T. P. A. Invited by School Board

Committee Reverses Previous Decision—Nearly 100% Approval

An invitation for delegated representatives of the Andover Taxpayers' association to attend the annual budgetary sessions of the school committee was extended Tuesday night as the board reversed its previous decision to lay the matter on the table. This makes the response to the association request almost 100% favorable, since the only committee which has not met since the request, the library board, is expected to accede.

Some opinion was expressed at the school board meeting that the invitation should be limited to the final budgetary meeting, but the large majority of the committee favored extending a full invitation for the representatives to sit in at all the budgetary sessions. It was also stated that the school committee is like a board of directors of a bank, the stockholders of which never appear at a directors' meeting, but in opposition to this was the argument that the members of the Taxpayers' association contribute much of the money which the school board uses to run the schools with, and they therefore have a right to know how the money is being spent.

Five Injured in Village Crash

Five persons were hurt, two of them painfully, last night when a Lawrence car crashed into the rear of a car driven by George Keating of Marland street, Balmorale, in front of the Balmoral Spa. Keating had just stopped at the Spa to make a purchase when the other car struck his car, which in turn broke off an electric light standard in four places and continued on some 100 feet more.

Katherine Dube and Joseph O'Neil of Lawrence were taken to the hospital with lacerations about the face and head. Keating, Walter P. Hoyt, the other driver, and another Lawrence passenger reported minor injuries.

Pedestrian Loses Leg in Accident

A slight improvement in the condition of Walter Smith of Rattlesnake Hill road, 59-year-old man who was seriously injured while walking on South Main street Wednesday night, was reported at the Lawrence General hospital at eight this morning. He remains on the danger list still in a critical condition after a leg amputation.

Mr. Smith was placed on the danger list when he was removed to the hospital near midnight Wednesday. His right leg was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated, and he also suffered a skull fracture, fracture of the left leg below the knee, and contusions and lacerations about the arms and head. The hospital yesterday reported his condition as being "poor."

Julius Meuse, of Wilmington, operator of the car which struck Smith on South Main street, brought him to the police station and Sergeant Leonard Saunders immediately had him taken to the hospital in the ambulance.

Plans Resumed for Church Fair

Now that the vacations are practically over and the cool days of fall have come, the thoughts of many are directed toward fall cleaning and preparing for winter.

In looking over articles to be given away or disposed of it is requested that the White Elephant table of Christ Church fair which will come in December, be remembered. Articles for this table will be collected on Monday, September 27, and all those who have pledged gifts for this table or who are interested in giving, are asked to lay aside those articles about the home, which are still good, but for which they have no further use.

Articles of bric-a-brac, pictures, books, dishes, etc. always sell well, and while they may be of no more use to the owner, they may fill in a needed gap in some one's home scheme.

A meeting of the fair committee will be held shortly to discuss further plans for the event.

Anyone having White Elephants please telephone 337-W or 228-M.

Voting to Be Only at Town Hall—Judge Hargedon Out

The special congressional primary to select party standard-bearers for the election two weeks hence will take place throughout the seventh congressional district on next Tuesday, with Andover's polls being open, at the town hall only, from noon to 6.30 p.m. The single polling-place will result in a large saving to the town treasury.

Judge Joseph Hargedon of Shawsheen village, who had entered the fight for the Democratic nomination, declared himself out because of pressure of business last Friday afternoon. The name of Charles J. McCarthy of Peabody was thrown out by the State Ballot law commission Wednesday as a result of improper signatures. This leaves but two Democratic candidates, Lawrence J. Connery of Lynn and non-resident Joseph A. Langone, Jr., of East Boston.

The Republican party is making a determined effort to wrest control of the district from the Democratic regime. State chairman Sinclair Weeks wired Wednesday: "Party leaders in every township are prepared with private automobile fleets to carry voters to the polls."

A special effort is to be made in Andover by some of the candidates, because of the one-polling-place arrangement. The Republican names on the ballot will be Rep. Edward Sirois, C. F. Nelson Pratt and Leonard C. Atkinson. Dr. Charles G. Bushold, originally running as an independent and as a Social Justice candidate, has withdrawn as an independent, but is uncontested on the latter slate.

Tough Luck, John

Due to receive Chief Emerson's appointment as call fireman was John Deyermund, Jr., son of the popular local police officer, but circumstances intervened, and instead of being appointed, John, Jr., was disappointed.

Last Saturday John told the chief all about it. It seems that Syracuse university had decided to give him a $1400 scholarship, and he had to leave on Monday. The Chief had already decided in view of John's previous fine work with the department that he should be given one of the $200 per year jobs on the call squad, but although it may seem over-loud when you hear the alarm at three o'clock in the morning, John will probably not be able to hear it out in Syracuse.

So John left with his $1400 scholarship. And some day when Charlie Emerson reads about John scoring the winning touchdown against Colgate up there in the Archbold stadium, he'll recall John's final words last Saturday morning: "Aw heck, and I wanted to be a call fireman!"

State Board OK's Andover's Water

"Low in color, free from... pollution and safe for drinking" is the finding made by the State Board of Health as the result of a recent analysis of Haggetts pond water, both at the source and at the taps.

The following letter has been received by the Board of Public Works:

GENTLEMEN:

In response to your request, the Department of Public Health has caused Haggett's Pond, a source of water supply for the town of Andover, to be examined and samples of the water supplied from this pond to be analyzed.

The results of the analyses show that the water is low in color, free from bacteria characteristic of pollution and safe for drinking. No residual chlorine was found in the water drawn from the taps in the town and no taste of chlorine was evident in this water, but the results of the microscopical examination show the presence of a few microscopical organisms and it is possible that some of these organisms in the presence of the chlorine may have imparted a taste to the water.

Respectfully,
HENRY D. CHADWICK, M.D.
Commissioner of Public Health

Grammar Grades to Open Monday

Miss Charlotte Marshall

Miss Florence McCarthy

Mrs. Adeline Wright

Miss Doris Newton

The grammar schools, public and Parochial, and most of the town kindergartens will reopen on Monday, with the Briggs-Allen school reopening Tuesday. Entrance examinations are to be held at Phillips academy on Tuesday, and the students will have their program appointments on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Superintendent Henry C. Sanborn reported to the school committee Tuesday evening that he expected the grammar grades to have about the same number of pupils as they did a year ago.

The only innovation this year in the grades will be the extension of the physical education system down from the high and junior high. On Monday afternoon Donald Dunn of the physical education staff will meet with the grade teachers at which time he will explain the program. Most of the work will be carried on by the regular classroom teachers under Mr. Dunn's supervision.

New teachers in the grades this year include Miss Charlotte Marshall, Mrs. Adeline Wright, and Miss Florence McCarthy, the last-named being a cadet. Miss Doris Newton of West Andover is assisting Miss Miriam Sweeney in the music department.

To Hold Survey on Electricity

The school committee on Tuesday evening authorized a survey by the Worthington Pump and Engine company at the central schools for the purpose of ascertaining whether any economy could be effected by generating electricity and power by a Diesel engine at the new heating plant. There is to be no charge for the survey. The possibility of supplying light to the other town buildings will also be investigated.

The sub-committee on buildings and grounds was also authorized to look into the matter of installation of automatic heat controls at the central grammar schools in an effort to prevent waste of fuel. Fred Smith, Minneapolis-Honeywell representative in Haverhill, will make the survey. He supervised the heat control work at the Bradlee school.

The committee voted to refer an over-draft of approximately $60 in the Shawsheen floor special appropriation to the finance committee together with a letter from director of accounts Theodore Waddell to the effect that he could see no reason why a transfer should not be made from the reserve fund.

Miss Helen Munroe of the high school faculty was granted an increase of $100, subject to the approval of the teachers' sub-committee, for having completed 90 hours of professional study at Harvard.

The first local application of a recently enacted law making transportation of pupils to private non-profit schools mandatory under the same conditions as public school children came with the request from a Ballardvale parent for such transportation.

Officer Hurt in Motorcycle Crash

While guiding a disabled truck off heavily-travelled North Main street Monday evening, Officer Carl Stevens escaped serious injury and possible death when his motorcycle was struck head-on by a Dorchester automobile. He was removed to his home suffering from shock, a slight leg injury and a side injury. Spectators stated that he was thrown about twenty feet, landing upright on his feet.

The truck stalled Monday afternoon on the hill just below the railroad bridge, and with Labor day traffic at its peak, Officer Stevens went down to get the truck onto Railroad avenue out of the way. To protect it he had to drive alongside it on the west side of the street in the face of Boston-bound traffic. The driver who struck him stated that he saw the truck but not the motorcycle.

Andover Plays Important Part in Primary Election on Tuesday

Andover is regarded as a pivotal town by the candidates for nomination for Congress at the primaries on Tuesday, for a variety of reasons. Most important among them is of course the fact that this town is the only one in the Seventh Congressional district which took advantage of the money-saving opportunity offered by the ruling which allows special primaries to be held in one polling-place for the whole town rather than in one per precinct.

The candidates who count on Andover for a considerable degree of support are making a special effort to bring out the vote here. They feel that with balloting taking place only in the town hall the residents of Shawsheen village and more particularly Ballardvale and West Parish will not take the time to go to the polls. The fact that only three of the voters from West Parish failed to vote at the presidential election would seem to give some credence to the feeling that the voters from that section would not let the distance to the town hall prevent them from voting, but nevertheless everybody from the state committees down are looking with anxious eyes at Andover.

Sinclair Weeks, chairman of the state Republican committee, issued a special appeal on Wednesday. Andover is normally Republican, but in a special election which people do not bother to attend, the balance might very well swing the other way. The district is supposed to be Democratic, but the party that is on its toes will win out, for the margin is but a slight one.

So get out Tuesday afternoon and vote. If you feel that the selectmen were wrong in asking the Secretary of State to allow just one polling-place prove it by going to the town hall and voting. If you stay at home, it will show that they were right in feeling that one polling-place would take care of all the voters on that day, and when the next special election comes, they will be perfectly justified in following the same course of action.

Dr. Simpson

The knowledge that any day might see the passing of Dr. William Simpson did not make the coming of that day any less easy to the many friends who had seen Andover's esteemed osteopath failing in the past few years. They knew when he was brought back to Andover from Kennebunk a week ago Wednesday that the end was near, but when death actually did come on Friday morning, their sense of loss was truly as deep, their feeling of sorrow as keenly sincere as if he had passed away suddenly, without warning.

For Dr. Simpson occupied a coveted niche in the hearts of his intimate friends and a place high in the esteem of the many with whom he had had contact, even casually, during his residence here. A loyal friend, a pleasant companion, a sympathetic counsellor, a successful practitioner—he was all of these. He smiled through his suffering—his friends knew he would, and today they are able to find some slight surcease from their sorrow in the knowledge that death, bringing with it an end to a life that meant happiness for so many, also brought with it an end to that life's pain and anguish.

PRATT for CONGRESS

● In 1934, after eight years service in the Massachusetts Legislature, at a great personal sacrifice, I made the fight for this office for the Republican party against the strongest possible Democratic opponent relinquishing my seat in the House of Representatives to do so.

● I received the Republican nomination for Congress, receiving 40,000 votes in the election. In 1936 I was again the Republican candidate defeating four strong primary opponents by a vote nearly as large as their combined vote. At the election I polled over 51,000 votes, an increase of 25% over the previous election, the largest Republican vote ever cast in our district for the office.

● Having made the fight in the lean years of 1934 and 1936 when conditions were unfavorable, it is felt, now that the outlook is much brighter for Republican victory that I ought to have the united backing of all Republicans and concentrate on the election with such a little time left to wage a campaign. We cannot miss this opportunity to avail ourselves of the National advertising which winning this seat would give us.

Pratt Fighting in Primary Contest

C. F. Nelson Pratt, Saugus candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress at Tuesday's selection, has issued the following statement:

The Republican in Congress cannot afford to block humane legislation of any type that will strike a blow at the sweat shop hours and wages that prevail in many sections of the country. It is time that the exploitation of the labor of women and children by human vultures for sake of greed and profit be stopped. We have always stood for a high standard of living conditions and of wages for the American people.

The Minimum Wage and Maximum Hours bill will come up in the next session. We need a Congressman whose labor record has won the respect of the worker and will win the confidence of big industry in assuring it a square deal.

C. F. Nelson Pratt

We must go forward on a sound, sane, and liberal program, conservative on the fundamentals of government such as the Constitution, Bill of Rights, private property and against the delegation of legislative powers to the Chief Executive, forward looking in our treatment of new economic conditions in the interests of both the American farmer and laborer.

It is imperative that a tariff policy be established that will protect our district.

We should have a Congressman who will vote for Massachusetts interests irrespective of orders from any political leaders.

We must have economy in governmental expenditures without sacrificing the needs of the people.

There should be local control of unemployment relief, with our fair share of federal grants.

We must provide security for the aged for it is their just due.

Youth must be given an opportunity for a real chance and a real job.

The plan to pack the Supreme Court will confront Congress at the next session. We need men who will stand for Constitutional Government to the end that we may have government for the many and not for the few.

During my service in the Legislature, I was recognized as one of the outstanding champions of humane and special legislation.

I represented a triple district comprising the Towns of Lynnfield and Saugus and Wards 1, 6 and 7 of Lynn, approximately 40 percent of the Lynn vote. During this period there never was more than one Republican colleague elected in this district. In 1930 I was the only Republican elected of the three representatives for the district. In 1932 I lead the ticket by nearly 1000 votes, my colleagues being a Republican and a Democrat.

The Boston Herald Editorial October 26, 1936 stated that I was supported by thousands of independents in the Congressional fight. The above is indicative of the fact that I am the strongest Republican candidate and will attract thousands of Democratic votes at the election, such as no other candidate could ever hope to do.

With an unequalled record and nine years training in municipal government, coupled with a legislative experience of eight years, I am the best qualified and most logical man to carry on for our industrial district.

The Republican party must nominate a man with a record that will definitely appeal to thousands of voters in our district. He must be a man who will not oppose legislation designed to promote social and industrial justice, and to better the working conditions of our wage earners.

The rank and file of the Republican party and many of its real leaders believe that I am the only candidate who can win the election and should receive all the cooperation possible to this end.

My election would act as a spark plug for the 1938 Congressional Election.

You have a most important duty to perform, both at the primary and at the election and upon you depends the result.

Sirois Confident on Election Eve

Republican party leaders throughout the Seventh Congressional District are preparing to make a special effort to have a record vote cast at the primary on Tuesday, when the nominee will be chosen to contest for the vacant Congressional seat.

The following statement has been issued by the Sirois campaign committee.

Representative Edward D. Sirois, the overwhelming party choice, is considered the strongest candidate ever to carry the Republican standard in the present District. That he will succeed in breaking the long hold of the opposition on the Seventh is even conceded by some Democrats, because of the popular appeal his candidacy and record in office make to the large independent vote.

Every resource of the Republican party will be mustered behind Sirois after nomination day and the two weeks' drive for the election will witness the most intensive, aggressive and determined campaign waged by the Republicans anywhere in Massachusetts in recent years.

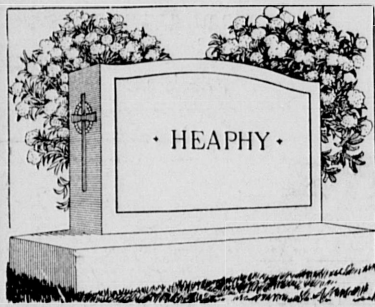

Representative Sirois, who has a distinguished party record in the House of Representatives, a distinguished war record and enjoys the confidence of all groups, stresses the importance of a large primary vote.

"While I realize that in some towns, of which Andover is one, that the necessary curtailment of precincts may make voting inconvenient," declared Representative Sirois last night, "I feel that party spirit will overcome this handicap and I hope that our party will dissipate the claim of the opposition that Republicans never vote heavily in primaries, by casting a record poll September 14.

"The advantage of a large primary vote," said Mr. Sirois, "is the added confidence it gives to independent voters that we are ready to carry on in a big way. This primary and election is of the utmost importance, since the proposed legislation in the next session of Congress will, in all probability, mark the way for the economic future of our country for many years to come. The importance to our District of protection against the inroads of sectional blocs from the West and South is obvious to all thinking citizens. Protection of those interests must be the first consideration of our Member of Congress. I assure the voters of Andover, and of the District generally, that if chosen to represent them I will spare no effort in seeking to preserve our economic and industrial welfare, now threatened by the opposition to Massachusetts and New England among many leaders of the majority party in the Congress."

Mr. Sirois held an organization meeting in Andover recently and laid plans for getting the primary vote out. During the past week a steady drive has been made

THE HOUSE BUILT ON A ROCK

A young man had left his home town and had gone to the big city where he had made quite a name for himself. After five years of absence, he alighted at the station of his old home town. There was, despite his expectation, no one on the platform he knew. No one.

Discouraged, he sought out the station master, a friend since boyhood. To him at least he would be welcome, and he was about to extend a hearty greeting, when the other spoke first.

"Hello, George," he said. "Goin' away?"

A DUNNING LETTER

One of Levinsky's customers was notorious for his slowness in paying his bills. In desperation, Levinsky sent him the following letter:

"Sir: Who bought a lot of goods from me and did not pay? You! But who promised to pay in sixty days? You! Who didn't in six months? You! Who is a scoundrel, a thief, and a liar? Yours truly, Al Levinsky."

"Leap for Life" by Topsfield Boy

A boyhood dream will come true for Arthur Churchill, 24-year-old Topsfield athlete, when he performs his daring "Leap for Life" from a burning building 30 feet above the ground at the Essex County Fair, Topsfield, Saturday night, September 18.

Way back in grammar school days he began to yearn to become a stunt man. The yearning grew stronger as year after year he watched world famous daredevils pletely different from anything the exposition had ever had that despite their misgivings as to his ability to perform it, the fair directors booked him.

His friends, especially those who went to school with him, have no doubts about his performing the perilous feat. They recall that as a youngster he was always the leader in the dangerous things boys are apt to do. It was he who was first to jump across open stretches of water when "the gang" was skating along the river; he, who found the tallest trees from which to dive into the old swimming hole; he who would throw himself head first between flashing spikes to help his team win baseball games; he, who would send his 150-pound frame crashing into 200-pounders in daring plunges through enemy football teams.

"Leap for Life" is only one of the high-spots on the glittering entertainment program to be presented during the 116-year-old Essex County Fair, opening Wednesday, September 15, and continuing through Sunday, September 19.

thrill the crowds at the Essex County Fair grounds, situated only a short distance from his father's house. Every chance he could get, he haunted the grounds, talking to his heroes, plying them with questions about how they got started on their hazardous careers, pleading with them to hire him as a laborer until he could learn their acts. He posed as a newspaperman, as a fair official—anything to impress the daredevils so that they would talk to him and allow him to watch them practice early in the morning before the fair gates opened.

He spent hours examining their apparatus, then worked up acts of his own and tried to sell them to the fairs, but he was so young and small of stature that no one took him seriously. He never lost hope, however, and this year when he heard that officials of the Essex County exposition were looking for a special "thrill" act for Saturday night, he conceived the jump from a burning building into a life net. He even had a name for the stunt—"Leap for Life." The act was so com-

High School Hits Peak Enrollment

Junior High Decreases 34— High Increases 45 to Make Record Total

A slight net opening day increase in enrollment was reported at the high and junior high schools on Wednesday. The total of the two schools was 816, or 11 more than last year's opening day.

The junior high drop in enrollment of 34 was more than offset by the high school increase of 45. The total of the two is a new record, the figures for the two preceding years being 1935, 752; 1936, 805.

The big junior high decrease comes in the ninth grade which dropped off from 181 to 153, the 1935 figure being 170. The seventh and eighth grades remained about the same as last year, the total being 305 as against 311 in 1936 and 286 in 1935. This year's seventh grade is 151, and the eighth 154. The total junior high this year is 458 and last year 492.

The junior and sophomore classes accounted for most of the jump from 313 to 358 in the high school. The seniors dropped off from 98 to 91, the juniors increased from 95 to 125, and the sophomores from 120 to 142. The 1935 figures were 74, 110, and 112, for a total of 296. The classes usually grow smaller as they near their graduating year, but this year's

Suit for $10,000 Filed by Driver

Town counsel Arthur Sweeney is expected to file an answer in Superior court next week to a suit for $10,000 filed this week against Chief of Police George A. Dane by Arthur E. Orne of Stoneham, occupant of the police car in which the then officer Ray Hickey was injured last September. Officer Hickey was returning Orne to Andover after having arrested him on a charge of operating under the influence, when a truck cutting off of line in North Reading crashed the police car.

Orne in his suit charges the chief with leaving him "in an unconscious condition all that night in a cell" in the town hall, refusing to grant his request for a physician, and refusing to admit him to bail until the following afternoon. Police state that officer Jowett took the man to the hospital where he was examined and released in charge of the police; then he was taken to the cell, allegedly under the influence, and left overnight; when Chief Dane reported in the morning, he asked him if he wanted bail, but Orne could find no one to bail him until afternoon.

Chief Dane's realty and bank account have been attached.

Royals to Battle White Hopes Tonight

With creaking joints, burnt-out bearings and low mileage expectations, the old Andover Royals will take to the diamond again tonight to try to defeat the White Hopes of Shawsheen village. Some twenty-five or more years ago the Royals were in their prime, but most of them haven't played much ball since. From five to 5.30 tonight at the playstead they will try to make up for the inactivity of the past quarter-century with a vigorous practice session.

The game is scheduled to get underway promptly at 5.30, in the hope that it will finish before dark, if the players aren't finished too. Tim Mahoney is expected to umpire behind the plate, and Doc Crowley on the bases. Handling the Royals from the bench will be the former manager, Ray Cole, now of Lawrence.

Joe Red Stack will probably start in the box with town father Ev Collins on the receiving end for the Royals. Ev's brother George was due to start at the initial sack, but he will be busy with the Harvard football squad and somebody else will have to make the errors at first.

Other old Royals expected to be seen in action, if you want to call it that, are (with their weights) Jim Welch, 102; Henry Porter, 150; Ed O'Connell of Lawrence, 185; Walter O'Connell of Lawrence, 150; Harry Trow, 175; Dutch Dushame, Methuen school committeeman, 185; Henry Lund, North Andover, 170; Carl Lindsay, 170; Doc Kyle, 180 and up; Fred Keuhner of Lawrence, 101; Dave Keuhner of Lawrence, 155; Ted Lawson, 150. Their average age is between 40 and 45, and their average expectancy is three innings.

The proceeds at 25 cents per are going to some worthy cause, with the boys even agreeing to buy their own liniment.

Comparative youngsters are the Shawsheen players. Their average age is 34 years and three months, with Harry Emmons at 43 being the oldest and Gerald Todd at 24 being young enough to be the son of any of the Royals, provided they managed to get parental consent to marry under 21. Harry Donovan will not appear, having been called out of town on business.

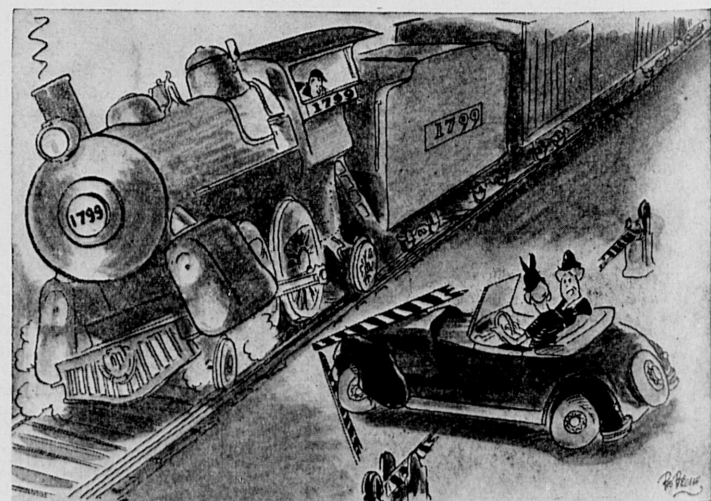

The Shawsheen squad: Bert Malley, Gordon Thompson, William Doyle, Carl Erler, Scottie Gerrish, Andy MacLachlan, Gerald Todd, Clifford Ripley, Tom McMahon, Hervey Guertin, Duke Campbell, Charles Flanagan, Alden Walls, Dick Sullivan, Harry Emmons and Bill Scanlon.

A school teacher, after examination of the pupils in her class by the school nurse, wrote the following note to the parents of a certain little boy:

The next morning she received a reply from the boy's father, who wrote: "I don't exactly understand what Charlie has done, but I have walloped him tonight and you can wallop him tomorrow. That ought to help some."
