November Club Musical Program

An outsider hearing the November club musical Monday might find it incomprehensible that a star performer like Miss Friskin should appear briefly and in due course that Mrs. Paige's perfect accompaniments should be anonymous—this perhaps by accident. It is almost necessary to know something about the history of the music department, the years of devoted leadership of Mrs. Forbes and the unconscious training of Andover ears to hear music and not just the individual performance of their next-door neighbor. Through the efforts of the remarkable group who have in the past made up this department, two things have resulted: a very high standard of endeavor on the part of the musicians and a trained acceptance of incidents in their gifts on the part of the audience.

It would be unfair to compare this program with that of some year in which it happened that concentrated study was put into music which was at the same time delightful to a general public. Nor would it be fair to single out anyone but Ashton for honorable mention. The spring concert is Andover's musical tradition. Once again members of the club, musical and otherwise, had a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon. Perhaps they were not all conscious of just how grateful they should be to those who were willing to carry on in the spirit of former years. For the tradition demands an unselfish and cooperative relationship in the group and offers as reward a means of expressing life in its highest terms to the best of one's ability.

Reports Show Progress for Local Church

Annual Meeting Held Wednesday Shows Financial, Social, and Evangelical Success

The Andover Baptist church has started on a new era of progress, according to the reports made at the annual meeting Wednesday evening. The past year has been a success from a financial, social, and evangelical viewpoint. The annual report of the secretary, Clinton H. Stevens, mentioned the many improvements made in the church property, the increased attendance at the services, and the inspirational leadership of Rev. Lorentz L. Hansen, who is now completing his first year as pastor.

At the meeting, which followed the annual supper, about 100 people were present. Executive officers were elected as follows: moderator, Clifford W. Dunnells; clerk, Clinton H. Stevens; treasurer, Clare W. Norton; standing committee for three years, Robert O. Cray, for one year, Charles W. Curtis, L. Wilson; collector, Winslow W. Dunnells; and assistant collector, Harry Dennison. Other minor committees were also appointed. Reports were received from the various officers and from the church organizations.

The report of Mr. Stevens, summing up briefly the accomplishments of the past year, follows: "The Andover Baptist church is about to complete 100 years of its existence and the year just passed is one for which the members should feel proud. Many things have been accomplished. One of the biggest has been the extensive church repairs. The remodeling of the stone porch and steps, repairs to the steeple, outside painting, new cement walks from the sidewalk to the steps and the vestry entrance, regrading the front lawn and painting the auditorium all for a cost of $5800.00 drew many compliments from the townspeople. In addition this has made a big improvement in the appearance of the town square. We received several outside contributions toward this work as a compliment for our efforts.

"The Evangelical program met with much success. During the week of Thanksgiving Rev. Raymond W. Cooper conducted a visitation campaign in which many of our church people participated with gratifying results and thirty people became members of the church by letter or baptism.

"On April 1, 1932, we had one hundred sixty-three members and during the year we received 50 additions to the roll, 36 by baptism and 14 by letter. Four members were dismissed to the fellowship of other churches and three answered the call of their Divine Creator, namely: Mrs. Isabel Borneman, George Piddington, and Miss Josephine Durgin, leaving a net gain in membership of 43 and a present membership of 206.

"Church attendance has increased with audiences averaging 100 nearly every morning. On several occasions patriotic and fraternal orders of the town have enjoyed morning worship with us.

"We recently conducted an every member canvass to impress upon the people the necessity of assuming their obligations to the church through regular and systematic giving. A drive for funds during the last few weeks of the fiscal year brought nearly 500 dollars into the treasury and we have finished the year with all current expenses paid and a balance on hand.

"Miss Josephine Durgin who joined this church in 1879 and died on February 22, 1932, left the sum of $500.00 bequeathed to the heating plant debt which leaves a balance of only $500 to be paid on that account.

"The Rev. Lorentz L. Hansen has completed his first year as pastor and much of our progress is due to his inspirational leadership and he is ably assisted by Mrs. Hansen as organist and choir director. Mr. Hansen is ever bringing in new suggestions for our welfare, introducing new features to the church program, calling on the church members, visiting the strangers that move into town, all of which makes our church life more interesting and inspires the members to greater accomplishments for the church and the kingdom.

"During the evening a fine musical program was presented, consisting of a violin solo by Miss Joyce Hansen, accompanied by her mother; a piano duet by Mrs. Hansen and Miss Watterberg; and tenor solos, by Carl Wettenberg with Mrs. Hansen accompanying.

Odd Fellows, K. P.'s Hold Joint Meeting

Carpet bowling, bid whist, and indoor baseball featured the meeting of Andover lodge, Charles Barnett and Ira Huxton, Knights of Pythias, 230, I. O. O. F., in Fraternal hall Wednesday evening when the lodge entertained Garfield lodge, 172, Knights of Pythias. Or perhaps it should be said that the Knights entertained the Odd Fellows, for the latter cleaned up in all the events, with the exception of the first game in the baseball double header.

In bowling the Odd Fellows won, 16-14, and they also won in bid whist, 35 to 14. The K. P.'s won the first baseball game 15-12, but lost the second, 14-8.

The teams lined up as follows: Odd Fellows bowling: George Craig, Charles Barnett and Ira Huxton, Knights of Pythias, Thomas W. Neil, Thomas Thin and John McGrath.

Odd Fellows bid whist: David M. May and James Hovey; Knights of Pythias, William A. Stevens and Carlton Smith.

Alfred L. Ripley Resigns as Clearing House Head

Alfred L. Ripley, president of the Merchants National Bank, Boston, retired this week from his position as president of the Boston Clearing House association, after serving nine years in that capacity.

The meeting of the association adopted the following resolution: "Alfred L. Ripley was elected president of the Boston Clearing House association on June 6, 1923, having previously been a member of the clearing house committee since December 12, 1901. When his term of office expired on April 11, 1932, he declined re-election, as he desired to relinquish the duties and responsibilities of this position. For nine years he has served constantly the association and through it the banks of Boston. His wise counsel and able leadership have been of the greatest value to the banking life of this city. It is, therefore, voted to accept with the deepest regret, his decision to retire from the presidency of this association and to spread upon the records this testimony of our gratitude for his many years of loyal and valuable service."

The association presented Mr. Ripley with a silver tray.

Give Violin and Pianoforte Recital at Abbot Academy

Mrs. Marguerite Estaver and Miss Beatrice Ward gave a most enjoyable evening of music at Abbot academy last Tuesday night. Miss Ward's playing was delicate and refined and met with warm response. Tausman's jazz music seems too delicate to more than suggest its source. Our American Jazz does not transplant too successfully. Possibly Europe should be thankful. The "Charleston," as played by Miss Ward, seemed the most successful of the three pieces. In contrast to the "Sonatine Transatlantique," the charming old "Siciliana" arranged by Respighi was refreshing in its sincerity and directness.

The Franck Sonata for violin and pianoforte, played by Mrs. Estaver and Mrs. Marie Fortner Mather, proved a very satisfying close to the program. The Franck Sonata seems destined to outlive most of the music written during the 19th Century.

Interesting Plans for Free Church

At the morning service of the Free church on Sunday, April 17, Rev. Merritt A. Farren, secretary of the Boston Seaman's Friend society will speak. Mr. Farren is an able speaker and will give an interesting address. The Free church makes regular contributions to this work. The pastor will be present and conduct the service.

On Friday evening, April 22, from 7:30 to 9:00 the church will celebrate Dr. Wilson's eightieth birthday. All members of the church and congregation are asked to be present and make this party a success.

The Sunday morning service on April 24 will be a part of the celebration of Dr. Wilson's eightieth birthday. The pastor's topic will be "How to Avoid Being Old." It is hoped that Dr. Wilson will take part in the service. A special invitation to attend this service is given to those who have known Dr. Wilson during his forty-three years of service in Andover.

Little Beatrice Paine Has Birthday Party Wednesday

Wednesday afternoon the fifth birthday of little Miss Beatrice Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Paine, 40 Walnut avenue, was celebrated at her home with a party at which many of her friends were guests. Dainty refreshments were served, and games were played. The little hostess received numerous gifts from her friends.

Those present were: Janice Hyland, Nancy Hyland, Anne Marie Sullivan, Elizabeth Sullivan, Thomas Garvey, Dorothy Paine, Marjorie Paine, Beatrice Paine, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hyland, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Crowe, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Paine, Mrs. Patrick Garvey, Mrs. Augustine Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Paine.

The Bugle and Drum corps is rehearsing frequently and shows promise of developing into an excellent aggregation.

Shawsheen P.T.A. Entertains Groups

The Shawsheen Parent-Teachers' association observed Neighborhood Night last Wednesday evening at their monthly meeting. Members of the Bradlee and Andover Mothers' clubs were cordially welcomed as guests.

Dr. C. A. Bonner of the Danvers State hospital gave a very instructive talk on "Mental Health, its Value and Preservation." He emphasized the preservation of a normal mental condition by a quick detection of unusual traits in young people. He outlined the three divisions of the mind; intellectual, emotional and the will and enlarged upon the normal development of each one.

Dr. Bonner said that we cannot overestimate the importance of pleasant home influences and proper environment in the mental health of the growing child.

The musical program, under the direction of Mrs. Andrew Innes, consisted of the following numbers presented by pupils of Joseph Consentino:

Simplicity	Lee, arranged by Bauer
Banjo solo, Eleanor Pflug

Rev. Everett R. Barrows Reappointed M.E. Pastor

Rev. Everett R. Barrows, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Ballardvale, was re-appointed to serve another year at the recent conference of the Methodist churches held at Leominster.

Mr. Barrows and his wife came to Ballardvale a year ago to succeed Rev. Elwyn Scheyer who left at the completion of his duties at the Boston School of Theology to take up new duties in Washington. Since coming to this town Mr. and Mrs. Barrows have endeared themselves to their parishioners and also to other friends of the community. Mr. Barrows has made splendid progress in building up the membership of the church, the church school and the young people's societies.

The Epworth League was revived through Mr. Barrows' efforts and some fine religious and social adventures have been achieved by the young members of the church. The Ballardvale United Basketball team was another project that attained great success in the recent series of church games held at the Lawrence Y. M. C. A. and this was due to the efficient coaching the team received from Mr. Barrows, a star player himself.

The Ladies' Aid society has made splendid progress in building up the membership of the church, the church school and the young people's societies.

Private vs. Public Relief Work

Encouraging reports emanating from the rooms of Andover post, 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars, where an intensive job campaign is now being waged, should certainly put a stop to the talk around town about another special town meeting for the unemployed. Those in charge of the registration say that many men have been put to work through their efforts, and this should be effective in preventing another special meeting which would undoubtedly turn down any suggested appropriation just as the last two meetings have done.

It is a good sign to see extra-official action succeeding. Human nature rebels at being forced to pay for anything, while at the same time it rejoices in giving something voluntarily. The communities which expanded their budgets to take care of the unusual unemployment are today unable to secure any funds to carry on the ordinary functions of government, whereas those which kept their public expenditures down to a minimum and left the care of the unemployed to private agencies are running along smoothly at the present time. Andover has only to compare itself with other towns and cities to realize that the wise course to take is the one it has been taking; namely to steer clear of raids upon the pocketbooks of taxpayers who in many cases are unable to bear any further expense, and at the same time to encourage private voluntary endeavors in order to assure that the unemployed are not neglected.

The Andover post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is to be commended for its worthy attempt to secure jobs. If all the organizations in town joined in an intensive campaign to obtain funds and jobs, our employment situation would be even better than it is today. Other cities have adopted an intensive extra-official drive and found it successful beyond all expectations. In Portland, Oregon, a recent three weeks' campaign netted ten million dollars in pledges for work to be done, a figure which was twice the original goal. This was purely a voluntary venture in which many civic associations co-operated. Portland would be in a terrible position financially if it had attempted to raise the money by taxation. Job campaigns alone are of course not sufficient, but Andover's citizens are also alive to the necessity of food for the families of the unemployed or disabled. This is shown by the orange barrel plan initiated by a group of public-spirited citizens and made possible through the co-operation of six local merchants. If everyone who has shopping to do will do it in Andover tomorrow and show his gratitude for having money for shopping by leaving a few articles in the orange barrels, the town will be able to boast that it has a low tax rate and at the same time has not allowed its residents to go hungry.

Twice in the last three months the voters of Andover have turned down all extraordinary expenditures. Were the question to be brought up again, it would once more be turned down, but thanks to the efforts of the V. F. W. and other such groups there will be no demand for a special town meeting.

Editorial Cinder

It was one of the most thoughtful things that the Board of Selectmen could have done when they appointed Frank M. Smith clerk of the police department Monday at the conclusion of his long service as chief. When a captain of a ship brings his vessel safely into port after his last voyage, he well deserves the rest he is planning on for the years to come, and no one can begrudge him the pleasure of a little home at the edge of the sea where he can watch the comings and goings of the vessels with which he is so familiar. Frank M. Smith will still have the pleasure of seeing his former charges doing their work on the force and he will still be at the scene of those things which nineteen years' acquaintance has made dear to him. Probably no more fitting task could have been given him than that of keeping the records in which he has been the dominant figure for many years. Then too the service will surely benefit by having him on hand to give advice when needed.

Communication

To the Editor of the Townsman:

Have the citizens of Andover lost their reason and become mad with terror, fearful for the very existence of Phillips Academy and been led to believe that their town is doomed because a harmless, beneficial state educational institution is coming to settle within its borders?

Why were we so thoughtlessly sleeping for over a year until, suddenly, a disgruntled, so-called trustee of a colony, false to her trust, bounced into town and ignited a spark that spread into a conflagration? We like children have been led astray, fed up on terrible bear stories, with no big brother assuring us that the bears are very tame ones and that it is safe to go out into our back yards and play. There is not one single case on record where anyone has been harmed or molested by students enrolled in the three similar state schools. Delegations going to Wrentham, unlike the spies into the Promised Land, had no Joshua among them to call our attention to the wonderful fruit of the land and declare that our town will be perfectly able to take care of the giants. Surely the future alumni of the proposed school for feeble minded are not likely to stage such an orgy as that brilliant, highly educated product of Boston University put over a few days ago in our sister town of Brookline. Besides at one time a very substantial number of townsmen believed that Phillips Academy was gobbling up our land, acquiring privileges for her exclusive use and was, financially, a drag on our town until the publication of specific data proving her to be a mighty big asset to all of us in innumerable ways. Do not think for one minute, that the state school will be far behind in this respect.

The State is coming to possess fertile, well tilled land abounding in houses, sheds and huge dairy barns, the like of which is seldom found all together in one spot, and to reclaim many barren acres too. And all this is admirably adapted and ready to serve the State's needs. Buildings will be put in perfect order, new ones built from time to time and always kept immaculate. The landscape will be beautified, not injured by this settlement, and motoring through it will be a joy. It will stop land owners selling out to undesirable parties of the kind who have notoriously dominated West Andover with their stills and bootlegging activities. Its vigilance will not make it healthy for squatters near this colony to propagate that infernal business. This alone is enough in favor of nothing more. The State's coming will relieve our farmers some of whom are in dire distress. The State will pay for what it gets and help those first who need it most and will allow some to remain and work the land at a minimum rental until needed by it. If you cannot persuade the State to take your land then how about evil omens as some are doing elsewhere.

Consider the millions bequeathed to Andover, Yale, Harvard and other schools having standards set so high that none but the brighter lights can pass. Then stop and think. What of the scholars who miss the mark lose their right to study, of students denied a chance to enter, of those lower down and those still lower down in the scale of intelligence who fail to measure up, at varying ages, with those of their own years? Would it have been necessary for the State to salvage its unfortunate offerings? Benevolent people had thought of them? If they had founded schools of learning to meet their need also instead of giving all to the cause of higher education?

We have allowed Phillips Academy to possess our land to buy for her own control many valuable properties and have generated a consideration whereby she now all most completely dominates "The Hill". All this mind you to help boys all over the world who care nothing for us but who have love only for their alma mater, dwelling here, who nourished them. We are glad to do this. We are proud of our school. We glory in it. We would not have her standards lower. But we owe something to our famous state, something to our own boys and girls here and in towns around us.

The following is a report of the Secretary of the Interior to the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection and a copy, in part, as published in The United States Daily, Washington, D. C., April 4th. Those interested would do well to secure a copy and read the entire report.

"While 35,000,000, or seven-ninths of America's children are reasonably normal, and 1,500,000 are specially gifted, about 5,630,000 are handicapped to an extent requiring special attention and education. It is unquestionably better to spend more money today in helping the handicapped child to help himself, than it is to spend many times as much tomorrow in supporting him at public expense. The education of the crippled child is not philanthropy—it is enlightened self interest. The Conference recommended: For every child who is blind, deaf, crippled or otherwise physically handicapped, and for the child who is mentally handicapped such measures as will early discover and diagnose his handicap, provide care and treatment, and so train him that he may become an asset to society rather than a liability. Expenses for these services should be borne publicly where they cannot be privately met. Enrolled in elementary school grades are 450,000 pupils who are mentally retarded to a degree requiring special attention to make the most of their possibilities, but as yet less than 60,000 of these are enrolled in special classes. The committee found that comparatively few handicapped children have the advantage of early discovery, treatment and training, and that special education of all types of handicapped children is almost wholly confined to cities. In many cities of 10,000 population or more no provision is made for the special education of any type of handicapped child, and no large city in the country is providing special education for all of its handicapped children who need it.

The opportunity has come but Andover says—"No! A school like this will hurt us. It will cost us something!" Phillips Academy says—"No! No! We have a name, a fame that must not be trilled with. Therefore we brand this thing—a serious and lasting detriment to the welfare of Phillips Academy—"It is a good thing. We all sympathize with it. We would like to help but we can not have any part in it." Millions for the strong—not one cent for the weak. Latch strings out for the stranger—doors shut tight against our own. Charity without works. Red men fought to save their hunting grounds but lost out in the march of progress. The good cannot monopolize good and prosper. "A City set on a hill cannot be hid." But it can be destroyed and its light can be clouded, can fade, flicker and die out. Already a cloud has interrupted its sunbeams—a shadow that we not they have cast. The eyes of the Christian world are focused upon us. We must be careful what we do. Let all of us together, Abbot Academy, Phillips Academy with her alumni and that town about which Phillips Brooks wrote—"Andover everywhere and always, first, last—the manly, straightforward, sober, patriotic New England Town" dispel that cloud, stretch forth a welcome hand to help, add another ray to our beacon light and make it grow into the brightness of a perfect sun.

PERLEY F. GILBERT, P. A. '90

Blames Depression on Human Nature
The blame for the present depressed condition of business may be found in the violent changes in human nature, intensified by high-pressure salesmanship and various plans for deferred payment, according to a statement by Alfred L. Ripley of Central street, chairman of the Merchants National Bank, Boston, to the Massachusetts Special Commission on Stabilization of Employment.

The commission, which has been seeking suggestions from men and women in all walks of life, is trying to get a first-hand picture of what people are thinking regarding the whole problem of stabilization of business and employment.

Mr. Ripley's statement follows: "The root of the whole matter, it seems to me, is to be found in human nature which tends to extravagant and excessive wants at times, and then turns violently in the other direction. The situation is intensified by the people who supply these wants in their endeavor to stimulate sales; and I believe that high-pressure salesmanship and the various deferred plans for payment have contributed materially to our present situation.

"The prime cause of our present trouble is to be found in the waste and destruction caused by the war, and the burden of indebtedness after the war which was incurred by nations who sought to make good the waste and to continue living on the pre-war scale, although they could not afford to do so."

Caller: "Is the boss in?"
New Office Boy: "Are you a salesman, a bill collector, or a friend of his?"
"All three."
"He is in a business conference. He is out of town. Step in and see him."

The election of county officers and reports of committees will be taken up and much anxiety has been aroused about the oratorical contest which follows the business of the day. Now for an entirely new convention feature—a box lunch supper at the Dane Street church at 6.00 which will be followed by a song festival at 6.30.

With two fine dinners, and the business of the day finished, we can now relax and listen to one of the most interesting speakers and teachers of Religion at Northfield, Rev. G. D. Feagan of the Arlington church, who is widely known among the young people of Christian Endeavor.

The Junior Convention will be held at the Dane Street church and they will have one of the finest of all speakers, "Pa" Sherward, and they will also enjoy an afternoon of recreation at the Y. M. C. A.

The main feature of the Intermediate program will be a hike to the lighthouse on Hospital point where they will ascend the lighthouse and view the big light.

The Andover C. E. Union cordially invites the young members of the church as their guests at this annual Essex County Convention in Beverly on April 19, 1932.

Roseland on the Merrimack, Lawrence, Opens Tonight

This is gala opening night at Roseland-on-the-Merrimack and Billy Murphy and his sensational Royal Arcadians will occupy the orchestral stage from 8.30 until 12.30 in the morning. Roseland has been entirely renovated and many improvements have been made for the comfort and enjoyment of its patrons. The Arcadians, who are again honored by playing on opening night, are easily the most consistently popular visiting band in the Merrimack Valley. They are coming here tonight direct from New York's million-dollar Arcadia, where they have scored signal successes during a long-term engagement. Roland Russell and his Rollicking Ramblers will play for check dancing tomorrow evening and also on Monday night, Patriots' Eve, and Tuesday evening, Patriots' Night. As a special added feature tomorrow evening, the Harmony Sisters, Miss Rita Conroy and Miss Irene Endyke, will be heard in a fine program of the latest song hits. Roseland is situated on the Lawrence-Lowell Boulevard.

Next Saturday evening the Women's Union will have a supper and entertainment in the vestry. Supper will be served at six o'clock and is in charge of Mrs. John Noyes. Admission 35 cents.

Andover Grange met on Tuesday evening and worked the first and second degrees on five candidates. The first degree was given by the regular officers and the second degree by a Men's Degree team which was coached by Mr. Dennis with Roland Trauschke as master. The next meeting will be Tuesday, April 26. There will be a supper at seven o'clock, followed by the third and fourth degrees. Third degree will be given by a Ladies' Degree team, and fourth by the regular officers. There will be inspection of the Grange at this meeting.

The First Robin
"Looking from the window early one morning last week I saw two robins on the lawn, the first I had seen this spring. What a thrill it gave me to see them, and how the coming summer seemed to pass before me as seen in a kaleidoscope.
How he should miss the robin if he vanished from our summer. To me he seems to typify courage and industry, joy and thankfulness. His every movement is a challenge to the future as if he feared it not at all.
The robin's summer task seems to be quite out of proportion to his size, and yet it is not all work with him. He never fails to greet the new day with a glad song and his evening melody falls like a benediction on the silent air.
He is a friendly bird and builds his nest near our houses, but one often sees him in the solitudes of Cat Swamp and Falls Woods. He is fond of fruit but I do not resent his visits to my cherry tree and strawberry bed.
For all my life I have loved the robin."

Christian Endeavor Plans

Announced for Convention

The parade may start at 9.30 sharp. One of the unusual features of the parade will be the Salem Junior Christian Endeavor band which will lead the delegations. The Danvers Legion band will take the middle and the Beverly Legion band will follow at the rear so that we will be assured of fine music on our march about the town. But don't get foot weary because it has been stated that the route will be a short one. The parade will end at the Swedish Congregational church, where we will file in and open the convention with the morning service at 10.0.

Rev. F. Kenyon of Southbridge will deliver the morning address and members must be sure and fill their registration cards out before leaving this service. The morning service will close at 12.00 so that there will be a half hour interval before dinner.

Dinner will be served in the same church at 12.30 and with continuous calling of "Stand Up, Stand Up", for speakers and singing of the old time melodies; it is usually proclaimed the most enjoyable part of the program. Tickets are in charge of Clare Norton and they may also be obtained from the presidents of the respective societies.

With dinner over at 1.30 the next hour and forty-five minutes will be at one's own disposal, or he may join one of the sight-seeing tours about town.
