Adjutant Ira Buxton blamed lack of interests on the part of the descendants of Civil War veterans for the decision to suspend. Mr. Buxton and the late Commander, Charles G. Kibbee, had been the only active members of late, and the passing of Mr. Kibbee made disbanding imperative.

Mr. Buxton and the late Commander, Charles G. Kibbee, had been the only active members of late, and the passing of Mr. Kibbee made disbanding imperative.

Mr. Buxton's statement follows:

"After forty-five years of existence, Camp 111 is obliged to go out of existence on account of lack of interest in the descendants of the Civil War. They do not seem to care whether their ancestors' graves are decorated to rnot on Memorial Day but if one of the graves are missed they are the first to complain. They cannot afford the large sum of one cent a day to help the cause along and to come out and help by joining the order."

The women of Andover are interested in Andover.

Many requests have come to the Andover League of Women Voters for League meetings dealing with local government, public welfare, finances and the schools. As a result, the League is giving much of its time this year to a School of Town Affairs. These meetings will be held in the November Club House where a large number of people can be accommodated. It is hoped, because of the widespread interest in town affairs, that many who have not been acquainted with the League will join and take advantage of this study as well as of its other activities.

The following program has been adopted. Shote that the School of Town Affairs continues from November 19 to March 2, and does not include the meetings of October 15, April 21, and May 5.

This time it is not the local committee which is to blame. During the summer the committee rushed to line up its specifications on furnishings, and the architect did a very complete job. In August the material was brought into the P.W.A. office in Boston for checking, but since then no other word has been heard on whether or not the specifications are to be approved. heard on whether or not the specifications are to be approved.

Following approval the proposal has to be advertised for bids two weeks in a row, and at the earliest, a week later the bids may be opened. Then they will have to be analyzed, and when that task is completed, the committee will have to decide how large an extra appropriation to ask for. When this is done, the selectimen will have to set a date for the special town meeting, and that has to be advertised at least seven days before the meeting, so that it looks very much as waste.

Anover, Mass.

Sir:

I am enclosing a page from the current issue of Time magazine, which I feel sure you will be glad to publish in the coming issue of the Townsman. For months past we have noticed a critical attitude in your editorials concerning the "New Deal," and we feel in all fairness you should be willing to give the true facts as they are.

As you will note practically all lines of business have shown a marked improvement despite the opposition of the leading Industrialists, and it is evident that the President deserves praise for his efforts to lift the country out of the depression. Tuesday night the Margaret Slattery Class of the Free Church opened its Fall program with a covered dish supper. The following officers were installed by Mrs. Dana Clark, leader of the class: President, Millie MacLeod; vice-president, Ethel Ackroyd; secretary, Etta E. Brown, and treasurer, Bessie A. Coutts.

A business meeting was held and plans were discussed for the year's activities.

with us. We were up at the school board meeting last Thursday night with the type of head achy cold that makes you feel like saying; "Excuse me, ladies and gentlemen and Bill, I think I'll have to leave the meeting," We were looking down at some papers in front of us when suddenly we heard a voice which we had never heard before in the school board rooms, "Who's this?" we said to ourselves. "Some stranger invading the sanctity of our cloister?"

We looked up, but here was only the superintendent, the clerk, and the nine members, good and true—well, the nine members, so we said to ourselves, "This thing's gone to our head," and again our eyes reverted to the papers in front of us. But again the strange voice persisted, and up we looked, this time to see the mouth of Arthur Lewis emitting the words that the strange voice was carrying to us. Even West Andoverites have colds.

Incidentally, the headaches persisted but the colds warmed up during the course of the evening.

Unexpected Baggage

If we hear any more stories like this one, we'll really be believing that Hadley's outlaw, Bey, has shifted his locus operandi to this section. Last Saturday morning Floyd Napier stopped at Wilson's corner for the lights, and into the back seat walked a rather unkempt individual. Now nobody likes a back-seat driver, but when the back-seat driver is an uninvited one, it's even worse.

driver is an uninvited one, it's even worse.

Napier explained that he wasn't going to Haverhill, but that didn't bother the stowaway. He was going wherever Napier was going. He even asked his host for a cigarette, but not expecting to have company, our townsman had not brought along any. However, he stopped for some at a store in South Lawrence, and just as suddenly as the invader got into the car, he got out again and scooted off, with Napier catching a glimps of two guns, one in each of his back pockets. Floyd is very, very glad that they stayed in the back pockets.

Yesterday we saw this clergyman, and he told us how such things used to be treated years ago. It seems that another minister, usually very faithful, one day forgot to send in his notices, and in Friday's Townsman appeared the statement: "There are no.-church notices today, because Rev. Mr. forgot to send in his notices,"

We'll never do that. We find it too easy to forget things ourselves.

An E.R.A. Misappropriation

There's a rather stoutish full-faced young man down at the town house whose mind has a rather bad habit of wandering, and he wanders, too. No, Charlie, it's not you.

Yesterday morning Frank McCarthy climbed into his car and rode off to a local store to do an errand. He carefully parked his car outside the store, took the keys out, and then walked into the store. A few minutes later he came out again, turned the key which was on the dashboard of the car, and off he rode.

Anxious to know how a police officer, on forced leave, whiles away his penience, we asked Jack Tuesday night what he did. Well, he didn't sit around twiddling his thumbs—or if he did, he twiddled them down in Fenway park where the Red Sox have been showing stuff that Bostonians wished they had shown consistently all year. Five games Jack went to, in two weeks! However, it was only to watch others play this time; as far as we know Jack has done very little exercising for two weeks.

LET DRUNKEN DRIVER DRIVE HOME

Last week we received among our church be used in case of emergency. Thanks for last week." The sheet contained notices of routine meetings that take place at this particular church every week.

The previous week the pastor of that church had forgotten to send in his notices, and we were unable to reach him by telephone. Accordingly, we put in a few notices on his church that we felt perfectly sure of—with the assistance of one of the deacons of the church who works here. That's the reason for the thanks, and probably a knowledge of human frailties prompted the "emergency" notices.

"Turn backward, turn backward, Oh time in thy flight."

And give me an extra hour's sleep, just for tonight."

Tomorrow night when you go to bed Sunday morning, don't forget to turn back you day morning, don't forget to turn back you clocks one hour. We're sure that this is correct.

Last An'd we wrote quite an elaborate story on the change of time. We were really quite proud of it, but the only troble was that shortly before the Townsman went to press we discovered that we were advising Andover's residents to turn their clocks the wrong way.

We've made a very careful checkup this time, and now we really believe that it is safe to say: "Turn your clocks back one hour."

Two Andover young men, Howard and Warren Harrington of 17 Salem street, are busy planning a course of outstanding artistic evenings to be presented in the local Town Artist Course. Through their connection will all and to be known a larget managerial offices they have been able to procure the finest part between the fore opening program on December 11th, 11th Hall Blackington will give his fascinating new lecture "Gentlemen of the Press." musicians, will share a program with Ludwig Juht, contra-bassist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Serge Koussevitsky has proclaimed Mr. Juht "the greatest exponent of this instrument in the world." This is high praise from an exacting musician who does, himself, play the contra-bass. Appearing on this program will also be Edna Merritt, one of Boston's best loved concert contraltos who recently won wide praise for her singing of the leading part in Aida under the baton of Fabien Sevitzky. At the plann for all these artists will be Kathryn Whitfield Ford.

The third in this series will be a timely lecture by the Hon. Jeannette Rankin, the first woman ever elected to the Congress of the United States. Miss Rankin, who is a fine speaker as well as a great personality, will give one of her up-to-the-minute talks on World Peace and the chances of maintaining it. This meeting will be February 12.

For the final program on March 11th the evening will again be given over to music. The star of the performance will be Mme. Maria Koussevitsky, internationally famous swell as having appeared as soloist with the Newt Vork Philharmonic Orchestra, the Detroit Symphony and the Warsaw Philharmonic Orchestra. Assisting Mme. Koussevitsky will be Howard Harrington, who appeared as soloist with the People's Symphony last season and who was enthusiastically received as Radames in Aida, when he sang with Sevitzky. Edwin Biltcliffe, outstanding Boston piants, will be at the piano both for solos and as accompanist for the singers.

Gives Address to Service Club

Arthur H. Merritt gave a very interesting illustrated lecture on Newfoundland and Labrador at the Service club meeting last night. The lecture proved of especial local interest, since Mr. Merritt dwelt at length on Dr. Grenfell, who was introduced to America by C. C. Carpenter, first ecitor of the Townsman. He gave his first speech in America at the old Free church over 30 years ago.

America at the old Free church over 30 years ago.

Dr. Grenfell, now seventy years old, is engaged in training others to carry on his work. Had it not been for his great work there, the entire population might have been wiped out.

Mr. Merrit told of the intense cold in that region which being in the Arctic current often has gales of about 150 miles an hour.

There are four classes of people to be found there, he said. There are the natives; the Eskimos, the Indians, who had never been seen before the advent of the airplane, and in the summer 20,000 to 35,000 fishermen. There is a small fish which the cod follow up in the spring, and the fishermen follow the cod.

Phillips Academy Benefactor Dies

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson Cushin; Goodhue, 85, mother of Mrs. Claude M. Fuess and of F. Abbot Goodhue, Phillips academy trustee, passed away Tuesday morning at her home, 15 School street. For 41 years she had lived in Andover, maintaining a close connection with the life of the academy and becoming acquainted with hundreds of students. She was also a benefactor of the academy, having established the Goodhue prizes.

Mrs. Goodhue was born on September 30, 1850, in Newburyport, the daughter of Mary Brown and John Newmark Cushing. Her father was a prominent merchant and shipower of Newburyport, his family having been one of the foremost in New England shipping circles for years. Mrs. Goodhue was a niece of Caleb Cushing, first mayor of Newburyport and noted statesman, whose biography Dr. Fuess has written.

She attended school in Newburyport: In 1877 she was married to Francis Abbot Goodhue, American representative of German Chemical and Dye houses. He died in 1905.

Mrs. Goodhue leaves a sister, Miss Margaret W. Cushing of Newburyport; three children, Mrs. Fuess, Mr. Goodhue, who in addition to being a truster is also president of the Bank of the Manhattan Company in New York City, and Lawrence Brown Cushing Goodhue, well-known Boston lawyer; and nine grandchildren.

She was a member of the Unitarian Church and of the Massachusetts Society of the Colonial Dames of America.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the Cushing home, 98 High street, Newburyport, with Rev. Markham W. Stackpole of Milton, former Phillips academy minister, conducting, Burial was in Oak Hill cemetery, Newburyport.

Veteran Manchester Team Playing Here

Punchard high will meet Storey high of Manchester, Mass., tomorrow at 2.30 on the Playstead in the second game of the local high school's season. The team will line up the same as last week, except that Saunders will be replaced at quarter by Hackney, with Dushame filling in at left half. Saunders has a skin affliction on his legs which will keep him on the bench.

Storey high is playing its first game tomorrow, although it has showed up well in scrimmage against Gloucester high. Seven of the players were regulars a year ago, four men, including the two ends having been lost by graduation. The entire starting line-up played at times last year. A young team a year ago, it has developed considerably since then.

Radack at left half is the team's best ball-carrier. Stasiak, an end a year ago, has been converted to fullback, and he ought to give a good account of himself. Lees, the team's tallest, has been shifted from center to end. Both guards, Noyes and Wogan, are the out-twent with the men.

Both guards, Noyes and Wogan, are the outstanding linemen.

Platt on the local team still is favoring a sore shoulder. Lynch at full is becoming the best carrier on the team, plunging in with a determination that should take him and the team places. Captain Pomeroy at guard is playing an inspiring game, while West, a tackle, is making Boynton keep on his toes to hold his position. West is inexperienced, but he has natural football sense, and before the year is out, he will probably have replaced his veteran teammate.

John Holmelund, well-known in local business and political circles for several years, passed away last Saturday at his former home in Frederica, Demmark, where he has been since last June when he suffered a nervous breakdown. His family sailed on September 4 and had been with him almost a week before he died.

Mr. Holmelund was manager of a local chain store here for 12 years. He was a past noble grand of Andover lodge, 230, LO.O.F. and a member of the South church. Twice har no roughle office, once for town clerk and once for selectman, the latter being last March. Punchard's eleven opened its season last Saturday with an unimpressive 9-0 victory over Howe high. Lynch, the local fullback, was the only livewire on the team, the other boys seeming unable to click. Several times the ball was lost on downs within scoring distance of the Howe line.

TOWN TEAM TO PLAY

The Andover Town football team will open its season against the Shamrocks of Lawrence Sunday at 2:30 at the playstead.

Accident Causes Bad Traffic Jam

A triple crash in which two machines over-turned, injuring five persons, caused what local police described as one of the worst traffic tie-ups in the town's history when a large number of cars returning from Rock-ingham were halted on the Reading road-just this side of the Reading line last Friday evening about 6:15. John E. Grant, 34, of 405 Salem street, Medford, driving toward Lawrence, allegedly cut directly across the road, crashing into a car operated by Mrs. Phoebe Ober of Win-chester. The third machine, driven by Joseph A. Mahoney of Providence, coming along behind Mrs. Ober's, crashed into hers, and both overturned.

Medford, driving toward Lawrence, allegedy cut directly across the road, crashing into a car operated by Mrs. Phoebe Ober of Winchester. The third machine, driven by Joseph A. Mahoney of Providence, coming along behind Mrs. Ober's, crashed into hers, and both overturned.

The local ambulance went to the scene but the injured had been removed to the offices of two local doctors by passing motorists. Mrs. Ober, Grant, and three passengers: Marie E. Parquet, Medford; Ambrose Honrahan, Mattapan; and William Brosanahan, East Boston, were injured, none very seriously.

Grant was taken into custody by officers Hickey and Jowett on charges of operating under the influence, drunkenness, operating under the greater of the passengers and registration in his possession. Saturday morning he pleaded not guilty in District court and was held in $700 when the case was continued until Thursday.

Sports Comment

The Bearcats Want Competition

The Bearcats Want Competition
Boys, the Bearcats of Charlestown were in town yesterday looking for something to chaw up. There were three of them, over watching the Punchard team practice and admiring the local eleven's shift. But that wasn't what they were here for; they came up—this was about the seventh time—to see if they could find any worthwhile competition here.

They asked us if we knew of any teams,
about 115 pounds and 14 to 16 years of age,
in Andover which were angling for games,
but we couldn't think of any; so we told them
we'd put a piece in today's paper and here it is.

If you've got eleven young men, about 115 pounds each and 14 to 16 years of age drop a line to Tommy Walsh down at 1 School street, Charlestown.

Look for Missing Andover Records

Five set of records on old Andover families, left to the Town by the late Charlotte Helen Abbott, are missing, and an effort is being made to find them in order to add them to the Library records.
