The Town Meeting

Some good and some bad would result if all the articles in the town warrant for next Monday's meeting were approved by the voters. Those who are able to crowd into the town hall should bear in mind that there are two sides to the question of unemployment relief; the necessity of providing food and clothing for the needy. An ideal way, for instance, of reducing unemployment in Andover would be to bring to town "good sound industries" as Article 6 reads, but four of the preceding articles would raise the tax rate and no industry will come to Andover or stay in Andover unless the rate is kept low.

Article one is in effect a raid on the already over-strained reserve fund. It asks for a transfer to the Board of Public Welfare of $10,000 or any part of this amount. A few weeks ago the Board of Public Welfare itself asked for a transfer of $5,000 from this fund, and it was granted by the finance committee. There is only $7543.23 left in the fund at present, and it will have to be replenished at the next annual town meeting. A few of the unemployed have looked upon this reserve as a gold mine, but it should be regarded as existing only for an actual emergency and not as something that can be drawn upon whenever someone happens to feel that a town board ought to have more money. It is to be presumed that the Board of Public Welfare is aware of the state of its own accounts and does not have to be told by outsiders that it needs more money. It asked for it once and as a result it had on hand last week nearly $6,000. No transfer from the Reserve fund could possibly be allowed when a department has such a balance. If the Board of Public Welfare needs more money in December, it will ask for it.

Article two asks for an appropriation of any part of $20,000 to be used by the Board of Public Works in providing work for the unemployed. If the sponsors of the meeting were really solicitous for the welfare of Andover's idle, they would have suggested that the funds be administered by the Emergency committee. The Board of Public Works does not have the proper organization for examining the claims of the people who would seek work under this article, whereas the Emergency committee has investigated the needy cases. It would not be too much to assume that employment funds are requested through the medium of a town meeting merely to provide for those who could not stand investigating. If it is actually felt that a special appropriation is needed, the wise course to take would be to legalize the Emergency committee and have it spend the money. The committee has been planning an appeal for funds for late September and any demand for a special appropriation should have awaited the result of this appeal.

Article three would have all town work paid for at the prevailing rate of town wages. This should be adopted only if the wages paid for labor by the town were reduced. The town of Reading recently cut the wages it was paying for emergency relief work from forty cents an hour to thirty cents. The Emergency committee is paying forty cents now, and a few of Andover's unemployed are dissatisfied. They claim that they dislike to work at that rate since the regular employees of the Board of Public Works receive fifty-six and a quarter cents per hour. Most inexperienced people newly-hired by a firm work for less than the employees who have been with the firm for years. These few unemployed, however, seem to think that they are the exception to the rule. Naturally, if there were a higher rate, fewer unemployed would benefit from any definite sum of money.

The next article is another attempt of outsiders to run the affairs of the Board of Public Welfare. It would require the Board to spend two-thirds of the money now on hand for work. The Board of Public Welfare is not hoarding its money; it will all be spent when needed, and the officials deserve great credit for not spending all available funds before they are needed. Article five asks the adoption of the forty-hour five-day week. There are really so few town employees who would be affected by this provision that any discussion of it would be superfluous. Teachers, firemen, police, and town hall employees would have to remain outside its scope for obvious reasons. The employees of the Board of Public Works would be affected, however. As the Townsman said last March, this is a matter for the Board of Public Works to take up. There was an article for this purpose in the annual warrant and it was indefinitely postponed. It should meet the same fate again this time.

Article six seems really an attempt to appoint an official chamber of commerce. Bringing good sound industries to Andover is an excellent idea. The best way, as we have said above, to do this is to keep the tax rate low. In March the town voted $4200 for installing water and sewer systems on a projected development between Chestnut and Summer streets. This work has been done and some $1600 balance remains tied up in Articles 8 and 9 of the annual warrant. It will go on this year's tax bill, and so there is no reason why the balance should not be transferred for use immediately, as Article seven provides.

Article eight was also turned down in March, along with a number of other similar requests for water extensions. It was voted down then because the voters agreed with the finance committee as stated in their report "that this is not a year to add to our investment in material things that we can do without." This reasoning still holds.

Article nine is a request to legalize Sunday sports in Andover. At present golf and tennis are played, but baseball, football, soccer, etc., are not allowed. Because of this good clean sport is not seen on the Playstead on Sunday, but instead one can frequently see little bands of Andover's young citizens shooting dice for their Sabbath enjoyment. Such a situation prevents the forming of any teams to represent Andover in some of the leagues which play on Sunday, thus depriving the players of an opportunity to enjoy fine healthy sport and making the athletic-minded townspeople go out of town to witness contests. Of course, there may be abuses, but the Selectmen are allowed by the wording of the article to make such regulations and restrictions as they see fit. It would be in the Selectmen's power, then, to prevent any abuses, thus giving the town the benefits without the evils of Sunday sports.

Simeone Store Has 25th Anniversary

The Simeone store at the corner of Elm street in the Musgrove block is twenty-five years old. In 1907 Paul Simeone established a fruit store and waiting room in the Musgrove building, where the townspeople waited for the cars to Lawrence and to Haverhill. The carline to Haverhill up Elm street has since been discontinued.

Mr. Simeone's two sons, Paul, Jr., and William, are now in the business with him. This week, too, marked Mr. and Mrs. Simeone's 26th wedding anniversary. They were married on September 20, 1906.

The Townsman of September 27, 1907 carried the following story:

"A longfellow want has at last been filled. That waiting room for the trolley cars so much needed in town has at last found a place in the Musgrove block in the store formerly occupied by H. F. Chase.

"The store is now occupied by the Paul Simeone Co. who will carry a full line of fruits of all kinds, candy, cigars, and tobacco, and cookies and crackers of well known makes.

"Mr. Simeone has arranged his store neatly and attractively and he will have settees on one side for those who have to wait for either the Haverhill or the Boston cars.

"On the outside is a large shelf upon which is displayed in gaudy array, a fine line of oranges, grape fruit, grapes, plums, and peaches. Nuts will also be sold here and a peanut stand whistles merrily to the passers-by. It will make a most attractive waiting room."

Officials, Committees Oppose Appropriations

Emergency Group Meeting

The Emergency committee at its meeting Friday night decided to ask the advice of the selectmen. A letter was mailed Tuesday to the board, and was answered immediately. The Emergency committee felt that the emergency committee called by the chairman to consider its future program, in view of the pending special town meeting, it was voted to ask your advice, as we consider ourselves merely a group of citizens appointed by your Board to help the community during a crisis. We had planned to ask for voluntary contributions from the citizens of Andover during the last week in September. When we organized early in June we met with surprising generosity on the part of town employees and citizens. Of late, however, due to the constant agitation for special town meetings, we have noted that gifts were withheld. People who are willing and eager to help say that they cannot be expected to give if there is a possibility that they might again have to contribute through taxation.

"We have, however, raised substantial amounts so that we have employed 265 men during the past three months. Besides this, our representatives have called upon the Andover and Lawrence mills with the result that fifty have been employed and removed from our lists. If it is your wish, we will gladly make a complete report of our activities to this committee, or some similar one, on Monday, September 26. You will be interested to know that not a penny of the amount given is used for our organization work.

"We were given to understand that the promoters of the coming town meeting would consult with us before filing the petition for the town meeting to be held on Monday, September 26. We would have been glad to show them our plan for carrying on our work. This, however, they did not do. "If the taxpayers at the town meeting adopt the articles in the warrant, the task of this committee would cease. If, however, the articles are rejected, it seems necessary that this committee, or some similar one, make an immediate effort to raise a fund and provide further work for the unemployed, so that the deserving who are in need of work shall not suffer."

Selectmen's Answer

The answer of the selectmen follows: "We acknowledge receipt of yours of the 20th instant.

"It is very gratifying to this Board to have the present emergency so well taken care of and also to feel that the Andover Emergency committee is prepared to carry this good work along during the coming months.

"The selectmen are of the opinion that appropriations are not necessary at the present time to meet this emergency; your plans seem more practical.

"We all know that the general conditions are greatly improved and unemployment is much relieved. We can not however give definite assurance regarding the need there may be in the future to call upon taxation for additional appropriations. May we repeat that we heartily feel that the present emergency is being met in Andover very ably."

Finance Board Disapproves

The report and recommendations of the Finance committee were as follows: "To the Citizens of Andover: In submitting its recommendations on the Articles contained in the Warrant to be acted upon at the special town meeting of September 26, 1932, your finance committee is influenced by the belief that unemployment does not in every instance mean distress.

"Article 1—A consultation with the Board of Public Welfare concerns the committee that whatever distress actually exists is being taken care of in a satisfactory manner by their board. In fact, your finance committee recently approved a transfer to the account of the Board of Public Welfare from the Reserve Fund for the amount of $5000 making the total amount of their control at present approximately $6240.

"They state that this sum is sufficient for the balance of the year. Article 1 is not approved.

"Article 2—It is imperative that the tax rate be kept as low as possible. The Finance committee know of no project which would warrant an expenditure of $20,000 or any part thereof. Article 2 is not approved.

"Articles 3, 5, 6, 9—No recommendations by the Finance committee necessary.

"Article 4—The Board of Public Welfare states that its funds are sufficient for the balance of the year, having the sum of $6240. This sum of this would be $4160. Article 4 is not approved.

"Article 7—The Board of Public Works asks for permission to expend the balance of a sum already voted at the last annual town meeting. Article 7 is approved.

"Article 8—No project should be undertaken until there are a division of responsibility either financial or otherwise. Article 8 is not approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES J. BALLEW,
Chairman

Planning Academy Musical Season

In order to ascertain how ambitious a programme of concerts the Music Department of Phillips academy may embark upon during the coming school year it is inquiring how many of those on its mailing list would be willing to subscribe to a series of at least three major concerts at $5.00 per season. The music department is presenting a recital next Thursday evening by Felix Fox of Boston, assisted by Mr. Gray, also of Boston. The public is invited to this recital of compositions for one and two pianos. There will be no admission charge.

The program follows:

Obituaries

MURRAY
George Edwin Murray, a resident of Andover for the past forty-three years and president of the Murray Brothers company of Lawrence, died at 435 North Main street, on Wednesday morning following an illness of nearly a year.

Mr. Murray was born in Lebanon, Maine on November 25, 1853, the son of Lewis and Arabell (Goodwin) Murray. He graduated from Coburn Classical Institute at Waterville, Maine, in 1874 and received his A.B. degree from Colby college in 1879. He married Cora M. Tuttle of Athens, Maine, on November 25, 1885, and four years later they moved to Andover, where they have lived since then at 435 North Main street, near the Lawrence line.

Mr. Murray was a member of the corporation of the Andover Savings bank and a director of the Merchants Trust company of Lawrence. He was also a member of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange. In addition he was a former treasurer of the First Baptist church of Lawrence and a former member of the Y. M. C. A. and the Lawrence Boys' club. For several years he served on the directorate of the Massachusetts Baptist Missionary society and the Massachusetts Baptist Sunday School association.

Mr. Murray was one of the most prominent local country farmers, who he was when on the board of trustees for the past twenty-three years. He was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. One of the principal benefactors of the college, he was the donor of the George E. Murray prize for debating.

The success of the Murray Brothers company can easily be traced to his presiding. Since the very first day that the original Murray store was opened until his recent illness he was at his desk daily and was never absent from a meeting of the board of directors of that company. In his long business career, Mr. Murray made many friends and was highly esteemed wherever he had business relations.

Mr. Murray leaves besides his wife, a sister, Mrs. Mae Richardson, and a brother, Frank of Sanford, Maine, as well as several nieces and nephews.

BARRON
Mrs. Mary E. Barron, wife of William E. Barron, died Sunday at her home on Haggatt's Pond road, Andover. The deceased was born in New York 55 years ago and for the past 20 years had made her home in Andover.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Thomas and William; Barton of Lawrence; two daughters, Mabel and Helen, of Andover; and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the late home Wednesday afternoon and burial was in the Spring Grove cemetery.

ABBOTT
Ellen J. Abbott, daughter of the late George L. Abbott and Sara Stevens Abbott, and one of the oldest members of the South church, died in Malden on Wednesday. She was born on January 25, 1848 and lived in Andover until 1911, after which time she made her residence with Mrs. James R. Littleton in Augusta, Ga., and since the fall of 1929, in Malden. Miss Abbott was an alumna of Abbot academy and Wheaton Seminary. Even after leaving Andover, she never moved her membership from the South church.

Miss Abbott had two sisters, Mrs. A. G. Martin, who died last year and Mrs. William Martin, who died in 1920. She is survived by two nieces, Helen Marland Bradbury and Mary Marland; a grandniece, Helen Littleton; and two grand nephews, James and Abbott Littleton.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at two o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Littleton, 32 Rockland avenue, Malden. Services will also be held at the South church cemetery at 3.30.

LESLIE
The Andover friends of Mrs. Catherine Brown Leslie, widow of David Leslie, will be saddened to learn of her death September 21 in the home of her son David Leslie, Conn., in her 79th year. She was born in Scotland and came to Andover in her early married life when her husband was for many years a hecker in the Smith and Dove flax mills.

Since Mr. Leslie's death in February 1928 she has lived with her children in Hartford. She was a member of the Free Christian church for fifty years. Among her surviving relatives are her son, James; her daughter, Mrs. Alice Leslie Lindsay; and three grandchildren all of Hartford, a sister in Scotland and a brother in Canada, and several nieces and nephews. The funeral service will be held in the Free church parish house on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock with Rev. F. A. Wilson, D.D., officiating.

$2,000,000 Expenditure to Help Revere's Idle

(By the Revere Journal)

REVERE—Two big public projects, involving an expenditure of nearly $2,000,000, and which will supply many men with employment during the winter, were announced last week by the State Department of Public Works. One of these is for the abutments and piers of the Point of Pines bridge over the Saugus river, the other for the Wellesley Hills by-pass, which is the final section of the Worcester turnpike between Worcester and Boston.

The appropriation for the Point of Pines bridge is $1,315,000 and the estimated cost of the Wellesley Hills by-pass is $630,000. Bids on both undertakings will be opened by the department September 27.

The Point of Pines bridge, which will be located parallel to and just a little upstream from the existing bridge, will be 1247 feet long and 70 feet wide, carrying a 60-foot roadway and two walks, one 7 1/2 and the other 2 1/2 feet wide. The present bridge is only 26 feet wide. The contract covers two concrete abutments with gravel approaches, two concrete piers with granite masonry facing for the draw span and ten concrete piers with masonry facing to carry the main part of the bridge. This bridge, when completed, will eliminate the bottle-neck on the heavily travelled shore route between Revere beach and Lynn.

The Wellesley Hills by-pass, which will be a two mile concrete highway, will be located on the old route from the main street and makethe new section the principal highway.

The issue was warmly contested. The petitioners presented arguments showing that by constructing the by-pass the rural beauty of the town would be retained, the shade trees on Main street unharmed and property undamaged. Stress was laid by some that the present traffic, particularly heavy trucks was detrimental and injurious to the interest of the town. It was also pointed out that the traffic on the main street was a menace to school children and that the school buses had to unload the children directly in its path.

The opponents denied that the town's beauty would suffer if the main highway was widened and that the property damage would not be as great as if the by-pass was put in. A point was raised that removal of the curves and widening the street would make it a speedway and more prone to accidents than its present layout. The argument regarding danger by children being unloaded in the path of traffic was refuted by a statement that it was wholly unnecessary to have them leave the bus in the street, as there was room at the side of the building where they could leave the conveyance.

By-Pass Plan in Bolton Supported and Opposed

Frogs Cut into Profiles

The fireflies, glowing insects, are gathered by Japanese peasants and sold to tea gardens. Placed in transparent receptacles, they are used for decorative purposes. The workers capture the insects by striking their perch with a club, shaking them from their perch to the ground. Natives pick them up and stuff them in their mouths until they have a substantial mouthful, when they are taken to a common receptacle.

A rival in the firefly gathering has appeared in large green frogs; the puddle-jumpers have spotted the most profitable breeding places, where their long sticky tongues lick in the luminous flies by the dozen. Through the long pale green skin of the aquatic croaker the swallowed fireflies glow like a tail light.

Until the frog menace is curbed, the Japanese peasant is losing his profitable sideline.

Attend Bugle and Drum Corps Competition

parade and competition tomorrow, members of Andover post will sell tags, the proceeds of which are to be used to defray the expenses of this gigantic undertaking.

With the final judging, the prizes will be awarded the winners of the different classes. These prizes are as follows: First prize, $100 for highest number of points, regardless of class and size. Class A: first prize, $50; second, $25; third, cup. In addition, the best drum major, judged on personal appearance, flash, strut and efficiency, will receive the American Legion gold medal, awarded drum majors who qualify for this national medal.

Colorful Uniforms
Emphasizing the color and striking appearance of the competing drum corps which will be seen at the competition is the different type of uniforms worn by the various drum corps.

The Malden corps, which will lead the parade, wear a red, white and blue uniform, taking on the appearance of West Point cadets, with a hat that speaks of the dress hat of the future generals. Framingham, coming from the most distant point, appears in a blue coat and red pants, a striking combination and the reverse of the Andover color scheme. North Andover, with a black and white dress, excites comment on every appearance. Beverly, one of the best known corps of the state, has gained recognition with its pure white uniform with a tinge of gold lending a tinge beautiful in its marking.

Beverly, a B-class corps, is particularly anxious to maintain their boast of being much better than many of the class-A units.

Lowell, with the dress uniform of black and gold of West Point, featuring the full plume hats, merits applause on every appearance. Exeter, N. H., uses the green and blue combination to great advantage, with the drum major wearing a 22-quart hat. Peabody's best feature is a bizarre helmet capping a straight Legion uniform. Next in line is Lawrence, the largest corps in the state, which, if it comes out in the uniform that is known throughout the state by its cream, green and blue combination, will attract the attention that it did during the state convention. Derry, N. H., has a very neat ensemble of red and blue. Haverhill appears in the uniform of the Canadian Mounted Police, with a double-breasted red coat, black breeches, patent leather puttees, and the cowboy hat.

Such a parade and competition, with the color, fire and spectacular uniforms, augmented by the national, state and post colors, will excite comment on any parade day, and Andover will certainly gain recognition in bringing to the town a competition of this proportion.

The tag committee, at its final meeting Wednesday, estimated that the prize money bugle was three-quarters filled, and announced that all unsold tags must be returned to the Legion rooms, Friday between 7 and 7:30 p. m. as they will be needed by the committee for sale Saturday. Volunteers are also needed to meet at the rooms Friday at 5:30 p. m. to interest the Phillips academy boys at the Commons at supper time. The award of the wrought iron fern hamper will be announced at the playstead Saturday at five o'clock.

Playdon's Flower Shop 25 years Old

Under the heading "The New Flower Store" the Townsman of 25 years ago today contained the following story:

"Aren't those flowers lovely? 'Oh! what a pretty store, I'm so glad we've got a florist's shop up town,' etc., etc., are the comments made about J. H. Playdon's store in the Arco building. And it is a very attractive place. One window is filled with ferns with a great bunch of Japanese lilies in the center and in the other window wagonias of all colors and kinds make a background for the handsome gladiolae displayed. Hanging in small baskets are little Japanese ferns, greatly adding to the attractiveness.

"Fresh cut flowers come every day from the greenhouses in Frye Village, where Mr. Playdon makes a specialty of carnations, violets, roses, and chrysanthemums, and the beautiful specimens shown amply testify to his knowledge of the care of flowers."

Since its establishment in 1907, the Playdon florist shop in the Arco building has always been one of most attractive stores in town. Mr. Playdon was in business thirteen years before founding this store, having started in 1894. He still maintains his greenhouses in Shawsheen (Frye) Village on Lowell street.

Throughout his 38 years in business, Mr. Playdon's aim has always been quality in flowers. He carries a full line of seasonal flowers at all times, which may be seen at his up-town store, now having its 25th birthday.

Tyer Co. Foremen Hold Annual Outing

Baseball, wrestling, motor boat racing, and track events were the features of the outing of the Tyer Rubber company foremen held last Saturday at Pelham Inn, Pelham, N. H. An exciting closely contested ball game ended in an 11-3 victory for the shoe foremen over the sundry foremen. Jimmy Welch starred behind the plate and in addition made a home run. Leon Field, a hitting pitcher, in spite of a painful leg injury, collected four hits in four times at bat.

Joe Holland hit some beautiful foul balls, in addition to driving in a run. In fact, he was one of the best of the sundry drivers. The umpiring, too, was remarkable.

The line-ups follow:

Shoe foremen: Leon Field, p.; Jimmy Welch, c.; Sam Hibbert, first; Jimmy Sullivan, second; Jake Cilley, third; Johnny Sullivan, s.s.; Dan Manion, r.f.; Harry Wigley, c.f.; Billy Budd, l.f.; Victor Buscema, l.f.

Sundry foremen: Joe Holland, p.; George Barrett, c.; Henry Cairnie, first; William Foley, second; Tom O'Donnell, third; K. Bergstrom, third; Ben Dane, s.s. p.; James Gillespie, r.f.; Joe Hoffman, r.f.; Archie Gunn, c.f.; Alex Meek, l.f.

Umpires: George Branch, Alex Lamont, James Gillespie.

After the ball game, the party went to the Inn, where community singing, led by Billy Budd, with Alex Meek at the Steinway developed hearty appetites for an enjoyable dinner served at 12:30. Mr. Field spoke on the umpiring of the game and then commented on the spirit of good fellowship and cooperation displayed by the group.

After dinner the crews of the motorboats "Phantom" and "Jakey" engaged in debate concerning the records and merits of the crafts. When the race finally started, the "Jakey" didn't, despite the best efforts of Captain Jim Sullivan. Mate Jimmy Welch, and Mechanic John Sullivan. After proper fuel had been put in the tank, the "Jakey" entered the race only to meet defeat at the hands of the "Phantom" and its crew, Captain Field and Mechanic Alex Lamont.

A second race with only two men in the "Jakey" proved more exciting with the "Phantom" winning by a small margin.

Track events resulted as follows:

Fat man's race, won by George Branch; 100-yard dash (open), Hoffman, first; Ben Dane, second; Bergstrom, third; one-legged race, Ben Dane, first; Victor Buscema, second; three-legged race, Barrett and Gunn, first; Manion and O'Donnell, second.

In the wrestling matches, Holland defeated Welch; Victor defeated Jimmy Sullivan; the matches between Bergstrom and Foley, Johnny Sullivan and Sam Hibbert, Bergstrom and Victor, ended in draws; and Victor defeated Holland. Henry Cairnie acted as referee and was not thrown once.

At six o'clock the Babe Ruths, the Sonnenbergs, and the Gar Woods returned home in ten automobiles, stopping along the way to buy luncheon for their stiff, aching muscles.

Those present were: William Budd, Dan Manion, Tom O'Donnell, Harry Wigley, J. Hoffman, Kenneth Bergstrom, James Gillespie, Henry Cairnie, Alex Meek, Joseph Holland, Archie Gunn, George Barrett, William Foley, Jim Sullivan, Sam Hibbert, and Victor Buscema.

Local Accompanist Active in Clubs

Andover music-lovers will be interested to learn that Gertrude Pearce Paige is assistant director and accompanist of the Community Singing clubs, now being formed throughout New England to stimulate interest in part singing and to give opportunity to people who enjoy it to sing. In the near future these clubs are going to compete over the radio from station WBZ in Boston.

This idea originated with Gil Hamlin at station WBZ, where the original club was started a few weeks ago. A rehearsal is held each week in the main studio of the station and the large chorus will be heard on the air next Monday, September 26 at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Charles Adams White, well known musician of Boston is the musical director.
