School Committee Launches Inexperienced Teacher System by Appointing Miss Eleanor Ward and Miss Edna Marland

Two Andover girls were appointed cadet teachers under the recently adopted cadet teaching system at the meeting of the Andover school board last Tuesday evening.

Miss Eleanor Ethel Ward of Argilla road, who will graduate from Lowell State Teachers' college in June with a degree of B.S., was chosen a cadet for the John Dove school, and Miss Edna Marland of Bartlet street, a graduate of Tufts college, will start her local teaching career in September as a cadet at Stowe Junior High school.

Neither of the two appointees would have qualified under the old system whereby the lack of two years experience automatically disqualified inexperienced applicants.

The new rule states that two inexperienced teachers may be appointed provided that their record in college was "very good."

Miss Ward and Miss Marland both qualify under this provision. Miss Ward, who is a graduate of Pynchard, has been doing some practice teaching in the John Dove school and has proved very satisfactory.

Miss Marland has had very high scholastic attainments, having graduated from Tufts college magna cum laude. She now has a Master of Arts degree and also has some credits toward a Doctor's degree.

Three teachers, having served three years here, were appointed to tenure of office. Miss Agnes Dugan of the high school staff was elected to tenure at her present salary of $1748 a year.

Miss Ida Grover was re-elected a high school instructor, with a salary increase from $1472 to $1656, $92 of which was the regular increase because of the additional year's experience.

Joseph Doherty was elected to the regular teaching staff for the high school at a salary of $1564, the minimum for his classification. As an assistant last year he had received $1288 because of his lack of two years' experience.

Miss Ida Grover was re-elected a high school instructor, with a salary increase from $1472 to $1656, $92 of which was the regular increase because of the additional year's experience.

Other re-elections were: high school, Miss Marion Macdonald, raised from $1380 to $1564.

Shift Firemen to Vale Station

The installation of a two-platoon system at the Ballardvale engine house was agreed on by the selectmen Monday evening after a hearing held in the court room. The entire department will not be augmented by the change, but two men from the local station will be shifted there.

Five weeks ago Chief Charles F. Emerson shifted the one permanent driver from the Vale to the central station, leaving the Vale engine in charge of three call men. The new move will not only replace the old man but also add another one down there.

About 75 were present at the hearing. Among the speakers were William Riley, George Cheyne, John A. Anderson, Edward P. Hall, C. J. Malcolm-Smith, Matthew Burns, Richard O'Brien, William D. McIntyre and Chief Emerson. Doctor Daly presided.

In the future telephone calls to the Ballardvale fire station will be answered at both the Vale and the central station. Combination 3 and Ladder 1 will make runs to the Vale in answer to all alarms. An extension line has been installed in the central station to make this arrangement possible.

E. R. A. May Stop at End of April An allotment of $1750 for the week ending April 11 was received yesterday by Dr. J. J. Daly, local E. R. A. administrator. The same amount had been received for this week. The allotments prior to this time have been $8,000, which in a four pay-roll month, amounts to $2,000 per week. This month is a five pay-roll month, so that if the same allotment is received for each of these pay-rolls, the total monthly allotment will be $8,750. However, all the help may be laid off the last week; the total monthly allotment will be $7,000.

New Town Council Chosen by Selectmen Attorney Burns Succeeds Attorney Eaton—John Driscoll Chosen Building Inspector—Pomps Committee Reduced Attorney Joseph L. Burns was appointed town counsel by the selectmen Monday to succeed Attorney Fred H. Eaton, who had held the position since Daniel Murphy retired last September. This was the principal change in the annual appointments. Another surprise was contained in the appointment of John Driscoll of 36 Summer street to the position of building inspector in place of Edward R. Benson, assistant superintendent of the Board of Public Works.

The only other change of importance was in the reduction of the Pomps committee from a board of eight members to a board of five, the original size. Messrs. Wright, Crowley, Todd, Harnedy and George remain on the committee. The retiring members are Joseph Pitman, George Forsythe, and James R. Mosher, chairman last year. Mr. Driscoll's appointment as building inspector left the position of dog officer vacant, and the selectmen rewarded the long career of Sergeant Saunders by appointing him to this position. The sergeant refused to accept the honor, whereupon the selectmen chose Herbert Lytle.

Mrs. E. Burke Thornton was retained as matron of the infirmary despite the many rumors circulating about the town that she was to be removed. The new town counsel was born in Andover December 1, 1889. He prepared at Phillips Academy, and then went to Harvard college for three years and Harvard Law school for three years. He resides at 267 Main street, with his wife and five children, one of whom, Joseph L., Jr., distinguished himself during the past season at the academy by setting up a new record in the 100-yard backstroke.

Petition Circulating for Town Meeting

Move to Force Special Town Meeting Started Last Night—Petitioners Desire to Have Committee Change Type of Finish, Flooring

A petition asking another special town meeting on the junior high school project was started in circulation last night in an endeavor to make the building committee adopt metal trim and wood-block gymnasium flooring. The committee met Wednesday night with the sponsors of the petition, but deferred action until Monday evening because of the absence of chairman Frank H. Hardy, who is attending a convention out of town.

The petition implies that the voters at the last special meeting wanted both metal trim and wood-block floors. An amendment was offered at that meeting to appropriate only $90,000 by means of adopting wood trim and beechwood floors. The amendment was defeated, and so the petition states that it was voted "not to exclude metal trims for interior finish" and "not to exclude floor on end floor for the gymnasium." The round-about wording is used evidently because it was not voted in so many words to include these two types.

Construction Proceeds Meanwhile the contractors have gone ahead with the work. Excavating for the boiler house has been completed. Considerable filling in has to be done for the other two buildings. A trench for a drain around the site of the buildings was dug this week. The special meeting petition follows: "To the Board of Selectmen: The undersigned citizens of ANDOVER, MASS., respectfully petition your Board of Selectmen to call a Special Town Meeting to be held at the earliest possible date; purpose being: "Article One—"To see if the TOWN will vote to instruct the building committee of the NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL PROJECT (so called) to make contracts therefor in accordance with the wishes of the VOTERS expressed at the SPECIAL TOWN MEETING held on Feb. 25th, 1935, when $99,000 additional was appropriated to complete the project as per ORIGINAL DRAWINGS and Specifications prepared by the Architect, Perley E. Gilbert and as described by the Chairman of the Building Committee at the meeting referred to.

"Particular attention is called to the fact that it was VOTED at the SPECIAL TOWN MEETING Feb. 25th, 1935 NOT to exclude METAL TRIMS for interior finish. (The said METAL TRIMS were specified to be used in ORIGINAL DRAWINGS.) "Article Two—"To see if TOWN will vote to instruct the building committee of the NEW JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL PROJECT to install BLOX-ON-END Floor in Construction of GYMNASIUM (The said BLOX-ON-END FLOOR being SPECIFIED to be used in ORIGINAL DRAWINGS.) "It was also Voted at the Special Town Meeting Feb. 25th, 1935 NOT to exclude BLOX-ON-END Floor for the GYMNASIUM. The building committee Wednesday night signed the heating and ventilating contract with the James S. Cassey Co., of Cambridge.

Why Not Forget It?

Then the last special town meeting on the school problem came to an end, the vast majority of the citizens of Andover breathed a fervent "Resqueat in pace," hoping that the long agitation and long delay had come to an end.

After the special town meeting on February 25th had appropriated $98,000 for the completion of the so-called Plan B, the building committee went to work to decide which alternates they would adopt under this plan.

The official town records, however, show that legally there can be no objection, because the actual vote merely appropriated $98,000 to complete the project; it did not even mention Plan B, to say nothing of specifying the type of floor or trim.

There was an amendment offered to the original motion, however, which reduced the appropriation to $90,000 through changing the metal trim to wood trim and substituting beech floor for the wood-block floor.

Siftings

Most of the Bay State counties voted for dog racing, and now most of them are regretting it. That's shutting the barn door after the dog is out of the bag, or something.

Bert Lyle was appointed trustee officer and dog officer this week. Don't get absent-minded, Bert, or you might take the dogs to school and shoot the pupils.

Calling special town meetings is like a drug. Some people seem to become addicts.

The metal trim people seem to think they were trimmed.

The new police cruising car arrived this week. Next week we'll try to get statements from each of the officers as to how practical the car is for couraging.

This Sober Town

A Clock that Tells More than Time

Last month's annual town warrant contained an article relating to the possibilities of constructing and operating a municipal clock. It cost the taxpayers of this town more than $100,000 to acquire it. And there by hangs a tale. Back in 1921 the town of Hampton voted to purchase the rails, rolling stock, overhead wires and good will of the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury Street Railway Company, paying $75,000 for the property.

Nurse with a Muse The Indian Ridge Nursery school children have a teacher, Miss Jean Crayke, whose poetry has appeared quite frequently in the columns of the press. This week we received a copy of her new poem, entitled "Friendship."

Annual Garden Conference Attracts Large Attendance

Usually Drab Town Hall Transformed into Scene of Beauty and Bee-Hive-Like Activity for Eighteenth Conference

The first real, honest-to-goodness, undeniable sign of spring, the one which Andover garden-lovers have looked forward to each winter for the past eighteen years, burst forth in all its glory Wednesday when the annual Farm and Garden conference transformed the town hall into a bee-hive of activity. The conference had more than its usual success, with the hall being crowded almost every minute of the hours from ten to five.

Talks on subjects of interest to the many potential gardeners in the hall, a cafeteria luncheon, a style show, and exhibits of varying kinds kept the attention of the large gathering.

The two first talks, one by Miss Edna Cutter on "Farm Animals Including Dogs" and one by Heinrich Rehrbach on "Lawn" went off as scheduled. The third speaker, Miss Eleanor Raymond, was unable to be present, and her place was taken by Miss Laura Cox. Ralph N. C. Barnes gave his scheduled talk on "Asparagus."

In the afternoon Paul F. Dempsey of the staff of the Waltham Station of the Massachusetts Agricultural school spoke on "Outstanding Perennials and Annuals" taking the place of Stephen F. Hamblin, director of the Lexington Botanic Garden, Inc., who was unable to be present.

Miss Mary Smith, chairman of the conference committee, did the announcing, while Mrs. Albert H. Chamberlain, president of the club, introduced the speakers.

A brief style show was held in the afternoon, with the following girls participating: Nancy Burns, Sally Burns, Elaine Eaton, Georganna Gabler, Lucy Hobbs, Eleanor Johnson, Harriett Cole, Lucia Nunez, Mary Tooley, and Frances McTernan. Among the exhibits were tweeds from the Knitting Needle Yarn shop of Cambridge.

Ladies from the various churches in town provided the cafeteria luncheon, with the churches offering the following specialties: Free soup, West Parish, chicken pies; South, salad; Baptist, pies and cakes; Christ Episcopal, relishes and sandwiches. St. Augustine's church had planned to operate an ice cream stand outside the building, but the weather made it impractical. In lieu of this, Daniel A. Hartigan, local druggist who was one of the exhibitors, sold ice cream at his store, and the proceeds from all those who were attending the conference he divided between the church and the club.

The town hall had a festive appearance with its gaily-colored Swiss market place, while the stage itself was a revelation. The well-known and somewhat dreary-looking woodland scenery that everyone has seen countless times at spelling matches, speaking contests, town meetings, etc., took on a new lease of life as it was nicely merged with a delightful woodland tableau in which a tent and campfire played a prominent part. Even the boards over which many of our thespians have walked had a forest-like carpeting.

On the first floor of the town hall as one entered was an exhibit of 4-H wood working which attracted much attention.

No prizes were awarded in the previously announced poster contest because the children had all been busy on humane society posters. Lovable mention was given, however, to Norman Drouin.

The garden club wishes to express its thanks to the selectmen and other town officials for the use of the town hall, to

Jerome Cross for his trucks, to the Lawrence Gas and Electric Company for its warming oven, and to all the others who assisted in any way.

Dramatic Critic Addresses Club

At the November club meeting on Monday the speaker was Miss Eleanor Hughes, dramatic critic of the Boston Herald, who spoke on the subject, "My Work as a Dramatic Critic." The "why" and "how" she happened to be holding this position was pleasingly set forth by the speaker, who declared that the most puzzling thing in her position was the number of young people who come to her to ask how to train for this industry. It's a very ancient question, to answer, she said. Experience and theory are very valuable, for much copy must be turned in.

It means constantly attending theatres and movies, coping with temperamental people, interviewing whom is not an agreeable task. No agreeable is talking with theatrical agents, she said, for they are usually men and they don't like to talk with women holding the position of dramatic critic.

Miss Hughes said that she did not like censorship, because she did not feel it desirable for a small group to dictate. Criticism, however, she said, is important because it tells people whether a picture or play is good to go to or not. Criticism today, outside of New York, is in a peculiar position, she declared, because one must have an eye on the business office.

Movies will not kill the theatre, she said, but the theatre will kill itself. Moving pictures, she said, is a legitimate drama, she declared. The two businesses are sitting on a fence glaring at each other, she added. As long as glamour lasts, people will attend the movies, she said.

Department Notes

The next meeting of the Art Department will be held at the Addison Gallery on Monday at 3 p.m. The subject will be "The Modern Trend" by Holmes Blyntyn of Phillips academy.

The literature department will meet with Miss Fannie Davis, 90 Elm street, on Wednesday, at 3 p.m.

The annual meeting of the club will be held in the clubhouse at three o'clock on Monday, April 15.

The following request has been issued: "Will all those persons having keys to the clubhouse or club property please turn them in to the secretary on or before the annual meeting on April 15. Please attend to this without fail."

Time-Worn Tricks of April Fool's Day Have to Be Pretty Old to Be as Old as Day Itself

All the world loves a good laugh, and the mischief-makers and jests which usher in the first of April are sanctioned by time-honored tradition.

Just why man's natural passion for seeing others in ridiculous and embarrassing situations should find a vent for itself on this one particular day out of the three hundred and sixty-five, is a mystery. The fact, remains, however, that "All Fools Day" is celebrated in one form or another in all countries of the world, and can be traced as far back as the Romans, who held an unrivaled reputation as practical jokers.

Even the ancient gods, it is said, indulged in occasional jesting among themselves, and Momus, the Fool of the Olympian Court, perpetually stirred the divine assembly to raucous laughter with his jokes and buffoonery.

Due to this appetite for nonsense, inherent in mankind, the professional fool has enjoyed a unique place in history. Far from being a miserable object of contempt and ridicule, as one would naturally believe, he has played the role of official "funny bone tickler" for the world since the days of the buffoon of Roman drama, the tragedies of which were rendered the starker by contrast.

The court jester with his grotesquely lined face, pointed cap, and dangling bells, enlivened the Courts of Europe for many centuries. That these comic figures frequently relieved the boring monotony of State affairs with their drollery is evidenced by the fact that the names and witticisms of many of them have been preserved in the state records.

Thus, the fool was the product of art quite as frequently as he was an accident of nature. Not only did every Court have its fool, but there was considerable dignity attached to that office. While philosophers and high officials stood humbly in the background, the fool possessed a chair at the royal table where he amused his lord and aided, by his liveliest digestion of everyone in the room.

It was said that there was more wisdom under the cap and bells of the jester than under the mantle of statesmen. He was frequently taken to banquets by the less-witty nobles where they regarded his amusing antics with as much pride as if they themselves were the originals.

The fool had what might be called the "right of free speech," being privileged to say whatever he liked about anyone, secure in the assurance of protection from his master against the wrath of those whose feelings were injured in the play of wits. Many ancient families wore the insignia of fools on their arms, bearing the motto "Speak what you think," a privilege which was not actually to be theirs until many years later.

Urges Support for Recreation Work

Children denied room to play because of the congestion of city life are injured in mind as well as imperiled physically, according to a letter sent this week by Jerome W. Cross in which he urges renewed support of the work of the National Recreation Association of which he is the local sponsor.

"A child needs room where he can run and play at will, where he can live his play-life zestfully without having to think whether the traffic light is red or green," the letter said. "The child needs contact with the earth, he needs to feel it with his hands, with his feet, if he is to know the meaning of life. He needs contact with other children, happy children, carefree children, if he is to grow straight and clean and independent."

"The National Recreation Association was founded with this premise. It has grown and enlarged its scope in many ways, but still its primary aim is to help make it possible for the children of this country to lead the normal, happy lives to which they are entitled."

The National Recreation Association was founded in 1906 at a meeting held in the White House, Washington, D.C., on the invitation of President Theodore Roosevelt. Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Dr. John H. Finley of The New York Times, Governor John G. Winant of New Hampshire, Robert Garrett of Baltimore, and Joseph Lee of Boston are among the members of the Association's board of directors. The organization maintains a number of representatives who give field service to communities throughout the United States. It conducts a professional training school for recreation leaders and numerous city and rural institutes for the instruction of volunteers. A free correspondence service on questions of music, drama, and other subjects is maintained at its national headquarters, 315 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

Club Entertains Neighbor Officers

The Shawshoe Village Woman's club entertained the presidents and secretaries of neighboring clubs at its meeting Monday evening. Guests were present from Billerica, Lowell, Methuen, Haverhill, and Andover.

The entertainment, in charge of the Literature department, Mrs. Florence Bowes, chairman, was one of the finest of the season. The reader was Miss Isobel Mason, a resident student of the Bishop-Lee School of Drama in Boston. Miss Mason's choice of plays, "Growing Pains," a humorous account of the everyday ups and downs of adolescent youth, was a very happy one. Her clever portrayal of the various characters showed an ability and cleverness which prophesies a bright future for her. Her charming personality made an instantly favorable impression on an appreciative and enthusiastic audience.

A male quartet composed of John K. Hill, Raymond Kay, G. Albert Lowe and Lawrence Bottomley rendered two groups of songs accompanied by Mrs. Frederick C. Smith.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George H. Winslow and her hostess committee, and hospitality was in charge of Mrs. H. Garrison Holt.

Not so Long—Considering

The first officer called a deck-hand to him and said, "Go below and break up that crap-gum." The sailor disappeared below and returned for the better part of an hour. Upon his return his superior officer demanded: "Did you succeed in breaking up that gum?" "Yes, sir," replied the gob. "Well, what in thunder took you so long?" "Well sir," the sailor replied, "I had only two bits to start with!"—Army and Navy Journal.

Indians as Citizens

All children born to citizen Indian parents are natural born citizens and would be eligible to become a candidate for President. Until 1924, only about two-thirds of the Indians of the United States had received citizenship but an act of congress in June of that year made all Indians citizens. It is generally believed that an Indian born in the United States but who received his citizenship through congress would not be eligible for the office. This is a question which would be decided by the courts if such occasion arose.
