to restore to the office of district attorney the prestige it formerly enjoyed. He is fully capable of doing it.

A public prosecutor, if he does his duty, conducts his office without fear or favor, showing impartiality, firmness and fairness, aiming ever at justice. That Mr. Cregg will make an excellent district attorney and that he will work for the best interests of all is the general expectation of those who know him best. He is capable, courageous, and above all a worker, possessing qualifications that assure success in anything he undertakes.

The time was ripe for a change in the district attorney's office in Essex county and to Mr. Cregg apparently has come the opportunity to make the much needed improvement in conditions.

New Phillips Inn

Men who are competent to judge state that the new Phillips Inn, opened by Phillips academy on Monday, is the best hotel of its size in America. In other words Phillips academy has provided Andover not only with a much needed hotel but with a better one of its class than is available elsewhere.

Thus Andover again comes to the forefront in a way that means permanent benefit. The gain that comes to Phillips academy through the construction of a modern hostelry will be shared by the town.

No longer will visitors have occasion to complain that lack of suitable hotel facilities in this vicinity forced them to make their headquarters in a Boston hotel during their Andover stay. There is ample accommodation at the Inn with unsurpassed surroundings and facilities, and rates are reasonable in comparison with the excellence of the service.

The beauty and attractiveness of the Inn's interior is not only pleasing but inspiring, the beautiful mural paintings in the commodious dining hall compelling the admiration of all who view them. With the very latest in equipment, with every attention given to the convenience and comfort of guests there can be no question that the Inn will prove to be a marked success from every point of view.

Another notable step in the line of progress has been made in Andover which will have far reaching influence in connection with its development.

From all accounts Andover playgoers have a treat in store for them when the famous college comedy, "Aunt Lucia" is presented in the town hall under the auspices of the Andover American Legion post October 2 and 3. The play is said to be something quite different from the usual community entertainment of this kind. The Legion should benefit by the production and the townspeople who attend the play are certain to be given genuine entertainment.

Governor Allen's solid endorsement in the primary election is a foretaste of triumphant reelection at the coming state election. Without the discord that has arisen in Democratic ranks as to the governorship nomination Gov. Allen would have won, but his election is made practically a certainty by the split in the opposing ranks.

25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Clare W. Norton of 117 Elm street observed their silver wedding anniversary Monday evening with more than one hundred relatives and guests who gathered at the family home for the occasion. The house was beautifully decorated with garden flowers.

The table in the diningroom from which the refreshments were served was decorated with cut flowers. Many beautiful gifts were received.

During the evening, Edwin G. Booth played the wedding marches played at the ceremony which took place twenty-five years ago in the same house where the anniversary was celebrated. Mrs. Norton before her marriage was Miss Carrie Hutchins.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton have two sons, Clare W., Jr., and Stanley H. Norton. The elder son graduated last June from Punchedard High school and has entered Northeastern university, where he has commenced the study of electrical engineering. The younger boy has just entered Punchedard high school.

Mr. Norton has been employed in the Lawrence office of the New England telephone and Telegraph company for thirty years. He is a member of St. Matthew's Lodge, A. F. and A. M. and the local lodge of Odd Fellows. Both Mr. and Mrs. Norton have been active workers in the Baptist church. TOWN CLERK APPOINTED fused to approve, but in reality they have eliminated the need of an assistant by the passage of Chapter 172, Acts of 1930. At the time this legislation was considered it was thought that all of the financial officers could be taken care of by the appointment of temporary persons to serve during their absence or while they were incapacitated from performing their regular duties. Temporary appointees could be made for but sixty days, but I do not understand that it was intended to prohibit their re-appointment for another period.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) THEODORE N. WADDELL
Director of Accounts

September 17, 1930
Mr. Frank H. Hardy,
Chairman, Board of Selectmen,
16 Haverhill Street,
Shawshen Village,
Andover, Massachusetts.

Dear Sir:

Answering your inquiries as to temporary appointments and kindred matters under Chapter 172, Acts of 1930, I am of the opinion that (1) the Board of Selectmen may appoint as a temporary Town Clerk such person as is by other applicants qualified for a period not exceeding sixty days, and (2) in the event of the vacancy still continuing at the expiration of said sixty days, the Board may re-appoint such person as is by them deemed qualified for a period not exceeding sixty days, (3) unless and until the vacancy is filled by an election; and I am further of the opinion that (4) there appears to be nothing in said statute making it mandatory upon officials to call a special town meeting, and (5) whether a special town meeting should or should not be called is under the circumstances not a legal question, but one that rests in the sound administrative and political judgment of the officials and the citizens of the Town.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) DANIEL J. MURPHY
Town Counsel

Mr. Winslow is at present secretary of the Board of Public Works. He resides with his wife and family on Lowell street.

Other applicants who sought the appointment as town clerk were: Frederick E. Cheever, John Holmelund, Carl N. Lindsay and George Page.

The selectmen also appointed Nathan Mears of Ballardvale a special police officer. He is employed at Abbot Academy.

Thirty-Five on P. A. Squad

Thirty-five candidates reported to coach Ray Shepard Wednesday afternoon for the opening practice of the Phillips Academy football eleven. None of the veterans were present as the academy did not officially open until yesterday morning.

Of the candidates, two gave evidence of outstanding ability, Graham, a 16-year-old Detroit back, weighing 170 pounds, and Charles Strauss of Pelham, N. Y., who was substitute lineman of the year.

The squad will be increased today as the senior and upper middle class boys will report. Six letter men are expected out. Coach Shepard has but eight days to get his squad in shape for the opening game, September 27, with Tufts Freshmen.

September 27, Tufts Fresh; October 4, New Hampton School; October 11, Yale Fresh; 18, Dartmouth Fresh; 25, Dean; November 1, Huntington; 8, New Hampton Fresh; 15, Exeter.

Duties of Hunting Dog

A dog should not be taught to bring in the game to his master, says an expert. The reason for this is that when the dog points where the hunter gets the game, it is extremely annoying to have the dog dashing back and forth looking for the game and bringing it to the master. In the case of birds, if the dog goes after the first bird killed he will usually frighten the rest of the flock, giving the hunter a poor chance of bringing down a great number.

Independents Win Championship. The Independent volleyball team won the championship of Ballardvale by winning all games played in the second half of the league. They also copped the first half by defeating Ben Nason's team.

The league, which was in charge of "Sol" Walker, who is teacher-coach at Ashland high school, comprised five teams, the Independents, Ben Nason's team, Town team, Congregational and Methodist church boys' class. Much enthusiasm prevailed during the season.

Although the Independents won both halves of the league series it is expected that Ben Nason will challenge the winners to a series with his team, who finished second in each half.

The captain of the Independents, Charles Murnane, deserves credit for his part in picking a team of winners.

Those on the winning team were: B. Lawrence, Norman Kibber, Charles Nason, Charles Murnane, Bill Thompson and Clyde Mears.

Hold Family Reunion. A re-union was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Clemons of Andover street by over 30 members of the family. At noon an appetizing dinner was served outdoors and all made merry.

Those present were: Susan A. Thurston, Mrs. Margaret Murchison, Eleanor H. Murchison, William Whitney of Lynn, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Everett W. Ireland, Horace Decelle, Lorraine Decelle, Mabel C. Decelle, Harry Decelle, Mr. and Mrs. E. Decelle of Medford and Somerville, Edward Murchison of Beaumont, Harry E. Clemons of Haverhill, Mrs. William F. Curtis and Eleanor G. Burkholtz of Andover, Mr. and Mrs. William Clemons and Dorothea Dunn of Ballardvale.

Make Use of the Present. Waiting for your ship to come in is a precarious occupation. Far better is it to be up and doing now than to be trusting in the future. Opportunity is not what may come to us tomorrow, but what we make out of today.—Grit.

We owe You a word of thanks! TO YOU thousands of motorists (many of you new friends of Socony) who have tried the new Socony Banner Gasoline... liked it... and told your friends about it... we want to express our appreciation. We said BANNER was a NEW and FINER popular priced gasoline. You proved that this, like all the statements made by Socony, was conservative and true to fact. And, having proved it, you came back for BANNER again! The result is that BANNER has enjoyed a quicker and greater success than any other popular-priced gasoline. No one thing has made this success. BANNER has six special reasons for being popular. Here they are: 1. Quickest Starting. The proper amount of low boiling points in this new Socony Gasoline gives quickest starting—saves your battery. 2. Instant pick-up. The intermediate range of boiling points in this new Socony Gasoline gives you the quickest pick-up. 3. Added power. The proper percentage of power-producing boiling points in this new Socony Gasoline gives additional power which you are sure to feel the first time you try Banner. 4. Maximum mileage and economy. The exacting range of boiling points in this new Socony Gasoline gives you more mileage at less cost because it burns clean with the minimum of carbon and dilution. 5. High anti-knock value. Banner is made only from those crude oils which have a natural high anti-knock value. 6. Freedom from gum. The new Socony is gum-free. The annoyance and expense resulting from gum sticking valves and other parts are entirely absent. Famous Mountain. ROGER W. BABSON SAYS FASTER CIRCULATION OF MONEY SOLUTION TO BUSINESS PROBLEMS

Pay Bills Promptly - Reduce Overhead - Give Better Measure - Advertise More - Increase Research Work - Rate at Which Money Circulates Depends More on Work of Research Laboratories than on Banking Institutions

Babson Park, Massachusetts, September 19, 1930. Notwithstanding all the gloom and unsatisfactory statistics, earnings, crop reports, etc., there is almost as much money in the country today as there ever was. Moreover, as the balance of trade is still in our favor, there is probably more money in the country than ever before. There are just as many people here as ever before, and these people are just as healthy and anxious to work. Our productive machinery is in just as good condition, excepting the textile industry, which is in dire need of new machinery. This talk about over-production is largely hysterical. The real reason is not lack of money or over-production, but rather that production has not been properly distributed. The academic economist would say that the difficulty is not a lack of money, but a lack of circulation. This, moreover, is a very good diagnosis of the situation.

During the past year the rate of circulation of money has greatly declined. This means that the real solution of the problem is not in reducing production, but in speeding up the circulation of money. This can readily be illustrated by assuming ten men on a desert island, with each having $100. If all these men should simply hang on to their $100 and not spend anything, there would still be just as much money on the island, but business would be at a standstill. If, however, each of these men should spend $50, per day there would be good business on the island, while if these men spend $100, a day there would be great prosperity on the island and the more rapidly these $100. bills passed the rounds from one to the other, the greater the boom would be. Surely, today, I am not appealing for any boom in the United States, because there are many more evils to be corrected, but I do say that the solution of the problem is in speeding up the circulation of money. Now, the question is, what is the sanest and most practical way of bringing about this result?

How to Get Money to Circulate Faster
Of course, we will not get money to circulate faster by discharging employees, refusing to buy, and simply talking gloom. On the other hand, we will not get money to circulate faster by continuing to operate obsolete machinery, supporting unnecessary overhead and allowing present forms of wicked wastes to go on longer. The circulation of money, however, can be speeded up, and following are five definite suggestions.

Washington Current Comment

About seventy-five thousand soldiers from our latest conflict are claiming disability pensions under a recently-passed law. The stream of World war veterans still runs deep and strong, but it is flowing steadily away to that sea which has received most of the host of the Gray and the Blue.

The post office department has made some cuts in the number of mail deliveries. No hardships will be worked thereby. There is something as having too ready a means of communication, and legitimate rush business very often has to stand aside for the work of a man who wants an elaborate reply by "return mail" for no better reason than that it may be at hand before he gets back from a fishing trip.

Investigations at the University of Minnesota show that persons near the half century mark can learn as readily as youth. The trouble with many a middle-aged dog who does not acquire new tricks is, not that he is dumb, but busy.

The Caribbean Sea and the shores which it touches have long been a place of unrest. There flourished the buccaners, and there have grown the insubordinate Latin-American republics, which can be relied upon to round out a column of news any time almost. It was from this area that Pelee spread the breath of death twenty-five years ago. The latest outrage of the Caribbean is the tornado which has prostrated Santo Domingo. To the credit of the truculent body of water, be it noted that the hurricane was absorbed before it laid an added burden upon Florida and the Gulf coast.

The arrest of nine hack drivers in Washington creates surprise that so many antique conveyances of that kind have survived in one town. A generation has arisen since the driver of the hackney coach was the prosperous and hated racketeer of the day. Speaking of horse-drawn vehicles, who remembers when a varnished buckboard, with a black and white spotted dog trotting beneath the hind axle, was a smart and up-to-the-minute equipage?

A Washington scientist has constructed a model to demonstrate the fourth dimension. An essayist on the subject went to the root of the matter when he stated that it was impossible to form a mental conception of the fourth dimension. Until our gray matter is improved, it will be hard to believe that a brick can be measured otherwise than by length, breadth and thickness.

One of six hundred men admitted to the Ohio bar is a policeman, and the papers comment on the advantages of having cops with the law first-hand. They have not mentioned the fact that the incident suggests an outlet for the overplus of lawyers, nor have they spoken of the function of legal training as a means for teaching its students to think first and act afterward. With police

Pay Bills Promptly
One of the quickest ways to speed up money circulation is for everyone to make a strenuous effort to pay his bills. I have before me Bradstreet's report on collection conditions in 42 leading cities in the United States. In no case are collections reported as being good. In four cities they are only "fair" and in thirty-eight cities they are given as "slow" or "poor." Remember that if collections are slowed down 33 per cent the effect is just the same as sending one-third our money and credit out of the country, or burying it in a hole in the ground. If checks were mailed today for only one-half of the unpaid bills over ten days old the circulation of money would be speeded up tremendously and business would at once feel the stimulating effects.

Reduce Overhead
Without doubt, industry and merchandising are still today handicapped by useless and unnecessary overhead expenses, which are a great drag on the present situation. We should then to the street unless by doing so it will force them to get into an occupation for which they are better fitted. Nothing can be gained in the long run by throwing people out of work, but much can be gained by changing people's work. This means that every business has men in executive positions and on inside work who should be outside, selling goods or rendering special services to the customers. Hence, my first recommendation as to present needs today is to get the drones out of the office into productive work. Every business is spending too much on overhead, is supporting too many relatives, friends, and former employees, who are not giving value received. Put this money to work in more useful ways. During periods of prosperity it is very easy for such practices to come into existence, especially in long established businesses. The first need of the hour is to put these people out into the field.

Give Better Increase
In stimulating consumption, it is necessary either to reduce prices or increase the value of the product. The time is now at hand when either or both of these things can be done in most lines. Personally, I am not so keen for price reduction as I am for improving the product and giving better value for the money paid. Reducing prices is a good deal like reducing wages and both are like trying to raise oneself by one's boot straps. Giving more goods, better goods and improved service for a dollar is the way to bring back prosperity. This means that wage workers can best help by giving more interest and care to their work and by working harder. But the wage worker alone should not be expected to carry all the burden or make all the improvement. Executives, office help and sales forces can greatly help in hard times by giving good measure, pressed down and running over. This is the third important way to increase circulation of money and improve business.

Advertise More
Advertising can now perform a distinct economic function. Advertising can render a real service in connection with the speeding up of money during the next six months. We believe that every business concern can help itself and help the country as a whole by today increasing advertising appropriations. Newspaper advertising, magazine advertising, and billboard advertising can now perform a distinct economic function from which everyone may benefit. Hence, this is the fourth definite suggestion as to how the circulation of money can be speeded up and good times returned. Of the concrete suggestions given, perhaps advertising is the most important factor of all. Certainly advertising should go hand-in-hand with the other factors.

Increase Research Work
We all know how tremendously industry depends today on the automobile. This is, however, an indirect way that it gives employment. Yet, thirty years ago we had practically no automobiles and we were still getting along. The invention and development of the automobile, however, should largely be given the credit of the prosperity which the country has enjoyed during the past decade. It, however, is not fair to think that the automobile is the last great invention which is coming into general use. Even since the development of the automobile we have had radio, airplanes, and other things come into the field. Every new invention tends to hasten the circulation of money. The rate at which money circulates depends far more upon the work of research laboratories than upon the work of banking institutions. Hence, I say that a fifth method of bringing back good times is to expand appropriations for research work. Business by the Babsonchart now registers 17 per cent below normal compared with seven per cent above normal at this time a year ago.

Red Flag Signified War
In the Roman empire the red flag signified war, and when displayed on the capitol was a call for the assembling of the military for active service.

A survey of a group of women in cities of from 2,500 to 50,000 population showed that the average time was 51 hours a week, while in cities of 50,000 and upward the average was a little more than 48 hours. The farm women group averaged more than 62 hours a week, making the general average for all women observed slightly more than 51 hours a week.

Effect of Ivy on Stucco

The bureau of standards says that ivy will not cause a stucco house to crack. It will, however, tend to prevent evaporation of the moisture from the walls after rainfall, with consequent possible dampness in the house. The tendrils of the ivy may bore into the stucco and may cause disintegration at these points, provided the stucco is not of good quality.

Small Bobby was having difficulty in mastering the use of the word "complicated." He had used it incorrectly several times, and it seemed to weigh on his mind. ORCHARD GLEANINGS

GIVE PLANT FOOD TO STRAWBERRIES

Fertilizer Should Be Placed Close to the Plant.

During the fruiting season strawberries need an abundance of readily available plant food close to the plant as the roots do not extend much beyond the spread of the leaves. Furthermore, where commercial fertilizer is used, it should be applied on the surface and carefully worked into the soil so as not to disturb the roots. Strawberry roots are very fine and come close to the surface and if broken by plow or cultivator there is danger of burning and injury to the plants.

The strawberry bed should be worked out in August and fertilized with about 800 pounds per acre of an 8-4-4 fertilizer so as to promote plant growth and strong fruit crowns during the fall months. Where plants were set in November in three foot rows, 600 to 800 pounds of fertilizer should have been applied in the row and well worked into the soil before setting the plants.

Early in the spring as soon as your plants show signs of blooming, fertilize again, using 800 pounds per acre of a fertilizer analyzing about 4 per cent nitrogen, 8 per cent phosphoric acid and 9 per cent potash. More potash is needed during the bearing period to make the berries firm. If you have an 8-4-4 fertilizer on hand, if you will add 10 pounds of muriate of potash—or 10 pounds of sulphate of potash—would be better if you can get it—to every 100 pounds of your 8-4-4 fertilizer, this will answer fairly well, only be careful to mix it in thoroughly. To do this, pile your fertilizer on a tight floor, put the potash on top, then begin at one side and shovel over into a new pile, putting each shovelful on top of the pile. Then repeat this operation twice—making three times all together—and your fertilizer is ready for use.

This, by the way, is the process to use if you mix your own fertilizer.

Dusting and Spraying to Control Many Pests

Dusting has come into more general use than formerly during the past few years. All who have made a study of both dusting and spraying will acknowledge that each has certain advantages which are generally well known to the best fruit growers. Where for any reason the roughness and slope of the land, the labor difficulties, or other factors make it unprofitable to spray an orchard, dusting is to be recommended over an inefficient or poor job of spraying.

It must be remembered, however, that where aphids and scale are to be controlled, sprays are necessary. Moreover, orchardists generally who are relying chiefly upon spraying should with our present information continue to place their chief dependence for the control of pests upon spraying operations instead of dusting. Dusting may at times, however, serve the grower very well, indeed, by supplementing the spraying work. This is often particularly true when the ground is wet and soft, making the operation of heavy spray tanks over the ground practically impossible. Dust applications may also be made near or harvest time with less danger of an objectionable spray residue being left on the fruit.

Many Leaves Will Make Big Apples and Pears

Dr. J. R. Magness of the United States Department of Agriculture reported at the Pacific Pear Growers' conference held at Medford, Ore., the extremely interesting results of an experiment made while with the Washington state college, showing that under normal conditions the number of leaves per fruit is the most important factor determining the size and quality of apples and pears. The striking effect upon the size of Bartlett pears was shown by the fact that when an average of only 10 leaves for each pear were left on a tree, the fruit averaged 22 1/2 to a box. With 20 leaves per fruit the average was 157 per box, with 30 leaves 128, and with 50 leaves 101 per box. About 60 leaves per fruit were found necessary to produce the best size of Anjou.

Since plenty of leaves are of such prime importance in manufacturing fruit of the best size and quality, Doctor Magness pointed out the necessity of promoting in the spring the growth of wood, upon which the spurs are so directly dependent.

Spray for Peaches

Peach growers should spray their trees for curl-leaf whether the fruit buds are alive or not, because a severe attack of curl-leaf weakens the trees. When a considerable percentage of the peach buds have been winter-killed it is best to prune only very lightly or not at all. Pruning such trees may mean cutting down the yield. Where all the buds are dead it may be a good opportunity to rejuvenate the trees by heading them back.

Gates of Death Never Opened for These Two

The prophet Elijah and Enoch never saw death, according to the Bible. II Kings 2:11 says: "And it came to pass, as they (Elijah and Elisha) still went on and talked, that, behold, there appeared a chariot of fire, and horses of fire, which parted them both asunder; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven." This is undoubtedly a figurative way of stating that the prophet passed from earth by miraculous translation instead of through the gates of death. Likewise Enoch, the father of Methuselah, never saw death, according to Hebrews 11:5. "By faith," that passage says, "Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and he was not found, because God translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God." This is the basis for the popular but misleading statement that Methuselah, the oldest man mentioned in the Bible, died before his father did. As a matter of fact Methuselah's father never died, according to the Biblical account. Genesis 5:25 simply says: "And Enoch walked with God; and he was not; for God took him."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Much Hinged on Speed Made by Stage Drivers

Old-time stage drivers were ambitious, writes Edward Martin, in the United States Daily. A true test of their mettle was the delivery of the President's message. The letting of contracts by the Post Office department hinged on these deliveries, and if a driver failed to make good time it meant the cancellation of the contract with his employers and the transfer to a rival company.

Dave Gordon, a noted driver, once carried the President's message from Washington, Pa., to Wheeling, a distance of 32 miles in 2 hours, 20 minutes. He changed teams three times in this distance.

Bill Noble, who died in the eighties, claimed to have made the best time on record. He professed to have driven from Wheeling to Hagerstown, Md., 185 miles, in 15 1/2 hours.

Princeton's Famous Ivy

The first class ivy at Princeton was planted by the class of 1877 on its class day at its graduation in June, 1877, and the ceremony was accompanied by an oration, called then and since the ivy oration. The orator in 1877 stated that ivy had been chosen as a symbol of the perpetual remembrance the class would have of Princeton, striking deep, clinging close, and always green. The class of 1877 turned out to be one of the most remarkable classes in after years that Princeton has graduated. The first ivy was planted at the new library. Since then it has been planted at Nassau hall with a tablet naming the class. Some of the ivy has been historic, being brought specifically for the planting, one spray having been sent from the castle in Germany of William of Nassau, prince of Orange, after whom Nassau hall was named in 1756.

Origin of Tile

At the siege of Argos in the year 272 B. C., a tile fragment thrown from a housetop slew the battling king of Epirus. Thus tile played an important part in history.

Tile is one of the oldest building materials, having first been made in the remote ages of antiquity; yet, how many of us know just what tile actually is?

Tile is burned clay, or to be more specific, a carefully proportioned mixture of certain clays and other minerals, after being formed into the desired shape, is heated in a special furnace called a kiln until the particles become so hot that they partially melt and stick together. When cooled, tile, as firm and homogeneous as a piece of stone, results.

Charta's Highlights

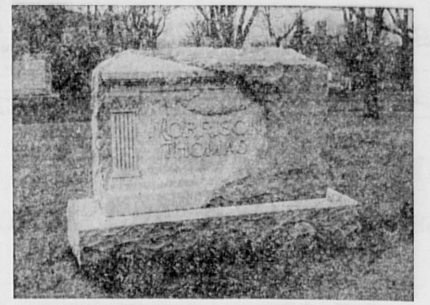

The Magna Charta's most important articles are those which provide that no freeman shall be taken or imprisoned or proceeded against except by the lawful judgment of his peers or in accordance with the law of the land, and that no scutage or aid shall be imposed in the kingdom (except certain feudal dues from tenants of the crown) unless by the common council of the kingdom. The remaining and greater part of the charter is directed against abuses of the king's power as feudal superior.

Black Hills Traditions

The Black Hills of South Dakota are rich in tradition. It is the land where Sioux, Cheyenne, Crow, Arapahoe, Pawnee and Mandan Indians fought savagely for possession of a great hunting ground which they named Paha-Sapa, or the Mountains that are Black. Here are the medicinal springs, min-pazluta, which were believed to be the gift of the Great Spirit. These, too, were prized possessions which the Sioux eventually won and held until they relinquished them to the United States government by treaty in 1876.

Legal

A small boy sidled up to his famous lawyer father and asked: "Dad, you don't charge for advice to members of the family, do you?" "No," admitted his father. "Why do you ask?" "Well," said the small son, "I wanted to find out, when you were a little boy like me and needed a dollar, what did you do?"
