Veterans—Get Together

Last Thursday Andover's veteran organizations paraded through the various streets of the town, and then visited the cemeteries in order to decorate the graves of those who had once served their country in time of war.

Even implying that the conduct of some of our patriotic organizations is likely to produce tirades from those who feel that their organizations are above reproach.

This year another organization was drawn into the scrap while arrangements were being made for Memorial day. There was haggling over who should spend the town appropriation, there were bickerings over who should decorate certain graves, there were wranglings over what the proper names for some lots were.

Siftings

It hardly seems that there are enough votes involved in the 3600 N.R.A. workers for the President to keep them all on.

Has your boss been any harder on you since the N.R.A. was given its dishonorable discharge?

Herbert Hoover is trout-fishing up in Vermont. He must think he's still president.

Isn't it too bad that murderers aren't electrocuted before they commit their murders?

This is the week when the local academy students who thought Commencement was the end find that they have to stay around after Commencement for the College Board exams.

Wedding

GORRIE—YOUNG

Miss Dorothy Young, daughter of William J. and the late Mary V. Young, 37 Salem street, Lawrence, and William J. Gorrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Gorrie of 36 Salem street, this town, were united in marriage Saturday morning at a nuptial mass in St. Patrick's church, Lawrence, Rev. Fr. Edmund D. Daly, pastor, performed the ceremony.

Miss Helen McKallagat, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor, and John J. Moriarty was best man. The ushers were Arthur A. Dennis and James Golden.

The bride was charming in a gown of Chantilly lace with a white capshaped veil trimmed with shadow lace. She carried a shiver bouquet of talisman roses. Miss McKallagat was attired in a powder-blue crepe gown trimmed with accorion-pleated organdie with silver and shell pink accessories.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride. The couple left for a motor trip to Washington, D. C. They will reside in Lawrence.

New Hampshire Garden Clubs

The New Hampshire Federation of Garden Clubs will hold a four day festival at Little Boar's Head and Eye Beach, on June 14-15-16-17. Hundreds of exhibits will be on display, and many beautiful gardens will be open to visitors.

Fickets for the opera may be obtained from Mrs. Arthur L. Hobson, Little Boar's Head, N. H.

both organizations are sensible, agreeable fellows, capable of overlooking the petty jealousies which have made the town lose a good part of its respect for the organizations.

If the organizations feel that they really have to quarrel, let them quarrel over some other holiday—not Memorial day. The thirtieth of May each year has been set apart for everyone to pay the homage due those dead who in life served their country.

Each March the town appropriates a sum of money to be used in observing Memorial day. It is the town's money, but it grants the various organizations, represented by a general committee, it is not the organization's observance. The townspeople, through the organizations, pay honor to those men who are now lying in our cemeteries, men who once fought in the Revolution, or the Civil War, or the Spanish-American war, or in the World War.

This Sober Town

News As Is News

At the time of the fraternity house fire a few weeks ago one Boston newspaper received some news from Andover that must have established some sort of a record for speed in news transmission.

An Andover Mother's Greatest Thrill Our proforeader was absent this week. It meant of course more work for a few of us in the office, but none of us begrudged her the vacation, because she was miles away enjoying the proudest moment of her life.

The Babe Leaves

Last Friday our mail contained a little story about a game to have been played at Haverhill last Monday evening between the Pentucket All-Stars and the Boston Braves.

We read again about that game in the Boston papers Monday morning when their front-page headlines screeched the news that Babe Ruth was through. And prominent among Babe's reasons for leaving the Braves was the statement that he had injured his knee and despite that fact was to be forced to play at Haverhill Monday night.

We had passed our tickets on to someone, who seeing on the ticket "Babe Ruth in person," had decided to try to see the game. The ticket specifically mentioned the Babe, so did Friday morning's news release. And in that fact lies much of the explanation for the reasons why Boston fans were so wrought up at the Braves' officials for letting the Babe go.

We don't know whether Judge Fuchs or Babe Ruth is to blame, but we do know that in the public mind Judge Fuchs, not being the man who brought baseball out of the depths of a great sea, who has devoted his life to popularizing baseball, who has autographed thousands of baseballs for worshipping youngsters, who holds a seemingly unbreakable record for home runs, who has provided fans with more thrills than any other sports hero, "Judge Fuchs, not being this man, will always be to blame. And not until fans go to see "Judge Fuchs in person," will they cease criticizing him.

Boy Scout Doings

Troop 74 A meeting of Troop 74 was held last Friday. A knot-tying contest was held and then Scoutmaster Clare Norton made plans about the scout encampment in North Andover. Games of Stool the Bacon and shooting gallery were played.

P. W. A. Project Not to Obtain New Grant

You will note in this Agreement that the Federal Government does not obligate itself to pay more than the original amount of its communication of October 30, 1934, this office would be pleased to forward your application for additional Grant, and this has already been done.

The legislative authority appropriating Federal funds was granted by two separate acts of Congress, the latter being almost two years later than the original.

Yours very truly, T. B. PARKER, State Engineer, P.W.A.

May 31, 1935 Mr. Frank H. Hardy, Chairman, School Building Committee, Andover, Massachusetts Docket No. 5197-Andover-Junior High School

DEAR SIR:—Supplementing our communication of May 28th, concerning increase in the amount of Grant to apply to the project of the Town of Andover, covered by Docket No. 5197, I quote telegram received today from the Administrator's office, as follows: "Theodore B. Parker, Acting State Director, P.W.A."

P.O. and Court House Bldg., Boston New terms for loans and grants prescribed by President apply only to allotments made for non-Federal Public Works projects after May 24, 1935 and permit no changes in terms upon which allotments were made for projects prior to that date.

Our proforeader was absent this week. It meant of course more work for a few of us in the office, but none of us begrudged her the vacation, because she was miles away enjoying the proudest moment of her life.

Horatio B. Hackett, Assistant Administrator. I trust this gives you the desired information. Yours very truly, T. B. PARKER, State Engineer, P.W.A.

Obituaries

TRAYNOR

Mrs. Mary E. Traynor, widow of Michael Traynor, passed away Tuesday morning at her home, 189 North Main street. A native of Ireland, she had resided in this vicinity the greater part of her life, spending her last ten years in Andover.

She leaves three sons, Francis J., of Lawrence, Harold and Arthur B. of Andover; and one daughter, Sister Mary Teresa of Washington, D. C. The funeral was held Thursday morning from the home of her son in Lawrence, with a mass of requiem at St. Augustine's church. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Father Traynor offered the mass, and also conducted committal services at the grave. The bearers were: George Goller, John Traynor, Joseph Traynor, William Manning, John Linehan and Richard Lavery.

SIMEONE

Dorothy Simeone, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Simeone of 40 Whittier street, passed away Sunday morning at the Lawrence General Hospital. Burial took place Monday morning at the Immaculate Conception cemetery, Lawrence.

TUCKER

Patrick J. Tucker, of 70 North Main street, an employee of the Board of Public Works, passed away early Thursday morning at his home, 70 North Main street, having served with Company F, 315th Engineers. He sailed for France July 14, 1918, returning home in February, 1919. He saw action at Verdun and Chateau Thierry, and at the latter place he was wounded in the right thigh and right shoulder on October 28, 1918. He leaves his wife, Catherine; a brother, Thomas of Nova Scotia and a sister, Mrs. Minnie Sherron of New York.

Full military honors will be accorded the late Mr. Tucker tomorrow morning when his funeral will be held with a mass of requiem being sung in St. Augustine's church at 9.30. Burial will be in St. Augustine's cemetery.

DEVLIN

Peter J. Devlin, 83, who had spent the greater part of his life between West Andover and South Lawrence, passed away Sunday at the home of his sister, Miss Jane Devlin, Chestnut Lane, River road. He was a native of Ireland.

He leaves, besides Miss Devlin, two other sisters, Mrs. Mary Collins, Lawrence; and Mrs. George Leacock, North Andover. The funeral was held Wednesday morning, with a solemn high mass of requiem at St. Patrick's church, Lawrence. Burial was in the Immaculate Conception cemetery.

Death

In Lewiston, Maine, May 25th, Mrs. Alice Phillips Wilson, wife of Rev. F. A. Wilson's brother, Charles and mother of C. Harold Wilson, a former student of Phillips academy, Andover.

How Much Do YOU Know About Andover? The Townsman's Weekly Questionnaire

- Last Week's Corrections
1. Mr. Heely is headmaster at Lawrenceville, not Merceburg. He was assistant dean, not dean, at Phillips academy.
2. In addition to those named, J. Everett Collins and Mrs. E. V. French have resigned and retired respectively from the school committee since 1933. Mr. Cheever retired before 1933.
3. Chief of Police Dane had been appointed chief prior to the death of Chief Smith. Mr. Smith was clerk of the department when he died.
4. There are four, not three, Congregational churches in town. Of these only two, the South and the West, have their own cemeteries. The others are the Free and the Union Congregational.
5. The fire whistle blows at 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., not 8 p.m. and 6 a.m.
6. Alan R. Blackmer, and not the Rev. Mr. Baldwin, directed the adult courses on the Hill.
7. Andover's population was over 10,000 in the 1925 state census.
8. Carleton street runs parallel to and not off Haverhill street.
9. There are also falls near Balmoral street in the Shawsheen.
10. Dr. Daly was never secretary of the selectmen. Mr. McTernan and Mr. Shepard have been the recent secretaries.

This Week's Statistics Mistakes have been made purposely in the following five statements. Give the corrected statement.
1. There are three large four-faced clocks on towers or steeples in Andover. (The right answer should tell the right number of such clocks plus their location.)
2. The building which is now the Shaw-

NEWS OF OTHER DAYS

Twenty-five Years Ago Philip A. Cox of Frye village is ill with pneumonia. Philip L. Hardy, a member of the graduating class at the Lowell Textile school which received its diplomas on Friday afternoon, read a paper entitled "Economy Tests of 25 W. W. Kerr Turbo Generator Set." Roy E. Hardy has been chosen for membership in Alpha Delta Tau at Phillips Academy. This is an honorary scholarship society and is the highest recognition of scholarship in the school. The new incandescent light just erected on Red Spring road is a wonderful and much-needed improvement. After an existence of 46 years, the well-known grocery firm of F. G. Haynes and Co., has been succeeded by the new firm of Poor and Riley. Mrs. Bernard Allen and Mrs. Frank Buttrick were elected president and Vice-president respectively at the meeting of the Mothers' club Wednesday. Lucy Anne Allen was chosen president of the Ballardvale Mothers' club yesterday.

Ten Years Ago Frances Dalton of Chestnut street, a student at the Boston Museum School of Fine Arts, who was recently awarded the Ellen Kellerman Gardner scholarship has again been honored, receiving also the Robert Aphonor Boit Scholarship. Mrs. Charles S. Buchan will sail Saturday from Boston, to spend the summer with relatives and friends in Scotland in 1932. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth have moved from the Carrol Court apartments to the house on Salem street owned by John Erving. Everett Franklin Hatch, son of Mr. Mrs. B. F. Hatch, will be graduated this year from the Sheffield Scientific school, Yale University. James Souter, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Souter of Washington avenue, and Geoffrey Watson of Highland road returned to Andover yesterday after an absence of nearly two years in California. A balance of $4.13 was left of the $21.00 appropriation for the erection of the Shawsheen school.

Engagements Announced Mrs. Eleanor Brigham Widger of Newton Centre announced Saturday the engagement of her daughter, Priscilla, to Mr. John Cushing Fuess, son of Headmaster and Mrs. Claude Moore Fuess, of Phillips Academy, Andover. Miss Widger graduated from the Miss Allen school in West Newton in 1932 and from Bradford Junior College in 1934. She has since been studying at the Rhode Island School of Design. Mr. Fuess graduated from Phillips Academy in 1931 and will graduate with the class of 1935 in June at Harvard college. He is the manager of baseball at Harvard. His clubs are the Speakers, the D. U., and the Harvard club of Boston. Penny Social Held A penny social was held last night following the meeting of Clan Johnston auxiliary in Fraternal hall. V. F. W. Auxiliary Note The regular meeting of the V. F. W. auxiliary is to be held next Wednesday.

Christ Church Notes The school picnic will be held tomorrow if the weather be propitious, at Pleasant pond park, Wenham. The buses for Christ church will leave the parish house at 9 a.m., returning at 4.30 p.m. from the park. The transportation is made possible through the generous aid of Jerome Cross. This annual picnic includes the schools of Shawsheen Community, West Parish, St. Paul's, North Andover and Christ church. Recently the annual supper for the teachers was held and a general committee has charge of the arrangements of the picnic, with its races, water sports and baseball. The church school will have its commencement on Sunday at 10.45 a.m. The pupils are to meet at the parish house and enter the

How Home Got Its Name

The earliest maps of Alaska drawn up by United States government cartographers didn't have names for all the bays, capes and inlets. Among the spots that were nameless was a cape which jutted far out into the Bering sea. Some early official, who disliked to see a map without the proper labels, penciled across this cape the query, "Name?" A copyist, transcribing this map a little later, misread it and labeled the cape Nome. Some it has been ever since, and when a city sprang up there it, too, became Nome.

Finland Independent Nation

After the first Russian revolution had brought about the abdication of the czar, representative government was restored to Finland by the provisional government of Russia. The parliament or diet which Finland elected decided on July 17, 1919, for the establishment of an independent republic. Negotiations were undertaken and October 14, 1920, a treaty was adopted whereby Russia recognized Finland as a sovereign state. Its territory is about as large as New England, New York and New Jersey combined, and the population, estimated on December 31, 1930, was 3,667,067, a figure which includes a good many Swedes and some Russians.

Canning Industry in U. S.

The canning industry in the United States was established by Ezra Daggett in 1810. He had learned the trade before emigrating to this country, and packed salmon, lobsters and oysters in New York. The records show that William Underwood packed preserves and table condiments in glass as early as 1821 in Boston. Records also show that he shipped his goods to South America in 1821. In 1837 Isaac Winslow began experimenting with the canning of corn in Portland, Me. There is probably no earlier record of canning in tin in this country. Maine was the home of corn canning.

NOW you can make toll calls at night rates* after 7 o'clock

*Night rates apply only to station-to-station calls; that is, calls by number or for "anyone." If you do not know the number, call "Information."

Night rates now begin at 7 p. m. Once they began at midnight. More recently they became effective at 8:30 p. m., and there was an intermediate evening rate between 7 and 8:30. Now the evening rate has been abolished and you get the full saving of lower night rates between 7 p. m. and 4:30 a. m.

Note: Low night rates apply where the day rate is 30 cents or more on calls in the area comprising Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. On calls to places outside these five states they apply where the day rate is 40 cents or more.

Make those out-of-town calls before you go out for the evening, or before your friends have gone out, and get the economical night rates—ranging from 12 to 50% lower than the day rates.

Punchard Baseball

Punchard lost two heartbreakers at the outset of this week. On Monday it lost a ten-inning decision to Howe high, 11-10. The two teams went into overtime at 9:30, and in the first half of the tenth Punchard pushed across one run to put the local team ahead. But in the last half Howe scored two runs with one out to sew up the game. Tuesday the local high school team staged a final-inning rally which netted only one run, with the result that Methuen high won 2-1. Again Charlie Hurley did well in the box, but his teammates lost the game on errors. Hurley knocked in the sole Punchard run in the seventh.

It always is easier to exploit human weaknesses than to correct them.

JUST A TRUNKFUL!

THREE smiling young stowaways demonstrate the ample space available for luggage, golf clubs or trophies of a shopping expedition, found in the trunk compartment of the new Ford V-8 Touring Sedans, two of the new de luxe types recently announced by the Ford Motor Company. The trunk compartment—with 18 cubic feet of space—is an inherent part of the design of the Tudor and Fordor Touring Sedan body types. All the space is used for luggage, the spare tire being carried conventionally at the rear, while an inner compartment under the floor provides space for tools. The trunk compartments may be locked with the same key that fits the tire lock. The new touring sedans were designed to provide ample luggage carrying facilities for families doing extensive traveling who wish to utilize the car interior for passengers. They have proved thus far to be among the most popular Ford body types.

Drive for Funds Started by Church

The Free Christian church has launched a drive to raise enough money to cover a deficit for the year. It is in the form of a competition between the members who joined the church in the even years and those who joined in the odd years.

Each member is urged to give a foot of nickels, or as many more as wishes, and the nickels can be raised by individuals any way they see fit.

James Souter is captain of those canvassers who represent the odd years and George Keith is captain of the canvassers for the even years. The list of canvassers for the odd years is not yet complete.

Plan Exhibit for Merrimack Valley

Artists of Andover and vicinity will again be invited to send paintings in oil, water colors, drawings and small sculptures before a jury of the Merrimack Valley Art Association whose second annual exhibition is to be held at the Currier Gallery, Manchester, N. H. June 31 to July 31.

Each regional director is authorized to invite a specified number of works of art, these not subject to jury. Other works will be submitted to a jury consisting of the local director and two visiting directors.

Paintings must be framed. Oil paintings should preferably be not smaller than 20x24. Simple and inexpensive frames will be perfectly satisfactory.

The entrance fee is 50 cents per object. The local director is to be responsible for collecting the entrance fees, which are payable before the work is submitted at the local center.

While the Currier Gallery is donating its exhibition rooms for the exhibition, it cannot take the responsibility for objects shown.

Chapman stared at Drake in blank amazement. Then abruptly, he got up from his chair. "Sorry, old man," he said quietly.

Early Evening

By PAUL M. VEST

BOB DRAKE drained his glass and set it back on the table beside his chair. A warm, comfortable glow possessed his body.

It was early evening and the two men sat before the great fireplace in the spacious library of their club.

"As I was saying," Drake continued, "nothing should stand in the way of love; friendship, honor, every other human relationship should be sacrificed for the Grand Passion."

"Oh, Helen's all right. But Lord, man, you can't expect a fellow to be tied down to one woman for twelve years."

"Many other women during those twelve years, Bob?"

"Many?" Drake raised his eyebrows quizzically. "Honestly, Don, I don't remember just how many. And—here's a greater shock for your Puritan morals—some of the affairs were with the wives of my best friends, none of whom ever suspected a thing."

"And no question of honor ever bothered you, Bob?"

"You're too much of a prude, Don. You've haven't had a real affair with a woman in the last ten years."

Chapman hesitated a moment, then very quietly he said: "Possibly I am a prude, Bob, but you know it's a question of how one looks at things. To me love means just one woman."

"Heaven help you! Loved only one woman and here you are an old bachelor. Tell me, Don Juan, were you ever bold enough to kiss her?"

"I'd expect you to be such a fool," Drake sneered. "Forty years old and what have you got out of life! Honor be hanged; take your pleasure where you find it. You'll soon be an old man."

Chapman leaned forward in his chair, the muscles of his face tense. "But you do love Helen; she means more to you than any other woman, doesn't she?" he asked in a strained voice.

"Oh, Helen's all right. She makes a good home for me. She looks well presiding at a dinner table. . . ."

Chapman interrupted. "You mean you could conceive of a life without her; it wouldn't break you up entirely to lose her?"

Drake laughed easily. "You and your old-fashioned ideas, Don! Of course it wouldn't. I'll admit it might be a bit inconvenient, but not for long; any number of women would be only too happy to take Helen's place. She didn't do so badly when she married me."

Chapman stared at Drake in blank amazement. Then abruptly, he got up from his chair. "Sorry, old man," he said quietly.

Drake shook his head. "Not just yet. But for Lord's sake take my advice and stop being a d—d fool. Get something out of life, man, before you die."

"Perhaps I will, Bob—perhaps I will." When Chapman went out of the door his eyes were those of a very eager young man in love and his chin was resolutely set.

Alone, Drake sank down in his chair. His eyelids closed and he dozed off into a light sleep.

A few hours later he awakened and looked dazedly about the room. It was deserted except for a small Oriental boy emptying ash trays. He stared into the glowing coals and sighed heavily.

"Don't Darling: Our love is utterly hopeless. Neither of us would hurt Bob for anything in the world. Please do as I ask and go away somewhere if only for a while—we must forget—it is the only way. But believe me, dearest, I love you and shall always love you with all my heart. Helen."

As he read it over and over again, he swallowed hard and his eyes were suddenly wet. Then abruptly, he got up and went to a desk telephone. In a moment he had his butler. "Is Mrs. Drake in?" he asked.

"No sir," came back over the wire. "Mrs. Drake left with Mr. Chapman a short time ago. She said she did not expect to return. She left a note for you, sir."

He dropped the receiver and walked with bowed head back to the fireplace. With moist eyes he looked down at the dying embers. "Only ashes," he whispered huskily, "only ashes. . . ."

Electrical Measurements Named for Electricians

Units of electrical measurement, and why they are so named, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, include seven terms.

The ampere is named for A. M. Ampere, a French electrician; the ohm for the German, G. S. Ohm; the volt for Alessandro Volta; while the others take their names from Charles A. de Coulomb, Michael Faraday, James P. Joule and James Watt.

The ohm is a unit of resistance; it represents the resistance offered to an unvarying current by a column of mercury at the temperature of ice, 14,542 grams in mass, of a cross-sectional area of 1.00003 square millimeters and of the length of 106.3 centimeters.

The ampere is a unit of current. An ampere decomposes .0000324 of a gram of water in one second, or deposits silver at the rate of .001118 of a gram a second when passed through a solution of nitrate of silver in water.

The volt is a unit of electromotive force. One volt equals one ampere of current passing through a substance having one ohm of resistance.

The coulomb is the unit of quantity; the amount of electricity transferred by a current of one ampere in one second.

The farad is a unit of capacity; the capacity of a condenser charged to a potential of one volt by one coulomb. The joule is a unit of work. It is equivalent to the energy expended in one ohm by one ampere current in one ohm resistance.

The watt is the unit of power. It is equivalent to work done at the rate of one joule per second.

Rhinoceroses Inhabited North America Long Ago

The rhinoceroses of North America are well represented among the exhibits at Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago.

Although one thinks ordinarily of rhinoceroses only as associated with Africa, India and a few other localities on the other side of the world, there was a time, a good many million years ago, when various species of these great pachyderms were at home in North America and, in fact, were abundant over a great part of this continent.

It is of the fossil specimens of these prehistoric animals that the Graham hall collection consists. Included are a practically complete mounted skeleton and several skulls and leg bones of American rhinoceroses of various kinds.

Some of the specimens were excavated from ancient geological formations in the "bad lands" of South Dakota; others are from old river channels and from the drifted sands of Nebraska and Kansas.

The animals apparently became extinct due to the frigidly and aridity which crept down upon the great plains region preceding the Ice age.

Witness Trees

When Michigan's land surveys were made from 80 to 100 years ago, surveyors marked the exact location of section corners with square wood stakes.

This location was "witnessed" by trees which were blazed and marked with their distance and bearing with reference to the corner recorded in the surveyor's notes.

With the passage of years, the square stakes have disappeared, but in spite of lumbering and forest fires, many witness trees still can be found. In many cases, burned-out stump holes of the witness trees are all that remain.

In remnants of virgin timber stands or in swamps where fires did not penetrate, the markings of witness trees have been perfectly preserved by the new growth of the trees which has closed over them.

Franking Privileges

The word frank, in the sense "to send or cause to be sent free of charge," is presumably derived from medieval Latin francus, free. The assumption is that the Franks of Gaul possessed full freedom in the Roman empire, and the term frank then became a synonym with free.

In early English literature the two words were frequently joined, as "he was frank and free borne in a free ctye." The application of frank in the superscription to a letter to insure its being sent without charge dates back to the early Eighteenth century, and has been continued since.—Literary Digest.

River Named for Stone Dog

The Dog river is a short distance from Beirut, Syria. The name is derived from the great stone dog, or perhaps Assyrian bull, that once stood on the height overlooking the mouth of the river and the sea.

Increases Milk Bills

On an average a milk bottle makes only twenty trips before it is broken and the breakage cost adds $12,000,000 to the annual milk bill of the American people.

Oldest English Colony

The British dominion of Newfoundland is the oldest English colony. It has been in the possession of England since its discovery by John Cabot in 1497.
