LET'S MAKE IT A REAL FOURTH THIS YEAR BY CELEBRATING ON ONE DAY ONLY

The Townsman Editorial

"Everyone wants the fourth Celebrated, but that does not mean the thirtieth, first, second and third have to be celebrated too."

This quotation was taken from an editorial that appeared in the Townsman on June 28th last year. The "thirtieth" referred to the thirtieth of June, not the thirtieth of May, but this year it might well refer to both. Our citizens for years have protested against the early use of fireworks, but they never imagined that our youngsters would use them on Memorial Day as well as on the days before the Fourth. The sacrilegious use of fireworks for celebrating our most sacred patriotic holiday began the days before Memorial Day and continued over the whole week-end. True, it was only cap-pistols, but even such comparatively inoffensive noisemakers as these are very much out-of-place on Memorial Day. The sale of caps at that particular time is illegal, but they were being sold somewhere in town.

This year let's put off the heavy fireworks until the night before. There had been for the preceding four or five days.

Who is to blame? The police officer for allowing a public nuisance to continue? One could hardly lay the blame had been for the preceding four or five days.

nationally known rubber authority, passed away June 11 at the Pasadena Hospital, Pasadena, Calif.

Mr. Pearson was born in Le Roy, Minn. on February 13, 1885 and was the son of Charles Henry and Emily Clemens Pearson and a lineal descendant of Abraham Pierson, first president of Vale University. Mr. Pearson will be well remembered in Andover for it was here that he spent most of his youth and early manhood and it was here he first became interested in the rubber business then but in its infancy. He was, up to his passing, one of the few remaining members of his class that graduated from Punchard school.

Mr. Pearson's active years were spent in the rubber industry during the period of its greatest development. As a recognized authority on the subject he was chosen as rubber expert at the Paris Exposition in 1900 and the St. Louis Exposition in 1904. He was also asked to write on the subject of rubber for the Encyclopedia Brittanica, and frequently for such magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, Wall Street Journal and other publications.

Mr. Pearson's reputation as an author of books on the rubber industry is well known internationally. To the industry he contributed six books: Crude Rubber and Compounding Ingredients, What I Saw in the Tropics, Rubber Tires and All About Them, Rubber County of the Amazon, Rubber Machinery, and Pneumatic Tires.

Last November Mr. Pearson presented to the Los Angeles Public Library his entire library of 700 volumes, besides thousands of clippings on India Rubber on which he spent 40 years in collecting, "with nothing thrown away" as he expressed it and which is considered one of the most complete of its kind in the world.

Among the many books in this collection are bound volumes for the past lifty years of in the world.

Among the many books in this collection are bound volumes for the past fifty years of the India Rubber World, the Gummi Zeitung, the British India Rubber Journal, also a complete file of the French Le Caoutchouc et La Guta Percha, as well as periodicals from Spain, Japan, Portugal, and other foreign countries. There is also a mass of material on rubber planting and manufacture.

21.18 MILES PER GALLON!

Two stock Ford V-8 Sedans show outstanding economy with New Mobilgas in tank and Mobiloil in crankcase in 15,619-mile economy run - No oil added between 1,000-mile changes. Mobilubrication every 1,000 miles.

HEN a car gives better than 20 miles to a gallon of gasoline through today's heavy traffic—that's news! And that's exactly what happened in this 15,619-mile economy test conducted by Standard Oil of New York, with two stock 1936 Ford V-8 Fordor Touring Sedans.

The Ford V-8's were selected to prove the high mileage and performance of the new Socony Mobilgas —America's largest selling gasoline—and Mobilgis mileage and performance of the new Socony Mobilgas

—America's largest selling gasoline—and Mobiloil.
And prove them they did by delivering an average of 21.18 miles per gallon of gasoline for the entire runs and requiring no oil between 1,000-mile changes!
The Ford V-8 test cars were driven at legal speeds 24 hours a day for ten days. The cars were regular stock models . . . exactly the same kind of cars you can buy today from any Authorized Ford Dealer.
The tests illustrate one kind of Ford V-8 economy.
But in addition to gasoline and oil mileage Ford V-8 economy includes low first cost, low cost financing.
