News All Our Own

We've often wished that we'd started the "This Sober Town" earlier, because one Friday morning we had a little bit of trouble that we could have used in such a column. During the night we had heard the fire alarm ring; so on our way to work in the morning, we took great pains to drop into the fire station to find out where the fire was. And the conversation was:

Us: Where was the fire last night?
Them: What?
Us: Wasn't there a fire last night?
Them: Sure—YOU want to know where it was?
Us: Of course.
Them: Well, it was up at the Press.
Nice of news to walk into our back door.

About one-third of the already very much curtailed E.R.A. force was dropped this week when the local E.R.A. allotment for the first two weeks in October was received, amounting to only $1700, a cut of about $600 from that of the last two weeks in September. The force now numbers only about 60 men and women.

No local W.P.A. project has gone through yet, but when one is approved, it is expected that additional men may be put to work. Conditions in Andover are good at present. Dr. J. J. Daly, welfare head, stated last night. Textile activity has held up well, this evening when they will be served a supper at 6:30 o'clock sharp in the parish house.

The apartment owned by Frank Dentrement at 38 Florence street has been rented to Miss Evelyn Parker through the W. Shirley Barnard Real Estate and Insurance agency.

Among the local young men and women in attendance at Burdett college are: Marianna Cromie, Frances A. Souter, Russell Stevens, Charlotte Marland, Patrick Flynn, Henry Arundale, and Ruth Cavanaugh.

Hannibal Towle, formerly of Andover, has just completed negotiations with the Associated Actors Theatre, Inc., with which professional theatrical organization he will appear throughout the year. Mr. Towle, a graduate of the Phillips academy, was formerly with the Jitney Players.

People, obviously unfitted for their jobs, are often appointed to responsible government positions through political influence. Intelligent voters realize that this so-called spoils system has dangers. Therefore, the National League of Women Voters is working for the extension of the merit system, whereby administrative positions, not policy-forming ones, will be granted to those who have proved their ability to do their jobs and who will keep their places in spite of party changes in office. This is the subject of a lecture by Mrs. Edward K. Nash at the opening meeting of the Andover League of Women Voters.

To Discuss Topic of Spoils System

Non-Members Welcome

A luncheon has been arranged for this meeting which will be held at Wildwood Inn on Tuesday, October 15, at 12:45. All women voters whether they are members of the League or not are welcome to this luncheon. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Claxton Monro, Andover 457-J or from some member of the ticket committee. It is desired that all tickets be procured before Saturday, October 12. Mrs. Monro will be glad to arrange transportation for any who may need it.

The ticket committee: Mrs. Monro, chairman; Miss Susan Ripley, Mrs. Harry R. Dow, Jr., Mrs. Harold Leitch, Miss Helen Chickering, Mrs. Harold Rutter, Mrs. C. C. Kimball, Miss Delight Hall, Miss Burt, Mrs. W. C. Crowley, Miss Flanders, Miss Clara Boynton, Mrs. Rodney Hill, Mrs. Ernest Hay, Mrs. L. C. Newton, Miss Mary Bell, and Mrs. Kenneth Minard.

To Discuss Plans

Plans will be discussed by the School of Town Affairs, the five succeeding meetings of the League, dealing with matters of local government, public welfare, finances, public schools and the town warrant. Details of study groups which are to be held in connection with the school will also be presented.

The League is non-partisan and all women voters are urged to become members. Anyone caring to know more about the work of the League and its aims, call Mr. Alan R. Blackler or Mrs. Ralph Barnes, who will be glad to answer questions.

Nurse Passenger on Grounded Liner

Miss Bessie Corey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Corey of 22 Cuba street, was one of the passengers on the "Rotterdam," stranded by a hurricane on a reef off Jamaica over the week-end. Miss Corey, with some 450 other passengers, was removed by the S.S. Argonaut Monday and taken to Kingston, Jamaica.

Miss Corey is a nurse at the North Reading sanatorium, and with another nurse was on her annual vacation, having left New York a week ago Friday night. She graduated from the Lawrence General hospital in 1930 and from Pynchard in 1926.

BAPTIST WOMEN TO MEET

The first meeting of the Women's Union of the Baptist church is to be held at 2:30 next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clifford Dannels on Abbott street.

LAY NEW WATER MAIN

Work on a new six-inch water main was started Wednesday at the new junior high school project to take care of the requirements of the new building. When the first boiler was put in operation recently, no water was available for the children to drink. The new main however will run direct to the boiler house so that there will be no interference with the drinking water supply.

Dedicate Tablet to Dr. Shipman

A tablet in memory of the late Rev. Dr. Frank R. Shipman was dedicated at the South church last Sunday morning, with the former pastor's three-year-old granddaughter, Marie Christine Mian, unveiling the bronze plaque, the work of her father.

The entire congregation turned and faced the tablet, on the back wall of the church, during the unveiling. Rev. Frederick B. Noss preached the memorial service, the subject being: "The Life That Was Light." The inscription on the tablet reads: "In Him Was Life and the Life Was the Light of Men."

HEADS BUILDING COMMITTEE

Hugh Bullock, chairman of the town finance committee, was elected chairman of the building committee at the meeting Monday evening. He succeeds Frank H. Hardy, who retired six weeks ago because of illness.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Miss Eleanor Johnson of Central street has entered Smith college.

Mrs. Walter Howe of School street is in Worcester attending the Music Festival.

Miss Betty Sherman of 124 Main street has enrolled at the Chamberlain school in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson of 95 Abbot street left Monday for a visit with their eldest son in Winnipeg, Canada.

Only five more days to wait for the Italian Street Fair to be held by the November club on Locke street next Wednesday.

James Nealey and Conrad Nollet of this town have enrolled in the agricultural department at the Essex Agricultural school, Hathorne.

The Girls' Friendly society of Christ church will start the season on Monday evening when they will be served a supper at 6:30 o'clock sharp in the parish house.

The apartment owned by Frank Dentrement at 38 Florence street has been rented to Miss Evelyn Parker through the W. Shirley Barnard Real Estate and Insurance agency.

Among the local young men and women in attendance at Burdett college are: Marianna Cromie, Frances A. Souter, Russell Stevens, Charlotte Marland, Patrick Flynn, Henry Arundale, and Ruth Cavanaugh.

To Award Prizes for Fire Essays

In order to stimulate interest in the observance of Fire Prevention Week, the Smart & Flagg Inc., insurance office has arranged with the principal of the junior high school, Kenneth L. Sherman, and Chief Charles F. Emerson of the fire department for the Stowe school children to visit the Fire Department on Tuesday, October 8 and 9, to be instructed in the mechanics of the fire department.

There will be classes going down both Tuesday and Wednesday as follows: Tuesday: 8-F and Special, Miss Atkinson and Mrs. Espey, 9:30; 8-B, Miss Parker, 10:15; 8-C, Miss Marshall, 11:00; 8-E, Miss Parker, 12:45; Wednesday: 7-A1, Miss Parker, 9:30; 7-A2, Mrs. Derrah, 10:15; 7-B1, Miss Gates, 11:00; 7-B2, Miss Hird, 12:45.

This instruction will be followed by an address at the school assembly on Friday, October 11, touching upon the common causes of fire and means of prevention, and to especially arouse the interest of the children. Prizes of $5.00, $3.00, and $2.00, will be given by Smart & Flagg, Inc., for the three best essays to be written by the Stowe school classes under the direction of Mr. Sherman, during the following week.

The essays are to be approximately two hundred and fifty words in length, and the subjects to be treated:

1. When the fire bell rings, what does it mean to me?
2. How can I help reduce the fire loss in Andover?
3. Why should I help prevent fires?

Miss Clara A. Putnam, Nathan C. Hamblin, and Howell F. Shepard will act as judges and the prizes to be awarded at assembly, October 25, will be for excellence in both the subject matter and its presentation.

TELL-TALES READY

The new Townsman Tell-Tales, including the new railroad schedule between Andover and Boston and the fire alarm box locations, have been printed this week. They may be secured free of charge at the Townsman office.

Officer's Twin Sons in Rescue

Warren Harding Deyermond, and Calvin Coolidge Deyermond, fourteen-year-old twin sons of Officer and Mrs. John Deyermond of Shawshen road, rescued Leo Carney, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Carney of 75 Essex street, from a watery grave in the Shawshen river Tuesday morning.

The Carney youngster was playing on the river bank when his small chum gave him a push. Calvin heard the boy's cries, and ran down to the bank. He stepped out onto some stones in the river and with the aid of Warren brought the child back to the bank.

Dr. J. J. Daly examined the boy and found him little the worse for his experience. He had a sharp bruise on his head, but there was no water in his lungs.

Three-Room Camp Destroyed by Fire

Fire destroyed a three-room camp owned by Robert Ryan on Lovejoy road at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Ryan and his two sons were in the house when the fire broke out behind the stove, evidently overheated. The three escaped without being burned after making a futile attempt to extinguish the flames. By the time the fire department arrived, the camp was in flames, and could not be saved. The furniture and other contents were also destroyed.

A New Meaneat Thief

Andover's claimant for the title of "meaneat thief" walked off this week with some money which was to have been spent for coats for the local F.E.R.A. nursery schools. A cup with a large poster had been placed in Lowe's drug store, and kind benefactors had contributed their nickels, dimes and quarters generously, but someone who evidently lacked enough backbone to resist stealing from a group of four-year-old children removed the cup and contents. Police are investigating.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Mrs. E. V. French attended the Woman's Guild of Christ church yesterday.

Miss Goldie Francis of Summer street has returned from a tour of the South and West.

Edward Howe of School street has returned to the Osgood School of Accounting in Cambridge.

Miss Mary Young of Central street has returned after spending the summer at Swampscott.

William Renny of 7 Walnut avenue was injured Sunday afternoon while playing for the Andover town team. He was treated for a questionable rib fracture at the Lawrence General hospital.

On Thursday, October 10, at 3 p.m., the Board of Directors of the Free church Woman's Alliance will serve tea to members and their friends. All the women of the parish are invited.

Miss Eleanor Frye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Frye of Elm street, has returned to her home where she is recovering from an operation for appendicitis recently undergone at the Lawrence General hospital.

Italian Carnival and Street Fair Next Wednesday

Locke Street to Be Transformed for Unusual Event Sponsored by November Club

Wednesday, October 9, is the date of the Italian Carnival planned by the November club of Andover. From two until eleven in the afternoon and evening, Locke street, that sober, dignified, residential avenue, is to present a gay and colorful street fair, its houses hung with banners made especially for the occasion. Picturesque costumes on all sides will add rainbow effects to the scene. One may admire Roman-striped skirts, silk handkerchiefs and peasant head-dresses, some straight from Italy itself. After dark, colored lights will supplement the flags and banners.

Admission is only ten cents, and once inside, it is estimated that visitors may find twenty-five different opportunities to spend extra pennies. Surely some will be tempted out of purses at this fortunate chance to do early shopping for Christmas gifts. Articles for sale are priced most reasonably, and admission to the different entertainments varies from five to forty cents.

Every woman is knitting something, and knitting bags have dropped from the luxury class to that of plain necessity. Particular knitters own more than one, for afternoon or evening use or to match special costumes or different rooms. These are such welcome gifts that the wide choice provided at the carnival should find a quick response, for all are made by hand, of most attractive materials. Personally, we are hoping to find one of a certain shape and style. There are other bags for other purposes, and, if you don't see what you want, ask for it.

Unusual Doll Tale

Very justly is the doll tale considered unusual. It is probable that many little mothers will possess this year a child called Shirley, and will ask to view the latest film of the small actress in order to compare the replica with the original. But just as surely there will be other Christmas children named Patience, Remember, Prudence and Love; those delightfully old-fashioned dolls which come from that quaint old Thread and Needle Shop which Salem has known for over a century. Young mothers desiring large families, may find twins, or even quintuplets, ready.

Collection will be made Thursday and Friday preceding the sale or sooner if desired.

Gallery Presents Woodbury Exhibit

The Addison Gallery is presenting as the fourth of the New England Artists series, a retrospective exhibition in oil, water color, etching and drawing of the work of Charles H. Woodbury. Mr. Woodbury has received national recognition as an artist and teacher. He is a member of various art societies and has received a long list of awards during the past fifty years. It has been his special distinction, however, to keep his work fresh and vigorous throughout these years. He has found in each painting a new adventure, not the excuse for the repetition of a formula. His etchings and drawings, with their emphasis on line as a means of expression, show the artist as among the most distinguished practitioners of these mediums, a thorough craftsman whose work goes beyond the bounds of pure craftsmanship. The present exhibition is the most comprehensive ever held of Woodbury's work, and has been arranged with the assistance of the artist himself. Mr. Woodbury's associate, Mrs. Elizabeth Ward Perkins, has generously given of her advice and assistance in the selection of material.

Mr. Woodbury was born in Lynn, July 14, 1864. He was a pupil of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and later studied at the Julian Academy in Paris under Boulanger and Lefebvre. He is a member of the Society of American Artists, National Academy of Design, American Water Color Society, Society of American Etchers and numerous local societies. Among the many prizes he has won are: Purchase prize, Boston Art Club, 1884; Bronze medal, Paris Exposition, 1900; Second W. W. Clark Prize, Corcoran Gallery, 1912; Gold Medal, Pan American Exposition, 1915; Palmer Marine Prize, National Academy, 1932. Mr. Woodbury's paintings and etchings are represented in private collections and museums throughout the country, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston; the Corcoran Gallery, Washington, D. C.; and the City Art Museum, St. Louis. He is the Director of the Woodbury School in Boston and an Associate Professor at the School of the Chicago Art Institute.

Resume No-Fix Campaign Here

A resumption of the "No Fix" campaign with a tightening up on speeders was ordered this week by Chief of Police George A. Dane. The drive was launched early last spring.

Four motorists were fined ten dollars each by Judge Colver J. Stone Thursday morning on charges of speeding. They were: Rocco Gallo of 2 Colburn street, Newton Upper Falls; Fred Dohen, 1 Alton place, Brookline; Joseph L. Zelawski, 1687 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge; and Carl Wurzbacher of 42 Eutaw street, Lawrence.

A. P. C. Sorority Installs Officers

Miss Mae Elander was installed as president of the A. P. C. sorority of this town church last night. A supper and business meeting preceded the installation which was in charge of Mrs. Philip Hardy. About 75 were present.

Buses Going to Pynchard Avenue

The Eastern Massachusetts street railway buses which formerly went from Main street into Chestnut street are now going up to Pynchard avenue before turning. They will still return by Park street.

The change will benefit the school children and will also eliminate the bad turn onto Chestnut street, usually lined with parked cars.

Who Brings Recovery?

"The President deserves praise for his efforts to lift the country out of the depression," was the concluding sentence of a communication which was sent to us and which we printed a week ago.

There is no doubt that business has improved in many lines, but a careful examination of the figures in last week's communication would show that most of them are improvements which have taken place during the summer, and it was just before the summer that the President was forced to call a halt to his so-called "efforts to lift the country out of the depression."

Walter Lippmann, in a recent article in the Yale Review, expressed a feeling that President Roosevelt might not be re-elected next year, and Lippmann is bipartisan if anyone is.

It is true: the President does deserve credit for his efforts. We feel that he thought they were good efforts, and anybody who does what in his opinion is the best thing does deserve credit.

Isn't it a shame as far as business is concerned that the President didn't decide to give up his erroneously conceived plan until his present campaign for re-election?

could not do this when they were tied up in a governmental strait-jacket; business can't improve when there are so many restrictions that progress is impossible.

The President has adopted a new policy now of practically saying that he does not intend to do anything—no more restrictions, no more taxes. This is precisely the same policy that Herbert Hoover followed, the only difference being that Mr. Hoover followed it throughout his administration and not after he had tried a group of fished experiments which would have served only to depress business more.

In the last Presidential campaign the Republican party asserted that recovery was bound to come, a statement which history had never failed to uphold. There were many indications that recovery was on its way at that time; we have the same indications now.

Phillips academy has an addition to its infirmary—an addition incidentally which compares in size with the original infirmary about the same way that the rest of the United States compares with the original thirteen states.

Italian Carnival and Street Fair Wednesday

Antiques will be for sale, perhaps just the bit of brass or copper demanded to light that very cup or silver needed to match that one of Aunt Martha's. There will be awaiting you the very pair of dandlesticks for which your colonial mantel screams.

The wall at the left side of the street will present a fine choice of books, new and used, to be purchased most inexpensively.

It is hardly safe to predict what will adorn the superlative table; that depository of dark secrets and family buggers, but its contents will surely embrace many objects which, though white elephants to their owners, prove acceptable household possessions to others.

Home-made cake and candy will lighten the next few days for housekeepers; some made from rules passed on as heirlooms. Home-makers will also find a plentiful supply of tin-ware, and of unusual wooden ware, including plates, and decorated trays. There will be paper for every conceivable need and use.

The Italian gift shop will feature exquisite linen doilies, towels, runners and bridge sets. Its temptations include gorgeous carvings and brackets, raffia trays and baskets.

From half-past five to seven, the Andover Manse will serve, at fifty cents a plate, an Italian supper, composed of native dishes. There will be a fine chine-strepe soup, spaghetti—probably the kind that two about one's fork in festoons—Italian bread, olives, and, most mysterious of all, an Italian surprise.

As for the entertainments! There will be a tent with a fortune-teller, very wise and very prophetic; there will be bridge in several houses for constant and confirmed players; during the afternoon, and in the club house, a puppet show to enthrall the children.

Especially attractive to the young people—Abbot and Phillips academies please take notice—will be a ten-dance in the club house, following the puppet show, and, in the evening, a cabaret dance under the auspices of the Dramatic department, to be followed by general dancing.

And, lest anybody could possibly miss any attraction, an announcement will parade the street, calling loud attention to hours and places of different activities and entertainments.

The home of Mrs. Bernard J. Sweeney at 25 Florence street was the scene of a pretty shower given Mrs. Sweeney's sister, Miss Rose Mary Hennessey, R.N., of 54 Chester street, Lawrence, last night in honor of her approaching marriage to Charles Shanly of Fry street, Lowell.

Those present: Mrs. Cornelius Cussen, Veronica Walsh, R.N., of Haverhill; Jane Sparks, Elizabeth Broadhurst, Margaret Shea, R.N., Florence McCavit, R.N., Gertrude Herlihy, Eleanor Brady, Eileen Hennessey, Anne Hennessey, Mary Hennessey, Margaret Hennessey, Rose Ann Hennessey, Genevieve Sullivan, Mary Powers, Gertrude Vermer, Ann McCavit, Helen Thornton, Nellie Thornton, Mrs. Shea, Mollie Twoomey, Althea Poole, Marilyn James, Helen Hennessey, Agnes Shanly of Lowell, Mrs. Bostwick of Lowell, K. Byrd's Assistant to Lecture Here

Admiral Byrd's second-in-command on his recent Antarctic Expedition—Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, will be heard at Phillips academy on Friday evening, October 11, at 8.15, in the Meeting Room of George Washington hall.

Dr. Poulter will be recalled as the man who led the tractor party out to meet Admiral Byrd at Advance Base, where he was living in complete isolation, 125 miles south of Little America. This meant that the big six-foot scientist, second-in-command of Little America, after two unsuccessful attempts—one thwarted by blizzard and the other by a mechanical accident—had to push through the appalling blackness and cold of the Antarctic night, and with his two aides, had to reach Admiral Byrd where he lay in his buried shack, in a weakened state after four and a half months of complete isolation.

The story of this 123-mile dash across blizzard-swept ridges, sinister and sudden crevasses, through temperatures of 75 degrees below zero at which hands and faces, and even the breath freezes in air—with darkness hampering every move—with eyes straining to distinguish the often-missing flags which marked the trail—straining for some flicker of Byrd's beacon light in the far distance—sustained only by the unconquerable will to get to his leader, who, they feared, was in danger of starvation, as told by Dr. Poulter, is a document of human endurance and scientific resourcefulness, which will thrill mankind.

As a matter of fact, Byrd had been grievously ill at Advance Base, but he had weathered the worst and was getting better, when Dr. Poulter according to arrangements started out to meet him there for some auroral observations. On the third attempt, the party was half way there, when a radio message relayed from Little America and orally from Byrd, urged him "to hurry up."

Taking this to mean that Admiral Byrd was in some sort of desperate condition, the tractor party made a heroic attempt to reach him, one man being forty hours at the wheel in one stretch in an effort to get there. When they finally did arrive, they learned from the message from Byrd himself, had indicated that there was to be a terrific drop in temperature. It was going down to 80 below.

The new pastor plans to make a personal visitation to all the members of the parish in the near future. He is also planning several changes in the services.

Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., new pastor at St. Augustine's church, passed away early in the first week of the church last Sunday morning when he spoke at all the masses.

This is Father Austin's first pastorate, his previous position being rector and member of the mission band.

The new pastor plans to make a personal visitation to all the members of the parish in the near future. He is also planning several changes in the services.

Obituaries

Miss Helen L. Moody
Funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon at the Ballardvale Methodist Episcopal church for Miss Helen L. Moody, well-known and respected pianoforte and vocal teacher who passed away a week ago Wednesday.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. George H. Spencer of the American Bible society, a former superintendent of the district where Rev. Mr. Moody, father of Miss Moody, preached. Rev. Ellsworth Ewing, pastor of the Methodist church, assisted.

The bearers were: Wilfred Moody, Samuel Moody, George F. Moody, Jr., John Brown, George Brown and Edwin W. Brown.

Interment was in Spring Grove cemetery. Rev. Dr. Spencer gave the committal and Rev. Mr. Ewing pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. Minnie M. Koellen
Mrs. Minnie M. (Miller) Koellen of 16 Canterbury street passed away last Saturday afternoon at the Lawrence General hospital and funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Richard Lange, pastor of the German Presbyterian church, Lawrence.

Burial was in Bellevue cemetery. A native of Lawrence, Mrs. Koellen had lived here 14 years. She is survived by a sister, Miss Annie G. Miller, a brother, Alfred R. Miller of Haverhill; and three nephews, Alfred R. Miller, Jr., William H. Miller and Walter Busfield.

Mrs. Ella M. Holt
Mrs. Ella M. Holt, 71, a native of this town, died Saturday night at the Home for the Aged in Lawrence. Services were conducted Tuesday morning by Rev. George F. North, pastor of the First Calvary Baptist church, Lawrence. Burial was in West Parish cemetery.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Joseph A. Leighton of Auburndale; a nephew, William A. Leighton of Auburndale.

Miss Lucille S. Douglass
Funeral services were held last Friday morning at Mt. Auburn cemetery chapel, Cambridge, for Miss Lucille Sinclair Douglass, 58, well-known artist, lecturer and writer, who died Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Woodson C. Ezell, 7 Pynchard avenue.

Miss Douglass was a native of Tuskegee, Ala., a daughter of Walter Eugene and Mary (Siskin) Douglass. She received her A.B. from the Woman's College, Tuskegee, and went to Europe, where she studied under Lucien Simon and Rene Menard in Paris from 1908 through 1914.

She made field trips with Alexander Robinson in Europe and North Africa, and from 1921 to 1924 was a member of the editorial staff of the Shanghai Sunday Times.

While in the far east she specialized in outdoor painting and etching, and in 1924 was commissioned by the French government to make etchings in some of the country's possessions in Indo-China. She was in great demand because of her lectures on conditions in the far east and some sections of Europe, where she had traveled and had gathered considerable data of great interest.

Donald L. Snow, 38 Main street, and Florence B. Dominique, 38 Main street, and Wilfred F. Himmer, River road, and Ivy Sharp, 20 Caswell avenue, Methuen.

Charles G. Pratt, 91 Broad street, Bridge-water, and Ella M. Larkin, 6 Chapman avenue.

Siftings

If it hadn't been for 1932, President Hoover might have been dedicating Hoover dam this week instead of President Roosevelt's dedicating Boulder dam.

If they can find a man that can lead an elephant and tame a donkey the Republicans might win next year.

That new spark of life which took Andover out of its summer time sleepiness last Monday was just the academy students returning.

The horseshoe championship of Andover has been changing hands every week for the past few months. Anything played with weapons like that is bound to be a game of luck.

CLAN AUXILIARY PLANS ANNIVERSARY
The Clan auxiliary will observe its anniversary at the next meeting, October 17, according to plans made at the meeting last night. A Halloween party was planned for November 7, with the Haverhill and Malden auxiliaries as invited guests.

Mrs. Elizabeth Moore was installed as pianist last night. A penny beano party was held after the meeting.

Real Estate Transfer
The Broadway Savings Bank has sold the 16-acre gravel pit near Foster's pond to Louis C. Cyr. The sale was made through the Fred E. Cheever agency.

How Our Readers Feel

The Andover Civic Artist Course
In times now long past, Andover people looked forward with anticipation to a series of evenings each winter which afforded pleasant entertainment in our own town hall.

The effort, which is now being made, to again inaugurate such a course, merits the cordial cooperation of all our townspeople who are concerned in personal or community pleasure.

The speakers listed are of outstanding importance, and the music of unquestioned quality. With success in this year's undertaking, such a course would be assured for next year, when the auditorium, now being built, would afford ample and better accommodation for a large audience.

Thus far a friendly interest has been shown in the undertaking and, with tickets at such a nominal price, can we not support this venture by filling our town hall?

Academy Sends Student to Germany in Exchange

Murray Bisbee Peppard of 15 Concord street, Acton, has been named an exchange student to Germany by Phillips academy, with Alfred Thies coming here to Andover. Peppard graduated last June, at that time planning to enter Amherst. He was a member of the orchestra, glauc club and soccer squad. While at Andover Peppard won the James Greenleaf Fuller memorial scholarship, the Stevenson prize for excellence in German composition and the Dove prize in Latin. He is the second academy graduate to be sent abroad by the academy in exchange with a student of another country. Frederick W. Griffin of Manchester, N. H., is to attend Wellington school in England, with Peter Stericker coming here.

Abbot Academy Notes

The annual fall meeting of the Trustees of Abbot Academy will be held on Friday evening at the Women's City Club in Boston, where dinner will be served. Mr. E. Barton Chapin, President of the Board, will preside at the meeting. The Gargyle and Griffin Clubs will hold their initiations on Saturday evening of this week. Miss Harriett Cole is the president of the Gargyle Club and Miss Martha Elizabeth Ransom of the Griffin Club. It will be of interest to many people in Andover to know that Miss Elizabeth M. Chadbourn, Abbot 1878, and a former teacher at the Academy, will speak at the Vesper service on Sunday evening. Her subject will be "Abbot Academy Fifty Years Ago."

Shawshen Women to Open Season

The Shawshen Village Woman's club will open its season Monday evening in Balmoral hall. Mrs. Albert N. Wade will preside, this being her second term as president. Mrs. William W. Kurth will resume her duties as secretary. The newly elected officers are Mrs. James R. Baldwin, treasurer and Mrs. James L. Dean, corresponding secretary. The program will be in charge of Mrs. John M. Lynch. Music will be furnished by the Old Saxony Trio consisting of Mrs. Frederick C. Smith, piano; Mrs. Ethel M. Watson, violin, and Mrs. Hazel H. Foster, cello. Ethel Doane will give her interesting and instructive lecture on Gem Stones. The refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. Frank B. Bartlett and her committee. The Shawshen club will be represented on state committees by Mrs. William W. Kurth, American Home; Mrs. Frederick C. Smith, Music; and Mrs. Clinton H. Stevens, Press and Publicity.

Stowe School Notes

Football Notes The football game has been practicing under the guidance of Mr. Sherman and Mr. Cole. The team, though light, is looking ahead to a successful year. It can develop speed. The team has practiced eight major plays, and has progressed to the extent that Mr. Cole and Mr. Sherman felt justified in scheduling a game with Essex county training school yesterday. This was the first game of the season. The line-up was as follows: Duke, Cole; Nunez, Lt.; G. Brown, lg.; Stuck, c.; Campbell, r.g.; Greenfield, r.t.; Joy, r.e.; Muller, q.b.; Forbes, f.b.; White, l.h.b.; Skea, r.h.b. As yet a captain has not been elected.

Fire Drill

This week the pupils have been practicing fire drills at Stowe. Mr. Sherman reports the time taken to empty the building as being about one minute.

Emily Ruth Poynter

Library Club The library club announces the opening of the library next week. Starting Monday the pupils of Stowe are free to take out books. On Monday, Anne Hathaway and Elinor Houston will have charge of the library. On Tuesday, Gordon Grant and John Nunez will be in charge. On Wednesday, Thomas Davies and Thomas Dea will be in charge. The club has not yet elected officers, but the members are busy preparing a dramatization to be presented over station WMEK on October 22. This broadcast is to be sponsored by the Junior Literary Guild of America.

George Nicoll

Club News The girls' sports club met Wednesday for the first time this year under the supervision of Miss Gates. They took a picnic lunch and went to the bird sanctuary. They discussed the affairs of the club and what they were to do this year. Everyone reported having had a very good time.

D. Boynton

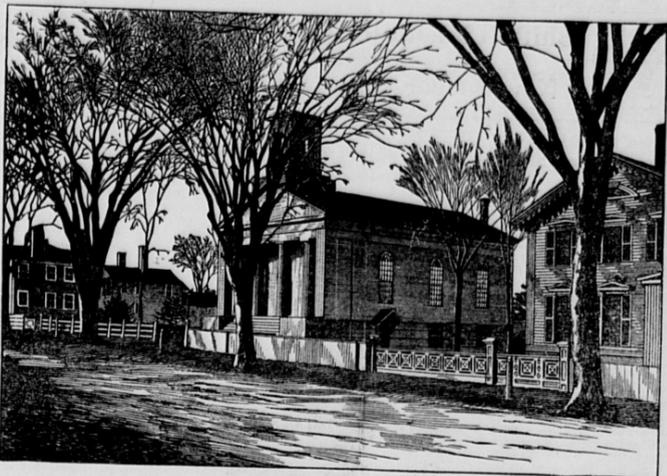

Traffic Squad The traffic squad started its good work Monday, September 23, after a formal opening on Friday, September 20, at which time they received their pins. There has been a noticeable change in the lines since the squad was installed. The whole school seems to be eager to cooperate.

Bruce Root

Nests Presented A collection of birds' nests and eggs has been presented to the Nature club of Stowe school by Mr. George Bourne of Summer street. The collection is contained in a cabinet, also gift from Mr. Bourne. He has made a hobby of collecting these specimens and his gift is greatly appreciated by the students and faculty of Stowe.

Christ Church As It Used to Be

THE FIRST CHRIST CHURCH 1837-86

Local Church Marks Centenary Tomorrow

Mrs. Arthur T. Boutwell, Mrs. Joseph A. Rand, Mrs. Walter E. Howe, Miss Alice Jenkins, honorary, Mrs. James R. Fuller, Mrs. T. Dennis Thomson, the Misses Elizabeth F. and Kate A. Swift, Mrs. Barnett Rogers.

The Rt. Rev. Dr. Lawrence is taking the place of Rt. Rev. Benjamin M. Washburn, D.D., bishop of Newark, who has been obliged to cancel his engagements because of illness.

In addition to the articles already published which are in the historical exhibition at the Guild room arranged by Miss Alice Jenkins, there will be a valuable oil painting of the first rector, the Rev. Samuel Fuller, D.D., painted by a well-known Boston and Capri artist and loaned by Mrs. James Robert Fuller.

In the campaign for the Centennial Maintenance Fund the new lighting system of the church is to be given entire as a memorial to Miss Mary Johnson of Reading, Pa. Gifts of six altar service candles are to come from Gorham's, N. Y., it is hoped, in time for the Centennial, two given as a memorial to her parents from Mrs. Harold Abbott, another by the Young People's Fellowship for their 10th anniversary gift.

After the 4 o'clock service of music, to which all former choir boys of Christ church are invited, there will be refreshments for the singers and for the "choir boys" present, in the parish house, as they gather for recollections, with the painting of Mr. Bachelder, the inspiring choir leader of former days, as a force of central attraction and memory. People of Andover in general will welcome and the British War Veterans of which the rector of Christ church is honorary chaplain, will attend in uniform.

Legion to Hold Outing on Sunday

The annual Legion outing is to be held from ten to dark Sunday at Cedar Crest, the farm of Edward A. Doyle on Vine street just off the by-pass. A chicken casserole dinner is to be served about three.

There will be the usual married men vs. single men baseball game and the usual novelty races. In addition there will be an exhibition horseshoe contest between a Legion team and one of the champion teams of Andover.

Transportation to the grounds can be arranged by calling at the Legion rooms before Sunday.

LIBRARY CIRCULATION

The number of books issued for home use at the Memorial Hall library during September, was 5569. At Ballardvale, 542 were borrowed, making a total circulation of 6111 books.

Christ Church Notes

Mrs. Reed of California, daughter of the late Mrs. Hannah Flint, long time member of Christ church, has given a door plate for the rectory, marked "Marland Rectory." The building and land were given by the parish by Abraham Marland, organizer of Christ church.

Bishop Lawrence is to be the preacher at the 10.45 service on Sunday. Rev. H. deW. de Mauriac of New York, grandson of the first rector, will be the celebrant at the 8 o'clock service.

G. Homer Judge has made and given an attractive bench for the children's corner, which completes that set of furnishings in the church.

The Girls' Friendly society will open their season Monday evening with a quarterly supper at 6.30.

TWINS OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

Eighteen years of life came to a close last Saturday afternoon when David and Daisy MacCord, twin children of Mr. and Mrs. James N. MacCord of North Main street, were tendered a party in honor of their ninth birthday.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nelson Townsend and Mrs. MacCord. Games were enjoyed by the children. The winners were Ruth Sutcliffe, William Eldred and Jean MacCord. At the close of the party each child was given a basket of sweets to take home.

Those present: Ruth Sutcliffe, William Dowus, Ruth Campbell, Jean MacCord, Duncan Cairnie, Hugh Eldred, William Eldred, Richard Eldred, Florence Eldred, David MacCord, Daisy MacCord, Margaret MacCord, Mrs. Nelson Townsend and Mrs. James N. MacCord.

C. E. DEBATE

The Free church C. E. boys represented the Italians and the girls the Ethiopians in a Mussolini-Halle Selassie debate Sunday evening.

Ruth Hartmann will lead next week's meeting.

Driver Appeals Fine

Fred Harrington of Bellevue road was fined $50 in district court Monday morning when he was adjudged guilty of operating to endanger. He appealed.

The Lights of Andover

The shining lights of Andover! At even-time they dawn, And hither to us, across the miles, As evening shades are drawn.

These evening rays prosaic, ah! To brighten square and street; And then, romantic, cross the hills My waiting eyes to meet.

The lights—the lights of Andover! Your friendly beams I prize; When sinks the sun, and twilight comes—As evening stars, you rise.

These lamps from neighboring village height So glimmering through the trees—They bring me—through the darkening night—Their friendly messages.

The lights—the lights of Andover! On classic shades, they shine—Where Phillips lifts its stately towers, And Abbot's path incline.

These lamps make student pathways bright—Beneath their welcome gleams Fair maids and rugged youths have come For studies—sports—and dreams!

A stately town—stands Andover! Her lights glid classic domes—Staid churches—of the olden faith—And fair New England homes.

The evening lamps of Andover! Yours is a message, clear, That we may brighten hilltops, far, While lighting pathways, near!

My shining lights of Andover! With mystic voice, you say—"Have courage, faith, and you will find Light all along life's way!"

"And when—beyond earth's sunset time, Her lights glid classic domes—E'en fairer lamp than Andover's Shall light the ways of Heaven!" EDWARD F. DICKINSON, Haverhill, Mass.

Former Local Resident in One-Man Art Exhibit

Mrs. James E. Leach of Brookline who identified herself with Andover during the five years she was a householder here while her two daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Catherine Leach, attended Abbot academy has been giving a one-man show of oil painting at the Copley Society, Commonwealth avenue, Boston, according to one of the Boston Art critics, "Portraits comprise the greater part of the display, although a group of small landscapes are added by way of variety."

"Profiles of the artist's two daughters painted in their babyhood are charming studies of the loveliness of childhood. A portrait of Thomas Sargent Perry was painted, the artist tells us, in the studio of his wife, the late Boston painter, Lilla Cabot Perry. I painted for a year in her studio and at one time Mr. Perry kindly consented to sit for us both," Mrs. Leach told the writer.

"But he was so jolly and so full of good stories that made us laugh we sometimes had to beg him not to tell any more so that we might concentrate on our work." A picturesque old Italian woman wearing a bright red kerchief organ she played, an excellent character study, occupies the centre of the display.

"Brother Sebastian," the monk with silky white curls and a portrait of the Rev. Rufus Ellis, a famous divine of Boston are other of interest.

"A color reproduction of a portrait of Mrs. Thomas Irving Crowell, formerly of Boston, is excellent suggesting that the original painting must be of the lasting undated style not always achieved in portraiture. It is a sensitive and appealing characterization."

"The Sketch Box, as Mrs. Leach calls her small canvases include some pleasant glimpses of Edgartown and vicinity notably 'Memoria's Bright' and several alluring garden bits. Also there are records of travel overseas—a small canal in Venice spanned by the Head of Moses bridge; an inviting courtyard in Perugia; gray, mysterious towers of Carcassonne and a corner of the cloister of San Marco, Florence with a fine oil well-head."

MEMORIAL EXHIBIT BY JOHN MEAGHER COMPANY

The Memorial Exhibit of the John Meagher company Memorial Manufacturers of Peabody, is this week attracting many visitors for a variety of choice memorials made of Smith's genuine Westerly, Rhode Island granite have been completed and these are being sold for erection before cold weather sets in. At no time during the entire year is their display so attractive and complete as at the present time, when every conceivable type of memorial is displayed. It offers many interesting specimens of Memorial Art.

The Meagher company have a reputation for quality memorials at reasonable prices. They have devoted nearly a half century to the memorial manufacturing industry and many fine specimens of their work appear in the local cemeteries.

A visit there will prove the many exceptional values that are being offered for erection before cold weather sets in, and for the convenience of its patrons the exhibit will remain open for inspection all day Sunday.

Shifts Line-up for Game at Danvers
New Soccer Club to Play Sunday

Noyes Goes to Fullback Thompson to Call Signals

Punchard high meets Horton high at Danvers tomorrow, both teams having won one and lost one. Coach Gene Lovely is making quite a shift in his starting line-up, while Coach Vye plans to start the same team that started against Johnson last Saturday.

Noyes is being shifted from end to fullback to put a little more weight in the backfield, and Thompson is to call signals in place of Haggerty, who is being benched along with Dushame and Wilson at guard. Sanders is aging Dushame's place.

In the line Platt has been moved over from tackle to guard, Brown is taking Noyes' place at end, and West has earned a starting position at tackle.

Lynch, the fullback who made a good showing against Howe in the opener, has turned in his uniform. The team manager requested this after the player had refused to obey orders in practice.

Coach Vye has five veterans on his team: Papermichael and Piccolo at ends, Millay at tackle, Wilkins at full, and King at center. Lang at left half scored two touchdowns against Johnson, and O'Sullivan scoring the other. No injuries had developed up to yesterday.

Schermers Temporary Horseshoe Champs

The horseshoe championship of Andover, which has changed hands more often than the world's wrestling title oscillated in the days before the Irish invasion, finally found a more or less permanent resting-place last Sunday at the camp of the Schermers. This is subject to change without notice.

A week ago tonight the Marlands obtained a hold on the title, but the hold didn't hold longer than two days. Friday night they had defeated the Schermers 4-1, the Pickles 4-0 and 3-2; Catherine B 4-2, and the Lynchs 4-0 and 4-1.

But Sunday the fortunes of war had changed. Up at the Sportsman's club meet, the Schermers, the Lynchs and the Marlands started tossing them around, and when the dust had cleared the scores stood: Schermers 12, Lynchs 5, and Marlands 4.

Next week we may be saying that the Lynchs, Marlands, Catherine B's, Fallons or Fredricksons are champs, because there's another meet Sunday up at Schermers'.

Stowe Drops Game

The Stowe football team dropped a 24-0 decision to the Essex County Training school yesterday afternoon before a good crowd.

The training school team was heavier and better in every way, having already played several games. The local team seemed staggered at the outset, but after the visitors had scored four straight touchdowns one after the other, the junior high boys tightened up and were very much in the game after that. John Skes was outstanding on the offense and John Nunez on the defense.

TOWN TEAM PLAYS SUNDAY

The Andover Town Team will play the Carter club in North Andover at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. The team has played only one game so far, lying 6-6 with the Shamrocks.

Sports Comment

Protoges of the Great
Ted Avery and Johnnie Prior should make lots of touchdowns for the Phillips academy football team this year. Not in person, of course: Ted's still on the athletic staff down at New Haven and Johnnie has just secured a new job on the staff at Rundlet Junior high in Concord, N. H., but the two of them, evidently thinking a lot of their prep school alma mater did some ballyhooping for the school that helped a lot to bring two very promising players to Andover this year.

John lives down in Medford, and Medford high last year boasted sacking Ted, and in the person of Torbert MacDonald of Malden. Johnnie also knew the MacDonald family very well, and when the question came up as to just where Torb should go next year, the old P. A. athlete did his best to convince the young man that there was really only one place—Andover. His best worked, and Torb is up here now battling for a place on Sheep's eleven. He is a brother-in-law of Joe Bate-man, Lawrence school committeeman and an athlete in his own right.

Meanwhile Ted of Three Forks, Mont., was busy ballyhooping for Phillips with a young man named Frank Thompson, who was doing all sorts of things in an athletic way out at Peabody Demonstration school in Sheridan, Wyo. The young man, respecting Ted as any young man would, succumbed, and now he's up on the Hill hoping that he can do fifty percent of the things Ted used to do fifty percent as well as Ted did—and that would make him some athlete.

Proud Poppas

It's not the players—it's not the alumni that Coach Eugene V. Lovely and all other high school mentors, we suppose, have to grapple with. It's the parent, who usually thinks his son knows more football than Knute Rockne did, and who very unfortunately doesn't know enough to mind his own business.

The embryonic Red Granges, like the king, can do no wrong—while the coach—well, he just can't do any right. If the coach says something to Junior, it's just too bad for the coach, because daddy's son begins to wiggle around, and the words that come out are not of the nicest.

A football team, even in practice, has to have discipline if the eleven is going anywhere. The coach is appointed to teach the young men football, and he's the one who has to exercise the discipline. And daddy has enough to do teaching his sons other worthwhile things without butting into something which he knows nothing about—or if he knows anything, it's only what his son told him the coach told him.

Over One Hundred Boys Can Be Accommodated at Larger Isham Infirmary

Phillips academy's students will keep well this year, at least if hospital facilities count for anything, for with the recently completed large addition to the Isham infirmary, the academy has, in Dr. Claude M. Fuess' words, "as fine a school or college hospital as can be found in the United States." The infirmary is now large enough to take care of all the cases that can possibly be expected at the academy. Over a hundred boys can be accommodated.

A new wing of two stories extends south from the original building. In the basement of the addition are the kitchen, an emergency operating room, a laboratory and an X-ray room. On the first floor are dining room for nurses, a kitchenette, eight bedrooms and sun parlor.

The bedrooms contain two beds, and may in case of epidemic, hold three, with the sun porch holding six. A bath, toilet and lavatory is located between each two rooms.

The original building has been changed to provide quarters for the nurses, a contagious ward and a convalescent ward.

To Meet Methuen Team Sunday at Playstead

The former Andover Soccer club was re-organized at a meeting held Monday evening in the lower town hall. The team has been entered in the Merrimack Valley League and the first game will be staged at the Andover Playstead Sunday afternoon against Methuen.

A check has been made and the majority of last year's players will comprise the team with additional young blood which the management expects will advance the game.

The following officials were elected: George Fyfe, president; David Milne, secretary-treasurer; George Craig, James Grant, James Thompson, selecting committee; Edward Downs, David Milne, subscription committee.

A whist party will be held to replenish the treasury of the club on Wednesday evening, October 9, at the home of Hugh McLay on High street.

The next meeting has been called for Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the Andover Playstead and all interested in soccer are urged to be attend.

TOWN TEAM TIES 6-6

The Andover town team was held to a 6-6 tie when it opened its season against the Galvin-Shamrocks of Lawrence at the playstead last Sunday. A blocked punt recovered behind the goal line was responsible for the local touchdown in the first period, and the Shamrocks scored on a pass in the last quarter.

THIMBLE BOWLERS TO START

The Thimble club will start its bowling league Tuesday at the Shawsheen alleys at 2 o'clock. Any members wishing to bowl should communicate with either Mrs. Henry Todd or Mrs. Benjamin Babb.

Routine business was transacted at the meeting yesterday.

Golfers End Season with Annual Dinner

The annual golfers' dinner and entertainment was held at the Andover Country club last Saturday evening, with prizes for the year's tournament being awarded by Arthur E. Redfern, chairman of the golf committee, assisted by John Shimkinis, club pro.

Before the prizes were awarded, Mr. Redfern introduced James H. Eaton, the club champion, who stated that the competition this year was the best ever.

Mr. Redfern won the prize for the first net among prize-winners last Saturday, and he also won the ringer tournament which extended from April 19 to September 21. William V. Higgins took four prizes, the tournaments on April 19, July 4th, Labor Day and September 14th.

Clarence S. Waugh won the Knowlton Trophy, defeating Harold Abbott.

H. G. Francke won the prize for best selected 12 last Saturday and Harold Abbott won the prize for best selected nine.

In the tourney for non-prize winners R. Quigley won first net, C. H. Ferguson selected 12, and W. E. Titus selected nine.

Local Offense Fails to Gain Against Storey

Punchard high gave a woeful exhibition last Monday when an underrated Storey high team from Manchester administered a 6-0 defeat to the local team at the playstead. The local team never found itself, and it was only through the breaks that the score was not bigger. Not once was Punchard within sight of the opposing team's goal line.

The Storey touchdown was made in the third quarter, after Hannon had galloped 31 yards to Punchard's 46 after receiving a Hackney punt. The entire Storey backfield then began to click, with Hannon's 14-yard gain finally bringing the ball to the 20-yard line. Then Hannon tossed a brilliant forward to Kesloski to put the ball on the five-yard line, and after a few small gains a Hannon to Lees forward counted for a touchdown.

Choir Outstanding in Boxford Festival

The Andover Male Choir participated in the second annual fall festival sponsored by the Boxford Oratorio society given in the natural amphitheater of the Kelsey-Highlands Nursery, East Boxford, last Sunday afternoon.

In a varied program, in which five musical units participated, the work of the Male Choir was outstanding. The members of this group through long and uninterrupted association have attained a proficiency in choral singing that results in an ensemble either a cappella or with accompaniment, notable for its unity and artistry. J. Everett Collins conducted and Miss Marion Abbott was the accompanist.

Other groups participating were the Danvers Naborhood orchestra, the Junior Choir of the First Church of Christ, Bradford, the Haverhill E.R.A. orchestra and the Festival chorus under the baton of Horace Killam of Porter road.
