School Board Takes Up Meeting Reports

Decides to Refer Matter to Advisory Committee—Will Investigate the Legal Aspects, Other Towns and Other Andover Boards

The question of new paper reporting of the school committee's meetings was again the subject of much discussion at the Tuesday evening meeting of the board, with Peter J. Myers, correspondent for the Lawrence Telegram and the editor of the Townsman appearing before the committee and presenting his case. The board decided to have the advisory committee investigate the matter and report back to the next meeting.

The question had seemed to be well on its way toward a satisfactory conclusion after the October meeting when one of the members declared that he would offer a motion at the November session to admit reporters thereafter. However, shortly before the meeting Tuesday he decided not to bring the subject up until he had sounded out the other members. Miss Mary E. C. Geagan, Frederick Smith and William A. Doherty had all declared themselves in favor of admitting reporters and would have voted for it if the motion had been made. During the meeting Claxton Monro stated that he understood that any of the town board meetings were public and that the press could not be kept out.

The Townsman editor informed the committee that he realized the question of publicity was a vexatious one, but that he and Mr. Myers were not there to antagonize the committee or to force themselves upon them. Instead he said they were merely trying to find some solution which would be satisfactory to the board, to the press, and to the public. He added that he realized that some of the objections to allowing newspaper reporters to attend the meetings were valid to a certain extent, but that he felt that they were founded on a wrong conception of just what newspaper reporters were. Newspapers, he said, usually do not carry personal matters especially in a town like Andover which does not cater to sensationalism. Mr. Myers stated that he felt the same way that the Townsman editor did on the matter.

Dr. Nathaniel Stowers wanted to know why the reporters did not try to gain admittance to the Board of Public Works, and the editor stated that very few people would be interested in the details of the Public Works meetings while they were all concerned with matters affecting their children. Dr. Stowers asserted that the other board spent as much money as the school board, which the editor agreed with, although that was not his point. Dr. Stowers then went on to ask about the finance committee, the Board of Health, and the selectmen. Mr. Doherty said that newspapermen have their own definition of news and budgetary details did not interest the public. Dr. Stowers asserted that he would be interested in finding out the details as to how the finance committee arrived at its final figures. The Townsman editor asked him if

Chapter of O. E. S. Observes Birthday

A birthday cake with ten candles graced Masonic hall Tuesday evening as Andover chapter, 187, O. E. S., celebrated the conclusion of its first decade of progress. All the charter members and past matrons were especially invited guests and the observance centered around them and their work. Worthy Matron Mrs. Beatrice M. Hunter presented each charter member and past matron and patron with a flower as a token of appreciation for their part in the history of the chapter. Mrs. Dana W. Clark, a charter member and past matron, gave an interesting talk on the history of the chapter. The entertainment program follows: Piano duets, Mrs. Frederick C. Smith and Mrs. Andrew Innes; readings, Miss Irene Stott; old fashioned songs by the Shawsheen Woman's club trio, Mrs. Frank Gould, Mrs. Henry J. Simmers and Mrs. William J. Pedlow who were appropriately attired in colonial costumes. Mrs. Frederick C. Smith was accompanist. John K. Hill rendered several solos.

The committee in charge of refreshments was Mrs. Mary Winkley, chairman; Mrs. Stephenson, co-chairman; assisted by a corps of willing and efficient aids.

First Charity Event Comes Next Friday

With plans for the Armistice Day Charity Concert and Ball in the town hall on next Friday night practically complete, the observance of this day promises to be more elaborate than any heretofore attempted in Andover.

A concert, of an hour's duration beginning at eight o'clock, will be under the personal supervision of J. Everett Collins, one of the members of the committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsors of the entertainment. Mr. Collins has arranged a diversified program which features the Andover Square and Compass Glee Club, conducted by Mr. Collins, and assisted by Mrs. Harry G. Cornwall, soprano; Mrs. Willet L. Eccles, soprano; Mr. John K. Hill, tenor.

Following the concert, dancing will be enjoyed until 1 a. m., with the music by Val Jean's Canobie Lake Dance Band. It is the sincere hope of the committee that there will be a generous cooperation on the part of the citizens of the town in the purchase of tickets. The net proceeds from this affair are to be turned over to the Andover Emergency Committee for its unemployment relief, a most worthy cause at this time.

The committee from Andover Post, No. 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in charge of the concert and ball comprise Arthur W. Cole, Frank R. Petty, James J. Dugan, George A. Abbott, James Moore, Harold S. Cates, Charles W. Bowman, James F. Welch, J. Everett Collins, John Hart, Robert V. Deyerdmond, and Alex M. Blamire.

Garden Club Hears Address on Roses

At the Phillips Inn on Tuesday morning, Judge Frederic N. Chandler spoke to the members of the Andover Garden club on "Roses." If there were any present who came with a polite but lukewarm interest in the subject, without exception they must have changed their point of view before the lecture was over and come to the conclusion that rose growing is a fascinating, if expensive, hobby. But between the positive action of the bugs and the uncertain action of the soil it seems from start to finish a constant fight.

The speaker explained how to prepare the trenches so that there would be proper drainage—plenty of water, but no wet feet—and particularly stressed the importance of leaving no air spaces under the roots when setting out the plants. In Judge Chandler's opinion spring is the preferred time for this.

Copious notes were taken on buds, grafts, nubs and spacing of the bushes. Judge Chandler himself uses 18 to 20 inches. The listeners were told to fly for the sprayer the minute the first leaf began to unfold and to continue the good work regularly once a week.

World Famous Opera Next Tuesday Evening

The world famous opera, "The Secret of Suzanna" will be given at Abbot academy on Tuesday night, November 8, at 8.00. In consideration of the fact that most people will be interested in election returns on that night, returns will be announced from the stage at suitable intervals.

"The Secret of Suzanna" is a comic opera by Wolf-Ferrari. There is nothing serious in the plot, the whole story being a most amusing series of episodes under a cigarette.

The principals will be Miss Gertrude Ehrhart, soprano, who has appeared frequently with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, the Handel and Haydn society, and many colleges. David Blair McCloskey, baritone, has also appeared many times in Boston with orchestra and chorus, and is well and favorably regarded. There will be no orchestra, but Howard Slayman has made a specialty of the score for pianoforte performance. The performance is staged by Rodolfo Fornari. Mr. Thiede, former concert master of one of the Western Orchestras will play before the opera performance begins.

Admission will be only fifty cents.

Births

A daughter, Virginia Theresa, to Mr. and Mrs. James Buntin, South Main street, October 23.

The election campaign in Andover reaches a climax this evening when the Republican State ticket headed by Youngman and Bacon and the Democratic State ticket headed by Ely and Swift will hold rallies at the town hall and at Punchedard hall respectively. Practically all the candidates appearing on Tuesday's ballots will be in town this evening. The Republican rally will open at 8.00 and the Democratic meeting at 7.30.

William S. Youngman, candidate for governor, and Gaspar G. Bacon, candidate for lieutenant-governor, will speak at the Republican rally as will the Honorable Joseph B. Warner, attorney general. Commander James C. Curran will speak on questions of national interest. Other speakers will be Charles W. Lovett, candidate for Congress, and Romeo E. David and Albert O. Greenwood, candidates for state representative. Frederick Butler will preside.

The list of Democratic speakers will include Governor Joseph B. Ely, U. S. Senator David I. Walsh, John E. Swift, candidate for lieutenant-governor; Congressman William P. Connerly, Jr., John E. Buckley, candidate for attorney-general; Lot F. McNamara of Haverhill, candidate for state senator from the fourth district; Representative Thomas J. Lane and James P. Donnelly, both of South Lawrence and candidates for the House of Representatives from the sixth Essex district. Joseph L. Burns will preside.

Artist Will Speak to November Club

Miss Lucille Douglas will be the speaker at the first meeting of the November club to be held at the clubhouse on Monday, November 7. Her subject will be "Angkor—The Royal Passion" and the lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides.

Miss Douglas will be especially welcome in Andover at this time as an exhibition of her pastels and etchings is being shown at the Addison Gallery, November 1-15. For several years a resident of China, many of her subjects are derived from the Far East.

Preceding the lecture which will begin at quarter past three an informal reception to members and invited guests will be held at half past two.

Following the lecture tea will be served with the Directors as hostesses.

Thursday afternoon at three o'clock Rev. Vote for Hoover

Herbert Hoover has been waging a fight the last few months not only against his Democratic adversary but against a human nature which finds in a country of one hundred and twenty million people only one man responsible for a depression that has had a world-wide effect. The whole philosophy of those who demand a change implies that the President of the United States is an all-powerful, omniscient individual who has such a control over economic affairs that he can guarantee a job for everyone, and the New York governor has been unable to resist the temptation to tell the people of America that he, in some magical way, can immediately set ten million people to work. Giving the nation's purchasing power if and only if you pay them for their work, but the Democratic candidate has failed to explain just how he is going to get the money to pay for all this employment. Is he going to raise the taxes and thus increase the deficit? And if he raises the taxes how is the Nation's industry going to be able to pay its workers with a gigantic tax bill to be paid? A man running for the Presidency of the United States certainly should know that money is not to be found on bushes. Every industrial leader in the country would like to put men to work, but it does no good to give men work unless the industries have enough wherewithal to fill the pay envelopes each week. Herbert Hoover knew that wages could not be paid unless credit was expanded. Why, then, should the Democratic candidate be the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which has already started many industries again and thus increased the purchasing power of the workers?

A president's task at its best is a difficult one, but a president's task in a depression is one which would bewilder, even overwhelm the greatest minds in the country. There is an easy way out, an easy way of insuring re-election, and that is to accede to the demands of all the self-interested groups for appropriations. But as is so often the case, the easy way is the worst way. Spending money recklessly to relieve unemployment is like using toothache gum to relieve a toothache; it deadens the pain for a short while, but you still have the toothache. Herbert Hoover, however, has been getting at the root of the trouble; and has been drilling away with the sincere purpose of removing the pain over a long period, while his carefully planned public works program has served as the anesthetic which has lided us over the initial trouble.

Quack remedies never were any good; why should the country turn to them now when we have a most capable man working out sound plans. To the mind which can probe no deeper than the surface of the problem, it may seem common sense to propose wholesale planting of trees as a panacea, but such a policy cannot stand up under close examination. To such a mind it may not seem an absurdity to recommend reducing the tariff to start industry going faster, but when this policy is taken up in detail, even a person who is inclined to think hastily will admit that agriculture would be hurt by reducing tariffs on farm products, and if he takes time enough to peruse the whole tariff schedule item by item, he must acknowledge that after all, his stand was ridiculous.

The "out" party always has a tremendous advantage in a depression, and today the Democratic party is guiding itself by a policy of making the most of that advantage. That is why there is so much appealing to the irrational side of the voters' minds by making inane suggestions and impossible promises. That is why there is so much "playing politics at the expense of human misery." That is why the Democratic candidate has made so many promises without telling or even knowing how to carry them out. Promises do not give jobs; one must have a definite plan, and if a politician ever does have a real, good plan, he tells what it is. That is why Herbert Hoover's speeches are filled with concrete ideas, facts; and that is why the New York Governor has consistently refused to use anything but the usual ballyhoo, opportunely varied at different times to suit the mood of the moment or of the place. Herbert Hoover has been leading public opinion, while his opponent has kept his ear open for shifting feelings, and merely said, "Oh yes, I agree."

Anyone who has listened to the two candidates' speeches and has separated the wheat from the chaff, eliminated all the "knocks" and destructive criticism, and allowed himself to be governed by his common sense will vote for Hoover. Were the people of the United States to be guided only by their emotions and not by their brains, they would vote for the governor of New York. But as in England, we are not going to vote for party this time; we are going to vote for the Nation. The speeches tell us which is the man to vote for. One of the candidates has told us where he stands; the other knowing that he had to appeal to the irrational side of our minds has consistently evaded all the great issues. We know what Herbert Hoover stands for. We know Herbert Hoover will continue to help us remain on the road to recovery by following those plans which he has already so well established. Thanks to Herbert Hoover's great credit pool, our bank failures were comparatively few; thanks to Herbert Hoover's stand against fiat money, we still have a sound currency; thanks to Herbert Hoover's home loan plan, our foreclosures were fewer than in other depressions; thanks to Herbert Hoover's moratorium, Germany's ruin was halted and the United States and the world were able to continue their international trade on a sound basis; thanks to Herbert Hoover's immigration restriction, Herbert Hoover's careful budget planning, Herbert Hoover's determination to keep wages up, labor has been directly aided while at the same time industry has not been taxed out of existence.

Herbert Hoover has told us that he is against paying the bonus at the present time, but that when it comes due, he favors paying it in "real money." The other candidate has veiled his real stand on the bonus by agreeing with President Hoover that it cannot be paid now; but does anyone know whether he thinks it should ever be paid? Herbert Hoover has said he favors letting the people vote again on the prohibition amendment; he has said he is for a return of the control of the liquor problem to the state government; and he has said that he is in favor of letting states which wish to have prohibition do so by changing that part of the Constitution which prevents states from prohibiting imports from other states. The Governor of New York favors repeal, and for all we know, he cares little about those states which, however much they wish it, are unable to keep liquor out because of the import clause. Herbert Hoover has said he is for a tariff flexible enough to meet modified conditions; his opponent is against a tariff, unless it be on some commodities of particular interest to the audience he happens to be addressing at a given time.

The United States has become tired of glittering promises, half-baked schemes, cautious evasions, and high-pitched emotional appeals. The thinking people of the Nation will vote for Herbert Hoover Tuesday, and that means Herbert Hoover will receive an overwhelming majority. He will be re-elected, not because the people are against changing horses in the middle of a stream but because they are against changing to a poorer horse, one that does nothing but bray.

With other nations crashing, with other countries' monetary standards suspended, with the people abroad either idle or at best poorly paid, we should offer thanks that we have had a steady hand at the wheel—that we have had a mind to guide us that is not affected by the vacillating shifts of fickle sectional opinion—that we have had a pilot who knew the way to the harbor and was able to follow his course.

School Board Takes Up Meeting Reports

he thought that such information should be printed and Dr. Stowers said he felt that it should. Then the editor stated that if he felt that way, he should also feel that the details as to how the school committee arrived at its decisions should be published.

Dr. Stowers then asserted that he was in favor of publicity but he wanted to investigate the question further.

After the two representatives of the press withdrew, Mr. Doherty put a motion to admit the public to the meetings. Mr. Smith seconded it, and Dr. Stowers' attempt to amend it and then indefinitely postpone it was ruled out of order. Finally the motion was withdrawn without any action. It was at this point that the motion was adopted to refer the matter to the advisory committee which is to look up the law and find out what other towns and other boards in Andover do about it.

A sub-committee report was received recommending that bids be obtained from dairies in Andover which will furnish pasteurized and Grade A milk. H. P. Hood, Shawshen Dairy, and Braclands qualify at present, it was reported. It was voted to adopt the recommendation with specifications to be drawn up under the guidance of the Board of Health.

The matter of compulsory insurance was also taken up, and it was voted to reimburse each of the bus drivers $18.72 each and instruct them to increase their insurance to $50,000 and $100,000.

No action was taken on appointing a principal for the John Dove school.

Garden Club Hears Address on Roses

week, cutting the blooms with long stems as they appeared before each onslaught. The roses used were of the points emphasized. Various kinds of fertilizer were noted and the correct manner of applying them. Judge Chandler advised the use of chemical fertilizer every two weeks until August 1. After that the plants should be allowed to harden off so that there will be no sap left as colder weather approaches.

Beside food roses need a good deal of water and contrary to the opinion of some rose growers the lecturer believes that they should be watered in the day time. In the fall when the ground begins to freeze, the plants should be cut back to prevent them from swaying in the wind and getting broken. Hoe the dirt high around them and sprinkle fertilizer on top. Under no conditions use leaves or straw as some of us have innocently been doing for years.

The warnings against mildew, black spot, canker worms, spiders, flies and sucking insects were most timely. One of the biblical pests of the Egyptians and it was a great relief to be told that Farmers' Bulletin 1547 could be obtained for five cents with the promise of assistance within its pages.

In closing his very instructive talk Judge Chandler said he might possibly agree with our statement that he knew more about roses than the average citizen. He stated most emphatically and with much fervor that he neither understood nor knew anything whatsoever about the rose bug. It appears that said rose bug is an unknown quantity. He alone knows himself. Although doused, sprayed and treated with various poisons, the most subtle combinations, unlike Socrates he refuses the poisonous draught and merely waddles away—to the next rose bush. In desperation Judge Chandler has written to eminent authorities but the rose bug has eluded them all. As a last resort he wrote to Washington, still no help was forthcoming.

Ex-Rep. J. P. Donnelly in Favor of Curtailment

Ex-Representative James P. Donnelly, one of the Democratic nominees for representative in the Andover and South Lawrence district, gives his views on state government.

In 1920, Donnelly, as a member of the legislature, that year, under Calvin Coolidge, who was Governor, voted for Woman Suffrage, giving women their first vote. He was an advocate of maternity legislation. Also favored the pay-as-you-go policy for the best interests of government.

In this campaign, Mr. Donnelly placed himself squarely on a platform which demands a cut in the cost of running the state government. Extravagance in state affairs should be stopped. He would have a survey made of state departments and commissions, to the end that, where overlapping, they might be combined and money saved. He believes that only by the strictest economy in federal, and state expenses can taxes be reduced, and with them rents, also.

He has firm convictions on banking, also. He believes the state should more rigidly supervise state banks and when, one or more is liquidated that the cost should be borne by the state banking department, and not by the depositors.

He also feels that precautions should be taken to make it impossible for "professional politicians" to loot closed banks, under the cloak of services. Donnelly, is in sharp opposition to the futile record of the last legislature. He feels that the "four hundred dollars a day" was unjustified, as the special session of the legislature failed in its purpose; i. e., it was expected to relieve the automobile owner of the burden of compulsory insurance. This it failed to do. Donnelly believes that men of experience, training and decision are needed more today than ever.

Girls of Christ Church Enjoy Hallowe'en Party

Hallowe'en spirit pervaded the parish house of Christ church Monday night when the Girls' Friendly society staged a costume party. Hallowe'en decorations were placed at various places around the hall, which was the scene of an interesting program consisting of a ghost walk, a grand march, and games. Travel Pictures at Open Meeting

"Round the World in Motion Pictures," with Wilfrid L. Husband, is the subject of an open meeting to be held by the Shawshen Village Woman's club, November 7th in Balmoral hall at 7.45. Any one interested is invited at the small guest fee.

Colonel Lindbergh says "We look upon a distant country as being of no concern to us. There are no longer distant countries. Stirring world events have scrapped our psychology of isolation and replaced it with a desire for intimate and intelligent acquaintance with the current world at large. It is like taking the trip yourself to see the glamorous panorama of the world's wonders unfold before you via the magic carpet of these life-like motion pictures."

Mr. Husband gave up a lucrative position to sail the seven seas and rub elbows with the weird and gripping actualities of far-flung places and peoples. And what is important, he has captured these delightful adventures for you with a keen-eyed motion picture camera, which almost makes the scenes "live and breathe."

Here is a stimulating, timely, travel entertainment not confined to one country but world-wide in scope. Because we are now in every way trying to bring our modern education, this will be an especially valuable and entertaining evening for any student who may wish to come.

School Board Sends Mrs. Kimball Regrets

The following is a copy of a letter sent Mrs. Kimball from the school committee in connection with her recent retirement:

My dear Mrs. Kimball: The Andover School Committee has asked me to express to you their deep regret on hearing of your resignation as principal of the John Dove and Jackson schools. Forty-four years of service to the children, parents and teachers of Andover must give you a real sense of pride.

However, added to that is the knowledge of the unusual training you have given the children in discipline and efficiency—and in the elements of education, and of your happy contacts with the teachers, and your tact with the parents.

It is the hope of the committee that your health will be restored and that the coming years will bring still further pleasant associations with those you have served.

Yours very sincerely,
(Signed)
MAY EVELYN BARNES

Tax Collections Higher This Year

Of the 1932 tax levy on real estate and personal property $285,582.04, or 73 per cent of the total had been turned over to Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton by Tax Collector William B. Cheever through November 3. This compares with 69 per cent of the 1931 levy on the corresponding date last year, and 79 per cent in 1930, when the bills were mailed three weeks earlier. Anticipation of revenue loans amounting to $150,000 have been repaid and after allowing for the repayment of the $30,000 loan outstanding, there is in the town treasury $94,207.53 as compared with $36,556.73 a year ago but the check to be received from the State Treasurer on November 20, representing the balance due the town after deducting the state tax from the income and corporation taxes will be very much smaller than in previous years.

"Clover Time," Comedy to Be Given Nov. 14

On Monday evening, November 14, the Free Church Players are presenting a three-act comedy entitled "Clover Time" in the parish house. The plot centers around the lives of two Civil War veterans, one a lovable white-haired old man, the other a hard boiled individual, about as stubborn as mule. The rest of the characters are extremely good and make a delightful play. Much of the comedy is furnished by three maiden ladies, the Brown triplets, who dress alike, look alike, walk alike, talk alike. The play is under the direction of Emmanuel Booth. The proceeds are to be used for the kitchen fund. Tickets are twenty-five cents.

Senator J. B. Davis Has Had Long Service

Senator J. Bradford Davis, of this district has served twelve years in the legislature of Massachusetts. He has had service on eleven committees and chairman of five, including the chairmanship of the important Joint Judiciary for the past four years. He was chairman of the judiciary and insurance committees, sitting jointly, at the Special Session of 1931 and has served three summers on special unpaid reserve commissions. His long experience and conscientious service in the Senate has made him one of its leaders.

We quote from one of Senator Davis' recent addresses: "Government, no matter what our opinions may say, cannot create prosperity. There is no formula, which will insure to all the accumulation of wealth, but government can, by supervision and regulation, stabilize and equalize business conditions and can assure the people that industry should play the game according to accepted rules of social justice. Government should protect the life and health of the wage earner and see to it that the laborer gets a square deal. There is no man in America who understands these industrial problems better, who has done more to cooperate with and render assistance to the business man and wage earner and who stands ready to give all his strength and intellect to right wrongs and improve the lot of his fellow-citizen than the man who occupies the presidential chair, Herbert Hoover. This is a time for sane thinking. The Republican Party in State and Nation stands on its record.

"I believe that in these difficult times, more than ever before, experience in government and sincerity of purpose count. Our party will discuss issues frankly, without resorting to political generalities. Our people are not interested in fantasy and subterfuge. "The Republican Party in Massachusetts will be justly proud of its long record of humanitarian legislation favorable to labor over a period of three quarters of a century.

Labor and public welfare standards of our state are looked upon by sister states as models. "The issue of the moment is the reduction of the cost of government. I pledge myself to continue to meet this issue squarely, and to use my best endeavors to eliminate all extravagances in Massachusetts, to oppose all projects, which are not immediately essential to the health, safety or comfort of the people, and to oppose, wherever possible, without impairing unduly any state activity. I stand for government by the majority, not by selfish minorities, for less legislation and fewer laws better enforced. We should legislate for the good of all people and not for any special group, interest, or locality."

Congressman Connelly Backed by A. F. of L.

In these closing days of the campaign of candidates for office Congressman William P. Connelly, Jr., candidate for re-election to the National House of Representatives in the 7th Congressional District, is continuing his activities in a series of whirlwind tours of rallies throughout the entire district. Supporters of the Congressman predict he will carry the district by 30,000, far exceeding his victory of two years ago.

In his speeches the Congressman cites his record in Congress as being 100 per cent of the ordinary man, woman and child of his district at all times. "I made that my slogan when I first ran for Congress," he said last night, "and I can still come before the people and state that I have remained true to my promises."

President William S. Green of the American Federation of Labor, has personally endorsed the candidacy of the Congressman in a signed letter to him, copies of which have been sent by Mr. Green to all labor organizations in the 7th district; and in a personal communication to him Edward McGraw, legislative agent of the American Federation of Labor, states that "no man in Congress either in the Senate or House of Representatives during the past 20 years has done more to help the working man than Congressman Connelly."

His fight against the so-called "yellow-dog contracts" and his constant battle for a living wage for the ordinary worker and for immediate relief of the unemployed in his capacity as chairman of the Committee on Labor in the House of Representatives, bring his friends to pronounce him the foremost labor advocate and champion of the workingman in Congress.

Guests Make Merry at Hallowe'en Party

A Jack O'Lantern grinned at one on the porch, hostesses grasped one by the hand in the hall, and a glass of cider was quickly proffered as one entered the living room of the Saunders home on High street Saturday evening, when Miss Evelyn Anne Davis of Malden and Miss Helen Saunders entertained a number of their friends at a Hallowe'en bridge party.

In a room that was attractively decorated with Hallowe'en novelties four tables of bridge were played. Miss Loretta Partridge won the prize for the ladies and Alexander Black for the men. Consolation prizes were given to Miss Doris Nason and Robert Sherwood.

During the evening Jack Steele entertained with impersonations of a Scotchman, Chinaman, Swede and many other characters. Earl Gowan, by request, rendered that gory song, "Blood on the Saddle," and James Davis played several piano selections.

With the announcement of lunch came the information that one must drop his everyday role and assume the part of men and women of history with such notables as Eric the Red, Babe Ruth, Richard the Lion-Hearted, Helen of Troy, and Alexander the Great appearing on the name-cards. Some of the novelties, it is plumed so puzzling that one was at a loss as to where to sit until finally, aided by a kind hostess, one got a hazy idea as to the character he was supposed to portray.

No one had any perplexing moments when the lunch served, however, and from the first course of fruit salad to the last course of ice cream and cake everyone enjoyed himself; impersonations were mixed with sandwiches and noise-makers and hats were mixed with ice cream.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McMahon of Water-town, Mr. Partridge of Boston, Miss Doris Nason of Quincy, Miss Marguerite Bastin of Quincy, Miss Doris Manning and Miss Ruth Saunders of Andover, Robert Sherwood of Boston, Jack Steele of Malden, Earl Gowan of Cambridge, James Davis of St. John's, N. B., Eric Johnson of Quincy, Proctor Murray of Quincy and Alexander Black of Andover were the guests of Miss Davis and Miss Saunders.

Michael T. Ray Will Poll Heavy Vote Tuesday

Michael T. Ray of Peabody is expected to secure strong support at the polls Tuesday in his campaign for County Commissioner. A prominent Peabody man, he has always been actively interested in Essex county affairs. He feels that county offices should be taken out of politics and that for county elections the people should vote for the man and not the party. He pledges an administration of strict economy and efficiency. Andover Democrats and Republicans alike are supporting Mr. Ray.

Trophy Presented at Sherrill Club Supper

Great enthusiasm, in vocal and musical outbursts, marked the proceedings of the Sherrill club at their supper in Christ church parish house on Wednesday night. Some sixty were present, including the hungry mascot of the baseball team. At the head table the president, Kenneth Wallace, spoke in welcome and introduced the rector of Christ church as toastmaster. Roscoe Dale of Phillips academy, James Mosher, president of the town baseball league and Mr. Whitworth of Lawrence, donor of the baseball trophy, made addresses, and the last named presented the trophy. This trophy is now on exhibition in the parish house, under the care of the secretary, William Nicol, and the baseball manager, William Thompson. Wednesday entertained the group with his accordian, Burbine diligently played the piano, and several members sang to the delight of their audience. The evening was voted a success. Next Wednesday night before the meeting, the glee club will rehearse under the direction of Walter E. Howe. The basketball committee will make arrangements this week for an evening each week at the Guild. A good part of the town football team, which uses the parish house for signal practice under the guidance of James Cole, is made up of Sherrill club members.

Albert O. Greenwood Winding Up Campaign

Albert O. Greenwood in winding up his campaign for representative from the 6th Essex district states that he is a Republican and is proud of it. "I stand squarely for the Republican platform," he said. "I attended for the Republican State convention and voted for the Republican platform because it's the only progressive, constructive platform of the major political parties. I am a recognized business man, and if elected, I will conduct my office in a business-like way for economy, and I will do all in my power to help the Republican party carry out its platform. The cities and towns should be compelled to take care of their own and balance their own budget accordingly."

Greenwood and David Answer League Questions

Questions to Candidates for State Senators, Members of the House in General Court

1. Do you approve of the acceptance by Massachusetts of the so-called "Lame Duck Amendment"?
2. Reduction of the cost of State Government.
3. In what way, if any, do you think the State can reduce services rendered to cities and towns?
4. Do you favor biennial sessions of the General Court?
5. Should the compensation to members of the General Court be for term of their service or should there be extra pay if called into special session?
6. Have you other suggestions to make toward possible reduction?
7. What are your views on continued responsibility of government for such welfare functions as public health, maternity and infancy work, education, handicapped and underprivileged children, etc., in view of present need for economy?
8. Would you approve accepting Federal Aid for Maternity and Infancy Welfare Work?

TAXATION

5. What forms of special taxation do you advocate to balance the state budget and meet possible emergencies?

UNEMPLOYMENT

6. What responsibility do you believe the State has toward the unemployed?
7. Do you think the unemployment situation would be helped by requiring children to attend school until they are 16 years of age?
8. What, if any, plan of Unemployment Compensation do you advocate?

Answers to Questions

Albert O. Greenwood:
1. No. It is unjust and unconstitutional.
2. It would be unwise of the State to reduce services rendered to the cities and towns.
3. I favor biennial sessions if necessary. We should leave nothing undone.
4. There should be no extra compensation if special sessions were called, as I figure the salary a representative was intended for a full year's service.
5. To reduce the cost of government and balance the budget, we should reduce the pay of all State employees, those getting $2,000 or more annually reduced 25 per cent, $2,000 or less 15 per cent. That is the way other states have done to balance their budget.

Answers to Questions

3. The welfare as to the public health, maternity and infancy work, and education should be taken care of by their respective cities and towns, maybe State supervision. Handicapped and underprivileged children should be taken care of by the state.
4. To accept Federal Aid for maternity and infancy work would mean another tax burden of which I am opposed.
5. I am opposed to any more taxation, special or otherwise. That is why I am a candidate for General Court. We could find means of balancing the budget by reducing expenses.
6. The state has no responsibility towards the unemployed. The unemployed does not pay any state or federal tax and should have no claim on the state or federal government.
7. Children should not be made to work until they are 16 years of age. Education and proper chance for maturity are essential.
8. Unemployment compensation should be left to the cities and towns to solve their own problems, and to have proved satisfactory relief work so far such as giving them employment and food distribution. Fortunately our unemployment situation in Lawrence is getting better.

7. I advocate the increase of school age to sixteen years of age, if necessary.
8. I have no definite plan to offer at present but it is my intention to look into this matter very carefully. There are corollary problems which, if settled, will impliedly solve this problem.

Rep. Thomas J. Lane Is Seeking Re-election

Representative Thomas J. Lane is seeking re-election to the House of Representatives for the Sixth Essex District, comprising South Lawrence and Andover, to be voted for on Tuesday, November 8, 1932.

Representative Lane has served the district for three terms, and in support of his candidacy he cites numerous measures he introduced, voted for, and fought for and against according to what he regarded as the best interests of the people of his district and of Greater Lawrence.

During his membership in the legislature, Representative Lane was appointed to the Committees on Cities and Constitutional Law. In 1931 and 1932 he has served as a member of the important judiciary committee. The South Lawrence man was also the only Democratic member chosen to serve on the special research commission making a study of Salisbury and Duxbury Beaches, relative to the establishment of reservations, and was elected committee clerk. During the past four years he has been honored by his colleagues by being appointed secretary and treasurer of the Essex County legislators association at the State House.

In the special session of the legislature last fall, Representative Lane voted against the additional pay of $400 for the session, and after it was voted by both branches, donated the $400 compensation that he received to local charitable organizations. The South Lawrence representative also voted this year for a bill providing for a reduction in the salaries of the members of the legislature.

Mr. Lane is affiliated with the following organizations: Lawrence Council, 67, K. of C.; Lawrence Lodge of Elks, 65, B. P. O. E.; Division 8, A. O. H.; Lawrence Yacht Club; School Alumni; American Legion Post 15; Sunok Evening Law School Alumni; Lawrence Bar Association; Massachusetts Bar Association; Merrimack Valley Hunt Club; Essex County Sportsmen Association; Ballardvale Rod and Gun Club, and the Lawrence British Club.

Drama Guild to Again Give Production Here

The Drama Guild, whose performance of "Twelfth Night" was cordially received at Phillips Academy last season, will appear again at George Washington hall with their current production, Shakespeare's "The Merchant of Venice," on Friday evening, November 11.

In cast, scenic effects, and costuming "The Merchant of Venice" is the most elaborate production that the Drama Guild has done to date. The Drama Guild is the only Shakespearean organization touring the eastern states this season.

New members of the cast who will appear with the Guild for the first time this season are E. Irving Locke, late of the Blanche Yurka company, and Jennette Dowling, who joined the organization after a long Shakespearean engagement with Fritz Leiber in Chicago.

The play, which is probably the most read and most loved of all the Bard's comedies, will be given in its entirety with a full cast. Tickets are on sale now at Mr. Dye's office, Phillips academy.

South Church Harvest Supper Big Success

The annual Harvest supper of the South church held Tuesday evening was a most successful affair with over 250 attending. The Woman's Union was in charge and served a delicious repast of fresh pork shoulder, creamed potatoes, green peas, relishes, spices, fruit, rolls, coffee, ice cream and cake. Motion pictures were shown depicting some of the most famous spots in Europe. These were taken by George Ripley, and additional pictures taken by Miss Frances Flagg and depicting scenes of the Rockies were also shown. "Felix the Cat," a comedy, also pleased the audience.

Mrs. Philip Ripley was chairman. Mrs. Nathan C. Hamblin and Mrs. Burton L. Flagg had charge of decorations.
