Chats About You and Us
and the
Other Folks Here in Andover

SHEEP?—This one will probably be very easy for some of you who know anything at all about animals, more particularly about the species which gives us our overcoats and Sunday dinners. The problem is this: what would you say a lamb is after he is six weeks old?

And now you ornithologists: what would you say is the difference between a bird with one wing and a bird with two wings?

The answers you'll find at the bottom of this column, which will be going to wind up somewhere on page two.

LEO—Our right eye was just beginning to swell and turn a sickly color with which birth had not endowed it when we had our first personal contact with Leo. A young fifth grader in the old Richardson school had been experimenting with pinpoint contact fish, and since it was our flesh, and since there is a certain amount of pride in a fifth grader, our classmate and we were engaged in a battle in the side-yard when lunch time came. Leo was driving for J. H. Campion at the time, and he stepped in between us, telling us in no uncertain terms that we'd better get home. We wanted very much to continue the fight because we had a lovely shiner to avenge, but when we went home we had more to avenge than a shiner. Mothers, it seems, have a certain way of treating youngsters who come home in dire need of a beefsteak.

The last personal contact we had with Leo was last Friday noon when we went in to the Model Grocery to replenish the family larder. While there we told him of how we had just gone into a bad skid on Lawrence's icy roadway, with another Andover man turning completely around in the same spot a few minutes later.

Leo E. Allicon, Co-partner of Model Grocery, Killed as Truck Overtaken

Leo E. Allicon, 35, one of the town's most esteemed businessmen, was instantly killed about 10.30 Saturday night when the Ford delivery truck which he was operating turned over after striking a snowbank on Route 28 in North Reading, just over the Andover line. The tragic death of the well-known young man stunned hundreds of people who had come to know him and respect him in his two decades of grocery work.

Mrs. Allicon, riding with her husband on the occasion of their eleventh wedding anniversary, received a badly bruised arm and she was hysterical for some time after the accident. She paid the final tribute to the local barracks later that a machine had come toward them and forced them off the road into the snowbank. No trace of the other machine has been found; it did not stop when the truck overturned.

Mrs. Allicon's death was declared due to a fractured skull. He also had other injuries.

Born in Andover, Mr. Allicon attended Pynchard high school and St. John's Preparatory school. He worked for several years as a driver of a delivery wagon for J. H. Campion, and when the Campion store was sold out, he went to J. E. Greeley co. company, where he became head grocery clerk. In October, 1933, he opened the Model Grocery in partnership with Alfred R. Harris, and through his friendliness and pleasantness he drew many customers to the store.

FUNERAL SERVICES

Sunday evening, Monday and Tuesday hundreds came to the family home at 79 Pine street to pay the final tribute to Mr. Allicon, and on Wednesday morning when the funeral was held at St. Augustine's church, persons of all walks of life attended the service. Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., was the celebrant. Rev. Henry Smith, O.S.A., the deacon, and Rev. John B. Leonard, O.S.A., the sub-deacon, Edward Gill rendered solos.

The bearers were: Samuel Deyermund, Joseph Payne, George Markey, Edward Murphy, Phillips Higgins and Alfred R. Harris.

Brief committal services were conducted at the vault in St. Augustine's cemetery by Father Austin.

Mr. Allicon leaves besides his wife, four children: Robert, 9; Claire, 7; William, 3; and

Form Plans for Interchurch Rally

The annual women's all-day interchurch rally will be held at the South church on Thursday, March 19, beginning at 10.15 a.m. As usual, a discussion of various aspects of general church work by representatives of the churches of different denominations in Andover will be the basic feature of the program.

There will also be talks on community interests of Andover and vicinity, with some accounts of work for the sick and otherwise handicapped.

regard for the welfare of others will not stop with the consideration of home affairs, but will cross the borders of the state and country. Most people need to become world-minded. An introduction to such a vital movement as the Rural Reconstruction in a China province which was described last year by one of its sponsors, Mr. Shepard, is enough to make one aware of the almost un-surmountable difficulties which are being overcome by patriotic and unselfish citizens of other lands.

There will be the usual opportunity for social fellowship during the noon hour. Coffee will be served to go with the box luncheon. The committee extends a hearty invitation to attend, at all interested, and asks that the notice be widely spread.

The regular meeting of the Square and Compass club is to be held next Thursday evening.

Garden Club Plans Gentlemen's Night

Andover Garden club members are looking forward to another enjoyable Gentlemen's Night Tuesday at the home of the president, Mrs. Albert H. Chamberlain.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Bradford Williams, will have an appreciative audience for his illustrated lecture, "The Face of Our Land: Will America Preserve Her Shore and Country-side?"

A social hour will follow. Mrs. William T. Rich, Jr., will be chairman of the reception committee; Mrs. Charles W. Ward and Mrs. Archibald Freeman will preside at the coffee table. Mr. Williams will also have a chance to meet the men informally in the sport-room, where his work, which appeals so strongly to Andover property owners, can be discussed more freely.

Local P. T. A. to Discuss Movies

The March meeting of the Andover Parent-Teacher association will be held in the Stowe junior high hall on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Bernard Sabean, chairman of the Division of Motion Pictures of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, will speak on "Better Films." Mrs. Sabean is well-versed on her subject as this is her second year as State Federation chairman, and she has spoken before many men's clubs, church and civic organizations and women's clubs.

Mrs. Sabean will share her time with Adolph Bendish, an independent manager of the Wellesley Hills theatre, a man who is very earnest and sincere in his efforts to obtain the best for his community. He has recently returned from Washington and is very well informed on all legislation pertaining to moving pictures, particularly the Neely-Pettigill bill aimed at abolishing trade practices of block-booking and blind selling.

Mr. Samuel Resnick, our local exhibitor, will outline the situation as it exists in Andover.

How often should children attend the movies? What are the conditions in Andover? What are the possible effects of motion pictures on children? How can parents combine to decide on the times when children should attend the movies and the sort of pictures they should be allowed to see? Are the so-called movie magazines harmful? These are some of the problems confronting every community with regard to moving pictures which will be discussed, and possibly some definite program will be outlined which would help to meet our needs in Andover.

A cordial invitation to attend this meeting is extended to all organizations of Andover interested in this subject which is to benefit the young people of Andover. It is hoped that a representative from every church and club group may be present to hear the discussion and be ready to cooperate with Mr. Resnick when a definite plan is adopted.

Open Meeting to Discuss Warrant

All Andover voters, men and women, are urged to attend a meeting sponsored by the Andover League of Women Voters on Monday at 8.30 p.m., at the November club house on Locke street. The subject under discussion will be the town warrant. The speakers will include six men who will give reasons why some of the important and controversial articles in the warrant should be backed by the voters.

Arrangements have been made for election returns to be announced at the club house.

Miss Helen Chickering and Mrs. G. Morton Fuller are in charge of this meeting which is the final one in the School of Town Affairs. At its close, refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Henry Tyler.

The New York Times then wrote, "Each is a finished and thoroughly seasoned musician. The music has been thoroughly learned, digested, and interpreted beforehand and is served up to the audience with a freshness and spontaneity which is well worth the added effort that has gone into its preparation." And this is what Europe had to say: "Their Paris debut was a veritable revelation. Like the rest of the audience I was swept away by the ardor, the vehemence and the imagination of their interpretations."—Gustave Biret, the eminent music critic of Paris. At the Hague the critic wrote, "It was clear that this was a string quartet of the very first rank, even an exceptional ensemble among those of the whole world." In London they said, "The quartet consists of Rachmael Weinstock, first violin, Harris Danziger, second violin; Julius Schaler, viola, and Oliver Edzel, violoncello.

"Tickets for this concert are one dollar, and may be purchased at Davis Hall before the concert.

Mme. Koussevitsky Unable to Appear

The sponsors of the Andover Civic Artists' Course have had a cablegram from Madame Maria Koussevitsky who is in Warsaw, Poland, saying that the critical condition of her father, who is very ill, makes it impossible for her to be here for the concert on March 11.

In Mme. Koussevitsky's place will appear two artists who have an outstanding reputation. The first of these is Gladys Crockford, nationally famous harp virtuoso who will appear in Andover for the first time on this program. As well as furnishing outstanding solo groups she will play obbligatos for the vocalists. The duets which were to close the program were by Schumann and in their place will be a group of tenor and contralto duets sung by Edna Merritt, who proved so popular with the audience at an earlier concert and Andover's Howard Harrington, with Edwin Biltcliffe at the piano in solo and accompanist roles. ## Outcome Uncertain in Selectman's Race

Drift Seems to Be toward Dr. Daly, but Contest to Be Unusually Close—Town Clerk Race Interesting—Several Other Contests

Andover will go to the polls Monday to elect its annual slate of town officers, after a campaign marked by seeming inactivity and lack of interest on the surface but actually fermenting with the keenest of rivalry beneath the surface.

The most important office on the ballot, that of selectman and assessor, is again this year likely to offer the closest race. With only two candidates in the field, the present chairman, Dr. J. J. Daly and Roy L. Hardy, both of them well-known, the result is in doubt, although general opinion at present seems to indicate a swing to Dr. Daly in the past week. The election of either however would not be a surprise.

Old French Cloths Gives Lecture on

"Old French Textiles" was the subject of the lecture given at the November club on Monday afternoon by Miss Amy Pleadwell. The large collection of broads and block printed cottons which Miss Pleadwell used in illustrating her talk were very beautiful both as to design and color. Many of them are very old and represent the silk industry in France at its height during the reigns of Louis XV and XVI. The cottons are excellent examples of block printing done by hand, mostly dating from the 18th and early part of the 19th centuries.

The Art department will meet at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston on Tuesday, March 3, at 10.30 o'clock where the members will visit the department of wall hangings, embroideries and textiles. In the afternoon a visit will be made to the rug room of Avigdor on Newbury street where Mr. Avigdor will give a talk on Oriental rugs.

Cleveland Show at Local Gallery

Variety is the keynote of the exhibition of paintings by Cleveland Artists now being shown at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips academy, Andover. The paintings, which have been lent by the Cleveland Museum of Art, represent a wide diversity of technique and point of view. No treatments of the same subject, for example, could be more opposite than the flower arrangements of Elsa Shaw, Louise Maloney and H. Gregory Prusack. Miss Shaw's conventionalized flowers are attractive decoration, the "Turks" of Louise Maloney—delicate and literal interpretations, while Prusack's flowers form a two-dimensional pattern against a background, the dominant interest of which is the design.

SAVING MONEY WITHOUT HURTING ANY OF THE REALLY NEEDY MERITS RE-ELECTION FOR DR. DALY

A local voter remarked the other day: "I vote for the man in office unless I can be shown that he has done something wrong."

It has been claimed that Dr. Daly has shown favoritism to one of the grocers when parceling out relief orders. The truth however is that the doctor's policy has been to allow the relief recipient to secure his order from the store at which he traded in normal times, and there seems to be no fairer method of handling this matter.

Of course the majority of the complaints come from those who fail to see why with funds to employ 100 Dr. Daly didn't employ the 500 who wanted work. The absurd thing about this line of attack is that for the greater part of the E.R.A. period the jobs were not given out by Dr. Daly but rather by a social service worker, with frequent check-ups by inspectors from Boston.

Dr. Daly has had a harder task in the past three years than any town officer has had for decades. He has had to fill the position of welfare head, with no advance in salary, at a time when the welfare position was something that nobody else in town would have cared to handle.

He has handled the town's hardest job in a way that has brought credit to the town. Welfare officials in Boston, Salem, Lawrence, and many other places have admired the way that Dr. Daly has conducted the local welfare work, and it is up to us to manifest our appreciation for that record Monday.

The taxpayers of this town must vote to re-elect Dr. Daly because he has insisted that the town receive where possible a dollar's return for every dollar spent for welfare; the welfare recipients must vote for Dr. Daly because he took care of them when they needed it, without making them lose their self-respect; those who didn't receive welfare but who asked for it must vote for Dr. Daly because he told them outright just what the situation was rather than holding out to them a never-to-be-fulfilled promise of possible aid to come; the voters of this town must vote for Dr. Daly because he has done his utmost to save the town money where possible without inflicting hardship on anyone.

"Vote for the man in office unless he has done something wrong." That means Dr. J. J. Daly for selectman and assessor.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE ON DEFINITE PATTERN OF GROWTH IS AIM OF ZONING PLAN

The Planning Board members elected by the voters have tried to comply with their duties. Our purpose has been to draw up a Zoning By-Law acceptable to the property owners and citizens of the town.

The State Planning Board has been very active this past year and there are several bills before the legislature for consideration, all for one purpose—"To protect properties in our cities and towns and plan for proper development."

We are grateful to those who have offered suggestions and the proposed By-Law has been changed to meet every request of the citizen property owners. The changes on the Zoning By-Law of 1935 are as follows:

Article 8, Section IV has been taken out, eliminating question of farms, etc. in residential area. Addition of Agricultural Districts in new proposed by-law, worked out with the assistance of a committee from West Andover, has removed certain objections.

With reference to the situation in Shawshen Village, classifying area as "Residence," the matter has received every consideration and the property owners have expressed themselves very clearly at several meetings as regards their wishes and what they consider for the best interest of their homes.

What surprises us most about throwing silver dollars across rivers is not the distance of the throw but the fact that anybody has a silver dollar to throw.

Wonder who'll be having the hot time in the old town Monday night?

Governor Curley says that all those taxpayers that protested his budget last week were Republican pigmies. From the looks of his budget there are an awful lot of Democratic hogmees.

Japan must feel queer to be fighting with a change rather than with the rest of the world.

ON ELECTION To the Editor of the Townsman: May I request space in your columns for the following:

When candidates are seeking our votes for any public office we should be able to form fairly accurate opinions of those office holders who are seeking re-election by their conduct during the previous term or terms already to their credit. I hope the voters will not forget the very splendid record piled up by some of the candidates for whom we will have to vote next Monday.

The splendid buildings which are under construction on school campus and which will give Andover a school plant the equal of any in New England are largely due to the courageous and determined efforts of some of these candidates. These candidates have also served the town well in many other ways. We are sure of these candidates—past performance proves they have the best interests of the TOWN OF ANDOVER in mind at all times. It would be a fine thing if a grateful electorate would return them to the offices they seek. JANE L. ELLIOTT

(Continued from page 1) Leo said: "You go out in the morning, and you never know what's going to happen, do you?"

No, Leo, you never knew. We who thought so highly of you, and that includes all who knew you, find our only bit of consolation in that one fact: you never knew. We're all more sorry than we can tell—sorry because we liked you so much or sorry because, knowing how badly we feel, we realize how great must be the loss to those whom you had loved, those who had loved you—Irene, whom you had married just eleven years before; those four little youngsters, including the courteous young man who knew and must be awfully proud to see his boy open the door for the customers, and the little buyer who came home from school with the two valentines that he had bought for a nickel—with the very earnest query: "Now, what would YOU have done?"

Sonny, you got a bargain in those two valentines, and the world got a bargain when it got your daddy. You know that he was a grand daddy; we know that he was a grand friend.

FOOLED YOU—We hope you started reading this column from the first article to the last rather than the last to the first, because we had two problems to tax your minds up above. The first was: "What would you say a lamb is if he is six weeks old?" The answer is: seven weeks old.

And then: What is the difference between a bird with one wing and a bird with two wings? And the answer: just a difference of a pin.

The person who told us this ended up with: "And they shot a man like Lincoln." And another one remarked: "And they Razz Putin." "OK. We'll stop now."

Library Trustees Asking $1450 Extra This Year for Repair Work

Andover's Town Forum

The Trustees of the Memorial Hall library are seeking for an appropriation of $950 for 1936 and this has been approved by the Finance committee. As this amount is $1450 larger than the appropriation in 1935, I think this explanation is due to the citizens.

If it were not for certain extraordinary repairs, the amount asked for would be substantially the same as last year. The room used by the library in Ballardvale is a good one but has been very cold. The ceiling is not in first class condition and the room should be painted inside. We have already installed storm windows with very satisfactory results at a cost of about $50. We have estimates for a Celotex ceiling laid over the present plaster and for the painting amounting to $250.

At the Memorial hall outside painting is needed, estimated at $310. The cork floors need treatment to prevent wear, which in lack of a polishing machine we can not give them. We have an estimate for a polisher and supplies of $225, which may be shaded somewhat. The heating of the building has not been satisfactory and we have had surveys made by two firms experienced in such matters. From their reports we feel that $600 should be included to take care of this. The present arrangement is at times very noisy and does not heat the Children's room properly and requires too much coal.

It will be seen that the above mentioned items, if allowed, will not appear in the appropriation for 1937. We believe that we should not be taking due care of town property and of the interests of users of the two libraries if we did not ask the town to support us in the matters outlined in this note.
