Lot F. McNamara Gives His Answers

Candidate for State Senator Replies to League of Women Voters Questionnaire—Final Answers Next Friday

The answers of Lot F. McNamara, candidate for state senator, to the League of Women Voters' questionnaire follow:

Questions to Candidates for State Senators, Members of the House in General Court

1. Do you approve of the acceptance by Massachusetts of the so-called "Lame Duck Amendment?"

ECONOMY

2. Reduction of the cost of State Government.
3. In what way, if any, do you think the State can reduce services rendered to cities and towns?
4. Do you favor biennial sessions of the General Court?

5. Should the compensation to members of the General Court be for term of their service or should there be extra pay if called into special session?
6. Have you other suggestions to make toward possible reduction?

7. What are your views on continued responsibility of government for such welfare functions as public health, maternity and infancy work, education, handicapped and underprivileged children, etc., in view of present need for economy?
8. Would you approve accepting Federal Aid for Maternity and Infancy Welfare Work?

TAXATION

9. What forms of special taxation do you advocate to balance the State budget and meet possible emergencies?

UNEMPLOYMENT

10. What responsibility do you believe the State has toward the unemployed?

11. Do you think the unemployment situation would be helped by requiring children to stay in school until they are 16 years of age?
12. What, if any, plan of Unemployment Compensation do you advocate?

Answers to Questions

1. Approval of the "Lame Duck Amendment" most emphatically.

2. The expenses of the government are so burdensome that they are being felt either directly or indirectly by every man, woman and child in Massachusetts, yes indeed in the nation. I propose if I am elected to the Senate to advocate the most rigid economy in every department of our entire State government. It is my belief, however, that the responsibility of our State in the matter of welfare work, public health, maternity and infancy work, education, handicapped and underprivileged children is of such vital importance that this work should not be curtailed in any respect. The savings that can be effected by intelligent application of business principles should enable this department to increase its income.

Hoover Stickers, Pins Given Out

The Hoover campaign has taken on a new impetus the last two weeks with the announcement that Youngman, Bacon, and others on the Republican ticket were coming here next Friday night to hold a rally in the Town hall. This week headquarters were opened up in the Musgrave building and a store next to the Andover Coal company is being used for the distribution of Hoover pins, automobile stickers, and campaign literature. These are all free for the asking. The store is open from 10-11 in the morning, and 3-5 and 7-9 in the afternoon and evening.

Baltimore Sun Editor to Speak on Campaign

One of the outstanding features of the program of entertainment at Phillips Academy this year will be a talk by Frank R. Kent, Editor of the Baltimore Sun, on the evening of Friday, November 4th, at 8:15, in the Meeting Room of George Washington Hall. Mr. Kent, the author of "The Democratic Party," "The Great Game of Politics," and other works on political subjects, is probably the foremost political writer of our time, and one of the keenest of the present time political observers. Mr. Kent will speak on the Presidential Campaign and will discuss in general the dominant powers in our political life and their methods of operation. His address will be of a timely nature, coming as it does just before the Presidential election of 1932. No admission fee will be charged and the general public are cordially invited to attend.

Rummage Sale for Guild Tomorrow

A rummage sale for the benefit of the Andover Guild will be held tomorrow, October 29 at the Guild House on Brook street. The sale will start at nine o'clock and continue throughout the day. By searching in our attics, closets, chests and cellars, many articles for which we have no immediate use will be found, and if these are sent to the rummage sale we will be assisting both the Andover Guild and also the purchasers in obtaining useable articles for a small sum.

Wild horses could not drag some women away from the idea that an attic to be an attic must contain rocking chairs, high spinn in more than one leg, dented, tables and scratched book cases which they are positive they will repair some far distant day, baby's cribs and carriages, accumulating dust and rust, and towering piles of old magazines, some of which have been kept since the last century. These last they feel certain they will sometime reread, clip and file.

But there will be no suspicious day for this on the calendar until most of us are about ninety. And then, with arthritis, neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism will be the spirit which will mend old furniture and sort magazines? Without letting your left hand know what your right hand is doing, cast everything not in actual use from attic to cellar in a pile and trundle them post haste, before you have a chance to change your mind, to the Andover Guild.

The Guild and the purchasers will be grateful. The house will be open all day Friday and between eight and nine on Saturday for donations. Or telephone Miss Anna Kuhn, Mrs. C. C. Kimball or Mrs. W. D. Walker if assistance is needed. E.H.

English Authority to Speak Tuesday

On Tuesday evening, November 1st, at 8:15 o'clock, on the second floor of Peabody House, Phillips Academy, Dr. Edmund Horace Fellows, former Director of the Choir of St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle, will speak on "The Ayres or Songs of the Elizabethan and Jacobean Lutenists." Andover has on several occasions had the pleasure of hearing the English Singers. They are the creation of Dr. Fellows. Writing of these singers in the Athenaeum, Professor Dent of the University of Cambridge says: "Their style is the fruit not of tradition, but of scholarship and of historical erudition supplied, as everyone knows, by Dr. Fellows.—A knowledge such as Dr. Fellows possesses, may illuminate much that to the ordinary concert-goer of to-day is obscure, and in this way enable interpreters, such as the English Singers who have absorbed the results of his learning, to make Byrd clear at a first hearing."

Dr. Fellows, the foremost living authority on the Elizabethan and Jacobean epoch, who has spent his life in the correlation of English Madrigals, captures again for his audiences the poetry, the romance, and the beauty, of this bygone age. The lecturer's own charm of personality, the playing of the lute, and the voices of the English Singers and of his own choir at St. George's, Windsor, so artistically reproduced on records, combine to draw the listener and transport his listeners to Queen Elizabeth's court, to Shakespeare's country, to the land of William Byrd and Orlando Gibbons. Dr. Fellows's lectures hold an appeal alike to the musician, to the litterateur, to the historian, and to the romanticist. Dr. Fellows has lectured to enthusiastic audiences in many of the leading universities and colleges throughout the United States and Canada, and has given his lectures at the Royal Institution of Great Britain and the Royal Society of Antiquaries and the English Universities.

Dr. Fellows has edited the great series entitled "The English Madrigal School," consisting of 36 Vols., containing nearly 1,000 compositions, comprising the complete madrigal works of Morley, Byrd, Gibbons, Wilbye, Weelkes and others. He has also edited "The English School of Lutenist Song-Writers" and in conjunction with a number of other musicians the great ten volume edition of "Tudor Church Music."

It will be a privilege to hear Dr. Fellows next Tuesday evening. Holders of season tickets will be admitted on presentation of their tickets. For non-holders of season tickets there will be an admission charge of seventy-five cents at the door.

Kate Friskin in Recital at Abbot

The Abbot Academy musical season will be opened Tuesday night by a pianoforte recital by Miss Kate Friskin of the faculty. While Miss Friskin needs no introduction to this locality, it is entirely appropriate to remember that her art is outstanding. It is very easy to take for granted the art of one who resides in one's own community, and thereby miss its true significance.

A typical Friskin program is announced for this concert which will start at eight o'clock. Bach, Franck, Brahms, Chopin, Debussy and Albeniz are the composers listed. The Bach Suite will receive sympathetic attention. Miss Friskin's playing of the Bach is always authoritative. The great Prelude, Aria and Finale of Cesar Franck will be music of great significance on this program. Albeniz, the Spanish composer, whose music has now reached popular appeal, will bring the program to a close.

All friends of the school are cordially welcomed to this occasion, for which there will be no admission charge. The program follows:

French Suite in G major	Bach
Allermande	Albeniz
Waltz in D minor	Chopin
Nocturne in G major	Chopin
Balade in G minor	Chopin
Footsteps in the Snow	Debussy
Minirels	Albeniz
Evocation	Albeniz
Triana	Albeniz

Local Women Explain Platforms to Students

On Friday, October 21st, a group of the High School Graduates of Lawrence met under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. in the hall kindly lent to them by the Young Men's Hebrew Association. The meeting was in the nature of a School of Politics, so much in vogue at this season, and was for the purpose of discussing the Platforms of the three major political parties. The speakers were members of the Andover League of Women Voters; the Republican Platform being presented by Mrs. A. Buel Trowbridge, the Democratic by Mrs. John S. Bars, and the Socialist by Mrs. Harold R. Rafton.

Douglas Glennie, 18, of North Andover appeared at Lawrence District court Thursday morning on a charge of manslaughter, as a result of a crash on the by-pass Tuesday afternoon in which one man was killed and another seriously injured. The case was continued until November 22 since the condition of the injured man will play a large part in the trial. Hospital authorities state that his condition is uncertain, and in the event of his death the Glennie boy will be held on two charges.

Charles F. Reid, 67, of Reading died two hours after the crash, while Martin B. Hartshorn, prominent Reading official, is still hovering between life and death at the hospital. The accident, according to Glennie, was the result of being in a "dazed condition" after having spent fourteen hours walking from Gloucester to Medford as part of a Tufts college fraternity initiation. Hartshorn was proceeding toward Reading and Glennie was headed for home. Reid was thrown from the machine and Hartshorn collapsed after coming out of the wreckage. The Reading car burst into flames, and the fire department and ambulance were called to the scene.

Those Three Questions

A week from Tuesday the voters of Andover will be confronted with a ballot half of which is devoted to three questions. The very length of the questions is forbidding and causes one to wonder if, after all, the initiative was a wise addition to our legislative procedure. The ballot without the questions is long enough, so that it is really not too much to expect that very little attention will be paid to the questions, especially since the voter will be greatly absorbed in the presidential campaigns.

However, all the questions are very important. Neglect on the part of the voters may mean that in one case a measure might go through that would be harmful to the people of the Commonwealth, and in the other two cases measures of distinct benefit might be defeated. Question number one in brief would grant a privileged status to chiropractors. Today the State Board of Registration in Medicine has charge of licensing those who wish to practice the healing art, while the proposed law would set up a separate board for licensing chiropractors. The present law does not prevent those who wish to be treated by chiropractic from obtaining this treatment, but the new proposal has the very serious defect of allowing the possibility of diabetes, cancer and other illnesses by practitioners who do not measure up to the state's standards. Vote "No" on this question and you will be helping to keep the present law with its effective safeguards against abuse.

A "Yes" vote on the second question will mean that the voter approves of having the parties endorse candidates for the various offices at conventions to be held in June of every other year. The procedure then would be as follows: near the end of April a preliminary election would be held at which the delegates to the two state party conventions would be chosen and in the presidential years the delegates to the national convention would be named; in June these delegates would convene and then endorse a group of candidates who in turn would be voted on at the primaries in September. The party candidates would have first place on the nomination papers. Others desiring to run could do so as at present. It sounds like a terrible jumble, but in reality it only means a rearrangement of the present system of elections and conventions with one additional election every four years. April elections are held in presidential years even now. The June conventions will take the place of the state conventions which are held now after the September primaries. In this way the platform will be adopted before the candidate is chosen and will not be built around the candidates as at present. It seems an excellent way of keeping the advantages of the primary and at the same time restore the responsibility of the party for its candidates.

Everyone will vote "Yes" on the third question when they realize that it is a proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States which will have the effect of eliminating the "Lame duck." At present a Congressman or a Senator defeated in November serves in Congress until the following March, and is more than likely to forget his responsibility to the people. His term is ending, he will not be serving again, and so he feels that he can do just as he pleases, in spite of the fact that the people in November clearly demonstrated that they did not want him in office. The federal patronage is greatly abused in this way. The suggested amendment proposes that the Congressional term shall start on January 3rd and the Presidential term on January 20th. There really is no need for having the Nation run by men whom the people have disapproved in the election.

Lot F. McNamara Gives His Answers

deavors along these lines without additional expense to the taxpayers.
I have advocated in public print for the past eight years Biennial Sessions of the General Court. The amount of compensation of the General Court is based upon the terms of one year and to take additional compensation when going into special as they did recently was extremely unfair to the taxpayers, say the least.

5. Taxation should be in such form as to equalize the burden upon every citizen of the Commonwealth. I neither advocate soaking the rich or the poor. I believe that a system of equitable and the burden of which would fall on all classes. It is a question to which I would have to give considerable thought before committing myself.

6. I believe the question of unemployment would be relieved considerably by children staying in school until 16 years of age. The responsibility of the State is not to furnish employment to the unemployed, that is, in my opinion, a function outside the realm of the government. It is the duty of the State to encourage industry, to give every aid and assistance within its power in order that it might prosper and give employment to its citizens. Restrictions have been placed on industry in this State in my opinion that have been detrimental to them and that have retarded its growth. I am not in favor of the State furnishing work to the unemployed neither do I believe the State should ignore the unemployment situation. To initiate this work now is good business judgment, rather than delay them to later dates until the cost of construction and material is much higher than at the present time.

Stowe School Notes

In Memoriam

JOHN HENRY CAMPION

I have known Mr. Campion as a friend, and, as a friend, I wish briefly to add my tribute to his memory.

I question whether to any other citizen of Andover Mr. Campion has disclosed the subtler processes of his mind and heart so completely as to me during our intimacy of the last three years.

We have spent hours and days together and our conversations have been free and unreserved.

As I have progressively been let into the workings of his mental purposes and ideals my admiration of his sterling qualities has steadily increased.

These qualities are many but I use the allotted space to mention only three that stand out in bold relief as I write:

I. His naked honesty.

A promise by him was as sacred as a religious vow; any known violation of a pledge by him was met with his severest rebuke. He positively refused to do business with any person who had once lied to him or in any way attempted to deceive him. Moral rectitude, unimpaired, unadulterated and genuine, marked his entire business and social life.

II. His balanced judgment.

He often remarked that life's failures were due not so much to lack of education as to lack of sound judgment.

I never knew him to pass a snap judgment. If I did so he would invariably say: "Hold on! Let us see about that?" and then he would begin the process of comparing and discriminating values and relations. This ability and habit to see both sides of a question and to interject analysis between impulse and choice rendered him a safe and valuable counselor and trustee on our various Town Board matters.

III. His phenomenal kindness of soul.

Kindness radiated from him as naturally as light radiates from the sun; its fullness overleaped all barriers of creed, of race or of social distinction.

It was an effort for him to put the most charitable construction upon the conduct of his fellowmen, to be indulgent, congenial and generous to all.

May we not justly apply to Mr. Campion the following words once applied by Mark Antony to Brutus, only with fuller and richer meaning:

"His life was gentle; and the elements So mixed in him, that nature might stand up And say to all the world 'This was a man!'"

GEORGE B. FROST

STELLA J. LOWD

Mrs. Lowd appreciated humanity. She knew people, knew what they liked, what angered them, what pleased them, and what was best in them. Because she liked them they found her conversation and appreciation hard to resist. Seated on her porch overlooking the Playstead, her presence was a constant invitation to stop and talk. One might be in any sort of mood; she always did one good. A nasty temper would not be strong enough to drag one past and at sight of her sun: "What is the matter now?" If one had a good story or a happy thought she espied it afar off: "What is it you're thinking about that makes you smile like that?" Whatever the words, Mrs. Lowd was ever more interested in the visitor than in his story. Her subtle battery of conversation, friendly mood and quiet life we have means of gaining many things otherwise easily missed. One could not know her, however, and miss them all.—F.B.N.

QUESTION NO. 2
LAW PROPOSED BY INITIATIVE PETITION
Shall the proposed law which provides for an additional method of nominating candidates for nomination, at the state primaries in September, by members of political parties, for those offices to be filled by all the voters of the Commonwealth at a state election.
It provides that the state conventions of the political parties, in each state election year, shall be held before and not after the state primaries, as now, namely, not later than June 15. In order to elect delegates to such party conventions, party primaries are established to be held on the last Tuesday in April. Among other things, these state conventions may endorse candidates for offices to be filled by all the voters and to be voted upon at the state primaries. Such endorsement places a candidate in nomination, at such state primaries, without the necessity of filing nomination papers. The name of the endorsed candidate is to be placed first on the ballot and against his name is to be placed the words "Endorsed by the name of political party convention" in addition to the eight-word statement now authorized by law. Candidates endorsed by a party convention may accept said endorsement within ten days, and having so accepted may not withdraw.

It also provides for the election of district members of state committees and members of ward and town committees at the proposed party primaries in April, as well as delegates to the state party conventions, instead of at the state primaries in September, as now.
It also provides for the election of delegates to national conventions (to nominate candidates for President) at the proposed party primaries instead of at the primaries, now specially held for that purpose, and which existing law requires to be held on the last Tuesday in April (the same day proposed for the proposed party primaries).
It also provides for certain other new provisions for the election of delegates to state conventions and party primaries, the number and election of delegates to state conventions, the number of members at large of a state committee, and other matters, which in more detail chiefly are as follows:
State conventions are to be composed solely of delegates elected at the party primaries, and the number is to be one from each ward and town and one additional for every fifteen hundred votes or major fraction thereof above the first fifteen hundred votes cast at the preceding state election in such ward or town for the political party candidate for Governor, instead of a number now fixed by the state committee of each party (not less than one from each ward or town) and certain members designated by existing law.
The time, for notice to the State Secretary by ailerment or selection of their determination to hold primaries by wards, precincts or groups of precincts, to be March 1, instead of August 1, as now.
The names of candidates for election for delegates to a state convention and for district members of a state committee, to be arranged individually by alphabet instead of in groups arranged by lot, as now.
Vacancies in the office of delegate to a state or national convention not to be filled except in case of a tie vote, and then by delegates from the same district, within ten days, and if no other delegate or if not so filled, then by a state committee, rather than solely by the remaining members of the delegation; and statement of filing of such vacancy to be filed with the State Secretary.
Seating of delegates at state conventions to be in groups by senatorial districts, and order of business at said conventions defined.
Voting on candidates, by a convention, to be by roll call, if more than one candidate for the office, or by groups of delegates unless any member of such group objects.
The number of members at large of a state committee of a political party to be fixed by the state convention of a party instead of by the state committee, as now.
The existing provisions as to preparation and filing of nomination papers, objections to nominations, preparation, number, substance, arrangement and form of ballots, hours during which polls shall be open, opening of ballot boxes, canvass and return of votes, return and certification of votes, now applicable to state primaries to be applicable to the proposed party primaries.
The power of a state committee to fix the number of district delegates to a national convention to be continued, but the date of giving notice to the State Secretary of such intention to be March 1 instead of on or before the third Wednesday in March, as now.
The power of city and town committees to fix the number of members of ward and town committees to be continued, but the date of giving notice to the State Secretary, of such intention to be March 1 instead of August 1, as now, which was approved in the Senate by a vote of 21 in the affirmative and 17 in the negative and was disapproved in the House of Representatives by a vote of 62 in the affirmative and 138 in the negative, be approved.

QUESTION NO. 3
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES
Is it desirable that the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States—
"ARTICLE—
SECTION 1. The terms of the President and Vice President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

SEC. 4. The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.
SEC. 5. Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

Banker Commends Officer's Courtesy

The courtesy of one of the local police officers on October 2nd brought a letter of commendation this week from James Lord, Montclair, N. J. Mr. Lord was passing through Shawshen village and passed another car just before entering the square. The officer on duty stepped him, and his courtesy impressed Mr. Lord so that he felt obliged to congratulate the officer and the Board of Selectmen.
The letter follows:
October 22, 1932

Hon. Frank Hardy
Chairman of the Selectmen
Andover, Mass.
My dear Sir:
On October 2nd last, while driving at some speed, I passed another car just before entering the square in the delightful town of Frye, for which I was stopped by the police man on duty at that time, about 9.30 a.m.
This officer was very courteous to me, and the purpose of this letter is to thank him through you, and at the same time congratulate you on the training of your officers.
These men have not an easy position, and when you find one who handles his work as did your man, surely he is entitled to congratulation and thanks from the traveling public.
Very truly yours,
JAMES LORD

Lot F. McNamara in Campaign for Senator

Captain Lot F. McNamara, Democratic candidate for state senator from the fourth district, has issued the following statement concerning his election:
Intelligent economy in government must consider the home-owner, the small business man and the farmer. The staggering tax burden must be lifted from the shoulders of the mass of the citizens.
America needs in public office today men who will act as Responsible American Citizens and who will honestly and intelligently represent the true traditions of American government.
I ask for your support as an American pledged to carry out American policies, to develop and extend the great public school system of the country, to protect Massachusetts, and to represent the voters and tax payers of my district."

Abbot Academy Notes

The program presented on October 18 by Miss Ellenor Cook was received with great enthusiasm by a good-sized audience. The costumes which she and her accompanist wore were always beautiful, and the vivacity with which she sang and the small, telling gestures which she employed, made her songs—Czecho-Slovakian, Serbian, Russian and early American—surprisingly understandable.
Dr. Faith L. Meserve of Weston lectured to the school on Saturday afternoon, October 22, and interested the students by making clear to them the mysterious processes of the physical examinations which she had held earlier in the year.
On Sunday evening, October 23, Miss Bailey conducted the service in Abbot Hall.
Tuesday evening, October 25, brought a group of corridor stunts in Davis Hall. The small admission fee went to the treasury of the Abbot Christian Association.
Molly Savage of Sharon has been chosen song leader of the Griffin Club and Peggy Chase of Ithaca, N. Y., the Gargoyles song leader.
