To Elect Successor to Selectman Monday

School Committee to Meet with Town Fathers at Five to Choose New School Board Member to Suc-ceed J. Everett Collins

J. Everett Collins, newly elected select-nan, resigned from the school committee useday. Monday afternoon at five the mimittee will meet with the selectmen to noose a successor, who will serve until the xt annual election.

committee will meet with the selectmen to choose a successor, who will serve until the next annual election.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Collins by the school committee for his services during the past year, with the subscommittee on teachers, of which he had been a member, expressing their appreciation for his work. Mr. Collins stated that he had enjoyed his work on the board and that he had learned to appreciate the superintendent and what he meant to Andover. The board accepted his resignation with regret.

Frederick C. Smith was re-elected chairman of the board and Elmer J. Grover was re-elected secretary. Mr. Smith did not announce his sub-committees, since he wanted more time to think them over.

Gavin McGhie, who has been acting janitor for several months since his father, the late James McGhie, took ill, was named janitor at the Bradlee school.

Most of the other business was routine. Mr. Sanborn reported that nine had applied for cadet teacherships, but only two may qualify. It was voted that nine had applied for cadet teacherships, but only two may qualify. It was voted to send a letter to the Board of Public Works asking their cooperation in scarrifying and binding the roads on which the busese travel.

It was voted that the sub-committee on buildings and grounds should call for bids on coal, the contract to be awarded at the April meeting. The vote specifically limited the bidding to Andover dealers, after a long discussion in which it was reported that two members of the finance committee had recommended that bidders from out-of-town be considered.

Local Man Hurt in Stoneham Crash

Frederick P. Sullivan of 64 Morton stree Frederick P. Sullivan of 04 Morton street was injured yesterday morning when the truck which he was driving overturned on Main street, Stoneham, after he had turned sharply to avoid a collision with a car which had just turned out of Hancock street. He was removed to the New England Sanatorium and hospital in Stoneham. He was examined there by X-ray yesterday afternoon.

examined there by X-ray yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday morning it was stated by Stoneham police that his back had been fractured, but the hospital at five last night stated thathis back was injured though not seriously.
He had been walking around a little, it was reported. The doctors were contemplating transferring him to a local hospital last night. He was not on the danger list at five.
Sullivan, who is well-known in local baseball circles, was driving a Cold Spring Ale truck with trailer down Main street, Stoneham, toward Boston, when a car driven by Mary W. Roscoe of Stoneham came out of Hancock street. The truck had a very short body, and when it was turned suddenly it tipped over. The trailer was practically demolished, but none of the beer bottles were broken.

Mr. Sullivan was reproved last night to 4fr. Sullivan was removed last night to Lawrence General hospital. He was reted as felling better this morning, and it is expected that he would be home in two

Selectmen Check Insurance Cost

A survey in an attempt to see if the cost of insurance to the town could be lowered was launched this week by the new Board of Selectmen. Particular attention is being given to the values placed on the buildings, to see if they have been overvalued.

A list of town properties, with estimated values, etc., was given to the school committee Tuesday night. These will be examined for possible over-valuation.

There was an increase of almost $5000 in the insurance appropriation this year.

The meeting of the Baptist church Wom an's Union scheduled for next Thursday a the home of Mrs. John Berry has been post poned until April 5 because of the rally at the South church.

Dr. Daly Elected Chairman of Board

Dr. J. J. Daly, selectman for the last seven years, was chosen chairman of the selectmen and assessors Tuesday to succeed Frank H. Hardy, who prior to his defeat by J. Everett Collins two weeks ago had held the chairmanship twelve years. Howell F. Shepard was chosen secretary. Dr. Daly remains as head of the welfare board.

Very few appe intments have been made as yet, the previous custom having been to appoint the usual officials the first Monday in April. However, George H. Winslow, town clerk, has been named clerk to the two boards and agent for Old Age Assistance. Miss Edith Sellars and Miss Ella Larkin have been appointed town house clerks.

Ralph T. Berry has been appointed local moth superintendent subject to approval by the State. In January Ralph Greenwood of Tewksbury street was named game warden being chosen by the Department of Conservation from a list of three Charles F. Emerson was appointed forest warden several weeks ago.

State Officer Hurt in Skidding Crash

A state police officer, Antonis N. Altieri of Haverhill, and two other men were injured about 7.15 o'clock Wednesday morning in a skidding accident on the by-pass about 150 feet north of Stinson road. Altieri was re-moved to a hospital in Haverhill where he was treated for injuries to his stomach and left arm.

moved to a nospital in Playerini water and was treated for injuries to his stomach and left arm.

Mitchell DeLuca was removed to the General hospital. His injuries were not serious, merely being bruises on the arms and chest. James J. Hartin of North Weymouth suffered slight injuries to his head and back. Altieri was driving to his work at the Concord barracks, when the car operated by Hartin toward Haverhill suddenly skidded. Altieri tried to avoid the crash, even driving up on a banking at the side of the road, but the left front of the car was struck.

Officer Frank McBride and Chief Dane investigated.

Safety Speaker Lauds Local Chief

Lauds Local Chief

A tribute was paid to Chief of Police George A. Dane by Officer William T.
Andrews of the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety speaking before the Service club at the Wildwood Inn last night. He stated that he was a good fellow that and a good police officer, with intelligence and outstanding ability in his executive position.
He was elated to know that Civil Service had passed here.
Officer Andrews spoke at length on speed, stating after mentioning recent transportation developments, that officers fifty years from now will be "remembering when" they'd bring a driver in for going 50 miles per hour.
Too often the blame is attached to the motorist, he said. You can't blame the motorist when a pedestrian steps out from between two parked cars, when thirty feet way there is a police officer or a traffic light, the asserted. "The pedestrian sill thinks that stop-lights are Christmas trees," he added.
The small-town pedestrian is the forgotten man, the speaker stated; sidewalks are so poor that the pelestrian has to walk on the state road, thus causing accidents.
The coming road will be eight lanes, he asserted. He also predicted that in three years 65 percent of the cities and towns will vote "No" because of drunken driving. He suggested permanent license suspension for driving under the influence.
In answer to a question, Officer Andrews stated that the thought an extra motorcycle officer would be of more use in curbing North Main street speeding than signs would. He stated that three-lane roads should be eliminated.

A drop of about fifty cents in the tax rate was forecast after the annual town meeting last Monday in which the voters went under the finance committee's recommendations by $546.21. The meeting also voted to appropriate $16,000 from free cash to reduce the tax rate, so that the total reduction from the finance committee in stimated rate would be about 65 cents. The finance committee had estimated that the rate would be about $29.68.

The highlights of the meeting were the placing of the police and fire departments under Civil Service, the indefinite postponing of the proposed zoning by-law, the purchase of a new police cruising car and the indefinite postponing of the remainder of the appropriation suggestions of the police investigating committee's report, and the upholding of Dr. J. J. Daly, local E R A administrator, against whom several unsuccessful attempts were made to curb his authority.

Indefinite pestponement was the fate of many of the special articles, and also of the assessors's survey. The E R A material appropriation of $8500, the police car appropriation of $8500, the Baysground appropriation of $850, the Garabedian water extension of $6700, the B P W team of horses of $4700; and the River road improvements of $4740 were the only special appropriations granted.

According to one of those innumerable Washingtonia columns, the best story-teller among the members of the present Congress is Congressina William P. Connerty. It. And that, to borrow the phrase used by all toustments and after-dimer speakers, reminds us of a little story. Fropaganda! That sacred institution, that stronghold of Democracy,—the New England town meeting—is being scandalously prostituted to the advantage of a selfish element in the population. Ladies and gentlemen, a vicious, subtle attempt is being made to force upon an unsuspecting public an attitude favorable to this group. You, the people, should know the facts, and never let it be said that the Townsman would allow its faithful readers thus to be duped. Friends, this greedy group whom we cannot toot strongly denounce is trying to make you garbage-collection-conscious. The opening un was fired at town-meetings through that the garbage business has now reached a position of great respectability, and that one conducts this business now in one's front yard.

In the town of Duxbury, too, the garbage collectors' unien was making an attempt to better the condition of its members. The following, according to the Boston Herald, was culled from the Duxbury town warrant:

Article 27. Will the Town vote to give the Selectmen the authority to appoint two garbage collectors to take care of the summer residents and appropriate $4000.00 for same.

John Percival, bass-baritone, is to be the soloist at the second annual concert of the Andover Male Choir to be held Saturday evening, March 23, in George Washington hall, with over 200 male voices participating. Mr. Percival is the former Percival Dove, Jr., of this town. His uncle's name was John Dove and for professional purposes he has adopted his uncle's first name in conjunction with his own first name. He is the grandson of George W. W. Dove, one of the founders of Smith and Dove.

Mr. Percival graduated from Phillips acedemy in 1923, He had sung solos for the Glee club and choir two years on the Hill. He was also soloist for the Glee club at Harvard, where he graduated cum laude in 1929. He was the winner of the Massachusetts Atwater Kent contest in 1929 and of the Metropolitan Theatre contest in 1932. He sang with the People's Symphony orchestra in December under Fabien Sevitzky. Movie Censorship Subject at C. E.

At the regular meeting of the Free Church Y. P. S. C. E., held Sunday evening at 6.00, president James M. Gillespie addressed the society on censorship of the movies, with "Let's Clean up the Movies" as his topic.

The so-called morally instructive motion pictures, in which five-sixths of the time is spent in lurid description of the usually happy-ending adventures of the drug-fiend, the vampire, or the prostitute, and the remaining fifth spent in an unconvincing plea against the topical sin, were heartily condemned as being of a degrading influence upon the morals of any children hubence upon the morals of any children hubence when the same with the same as a superior of the country.

One phase of the motion picture problem which was particularly emphasized was the morally destructive tendency of the pictures to which no "children under sixteen" are admitted. These films, it was stated, invariably prove only more luring to the same "children under sixteen," as well as to many crude, unintelligent adults to whom they are likely to be of no value whatsoever.

It was suggested that in order to effect a partial solution to this problem the conscientious, intelligent movie-goer refuse to patronize theatres which repeatedly advertise objectionable films, and, rather, attend those theatres which maintain a policy of cleanliness, decency, and public-spirit; then improved taste will have become prevalent, and there will be a general trend toward improvement of the country at large and toward a more effective democracy.

The town hall was crowded with about 1100 people present. The meeting lasted nearly five hours.

Under Article 1, the various officers were declared elected, with the announcement of J. Everett Collins' election evoking applause. When he had stepped on the stage, he was also applauded.

P. W. secretary, $100; library trustees' treasurer $25.

Most of the items in the regular budget occasioned no comment. The various items under Town Officers were specified in the vote, as suggested in the annual state audit. Treasurer Eaton moved that the town officers appropriation include $75, which would be divided equally among the assessors for walking around the bounds of the town as required every five years. This was approved. Then the town treasurer asked that the appropriation be increased $180, of which $60 would be for the experience and $60 for clerical help for the treasurer, and $60 for clerical help for the treasurer, and $60 for clerical help for the accountant. This was passed.

Survey Defeated

Mr. Burns claimed that the expenditure the basis.

Mr. Burns claimed that the expenditure so far was $32,000 plus the money "the gentlement from Haverhill got from the E R A last year." The town wants to reduce its taxes, he he said, and this is the time to start. Then he finished by saying that the assessors had lowered taxes in exchange for votes. We'd ought to tell the men in Haverhill to still stay in Haverhill, he concluded.

Dr. Daly answered that only $23,191 had been spent, that Mr. Burns had made a "mere exageration of $9,000." The Haverhill firm never received a nickel from the E R A, he said. Then he denied that there was any politics in the assessors' office, for which he was applauded.

Mrs. Horace M. Poynter stated that she was one of a group of ten women who studied the survey for eight weeks to see if the town's money was being wasted. The conclusion, she reported, was that the system provided a fair assessment for the Cwn. She added that she was speaking from an unbiased point of view, since she was not a property holder.

Col. Valentine M. Fitzhugh stated that the voters should trust the assessors and the finance committee. He asked: "Shall we trust the elected officers or those who talk sometimes in rather af an irresponsible manner."

Mr. Baron wanted to know it nobody else

Mr. Barron wanted to know if nobody else but the officers had brains. What's the purpose of a town meeting, he asked, if the voters merely meet to approve the recommendations of officials.

Mr. Squires stated that the extra expense was tosurvey newly-explored land that didn't belong to Andover before. Hugh Bullock, inance committee chairman stated that the finance committee felt that it was best to complete it.

after Walter Coleman, chairman of the lighting committee, had declined the extra 56 cents the finance committee had tacked on to his budget to make it even dollars, Matchew Burns referred to Article 26, asking $45 for two lights on Corbett street. He amended the motion, by increasing the sum to $19,493. Mr. Coleman stated that if the committee let the bars down to one street, every street would want the same concessions. In the past three years, four lights have been out on Corbett street and thera era now eight up there in all, he added.

Matthew Burns arose again, but the trowd yelled at him to sit down, and the amendment was voted down.

Zoning Plan Defeated

erator ruled the amendment out of order.

Zoning Plan Defeated

Mr. Squires moved indefinite postponement of the proposed zoning by-law. Mrs. Charles E. Abbott supported the proposal. Her husband, the late Dr. Charles E. Abbott, former representative from this district, had proposed a town planning board, she said. Then she mentioned the property at the corner of Punchard avenue, which once was used for residential purposes but which now is used for a business block and a garage, much to the detriment of the surrounding residential property including the Andover Home for Aged People. This could not have happened if a zoning plan had been in force. Walter M. Lamont, chairman of the planning board, stated that the board was appointed to draw up a by-law acceptable to the town. For this reason, members had spoken to several hundreds of people and twenty organizations, and the suggestions made by many persons had been embodied in the proposal. He himself has a barm behind his house, he stated, but without a zoning law, he could make it an auto exchange and make his back yard an auto graveyard. The restrictions were drawn up, he said, to protect the property-owner, to make it impossible for one owner to injure his neighbor's property and reduce its value by making an improper use of his own property. Andover has everything a town should have—tradition, beauty, fine water supply, he stated. He concluded with: "Andover needs a zoning law, baw one sort of a zoning law, and he have some sort of a zoning law, and he

Mrs. Byron Horne said that the town had been zoned by an interim ordniance since 1927. Yet, she added, almost any sort of a building can be built on the Reading read whereas she couldn't sell her property for the construction of a two-family house.

Michael Lane said that Andover was known all over the world. It has good-locking houses, good-looking business structures, well-kept streets, and good gevernment. He asked: do you want to leave the door open to depreciate the good things you have?

to the result. The count on a show of hands was 368 to 323 for indefinite postponement.

Vote Car Purchase

Col. Fitzhugh, chairman of the police investigating committee, opened the debate on the three articles inserted by the committee asking appropriations. He said the purchase of the new car would only make a difference of 7½ cents on the tax rate, adding that many pecple in the hall have never seen a police officer from their own home.

The debate on article 10 more or less merged with that on Article 11, asking $500 for traffic lights in Shawsheen square. Atty. Joseph Hargedon said that lights would not protect the school pupils, the children at the pond during the summer, the mill-workers, or the Rockingham traffic. Mr. Barren replied that the children pass only four times a day, the total period being two hours, and at present 3 men are kept there 24 hours to protect the children for two hours, and at present 3 men are kept there 24 hours to protect the children for two hours, and at present 3 men are kept there 24 hours to protect the children for two hours, and at present 3 men are kept there 24 hours to protect the children for two hours, and at present 3 men are kept there 24 hours to protect the children for two hours, and at present 3 men are kept there was no question of the need of a new cruising car, but he didn't believe a traffic light system could be devised which would take care of the traffic situation in Shawsheen center. Matthew Burns thought Shawsheen would agree to the lights if they had police protection there for eight hours. The new car would be no good without officers, he said.

After the purchase of the car was voted. Col. Fitzhugh, speaking under article 11, stated that there was no intent to curtail the protection of the school children, but that officers were unnecessary to have an officer there anyway.

When the vote was called for, the moderator announced that the "ayes" had it for indefinite postponement. On a question, a hand vote was taken, with the result being 333 for in

Police Budget Mixup

Police Budget Mixup
There was a mixup on the regular police appropriation. The original motion had called for $450 mcre than the finance committee's recommendations for signs on the main road at Mr. Remington's suggestion, and Town Clerk Winslow added $550 to this for expenses on the new car. John Holmelund and C. Carlton Kimball spoke against the signs, Mr. Kimball saying that they would be disregarded. Charles Roberts wanted the signs to be creeted, and the police to enforce them. F. Tyler Carlton recommended that no action be taken until the Highway Traffic Research made its forthcoming report on signs, etc.

a town Andover's size that hasn't its police department under Civil Service. Col. Fitz-hugh replied that Concord didn't have it, and another town that had it didn't like it. Charles Roberts stated that it was dangerous to allow the pelice force to be submitted to the possibility of dismissal. Mr. Emerson felt that Civil Service meant efficient departments and political control meant in-efficiency.

The motion for Civil Service was passed. The municipal light plant proposition received support from Mr. Barron, Mr. Burns, Mr. Roberts, and Herbert Lewis. Mr. Coleman stated that he wanted lower rates, but that it was foolish to spend $25 on such a matter because it would cost a million dollars to build it properly. The vote was 277 to 150 for indefinite postponing. The article asking that the various departments call for bids on all purchases over $50 was passed with only Mr. Smith of the school committee expressing an objection. He wanted to know if the school board would have to call for bids when a certain book published by only one publisher was wanted. Someone shouted: "Why not?" which made the moderator rap for order and state that it was not a Wisconsin town meeting. The vote was passed 164 to 133.

E R A Trouble

Article 21, asking that the B, P. W. purchase all the materials for roads, etc., which was expected to produce fireworks, was passed by without any action. However, article 7, the E R A appropriation, came up next, and the struggle started. Milton Chambers moved that the funds be spent under supervision of a committee of three, one to be the E R A administrator and the other two to be elected from the floor. Dr. Daly took the wind out of the opposition's sais by announcing that it didn't matter to him who bought the materials, but that he felt that since the E R A pays the truck driver, he should be supervised and directed by the E R A foremen. Otherwise the output of the trucks would be decreased.

Mrs. Horne felt that the floor would elect rucks would be decreased.

Mrs. Horne felt that the floor would elect tresponsible persons. Matthew Burns recalled the previous vote passed at the special meeting last fall asking that Charles T. Gilliard be appointed administrator. He offered an amendment to appoint a committee of three, said committee to call for bids on all matterials, and in all cases to accept the lowest bidder. He concluded by saying that Doctor Daly had defied the town, a statement which Dr. Daly later answered by saying that a certain individual.

Atty. Joseph Burns supported Dr. Daly, Astaing that he has handled the work of the Grange sitchen and for the fair to be held in the fail were discussed and suggestions for the committee were prepared.

Andover Grange held a most interesting meeting on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. The Juvenile Grange from Laurel Grange, West Newbury, were the guests of the evening. They filled the chairs and exemplified the work in a most efficient manner. The entertainment which they gave during the lecturer's hour was interesting and well done and best of all was wholly from their own membership. At the close of their meeting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peatman served a lunch for them in the lower hall. After the close of Andover Grange's meeting Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Keating served refreshments. The first and second degrees will be worked Tuesday evening March 26, the first degree by the regular officers and the second degree by the men's degree team with Floyd Darby as Master and Joseph Dennis as coach. April 9 will be Neighbor's Night with North Andover Grange invited. Andover Grange will present a minstrel show as entertainment and refreshments will be in charge of the secretary and chaplain.

"To Help People Obey the Law Is Most Important Duty," Says Chief Dane

"In the pursuit of crime one knocks daily against the astounding and the revolting, perhaps coming nearer to understanding humanity than in any other kind of work, said Chief of Police George Dane of the local force, relaxing from his busy life last weekend long enough to recount a few of his experiences during sixteen years of service.

"After watching the mistakes made by those who but for a moment of weakness or passion would otherwise be law-abiding citizens, I am convinced that the source of crime lies further back than the criminal. Been are rarely born criminals and the cause of their undoing is usually to be found in some fundamental wrong of society.

"The most important part of a policeman's job," he went on, "is to help people obey the law, although many don't seem to realize his. Occasionally, however, through greed or viciousness horrible crimes are committed in cold blood. It is then that all the forces that the law can muster should concentrate on bringing the wrong doer to justice."

The chief seems keenly interested in his work. Smart and trim in his blue uniform, he leaned forward, his face alight with enthusiasm.

"It's science that's leading the way for vs.

When asked what the chief problems were concerned in bringing criminals to justice, he tigred with the relatives of the solving crimes. The work of tracking down clues has been greatly aided by modern in-

The next day, however, in one of the Boston newspapers appeared a picture of five men who had been arrested that morning for carrying firearms without a permit. On a hunch, the picture was shown to those who had broken into the camp. All were held to await trial.

"For further proof of their guilt, the guns found on the men were given to an expert, who by discharging them secured the mark left by the bullet of each. These he compared with the bullet holes in the camp and found them identical. Thus science removes the guess work from decisions based on circumstantial evidence."
