Vanishing Goal Posts

Personally we wouldn't go two feet to get even the Rose Bowl football goal posts if they were handed to us on a silver platter—though we might take the platter. But we're not yet so old and creaky that we feel that today's youngsters should not indulge in what is fast becoming a great American custom—tearing down the goal posts. It wasn't awfully good publicity that appeared in the Boston papers Tuesday under the heading, with variations, "Riot Follows Punched Victory." Andover doesn't want riots at her football games, but there's really no reason for a goal post riot. Methuen's special police officers, overworked with their authority as special officers often are, were more or less responsible for the trouble. The day isn't far distant when the police and everyone else will recognize that the goal posts are the spoils, which go to the rosters whose team won. So just day tearing down the goal posts may be just as firmly established an American tradition as kissing your vicarious tennis rival on both cheeks is in France, and riot or no riot, we prefer the former.

A Summer Street Salesman

Did that very earnest, ambitious young man come around to you Wednesday? He was selling magazines—the "I need only a few more votes to send me to Oskawawee university" type—but he was so earnest, so young, and so pleasant that it would take a good deal of sales resistance to prevent yourself from subscribing to some magazines that you didn't want. He came to us, and we listened to his story. We hesitated, and being a good salesman he kept the conversation going and fired what he probably thought would be the winning shot. "Don't you want to help a local boy get an education?"

Well, you know how any newspaper is about local products. We immediately became interested and so we asked him his name, but the name was unfamiliar. So we

News of Other Days What You and Your Neighbors Were Doing in Days Gone By

Twenty-five Years Ago

A reproduction of the Harvard-Yale game will be given on Saturday afternoon in the town hall, under the auspices of the P. A. Swimming Pool committee. Arrangements have been made for a direct wire from New Haven on the day of the game.

At the regular meeting of the Andover Natural History society on Tuesday evening, L. D. Sherman gave a very interesting talk on "Flashlighting Deer." Resolutions were adopted in memory of the late William G. Goldsmith.

The November club held its first meeting of the year Monday, with the entertainment being provided by 22 members who were born in Andover.

Andover's population in the 1910 census was 7,301 as against 6,813 in 1900.

The annual A. V. I. S. report urges the construction of a bandstand in Elm square. A Townsman editorial questions the advisability of such a move. George T. Eaton was named president of the society.

Miss Catherine Gorman and Thomas Longene, both of this town, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at St. Augustine's church.

Ten Years Ago

Mrs. Joseph Fallon, who was at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, Brookline, for the past two weeks, is at her home on Main street.

The Stowe school football team defeated the Centre grammar school of North Andover on the playstead Wednesday afternoon by the score of 30-0. Arthur Jackson starred for the winners.

The blinker which appeared at the corner of Main and Chestnut streets for an hour on Saturday night was only a "drummer's sample" set up on approval. It is probable that a new light of some sort will be installed before long.

Jemima Walker was installed as president of the Alpha Phi Chi sorority of the Free church Tuesday night.

November 6, 1925, to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Waugh of 1 William street.

Victory went to Punched high by a score of 20 to 6 in its 18th annual clash with Exeter Saturday. Gordon Counts was outstanding.

It was announced this week that the executive departments, and the treasurer's, wool, traffic and purchasing departments of the American Woolen company would move back to Boston early in the year.

Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton this week sold the first property taken over by the town for non-payment of taxes and not redeemed by the owner within two years. This is the only one of the dozen parcels taken over for non-payment of taxes two years ago that has not been returned to the owner. Two of those parcels have been redeemed in part while the others have all been redeemed in full. This is an excellent record for a town in these days when so many communities are burdened with property that they have had to take over permanently.

George Cairns, Jr., of Corbett street was the purchaser of the property, a lot of about 8,000 square feet of land with one building and a cellar, on Topping road. It was formerly the property of Marcus C. Richards, and five years' taxes were owed on it. The treasurer sold it at a price calculated to give the town all its tax money, interest and other costs.

The ordinary procedure when taxes are not paid is for the town to sell the property at a duly-advertised tax sale, and if not sold to take it over on a tax title. The owner has two years in which to redeem it by paying the tax, interest and other costs, and if at the end of that time the property has not been redeemed, the town treasurer forecloses through the land court. On small parcels however the treasurer may sell the property at an auction. Only four parcels remain on the town's hands at present and these are not yet near the two-year expiration mark. They will run out at different times.

Rush Goal Posts at Methuen Game

Lester Hilton, 20, of North Main street was taken into custody by Methuen police Monday afternoon during the mix-up which occurred in the struggle for the goalposts following Punched's 19-0 victory over Methuen high. He was released at the station some time later, the local selectmen having intervened in his behalf. A group of about 100 Punched supporters waited around the station until his release.

Hilton was alleged to have tripped a Methuen special officer. He is then reported to have run, and was tackled by another officer.

Immediately after the game a group of Punched supporters, mostly recent alumni and including very few students, rushed for the goalposts and before any effort to halt them had been made the goalpost had come down. At the other end of the field however the rosters met resistance from the special policemen and other Methuen supporters.

At night a truck went over from Andover and brought back the goalposts. They were placed in front of the town hall and the high school, with self-elected speakers addressing the crowd.

Legion Conducts Cemetery Services

The annual Armistice day services were held by the local Legion post Monday at the Legion lot in Spring Grove cemetery, with Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., pastor of St. Augustine's church as the speaker. Rev. Charles W. Henry, rector of Christ church, read the prayer and gave benediction. Col. V. M. FitzHugh spoke briefly and placed a wreath on the lot in behalf of the British War Veterans and Frederick E. Cheever, Legion chaplain, placed a wreath on the lot for the Legion.

Eleven bombs were set off in the distance, and the salute was fired by the Legion firing squad under the direction of Lieut. Frederick R. Hulme. Taps were sounded by the Legion bugle and drum corps.

Father Austin urged his audience to "dwell together with the charity and peace of Christ in our hearts and our country will continue as the 'Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave'." He mentioned that Catholics, Protestants, Negroes and Jews served in a common cause during the war, giving their lives without prejudice. He closed by urging a greater unity among the living today in a common struggle for peace.

British Veterans in Church Service

The British Empire War Veterans association held their annual Armistice memorial service at Christ church Sunday afternoon. The group paraded to the church from the town hall and later returned to the hall for refreshments.

Rev. A. V. Bennett of Fitzburg was the speaker. Selectman J. Everett Collins sang. Among the guests was Acting British Consul General Bray Rundal. Representatives were present from the British Naval and Military Veterans of Boston, the American Legion of Andover, the French-American Legion of Lawrence, and Marine corps of Lawrence and their auxiliaries.

Declares Ethiopia Hard to Penetrate

The best policy for the Italian army to follow, according to Captain Leonard Best who spoke last Friday evening at Phillips academy, is to fortify the boundaries of Ethiopia and starve the country out. Captain Best declared that it is almost impossible to penetrate the country because of the difficult terrain, and aerial bombing can accomplish little since the towns are so insignificant. The English captain described the events leading up to the present crisis, the topography of Ethiopia and the people of the invaded country.

LEGION AUXILIARY WHIST
The local Legion auxiliary will hold a whist party next Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Annie P. Davis, 4 Harding street.

JUNIOR WOMEN'S GUILD NOTE
The next meeting of the Junior Women's Guild will be held in Christ church parish house on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Local Library to Mark Book Week

Book Week will be observed during the week of November 17-23 at the junior room of the Memorial hall library. The National theme for this year is: "Reading for Fun." The celebration in the Junior room will consist of Book Circus. There will be a story hour on Saturday morning for those who have earned tickets during the week. A ballot book will be in evidence for young people may vote for their favorite book. The results will be posted each day. The usual display of new books, with descriptive notes, will be arranged in the Senior library. This will be a good opportunity to plan Christmas book gifts. The schools are cooperating with the library by offering programs in the form of plays and compositions on favorite books and characters. Miss Olliff's classes have been making posters, and these will be on display in the Junior room at a later date.

A Book Week committee has been appointed at the Ballardvale branch library. The following young people are serving on this committee: Beatrice Greenwood, Christine Laurie, Isabelle Mills, and Virginia Lowry.

The newly organized Louisa M. Alcott club composed of eight girls from Ballardvale is also planning a suitable program. It is hoped that parents will take this opportunity to see the work of these young people. Adults are cordially invited to share the Book Week activities.

NOVEMBER CLUB TO MEET

The Dramatic department will have charge of the program at the second regular meeting of the November club on Monday afternoon. Two one-act plays, "For Distinguished Service" by Florence Clay Knox and "Heard in Camera" by Essex Dame will be given by a group of well known amateur actresses.

Report Increased Registrations for Evening Courses

Registrations received during the past week for the Evening Study Groups to be held at Phillips academy during the winter months show a marked increase over the number received during the same period last year. It seems clear that many of the people of Andover who for one reason or another delayed in sending in their registrations last winter until enrollment in certain popular courses was closed are taking steps to avoid a like disappointment this year. Because of the nature of some of the courses to be offered and because of limited seating capacity in the rooms to be used, it will again be necessary to restrict somewhat the number admitted to certain courses. Five of them are definitely limited; they are as follows: Studio Art, to be given by Mr. Hayes on Wednesdays from 7.30 to 9.30, limited to 20; Effective Writing, by Mr. Basford, Tuesdays at 7.30, limited to 20; Effective Speaking, by Mr. Stott, Tuesdays at 7.30, limited to 20; Conversational German, by Mr. L. C. Newton, Tuesdays at 7.30, limited to 15; and Conversational French, by Mr. Hagenbuckle, Tuesdays at 7.30, limited to 15. Since a number of registrations in these courses have already been received, the directors of the program wish to take this opportunity to urge all who contemplate attending any of the groups mentioned above to register for them at their early convenience.

A small booklet describing all of the courses to be given this winter and containing full information regarding registration may be secured without charge in a number of stores and offices in Andover and surrounding communities, wherever a "Leisure Time" poster is displayed. Registrations may be left at the Memorial Hall library in Andover or at the Andover National bank, or mailed to the office of Dr. Willet L. Eccles, Phillips academy. Requests for booklets to be sent by mail, or questions concerning any phase of the program not answered in the booklet, should be addressed to the director, Alan R. Blackmer, 25 Highland road.

To Discuss Andover
Each week the Townsman will give a brief description of one or more of the courses offered. Of particular interest is a new course, a symposium on the Town of Andover, given by a number of prominent citizens. The aim of this experimental study group which is to

The income tax return will be $19,820.12, a sum of $13,837.15 already having been received. A reimbursement of $353.84 for state-owned land had already been received.

Grants $44,000 to Town for Roads in West Andover

Officials Feel W. P. A. Registration Limits Will Have to Be Let Down

Superintendent of the Board of Public Works Charles T. Gilliard was notified verbally yesterday afternoon and over the telephone this morning that the sum of $44,012 had been granted to Andover under the W. P. A. farm to market program. This money would be used on gravelling roads in the farming sections of the town, West Andover and out Salem street way, and the state engineer has a list of roads amounting to about 40 miles from which the selections will be made.

The town would have to provide a sum of $4,126 which would be used for the cost of the gravel, hiring machinery, dynamiting, small tools, etc. This would either be provided by a transfer from the reserve fund or by a special vote of the town.

The work would be done under the direction of the Board of Public Works, but the labor would be chosen from the W. P. A. ranks. Town officials were uncertain this morning as to whether or not there would be enough registered W. P. A. men in Andover to put on these jobs while the regular W. P. A. work, starting Monday, was going on. State engineer Jackson stated this morning that he might start in this work on a minute's notice, needing sixty men on three shifts of twenty each. Unless the W. P. A. lets down the registration bars to include idle men who have someone working in the family, there would not be enough local men to carry on the projects, local officials declared.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Published every Friday at the Press Building, Andover, Mass., by the Andover Press... ELMER J. GROVER, Managing Editor... Entered at Andover Postoffice as Second Class Matter

Take Andover Out of South Lawrence

When is something going to be done about putting Andover in a representative district in which it will be actually represented by someone who lives here? For several years now Andover has been controlled by South Lawrence just because of some political gerrymandering...

and that majority should be represented by a Republican and not a Democrat. We have many residents here who could easily occupy a prominent place in the state legislature...

The purpose of representative government is entirely thwarted when a group of officials arrange electoral districts in such a way that no matter whom the voters of a certain town prefer, he cannot possibly represent them.

Siftings

The W.P.A. has done what a special town meeting couldn't do: substitute Charlie Gilliland for Doc Daly.

The only difference is that Charlie can't choose the workers. Will they still probably "have to be downright Democrats to get anywhere?"

If the federal and state governments keep giving us money to build West Andover roads, what will we have to fight about at town meetings?

Did you notice how that Ethiopian war is dropping out of the top headlines? They've been murdering more people privately over here than Haile and Iti Duce have been doing officially over there.

Armistice day coming on Monday made us wonder if it mightn't be a good idea to have a holiday every Monday in which to recuperate from the week-end.

A morning headline reads: "Curley Will Resign as State Official." It might be a good idea to start at the very top.

Marriage Intentions

Joseph A. Gillooly, 2222 North 13th street, Philadelphia, and Mary C. Simmons, 37 Washington avenue, Andover.

Births

A public whist and beano party is to be held Monday evening in Square and Compass hall by the British War Veterans.

was an Armistice day poem, and her friends on reading it urged that she submit it to the Townsman.

We read it over, and finding no reason at all why people should kill poets like Mrs. Anderson, we're reprinting it here:

This is the scarlet poppy!
We have the same old story
That led but to the grave.
Our heroes sleep on Flanders fields.
They have not died in vain.

Improvement Soc'y in Annual Session

The annual meeting of the Andover Village Improvement society was held Tuesday evening at the home of Horace M. Poynter, 6 School street.

There comes a year in the life of a society as well as of an individual when one looks back upon nothing of a dramatic character. The routine work accomplished merely means that committees have done their duty faithfully.

This year a few pines on the Hussey plot had to be replaced. We lost one of the hemlocks planted at The Boulders last year. The cleaning up of Roger's Dell after the spring freshet showed less dumping than usual.

Through the settlement of the estate of Miss Florence A. Parker $1080.97 was sent to our treasurer. This was placed with other memorial funds, only the interest of which is available for our work.

For years the sidewalks of Main street have been both unsightly and dangerous. It is with deep appreciation that we watch the town making improvements there.

Table with columns: RECEIPTS, DISBURSEMENTS, INVESTED FUNDS, AMOUNT ON DEPOSIT IN SAVINGS BANKS. Total receipts: $1410.75. Total disbursements: $87.75. Total invested funds: $895.99. Total amount on deposit in savings banks: $8095.89.

The auditor's report follows: We have examined the foregoing statement of the receipts, disbursements, and invested funds of the Andover Village Improvement Society for the year ending November 1, 1935, as prepared by the treasurer, Helen Egan, and find the same correct.

cludes ancient pottery and jade from the early Mayan civilizations and a group of textiles from ancient Peru. This section of the Peabody Museum, Cambridge, and the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, shows the presence of an American culture which precedes by generations our own Indian and white civilizations.

Of more recent date is a gallery devoted to Peruvian silver of the 19th century, lent from the Cabot and Lyman collections in Boston. The silversmith's art was highly developed during the Inca Empire, and even after the Spanish conquest, the Indian tradition had an influence in Peruvian craftsmanship.

Of contemporary origin is a group of Mexican crafts selected from material circulated by the American Federation of Arts. Among these objects is an assortment of pottery and other ceramics, glass and silverware.

The exhibition also includes a group of lithographs lent by the Pan American Union and the Grace Home Galleries, Boston, which show the work of a number of Mexican young artists, still unknown in this country.

Upon discovery of a speech error the student detective will fill in a slip of paper and deposit it in one of the error boxes placed in the corridors. History and Geography Projects

During the past few weeks much interest has been shown in the geography and history projects and activities of expression developed in the social science classes.

Under the Rugg plan, now used throughout the school, facts from any and all of the studies of people are included whenever they are of help in explaining trends in civilization and culture. In explaining his plan Dr. Rugg has said that a social science course should assemble all the things the child needs to help him understand how to live in his world. We defeat this end if we split the problem into parts. We lose the study of relationships of one to another.

Though many subjects enter the course, the emphasis is laid on geography in grade seven and on American history in grade eight. In accordance with Dr. Rugg's recommendations for learning through "active response," pupils are encouraged to express in some original, creative way the facts learned, the ideas developed.

While studying the exploration and colonization of America, posters were made by Catherine Smart and Miss Russell of 8-B, cartoons by John Miller, and models of colonial homes by Donald Joy.

8-F pupils are at present busy collecting reference books and materials for their class model of colonial Plymouth.

The story of power from the beginning of history to the machine age has been interestingly illustrated by models made by Benjamin Dargonian, George Thompson, and Walter Gilman of 7-B2 and Charles Sawyer and George Carmichael of 7-A2. Drawings were made by LeRoy Devoe, Barbara Pullan, Charles Bryant, John Erving and Stafford Lindsay gave demonstrations of engines.

Experts Pick Exeter to Win Game Tomorrow

Early Season's Records Show Little Choice

Phillips academy, Andover, and Phillips Exeter academy will pit their football teams against each other at Exeter tomorrow, both in an endeavor to wipe out the memory of a mediocre preliminary season with a victory against their chief rival.

The Boston papers give Exeter the edge for the annual game, although most of them are careful to qualify it with some such statement as: "You never can tell who'll win in an Andover-Exeter game." The season's records prove but little. Taken on the strength of their performance against the Yale freshmen Exeter has a decided edge, since it defeated the Eli aggregation 7-6, while the following week Yale Fresh smothered the local team 18-0 in the opening game of the Andover season at New Haven. The late start of the academy team may have accounted in part for that slaughter.

However Coach Ray Shepard's eleven held the Harvard fresh team to a scoreless tie a week after it had taken Exeter into camp 6 to 0. The only other team which prep schools have played in New Hampshire and the Wildcat fresh went down before both teams by a six-point margin, Andover by 6-0 and Exeter by 13-7.

The Andover eleven, with a potential backfield as strong as any the local academy has had in years, has never seemed to get underway. The line is not too strong, and the interference has been woefully weak, with the interferences either getting in the way of the runners or not getting in the way of the opposing tacklers. There have been only two touchdowns scored all year, despite a backfield which boasts two Boston All-Scholastics, the son of the Brown university coach, a former Lawrence high school star and a couple of veterans from last year.

Ted Sharretts and Torb MacDonald have been doing the bulk of the ball-carrying, and they both have made several good runs but usually they have been running up the backs of the lead-shoed interference. MacDonald was hurt in the first game but he was back after a week's lay-off and on Monday he received a slight injury which kept him out only one day.

Chaney, who grabbed a pass from Len Viens last year to give Andover its winning touchdown, has been out since the Yale game, but he will be able to play Saturday, though probably not for very long. Murphy, Burnam, Poynter and Dempsey have all received injuries, but they will be ready for the game, Coach Shepard stated Wednesday evening.

Academy Soccer Team Defeats Exeter 2 to 0

Coach Jim Ryley of the Phillips academy soccer team brought another undefeated season to a close Wednesday when his 1935 team defeated Exeter 2 to 0. Fred Stott, a local boy who guarded the net for Andover, can now boast the proud record of not having been scored on once during the entire year. The local team blanked every team which faced it, with the following scores: Harvard fresh 1-0; Tufts fresh 4-0; Worcester 1-0; Taber 4-0; Dean 7-0 and Exeter 2-0.

At Exeter the Andover All-club team took a 5-1 defeat at the hands of the Exeter All-class team.

Robie scored the first goal in the varsity game in the third period on a pass from Mendel, and shortly after Eames counted on a pass from Robie.

The Andover line-up: Stott, Jones, g.; Washburn, Herrick, r.h.; Howard, Pool, l.b.; Roe, Browning, r.h.; Capt. Swihart, c.h.; Thornley, l.h.; Day, Arrasmith, Hammer, Rome, r.o.f.; Chakraband, Bradford, Karasick, r.l.f.; Eames, Heck, Scott, c.f.; Robie, R. Coursen, l.f.; Mendel, P. Coursen, l.o.f.

Score, Andover 2, Goals, Robie, Eames, Referee, Cairns. Linesmen, Sparks and Janney. Time, four 18-minute periods.

JIM RYLEY'S RECORD

When Jim Ryley's Phillips academy soccer team beat Exeter Wednesday to close an undefeated, untied and unscored-on season, it marked the end of Jim's 24th year of coaching here. He's had phenomenal success, especially in the last 12 years. Since Exeter took up soccer eight years ago, it has not won an Andover game.

ANDOVER SOCCER TEAM TO PLAY AT REVERE SUNDAY

The Andover Soccer team will meet the Corinthians of Revere Sunday at 2:30 p.m. on the Revere grounds in the first round of the State Cup Competition held under the auspices of the Northern Massachusetts and New Hampshire State Soccer Football association.

After the game the locals put up Sunday when they defeated the Methuen team by a score of 2-0, all indications point toward an easy victory Sunday at Revere. The Andover team has been greatly strengthened with the two new players signed last week, and should bring back the honors qualifying them for the second round.

Finish Two Streets in Johnson Acres

Mr. Cheever is building a model American home with air-conditioning on Cedar road. It will be open for public inspection when completed. The cellar has been dug.

Punchard Finds Methuen Easy

Punchard high won its eleventh straight Methuen game Monday by the score of 19 to 0 from a very much overrated, weak Methuen team. It was the first defeat of the season for Methuen, and the first defeat in two years on their home grounds. It was Punchard's fourth straight victory, giving the local eleven to date a record of five wins, two losses and one tie, in a season that has been marked by steady improvement after a ragged start. It now ranks among the ten leading Massachusetts teams in its class.

Punchard got away to an early lead, scoring two touchdowns and a point after in the first quarter. An 82-yard runback of a punt by Hackney produced the first score midway through the period. A few minutes later Jim Platt, playing his best game of the year, intercepted a Methuen pass on Methuen's 30 and carried 25 yards. On the second play Hackney shot a pass to Mal Lynch in the end zone, and Platt scored the extra point on a rush.

A march from the 40 to the Methuen five in the second period paved the way for the third touchdown. After losing fifteen yards on a penalty Hackney threw a pass to Sanders who went over standing up.

The Methuen team was never within scoring distance.

Giant's Causeway Made Up of Number of Columns

Giant's causeway is a group of basaltic rocks on the north coast of County Antrim, Ireland, eight miles, east northeast of Portrush. It consists of a vast number of columns, generally pentagonal or hexagonal. The causeway proper is a low promontory formed of closely-packed columns. Altogether there are about 40,000 pillars, fitting into each other almost perfectly, and joined horizontally.

Various more or less detached groups are known as the Giant's Loom, Giant's Organ, Lady's Fan and so on. East of the causeway proper is the Giant's Amphitheater, a small bay with cliffs 350 feet high, formed in its upper part of two tiers of basaltic columns from 60 to 80 feet in height. Beyond this is Spanish bay, the scene of the wreck of an armada vessel; and still farther east the promontory of Plaskin Head, 400 feet high, with double tiers of lofty columns separated by a band of ochre. The peculiar columnar structure of the causeway rocks is shown by geologists to result from the contraction in cooling of the lava of which they are composed.

The Giant's causeway derives its name from the legend which ascribes its construction to Finn McCoul or Fingal, who bridged the channel between Ireland and Scotland, in order that the giants might pass from Antrim to Staffa.

Chinese Speaker Addresses P. T. A.

The November meeting of the Shawsheen P. T. A. was held Wednesday in the school hall with the president, Stafford A. Lindsay, in the chair.

Dr. Tehyi Hsieh was the speaker and his subject was "Unseen Forces at Work in China."

Miss Anna Kuhn spoke in the interests of the Red Cross on "What the Red Cross does in Andover."

John K. Hill sang pleasingly a group of songs with Mrs. Frederick C. Smith at the piano. "The Star," by Rogers, "Pale Moon," by Logan and "A Brown Bird Singing," by Hayden-Wood.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses of the evening: Mrs. John Ashburn, Mrs. Benjamin Schubert, Mrs. Garfield Chase, Miss Kendall Smith, Mrs. Frank Poland, Mrs. Peter MacClellan, and Mrs. Charles Flanagan.

A pie social followed, causing much merriment and bringing in a little financial aid to the treasury.

It was through the efforts of Ralph W. Emerson that Dr. Tehyi Hsieh was secured as the speaker. Dr. Hsieh was most interesting and delightful to all who heard him. He spoke on the hope, fear, and faith of China and mentioned gratefully the grand and glorious band of missionaries from both Europe and America that have done so much for the uplift of China.

After Miss Kuhn's talk Mr. Emerson made a motion that the association be enrolled as a member of the local Red Cross and contribute the sum of $5.00, and it was so voted.

The Andover and Ballardvale groups were the guests of the Village association. The hostess committee included the fifth grade mothers. The room mothers were Mrs. John Ashburn and Mrs. James Dean. The meeting was most enjoyable and the attendance banner was won by grade five.

The December meeting will have as its speaker Dr. Claude M. Fuess, headmaster of Phillips academy. The club chorus of the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club will sing carols.
