Doors will open at 10. There is no charge for admission and the public is cordially invited.

The committee: Miss Mary Byers Smith, chairman; Mrs. Philip P. Cole, vice-chairman; Mrs. A. H. Chamberlain, president of the Andover Garden Club, ex officio; Mrs. Edson Andrews, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Miss Mary Bancroft, Mrs. Ralph P. Berry, Mrs. N. E. Bartlett, Mrs. Arnold Bodwell, Mrs. Henry A. Bodwell, Mrs. F. G. Bowes, Mrs. Douglas Byers, Mrs. Dana W. Clark, Mrs. W. H. Coildge, Jr., Mrs. Burton S. Flagg, Miss Bessie F. Goldsmith, Mrs. Ralph E. Hadley, Mrs. A. M. Howe, Mrs. Mitchell Johnson, Mrs. Carleton Kimball, Miss Anna Kuhn, Mrs. Sara Bartlett Mercer, Mrs. Charles D. McDuffie, Mrs. Albert Moore, Mrs. Vasco E. Nunez, Mrs. Pierson S. Page, Mrs. Carl F. Hattischer, Mrs. W. T. Rich Jr., Mrs. Henry C. Sanborn, Mrs. James K. Selden, Miss Esther W. Smith, Mrs. Clinton Stevens, Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Arthur Sweeney, Mrs. James L. Toohy, and Mrs. Ernest Dean Walen.

The Paint-a-Koon Contest, held in connection with the conference, has already started. Early birds, under the direction of Mrs. Henry Bodwell are already using the two quarts of excellent paint and paint brush furnished free to every qualified amateur painter who wishes to beautify his own home. The final date of entry is April 1.

Exhibitors may inspect the booths at the town hall Tuesday afternoon. The exhibits will probably be arranged Wednesday morning between the hours of 8 and 10.

Tax Appeal May Defer Appointments

The annual list of appointments by the board of selectmen is scheduled to be made Monday, the first Monday in April. Because the selectmen as assessors may be in Boston on a valuation case, the appointments may be deferred a while.

The First National Bank of Boston has appealed to the State Board of Tax Appeals for a reduction in valuation on several lots of land between North Main street and the Shawshen river, south of the Balmoral Spa. The case is due to be heard Monday.

Shawsheen Women to Meet Monday

The literature committee will be in charge of the April meeting of the Shawsheen Village Women's Club, Monday evening. Mrs. Bowers, chairman of the committee will present Miss Isabel Mason, a pupil of the Bishop Leese School of Boston. Miss Mason will read scenes from the play, "Growing Pains." The music will consist of selections by a male quartette under the direction of J. Everett Collins. Members of the Literature Committee are Mrs. Florence Bowers, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Raymond How, Arthur Clough and Mrs. Vernon R. Walker.

Refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. George H. Winslow and her committee.

A group of members attended the Annual Music Conference of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs at Hotel Westminster yesterday. Mrs. Frederick C. Smith, musical director of the club, is a member of the state committee of which Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian is chairman. Mrs. Smith is on the printing committee of the conference.

Those attending were: Mrs. Albert E. Curtis, Mrs. H. Garrison Hault, Mrs. Arthur Clough, Mrs. Lorentz I. Hansen, Mrs. Clinton H. Stevens, Mrs. Harold T. Houston, Mrs. Joseph Gagne, Mrs. Howard Dolan, Mrs. Frank P. Anderson and Mrs. Frederick C. Smith.

Blind Girls' Concert

The Girls' Glee club of the Perkins Institute for the Blind will give a concert and demonstration at the West Parish church vestry next Friday evening at eight. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Lawrence Wood, 127 Lowell street, Telephone 272W.

The girls, though blind, will demonstrate their ability to sew, knit, read Braille, typewrite, play bridge and tap dance.

Guild Will Conduct Recreation Institute

Robert Murray, recreation specialist of the National Recreation Association, New York City has been secured as instructor in games and crafts for the recreation institute to be conducted at the Andover Guild, April 1st, 2nd and 3rd. The institute will be conducted free of charge to interested men and women throughout the community.

Mr. Murray has won fame throughout the country for his genius in helping people have a good time, and his facility of being able to pass along his games and methods of leadership to others. During the past three years he has conducted institutes in thirty-two states and trained hundreds of men and women for leadership in the social activities of churches, schools, clubs, community centers, and playgrounds.

Some of his games are old favorites; many others he has invented himself or adapted to meet some special need. All of his inventions and games have been tested in the human laboratory from east to west. They include many making stunts for adult organizations, games for rainy day recess, educational games, puzzles, table games, children's folk games, rough and tumble games for boys, and social activities for all ages. There will be practical suggestions for hikes and picnics, suggestions for assembly programs, dramatic stunts, and party fun. Several sessions will be devoted to handicraft and there will be an exhibit of articles helpful to junior club leaders.

Mr. Murray denies the accusation that Americans are the most bored people on earth. "Many grown-ups today do not know how to play," he says. "They get all their recreation by proxy, watching others play. But once the ice is broken and they join, they have a glorious time. The right kind of leadership is the only thing necessary to revive the zest of the old-time parties when everyone shares in the fun."

This disciple of mirth and frolic shows that it is possible to get a surprising amount of entertainment without spending anything except one's own ingenuity. Such cast away articles as old inner tubes, magazines, cigar boxes, jolly jars, and cardboard are used for fascinating arts and crafts. With pencil and paper he demonstrates puzzles and diversions which will keep a group amused a long time.

Superintendents of schools in many cities have trained Mr. Murray's educational games which are used to aid in the teaching of geography, arithmetic, and other subjects. These games hold the child's attention and disapprove the old theory that learning must be dull and spiritless.

The Andover Guild extends a cordial invitation to attend Mr. Murray's institute to representatives of schools, churches, clubs, or any other organizations which put on recreation programs and are interested in new ideas for social gatherings. Parents will find the course of great value in planning programs for home play and meeting the children's frequent query "what is there to do?" The students learn the games and stunts by playing them, so that a jolly good time is assured to all who register for the "School of Fun."

Conduct Meeting on Catholic Action

The mobilization for Catholic action to combat communism was the subject of a mass meeting of the men of St. Augustine's parish held Tuesday evening in K. C. hall. The principal speaker was Rev. Charles A. Hart, O. S. A., former Andover resident now stationed at St. Mary's in Lawrence. He substituted for Father Branton.

Other speakers were: District Deputy William A. Harnedy and Past District Deputy Francis S. McDonnell.

Wrestling and boxing bouts were enjoyed after the meeting.

To Address King's Daughters

L. Denis Peterkin of Phillips academy will speak on "British Guyana" at an open meeting of the King's Daughters to be held Monday evening in the South church vestry. The public is invited.

Bean Supper Tomorrow

The Helping Hand society of the Free church will have a bean supper in the vestry tomorrow evening. Mrs. George Nicoli and Mrs. George Murray are in charge.

To Test Pump

The efficiency test on the new steam turbine pump at the Haggets pond pumping station will probably be made next week.

"Pinafore" to Be Given Next Week

His Majesty's Ship, Pinafore, will sail into Andover next Friday and will anchor at the Free church parish house at 7:45, to unload a cargo of refreshing entertainment. Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta is always full of delightful swinging choruses and Pinafore has not been neglected in this regard. The "Cousins and Aunts" and "the Sailors' Polishing the Knocker on the Big Front Door" are two very catchy tunes that can be easily understood and learned.

This is the first presentation of this operetta in Andover and the following cast directed by Mrs. Allison Morse has given much time to make this the outstanding musical event of the year.

The cast:

The Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter K.C.B. Betty Carmichael

Capt. Corcoran Ralph Rackstraw

Thomas Dea Dick Deadeye

Margaret Gordon Boatswain

Lindsay Kinnear

Bob Eleanor Gorrie

Middlemitch Walter Gordon

Josephine Constance Forsyth

Helen Mary Deynemoort

Little Buttercup Ruth Nepler

Sailors Doris Anderson, Gladys Deynemoort, Helen Carmichael, Milton Gray, Ruth Keith, Margaret McFarlin, Teddy McFarlin, Jean McLeish, Esther Cairnie

Death Removes Local Physician

Dr. Elwin Dexter Lane, well-known physician here for the past 23 years, passed away Monday night at his home on Locke street after a short illness. He had been making his usual calls all the previous week, and his death shocked his many friends and patients who had come to look forward to the friendly chats which always formed such an important part of his visits.

Dr. Lane was born in Ashburnham March 6, 1876, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Lane. He attended Cushing academy and received his degree from the B. U. Medical school in 1912. He opened his practice in Andover in the fall of 1912.

On September 12, 1900, he married Clara A. Friend of Groveland. Mrs. Lane survives, with his father, now residing in Fitchburg; a sister, Mrs. Leonard O. Robinson of Fitchburg, a nephew, Olin E. Robinson of Fitchburg, an aunt, Mrs. Carrie M. Lord of Leominster and an uncle, Professor S. L. Lane of Ashburnham.

Dr. Lane was very prominent in fraternal circles. He was a thirty-second degree Mason, a Past Master of St. Matthew's lodge, A. F. and A. M., a member of Lowell lodge of Perfection, Rose Croix, Aleppo Temple of Boston, Massachusetts Consistory, Andover lodge, 230, I. O. O. F., and Garfield lodge, 172, Knights of Pythias and Kearsarge Encampment of Law 66.

His medical affiliations were many. He belonged to the Greater Lawrence Medical society, the Massachusetts Medical society, the New England Medical society, the American Institute of Homoeopathy, and the American Medical society.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the South church by Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Wilson and Rev. Frederick B. Noss. Masonic services were held at Riverview cemetery, Groveland, where burial was held.

The bearers, all members of St. Matthew's lodge, were: J. Everett Collins, Arthur R. Lewis, Sidney P. White, Roderick Cannon, George Abbott and Edmond Hammond.

A. P. C. Sorority Plans Spring Sale

The A. P. C. sorority of the South church is busy with its preparation for the spring sale to be held in the vestry of the church during the afternoon and evening of Thursday, April 11. Aprons, home baked food, candy, knitted articles, spring plants and flowers may be purchased at reasonable prices. From three until five o'clock, tea or coffee, toasted English muffins and marmalade will be served to those who wish to spend a leisurely afternoon and remain through for the entertainment in the evening.

At eight o'clock there will be a series of plays: "The Finger of God," a serious type of play; "Plain Linen," a comedy which takes place in a laundry; and "What Price America," a satire on the discovery of America. Everyone is assured a most enjoyable evening.

David Shaw Wills Estate to Wife

The entire estate of David Shaw, local banker who died at his home, 52 Main street, February 18, was bequeathed to his wife with the exception of $8000 which was willed to Nellie B. Phillips, nurse to Mrs. Shaw. Stories which appeared in other papers earlier this week stated that many bequests had been made to other parties, but will state that these were to be made only in the event that Mrs. Shaw died before him. "All the rest and residue of (his) estate" was to go to Mrs. Shaw, unless she predeceased him, which will read:

Included in the bequests that the other papers incorrectly stated were made were $10,000 to the town of Andover in trust for relief of the poor, $5000 to the South church, and $1000 to the Andover Home for Aged People. These and other bequests to relatives and friends were to be made only in the event that she survived Mrs. Shaw.

The will, dated January 11, 1933, was filed for probate Monday, but no inventory has yet been presented, leaving the total value of the estate uncertain. Burton S. Flagg, was named as executor.

Attached to the will will changes only a bequest to Nellie B. Phillips of Franklin, Maine and Boston. The additional $4000 is given in appreciation of the care given by Miss Phillips, a nurse to the invalid wife of Mr. Shaw, Lucy Hayward Shaw.

Coleman of Chestnut street, or in Watertown, Conn., until June when the elder daughter, Ethel, will graduate from Northfield Seminary.

Names Stowers to Teacher Committee

One change in the school board sub-committee was contained in the list announced yesterday by Frederick C. Smith, chairman. Dr. Nathaniel Stowers, who last year was shifted from the teacher-sub-committee to the advisory committee was returned to his old position. Herbert Carter, the new member, was named to the advisory committee.

The sub-committee: finance and advisory, Mr. Smith, chairman; Miss Mary E. C. Geagan, Mr. Carter; teachers and curriculum, Mrs. Ralph C. Barnes, chairman; Mrs. Annie S. Angus, Dr. Stowers, buildings and grounds, William A. Doherty, chairman; Arthur R. Lewis, and Elmer J. Grover.

Speaker Talks on Physical Education

The cause of physical education was advanced last night in a talk before the Andover Public School Teachers' association in Stowe school hall by Carl Schrader, supervisor of physical education for Massachusetts. Mrs. Cecelia Derah, president of the association, introduced the speaker.

Mr. Schrader advocated training the child for the proper use of the leisure time which present day methods of living have brought. Music, art, manual training, homemaking courses should all be included in the curriculum, he said, not to develop artists or musicians, but to give the child when an adult something to do, something to interest him in his leisure time.

Mr. Schrader told of the great increase in interest in physical education. In 1922 when he first took up his present position there were very few public school gymnasiums, but today it is a rare public school system that doesn't have a gym.

The speaker advocated the furthering not so much of such sports as football and basketball but of the so-called minor sports such as tennis and golf which one can continue to enjoy actively until quite old. The only sport now which is not used in some public school system in this country is pony polo, he said.

Mr. Schrader stated that he would be glad to help plan the equipment for Andover's new gymnasium.

To Stage Exhibit of Local Industry

In an exhibition entitled "Design in Local Industry" to be held April 15-May 16 at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, the people of this locality will have an opportunity to see the variety and quality of products manufactured in Lawrence, Haverhill, Lowell, Andover and North Andover. The purpose of the exhibition, as announced by the Gallery, is to acquaint the public with the diversity of products manufactured in this locality, and to reveal the present-day trends in industrial design.

Invitations to exhibit have been extended to the Acadia Mills, the Ayer, Wood and Shawsheen units of the American Woolen Company, the Arlington Mills, Botta Rubber Company, Champion-International Company, David Brown Company, George W. Dinsmore, Farwell Bleachery, H. and P. Spool and Bobbin Company, Hardy Brush Company, Labro Fabrics Corporation, Lawrence Dye Works, F. W. McManian and Son, Merrimac Paper Company, Monomac Spinning Company, Pacific Mills, Patchogue-Plymouth Mills, Selden Worsted Mills, The Shoe Lace Company, M. T. Stevens & Sons Company of North Andover and the Marland Mills of Andover. Tyer Rubber Company and the U. S. Bobbin and Shuttle Company. As a number of these firms have already accepted the invitation to exhibit, the exhibition promises to be representative of this locality. Limited space has necessitated the omission of some products such as machinery, wearing apparel, foods and beverages. As Haverhill is the leading shoe manufacturing city of the locality, this industry will be represented by that city alone.

The exhibition has the support of the Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, whose president—Walter M. Hastings—and Secretary—John O'Rourke—are members of the Advisory Committee assisting the director of the exhibition, Mrs. Elizabeth Cook of the Addison Gallery staff. Other members of the Advisory Committee from Greater Lawrence are A. Murray Howe of the Champion International Company, Walter Lamont of the Wood Mills, Nathaniel Stevens of M. T. Stevens and Sons Company, and Henry G. Tyer of the Tyer Rubber Company.

Police Department in Annual Banquet

Inspector Henry Mansfield of the fire marshal's office spoke last night at the annual banquet of the local police relief association held at the Shawsheen Manor. He showed slides of some fire crimes that his department had solved.

Joseph Hines of Methuen entertained with a dialogue in French dialect.

Chief George A. Dane was toastmaster. Remarks were made by the visiting chiefs. Thirty-two were present.

Seriously Injured in Crossing Street

Mrs. Alexander Smith, 54, of Barnard street was removed to the Lawrence General hospital shortly before midnight last night after being struck by a car operated by Henry G. Schultz of Salem street on Main street in front of Billings' jewelry store.

Hospital authorities stated this morning that her condition was "fairly comfortable." She had a deep wound in the left half of the left leg, lacerations of the scalp, and contusions and abrasions of the left thigh. She suffered considerable loss of blood. This morning two large splinters of blood on Main street were mute evidence of the crash.

Mrs. Smith was crossing Main street toward Barnard street when the crash occurred. Schultz had just left the square and was driving behind another car which stopped suddenly to avoid hitting Mrs. Smith. Schultz swerved his car out past the other and ran into Mrs. Smith.

Work Finally Begun on New Junior High

Excavating for the boiler house to the rear of the Samuel Jackson school was started early yesterday morning. The steam shovel had arrived Wednesday afternoon, shortly after work had begun on putting up the boilers for the entire school project.

After the boiler house excavating is completed, the school will start on the excavating for the auditorium and gymnasium. There will be no need of digging for the new junior high building itself, since the level of the ground is over a story lower than that of the ground surrounding the high school.

Contractors Wednesday estimated that the boiler house would be ready for use by the time that heat would be needed in the fall. The entire project would be ready for the installation of equipment in twelve to fourteen months, they stated.

John A. Robertson, the town's representative, will have his offices in the high school basement, along with Mr. Gerrish, who will be the P. W. A. representative. Mr. Gerrish lived on William street, Shawshen Village, formerly.

The steam shovel behind the school building created quite a disturbance in the classrooms nearest the shove yesterday morning. School authorities were present to attempt to find a way to mitigate the trouble. The noise of the shovel could be heard downtown.

The bricks of old Punched are to be used for backing up the walls, and the broken brick will be used as fill. Some of the old granite is being removed to Cambridge where it will be cut up.

The contracts were signed Monday night by the building committee. The final figures are: Erection contract, $278,425, let to Thomas O'Connor, Cambridge. Heating and ventilating contract, $77,581, let to James S. Cassidy, 133 Austin street, Cambridge. Electrical contract, $29,245, let to James Wilkinson and Co., 128 Oliver street, Boston. Plumbing contract, $15,355, let to Pierce and Cox, 143 Kingston street, Boston.

Fire Visits House Twice Same Night

The four children of special police officer and Mrs. John Campbell of 31 Shawshen road were carried to safety by officers William R. Shaw and David Gillespie as flames badly damaged the store and home belonging to Robert Campbell, Jr., early Monday morning. The fire was thought extinguished with but very little damage after the first alarm came in at 1:59 a. m., but it broke out again causing about $1500 damage, with the alarm being sounded at 3:59 a. m.

Chief Charles F. Emerson was slightly injured when he was knocked down a flight of stairs by a hose. He was able to be at his desk the next morning, although his arm was lame.

When the first alarm was answered, a slight fire was found in a closet in a store on the ground floor. It is believed by Chief Emerson that a cigarette butt left on a drawer had started the blaze. When the department left the scene, it was thought that the fire was out, but the fire had in some way worked its way downward to another partition.

When the second alarm was answered, the fire was going briskly. Nine persons in the three-family house evacuated, including Mr. Campbell, his father, officer Campbell, his wife and four children, and Mrs. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Sarah Jack.

Busy Week Ahead for Women Voters

There are several activities for various members of the Andover League next week. On Monday, April 1st, at the Cambridge Boat Club in Cambridge is the Finance Field Day for the Massachusetts League Finance Committee which is made up of the President, Treasurers, Finance chairman, and contributors' list workers from all the local leagues in the State; the Membership chairman are also included. Miss Helen Chickering, Mrs. Frederick Butler, Mrs. Horace Poynter, Mrs. Charles S. La Monte, and Miss Mary Bell are going.

On Tuesday the Andover League has its April Board meeting at the home of Mrs. Frederick Butler who has invited the twenty members to luncheon following the meeting. On Wednesday, there is a School of Politics in Lowell to which members of the League and the Public are invited.

Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Poynter are taking cars, and if any Andover people are interested in the fine program, they will be glad to help with transportation. Supper may be obtained at the Lowell Y. W. C. A. on John street where the conference is taking place. Lowell has a new League and they would like to be encouraged by a generous delegation from Andover. Christian Herter is perhaps the most distinguished of the speakers; he is one of the fine younger men in the state giving much time to helping make politics what they should be in a great Democracy like ours. The tickets for both afternoon and evening are a very nominal charge.

Service Club Has Unusual Program

A unique program of entertainment was presented last night at the Service club meeting by Hans Helms. Mr. Helms initiated with his voice the sounds of a piano and of several brass instruments, and he also sang a soprano solo. Years of training were necessary to accomplish this, he stated.

Four men from the Bureau of Missing Persons, Boston Police department, were present. Stories of their work were shown, with explanations.

The men were: Lieutenant William T. Ross, Lieutenant William J. Sheehan, Sergeant Thomas McLaughlin and Harry Ross.

New Light Rates Save Over $1000

Andover will save $1,063 by the new municipal lighting rates, according to Walter H. Coleman, chairman of the local street lighting committee. Under the old rates, the bill to the town would have been $19,392.75, and under the new rates it will be $18,329.75.

Mr. Coleman met with three representatives of the Lawrence Gas and Electric company Wednesday morning to discuss the changes.

Will Give Lecture on Wellesley Conference

On Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at the Christ Church Parish House, the Reverend W. H. Deacon, rector of St. Luke's Church, Malden, will give a lecture illustrated by moving pictures on the conference for church workers held at Wellesley College each summer.

This lecture is being held under the auspices of the Junior Women's Guild at Christ Church. After the lecture, a food sale will be held, the proceeds of which will be donated to a fund to send delegates to the Wellesley Conference.

The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Dr. McGillicuddy to Address A. P. C.

At the next meeting of the A. P. C. Sorority on Thursday evening Dr. Helen I. McGillicuddy will be the speaker and her subject is to be "This New Freedom." Dr. McGillicuddy is the educational secretary of the Massachusetts Society for Social Hygiene and is a very interesting speaker. It will be remembered that last year Dr. McGillicuddy was unfortunately prevented from speaking as planned but this year she expects to be here and it is hoped that many will be present to hear her. Members may bring guests and refreshments will be served.

The four children of special police officer and Mrs. John Campbell of 31 Shawshen road were carried to safety by officers William R. Shaw and David Gillespie as flames badly damaged the store and home belonging to Robert Campbell, Jr., early Monday morning. The fire was thought extinguished with but very little damage after the first alarm came in at 1:59 a. m., but it broke out again causing about $1500 damage, with the alarm being sounded at 3:59 a. m.

Chief Charles F. Emerson was slightly injured when he was knocked down a flight of stairs by a hose. He was able to be at his desk the next morning, although his arm was lame.

When the first alarm was answered, a slight fire was found in a closet in a store on the ground floor. It is believed by Chief Emerson that a cigarette butt left on a drawer had started the blaze. When the department left the scene, it was thought that the fire was out, but the fire had in some way worked its way downward to another partition.

When the second alarm was answered, the fire was going briskly. Nine persons in the three-family house evacuated, including Mr. Campbell, his father, officer Campbell, his wife and four children, and Mrs. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Sarah Jack.

Legion Commander Taken by Death

Andover's flags dipped to half-mast again this week, when Robert B. Christie, of 232 North Main street, commander of Andover post, 8, American Legion, passed away Monday night at the New England Baptist hospital in Boston after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Christie enlisted March 1, 1918. After serving for a while at Fort Secum, N. Y., he was transferred to the 105th Air Squadron, Vancouver, Washington, where he was elevated to the rank of corporal. He was honorably discharged February 5, 1919.

He was elected commander of the local Legion post last fall. Prior to that time he had served as finance officer and adjutant. He was also a member of the bugle and drum corps.

He was born in Arbroath, Scotland, 37 years ago, but had lived here for many years. He attended the Free church, and also belonged to the local Odd Fellows.

He leaves his wife, Marjorie, an aunt, Isabella Valentine and several other aunts and uncles.

Full military honors were accorded the late Commander when the funeral was held yesterday afternoon. The Legion, with Chaplain Frederick E. Cheever in charge, conducted services at the late home, and at the Free church later Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Wilson conducted services.

Vice-commander Harold L. Peters was in charge of the military services at the grave in Spring Grove cemetery. A firing squad wred a parting salute and the Legion's bugle and drum corps, of which Mr. Christie was a member, sounded Taps. Committal services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Wilson and Mr. Cheever.

The color-bearers were: Austin Reed and Francis Zeschini, and the color-guards were John Henderson and Henry Bailey, both of the Spanish War Veterans.

The firing squad, led by Eric Hulme, consisted of Joseph McCarthy, Thomas Dea, Wilton Muise, Edward Buchan, Joseph Levi, Harry Hilton, Herman Hilton, and George Beer of the North Andover post.

The bearers, all past commanders were: Percy Dole, Thaxter Eaton, Paul Cheney, Arthur Coleman, Arthur Jowett, Joseph Remmes, and James Sparks.

Delegations were present from the local post of the V. F. W., the British War Veterans, the North Andover Legion, the Lawrence Legion, the Lawrence Disabled Veterans, and the various auxiliaries.

Tie Up Your Dogs

Two weeks ago the selectmen issued an order that all dogs should be tied up or muzzled for a period of 45 days as a result of the discovery of rabies in a dog that had been in a fight with one or more other dogs.

The little waiting room in the police station has been turned into somewhat of a kennel since the order was issued. Dogs of all kinds from the lowliest mongrel to the highest pedigreed dog have been brought in by the officers because they were running free around the streets.

Down in Concord, the town meeting on March fifth adopted a by-law which prohibited all dogs from running loose at any time unless they had been vaccinated against the rabies in the preceding twelve months.

Most persons don't realize how serious a disease rabies is. Proper action taken now by dog-owners will protect Andover from the very painful realization that it is a mighty serious matter.

Dr. Elwin D. Lane

When a town loses a doctor, it has lost a very valuable figure in its community life. Every town prizes highly its physicians, men who at any time will respond to a call for help.

It wasn't a military funeral at the South church yesterday afternoon. No firing squad fired its last salute, no bugler sounded Taps as the body of Dr. Lane was placed in its final resting place at the Riverside cemetery in Groveland.

"With purity and holiness I will pass my life and practise my Art," states the Oath of Hippocrates which all medical students run across at some time or another during their course.

This Sober Town

Waiting for my husband to get his bonus is what a lady found on local state police found sitting with her husband on a curbstone on Union street in Shawsheen village last Friday night said she was doing.

They thought at first that the couple had been celebrating the passage of the Patman inflated greenback bill, with the result that their heads were somewhat inflated, but instead it developed that they were just "floating" not the kind of floating that results from inebriation.

How times have changed! We well remember when we were kids how we used to chalk up walls, etc., with "A. R. loves S. B." Now in these days of doing everything on a large scale, we often see, as we did on a wall on Barnard street this week, such writings as this: "L. A. loves N. C. + S. H. + D. K."

Andover's New Band Awakes Memories of Old Andover Brass Band

The prospect of a new brass band in Andover has stirred the musical talent of the town to an enthusiastic pitch. Rehearsals have already begun, and, remembering the well-attended band concerts of the past, one may expect once more to find the park a popular place on which to spend summer evenings.

Although there have been occasional lapses in Andover's musical history, many will recall the brilliant career of the old Andover Brass Band, on the plan of which the present group is being modeled.

The remarkable versatility of that famous unit which marched at the head of torch light parades and political rallies, held regular private concerts, and even, upon occasion, aspired to the role of dance orchestra, is something to be wondered at.

The original band was organized in 1872, when, with instruments obtained by popular subscription, it embarked on a series of impromptu concerts at private houses, the sole recompense for which were the refreshments served afterwards. Under the skilful management of George T. Abbott, to whom the financial end of the venture was entrusted, however, the unit was soon able to make an impressive appearance in resplendent, double-breasted, gold-brained blue coats with swallow tails, white belts, and spike helmets, which on special occasions were changed to feathered plumes.

The band was without exception the sole musical center of the town, serving in a variety of capacities and responding to all needs lying within its field. Its leader, Arthur Bliss, not only conducted at concert but arranged much of the music used as well. It was no unusual thing for a student from the Hill to step into the drug store of his home proprietor, whistle the air of a special march desired for use at an Exeter celebration, and emerge presently with a full score for the band. Many of the marches now used by Phillips Academy were arranged by him.

Who does not recall hearing of the Smith and Dove picnics to Black Rocks on the Merrimack, on which occasions the band could always be counted upon to make things hum? Or the annual Caledonia picnics at Dixon's grove, Haggetts Pond, at which the band gave a concert and afterwards played for dancing?

An important milestone in the life of the band was the combined fair sponsored by the band and the Andover Cricket Club. While available information does not give the date, it must have been some time after the advent of the Penny Pail in Andover, as it is recalled that the genial superintendent of Shawheen Village was awarded a gold watch as the result of a poll to award the title of the most popular letter carrier.

Maybe some of our readers have memories of other activities of the band and names of other members not mentioned here. In the memory of a former member, the following stand out as among the many townspeople associated with the band: Moses Abbott, Charles Jamison, Bob Jamison, Charles Cottle, George Bates, George T. Abbott, H. F. Chase, Roy Lindsay, Stanley Pratt, Dr. Albert Hulme, William Findley, Billy Goodwin, Andrew McTernan, George A. Higgins, Charles A. Clark, Jack Macdonald, William Macdonald, David McIntosh, Billy Muldowney, John Hutcheson, Tom Piddington, Reuben Eastwood, Harold Eastwood, William C. Bliss, Arthur Bliss, David Lindsay, G. A. Morse, George Johnson, and A. G. Hall. The drum majors were: Mark W. Hill and Sylvester Goodwin.

For a time, interest in the band waned, but after the splendid work by the present Legion Drum and Bugle corps, it was decided to organize a complete brass band on the plan of the old one. Many of the original instruments are being unearthed and found to be playable still.

About twenty-five have reported for rehearsals so far. Roy Wilson, who has spent much time and effort getting the organization together, is extremely energetic and progress made to date, and hopes that the band will make its first appearance on Memorial Day.

C. H. Newton composed many marches for the band among them "The B. B. C. March" and "Greetings to Bangor."

Other favorites of the band, (many of which are still popular today) include Sousa's marches, "El Capitaine," the "Martha Overture" and "Greetings to Bangor."

Boy Scout Doings

Troop 5

Troop 5 held a meeting last Friday, March 22, 1935. The meeting was opened by the oath and the law. There was a ten minute patrol meeting. After that there was a Second class instruction. Then Slaughter Ball was played until nine o'clock. From nine to quarter past the boys who had bugles were instructed how to play the scale by George Keith.

Troop 3

A regular meeting of Troop 3 was held in the vestry of the South Church last Friday. Classes were held in preparation of test papers. A tug-of-war was held and tenderfoot questions were asked. Scoutmaster Alvin Zink told a story called "Makeshift."

Troop 74

A troop Court of Review was held last Friday night. Roger David and George Brown passed second class Court of Review. Scoutmaster Clare Norton passed scout Harold Hudson on second class compass and scout Robert Stocks on second class signaling.

A tug-of-war was held and tenderfoot questions were asked. Scoutmaster Alvin Zink told a story called "Makeshift."

Troop 1

The regular meeting of Troop 1, Andover, was held Tuesday evening in the basement of Shawheen school.

The regular meeting of Troop 1, Andover, was held Tuesday evening in the basement of Shawheen school. Then each patrol went together and discussed tests and contests.

Tests were passed and games played. A tenderfoot badge was presented to Wright Bolton.

The troop was dismissed at 9 o'clock after the law was said.

Feature Classical Art at Gallery

Classical art, presented in new terms, is the feature exhibition at the Addison Gallery, Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts, through April 8th. The exhibition, which is being held in connection with a meeting of the Classical Association in Andover the latter part of this month, is arranged to suggest uses for objects of art in courses in the Classics and Ancient History. The objects, which represent a cross section of classical art from the time of ancient Crete to the Roman Empire, combine to an unusual degree a high standard of quality with an interest in subject matter. In using highly colored backgrounds in the cases, the installation departs from customary museum practice. While no attempt has been made to copy the ancient colors, the general opinion that classical art is colorless and dull is overcome by the use of complementary colors which bring out the color and form of the objects themselves. Purists may feel that the colors used are too intense, but this type of installation will undoubtedly assist in calling the attention of the student to an art which he is accustomed to pass by unnoticed. Supplementing the color in the cases are accurate Cretan wall paintings lent by the Fogg Museum.

Occupying the place of honor in the center of the exhibition is an exceptionally fine fifth century Attic vase with an illustration of Odysseus of Olympos and Elenor meeting in the Underworld. This vase, a recent accession of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, attributed to the "Lykoon Painter," is among the most important Greek vases in America. Surrounding this large vase are cases of smaller objects illustrating Cretan Art, the evolution of Greek and Roman vases, the development in sculpture of the human figure from archaic Greek to Roman times, and a case of bronze and glass objects showing ancient design in articles for daily use. Outstanding among the smaller objects are a small fifth century Greek stand with horseman design, and a 3rd century figurine from Tanagra, both lent by the Metropolitan Museum, and an archaic figurine lent by the Boston Museum.

Club Enjoys Trip on Flying Yankee

A group of 144 Andover people enjoyed a round trip to Portland, Me., on the new streamlined "Flying Yankee" last Sunday afternoon. The train had been chartered for the afternoon by the Andover Service Club.

The group found the train very comfortable in all ways. At times it hit 75 miles an hour, but its speed was kept down considerably by the heavy Sunday traffic.

The trip to Portland took from 2:30 to 4:10 or one hour and forty minutes, while the return trip took the same time, from 5:20 to 7 o'clock.

Those who made the trip were: William A. Allen, James Anderson, Edward A. Anderson, Miss Doris Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Joins Cross Coal Staff

Everett D. Burton, former Manager of the Andover Coal Co., has announced that effective April 1st he will be connected with Cross Coal Co.

The Cross Coal company is authorized distributor for New England Coke, Beacon Anthracite, Atlantic Fuel and Range Oils, and it also handles the finest of American Anthracite and Bituminous Coals. Seventy years doing business in this locality have given the company a fine reputation here.

Mr. Burton is well known locally being a member of the Board of the Square and Compass Club, as well as Chairman of the House Committee. He is also a member of the Andover Service Club, serving on the Merchants Committee of that organization.

He is married and resides at 75 Chestnut street.

Hypnotism Used by Fish

Something very like hypnotism is employed by the strange tropical zebra fish in attracting victims for its dinner, says Popular Mechanics. It is equipped with many feelers which wave gracefully to and fro in the water but prevent rapid movement in pursuit of prey. So the striped fish approaches its victims slowly, waving its streamers to attract attention. Apparently smaller fish are fascinated by the feelers and allow the zebra fish to come close. Then there is a gulp and the little fish is gone.

World's Longest Fence

The boundary line between Norway and Finland, for the most part imaginary except for stone markers, is to be fenced as a means of keeping flocks of domesticated reindeer from wandering back and forth over the line, causing trouble between adjoining landowners. Longest fence ever built, unless the Chinese wall could be called a fence, it will be about 250 miles in length. It is to be built of fir poles and barbed wire.—Capper's Weekly.

No Brakes Needed

The confidence expressed by inventors of perpetual motion machines has always been pathetic. Up to a few years ago, writes E. T. Smith, Huntington, West Virginia, in Collier's Weekly, many of these impossible devices which were received in the patent offices of both the United States and Great Britain were equipped with brakes so that they could, at need, be stopped.

Development of Parachute

The first serious development of an American parachute took place at McCook field under the engineering division of the United States army in 1919. Dummies were used until a satisfactory type of parachute, an improvement on those used from balloons, was evolved.

DINING SERVICE

DEAR Mrs. Post: While dining in the house of a stranger the other night I noticed that her waitress brought in a dessert plate with a fine lace doily on it and on top of that a finger bowl. The silver for dessert was already at the places. I had never had a finger bowl brought in just this way. My hostess removed it and the doily from the dessert plate and put the bowl down on the doily at the left to the back of the dessert plate. The dessert was a rich fudge cake, which would have soiled the doily miserably. Is it correct to let a doily take the place of a plate which matches the finger bowl and which stands on top of the dessert plate usually without any doily between them?

Answer: I don't think I understand your question. I don't see how the cake could possibly come in contact with the doily. Doilies are not often used, but when they are, you pick yours up with the finger bowl and put both down together on the tablecloth wherever there is space. Then you put whatever it may be on the plate. You certainly would not put food on the doily, ever!

My dear Mrs. Post: (1) How does one remove watermelon seeds from the mouth at table? (2) A friend told me that tablespoons are not the real serving spoons. I have always used them as such, which must be wrong. (3) Is it ever all right to eat peas with a spoon, in case, or must they be juggled with a fork? (4) Are little side dishes always tabu? (5) In a restaurant, when foods are sometimes served in separate dishes, is it correct to eat them directly from the serving dish or should all food be put from there over on the dinner plate?

Answer: (1) Remove all that you can with the fruit knife and fork before lifting a piece to the mouth, and any seeds left in the fruit are removed between thumb and finger, or dropped into the cupped hand. They are in either case dried as completely as possible with tongue and between lips. (2) There are slightly larger spoons used for serving, but tablespoons answer perfectly. (3) Spoon absolutely tabu. Mash them slightly with the fork, if you must. But I can't see that there is any difficulty, ever. (4) Correctly, yes. (5) You should put them on your plate, but there is no rule because conventionally side dishes are not used.
