Unemployed Get

An impressive number of men and women reviously considered unemployed, have using the past week, gone to work for a definite period of time due to the efforts of a Board of Selectmen to relieve unemployent conditions in Andover. Dr. Jeremiah J. by of the board of public welfare reports to beginning this week the town will have aby out $53 a week less in direct charity are more than half a dozen people getting from the town have found work in the where mills. In addition to this heartening many of the unemployed who had not tred to the town for charity are now ling in the mills. Mrs. Lotta Johnson, re nurse, also reports this week a proble decrease in the calls for aid.

Cooperation of the Shawsheen mills in Andover people, and in for the better situation. The mills agreed to work with the selectmen in preference to Andover people, and to the repeople who need employment most a costume affair.

The announcement last week of the Historical society ball on February 22 may have created the impression that it was exclusively a costume affair.

Why They Laughed

At the close of the annual supper at the Free church last week, after the reports had been made, a ripple of mirth moved through the audience. This was not on the schedule, but the reason it happened was: The pastor, Rev. Alfred C. Church, acting as toastmaster, arose and said, "I think all the reports have been made and since it is early—only a little after nine o'clock—the male quartet will sing 'All Through the Night'."

the male quarret will sing 'All Through the Night'.

Dr. Frederick A. Wilson, D.D., pastor emeritus, was the first to see the joke and was on his feet in an instant, saying that he thought it was too much to ask of the quartet.

Which incident gives those who like to tell such stories an opportunity to add it to their collection of double-meaning phrases innocently connived, such as the following: From a Vermont paper: "The tenor sang to the delight of the congregation, TMay Not Pass This Way Again'." And a toastmaster, under similar circumstances as Mr. Church was in, ornecannounced, "Miss Smith will sing again 'I Cannot Tell You Why'."

Health Camp Continues Work

Follow-up of Andover and North Andover children who were registered last summer in the Essex County Health camp was begun the Essex County Health camp was begun the work by Miss Vera B. Griffin, field secretary of the Essex County Health association and board of health nurses in checking up the children in the schools and in their homes. This service is an important part of the health camp project determining as it does the child's condition and needs and arranging for a physical check-up at the sanatorium in Middleton. And it is only one of the services in connection with the preventorium for which contributions to the Christmas seal sale provided in cooking classes for mothers of camp children which will be held here later in the season.

the year 1931 has been one of great importance regarding the future health conditions of Andover, according to the report of the Board of Health for 1931, which was filed this week with the Town Clerk. The great number of contagious diseases has been arealy decreased due to various reasons. Andover was one of the first communities in the state to inaugurate a complete Schick in the state to inaugurate a complete of the entering classes innoculated until now it is almost 100 per cent.

During these years the only cases we had were confined to adults and children of preschool age, each case apparently of outside origin. We again urge that all children from one year of age and over be innoculated. We now assume that the innoculation renders a person permanently immune to the dipheria germ.

The worst snowstorm of the season h. Andover last night about eight o'clocl reached the height of its fury about on in the morning, and subsided at four thirty a.m. Early this morning, befor press time, there were no reports or casualties from the storm except that i few cars in scattered parts of the tow were snowed in. Police had no calls for help and reported an unusually quiet night. By eight o'clock this morning practically all the streets were plowed and scores of men were working for the Board of Public Works cleaning the snow away. From eight to twelve inches of snow had been succeeded to the storm was at its worst. At midnight, when several inches had already fallen, the truck plows and the horse-drawn plows started to clear the streets. Later in the morning, 55 men were put to work on snow removal with 12 small trucks to help them. The town tractor was set to work in West Andover to clear house delice.

The oldest organization in Andover—one even older than the town itself as known today—will vote itself out of existence before April. 1932. When it goes, the last vestige of very old New England will have gone from Andover, leaving only its records to remind people that once Andover was South Parish, and that the South Parish was the town.

Today Andover is a large town with several parishes. A few centuries ago, Andover was known as South Parish, for what is now North Andover was North Parish and the original Andover. Only when the people living in the present Andover found difficulty in reaching the church in the North Parish did they decide to form their own parish, which they did, thus marking the beginning of Andover as it is now known.

Warner—Lawrence. Ann Harding in 'Prestige' is the screen attraction at the Warner for four days starting Sunday. The lovely star finds in 'Prestige' a vehicle well suited to her talents, and one that will be a fitting successor to "Holiday" and "Devotion". The story is different in locale from her earlier pictures, and has much more action, which is topped off by a superb piece of acting. For the remainder of the current week five acts of Warner vaudeville, headed by "Ebony Scandals", an all-colored revue, will be the stage attraction. On the screen is the musical extravaganza "Manhattan Parade" boasting a cast of fun-makers headed by Winnie Lightner and Charles Butterworth, and done entirely in new Technicolor.

Crystal Ballroom, Shawsheen. Jimmy Cashman and his sensational Georgian Blue-jackets, twelve famous artists, will be the featured attraction tonight at the beautiful Crystal ballroom in Shawsheen Village. No orchestra in years has scored so sensationally as have the Bluejackets during their present Eastern Tour and it is a practical certainty that a capacity gathering of dance enthusiasts will be on hand tonight to greet them. As an added attraction, a special vocal program of the newest song hits will be presented by Rudie Bauer, radio's popular tenor, who is even now negotiating for a long-term contract on one of the big chain programs. Roland Russell's Rollicking Ramblers, who seem to win more popularity with the passing years, will play for the regular week-end dancing party tomorrow evening. Jean Goldkette's world-famous Casa Loma orchestra of Detroit, rated by a majority of experts as the greatest dance band of them all, will come to Crystal one week from tonight in a return engagement, the result of a tremendous popular demand on the part of Crystal patrons. With the Casa Lomans will be the celebrated Kenny Sargent of Nashville, Tenn., maker of the famous "Girl of My Dreams" record of which more than two millions were sold. Voters Should Study Sources of Information

Speaker Tells League of Women Voters of Contact with Government

At the regular meeting of the Andover League of Women Voters held in the Administration Building in Shawsheen Village on the Tuesday afternoon, Miss Constance Roach, Regional Sceretary for New England of the National League, spoke on the subject of "The Voter's Contact with Government." Miss Roach, whose dynamic personality greatly attracted her audience, outlined the main headings for her discussion and with the help of her listeners brought out the points under these headings.

The types of citizens in a community were first considered. Miss Roach put these in three classes, the positive citizen, the negative citizen, and the positive citizen as one who voted intelligently through a study of issues, and who served his government either by running for office himself or by encouraging others to serve. The negative citizen, on the other hand, did only those things which he was forced to do, such as, paying taxes and serving in military forces or on juries, but voted only occasionally and then unintelligently. The positive citizen for bad was one who was a spoils-politician or a privilege seeker.

Study Sources of Information

Study Sources of Information

Study Sources of Information

To be a positive citizen and vote intelligently, Miss Roach showed us that we must study our sources of information. These were numerous: newspapers, the radio, periodicals and journals of opinion, news reels, church forums, and the speeches of the political parties.

forums, and the speeches of the political parties.

Miss Roach then explained the construction of the board of the National League and showed how the two main functions of the National League were accomplished. The Regional secretaries promote organization and research secretaries provide information. This information goes to the state head-quarters who supplement it and then turn it over to the local leagues. In the local leagues, members gained information from the open meetings, from study groups and from the study of the publications of the National League.

The Child Welfare committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Rafton, plans to form a study group meeting on Tuesdays at 10 a.m. The Committee on International Cooperation to Prevent War plans to hold two discussion groups. The first of these will be held on February 9 and 16 at the Phelps House, at 2.30 p.m. Mrs. Barnes will lead a study of the World Conference on Disarmament now being held at Geneva. On the succeeding Tuesdays at Johnson Hall at 3 p.m., Mrs. Barss will lead a series of six or seven meetings to study the present economic situation. All interested are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Barnes or Mrs. Barss.

Commission and will inaugurate the Commission's Washington celebration for the year.

Governor Ely, Mayor Curley, Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, Presidential George Washington Bicentennial Commissioner, and many other noted city, state, and federal dignitaries, will take active parts in the event. Under the leadership of Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, President of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the combined forces of 31 prominent women's clubs of the state, are concentrating their efforts to make the Symphony Hall meeting a historic and memorable one. Seldom if ever has such an array of prominent women confined their interests to a single event such as is to take place next Saturday.

Women of political, patriotic, fraternal, and civic organizations are working in unison on the general program. A morning perfet formance will be held for the children, thundreds of whom from the various settlement houses, will be invited as guests of the sponsors. Police, Fire Chiefs Turn in '31 Reports

More Arrests and Less Fire Damage Last Year, According to Their Figures

Total AUTOMOBILE VIOLATIONS
There were fewer people arrested in Antomobile violations during 1931 than in 1930, and there was a smaller fire loss in 1931 than in 1930, according to the annual reports of both the police and fire departments submitted to the Board of Selectmen by Chief Frank M. Smith and Chief Charles F. Emerson respectively. Chief Smith reports that the police department in 1931 also totalled more arrests and investigated more complaints than it had the previous year.

Chief Emerson points out in his report that fire damage for 1931 was $22.996.00, as against $40,040.00 for 1930. Explaining this loss verbally, he said that Andover in 1931 would have had the lowest fire loss in its listory had not the Watson-Park fire occurred last summer and caused a loss at least half of that for the whole year. He said that the lowest fire loss for Andover was in 1925 when the damage was $10,814.00.

Greeley Host to

Women Employees

Threatening weather failed to dampen the spirits of the women employees of Greeley's market who were the guests last Wednesday evening of James E. Greeley and his daughter Miss Anna Greeley at a dinner and theater party in Boston.

The group, which included Mrs. William Gibson, Miss Josephine Sullivan, Miss Mary Connor, and Mrs. William Scanlon with Mr. Greeley left Andover late in the afternoon, drove to ooston and there joined Miss Anna Greeley. The party dined at the Statler Hotel, and then attended a performance of the farce, "The Unexpected Husband".

These get-togethers of employees are annual features at Greeley's, the entire group picnicing together in the summer and the men employees having bowling tournaments all through the winter. The theatre and dinner party for women this week was Mr. Greeley's tribute to the women who have been so instrumental in building up the good will of his business.

The trustees of the Essex County Agricultural School are again announcing farmers' and homemakers' day, which will be the eighteenth of its kind. The day selected is Wednesday, March 9 and as usual it will be an all-day event. The same general plan is to be followed. There will be a speaking program consisting of a combined meeting in the morning in Agricultural Hall and the six different sectional meetings in the afternoon; homemaking, dairy, poultry, fruit growing, market gardening and ornamental gardening.

ment teachers and students will demonstrate several up-to-date processes and work in their special field. The Agricultural Depart-ment will have an educational display oc-cupying a portion of four rooms on the main floor of the agricultural building and the Extension Department is planning an un-usually constructive display which will be set up on the second floor of the Agricultural building.

Abbot Academy

The tea dance of the Senior-middle class was a successful affair, and offered a pleasing contrast to the quiet days of the mid-year examinations, which ended on the same day —Saturday, January 30.

The Rev. Markham W. Stackpole of Milton, lately a trustee of Abbot academy, conducted the service on Sunday evening, January 31.

From Monday to Thursday the Seniors and Miss Bailey enjoyed to the utmost their days in New Hampshire. No small part of their program were a "bacon bat" in the Cathedral Woods, and trailing along the paths through the snow-covered trees. For snow it did, and the success of the party was thereby assured. From these days of herculean meals and strenuous exercise the Seniors have returned, first to sing of their exploits and then to buckle down to the work of the Recently at Camp Perry, where the best marksmen in the world meet to shoot it out every year, she won the 50-yard medal with bar and many other prizes. At that meet, she defeated 177 out of 200 highest-ranking revolver shots in the army, the marine corps, the police and the civilian marksmen. As an exhibition shot, this little girl ranks among the world's best.

Some of the stunts she performs seems incredible until actually witnessed. Shooting a big, powerful .38 special revolver, she splits a glaying card set edgewise at 45 feet. She pops mothiballs the size of marbles as fast as she can pull the trigger. She hits a penny held between her father's thumb and forefinger. Good News

The wisdom of the voters of Andover in defeating a few weeks ago a request for a special appropriation for $15,000 to make work for the unemployed in Andover is amply demonstrated in the turn of events for the better reported in today's Townsman. More than fifty dollars have been cut off town charity expense and a great many men who were out of work and did not apply for town aid are now employed again through the cooperation of the Shawsheen mills with the selectmen of the town. Scores have been put to work in the mill from Andover, because the selectmen have gained the help of the agent who has agreed to employ Andover people in preference to all others.

With orders coming into the mill, with the charity bill of the town government reduced weekly by more than fifty dollars, with many of those who needed work guaranteed employment for some time to come in Shawsheen, it looks as if better times are on their way. Both the selectmen and the mill operators deserve the heartfelt appreciation of all citizens for the public-spirited step both have taken to help Andover men and women. This is the kind of spirit that will lead America out of the depression.

This situation certainly brings home to all citizens that to spend $15,000 out of the town treasure.

This situation certainly brings home to all citizens that to spend $15,000 out of the town treasury, as was proposed, was an unnecessary step, since routine business has made a perceptible decrease in the number of unemployed and needy. Even Mrs. Lotta Johnson reports a drop in the calls for help. It is now most obvious that the proper spirit has prevailed to aid the unemployed. The action of the citizens in defeating the article for a special appropriation has been more than justified. Sense seems to prevail once more with the needy looking to private industry for relief from unemployment, rather than to government agencies.

such a two-time payment method would result in considerable saving of interest money.

"It will probably be our general program later to emphasize continued debt reduction and greater emphasis on the necessity of departments reducing operating expenses. This will be particularly necessary in view of the possibility of increases in the cost of charities, soldier's benefits, cost of temporary loans and of old age pensions, along with the impending reduction of income through lower State and County tax receipts and substantial reduced corporation and income tax payments.

Principal to Talk to Shawsheen Club

The monthly meeting of the Shawsheen P. T. A. will be held next Wednesday eve-ning, February 10 in the School Hall at 7.45 o'clock.

Mr. Nathan Hamblin, Principal of Pun-chard High School, will be the speaker of the evening the second of the second of evening. The music committee, in charge of J Everett Collins, is furnishing a musical program.

A hearty invitation is extended to all parents and friends to be present and enjoy the evening with us.

Andover Guild

This being the height of the basketball season, the Andover Guild, besides its many other activities, has many basketball games and matches on its busy schedule.

To mention only a few—Wednesday the Free church Boys' team played the Phillips academy team with a resulting score of 34 to 24 in favor of the Free church team.

Yesterday the Punchard high Girls' team played the Methuen team at Andover.

An Intermediate Boys' Basketball League consisting of six teams has been formed by James Bisset and a Junior Girls' League was recently formed which is under the direction of Miss Margaret Davis.

The names of the teams of the Junior Boys' basketball league are the Creeks, the Iroquois, the Sioux and the Mohawks.

In leagues such as these and in other competitive sports the youth of the community enjoy themselves in keen rivalry.

The activities of the mothers continue. Mrs. Ruth Morley of the Essex County Agricultural school Extension department concluded yesterday her three-lecture course on Child Development. Mrs. Frank Crawford will resume her cooking classes at 7.30 next Tuesday evening. At the conclusion of the other course, Miss Anna Kuhn recently began a class for women in handwork.

There is some worthwhile activity literally every minute at the Andover Guild, which is deservedly called one of the busiest spots in Andover.

"There is something in that," is what you will hear folks say about our reputation for selling lumber of quality and BIRD'S SHINGLES. It pays to buy quality lumber and roofs in the first place. For plumbing and heating supplies or mason's supplies, make the J. E. PITMAN ESTATE your headquarters.

"We Supply Everything That Goes Into the House"

This Means You!

There is desperate need for clothing in many Andover families and as Mrs. Johnson's supply has given out the Red Cross is sending out this appeal. It is always pleasanter to give away possessions belonging to someone else.

Wives and mothers must weed out and surreptitiously snitch from their husbands' closets extra suits, and husbands should retailate by removing their wives wearable dresses and gently suggesting that if necessary they may buy substitutes in the bargain basements.

In every daughter's closet there are certain.

on something wearable and in good condi-tion.

The correct sizes should be tagged on all garments to facilitate in their distribution.
Children especially are apt to be sensitive about hand-me-downs and often actually suffer from being obliged to wear mis-fits.
But the children are not the only ones to consider. A number of men have but one winter suit and are obliged to change into spring clothing. Still others are wearing their summer suits. Surely there is hardly a man holding a job who cannot afford to donate some warm clothing for those less fortunate than he. than he.

After this appeal is broadcast we shall be disappointed if we see anyone not bundled up to his chin in comfort. All articles should be left as soon as possible at the South Church which will be open every day. Or Miss Margaret Curran, Mrs. Allan Heely and Miss Kuhn will gladly call for them if notified fied.

So with this article still in your hand make a bee line to your clothes closet and hastily emerge with a generous selection of garments. A rapid decision is necessary otherwise you may weaken. In case you do just put on a thin summer suit and stand in the chilly back yard for half an hour. The results will be startling.

Gallery Has New Exhibit of Paintings

"Oils in the Modern Idiom" Will Be There Until 20th of This Month

An exhibition of "Oil Paintings in the Modern Idiom", circulated by the American Federation of Arts, is being held at the Addison Gallery, Phillips Academy, Andover from February 2nd through February 20th. The exhibition is the first large Federation exhibition shown at the Addison Gallery, and is interesting as an indication of what this great national organization thinks the word "modern" implies. At a time when the words "modern" and "academic" are applied at terms of reproach by some, and as words of praise by others, any attempt at clarification may be welcomed.

There is nothing to suggest a single common denominator which we can term "modern idiom" unless it is the sombre color and the lack of any spiritual feeling, which is notice able throughout the exhibition.

Nor is there anything which causes us to regard this as a truly American exhibition, as opposed to the French school of the Bliss Collection. Many of the Americans have taken their technique and even their point of view from the French schools. These new found tools of expression are being used with increasing facility. This exhibition still leaves unanswered the question of what the artist is to say with these tools when experimentation is over. —C. H. S.

At Christmas and other holiday times candlewax sometimes drops on clothing and makes a stain. Such stains usually consist of paraffin colored with pigment or dye. Remove the paraffin as completely as possible by scraping it away with a dull knife, or using a piece of blotting paper and a warm iron. If a grease stain remains, use a solvent, such as carbon tetrachloride, ether, gasoline, chloroform, naphtha, or benzol, which may at the same time help to dissolve any dye on the fiber. Sponging with wood alcohol may be tried if any dye remains.

New York parents have christened one of their offspring "Depression". Naming children lays a burden on those who have the work to do. Philadelphia authorities used to apply to foundlings the surname of the policeman who brought them in, employing as a given name, the name of the street in which they were found. The practice had to be given up when it promised to send an infant out into the world as "Passamaquoddy McGettigan".

Don't Wait Too Long
I am not preaching any Polly-Anna stuff.
If you have not repented of your sins and turned over a new leaf as to habits and business methods, then you should do so. If, however, you have got down to hard pan and if your wife and children are helping you as they should, then you have nothing to fear. Times are still good compared with ten years ago. Times are bound to be better. The elevator has temporarily stopped; but there is no need for being frightened. It will soon start upward again. Therefore, stay in. Don't be foolish and jump out to ground.
One thing more: I should think you might have learned a lesson not to be swayed again by Wall Street sentiment. Follow fundamental business conditions as shown by the Babsonchart—not the whims of Wall Street. Julian Sherrod is right in much that he says in his book "Scapegoats," but he is three years too late. It is just as foolish to follow Wall Street in 1929 and buy.

Conclusion

casily be paid in full with a little money if the nations would only pass it around one to another. That's the curse of tariff walls.

Why I Am Optimistic

Notwithstanding my leg is in a plaster cast, I am very optimistic today. Yes, I am as optimistic today as I was pessimistic in 1928-1929. We will soon get used to out troubles as I am getting used to my plaster cast! Then when we forget, well let our dollars go; which will create more dollars and our prosperity will be back. The trouble today is that we have merely stopped climbing for a while. We have lost no ground. Our cities, farms, industrial companies, railroads, stores, and wage workers are far better out than ten years ago. Only those who speculated have really lost—the rest have simply temporarily lost their courage. Only don't get in debt next time. Be satisfied with a little less speed.

When we study stock market prices, we are surprised at what we find. General Efective, for instance, at today's price, is still double that for which it was selling ten years ago affect allowing for stock dividends, etc. General Motors, at today's price, is greatly in excess of the price of ten years ago. Their allowing for stock dividends, etc. General Motors, at today's price, is greatly in excess of the price of ten years ago. The sources and less debt per dollar of assets. We are fightened—not because the elevator has topped, but because we are say and avoid changing their habits of living and merchants should hang on an cheer-up. These are as follows:

Four Reasons for Improvement

There are four reasons why prosperity will return and why sensible farmers, manufacturers, and merchants should hang on an cheer-up. These are as follows:

(1) During the early part of a business depression people think it is only temporary and avoid changing their habits of living and methods of business. Pride prevents the correcting of he mistakes which caused the business of the prosperity era. Gradually, however, as the depression continues, people are forced to get down to ha

Beans, Spaghetti Form Basis For Children's Quick Lunches

WHAT shall I have for the children's lunch?" This is a winter long problem confronting busy mothers. The morning speeds away almost before we realize, and it is time for the children to come romping in, hungry and ready for a good substantial lunch. The menu must be well-balanced and appealing, yet for mother's sake it must be simple and not require too much time for preparation. Main dishes should be nourishing, and may frequently be varied by giving a few simple touches to familiar and often served foods. Children enjoy unusual touches just as grownups do, and the school-day lunch should be a gay, cheerful affair so the child will go back to school refreshed and happy.

HEALTH in the HOME

Practical Studies for Wives and Mothers

By Dr. ERNEST H. LINES nent Authority and Chief Medical Director New York Life Insurance Company

LIGHT AND VENTILATION

In selecting the home, to buy or rent, nothing is more important than to find a house, or apartment, that receives good sunlight. It should not be dark, gloomy or damp. Overcrowding, especially in sleeping quarters, tends to increase contagious diseases. Adequate ventilation is necessary, especially at Rooms should have enough window space to admit sufficient natural light to prevent eye strain. Roughly, the area of window space should be avoided.

During warm weather it is a good idea to leave all doors open at night. An inside catch-lock or chain fastened to entrance doors will make it possible to leave these doors partly open with safety. Another good idea would be to open the skylights, the chimney valves and the doors of all stoves that have exhaust vents. The warm and impure air can then rise through these mediums to the skies.

Ventilation is also important in cold weather when fires and other heating apparatus increase the rate at which the pure air in the house is consumed. In this connection it may be mentioned that a good many people avoid ventilating houses in cold weather through a false sense of economy. They imagine that once a house is heated up it costs less to keep it warm than to heat it up again if the room becomes cold. As a matter of fact, it costs less to heat up a room full of pure air than it does to keep warm a room already charged with carbon dioxide and other impurities.

Rooms should have enough window space to admit sufficient natural light to prevent eye strain. Roughly, the area of window space should be about one-sixth that of the floor space and, if possible, windows should reach almost to the ceiling to enable the light to get to the back of the rooms.

Artificial light should resemble sunlight as much as possible, ample to see to work by but not too glaring. Electric light is probably best because it does not consume oxygen from the air of the room, nor does it give out to the air any waste products. Light should not fall directly on the eyes but should come from the side or behind the shoulder.

QUESTIONS:

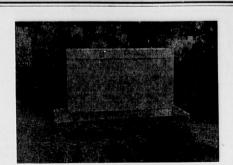

All wives and mothers should be able to answer these questions:

I. What should be first health consideration in buying or rent-ing a home?

I. Name two aids to ventilation of home in warm weather?

J. How much window space should rooms have?

South Parish, Passing Away, Has Fascinating History

Unusual Votes

In the history of the South Parish many unusual and interesting things have happened. The records for the past hundred years, in the possession of Burton S. Flagg, clerk of the parish for a great many years, reveal a fascinating and at times amusing history of the state of mind and attitudes of the people of Andover. Notes of historical importance are also revealed in the records and the beginnings of a great many customs are explained as well.

In 1881, the instance it was yated by the

and the beginnings of a great many customs are explained as well.

In 1851, for instance it was voted by the parish to complete the wall in front of the burying ground with an iron gate on the south side of the cemetery of sufficient width to admit a carriage. In 1867 the parish deemed it expedient to enlarge the present burying ground by buying additional land of Hiram French, Esq., but due "to the large price per acre" asked, it was voted "inexpedient to purchase same." And in 1887 William S. Jenkins set out 19 shade trees on School street adjacent to the cemetery.

Interesting is the observation that in 1852 the parish raised the pay of its minister $200 and that the parish was to supply him a desk and use of a pew and four weeks vacation. And in 1860 he was voted another $400 "in consequence of the increased expense of living." "Competent" Person consequence of the increased expense of living."

"Competent" Person

In 1848 the sexton got $60, "payment for the service," and in 1858, the vote was taken to employ some "competent" person to care for the clock, the inference being that the sexton could not. Curious wording is brought to light in 1860 with the vote that Henry Abbot be "our sexton" and that the assessors be authorized "to make a bargain with him"—he offering to do it for $100.

Heating apparently was a problem in the old church, for in 1852 it was voted that the assessors be a committee to make arrangements to "increase the warmth of the meeting house." The expense of this was not to exceed $100. In that same year it was voted that "intermissions upon the Sabbath be one hour and a half the whole year."

It was a su custom that each church-goer have his own pew and pay rent for the same. It was also customary that somebody be named collector of the rents due on the pews, and church members used to bid for the privilege of collecting these rents. The one who would take the lowest commission on his collections usually got the job of collection of taxes to the lowest bidder." In 1853, the meeting adjourned for five minutes "to let out the collection of taxes to the lowest bidder." In 1855, it was voted that "de-linquent tax payers be notified that if their taxes are not paid within three months the collectors will enforce payment by process of law"; that is, take their pews away from them. But in 1884 this practice came to an end when it was voted that the collector make all collections quarterly at a salary of $50.

The belief that a church be used strictly

The belief that a church be used strictly or purposes of worship stands out in a ricie passed in 1853. Then the parish voted he trustees of Phillips Academy use of the ouse for the anniversary exercises of the neological seminary, they paying all expenses. But it also voted not to allow the teeting house to be used for a concert in aid a society in Lawrence.

1854 saw a committee appointed to conder the general subject of a new meeting ouse and its probable cost—the cost of modelling the present house, including rining it around and putting a vestry under . 1855 saw the consideration of moving of sevestry "to the ground near the locust ee' and a thorough repairing of the same, a cost not exceeding $1200. This vote was taking over practically all of the functions of the parish.

In its beginning in the 18th century, South Parish was settled and organized with provisions made for a parsonage, a church, a cemetery and a school. Parish officials functioned in the same capacities as town officials do now, and meetings were held annually to settle affairs and make financial appropriations. There was always a parish warrant, but like the last parish warrant that was voted on Thursday night at the Church. As a matter of fact, the town warrant is a direct descendant of the parish warrant.

The parish owns all the real estate, as well as the church. The merger will end this Today, some who are members of the church, for the parish is much larger now and there are other places of worship. With the merging, the church will take over the property owned previously by the parish as was all its functions, and the parish as a corporation will pass out of existence.

Several incidents of interest stand out in the music history of the parish. In 1855 a committee was named to procure all necessary cushions for the singing seats. In 1859 it was voted "that the choir be requested to take measures to introduce congregational singing as early as they shall think it for the interest of the society." In 1870 the assessors were instructed to put some protection from cold at the sides of the organ. In 1885 it was voted to get a new organ but it was stressed that no debt be incurred during the purchase. The parish members on the record books today are:

The Final Meeting

The Final Meeting

Constable of Andover, Massachusetts Andover, Mass, January 26, 1932.

The Final Meeting
What proved to be the last annual meeting of the South parish as such was held Thursday evening in the South church. Nathan C. Hamblin presided as moderator and the following officers were re-elected: Clerk, Button S. Flagg, assessor for three years, P. Bartlett Whittemore (the other assessors are Augustus P. Thompson and Frank L. Brigham); treasurer, Arthur W. Cole; sexton and collector, Jonathan E. Holt; auditors, John V. Holt and Frederick E. Cheever.

Burton S. Flagg, chairman of the joint committee from the church and parish appointed last year to arrange for the merger of the two organizations, gave an informal report for his committee. This committee has full charge of all legal procedure necessary for the merging of the two organizations. On the completion of the merger the officers as elected will automatically complete their terms and the new body will elect its new officers. The annual meeting of the church was held recently.

Joint Committee

Joint Committee

The joint committee of which Mr. Flagg is chairman, consists of the following members: Burton S. Flagg, David Shaw and Frank L. Brigham from the parish, the latter named being a member ex-officio, being chairman of the board of assessors of the parish; and the committee from the church; Nathan C. Hamblin, Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor, and John A. Arnold, clerk of the church, the latter two serving ex-officio.

Jonathan F. Holt reported for the trustees of the South Parish cemetery, F. Homer Foster is the other trustee. Philip F. Ripley as treasurer, reported for the trustees of the trust funds. The other trustees are Burton S. Flagg and David Shaw. Mr. Flagg reported for the trustees of the ministerial fund. This fund originated, it is estimated, about a century ago when the old parsonage which stood on what is now the Jerome W. Cross property, was sold. The fund amounts to about $20,000. Five-eighths of the income from the fund goes toward the salary of the minister at the South church and the other three-eighths toward the salary of the minister of the West Parish church. It is administer of the West Parish church. It is administer of the West Parish church. three-eighths toward the salary of the ster of the West Parish church. It is adstered by the South Parish. What Makes OUR Policy Valuable?

An old time philosopher said, "A thing which is bought and sold has no value unless it contains that which cannot be bought or sold—the honor and integrity of its maker."

This is particularly true when applied to an insurance policy.

For over a century the honor and integrity of our companies have guaranteed the stability of their policies, which are always valuable assets to our policyholders.
