Large Wild Dog Shot by West Parish Man

Huge Belgian Police Believed to Have Been Animal Which Has Kept District in Terror for Two Weeks

West Andover breathed easier Tuesday night when it was learned that a large dog, claimed to have been the killer of a dozen dogs and a few other animals lately, had himself fallen victim to a shot from the gun of Charles Newton of Boutwell road. There has been some discussion as to whether or not this was the animal which did the killing, but according to Chief George A. Dane the dog, a huge Belgian police, could easily have been the killer which has kept the West Parish district in a reign of terror for the last two weeks. The Chief states that the tracks which he found after some of the killings probably were made by this very dog.

Newton killed the dog early Monday morning just as he was starting out on his daily chores. He happened to see the huge dog lurking around the house, and immediately returned to the house for his gun. It took only one shot to do the trick. The bullet went clear through the dog's body in the vicinity of its lungs.

The dog was steel gray in color with its back being very close to black. It was quite old, but its teeth seemed still capable of doing much harm. It had large paws, and the two hind paws were double. It seemed to be very well fed, and according to estimates it weighed anywhere between 85 and 125 pounds. The hair on its hind legs was very long, indicating that it had been out of the greater part of the winter.

According to the numerous reports circulated after the pig slaughter, there were usually two animals present at the various attacks, with one usually standing off at a distance. The other animal has not been seen since the shooting.

Monday morning the Lawrence police were informed by Ben Marshall of Lowell that he had seen a large animal near Haggets pond in West Andover Saturday evening. He stated that it was larger than a police dog and like across between a mountain lion and a puma. He was walking along a country road about dusk Saturday afternoon when the animal jumped out ahead of him and started walking in the opposite direction. He said it was grey-blue in color and had a large catlike head with stocky legs. He stated that in Maine the woodsmen call such an animal as he described a "lucive".

On Saturday morning several other people called the police station with stories of animals that they had seen. David Whitney reported that he had seen two wild animals about three o'clock in the morning while he was working in the brooder house on his farm. Chief Dane found several dog tracks in the vicinity. A resident of Webster street also reported some dog tracks.

Prize Speaking at Punchard Tonight

Concert Friday by N.J. String Group

On Friday evening, April 28th at 8.15 o'clock there will be a concert in the Meeting room of Phillips Academy by the New Jersey String Quartette. The first violin of the Quartette is Mr. Alfred Boyington, a graduate of the Curtis Institute, the Juilliard School in New York, and a pupil of Carl Flesch in Berlin. Mr. Boyington's last tour was a joint tour with John McCormick during which he played on all the large concert platforms of the country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast. Benjamin Levin, the second violin, is a pupil of Leopold Auer. Carl Schoner, the viola, is a pupil of Carri. Mr. Russell B. Kingman, the cellist of the quartette, is a pupil of Leo Schulz and Alwin Schroeder. Season tickets will admit to this concert. As the music department is facing a deficit it presents a very urgent appeal for the support of this concert. Surely the almost nominal sum of $50 ought to bring forth a goodly-sized audience in support of a series of concerts which have become an institution in the life of Andover! The programme will consist of two quartettes and miscellaneous numbers.

Beano Party to Be Held Monday

November Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Henry S. Hopper was re-elected president of the November club at the annual meeting held in the clubhouse Monday afternoon. This will be Mrs. Hopper's second term.

A tentative budget for the 1933-1934 season, adapted to the exigencies of the times, was presented by Miss Fannie Davis, chairman of a special committee to study the finances of the club. The club endorsed it enthusiastically.

Next Monday the club members will assemble at 10.30 with picks and rakes to grade over the plot at the corner of Lupin road and School street. This is the club's highway beautification project.

In addition to the re-election of Mrs. Hopper the following officers were elected: First vice-president, Mrs. James H. Eaton; second vice-president, Miss Fannie E. Davis; recording secretary, Miss Bessie P. Golsmith; corresponding secretary, Miss Bertha A. Grimes; treasurer, Miss Anne B. Penniman; directors for three years, Mrs. Colver J. Stone and Miss Ethel S. Brown; nominating committee for 1934, Mrs. Virgil D. Harrington, chairman; Mrs. Nathan C. Hamblin and Miss Harriet W. Carter.

Girls' Guild Will Give Play Tonight

St. Catherine's Guild, composed of the younger girls who are candidates for the Girls' Friendly at Christ Church will give a play, "Finding the Mayflowers," Friday night at the Parish house to commence at 7.45. Before and after the play the group will have on sale many useful articles which they have made during the past winter. Candies will also be procurable.

The children have put a great deal of effort into this play and sale and it is hoped that as many as possible can give them support by attending. In addition there will be a showing of movies taken at the camp for candidates conducted each summer at Wilton, N. H. The parents should be especially interested in these as they show the opportunities afforded to the younger girls. All girls in this group can attend this camp at a very nominal fee.

Those having parts in the play are: Alice Porter, Angie Dantos, June Swenson, Alice Bertram, Ruth Porter, Loreta Walsh, Mildred Forsythe, Madeline Groat, Muriel Porter, and Gladys Greenhouse. The remaining members will assist in the singing and attend to the sale.

State Senate Votes Not to Shift Money

Transfer of $118,000 from State School Appropriation to Prison Colony Fund Defeated—House Already Has Favored Transfer

The State Senate Tuesday voted not to transfer the $118,000 state school fund to the Norfolk Prison Colony, reversing the action of the House of Representatives, which last week decided to use the money in prison construction. Unless the Senate reconsiders its decision, the matter will now have to go into conference between the two Houses. The appropriation expires in June, unless some definite action is taken in the meantime.

The vote was 19 to 16, Senator James E. Warren of Lawrence making the motion. The Lawrence Senator bitterly opposed the House plan to transfer the money. He was supported by William F. Shanahan of Swampscott who stated that, in his opinion, the care of the feeble-minded children should be considered before the care of criminals. He also mentioned Andover Academy, declaring: "Is the influence of Andover Academy so great that it can prevent a feeble-minded school from being established in that town?"

If they are that powerful, let it come out in the open. Where are we going to care for the sick children? I understand we had a site for the school in Andover. I can't understand the attitude of the mental diseases' commissioner. Why must 3,500 feeble-minded children have to wait?"

Theodore Woolfenden of New Bedford, in supporting the Warren motion, stated that the former mental diseases' commissioner had said of himself that he was anxious to erect the new school in Andover. The commissioner said: "The reason this school is not going to be built is because the commonwealth $10,000 to have it built. That is the true story behind this."

Plans Progress for Field Day

The enterprising Shawshen Villagers are advancing rapidly toward the enjoyment of the plans for their Welfare carnival to be held early next month. The date as yet has not been decided upon but will be announced shortly. The committee in charge has been working tirelessly to map out a course of entertainment for that day which will supply every member of the family with enjoyment. The event will last from early morning into the night and it is intended that the whole day shall be replete with attractive features. Sporting events will not occupy their usual major position on the program, although sports will not be forgotten; instead, other more interesting features are to be presented as major attractions.

The following are the members of the directing committee: Stafford A. Lindsay, William W. Kurth, Clifford M. North, Roy Hall, Arthur Jewett, Leonard Johnson and Ralph W. Emerson.

"Big Brother" to Entertain Tonight

In a Studio, set with amplifiers, loud speakers, and all the radio properties, in the Town Hall, Friday evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock, Big Brother's "Harmonica Symphony," a radio feature of the Yankee Network, including 25 players and singers, trained under the personal supervision of Bob Emery, will form the background for the first radio show ever produced in Andover.

In addition, Big Brother's "Opportunity Winners" will appear. These boys and girls are the pick of some 15,000 young people, who come to Big Brother every year as members of the Club.

This latter group includes Big Brother's Radio Stage Gang. This aggregation of artists has been appearing in the better Vaudeville Theatres throughout the east. Their impersonations of famous radio singers and comedians have placed them in a class by themselves.

The whole entertainment will be an inspirational one to the younger folk and extremely entertaining to the older generation. Each school teacher in Andover has been informed of the coming of Big Brother and the Town Hall should be filled to capacity.
Tickets for this event are on sale at the following business houses, as well as at the Club House of the Andover Square and Compass Club: Shawshen Spa, W. R. Hill, Carl E. Elander, Andover Lunch, Henry E. Miller, J. H. Playdon, and Temple's Electric and Radio Shop.

The following committee has the matter in charge: Fred H. Morrison, Chairman; John Carse, James Gillespie, I. R. Kimball and Harry Sellars.

Parking Regulations to Be Enforced

Andover's parking regulations, theoretically already in force, will be actually enforced in the near future, according to plans now being formed by the Board of Selectmen. The regulations are being printed in booklet form and will soon be ready for distribution. In addition signs will be ordered in the near future. The state authorities will have to approve the location of the signs.

The regulations as drawn up by the Selectmen have been widely commended, and other towns are now following the same plan.
The chief provision in the regulations limits parking during business hours on Main street to one hour.

School Board Votes to Repair Vale Lawn

Sub-Committee on Buildings and Grounds Granted $250 for Work on Bradlee School Lawn—Emergency Committee to Help

Definite sanction was given the school board's sub-committee on buildings and grounds last Tuesday evening to go on with the work of repairing the Bradlee school lawn. The sub-committee called a special meeting of the board in order to go ahead with this project, the labor for which is being supplied by the Emergency committee. The maximum cost will be $250 and this amount will be used for trucking loan, for buying fertilizer, seed, and sod. The loan is being transported from the rear of the Central Plant grounds next to the present parking space, which is being enlarged. Ashes for the parking space are being obtained from the heating plant.

Superintendent of Schools Henry C. Sanborn asked the committee how it felt on the question of allowing various kinds of entertainments at the schools, the immediate problem being a pony and dog show which is touring this vicinity. It was felt that there was nothing educational about such a show, and in view of present day conditions the committee voted against allowing the performance.

Doctor Stowers mentioned that there was a telescope in the High school which was given the school from the Punchard fund. This telescope however is not being used at the school at present. For several years it had been in the home of Mr. Edwin T. Brewster, the local naturalist, and he had used it frequently. The committee felt that it should be returned to Mr. Brewster's home since Mr. Brewster had stated that he would be glad to instruct any students who wished instruction in astronomy. The committee felt that it was useless in its present location.

Dr. Stowers also suggested that it might be wise to have some of the heads of the school departments appear before the meetings from time to time to explain their particular work. This was laid on the table until the next meeting.
The next meeting will be held on May 3 instead of May 2.

New Safe Needed for Andover P.O.

The influx of revenues from emergency taxes on beer and other sources, the higher post rates, and the increase in post savings has made it necessary for the Post Office Department at Washington to purchase about 60 new safes, one of which will be located in the new Andover post office, according to an announcement made by treasury officials last Monday.
Bids have already been received, and the order will be given as soon as a checkup is made on the bids, the lowest price quoted being $450. Delivery is to be made promptly after the contract is awarded.

The latest burglar-baiting devices and special alarm features will be included in the safes, while some will have tear gas injectors.
The Sherrill Club Elects
The Sherrill club met recently in the parish house of Christ church and elected its officers for the season as follows: President, William Ska; vice-president, Edward Dombrowski; secretary, Archie Davidson; treasurer, Wallace Rennie; executive committee, William Nicoll, chairman and James Davidson.

James Otis Club Marks Holiday

Many citizens of Andover journeyed to the little school on Osgood road in West Andover Wednesday night to pay tribute to America's first and greatest patriot, James Otis, and to commemorate Patriots Day. The school stands only a short distance from the Osgood homestead where Otis was killed by a bolt of lightning on May 23, 1783, and the house at which he found a refuge. William F. Barron acted as chairman of the meeting.
After an address by Ralph W. Emerson on the life and exemplary activity of James Otis, it was decided to reorganize the James Otis Club. A constitution and by-laws was accepted and the following officers elected: Frederick Butler, president; William F. Barron, vice-president; Ralph W. Emerson, secretary; Kirk Batchelder, treasurer, and an executive committee with the above four officers as members together with Stafford A. Lindsay, William Flint and Louis Bourdelaix.
It was decided to hold regular meetings and invite all those interested in the work and accomplishments of James Otis, as the highest exemplification of a patriotic spirit, to become members. The next meeting of the club will be held on Monday evening, April 24, at which time an appropriate program has been arranged. The objects of the club are to encourage a patriotic and civic spirit.

Kiddies Frolic at Easter Egg Hunt

Vari-colored eggs galore greeted some 250 happy Guild children last Saturday morning on the occasion of the annual Easter egg hunt. Miss Marion Schiermer's bugle sent the children on a good-natured rampage through the ever-popular guild building in search of the eggs at 10.30.
The pre-school children under the direction of Miss Eve Cross and Miss Elizabeth Perry scurried around on the second floor, while the others dispersed on the first floor.
The junior and elementary kiddies were in charge of the leaders of the Fun club and the Round Table club. The Fun club leaders are: Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, Mrs. Dorothy Murray and Mrs. Henry S. Hopper. The Round Table leaders are: Mrs. F. E. Leland, Mrs. Douglas S. Byers, Miss Delight W. Hall, Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Jr. and Mrs. Robert Franz.
The hunt was supervised by Mrs. P. Bartlett Whittemore, Miss Caroline Abbott and Miss Margaret Davis, superintendent.

Water Overflows from Rogers Brook

The most serious trouble arising from the flood conditions here in Andover came not so much from the Shawshen as from Rogers Brook. The river was of course higher than it had been for some time, and it continued to rise even after the Merrimack had reached its peak late Wednesday night. However, there was no actual danger from the river, although it overflowed its banks in many places. Many cellars were flooded from the brook overflow however, and the Board of Public Works was kept busy with its pump.
The question of the draining of the Stratford road region was again brought up during the week. At town meeting an appropriation of $3,000 was voted for a drain in this vicinity, with many people speaking against it because they felt that it would mean additional water in the already too high brook. The region is a water shed for the brook however, so that it actually would not mean any additional water, but it would mean that the water would empty into the brook faster than it does now. The question was discussed at a Board meeting during the week and several residents of property bordering the brook appeared to speak against any proposal which would mean draining into the brook.

Marie Nichols in Recital at Abbot

Miss Marie Nichols, violinist, well known to Andover through her former association with Abbot Academy, will give a recital in Davis Hall on Saturday night, April 22d at 8.00 o'clock.
Miss Nichols is the violin instructor at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N. Y. and her virtuoso playing there has been received with the same hearty acclaim Andover and Boston have accorded it.
Miss Kate Friskin will be co-artist with Miss Nichols, and their readings of the Brahms Sonata and Mendelssohn Concerto is sure to be outstanding.

The program:

Presto agitato
Concerto for violin in E Minor
Allegro, molto appassionato

The Guild Situation

The news that the Andover Guild has been forced to close two weeks earlier than usual this year is distressing not so much because the children are losing two weeks of supervised recreation as because it indicates a lack of interest among the townspeople in the work of the Guild. A few years ago the Guild directors decided to join the Lawrence Community Chest, and while it has derived from this plan a good collection organization it has at the same time lost favor with many Andover people who prefer to conduct the town's affairs apart from our neighboring city. There is no reason why the Guild itself could not organize equally as good a corps of workers for a drive. By adopting an Andover Community Chest they would certainly lose none of those who are at present subscribing to the Lawrence Chest and in addition they would regain the support of the great majority of those who do not like the Guild's connection with Lawrence.

Actually the Community Chest has collected enough to support the Guild for the year, including the summer playground, but the funds are tied up in one of the recently closed Lawrence banks. There is over a thousand dollars that, according to the Chest budget, belongs to the Guild that cannot be turned over to the Guild until that bank opens. If the Guild had not joined with Lawrence, the funds would have been in one of our safe Andover banks, and the Guild would again be able to conduct its popular summer playground.

At the time the decision was made to go in with the Chest the directors were influenced by the fact that in the previous year a drive in Andover had not netted enough to conduct the Guild through the year, and the Community Chest in its first year had been very successful. But it probably was not the fault of Andover that enough funds were not collected; it was more the fault of the drive. The drive had not been well organized, and organization is all-important in any such campaign for funds.

No one can doubt that the Guild is doing fine work among the children of our community. Children who cannot afford to obtain their recreation elsewhere are made happy down in the little old building on Brook street. Andover can not afford to let the Guild give up entirely, regardless of any previous unfortunate decisions of the directors. The town needs the Guild, and now experience has shown that the Guild needs the town. It would seem to be the wisest thing to do now to break away from the Chest, to return to Andover, and thus to engender that community spirit which is really the backbone of all such organizations, so-called, is not a Community; Andover does not feel a part of Lawrence. Let us remain the way we used to be; let us return to our own drives; but this time let us take advantage of the lesson that the Chest plan has shown to us—organization is necessary. Those who worked for the Chest here in Andover are all Andover people, and they would be undoubtedly glad to continue this work for Andover alone. Now is the time to come back to Andover and to make the town a community in the true sense of the word.

Along Main Street

After all the grumbling heard at the condition of Andover streets at the time of that last post-season snowfall last week, it was rather pleasant to be talking with a gentleman last Tuesday who had been in Maine at the time of the storm. The Pine Tree state did not like the way that Jack Sharkey criticized its handling of the storm, and from what this particular man said, Sharkey had no cause for criticizing the way it was handled because it just wasn't handled. Our friend was traveling from Ogunquit to Portland, on a road that does not have a house for miles, and as those who are acquainted with that region know, the road is fairly well traveled. A stream of traffic from the North met a stream from the South, and there resulted one of the most distressing traffic tie-ups the state of Maine has had. No one was prepared for the storm, in other words, no one had a lunch along to ease the pangs of hunger that are wont to come on after hours without food. The snow was over eighteen inches high, and no one could very conveniently get out of their machines. The gentleman whom we were speaking to travelled a distance of 75 miles in 21 hours—and we were kidding.

Incidentally, while we are on the subject of weather, we might mention that shortly after the earthquake in Southern California a little leaflet was brought into the office entitled "Facts about the Earthquake in Southern California, March 10, 1933." It was a booster circular, if every there was one in California, evidently took the earthquake quite lightly—California would. We were asked to print part of the little leaflet, but the Red Cross was conducting a campaign for funds at the same time and we felt that the Red Cross would fare badly if we printed anything which states in effect that there was nothing to worry about.

The leaflet avers at the outset that the rumors about the earthquake were exaggerated considerably. It does admit that there was an earthquake. It even admits that 119 people were killed, but it adds that "this figure is not enormous compared to the total population of approximately three million who reside in this area." Some buildings collapsed, but these "had been built for many years and were not modern in their construction."

Then it adds by way of hope for the future "when a community has been severely shaken, rarely within 50 years is there another quake—if at all." The final sentence is simple: "Business is going on as usual." Our friend who conducts the "Read and Heard" column said a few weeks ago that we should boost our New England weather, and if California can treat over a little snow or rain? Maybe 119 autists all "this figure is not enormous compared to the total population of three million who reside in this area."

At town meeting one of the speakers made a speech in which he lamented the salaries paid the "poor teachers" and he laid it on so that no one believed him. During the week we came across a little piece written we believe by Walt Mason, and we think that if the speaker at the town meeting had been a Walt Mason the story of the meeting might have been far different. The piece follows: The teacher's is the noblest stunt a mortal can pursue; and yet today we see her hunt for something else to do. She loves her high uplifting trade, and quits it with a sigh, but she can't live on what she studies night and day; to qualify to teach; and we behold her on her way, and say she is a peach. We hand her nosebags when they're cheap, and call her Buttercup, and say the blessed schoolmarm is this enlightened age would sadly be bereft. She guards the priceless heritage our well known fathers left. We hand her taffy with

Read and Heard

The failures of life sit around and complain; the gods haven't treated them while they've lost their umbrellas whenever there's rain; and they haven't their lanterns at night; men tire of the failures who fill with their sighs the air of their own neighborhoods; there's the man who is greeted with love-lighted eyes—He's the Man Who Delivers the Goods. One fellow is lazy, and watches the clock, and waits for the whistle to blow; one has a hammer, with which he will knock, and one tells the story of woe; and one, if requested to travel a mile, will measure the perches and rods; but one does his stunt with a whistle or smile—He's the Man Who Delivers the Goods.

A reader knows of a country minister in a certain locality who took permanent leave of his congregation in the following pathetic manner: "Brothers and sisters, I come to say good-by. I don't think God loves this church very much, because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me, because you have not paid my salary; your donations are mouldy fruit and wormy apples, and 'by their fruits ye shall know them.' Brothers, I am going away from you to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of a penitentiary. Where I go ye cannot make, but I go to prepare a place for you, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls. Good-by."

Siftings

Did you go to Church to show off your Easter finery or did you go to Church? The great number of hasty marriages today leads us to believe that many couples think a slow match is punk. Three point two legal probably doesn't have half the kick that 3.2 illegal had. Where did that fellow Garner disappear to? "The depression is a lot of people learning to do without things their fathers and mothers never had." Toledo Chronicle (la.) If it keeps up, it'll be a lot of people learning to do with just the things Adam and Eve had. They're still advocating free silver, but Bryan's stand against "crucifying mankind upon a cross of gold" no longer holds, because there just ain't no gold in them thar hills to crucify mankind on.

That big brilliant yellow thing up in the sky Wednesday and Thursday was an unusual phenomenon called the sun. It used to appear quite frequently in the pre-permanent-eclipse days. The funeral of Mrs. Sarah A. Pomeroy, 91 year old resident who died last Friday morning at the home of her son, Llewellyn D. Pomeroy, 46 Chestnut street, was held at her late home Sunday afternoon, with Rev. Frederick B. Noss conducting the services. Interment was in Spring Grove Cemetery.

"An Apostrophe to Faith and Hope"

Rev. Alfred C. Church in his Easter sermon at the Free church recited "An Apostrophe to Faith and Hope," which pleased his congregation immensely. It is reprinted here in full: "Come, Faith and Hope twin messengers from God, Come, walk with me on either side. Oh, now I feel your hands in mine, And now I tread with joy along life's dusty way. I hear your voices full of confidence and song. Our foot steps now are marking time together. I feel the unrush of your spirits brave and strong. 'Tis like that night's return from Emmaus Where through the darkness pressing they remembered That their burning hearts first felt their joy When Jesus teaching, walked beside them in the way."

Caves Show Sculpture

The Ganesa Gumpah, a cave in Bhuvanagar, India, contains an image of the deity which still is worshipped. The cave consists of two rooms and is reached by a flight of four steps, flanked by finely chiseled elephants holding lotuses. The figures of the subject matter are carefully carved, the most imposing being four soldiers with swords and shields pitting their strength against opponents mounted on an elephant. The caves in this section of India are famous for the knowledge they have given to the world of Buddhist customs and art.

Wood Screw-Making Machine

The first recorded patent in connection with the wood screw-making machine was granted in England in 1790, and about six years later a factory was established at Burton-on-Trent. Since then an American patent in connection with machine for making wood screws was granted to David Wilkinson of Rhode Island in 1790; the first machine to make manufacture of pointed screws practical was devised by Cullen-Whipple of Providence, R. I., in the year 1849.

Longest Rivers

Our longest rivers are the Mississippi-Missouri, 4,221 miles; Colorado, 2,000 miles; Rio Grande, 1,770 miles; Columbia, 1,270 miles; Brazos, 950 miles. The Arkansas, Ohio, Platte and Red, all tributaries of the Mississippi system, are each over 1,000 miles long. The Kalamazoo river is about 200 miles long; it rises in the northwest part of Hillsdale county and flows north and northwest to Lake Michigan. From the city of Kalamazoo its course is generally northwest to its mouth, near Saugatuck.

Seven Presidents Died in Capital

One-fifth of our former Presidents passed away in Washington, namely, John Quincy Adams, William Henry Harrison, Zachary Taylor, Abraham Lincoln, William Howard Taft and Woodrow Wilson. The first occupant—or former occupant, as the case may be—of the highest office in the land to die in the Capital City, says the Washington Star, was President William Henry Harrison, who died on April 4, 1841, just one month to the day following his inauguration. John Quincy Adams, a former President, died in Washington on February 23, 1848, followed two years later—July 9, 1850—by President Zachary Taylor. President Abraham Lincoln died three April 15, 1865, and Woodrow Wilson passed away in Washington February 3, 1924, and the William Howard Taft, on March 8, 1930, the last two named being former Presidents.

Punished Twice for Same Offense

A person can be tried and punished twice for the same offense. The United States Constitution says "nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life and limb." It has been held, however, that this means only that the United States cannot punish a person twice for the same offense. The question was decided in 1922, when five citizens of the state of Washington, having been convicted in a state court on a charge of violating a law, were tried in the Federal court for the same offense. The opinion was written by Chief Justice Taft, and sustained the double conviction.

England Publishes Most Books

The most books in the English language are published in England. Last year English publishers brought out 13,938 new books, compared with 9,035 in the United States. In 1931 England published 14,688 new volumes, compared with 10,307 in the United States.

It is estimated that, through use of libraries and purchase of books, the English people, although numbering only one-third as many as the Americans, read 50,000,000 books a year. Circulating libraries are popular. The figures do not include the English-language books published in Canada, Australia and other parts of the British empire.

Reviving Old Manuscript

When writing of old manuscript has become faded and illegible it can frequently be restored by the following method. The effect on parchment is usually of a lasting nature, but fresh applications are necessary on ordinary writing paper: Lay the paper as flat as possible and dampen it evenly with clean cold water. Brush over the writing with a flat camel-hair brush dipped in a solution of sulphide of ammonia, when the writing will immediately appear plain and readable.

Apple's Subtle Emanations Influence Other Vegetables

The apple is a most mysterious fruit, the British Association of Refrigeration agreed when their president, during their recent convention in London, made the following assertion:

"A stream of air which has passed over an apple contains some subtle emanations which profoundly influence other vegetable forms. Potatoes placed in the stream either do not sprout or, if they do, the sprouts are misshapen dwarfs, more like warts than anything else. Bananas are excited to a much more rapid ripening than ordinarily.

"It is only elderly apples which pour out these emanations, and the effect on young unripe apples is again curious, for they are stirred to more rapid progress. They ripen more quickly. It is as though the elderly apple were jealous of youth, and would destroy it."

The nature of those emanations is unknown. They are chemical individuals, "their physiological activity must be prodigious, equaling or even exceeding that of snake venom. . . . Of what use is this power? Why can it so influence its fellow vegetables? In that lies the puzzle."

Perhaps the emanations explain what warehousemen of apples have known for a long time, that "there is a kind of communal life, a herd quality, in apples when stored together. They tend to and, indeed, they do ripen at much the same rate."—Time Magazine.

Swastika or Svastika Is Symbol of Unknown Origin

The Swastika or Svastika is a symbol of unknown origin and was early introduced into India, apparently in connection with sun-worship, says the Montreal Herald. It is thought to have represented the flame of sacred fire, the sun in rotation or a flash of lightning. It appears either as a cross in a circle or as a cross with the arms bent at right angles. The latter symbol is found in heraldic and ecclesiastical work in Christian countries as well as in the catacombs and is known there as the fylfot. Medieval mystic writers derived it from the Greek letter gamma which they thought suggestive of Christ as the cornerstone. It is, however, remarkably widespread and is seen on objects exhumed from Troy and in early Indian and Chinese art. It is also found on rock carvings in Sweden and Celtic stones in Britain and in Mexico and Peru. It means benediction, health, good omen and nowadays is generally a symbol of friendship.

Guild Closes Weeks Early; Funds Tied Up

Goodwill industries and blankets and shoes costing about $160 have been donated to the Red Cross by these boys.

The decision to close the Guild came as a shock to the hundreds of children who have been using the building this winter under the supervision of Miss Margaret Davis and her helpers. The season had been curtailed previously anyway, and the extra two weeks' out, especially with the weather the way it was over the week-end, deprived the children of much enjoyment. However, it was the only way out, and the decision was made reluctantly.

The Guild will of course reopen in the fall, but whether or not it will be conducted with the Community Chest has not been decided as yet.

The financial statement of the Guild follows:

Construction Jobs Progress Rapidly

Work has progressed rapidly during the last week on the removal of the rocks in the rear of the Shawshen school. Some of the bigger rocks have been hauled over to the Corbett street side of the grounds, and now there is being put in place along the street a wall made of big stones, which improves the looks of the grounds considerably. Heretofore it was hard to tell where the street ended and the grounds began. The smaller rocks will be removed to the eastern side of the grounds, and a retaining wall will be built there. There is a little more blasting to do, but in general the job is well along. Edgar Topping is doing the blasting, and Janitor Henry Todd has been supervising the job, which is being done by Emergency Committee workers.

The Corbett street reconstruction work is also progressing rapidly, with gravel already laid on a goodly stretch of the roadway. In some places curbs have been straightened out, and numerous rocks by the side of the road have been blasted. Later the road will have a layer of tar and a layer of asphalt applied, and in the end it will be similar to Juliette road and Topping street.

The water installation on River road is well along toward completion. The pipe is ready to be lowered into place, and some of it has already been put into position.

The Board of Public Works also began work this week on putting the park into condition.

A Famous Hunt

No more we'll hunt in foreign lands
Where lions and tigers roam
We now have a Sportsmans paradise
For Nimrods here at home.

The farmers of this historic town reported the other day Of havoc wrought among their flocks By a fierce wild beast of prey.

Some said it was a tawny tike Of unknown pedigree While others claimed it was a lion Escaped from a menagerie.

The fame of this new hunting ground Has now spread far and wide Bold hunters are seen daily Roaming o'er the country side.

We all admire the gallant men Who protect us here in town, And their bold and fearless bearing When hunting this menace down.

They certainly shine when on parade Or on duty in the S square But when it comes to shooting I warn you to beware.

Please take this tip from me And be sure you all retire Far behind the firing line When the "Cops" begin to fire.

For judging from the recent past Sad records we all deplore Disaster may overtake our force Ere this wild beast hunt is o'er.

Apples of Tasmania Grow From Stump, Not From Limb

Tasmania, Australia, is known to the veteran traveler as apple land, although were the American asked to identify the fruit by the manner in which it grows he would find it difficult, asserts a writer in the Detroit News.

The trees are not more than six feet high. They are trimmed every year and only the stump is permitted to remain. Sprouts grow from the stump and the apples do not hang from the limbs as here. The blossoms bloom from the body of the limb, which is covered with apples, once fittingly described thus: "Apples grow from the limb as freckles on an arm."

Apple growing is a considerable industry in Tasmania, upward of 3,500,000 bushels a year being shipped. The earth is especially suitable for the growth of the fruit, which thrives as no other would there. Large orchards dot the sides of the rocky hills.

The trees grow bushy and as many as 20 bushels of apples often can be picked from one. Fruit growers with ten acres of apple land in southern Tasmania earn a comfortable yearly income.

Indians Love Living Things

Early writers really paid little attention to how much the Indians cherished the wild flowers for their beauty, but it is known that for some reason many plants owe their extended distribution to the influence of the natives. Indians regarded all living things with deferential respect. The Indians could not endure ruthless destruction of any of the objects of nature, animate or inanimate. In a pamphlet on Indian customs, published by the University of Michigan, the writer says: "The Indians thought it improbable that hell, as described to them by the missionaries, was a place where fire burned eternally, because there would not only be a great waste of timber, but, they argued, the woods could not last that long."—Detroit Free Press.

Before They Become M. D.'s

Statutory requirements in all states provide that to practice medicine in any state a doctor must be a graduate of a reputable medical school, pass a licensing examination before a state or national board, and register annually with some officer in the county of practice. In addition, a hospital interne year is required in 14 states. The minimum requirement for admission to acceptable medical schools, in addition to the high school work, is 60 semester hours of collegiate work, exclusive of military and physical education, extending through two years of 32 weeks each, exclusive of holidays, in a college approved by the council on medical education and hospitals.

Flag Day to Be Held on May 6

A flag day will be held May 6 in Andover to help the newly organized British Empire War Veterans of Andover defray the expenses of parading on Memorial day. The association hopes to have the Clan McPherson pipe band lead it in the parade, and funds are needed for this purpose.

In making the flag day announcement, the following statement was issued by Norman MacLeish, vice president:

"On April 9th, a group of our townsmen met at the Square and Compass Club and organized a new Veterans' Association to be known as the 'British Empire War Veterans of Andover.'"

"There are in the town of Andover about one hundred men who have served at some time under the Union Jack and are entitled to join our organization."

"Owing to the fact that they left here and enlisted in the British and Canadian forces, they are not eligible to join the American Legion or Veterans of Foreign Wars."

"The time has come when they feel the urge to organize, which is quite an undertaking under normal conditions but under present conditions it will be a hard fight. In order to make a good showing we will need the help of the people of this town."

"We are to parade in full force, May 30th, and are hopeful of having the Pipe Band of Clan McPherson to head our organization, but in order to do this we will need funds. On Saturday, May 6th, we are to have Flag Day to raise funds for that purpose. Realizing that conditions are against us, we ask each and everyone to buy a flag. Your contribution, no matter how small, will be gratefully received."

"Anyone wishing to donate to our organization at that time, so that we may have some funds to work with, can send their checks to the British Empire War Veterans Association of Andover, Lindsay Kinnear, treasurer, 6 Morton St., Andover, Mass."

Signed:
NORMAN K. MACLEISH
Vice President."
