This Sober Town Chats About You and Us and the Other Folks Here in Andover

SOOTS THEM RIGHT—One of the most shameful sights seen in Andover in many years was the spectacle on Wednesday noon of three of the town's most prominent men standing outside of the Andover Lunch plater. Even the chief of police was half-plastered, and one of our selectmen was very obviously getting many black marks chalked against his character.

But let's not be too horrified, folks, they were plastered—no doubt of that—but it was plastered by the time, and suddenly the men saw each other's clothes change from plain colors to polka dot affairs by the presence of many little pin-points of soot. And it wasn't only their clothes: when they looked in a mirror, their faces became red because their faces were soot, if you follow us.

Lightning Causes Much Damage

Phillips Academy House Struck —Town Hall Flagpole Shattered—Officer Jolted

One of the most severe local thunder storms that Andover has experienced in recent years struck the town about five Tuesday evening, causing one fire, damaging another house, and shattering the flagpole on top of the town hall, in addition to knocking down limbs from several trees.

Shortly after five a bolt struck the roof of the home of Mrs. Eliza Whitney of 27 Highland wayside. After striking the roof it bounded off to a tree and was safely grounded without causing further damage. The fire department answered the call in time to prevent serious damage, and the fire did not enter the house, merely causing damage of about $200 to $300 to the roof, Mrs. Whitney, an invalid, was carried out of the house by firemen, but she was able to return shortly after the all-out blow. Her daughter, Miss Alice Whitney, recorder at the academy, lives with her. The house is owned by the academy, it being a former fraternity house.

Another bolt hit a barn owned by Patrick J. Florence street. It then traveled along the antenna leading to Fire Light Albert Cole's radio. The radio was completely ruined, some wall paper, a window sill and a window frame were burned out it was not necessary to call the fire department. Several boards were ripped off the barn by the bolt.

The flag pole was struck about five. Pieces of wood were thrown all over the area in front of the town house, some of them striking automobiles parked nearby. One piece was hurled half a block away. Fortunately no one was injured. Miss Phoebe Noyes and the janitor, William Brown, were in the building at the time, but the lightning did no further damage.

The pole was about thirty years old, having been built by Hardy and Cole. The remaining piece was lowered out of its brackets Wednesday afternoon.

The wires leading from the National bank vault alarm to the police station were also struck, and officer David Gillespie, seated at the police station desk, was knocked off the stool, but was uninjured.

Several trees were badly damaged. A limb from a tree on High street near Temple place, crashed to the ground, narrowly missing some passing machines. Another limb crashed on Lowell street. Power was cut off in some parts of the town by limbs falling on the wires.

Children are asked to take their own lunch. Those of pre-school age must be accompanied by parents. There will be a program of sports, races, baseball for the boys, kick-ball for girls, and mass games for the younger children.

All playgrounds will be closed Tuesday afternoon but will be opened on regular schedule Tuesday night at 6.30. Tickets may be secured from any of the instructors. Parents are invited.

WPA Choristers in Concert Here

It has been arranged for the W.P.A. Choral Group from Haverhill to give a concert at the Central playground Monday night, from 7 to 9 p.m. The band under Paul Giles will also be present.

The Choral Group is composed of 22 singers, under the direction of Charles Hillier, and will give the following numbers: "Did Man River, can't You Hear Me calling Caroline," Sweet Sue, Georgia Lullaby, Would You, Wagon Wheels, Here Comes the Show Boat, Lindy Lou, Every Minute of the Hour, A Little Bit Independent, Definitely, Where There's You There's Love, Always, Is It True What They Say About Dixie, Melody from the Sky, West Wind, In Old Wyoming, and request numbers from the audience.

In addition there will be popular and classical numbers by the 25 piece band, under the direction of Paul Giles.

The W.P.A. musical units appear under the supervision of Federal Music Project No. 1, with Nicholas Skokloff director, and Louis J. Cornell, assistant director.

Guest Night at CCC Wednesday

The 16th Co., C.C.C., North Reading, wishes to announce the inauguration of a weekly guest night, Wednesday evenings have been designated as those nights on which the public is invited to enjoy the numerous vaudeville shows, boxing bouts, wrestling bouts, band concerts, choral recitals, dance recitals, and various other forms of entertainment.

All these events are scheduled to begin precisely at 8.00 p.m., and are to be held in the open air boxing ring on the company grounds.

A very interesting and entertaining program has been arranged for next Wednesday evening, August 12.

Eight acts of headline vaudeville will be offered through the courtesy of Thomas Senna, supervisor, W.P.A. Vaudeville Project. On the same program, the Haverhill M.P.P. Chorus, composed of twenty-two men, will offer a varied program, through the courtesy of Charles Hillier, director.

These two groups combined will offer a three-hour entertainment.

An interesting picture is "Old Gods for New" by Birney Quirk, who with Miss Dalton launched the Barn Studio. In the center an obviously abandoned church stands as evidence of what used to be, while in the foreground a scene of wild night life with a demagogue haranguing a crowd which is intent on patronizing the drinking place nearby.

Miss Clara T. Knox of Andover and New Haven is represented in the general exhibition by a very likable still life of chrysanthemums.

George LeLoutillier, another young artist, has a portrait of his father, the well-known architect, in the exhibition. The facial features are well-done but the gray hair in harmony with a gray sweater and a gray back-ground does not give the appearance of ordinary human hair, the coloring being a little off. Mr. LeLoutillier also has a picture entitled "Uncle Alf" in the collection of drawings and prints.

Clare Wadleigh is the most prolific of the Andover artists, if her works in this exhibition are any indication. She is represented by two oils: "Fog on the Mountain" and "The Postman's House" and by three drawings: "Houses by the Railway," "Farm under the Mountain" and "The Wood Pile."

Andover's two representatives in the sculpture group have done very well. James Mc. Lellan has a bronze Damascus which shows great promise for the young man. George Miller, who is an assistant at the Commons, has three pieces of sculpture, a cat, a golf player and a portrait of Mlle. Michèle. Of particular interest is the golf player, one of the few pieces of modernistic sculpture which seems sensible to the average American.

Ethel A. Farrington has a good oil painting of a portrait of Helen, and Frances P. Mc. Lellan is represented by "March Wind" also an oil. Bartlett H. Hayes, Jr., exhibits the detail of a design for a wall, and Alice Bell has a fine little study of a rose.

Of interest among the works of outside exhibitors are those of William Bryant of Haverhill, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Murphy of Concord, William Leipse of Concord, Philip Little of Salem, Zayide DeJong of Fitchburg, Omer Lassonde of Concord, Richard S. Meryman of Dublin, N. H., John F. Emser of Lexington, Orlando Rowland of Marblehead, and Samuel Chamberlain of Marblehead.

Aarne Hannin of Amesbury is a young man who has never had a lesson in his life, but the Gallery has sold many of his pictures.

Miss Ruth Saunders has returned to her home on High street after spending two weeks at Chautauqua, N. Y., and at the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland.

Drop in WPA Quota Halts Work Progress

Town's Quota Cut from 101 to 77—Elm Street Side-walk "Temporarily Finished"—Other Work Going Slowly

A drop from 101 to 77 in the local W.P.A. quota has put a number of local men who had been employed on governmental projects out of work and has diminished the number of men working on the individual projects to such an extent that the projects are progressing very slowly. Textile employment has not as yet taken up the slack.

The W.P.A. is now finishing the graveling of Lovejoy road, a farm-to-market project. There is about 100 feet more to gravel, following which the B.P.W. will shape it up and tar it.

The Greenwood road water extension of 4320 feet from the Hourdelais property to Peterson's is about half complete. Twenty-one men are working on this job and 25 on Lovejoy road. Four men are working on a wall at Spring Grove cemetery, with about 75 feet to go. Some of the W.P.A. workers are engaged on playground work, and the others are in the sewing project.

Twelve men are expected to be transferred back from the Elm street W.P.A. sidewalk project, which is to be left in a state aptly described by Superintendent Gilliard as "temporarily finished." Gravel has been heaped up along the roadside, leaving a "sidewalk" on which it is impossible to walk. The B.P.W. is rebuilding Dafton road, and has just finished blanketing, shaping up, and tarring North street for the entire length and a handler road from North street to Heaton street.

The River road chapter 90 job will start within a few weeks in all probability.

TAKING MONEY FROM PRIVATE WORK TO INCREASE PUBLIC WORK GETS THE COUNTRY NOWHERE

The Townsman Editorial

A few weeks ago Frank H. Foy, whose title is "state director of the National Emergency Council," sent a circular letter to all the selectmen and mayors of Bay State cities and towns purporting to inquire if the withdrawal of federal W.P.A. funds would increase the unemployment in the various communities. The answer is so obvious that it leads one to wonder just what the real purpose of the circular letter was.

The Andover selectmen gave the only answer that was possible: "withdrawal of federal funds . . . would certainly increase our unemployment problem. The Town of Andover would have to care for the unemployed affected by changes in federal disbursement of funds." Every other community in the state must have replied in a similar vein, for certainly nothing can be more obvious than the fact that if money for unemployment relief is taken away from a town those people who have benefitted by that money will be unemployed.

The circular letter may have been sent out to use in pushing further W.P.A. appropriations through Congress in the event that the Democratic administration is granted four more years in which to try out its schemes, or it may have been sent out to use as Democratic propaganda during the present electoral campaign. Whatever its purpose, it was a waste of franked envelopes by Mr. Foy and a waste of stamps by local officials everywhere.

If all the obvious replies are used in the Democratic campaign, it would seem that that party would be thereby admitting that during the past few years it has failed to mitigate the unemployment which it promised to mitigate four years ago. By obtaining letters from all the communities to the effect that considerable unemployment still existed in the longest drawn-out depression that the country ever knew, the Democratic administration is thereby confessing that all it has done through its efforts to decrease unemployment is to increase the burden on the taxpayer.

In fact it has been that very increase in the taxpayers' burden that has defeated the purpose which the administration sought to achieve. There are two classes of employment, private and public. No one will deny that a country is in a bad condition when there are too many public employees and too few private employees. After four years of spending money, the federal government finds that it still has to spend money, and the reason is that the man who has had to pay to keep workers on the public payroll is the same man who if he didn't have to pay that huge taxbill would be able to use that money in hiring more workers for private employment.

If you had twenty-five dollars and you decided to put a man to work for a week on your own garden, and then the town tax collector came along and took that twenty-five dollars from you in order to put a man to work on some public project, there'd be one more man on the public payroll and one less man on the private payroll. This is what has been happening on a huge scale throughout the nation. The federal tax collector has been taking from our private employers huge sums which have been used to put men on public work. No country can get anywhere that way.

Siftings

Too many columnists are columnists.

It was really a good flag-pole. Many people had often thought of jacking it up and putting a new town-hall under it.

Just what is it about the American people that makes them go around with cat's tails hanging from their automobiles?

black snow storm, one of the local police officers rode madly out to stop the truck, but he could find no reason for suspecting that the vehicle could have been guilty of such a sputtering performance. Meanwhile the men whose faces would at that time have qualified them for the American Olympic team looked skyward, and through soot-studded eyes they saw a chimney of one of our local laundries sputtering out soot in great style. The engineer had decided to launder the tubes of the boilers, the result being that the soot flew out the flues.

The owner of the laundry offered to wash the soiled clothes gratis, thus convincing the prominent bemirched citizens that he hadn't made the engineer soot the town in order to help out the laundry business.

TAKING A WALK—The biggest laugh at the movies the other night wasn't provoked by the screen. It was bank night, with $125 to be awarded. Mr. Resnik announced the name: David Henderson of Andover street. A tall individual in the middle of the audience stood up and started walking to the aisle, and the crowd applauded heartily, for the bank-night attendants are good sports; if they don't get it, they at least can rejoice in somebody's else good fortune, even if, as in the case of Mr. Henderson, it was the second time his name had been drawn.

He walked to the aisle 'midst the applause of the crowd—but when he reached the aisle, he turned the other way and walked leisurely out of the theatre. The applause turned to laughter, and then to anticipation. It's $150 next Monday, and everybody whose name is not called is urged to stay put until it's all over.

Weddings

Fairweather—Harrison
Mrs. Elsie Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Keighley of 95 Boxford street, Lawrence, and James D. Fairweather, of 28 Essex street, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at a ceremony held in the Parker street M. E. church, with the pastor, Rev. William Snow, officiating. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Dorothy Garner.

The bride was gowned in shell pink brocade satin and her accessories were blue. She carried a spray of Easter lilies and baby's breath. Her attendant, Miss Lily Keighley, wore blue and white mouseline de soie with a white hat and white accessories. She carried pink gladioli and baby's breath.

Harold Keighley, brother of the bride, was best man.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left on a wedding trip through New York state and Canada. They will live at 45 Bartlett street.

McGregor—Palmer

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Sibyl Katherine Palmer of Andover, to Mr. S. Robinson McGregor of Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

The ceremony was performed in Christ Church cathedral on Wednesday, July 29th, at eight o'clock in the evening by Rev. F. H. Helton. The bride was attractively gowned in dawn blue chiffon and carried Rapture roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. McGregor will reside at the Ritz apartments, Vancouver, Canada.

A pessimist was holding forth on the shortcomings of the rising generation.

Where today, he demanded, can you find the youngster who will just go on smiling when everything is going wrong?

To which a more optimistic friend replied, with a rueful grin: On the links this afternoon, carrying my clubs.

Townsman Joins in National Straw Vote Being Conducted by Country's Weeklies

Which of the presidential candidates in the national election this fall is going to carry Massachusetts, Essex county and Andover? Which of the candidates will get the highly important small-town and rural vote? Which candidate will get those votes in the majority of states throughout the nation?

These are questions, the answers to which will no doubt play an important part in the final national returns next November. Upon the choice of the small-town and rural America voters may rest the balance of power to swing the election for the successful candidate.

Reports from throughout the country indicate that voters everywhere are manifesting exceptionally keen interest in the political campaign now well under way. All signs point to a closely contested election.

It is therefore of special interest at this time that the publishers of weekly newspapers throughout the country have launched a nation-wide presidential straw-vote, to learn "which way the wind is blowing" with the small town and rural American voters.

In Nation-Wide Poll

The Townsman has joined in with these weekly newspapers and will conduct the vote in this territory. A straw-vote ballot is published in this issue. It may be voted by any legal voter. You do not have to sign your name. It is important, however, that you sign the name of the town and state from which you expect to cast your vote at the November election, so that the national tabulation of your vote will be accurately recorded.

Publishers, Autocaster Service of New York, producers of a service for weekly newspapers, is to serve in the capacity of national headquarters for this nation-wide vote. The local vote will first be recorded here in Andover, then the ballot sent on to New York for national tabulation.

All Votes Are Important

The local, county and state returns in this straw-vote will be of particular interest to voters everywhere, just as returns from other states will be of interest to the voters here. It is only through combined efforts of hundreds of weekly newspapers that such a record of sentiment in the small towns and rural America can be obtained.

It is therefore important that you decide now to cast your straw-vote in this balloting, so that your fellow voters for your favorite candidate in other states will know what may be expected from Massachusetts.

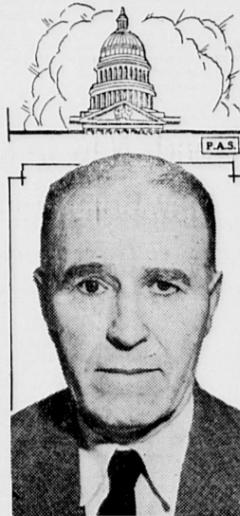

Of first interest, of course, will be the returns shown in the choices right here in Andover. Decide now to cast your vote. Clip out the ballot, vote it, write in the name of the town and state, then mail or bring it to the Townsman.

Returns in the local voting will be published in these columns each week as the voting progresses. National returns will also be published as soon as they are available, first releases of which should be forthcoming weekly within the next ten days or two weeks.

The boys at the corner were discussing the impending marriage of a buddy. Ben is going to marry, observed one of the men. She can swim, ride, dance, drive a car, and pilot a plane; a real all-around girl. They should get along fine, replied another. You know Ben is a good cook.

Meaning of Ophiuchus

Ophiuchus occupies a large area of the night sky. The Greek name Ophiuchus means "serpent holder," and he is always represented as wrestling with a great snake much larger than himself; this constitutes the constellation of Serpens. He is also shown as trampling underfoot Scorpius, the Scorpion; thus, Ophiuchus is regarded as symbolizing man's contest with the powers of evil.

MEMORIAL EXHIBIT BY JOHN MEAGHER COMPANY

The Memorial Exhibit of the John Meagher Company Memorial Manufacturers of Peabody, Mass., is this week attracting many visitors for a variety of choice memorials made of Smith's Genuine Westerly, Rhode Island Granite have been completed and these are being sold for erection this month at attractive prices. At no time during the entire year is their display as complete as at the present time when every conceivable type of Memorial is displayed—it offers many interesting specimens of Memorial Art.

The Meagher Company has a reputation for Quality Memorials at reasonable prices. They have developed nearly half a century to the Memorial Manufacturing Industry and many beautiful specimens of their work appear in the local cemeteries.

A visit to their plant will prove very interesting. It is one of the few plants in this state to make a Memorial from start to finish and to see the block of granite taken in its rough state and then through the various processes of reconstruction moulded and finished into the beautiful specimens that are on display is indeed an admirable sight. The public is invited to visit their cutting plant and exhibit is only a problem in the Memorial Art line, can be handled very satisfactorily by the Meagher Company.

French New Deal May Bring Panic

Public Fear Parallels U. S. After Roosevelt Victory in Fall of 1932.

Chicago.—Threatened with the establishment of a radical government—"a sort of New Deal on the American pattern"—France is experiencing a wave of public fear that is described by Howard Wood, prominent economic writer, as similar to the financial panic which swept the United States between the election of the New Deal in November, 1932, and the date of the inauguration in March, 1933.

Bank Runs Reduce Deposits.

"In France," Mr. Wood reports, "the 'little fellows' are trying to protect their savings by hoarding. Runs on the banks have reduced deposits. Capital is leaving France as fast as there are ships available to carry gold. Dis-closure of plans to 'soak the thrifty' and schemes for vast political expenditures have intensified the scramble."

"Similarly in the United States," Mr. Woods adds, "the panic did not begin until the interval between the election of the New Deal and the date of its taking office, and culminated in the nation-wide bank moratorium of March, 1933."

Slump Follows Roosevelt Election.

Observers of business and industrial conditions have already established the fact that the low point of the depression was passed during the summer of 1932, and the upward climb to prosperity was already under way in the fall of the year. Fears that arose from the proposals of New Dealers for large public expenditures, their opposition to budget balancing plans and comments favoring inflation stopped recovery and brought on the panic.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mary Flane

Mrs. Mary Flane passed away at her home on Essex street early Wednesday morning after a long illness. She had lived in Andover for 45 years.

She leaves a sister, Miss Ellen Carroll; a great granddaughter and a niece.

The funeral was held this morning with a high mass of requiem at St. Augustine's church and burial followed in the church cemetery.

John J. Kelley

John J. Kelley, for fifty years an employee of the Boston and Maine railroad, passed away Monday night at his home, 47 Essex street. For the past 27 years he has been crossing tender at Essex street, having served earlier as a section hand and a yard employee. In June he received a lifetime pass on the completion of his fifty years' service.

A native of Ireland he had lived here for the past half century. He was 70 years old.

He leaves his wife, Mary M. (Hession) Kelley, and several nieces and nephews.

A solemn high mass of requiem was held yesterday morning at St. Augustine's church, with burial in the church cemetery.

Pensions in France

"Old Age Pensions in France" is the title of another in the series of articles on American Political Methods written by Martha E. D. White of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters and released in conjunction with the Andover League.

The article follows:

When did France establish old age pensions? In 1905 provision was first made for non-contributory pensions or institutional care for indigent citizens over 70 years of age or permanently disabled. In 1910 a compulsory contributory plan was adopted. This was finally replaced by the old age provisions of the complete social insurance enacted in 1928. This law was put into operation in 1930.

What were the terms of the law of 1905? Citizenship, 70 years of age or permanently disabled, incapable of earning a living, no responsible persons able to support him, income plus pensions not to exceed $93.00 a year.

How is cost borne? By both local and central governments.

By whom administered? Municipal and Departmental Councils and Minister of Interior.

Was this a "living" income? Not by the American standard of living.

What changes have been made for this group by subsequent laws? The amount of pension now may not be less than $1.18 per month nor in exceptional cases more than $3.14 per month. The ordinary maximum is $2.35 a month. Income plus pension is not to exceed $94.00 a year. Hospitalization or sick benefits are allowed.

What does the Compulsory Insurance Act provide? This is complicated and qualified by: Amount of wages, length of time insured; number of children of the insured persons and size of city of dwelling.

To what workers does it apply? All employees under 60 years old, earning less than $588 per year or if living in cities of 200,000 or more, less than $706 yearly. If a family man with three or more children, the wages may be up to a maximum of $979 and still be eligible to contribute to insurance funds.

What contributions are required? Employer and employee each pay same amount weekly. Workers are grouped in five classes according to wages, and the joint contributions vary from a total of 6 cents weekly to 39 cents. Agricultural workers rates are one-half as much.

How many years must a worker contribute to receive his pension? 30 years.

How much may the pension be? A minimum of 40 percent of his annual basic wage if the worker has fulfilled requirements. In other cases pensions are based on the amount of accumulated contributions.

Who administers the Act? The minister of Labor.
