Annual Banquet and Reunion of Punched Alumni Enjoyed

Principal Hamblin Urges Gala Celebration Next Year as School Will Be Seventy-Five Years in Existence—Suggests Souvenir Be Printed

An urge for a gala celebration at the diamond jubilee of Punched high school next June was made Friday evening by Principal Nathan C. Hamblin at the annual banquet and reunion of the Punched Alumni association in Punched hall. He expressed a hope that all statistics of the alumni would be brought up to date and suggested that a book containing the same and a historic sketch of the school be printed for the occasion similar to one put out some years ago. Mr. Hamblin expressed the need of all the wisdom, sympathy and backing which the alumni can give the school since the problems are becoming greater each year. He pointed out that the class of 1937 will enter the school in September with an enrollment of 150 while only 60 were graduated this week. Twenty years ago he said the Punched enrollment was only nine percent of the entire public school system while today it is 26 percent.

The speaker of the evening was Allan V. Healy, instructor at Phillips academy who spoke on modern trends in education. Leo F. Daley '19, was toastmaster. The business meeting was presided over by Walden E. Bassett '24, president of the association. The annual reports were accepted. The secretary's report was by Miss Marjorie R. West '27 and the treasurer's report by Sumner F. Davis '24. The latter report showed a balance on hand of $105.45 as of June 14 last. The report of the trustees of Punched alumni funds showed balances in the three funds as follows: Alumni scholarship funds, $3,268.42, an increase of $265.68 over last year; the Mary Alice Abbot fund with a balance of $698.42, an increase of $25.44 over last year and the Mary E. H. Dern fund with a balance of $305.07, an increase of $11.09 over last year. The total of the three funds now is $4,271.91. The report was by Myron E. Guttersen '81 and John V. Holt.

The following were elected officers of the alumni for 1933-34:

President, Geoffrey Nicoll '21; first vice-president, William Doherty '25; second vice-president, Irving Whitcomb '27; third vice-president, Clifford Wadman '29; secretary, Marjorie R. West '27; treasurer, Sumner Davis '24; statistical secretary, C. Madeleine Hewes '06; assistant statistical secretary, Mrs. George G. Brown '18; executive committee, Ebba Peterson '09, Herbert Carter '11, Ruth E. Abbott '16, Walden E. Bassett '24, George Haggerty '24, William V. Emmons '27 and Ruth Swenson '31. Trustee of alumni funds to serve for three years, Edmond Hammond '05.

The nominating committee: May E. Elander '27, chairman; Reginald Whitcomb '27 and Marion Hildner '29.

The annual prize award was made by President Walden E. Bassett. The bouquet for the class under 25 years with the largest percentage in attendance was taken by the class of 1930 with about five percent.

The bouquet was accepted for the class by Miss Margaret Laurie. The class of 1932 also had about five percent. The older classes had better attendance and the class of 1893 with a percentage of 57 and a fraction took the bouquet for the class over 25 years with the largest attendance. The bouquet was accepted for the class by Charles H. Eames, president of Lowell Textile Institute who announced that one member of the class was responsible for two members of the class of 1893 being present. He referred to Dr. J. J. Daly '93, father of William and Miss Josephine Daly of the graduating class. The class of 1888 had 50 percent present and the class of 1883 had 22 percent present while the class of 1878 had 19 percent present.

The silver loving cup awarded each year to the one coming the longest distance to attend the banquet was awarded to Miss Alice Abbott of the Class of 1893 who came from Pittsburgh, Pa.

After the banquet general dancing was enjoyed until midnight with music by Lou's Castle Collegiate.

Pomp's Pond Open for the Season

Pomp's pond has been the attraction for many of the town's young people during the past week. It was opened officially Sunday, June 18. Life guards in charge are arranging their summer program and plan to hold swimming and life-saving classes as in former years.

The senior guards in charge are George C. Forsythe and Alan T. Polgreen. Four junior guards were appointed. They will alternate, two working one week and two the next, while the seniors are on full time, each taking charge one half of the day. The juniors are Albert McCarthy, Irving J. Whitcomb, Edward Gill and Harry Meadowcroft. Peter Markey is the janitor. Miss Katherine Walsh is matron in charge of the girls. She succeeds Miss Lillian Donovan who held the position last year but declined to return this season.

The Pomp's pond committee is also sponsoring the public beach at Hussey's pond in Shawheen village center this season. William C. Crowley, Jr., is the life guard. He formerly served at Pomp's pond. He has been at the pond the past week getting it ready for the opening Monday. The pond will be opened officially daily from 9.30 to 5.30 p.m. for children up to 14 years only.

High Praise for the Martha Cochran Organ

A New York organist recently wrote Mr. Pfaffteicher the following words concerning the Martha Cochran Memorial organ in the chapel at Phillips academy, which ought to be of wider interest to the student body, the alumni and the citizens of Andover:

"I have been meaning to write to you ever since Herr Ramin told me about the organ at Andover. He said that he liked it better than any other instrument he played on in the U. S., and I believe he played most of the best ones."

This is high praise coming from the present incumbent of the historically most important organ position of Europe, the church of Bach, St. Thomas', Leipzig, Germany, from the most distinguished organist of present-day Germany, and from one who is not only a brilliant organ executant but an authority on organ construction and specifications.

At a banquet tendered Mr. Ramin before his recital at the University of Penna., in Philadelphia, a Philadelphia organist asked Mr. Ramin what he considered the finest organ in America. He replied: "In the United States, Phillips academy, Andover."

An organist at a well-known eastern college writes: "Ramin was thrilled with your organ." High praise indeed for the Martha Cochran Memorial organ.

Another Landmark Going to Make Way for Progress

Old Valpey block to be torn down—New Brick Block Will Improve the Appearance of Andover Square; To Be Finished by September

Another landmark is to be torn down, starting next week, when the old building, familiarly known as the Valpey block will be razed to make way for a new brick structure. Plans to erect a building, modern in every way which will add greatly to the appearance of Andover square.

The new building will be of brick with stone trim and will harmonize with the Barnard block next door. It will be a one-story structure with room for several stores, and will have all the modern appliances for heating and lighting. Everything up to date in the way of equipment will be furnished.

The general contract has been let to John Glynn of Lawrence, and Edward Hall of Ballardvale will have the masonry work to do. The occupants of the old building moved out this week, the Epicure market going back to Lawrence and the Kafkades Shoe shine shop being located for the present with Reginald Norton on Post Office avenue. This latter shop will have a store in the new building when it is completed.

The old building, which will be torn down, was known as the Derby building, and has stood in Andover square for over a hundred years, according to the present day's best known residents. It has been the location of many businesses. At one time a doctor by the name of Howarth ran a drug store here. He manufactured patent medicines and when he moved to Lawrence, he sold out to George Parker, the druggist who was later succeeded by A. W. Lowe.

The late John H. Samuel had a meat market here, succeeding Flint G. Valpey who was serving Andover customers in 1845 or 1850. George H. Valpey was a partner of Mr. Flint's and sold out his interest in 1871. Then Mr. Flint sold out to Valpey Brothers who conducted the store as a meat market, and from 1873 down to the present day the building has been known as the Valpey block. David S. Lindsay bought out the business after Mr. Ezra Valpey died several years ago and the last market to be here has been the Epicure run by Mr. Hromada of Lawrence.

At one time E. V. Hitchcock used the second story for a photograph studio, and of late years W. A. Allen has used this space for a victrola, musical instrument and radio store.

Twenty-six years ago Paul Simone came to Andover and started in the fruit, confectionery and soda business at his present location in the Musgrove block. During that time his business has grown, and he has established a similar business in Stoughton. He has married and raised his family in this town and now wishes to establish a business for his son William who is a registered druggist.

Mr. Simone came here in September, 1907 and expects his new building to be done by next September.

Plans are now being made to have a bus leave Fraternal hall at eight o'clock for the members of the Clan and Auxiliary.

Garden Party Held by Mothers' Club

The Mothers' club held a very delightful garden party at the home of Mrs. James Feany on Holt road Wednesday afternoon.

Fiano solos were rendered by Mrs. Walter Ebersbach, and vocal solos by Mrs. Annie P. Davis and Mrs. Albert Cruikshank were also enjoyed. A short business meeting was held, during which plans were made for the annual picnic to be held on Thursday, July 13, at Beverly Beach. Mrs. Fred L. Collins is chairman of the committee in charge of this event.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cake, cookies and tea were served by a committee composed of Mrs. James Feany, chairman; Mrs. Harry Gouck, Mrs. Albert Cruikshank, Mrs. Walter Ebersbach and Mrs. Fred L. Collins.

Among those present were: Mrs. James C. Souter, Mrs. Mary Welch, Mrs. John Alexander, Mrs. Timothy McCarthy, Mrs. Percy Dole, Mrs. Paul Simone, Mrs. William Webb, Mrs. Alex M. Blamire, Mrs. Harold S. Cates, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Fred L. Collins, Mrs. Annie P. Davis, Mrs. Walter Ebersbach, Mrs. Albert Cruikshank and Mrs. Harry Gouck.

After staying up late to see the bonfire on the night before all Andover will be up again early in the morning to witness the first real horribles parade that has been held in the town for many, many years. This event is to begin at 7.30 on the holiday morning. Many entries have been received, and prizes of fifteen ten, and five dollars are to be awarded to the winners in three different classes. The first group to contest for the thirty dollars in prize money will be the local hits. Under this classification come the "knocks" at the town officials, and which of the departments are to be the targets of the performers still remains a dark secret. The second group of prizes will be awarded to the most horrible and the third group is for the best floats.

The parade will start on Park street and proceed to Whittier street, thence to Summer street and across Elm to Maple avenue, down this street its entire length and then down Walnut avenue to High street, up High to the square and along Main as far as Punched avenue and finally to the Playstead. Undoubtedly the parade will not reach Main street until well after eight o'clock.

Vacation School Plans for July

At the final meeting of the administration committee for the Andover Daily Vacation Church school, held Tuesday evening, the members looked forward to the opening of the school on July 5 with great enthusiasm. The first appeal of the financial campaign has brought very substantial results, but the goal has not yet been reached. It is expected that the final push will send the total of donations over the budget. At the committee meeting several articles of particular interest were voted on: Since the teachers' guaranteed salaries have been cut in half, it was agreed that they should be entitled to an additional compensation in proportion to their salaries in case there were unused funds, up to the amount which they received last year. As in past years there will be a voluntary registration fee of $1.00. The first interest of these in charge is to have the pupil attend. If it is possible for his family to pay one dollar, it is hoped that they will do so; but it must not be considered compulsory, or cause the family to withhold the child in the event it cannot be paid.

To date the donations have attained the proportion of 67 percent of the budget. The school is exceedingly grateful to those who have already given and urges every one who possibly can to send in even a small amount to the treasurer, Randolph Perry. The registration day is Saturday, July 1, at the John Dove school, where the sessions will begin Wednesday, July 5, and continue until July 28, on school days from 9.00 to 11.30 a.m. Never have there been a better instructing staff, and never has the program been as carefully prepared. Children are offered a great opportunity in the Vacation Church school.

There were two committees appointed as follows: A sub-committee to draw up a proposed set of by-laws to regulate and standardize the activities of the committee and the session of the school.

A second sub-committee was appointed to report on the advisability and ways and means of establishing a permanent fund, the income of which might be used for the current expenses of the school during subsequent years. More will be said about this later, after the committee has had an opportunity to confer and report. It is felt that since the Vacation Church school is a permanent town institution, there should be a permanent source of income around which the school might build its annual contributed fund.

The school is in need of one article of furniture in particular, a piano which they may call their own. Two are needed for the usual program; one is found in the John Dove school and used by permission, and the other in past years has been moved up from the Guild hall at some expense. Perhaps there is a piano resting quietly in the hall of some

Tax Exemptions

If the communications received last week in favor of the state school were merely post mortems, it would be easy to forget the whole matter, but in the fall, it is understood, the state school agitators are planning to bring the question before the legislature again.

The unfortunate part of the affair has not been the so-called harm done to those who have agitated for the school but rather the hurt done to those who did not deserve to have been injured in any way.

Phillips Academy has been hurt too—not because of anything it has done but because some people really believe the ridiculous charges made by the ring-leaders of the state school group.

Some enterprising young Horatio Alger might justifiably get out a book now entitled "A's Rise from F. M. to Ph.D."

A good deal of Massachusetts money is being spent in Salem, N. H., at the races, but we can derive consolation from the fact that the best place in N. H. residents can spend this money is in Massachusetts.

Are you going to take a couple of weeks' vacation this year, or will you just take two weeks' rest?

house, with yet a great deal of music in it, though now unused by its owners, which they might be willing to donate to the school as a permanent possession, provided the school paid for the moving.

There is also need for an older boy or a young man, who would be willing to volunteer his services as an assistant in handwork during the month of July.

Program for July The faculty of the Andover Vacation School are planning one of the most interesting programs for the month of July.

Vacation—what a chance to help boys and girls invest and not waste their leisure time.

Kindergarten—Mrs. Grace Innis, principal. "Things of interest in a kindergarten's everyday life."

Primary—Miss Eleanor Bacon, principal. "Stories of Shepherd's Life."

Junior—Mrs. Henry Weston, principal. "An original course" worked out by Mr. and Mrs. Weston.

Intermediate—Mrs. H. Allison Morse, principal. A most interesting project which will be of special interest to Junior high boys and girls.

Refreshments were served by the following committee: Mrs. Michael Cleary, chairman; Mrs. Walter Ebersbach, Mrs. Catherine Eastwood and Mrs. James J. Feeney.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Florence Herbert, chairman; Mrs. John Ralph and Miss Sadie Hobbs.

and the laws of the Commonwealth require that this property be exempt. All the churches in town are exempt; so is the Guild, Abbot Academy, the Franciscan Seminary, the Home for Aged, the Village Improvement Society property, the Historical Society property, and the Malden Council of the Boy Scouts camps.

An examination of the assessors' books shows, however some very interesting facts and comparisons. Phillips Academy pays a total tax of $9787.80, this figure including taxes on five fraternity houses which are paid by the associations rather than by the Trustees.

Both of these statements are significant and of some importance. The one object aimed at from the day the student enters as a freshman until he leaves is to inspire and teach him how to think seriously.

Combining these two statements we have as the chief aim of our educational institutions a passion for serious thinking. Now we are told and retold by the advocates of novel expansive theories of education that the prime aim of education is to fit the student for life.

But the utterances of both President Lowell and President Tuttle lay emphasis on the power to think rather than upon the power to absorb.

So articulate and urgent as today, and only those institutions best qualified to create such thinkers can hope to satisfy this increasing demand of the American people.

I am convinced I vote the intelligent feelings of Andover's citizens when I congratulate late Principal Fess upon his acceptance of the principality of Phillips academy and at the same time heartily endorse his educational ideal.

Attention is invited to the serious destruction of wild life in the forms of birds, large and small, that is unfortunately resulting from the colonization of thousands of men in the forest regions—men who are mostly residents of cities, having no background of forest life.

Far too many of these men have but one idea in regard to the creatures of the forest, that is, to kill them whenever the opportunity offers.

Already complaints are heard from certain states; the condition must prevail in all, or nearly all the camps. It is not due in most cases to viciousness, but to thoughtlessness and lack of instruction.

In spring and summer when birds and animals are caring for their young, the resulting cruelty and destruction is multiplied many fold, as the young will starve to death if the parents are killed.

The enforcement of regulations against the possession and use of firearms and efforts to induce the men not to kill, but to protect as far as possible all wild creatures in the forests, even the smallest and most insignificant, would do a vast amount of good.

Plans were discussed for the annual outing of the Temple which will be held at the camp of Mrs. Fred Adams at Canobie Lake sometime soon.

At the meeting of the Women's Relief Corps held Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall, it was voted to attend the Essex County association picnic to be held at Canobie Lake July 11.

Dear Editor:

A letter printed in the Townsman last week informed us that Phillips academy is on the Morgan preferred list. If that is so, good for Phillips academy. I don't know of any business, big or small, that isn't some preferred customer.

I cannot see that the State has broken any argument with the owners of the land upon which the school is located. The agreement to buy at a fixed price was based wholly on the option being exercised. The option not being exercised automatically cancelled the agreement.

I do not blame these owners of the land under option for being a bit peeved when the deal did not go through at such exorbitant prices. I would be glad to sell all my property in town on the same basis, even less.

The $10,000 reported as paid to the State by Phillips academy should be considered a thank offering, rather than a bribe, which it was not, and the town has been spared the calamity of such a school in our midst.

Editor Andover Townsman: At the recurrence of the Commencement seasons it is the custom of the heads of our various colleges and preparatory schools to freshly appraise education and the processes employed to obtain it.

Among such appraisements I find two recent statements, one uttered by the outgoing president of Harvard and one by the incoming principal of Phillips academy.

Both of these statements are significant and of some importance. The one object aimed at from the day the student enters as a freshman until he leaves is to inspire and teach him how to think seriously.

Combining these two statements we have as the chief aim of our educational institutions a passion for serious thinking. Now we are told and retold by the advocates of novel expansive theories of education that the prime aim of education is to fit the student for life.

But the utterances of both President Lowell and President Tuttle lay emphasis on the power to think rather than upon the power to absorb.

So articulate and urgent as today, and only those institutions best qualified to create such thinkers can hope to satisfy this increasing demand of the American people.

I am convinced I vote the intelligent feelings of Andover's citizens when I congratulate late Principal Fess upon his acceptance of the principality of Phillips academy and at the same time heartily endorse his educational ideal.

Attention is invited to the serious destruction of wild life in the forms of birds, large and small, that is unfortunately resulting from the colonization of thousands of men in the forest regions—men who are mostly residents of cities, having no background of forest life.

Far too many of these men have but one idea in regard to the creatures of the forest, that is, to kill them whenever the opportunity offers.

Already complaints are heard from certain states; the condition must prevail in all, or nearly all the camps. It is not due in most cases to viciousness, but to thoughtlessness and lack of instruction.

In spring and summer when birds and animals are caring for their young, the resulting cruelty and destruction is multiplied many fold, as the young will starve to death if the parents are killed.

The enforcement of regulations against the possession and use of firearms and efforts to induce the men not to kill, but to protect as far as possible all wild creatures in the forests, even the smallest and most insignificant, would do a vast amount of good.

Plans were discussed for the annual outing of the Temple which will be held at the camp of Mrs. Fred Adams at Canobie Lake sometime soon.

At the meeting of the Women's Relief Corps held Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall, it was voted to attend the Essex County association picnic to be held at Canobie Lake July 11.

Ponds in Parker Forest for Fish Raising

A new system of ponds in which to raise fish for Massachusetts anglers to catch in future years, is being built by part of Uncle Sam's "tree army" in the Harold Parker State Forest in Andover, Director Raymond J. Kenney of the Division of Fish and Game has revealed. Sixty of the over 200 members of the Civilian Conservation Corps now encamped within the confines of the Andover forest are already at work laying out 90 acres of woodland, which when completed, will be developed into a chain of four ponds available for fish propagation.

A series of dams along Mill brook, headwaters of the Skug river, are being constructed to control the flow of water and back it up to form the four ponds. Trees and large boulders are being removed by the underbrush being left by the forest army workers to provide natural breeding grounds for the fish after the area is flooded. In the winter, brush protruding above the ice will be cut off to the ice level, a foot or more additional depth allowed to accumulate to cover the tops and the ponds will be ready for stocking.

Pickering, perch, horned pout, carp, calico bass and a few other species will be put in. In addition to providing the means of raising more fish for Bay State sportsmen, the project is the first time, since the tree army went into the nation's forests, that they will be used to help in the water conservation idea which is at present gaining considerable attention in other parts of the country.

Control of the brook in the Parker forest will mean the saving of a great quantity of water in the winter and during the spring freshets; will prevent considerable flood damage in the spring and will provide against drought in dry periods.

The ponds will also provide means of combating forest fires in the vicinity, the spring and fall menace that annually costs the commonwealth thousands of dollars. The ponds, situated as they will be, in a wooded area, are expected by Director Kenney eventually to become a refuge for migratory waterfowl and as the forest is protected by law against hunting, the birds on their spring and fall flights, will find it an ideal stopping off place.

The new pond system, being built almost entirely by federal funds, the only expense to Massachusetts being for the materials used in construction of the dams, is expected greatly to augment the Sutton pond system, maintained and operated by the state for breeding pond fish. As the new system is developed it is expected to produce quantities of fish to be stocked in some of the more than 400 great ponds scattered all over the state and which by laws dating back to colonial days are to remain accessible forever to the inhabitants of the commonwealth for fishing, boating and bathing.

The pond fish idea is in line with Director Kenney's plan to raise more fish each year for the great ponds, thereby putting within the reach of more fishermen greater opportunities to try their luck. Because of the small amount of mileage of public fishing grounds along the thousands of streams on private property all over the state, stocking of trout must, of necessity, be done almost entirely on private property. But the great ponds are different. They are always accessible to the people and can always be fished. As they are being heavily fished now, the problem of providing more fish each year to stock them is becoming more and more serious all the time.

With the development of the new system in the Parker Forest, Director Kenney sees one ray of light in his problem.

hood of man. The first is not so hard but the latter often is neglected in our shortsightedness. All selfishness, indifference to others' welfare, securing personal advantage at the others' expense, industrial oppression, wrongs and enemies against others, all war, are direct violations of the code of brotherhood as taught by Christ.

"Our task then is to discover how we can live and help others to live happily. It was the Apostle John who spoke out of deep conviction and contemplating the life and work of Christ, when he said, 'If God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.' That is the keynote of genuine brotherhood. A loving heart and a ready hand is characteristic of the genuine brother.

"It is the Christian brotherhood that I am advocating and pleading for. It is the kind that the Master of men exemplified so long ago. He it was who trod the way of the cross because of his way for others, and because he could see how much they needed to be taught how to live. He died preaching the gospel of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, the gospel of love. How can we fail to minister in His name or to serve this present age as his brothers and as brothers of all mankind?

"The surest bond of union between nations and between individuals is Christian brotherhood. Am I my brother's keeper? God answers, 'Yes, share with thy brother, in sorrow or in joy; in poverty or in riches; in sickness or in health; but always share the burdens of life.' Thus we find a bond of union that shall surely unite mankind in the kind of love that knows no sacrifice too great or too difficult. Christian brotherhood is shared with us by Christ our elder brother. Isn't that worth having?"

Cancer Clinic

Cancer of the stomach is one of the most difficult forms of the disease with which to deal, and the earliest possible attention to it is doubly imperative. The onset is so insidious that malignancy may be advanced when the first warning comes. Since cancer of the stomach cannot be seen until the abdomen is opened, it is necessary at first to depend largely upon symptoms for a diagnosis. The X-ray, however, can sometimes demonstrate suspicious changes in the outline of the stomach or intestines. Moreover, the normal function of the organ attacked is usually interfered with early, and this ought to arouse suspicion.

Indigestion is a very common complaint, but in a person over forty, especially if accompanied by loss of weight, it is something that should at least lead one to think of cancer. Indigestion is by no means a sure indication of cancer of the stomach, but if it persists, it is well to be on the safe side and have a thorough examination with the aid of all modern methods of diagnosis, particularly the X-ray. If a diagnosis is made early enough.

The cancer clinic will be held at the Lawrence General Hospital, first and third Tuesdays at 10 a. m.

Results this week: Pioneers 5, Greeley's 0; Post Office 4, Townsmen 3.

Somehow or other, the Pioneers manage to keep winning ball games and at the same time the Greeleys keep losing games. On Tuesday night the Salem streets blanked the market men 5-0 and just to rub it in Jagallo and Ostrowski allowed the losers only three hits.

But this can't go on forever. The Pioneers must beware, for soon they will meet the deadly guns of the Homesteaders. And the Greeley men may feel encouraged, for they soon will play the Townsmen team.

In the Tuesday tussle Coburn Stickney opposed Joe Jagallo on the mound. The latter was replaced later by Frank Ostrowski, for no good reason except that Manager Schermer said so. While Stickney was fanning plenty of opponents, the two Pioneers were limiting the Greeley hits, and the latter procedure proved to be the most effective. Four times the Greeley men had men on third but the little necessary push the run across was not forthcoming. Al Dimlich with a three-bagger and Schermer with two singles were the leading hitters.

As for the game on Wednesday night—well, we would rather not talk about that. We were never so disappointed since our pet pup Hector was run over by a steamroller.

Needless to say, the Townsmen lost. It would have been all right with us if the Post Office had defeated us in a decent way, but the way they went about it! They led us to believe that we were to be the winners, and in the last inning they sent across two runs to beat us just when we were all set to go home and tell the wife and kiddies what a swell game we won. The fellow who was the nastiest about it all the way through was Guy Webster, who went out to center field a couple of times from his second base position to get what should have been Townsmen hits, and to be real mean about it he drove in the tying run in the seventh stanza. Besides Webster, Fran Dakey and George Markey also helped in the Post Office's win.

But why should we talk about the mailmen when the real stars were Townsmen players. Take the Press outfield for instance. Eight put-outs without an error was the record compiled by this sturdy group.

Webster, Dakey and George Markey. The latter has been taking lessons from Randy Moore. The Townsmen intend to start a new winning streak next week. Last year our longest string of victories was one consecutive game and this imposing record will be broken this year without a doubt.

The blood-thirsty Homesteaders and the Veterans did not play this week as the service men were building a bonfire. The Vets did however get their weekly practice in using railroad ties as bats and barrels as baseballs.

There will be no game on the holiday, and on Wednesday the mailmen will play Greeley and the Veterans and the Vets will go to Ballardvale to play the Homesteaders on Thursday. This schedule is tentative.

Town League

Trojans 3 0 1.000

Buffaloes 1 1 .500

B. A. A. 1 2 .333

Sherrill 0 2 .000

Results since last Friday: B. A. A. 24, Sherrill 9; Buffaloes 2, Sherrill 2; Trojans 4, B. A. A. 5.

The Fates have decreed that the Sherrill club and the Buffaloes shall never play another full seven-inning game that will end decisively. Last Monday night the two teams met and when Empire Red Stack called the game on account of darkness the two teams each had two runs. Last night the two teams met again and after three innings with the Sherrillites leading 3-2 the rains descended and the winds blew and the sissy ballplayers scurried for shelter. At the time the heat-releasing shower came two Hoodmen were on base, there were no outs, and the mighty Tom Fallon was at bat. The two outfits have been playing some tight games this half, and where once the best game in the Town League was that between the Sherrill club and the Trojans, it now seems that the Buffaloes-Sherrill games are going to be the feature games.

Another big surprise came last Tuesday when the lowly Ballardvale team almost defeated the Trojans, who ended on the long end of a 4-3 score. The Trojans of course were considerably weakened by the absence of several of their men, and they would have been beaten if it hadn't been for erratic fielding—a factor that has accounted for the losing of too many games in Andover baseball this year. Jimmy Ronan pitched for the winners against Freddy Wise of the Conservation Corps.

Last Friday night while four of the Sherrill men were attending the Pynchard banquet, the Ballardvale team seized the opportunity to wreck the remainder of the club to the score of 24-9. At least that is what the scorer said the score was, and he sat up all Friday night figuring it out. Nearly all the Sherrill club took a turn in the box, and of these Bud Skea was the most successful. Fettes and Griffin were knocked out early as the B. A. A. piled up 21 runs in four innings. John Cole then threw them across and stayed long enough to make a balk and pass a man. The cocky Bud Skea then took the assignment and managed to end the game more or less successfully. If he had not stopped the Vale, Jack Thompson was ready to go in.

So-o-o-o, we find the Sherrill club in the cellar, the spot formerly reserved exclusively for Ballardvale. With 53 runs in one game, a tie game, and the near-defeat of the Trojans, this surely has been a hectic week, but here's hoping that the program's going to be different next week.

All-star Team for Fourth

An all-star team from Andover is to meet an all-star team from Ballardvale at 1:15 on the holiday as part of the Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. James N. Cole is to manage the Andover outfit and the Vale manager will be Harry Trow. The team from the southern district will not be the team which represents the B. A. A. in the Town League, and just who is to perform for Ballardvale is somewhat of a mystery. It is understood that the Andover boys will receive more competition than they expect, as several unknowns are to play.

The team to represent Andover was chosen from the Town League teams. Included in the group which is supposed to be the cream of Andover's ballplayers are ten Trojans, six Sherrillites, and five Buffaloes. The all-star team is as follows:

Catchers: Gus Asioan and Joe Davis; pitchers, Charley Aldrich, Fay Stckney, Deke Sweeney, and Jimmy Ronan; first base, Joe Wright and Lekker Hilton; second base, Bunny Porter and Bill McDonald; shortstop, Sammy Deyermond; Pete O'Connor, and Drum Bissett; third, Harold Lawrence and Tom Fallon; outfielders, Binky Burbine, Bud Skea, Fred Sullivan, Gordon Coutts, Archie Davidson and Jerry Winters. The team is certainly a strong one and Ballardvale's mystery men will have to be real good to beat this bunch.

Jimmy Cole is quite capable of handling this team. As a result of his coaching of the Stowe teams and the Old Legion Juniors, Jim knows the abilities of almost the entire group and knows how to get everything out of the players. At least nine of the men selected have played on teams coached by Jim. The Stowe coach is also in charge of the other sporting events on the holiday program.

One of the features of the Fourth of July celebration arranged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be a soccer game between the Andover United team and the South Lawrence aggregation. The two teams are evenly matched and the game should be one of the most interesting played on the Playstead since the local team was organized. The kick-off is scheduled for 3:30. Both these teams will probably play in the newly formed Merrimack Valley League.

Nearly all the Pynchard baseball players of this year's team are playing ball in either the Town League or Industrial League this summer. Captain Lekker Hilton, Drum Bissett, Gus Asioan, Abie Swenson, and Maurie Gilson are with the Sherrill club. Jim Thompson is in the Buffaloes' infield, while Wally Johnson is with the Vale. Captain-elect Bob Deyermond is twirling for the Townsmen, while Coburn Stickney pitches for Greeley. Buff Hilton is catching for the Pioneers, and Joe O'Brien, after recovering from a foot injury, will perform for the Post Office.

Mrs. Sadie Denholm, the former Sadie MacLish, is one of two Greater Lawrence women to be selected on the honorary list of the best women duck pin bowlers by the National Duck Pin Congress. The selection was made from women bowlers who have not sufficient league games to rank, but have demonstrated their ability in match play on sanctioned alleys. Mrs. Denholm, who lives on Maple avenue, was number 16 on the list.

Reverse of Ghosts

Zombie are the reverse of ghosts. Instead of being disembodied spirits, they are presumed to be animate bodies without souls, generally corpses disinterred before dissolution of the physical structure, and endowed with the power of motion and limited thought and sensibility by magical means. It is the highest form of obi, which in turn, is a super-development of the African voodoo as practiced in the West Indies. Of course, no scientific evidence of the existence of zombies has ever been adduced.
