Andover Red Cross Makes New Record

Marked Increase in Membership over Last Year—Contributions Have Reached New Peak of $3663.71—Abbot and Phillips Generous

The Andover Red Cross closed its eighth annual roll-call Thanksgiving Day and it proved highly successful. Both membership and contributions promise to place the town high on the list of communities throughout the nation. The splendid teamwork on the part of the workers, coupled with a better understanding of the local accomplishments of the organization, have been important factors in this successful campaign.

Not only has there been a marked increase in membership over the previous year, but the contributions have reached a new total. The local organization will be better prepared to give greater service to the needy of the town.

The roll-call committee wishes to thank the Shawshen Village Women's club, the Shawshen P. T. A., the Andover Service club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the King's Daughters, and the American Legion, for their generous contributions. It also received the usual splendid support of Abbot and Phillips academies, for which it is very grateful. The committee also thanks the contributors who have so generously responded to this appeal.

Particular appreciation is due Caroline A. Abbot, secretary of the roll-call, and her 118 workers for their faithful and conscientious service in securing 2191 members and contributions to the amount of $3663.71.

P. T. A. Improves Traffic Conditions

Prompt action has been taken by the local authorities on the request of the Andover Parent-Teacher association to have a schoolboy traffic patrol organized at the Central schools. The request was made at the meeting a week ago Wednesday, and the patrol has already been in operation several days.

Under the new plans Punchedard avenue has been made the main thoroughfare for the western part of the town, and when children are leaving school, a man will be on duty at the Main street and Punchedard avenue intersection. Pedestrian walks are being painted across the street in addition to warning signs on the approach to the walks. Another crossing is to be established on Elm street.

Parents are asked to co-operate by telling their children to obey the teachers' instructions regarding the patrol, in this way further protecting their safety.

The P. T. A. committee has received the heartiest cooperation from all the authorities involved. The committee: Charles W. Arnold, chairman; Mrs. George F. Robinet, Mrs. Stanley C. Hickok, George G. Brown and Mitchell Johnson.

Withdraws Charges Against Committee

Perley F. Gilbert, chief architect for the local school project, stated in a letter to the building committee this week that it was his intention to make any charges against the committee or the consulting architects at the recent meeting of the Board of Managers of the North Shore Babies' hospital held at Salem Monday.

Further proof of the varied interests of John Singer Sargent, is shown in an exhibition of Reproductions of Renaissance and Oriental Textiles being held at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, Andover, during December. The idea of reproducing the patterns, colors and textures of what might be called "Classic Textiles," by means of stencils, was suggested by Sargent. As a diversion, he spent some of the few hours set aside from his more serious work of painting and sculpture in restoring and reproducing several of the best known but well-worn examples of Italian brocade, and one of Japanese silk. The reproductions shown are the result of an interest stimulated by Sargent's work of this nature and an association with him while it was in process. They have been lent to the Addison Gallery by Thomas Fox, Esquire, who collaborated with Sargent in this enterprise.

During this month also, thirty-six fine prints from the collection of Lessing J. Rosenwald will be on exhibition. These prints, representative examples from one of the outstanding private collections in the country, are the works of masters from the 15th century to the present day. The German engravers are represented by such men as Schongauer and Durer, the Italians by Campagnola, the Dutch by Rembrandt, the French by Nanteuil, Meryon and Forain, the Americans by Whistler, and the English by Thomas Watson, Muirhead Bone and Sir D. Y. Cameron.

A group of photographs of nineteenth century houses by Walker Evans, lent by the Museum of Modern Art, is also being shown at the Addison gallery during December. The photographs, which were taken in New England and New York, cover that seldom-often-remembered houses of the Italian Villa school, the Gothic Revival and the mansard roof. Many of these houses, neglected and despised have disappeared in the short period since these photographs were made.

Several friends of Buddy Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Harris of Washington avenue, gathered at his home Tuesday, December 4, to help him celebrate his ninth birthday.

Local Woman Wins Award for Recipe

Mrs. Charles W. Henry of 29 Central street just been awarded a Certificate of Recipe Endorsement by Better Homes & Gardens for her recipe, "Delicious Dessert."

Mrs. Henry's endorsed recipe follows:
DELICIOUS DESSERT
This dessert was concocted in an emergency. Unexpected guests arrived, and I had no dessert for dinner.

Make a pint of junket by the following recipe: Place 1 junket tablet and 1 tablespoonful of cold water in a cup. Crush the tablet and dissolve thoroughly. Mix 1 pint of whole milk, 3 tablespoonfuls of sugar and 1 teaspoonful of vanilla. Warm the milk slowly until lukewarm (110 degrees). Remove from the stove, add the dissolved junket tablet and stir for a few seconds. Pour at once into dessert glasses and let stand at room temperature undisturbed until firm, about ten minutes. When set, store in a cool place until chilled. Do not have time for the junket to chill thoroughly. I added 1 tablespoonful of cold maple syrup to each serving, and top generously with sweetened whipped cream. If maple syrup is not available, brown sugar syrup may be used. This dessert mystifies the most critical guest, and has proved a general favorite.

Serves six.

Welfare Decreased by Textile Activity

Andover's E.R.A. list has been considerably reduced the past few weeks by the re-employment of many of the local textile workers by the Andover and Lawrence mills.

It is estimated that as many have been taken back as were employed during the late summer boom a year ago when the N.R.A. first started.

Large government orders are responsible for the increased textile activity here.

The E.R.A. is extending the water main from South Main street along Gould road to the state police barracks.

There are 170 working on the E.R.A. now, including many new men replacing textile workers.

G. F. S. Observes 50th Anniversary

The end of one half century and the beginning of another was celebrated Sunday and Monday by the Girls' Friendly society of Christ church, organized just fifty years ago.

On Sunday morning about 170 members and past members with representatives from various branches in the diocese attended in a banquet and communion service, and on Monday evening about 100 attended the golden jubilee banquet in the parish house.

The gospel during the service was read by Rev. H. Usher Monro and the epistle was read by Rev. Arthur N. Taft. Rev. Charles W. Henry, rector, took the service. The sermon was preached by Rev. Arthur F. Roebuck, assistant at Grace church, Lawrence. The soloist was Miss Florence Howe of Worcester.

Mrs. Walter Howe, for nine years associated with the group, was toastmistress at the banquet, and with the following was seated at the head table: Mrs. Kenneth Minard, Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Henry, Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Roebuck, Miss Elizabeth Hilton, Mrs. E. V. French, Miss Clarissa Townsend, Claxton Monro and Irving Southworth.

One of the outstanding features of the banquet was the presentation to the church of a gift of $50 made up of 50 one dollar bills in a bouquet of red roses. The president of the society, Miss Elizabeth Hilton, made the presentation, and Mr. Southworth, senior warden, accepted for the church in the absence of C. Carleton Kimball, treasurer of the church, who was confined to his home by illness.

A letter of congratulation was received from Miss Margaret McTernan, the oldest charter member, and a telegram was received from Rev. John G. Hilton, brother of the president, who is now living in Wisconsin. Other congratulatory letters were read from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, D.D., bishop of the diocese; Mrs. Arthur T. Boutwell, wintering in Florida; Mrs. Mary Cole Derland, now in Oregon and from Mrs. Drury, G. F. S. secretary of the diocese.

The following charter members were present: Mrs. Emily Frye, Mrs. Mary Gar-side, Mrs. Joseph Stanley, Miss Rebecca McCullum and Mrs. Frances Eaton. They were all presented corsages by Miss Helen Smith, first member present. A bouquet was also presented to Miss Emily Richards, recently made an honorary associate, with Miss Doris Hilton making the presentation.

Miss Smith presented the president with a bouquet, and corsages were also presented to the following associates: Mrs. Walter E. Howe, Mrs. Claxton Monro, Mrs. Charles S. Warden, Mrs. Harold Abbott and to Mrs. Kenneth Minard, acting branch president.

The president presented a book to the rector, Rev. Mr. Henry, who gave a brief history of the society.

Toasts were given by Irving Southworth, senior warden of the church; Mrs. Kenneth Minard, acting branch president; C. S. Cook, vestryman; Rev. Arthur F. Roebuck, Mrs. Ralph T. Berry, representing the Women's Guild; Mrs. J. Oran Shepard for the Young People's Fellowship; Mrs. Anna Paddock for the Altar Guild and Claxton Monro for the vestry.

Greetings were received from other branches. Miss Amelia Bennett represented St. Anne's society in Lowell, the oldest society in the United States. Miss Agnes Bagstead spoke for the G. F. S. Holiday house and letters from other branches were read by Miss Doris Manning, secretary.

Enforce the Rules

At the first of the month the selectmen drew up a new set of rules and regulations for licensed inn holders and common victuallers which should go far to improve the sanitary conditions and the appearance from the outside at least of some of the liquor dispensing shops.

The regulations are very well thought out and very well drawn up, and the selectmen deserve commendation for making this attempt to better conditions. However, to make these new victuallers' regulations at all effective, it will be necessary to make a determined effort to see that they are enforced.

If a baseball player on even the worst team hit the ball far beyond the outfielders, and then failed to run the bases, he would soon find himself on the bench or more probably among the spectators in the bleachers. The selectmen have given the ball a good crack with these new regulations; now they must not forget to start around the bases. There must be a constant check-up on all the licensees, and if conditions are found which violate the regulations, those conditions must be rectified or the license revoked. It does very little good to say something unless the subjects of the rules and regulations know that they will be enforced. Drawing up a law is not nearly so effective as laying down the law.

Does Striking Pay?

Southbridge's mills are shutting down, leaving town because of a strike. Lawrence's and Andover's mills are busier than they have been for a year, because there was no strike. There's a lesson in the contrast between Southbridge and this section, a lesson which would-be strikers would do well to learn. If before they took the drastic step of striking, mill employees could only envisage the dark outlook that Southbridge has at the present time and the bright outlook that Lawrence has for the happiest Christmas in years, there would be far fewer strikes. The decision of Lawrence's mill employees not to strike last fall when the Nation's textile plants were almost all forced to close, has certainly proved a wise one, and the police departments of Lawrence and Andover deserve the thanks of these two communities for the determined stand they took at that time in an endeavor to keep out-of-town agitators from the mill section.

Siftings

Zero weather may not be so hot, but it is much more effective than the police department in keeping men from hanging around the streets.

A lady in San Francisco wired a ton of coal to a local family Wednesday. If a Californian can "Try Andover First," you can.

You often hear of actors and directors blowing up, but it is not often you hear of four theatres blowing up at the same time.

The streets of Andover were sanded last night for the first time this winter. That weather man just doesn't seem to have any regard for our tax rate.

The E.R.A. list is decreasing, but some people are still peeved because the list of E.R.A. officials wasn't reduced the way they wanted it to be.

Appeals $100 Fine

Otto Hollinger of Jamaica Plain was held in $500 for Superior court Tuesday when he appealed a $100 fine levied on him at District court when he was found guilty of a charge of operating an endanger. Hollinger was the operator of an automobile which crashed into a truck on the Reading road on November 15, fatally injuring his passenger, Stephen Carton of Boston.

A manslaughter charge was dismissed.

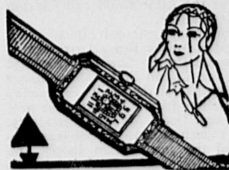

Legion Party Tuesday

Would You Care to Know?

To the Editor of the Townsman:
Would you care to know the difference between a man who is kind and considerate of others—observe his attitude toward his mother. If an employe has any consideration for the man who pays his wages—watch him on his job.
If the driver of an automobile considers the pedestrian his only vice, stand at the corner of Main and Chestnut streets for a few minutes.
If a maid is a good housekeeper—observe her washing dishes.
If a man is neat at home—follow him into the wash room of a Pullman car. ***

A Five-Cent Fare

The Selectmen of Danvers won a battle for a five-cent fare within the town's limits, and I believe our own Selectmen can obtain a similar concession for the residents of Andover, if they will put up a fight for it.
It is just one mile from Andover Square to Shawsheen Village and ten cents is an exorbitant charge for this short haul, and the residents of Shawsheen Village are not to be blamed for shopping and attending many social functions and activities in Andover.

J. A. R.

Selectmen Should Act

The officials of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. must realize the injustice of a ten-cent fare between Andover and Shawsheen Village, and that public opinion is strongly opposed to it.

Our Board of Selectmen are the ones we look to for relief, and they should be able to get this five-cent fare for us.
A decision of vital importance is not only unresponsible, but in many cases works a hardship. Keep up the good work in your editorials and I feel sure that your public spirited attitude and sincere efforts will bring results.
E. L. H.

An Unreasonable Charge

Your editorials regarding a reduction in the fare on the buses from ten to five cents are very much appreciated by those of us who ride back and forth between Andover and Shawsheen Village every day.
It is an unreasonable charge and someone in authority should bring strong pressure to bear on the officials of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. to induce them to make this reduction in the fare.
E. M. B.

Interim Zoning

The City of Lowell passed a similar Interim Zoning Act and the Massachusetts Supreme Court decided it was legal.
The Supreme Court has also held that the building inspector has the right to enforce the zoning laws, which would in substance mean that those persons to whom permits have been granted for business since March 1927, and who have invested their money in buildings in non-residential districts might be compelled to cease business.

The town meeting in March, 1927, voted to divide the town into two districts, residential and business, excepting from the zoning those places that were then doing business in the residential districts.
A survey of the records of the building inspector shows that a number of permits for business have been issued in residential districts without a public hearing being held by the Selectmen, without the consent in writing of owners of land within 500 feet of the proposed business in the residential district, and without publishing notice of the zoning in the newspaper as required by the interim zoning ordinance of 1927.
The present confusion and danger of loss to business that has been established under permits issued since the interim zoning act became a law, can only be remedied by a repeal of the interim zoning act and the issuance of the passing of a new zoning act will only create further confusion.

Sports Department

The football game between Methuen and Stowe was played at the Methuen playstead, Friday afternoon, December 7, beginning at three o'clock.

Methuen defeated Stowe by a score of 33 to 0. Although Stowe was defeated they played a very good game. Methuen outweighed Stowe by 35 pounds to a man. Although all the players played well, John Skea played an outstandingly good game. On the defense he backed up the line very well. On the offense he carried the ball around the end for good gains. Donald Ball, the quarterback, showed good sense in running off the plays. Several times he took the ball and ripped off gains of four and five yards.

Miscellaneous Department

On Monday the SE social studies class elected their new class officers as follows: President, Angie Dantos; vice-president, Mary Deyermund; secretary-treasurer, Franklin Buchanan; executive committee, Bobby Hinman, Gordon Boddy, and Norman Eaton. Contagious diseases are running loose and taking a toll from Stowe school. Mary Deyermund recently returned from a case of the mumps, and Eleanor Houston is now absent with chicken pox. It is hoped that these diseases will not spread.

Robert Nealey, Rudolph Polenski, and some boys from the manual training classes recently marked off a new volleyball and basketball court. The girls of the Sports club are learning to play these games.

Makes New Record for Transcontinental Coal Delivery

Transcontinental fliers were put to shame here Wednesday when a ton of coal ordered in San Francisco at 3.40 our time was delivered here, all paid for, one hour later at 4.40 our time.

A lady in the California city sent a telegram money order at 12.40, California time, or 3.40 Eastern Standard time, to Andover asking that a gift of a ton of coal be delivered by Benjamin Jaques to a local family. The telegram arrived here at 4.02 our time, 22 minutes after it was sent. Eight minutes later at 4.10 Mr. Jaques had the money and the coal was on its way to the coal bin of the lucky family. This is the fastest time that a ton of coal has ever travelled across the continent, and is much faster than the usual time it takes to receive a ton after it is ordered in the city of delivery.

AN EAR FOR PURITY OF SPEECH

DEAR Mrs. Post: Although I graduated from the University of X—with honors—and have excellent letters of personal recommendation from members of the faculty, I am unable to qualify for the position of instructor in an eastern college because of my voice and pronunciation. Both, I am told, are typical of the X section of our country, and seemingly displeasing to eastern prejudices. As a devoted reader of your column may I ask if you can possibly tell me what to do to acquire an attractive voice and pronunciation? I am intelligent, I think, and I am willing to go through any amount of intensive study if I only knew how to go about it.

Answer: The best advice I can give is to try to develop an acute ear for spoken sound. Every one knows what is meant by an ear for music, but very rarely does anyone emphasize the much greater importance of an ear for intonation, or the purity of the spoken vowel sounds. It seems to me that just as such naturalists and entomologists as William Hamilton Gibson and Henri Fabre have proved that not one pair of eyes in a million behold the romance and drama of insect life along every foot of country roadside, it is equally true that not one pair of ears in a million hear with precision the scale of spoken sound. And yet every little child in the world has this exquisite sensitivity, which grows each year less acute. Of course, I don't know whether we are as unearingly deaf (as we are unearingly blind to the insect life of the hedgerows) or whether at the end of babyhood our ears fall to hear clearly, just as our eyes at the end of middle age fail to see clearly.

As I have said, I can't think of better advice to give you than to try to HEAR. If you can hear the difference between a thin flat tone and a full round one, between a note that comes down to rest on the dominant note and one that hangs in the air; if you can hear the entire range of vowel sounds as clearly as a violinist hears musical notes, the chances are that your tongue will produce without effort what your ear exacts.

Word Urge, as a Noun

Urge as a noun has been restored to the language gradually within the past twenty years, and can be said to be in good standing again, says Literary Digest. As a noun, it was in restricted use in the early Seventeenth century, then disappeared until Walt Whitman brought it to light in 1884 in "Leaves of Grass": "Oh, I am sure they really came from Thee, The urge, the ardor, the unconquerable will."

Mice Destroy Thousands of Acres of Farm Crops

Mouse plagues, disastrous as they are, are of minor importance in comparison with the steady yearly drain on crops by the mice over the country at large. In normal years, says the Montreal Herald, even as few as ten meadow mice to the acre on 100 acres of meadow would take about 11 tons of grass or 5 1/2 tons of hay a year. This number, on the 85,000,000 acres of hay raised in the United States would cause a loss of over 8,000,000 tons of hay a year, or a money loss of some $30,000,000 annually in hay alone. The number of young in a litter ranges from two to nine, and one pair averages five to the litter. At this rate of increase, allowing equal numbers of males and females, and the young beginning to breed at 46 days old, the total increase from one pair, if all lived and bred, would be over 1,000,000 individuals at the end of a year. If all were confined to one acre of ground, this would mean over 20 mice to every square foot.

Haiti Has Colorful History

Port au Prince is the capital of Haiti, a land where the early slaves revolted and massacred the whites; where voodoo drums once echoed throughout the mountains to proclaim human sacrifice; where ebony monarchs presided over gorgeous royal courts; where negro generals fought their way to pomp and power through more than a century of bloodshed and intrigue. Haiti, high and picturesque, stands out as a colorful spot in the Caribbean.

Every time leniency is shown to a law violator, more are encouraged to follow in his footsteps. Too many officers are too timid to do their duty. You would think by the weak-kneed actions of some officials when administering fines and punishment to criminals, that they were a party to the offense committed. Lord, give those who administer punishment to law violators the courage to do their duty! Cracking down on the offenders of the law is the only sure method of discouraging crime.—Tribune, Albert Lea, Minn.

The United States was not overly shocked at President Roosevelt's statement that our public debt might reach 31 billion dollars by 1935. It is only $250 per capita, while France today owes nearly $500 per capita, and Great Britain owes nearly $900 per capita. Owing $250 apiece to ourselves can be taken care of without serious worry in this great and rich country.

Curious Guy

"No, sir," said the clerk, "we can't let you have a room unless you take half of a private dining room. There's a screen across it and a young lady has the other half of the room, but I guess she won't bother you."

The salesman agreed that it would do in a pinch.

A half hour later he ran into the corridor, wide-eyed and pale.

"Hey," he yelled to the clerk, "that woman's dead!"

"I know it," said the clerk, "but how did you find it out?"
