Chats About You and Us and the Other Folks Here in Andover

NOTHING—Would you rather have something than nothing? The answer is obvious, but there's one man here in Andover who had too much of something because he had too much of nothing.

Very clear, isn't it? He was building a storage closet with the help of a man whose eyes were none too good. WHAT TO DO WITH TOWN HALL IS PROBLEM CONFRONTING VOTERS THIS COMING YEAR

The Townsman Editorial

Within the coming year the town will very probably be faced with the problem of what to do with the town hall. The erection of the new auditorium and the new gymnasium means that the demand on the town hall for meetings, dances and other events will be very few, if any. The town will have two choices: leaving the hall idle, unused, or remodeling it so that it may be available for some really necessary purpose.

No one has ever seriously considered our town hall a model for anything except what a barn might look like if it were made of brick. What should be done, what everybody would like to see done, is to tear down the ugly structure and erect a neat-looking building to house the town offices, but at present this is too expensive a proposition for the taxpayers to think of. However, it would not cost very much to partition off the upper hall so that the vacant space there could be used for offices to relieve the congested condition downstairs and also to provide office space for such departments as the board of health which now is carrying on its business at the rear of a store.

Theoretically the selectmen's meeting is a closed meeting, but despite the fact that unlike the school committee there are no press representatives present, the meetings of our town fathers are really far more public than those of the school committee. If you have something to take up with the school board, you go up to the meeting and wait in a separate room, but when you go to discuss something with the selectmen you sit in a little space separated from the rest of the office by nothing but a waist-high wall on the other side of which are waiting some dozen or so other people who want to be heard and who also can't help hearing. This is particularly unfortunate in the case of people who want welfare and who have to practically stand up in public and tell all their personal troubles. The selectmen should have an office with four walls, four real walls, and there should be a waiting-room for people to sit down in while they are waiting.

There are other similar cases of overcrowding or unsuitable quarters. If the chief of police were to sit at his desk and stretch out his arms sideways his right fist would hit a partition and his left would probably go through the beaver board wall into the tax collector's office. Crime is unfortunately a growing business and there is a very definite need for more adequate police quarters. The Board of Public Works quarters also are very much cramped at times.

It's something for the town officials and the voters to think over. If a small expenditure will provide an opportunity for better conduct of public business, it might be well to make that expenditure.

That Teachers' Oath Law

Governor Landon's attack on the teachers' oath laws the other night came as a surprise to those who felt that his stands on public matters were not as definite as they should be. There has been considerable ballyhooing about the teachers' oath law in the past few years, but what it really amounts to is this: it picks on the teachers in both private and public schools, making them swear to do something that they would do anyway. Our teachers here in America are not Communists; they're not here to undermine the Constitution. In the public schools they are under the control of school committees which would immediately discharge any teacher who taught in contravention to the Constitution, and no teacher wants to lose his or her job. Our teachers love the United States, and they constantly are transmitting that feeling to the students. There would seem to be no real need for such a discriminatory statute going on the law books. And after all, what does an oath mean? The President of this Nation for instance takes an oath to support the Constitution, and look at what the last fellow who took that oath tried to do to our historic old document.

Siftings

Now the question is: will the Legionnaires vote against Landon because he spoke against the teachers' law or will they vote against Roosevelt because he vetoed the bonus bill?

As the summer draws to a close, many women are still undecided whether those culottes are cool or 'ot.

"Birthplace Is Awaiting Gov. Landon's Arrival!"—Headline. History repeats itself.

And that's why we say if he didn't have that extra nothing on the end of the 2500 he wouldn't have had that extra something. If you multiply something by nothing, you get nothing, but if you add a nothing to something, you have ten times as much something.

West Andover Man Gored to Death by Infuriated Bull

Frank Babicki, 49, of the Lakeview Farm, High Plain road, was fatally injured last Friday night when a two-year-old bull gored him after he had apparently slipped onto the ground while he was trying to drive the animal into a barn. Weakened by internal hemorrhages and suffering from shock, multiple lacerations about the body and a deep laceration of the right knee, Mr. Babicki died at the Lawrence General hospital at 1:15 Saturday morning. He was too weak to undergo a blood transfusion, although six men stood by to give their blood.

The prompt, heroic action of his fourteen-year-old son, Frank, Jr., probably saved Mr. Babicki from instantaneous death. Hearing a cry while he was holding the gate of the bull's pen open, he saw his father on the ground with the bull standing over him, prodding him with his horns. Snatching up a shovel the boy beat off the infuriated animal, and then he made a tourniquet from a piece of rope to stop the flow of blood from the wound on the knee. Then leaving his father in the care of other members of the family, he drove nearly a mile on his bicycle to a telephone. Dr. Harry C. East responded to the call, and after administering first aid had the man transferred to the hospital.

The bull remained out all night and was driven into the barn by several men Saturday morning. Anthony Babicki, 10, had to climb a tree to escape the bull, and Frank Dombrowski, 11, of Cambridge had to leap over a wire fence. "Jackie," a German police dog, tried to fight off the bull as he ragged over Mr. Babicki.

There were sections in the composition, which were very gracious in their melodic and rhythmic appeal, and which passed the limitations of personal impressions and reached the expression of certain characteristic essences of the music of the Old South.

Local Man Killed as Car Overturns (Continued from page 1) declined a suggestion that his mother, Mrs. Lydia Lynch, of 107 Vine street, Andover, be notified. He asserted that he did not want her disturbed over the matter.

Later Monday Chief J. L. Blizzard, P.H.M., of the submarine base came to Danielson and claimed the body on behalf of the naval authorities. Lieutenant Richard C. West of the base also came here at the head of a board of inquest to arrive at a finding on the death. Louis A. Woisard, coroner of Windham county, has not as yet released his finding. There were no witnesses to the crash. Adeline Cote, a young Danielson man who lives near the scene was the first person to talk to Lynch after the accident. It was to Cote that Lynch gave his personal effects, saying—"I'll be back for them later."

Lynch is understood to have been on a leave of absence and on his way back to his base to report for duty Monday morning when the accident occurred. New England Truck Owners Speak From Experience!

READ WHAT THEY HAVE TO SAY ABOUT FORD V-8 TRUCK ECONOMY

This advertisement has been written by Ford V-8 truck owners, by New England business men who have owned many makes of trucks and whose experience covers hundreds of thousands of miles of hauling under all conditions. These men have tested Ford V-8 Truck performance and economy on many kinds of jobs right alongside of heavier, more expensive hauling equipment, and their statements will make worthwhile reading for anyone interested in getting more load miles at less cost per mile.

MOVING COMPANY MAKES DOUBLE SAVING WITH TRACTOR-TRAILER UNIT
"Through the use of a Ford tractor and trailer unit we have been able to obtain a vehicle suitable for our moving needs at less than half the cost of a similar unit of another make. The operating cost is considerably lower, so we gain both ways."
"The V-8 has plenty of power and speed for this operation and makes an ideal unit for moving vans."
(signed) A. Remy, Manager
REMY MOVING COMPANY,
FALL RIVER, MASS.

"FINEST TRANSPORTATION AT MINIMUM COST"
"Our four Ford V-8 trucks are of the greatest assistance to us in maintaining our reputation for prompt delivery service. These V-8's are possessed of plenty of power and speed, enabling our drivers to make their trips in the shortest space of time. The small initial cost and low operating and maintenance charges allow us to have the finest transportation at minimum cost."

HARRIS LUMBER COMPANY, INC.
PROVIDENCE, R. I.

"VALUE FAR BEYOND THE PRICE"
"I have been using my new 1936 Ford V-8 hauling granite rip-rap used in flood reconstruction work, and must say the performance of this unit, plus economy of operation, have convinced me of what is meant by 'Value Far Beyond the Price.'
"In addition to my new truck I am operating a Ford 1929 truck which has gone over 100,000 miles. This particular unit I am using for hauling 4 and 6 tons of granite in and about our yards."
(signed) George E. Shirley,
MANCHESTER, N. H.

"NO EQUAL"—FOR ECONOMY—PERFORMANCE—APPEARANCE
"We are operating five 1936 Ford V-8's and they are all giving us great satisfaction. They all have plenty of speed and power and are adaptable to the many different types of loads they are forced to carry . . . Your Ford exchange parts policy assures us of low maintenance costs and no long tie-ups for repairs. For our particular type of work the Ford V-8 truck has no equal, everything considered—economy, performance and appearance."

MORE ECONOMICAL DELIVERIES—AND MORE OF THEM
"Previous Ford units which we have operated always have given us the greatest satisfaction, but the 1936 units by far have exceeded our greatest expectations."
"The Ford V-8 is a very economical truck to operate, and its speed and power enable us to make more deliveries than were possible with larger and heavier units."

Landon Continues Gaining in Poll
Landon votes continued to pour into the Townsman office this week and returns from the nation-wide poll in which the Townsman is co-operating show Landon in the lead. Fast experiences in this nation-wide poll from 1920 to 1932 have proved conclusively that the poll affords final figures on national returns well within five percent of the actual November vote.
Landon is still leading Roosevelt in Andover approximately 10 to 1. This week 85 ballots came in for Landon and only six for Roosevelt, with Lemke not receiving any.
In a total of 69,002 votes cast over the nation for Landon and Roosevelt, Landon had 37,937 and Roosevelt 31,665. From 18 of 32 states reporting the vote was of sufficient volume to afford tabulation and to present first returns from some of the key states. Landon shows majorities in 10 of the 18, as follows: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maryland, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Virginia. Roosevelt is ahead in Florida, Kentucky, Michigan, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio and Texas.
Lemke has obtained 3,485 votes, or 4.7 percent of the total.
Those who have not yet voted are urged to clip the ballot at the bottom of page one and bring it or send it to the Townsman office marked for the candidate the voter prefers.
