To Explain Limited Town Meeting Plan

Two Speakers from Brookline, Where Representative Form of Town Meeting Is Used, to Address Open Meeting in Town Hall, Oct. 17

A public meeting for the explanation of Representative Town meeting will be held in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, October 17th at eight o'clock. The over crowded condition of the Town Hall at the last Town meeting has made the subject seem pertinent. The Andover League of Women Voters is therefore beginning its year by giving an opportunity to the citizens of Andover to hear an explanation of the representative form of town meeting.

Mr. Parker is a lawyer, Town Counsel of Brookline, and Moderator for a number of years past; Mr. Rowley is a member of the firm of Peabody, Brown, Rowley and Storey, a member of the Legislature for four years, and on the Board of Selectmen of Brookline for nine years. These gentlemen are not coming as advocates of a cause but as people who have had experience, and have knowledge, and are willing to explain a situation to those who are seeking information. They will be glad to answer questions.

The Andover League of Women Voters is an organization to encourage a responsible participation in government; its dues are $1.00 for the annual membership and every woman voter in Andover is cordially invited and urged to join the League.

The following are the officers for 1933-34: President, Miss Helen Chickering; first vice president, Mrs. Horace M. Poynter; second vice president, Mrs. Frederick Butler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wilfred Lord; recording secretary, Mrs. Peter Cunningham; and treasurer, Mrs. Charles Warden.

The program of meetings and study groups will be published next week.

Rockwell Kent to Talk Here Tonight

"In Defense of True Art" sounds like a very formidable subject for a talk, but when the lecturer is a noted author and artist like Rockwell Kent, and when he is upholding liberty of taste against the dogmatism of the critics, the talk is more than likely to be of interest to everyone. Kent will lecture on this subject at George Washington hall at Phillips academy this evening, beginning at 8:15. He will follow his talk with lantern slides which certainly vindicate his right to speak of art. There will be no charge.

Mr. Kent is spending a few days here in Andover at present. Yesterday and today he was at the Addison Gallery to meet anyone interested in his work and his many adventures. He is well-known as the illustrator of Moby Dick, The Bridge of San Luis Rey, and other books. In addition his fame as an author has spread through his books, Wilderness, Voyagings and N by E.

To know him only as an illustrator of books or as a painter would be to miss the most significant aspects of his character. On account of his amazing energies he has lived the life of a dozen men in a single lifetime. His paintings hang in the leading museums of the country. His illustrated books are sought after by book lovers and collectors. Few authors in America have achieved a prose style as clear and limpid as that of Wilderness. He has no peer as a wood cutter, boat builder, navigator, or historian. His intuitive skill is such that he gives the impression of being a very special genius in everything he undertakes.

Rockwell Kent was born in Tarrytown Heights, New York, in 1882. He studied architecture at Columbia and then studied art under Chase, Henri, Hayes, Miller and Thayer. His pictures hang in the Metropolitan Museum, the Brooklyn Museum, and in numerous famous private collections.

A selection of his prints, as well as a number of his paintings of Greenland, will be on exhibition at the Addison Gallery of American Art during his stay.

Hit and Run Driver Located in Melrose

Andover police are awaiting the release of F. A. Ward, 27, of Wakefield from the Melrose hospital in order to charge him with leaving the scene of an accident after causing injury to a person. Ward will be confined to the hospital with serious leg injuries for another week as the result of a crash on the Reading road early Saturday evening. Four other persons were injured. He is also alleged to have hit Lafayette Stickney, 22, of Rocky Hill road just before the crash. The local police state that Ward has admitted his guilt.

Officer David Gillespie, after learning that a man had been taken to the Melrose hospital, went there Saturday night but was unable to question him because of his injuries. Sunday, however, Ward is said to have admitted driving the car in both accidents.

Stickney saved himself from serious injuries, having seen the car approaching and jumped back in time. The car sideswiped him knocking him to the ground. He was taken to the office of an Andover physician where he was treated for minor injuries.

Ward is alleged to have cut out of a heavy line of traffic that was Boston bound from the race track about a mile beyond Andover academy, when he struck Stickney. After felling the youth the driver cut through a filling station to head off autos in front of him, and cut back into traffic further up the highway.

Further along the road near the Reading line, Ward's car crashed into a machine driven by James Govatos of Derry street, Stoneham. Walter R. Davidson, 17 River place, Melrose, a passenger in Govatos' car, received serious injuries, while the three occupants of the other car escaped with minor injuries. All four were taken to the Lawrence General hospital by passing motorists.

Davidson's name is on the danger list at the hospital where he is reported to be suffering from a fracture of the skull and numerous minor cuts and bruises. Govatos was treated for minor lacerations and bruises about the body and face.

Francis Dillon of 75 Pleasant street, Stoneham, and Guy Hill of Woburn were passengers in Govatos' machine. The former was treated for cuts and bruises about the face and body. Hill suffered from minor external injuries and questionable internal injuries.

Present Plans to Finance Committee

Wednesday evening the school committee and Board of Public Works presented definite plans for N R A building projects to the finance board. The school committee had prepared during the week plans for a combined assembly hall and gymnasium, in accordance with the suggestion of the finance board a week ago. The cost of such a building, it was reported, would be $160,000, or with the 30 percent federal grant $112,000. The cost of a new school building would be the same, so that the total cost of the two buildings to the town is not far distant from the cost of the single building proposed four years ago. The architect explained that the figures allowed for a possible ten percent increase in wages. The cost of administering the two new buildings would be about $5000 a year, including two new teachers.

The finance committee is to consider the plans informally in more or less of an advisory capacity. Later if the school board and Board of Public Works, as a result of all the recent deliberations, care to ask the town for these projects, a special town meeting will be called, and the finance board will then pass on the plans formally.

Appointment of Milk Inspector is Illegal

The appointment of Franklin H. Stacey as milk inspector for the town of Andover was declared illegal this week as the result of a letter received from the Division of Corporations and Taxation. The decision is based on a ruling that no member of a board may hold a salaried position under that board.

Mr. Stacey has been milk inspector of the town for twenty-six years and a member of the Board of Health since 1914 when he was elected for a one-year term made vacant by the death of Dr. Leitch. The position of milk inspector at present pays $67.50 a year, this including a ten per cent decrease.

The matter of whether or not Mr. Stacey's holding the position of milk inspector was legal was brought up last May at the joint meeting of the Board of Health and the Board of Selectmen on the salary question. Mr. Hardy stated that he had looked up the matter before in another case and was informed at the State House that it was illegal for any board member to hold a salaried position under that board. At that time Mr. Stacey's salary claim. A letter was sent to Mr. Waddell at the State House, and the reply ruled that Mr. Stacey could not legally hold this salaried position.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Selectmen the town fathers on Dr. Daly's insistence withheld payment of Mr. Stacey's milk inspector salary claim. A letter was sent to Mr. Waddell at the State House, and the reply ruled that Mr. Stacey could not legally hold this salaried position.

Garden Club Meets at P. A. Log Cabin

Surprising facts about the numbers of aphid, grubs and cutworms which birds will eat where they are protected and encouraged to nest and rear their young were set forth by Lawrence B. Fletcher of Cohasset at the meeting of the Garden Club held Tuesday morning at the Log Cabin in the Bird Sanctuary.

Mr. Fletcher's talk was devoted to discussing both the value of birds in a garden and the results of banding.

The speaker has as an avocation the study of birds, and he derives great pleasure out of maintaining feeding stations and traps for binding which reveal the secrets of bird migration. He handles as many as a thousand birds of thirty-seven varieties in a season. Many of the birds return to his Cohasset garden year after year, even the succeeding generations following the migrations of their parents.

Mr. Fletcher also favored with lantern slides which depicted birds in his garden, and also the history of the common tern for its first twenty-eight days as photographed at the bird sanctuary off the coast of Massachusetts near Chatham.

After the lecture members asked the speaker many questions. A basket lunch was then enjoyed.

The business meeting previous to the lecture was presided over by the new president, Mrs. Charles N. Arnold who gave a brief report of the flower show held by the club last May.

It was voted that the custom of sending out notices for each meeting be discontinued. Yearbooks containing the program for the season were distributed to members.

Four new names were added to the club membership.

A letter was read from Mrs. James C. Sawyer, tendering her resignation as first vice president. It was announced that Mrs. John M. Stewart would succeed to this office, Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith taking Mrs. Stewart's place on the publicity committee.

Andover may send four boys to the Civilian Conservation Corps under the recent re-enlistment, but to date four have not been found. The boys must be between the ages of 18 to 25. They will be sent to the Harold Parker State Forest for the necessary practical examination. The boys will probably stay there. Any who wish to go may apply at the Town Clerk's office.

Appointment of Milk Inspector is Illegal

The appointment of Franklin H. Stacey as milk inspector for the town of Andover was declared illegal this week as the result of a letter received from the Division of Corporations and Taxation. The decision is based on a ruling that no member of a board may hold a salaried position under that board.

Mr. Stacey has been milk inspector of the town for twenty-six years and a member of the Board of Health since 1914 when he was elected for a one-year term made vacant by the death of Dr. Leitch. The position of milk inspector at present pays $67.50 a year, this including a ten per cent decrease.

The matter of whether or not Mr. Stacey's holding the position of milk inspector was legal was brought up last May at the joint meeting of the Board

Open Forums Commendable

Several of the organizations here in Andover are now undertaking a very interesting and worthwhile experiment in the form of open forums on matters of interest to local people.

The attendance at Wednesday night's meeting of the Central Parent-Teacher association was most encouraging. People from all over the town were present to inform themselves on the housing situation of the local schools.

The open meeting of the League of Women Voters will be on an entirely different subject. It is not quite as timely as the school problem, but only last March many citizens here wondered whether or not it would be advisable to have representative town meetings in preference to the unlimited town meeting form. The town hall in both instances was very much overcrowded, and there were frequent charges about attempts to "pack" these meetings.

The representative town meeting of course has its disadvantages, too. It has failed in some places; in others, it seems to have been a pronounced success.

Some day the town of Andover may be called upon to vote on the question of whether or not to give up the present unlimited town meeting form of government. The voters of Andover should be prepared to give a well-considered verdict on this very important matter, and they cannot do this by merely listening to street-corner or house-to-house gossip.

Just before election day or before town meeting day one usually hears much about doing one's civic duty by attending the polls or the meeting. Although too much attention cannot be paid to this matter, going to the polls or to a meeting and voting for something that one knows absolutely nothing about is a very poor way of performing one's duty.

The Townsman takes this opportunity to welcome Mr. Alfred R. Harris and Mr. William Simeone into the business life of Andover. Best of wishes to these two well-known local men in their new ventures.

Siftings

Wanted, somebody who knows how to find H2O in milk. North Andover had an NRA parade; Lawrence is going to have one, many other communities have had or will have one.

If the present federal public works program ends up in a group of gifts the way the Post-Civil War program ended up, Uncle Sam and the blue eagle may take the place of Santa Claus and the reindeer.

Some of the young men at the high school football game Saturday paid more attention to cheering their "pal" in the stands than they did to cheering the team. They'll marry some day and bawl their wives out for going to church and finding out what Mrs. So-and-so wore.

The Legion isn't asking for a bonus this year. Now if the C.C.C. veterans will refrain from making a bonus demand, the National Economy League will be happy.

Y., formerly of Lawrence and Andover and the late Mr. Knox, was married Sunday afternoon, October first to Mr. Charles J. Freericks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Freericks of North Andover, Arizona.

Miss Knox was given in marriage by her brother, William Boardman Knox, and the ceremony was performed in Hitchcock Memorial Church, Scarsdale, by the Rev. Dr. George Hugh Smyth, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

On her paternal side the bride is descended from the brother of General Henry Knox, Secretary of War in Washington's Cabinet. Her father, the late William S. Knox, was a well known trial lawyer, with offices in Lawrence and Boston; he served with distinction in Congress under Presidents Cleveland and McKinley, and was a Representative from the Fifth Mass. District, which then included both Lawrence and Andover.

The Knox home in Andover was at 17 Hidden Road, now occupied by Mr. Boynton's family. Freericks is in the Advertising Business in New York City. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Freericks will reside in New Rochelle, N. Y.

Miss Harriett Ellison of Reading was the maid of honor; Arthur Kirk of North Andover was the best man. The ushers were Herbert Downs and Kenneth Lucas, both of Reading, and David Logg of Lawrence. Newman Matthews, pastor of the church officiating at the wedding.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was simply and attractively gowned in a brown travelling ensemble with accessories to match. Miss Helen E. Parker of Brooklyn, N. Y., a college classmate of the bride, was her maid of honor. She was gowned in a contrasting shade of brown with harmonizing accessories. Leonard H. Saunders, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. After an unannounced wedding trip the couple will take up their residence in Whitinsville. The bride is a graduate of the Lawrence High school and Bates college with the class of '32. class of 1887, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Immediately following his graduation he went to the Pennsylvania Steel company at Steelton, Pa., where he secured his practical experience and became its superintendent and metallurgical engineer.

In 1897 he went to Germany in the employ of Ludvig Louvre & Company as their consulting metallurgical engineer, and where he remained until 1902 when he returned to America to become general superintendent of the Pennsylvania Steel company. He remained in that position until 1915 when he was appointed general metallurgical superintendent of the Bethlehem Steel company.

In 1918 he resigned the latter position to open offices for himself at 40 Wall street, New York as a consultant, which offices he maintained until 1932 when he retired from active business as a consultant.

He was a member of the British Iron and Steel Institute; American Society of Testing Materials; American Institute of Mining Engineers and American Institute of Metallurgical Engineers.

Upon the retirement from business he moved to Andover, where he took up his residence at 111 Main street. On November 1, 1892, he married Malvina Sherman, daughter of Judge Edgar J. Sherman of Lawrence.

P. T. A. Discusses Needs of School The needs of the present school system of Andover were discussed at an open meeting of the Andover Parent-Teacher association held in Stowe Junior high school Wednesday evening, September 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Clara A. Putnam, principal of the school, was the chief speaker of the evening, and was heartily applauded for her graphic description of the overcrowded conditions at Stowe. Frank E. Lenane of the Federal Public Works Administration in Massachusetts presented a summary of the present building where classes are held in the basement, in the assembly hall, and on the stairways.

Mr. Lenane spoke of the same matters which he told the combined boards a week ago regarding the public works provisions. He said that whereas the State can borrow money itself for two or three percent, for some reason it seems to prefer to borrow it from the Federal Government at four percent.

Mr. Smith presented enrollment figures at the high school, where an extra room in the old building has had to be opened up. As for any new building he reported that the school board had not as yet taken any definite stand as to whether or not to ask for a new school. The plan is merely being considered carefully by the several town boards, and the whole matter is entirely up to the townspeople. The chairman of the school board stated that there would be no fads and frills, that nothing would be taught in a new building which had not been taught for several years past.

Dr. Daly told of his personal experience in the graded schools of Ballardvale. He said that in his school days children had to take an entrance examination for the high school, and that the children coming from the ungraded schools did very poorly in the exams as compared with those from the graded. He declared himself emphatically in favor of centralization. He then said that the old poor house had been built under a similar plan after the Civil War, and it cost the town nothing since the federal government repaid that there is a strong chance that this might happen again, and the town would have a new school without cost.

Mr. Sanborn reported that the cost per pupil to run the district schools was much higher than the cost to transport them to the center. When the district schools were closed a few years ago, 45 children had to be sent to the center but today there are 97. The superintendent declared himself in favor of district schools for the first four grades. To decentralize the junior high school now, however, he said, would mean two new teachers and in the long run it would cost much more.

Mr. Grover told of his experience in the local public schools. He said that Stowe boys always did quite well at the academy, and this he attributed to the ease of transition made possible by the junior high plan. He stated that he did not feel the argument about fads and frills was a valid one, as even in district schools fads and frills are taught.

Mrs. Gordon B. Elliott presided.

Local Man Found Suicide by Hanging Verne H. Munns, 36, of 138 Elm street was found dead last night in the barn of his property, a victim of suicide by hanging. The police state that the suicide had probably been committed about four o'clock. The body was found suspended by a rope from a beam in the barn about five o'clock by Mr. Munns' brother, Daune. At that time the body was still warm.

Daune Munns immediately called the doctor, medical examiner, and the police. Chief Dune and Officer Carl Stevens responded. Medical Examiner Reed declared the dead man a suicide by hanging. A two-ounce empty chloroform bottle was found nearby.

Deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Iowa Marie Munns; two brothers, Daune H. Munns and Dale Webster, and a sister, Inez Webster.
