To Retire in March

William B. Cheever

Tax collector William B. Cheever will retire in March, he stated this week. There had been some talk at the time that the new town employees' pension law went into effect that Mr. Cheever would retire in January, but he prefers to stay on until election time. This will put all the candidates on an even footing, for if he retired in January the selectmen would have to appoint a temporary collector, and this nominee would have the inside track at the election.

Clan and Auxiliary Fair Being Held

An electrical refrigerator is to be awarded as the capital prize at the annual Clan and auxiliary fair being held today and tomorrow in Fraternal hall.

The committee: William Watt, Mrs. Ann Driscoll, William Vannett, Mrs. Isabel McLaren, Mrs. Merrill Watts, James Caldwell, Edward Brown, Mrs. Fred Scott, Mrs. Mary Smith, Peter Anderson, Mrs. Alexander Valentine, Mrs. Jean Wood, Hector Pattullo and Fred Scott.

Plan to Advertise Town, Tax Rate

Advertising the town and its low tax-rate with the view of stimulating home-building here may be undertaken shortly by the Andover Service club, according to a discussion at the club meeting last night. Vice-president J. Augustus Remington of the Taxpayers' association, interested in the plan because of the valuation increase occasioned by new construction, brought it to the attention of the club.

John E. Hines, old-time actor, gave a talk on old Boston.

TAXPAYERS' HEAD TO SPEAK

President Edmond E. Hammond of the Andover Taxpayers' association will speak on the work of the local association at the annual meeting of the Methuen Taxpayers' association to be held tonight.

Guild Opens for Season Monday

The Andover Guild opens for the season on Monday. The first few days will be devoted to registration and organizing of classes and clubs.

All of last year's volunteer workers are back, with a few additional leaders. Mrs. Frank Crawford, who conducted a cooking class a few years ago, will be back this year.

Young children will register afternoons from 3.30 to 5, and older children from 7 to 9 evenings all next week. The registration fee is the same as last year: Adults, $1.00; 14-18, 75 cents; 11-14, 50 cents; under 11, 25 cents.

The schedule will be practically the same as last year.

Japanese and Chinese to Debate

The Sino-Japanese war is to be carried to Andover next Monday night when a Chinese lecturer and author and a Japanese pastor will debate the Far-Eastern Crisis at a meeting of the Phillips club.

Dr. Ch'ao-Ting Chi, born in China and a student there and at the University of Chicago, a member of the Chinese delegation to the Institute of Pacific Relations in 1936, lecturer and author, will present China's attitude in today's conflict.

Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, the only Oriental pastor of an American congregation in the United States, a native of Japan educated in Tokio and at Yale University, will speak from the Japanese point of view.

SCHOOL CALLED OFF

Heavy rains caused the cancellation of afternoon school sessions yesterday, the No School signal ringing at 12.30.

TELL-TALES READY

The Townsman Tell-tales for the fall and winter are ready for distribution at the office.

Historical Society Has Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Andover Historical society was held Wednesday evening with the president, William A. Trow, in the chair. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were followed by that of the nominating committee with the election of the officers and directors as listed: President, William A. Trow; vice-presidents, Scott H. Paradise and Thaxter Eaton; secretary, F. Tyler Carlton; treasurer, Henry J. Stevenson; directors re-elected were Edwin T. Brewster and Caroline M. Underhill with Mrs. Franklin C. Roberts as a new member.

The resignation as director of Mrs. F. T. Carlton was accepted with regret and with an expression of appreciation for her constant loyalty and active service.

The treasurer reported the receipt of three new memorials to earlier members, namely:

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Abbot Goodhue,

Poppy Day to Be Held Tomorrow

Because the weather last Saturday was not particularly favorable to any flowers, even poppies, the local Legion post announced early in the day that its annual poppy sale would be postponed until tomorrow.

The Sons of the Legion will assist in the sale, the proceeds of which are used for welfare work among the veterans.

To Give Talk on Design, Planting

Miss Ellen Shipman, outstanding landscape architect of New York, will give her famous lecture on "Design and Planting" at the meeting of the Andover Garden club at the November club house on Tuesday, at ten a.m.

In order that anyone who so desires may enjoy the privilege of attending, the public will be welcome on payment of fifty cents admission.

Members may also bring guests and pay the customary fee.

There will also be an interesting exhibit of Thanksgiving centerpieces arranged by members.

Academy Boys Give Man Church Collection

An Andover man, recently deprived of home and belongings because of a fire, was given a total of $66.93 by the boys of Phillips academy this week. The sum was collected at the Sunday chapel service, and it ran twenty-five to thirty dollars ahead of the average collection.

MALE CHOIR TO SING

The Male choir will journey to Derry, N. H. on Sunday to open its concert season with a sacred program at St. Luke's M.E. Church.

The choir sang Sunday afternoon at the Lawrence General hospital.

Plan to Safeguard School Sandbank

School Board Sub-committee and B.P.W. Superintendent Study Problem

The school committee sub-committee on buildings and grounds, with the assistance of B. P. W. superintendent Charles T. Gilliard, is investigating the possibility of safeguarding the big sandbank at the rear of the Shawsheen school from a cave-in. It has been feared for some time that a landslide might take place while children were playing under it, bringing probable death to the youngsters.

The school was built over ten years ago on the side of a hill, and the playyard at the rear was more or less dug out of the hill. The Board of Public Works for some time took sand out of the yard for winter sanding purposes, but when the bank became quite steep the sub-committee requested the B. P. W. not to take any more sand out, and this request has been respected. The school janitor and the teachers have tried to keep the children away from the bank.

Superintendent Gilliard inspected the bank this morning with janitor Henry Todd to try to decide what was the best method of preventing a disaster. He stated yesterday that it might be possible to slope it off at about 1 1/2 to 1, which would make about a 55 degree angle at the base. This could possibly be done with the big claylike mound now remaining in the center of the yard.

The suggestion has also been made that trees might be planted on the slope to hold it back, and Mr. Gilliard is checking on this with the state department of public works, which is said to have used this method on some of its roadsides.

Buses to Wait at Andover Square

At the request of the Board of Selectmen, the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway has agreed to have its buses wait in the square at the Musgrove building instead of on Bartlet street hereafter. The request was made in order to provide greater convenience for the patrons, especially in bad weather. All drivers have been notified.

The only exception will be the buses which carry school children, and these of course have to wait on Bartlet street.

Guild Rummage Sale Tomorrow

Many opportunities for making worthwhile purchases will be offered tomorrow at the annual Guild rummage sale, for which more than the usual amount of donations has been received. The sale will be held in the gymnasium from 9 to 5, with Miss Anna Kuhn in charge, assisted by an able committee.

This Sober Town Chats About You and Us and the Other Folks Here in Andover

Rectified Spelling

A lot of motorists driving over the road-way lettering on Main street up past the post office on Saturday morning examined the letters carefully, and then said: "The Townsman's crazy. This spelling of SCHOOL and PARKING is correct. The Townsman said they were spelled SOHOOL and PAKPING."

About three o'clock last Friday afternoon Chief of Police Dane glanced at the Townsman which had just come off the press. On page two he saw the diagram of Main street and the incorrect spelling, and was he surprised! He picked up the telephone and called the painter: "Do I have to go around after every painting job you do on the roads to see that you spell SCHOOL right?"

At quarter past three the Andover Garage called us to say that the painters were back correcting the spelling. One of them explained to us later that in tracing over the old letter C in SCHOOL the painter had just kept on going and made it an O instead. And you can't criticize a man for doing more than he was asked to, can you?

Runs into Bus; Boy Slightly Hurt

Minor bumps and scratches were sustained last Friday afternoon by eight-year-old David Vannett when, apparently not seeing a bus coming down Park street, he ran out and bumped into it. He hit the right side of the front bumper.

Although Dr. Percy J. Look was close to the scene of the accident, the boy protested vigorously against medical assistance, and when the ambulance delivered him at his house, he dashed out of it and scooted into the house.

by Gilbert Stuart Newton, and a silhouette of Revere by an unknown artist, signed "P. G." in 1781, also the original seal of Phillips academy done by Paul Revere himself. These items were all lent for the occasion.

Mrs. C. W. Ward contributed an original pewter spoon bearing the mark of P. R., with a smaller silver reproduction, and Mrs. C. C. Kimball lent five silver reproductions of great beauty.

Tells of Remodelling

There was a lively interest in the changes as to the new entrance to the historical house and its surrounding fence concerning which Mr. Trow spoke as follows, linking the old with the new.

The Andover Historical society was founded in 1911 by a group of sixteen zealous citizens for the purpose of encouraging an "interest in historical and antiquarian research; to collect and treasure significant historical matter and antiquarian relics; and to found and maintain a museum where such collections shall be preserved and exhibited, thus making a valuable, interesting and educational feature in the life of Andover."

With the importance of these objects in mind after eighteen years of activity, the society in 1929 took possession of its present home, noted by Samuel Chamberlain in his recent book "Open House in New England" as "A typical New England mansion of the early 1800's is the Deacon Amos Blanchard House in Andover. Its mantels and stair rails are finely carved and the Deacon's carefully kept account books tell exactly the cost of everything that went into the house."

In order that the exterior of the "mansion" might worthily carry out the 1820 characteristics, as well as the interior, a fence and an entrance of that period is being constructed—to replace the 1876 fence and 1890 porch, both of which were greatly in need of repairs.

Following the advice of architects and guided by historical advisers in such matters, the fence selected for reproduction is that type which surrounds the Kittredge mansion in North Andover—a house attributed to the famous Samuel McIntire of Salem. The porch chosen for reproduction is of the 1820 style found in so many of the houses in Salem and Portsmouth and notably here in Andover on the house of the late George Abbot of Central street.

Both this fence and porch had special mention and words of approval published in the Architectural Monograph on Early Wooden Architecture in Andover by Addison LeBoutillier.

These improvements have been made possible through the generous gift from an anonymous friend. Perley F. Gilbert, our local architect has very generously devoted much study and time to the subject. All work has been done in the most substantial manner. Red-wood was selected as the most durable material, re-inforced sections supplement the concrete foundations and every effort has been made for authenticity in restoration. Painting will complete the work after the necessary grading and planting.

A brief report concerning donations and visitors was made by Miss Underhill, followed by a social hour inspecting the acquisitions and enjoying refreshments.

Camera Hunter Gives Lecture

Howard Cleaves, "Sherlock Holmes of the Lens," gave an illustrated lecture on "Wilderness Thrills," at an assembly of Punchard high and the junior high this afternoon. Intimate and sometimes unexpected "close-ups" of everything from bears to chipmunks, hummingbirds to herons, gave the students what have been described as the best and truest wild life pictures being shown in this country.

Howard Cleaves is one of the country's crack camera hunters. Recently he captured a Certificate of Merit at the International Exhibition of Nature Photography in London. His photographs help illustrate the recent book "Bird Flight," by Gordon Aymar. His camera shots have appeared in "Saturday Evening Post," "National Geographic," "House and Garden," "Nature," and others. "American Boy" carried a feature article last April about him and his work.

Constantly working on new plans and ideas for catching unawares the denizens of the great outdoors, one gets the impression that Cleaves never sleeps. And wild-life photographers seldom do—at night. Many of his very best sequences were taken by flashlight and light bombs, involving hours and hours of patient waiting until the right second came.

Several years ago Howard Cleaves was chosen from the whole United States to be the official photographer for Pennsylvania's Governor Pinchot in his trip to the South Sea Islands, and he came back with thousands of feet of beautiful film of that region. More recently he has been working on wild life of the Atlantic Coast and Appalachian region—from Labrador to Florida.

Two Accidents Over Week-end

Saturday night and early Sunday morning saw two accidents in Andover both in outlying sections of the town. Joseph Groton, a Lowell man, was most seriously injured when the car in which he was a passenger caromed off a pole early Sunday morning near the North school, struck a rock and then rolled over several times. He had several deep lacerations of the scalp. The driver, a Lawrence man, had an injured shoulder and a girl passenger from Lowell sustained a cut on the lip that required two stitches.

Saturday night the wet pavement caused slight injuries to two local young people when the car in which they were riding crashed into two small trees on Tewksbury street, Ballardvale. James D. Platt of Bancroft road received a bruise on the knee and Ruth O'Connor of Maple avenue a cut and a bump.

King's Daughters to Hold Open Meeting

Andover Playhouse Well Received

Andover Art Studio

The new Andover Playhouse at its opening on Tuesday evening was filled to capacity with a crowd that was free in expressing genuine admiration at the excellent job done in the entire rebuilding of the old Colonial Theatre. The very comfortable seats, the air-conditioning, the lighting, the sound, the attractive inner lobby, the luxuriously appointed ladies' room and the general appearance of the whole auditorium all came in for their share of the patrons' praise.

Manager Samuel Resnik had as guests the town officials, school teachers, physicians, clergymen, and academy faculties. He was soundly applauded as he appeared on the stage to open the program with a little talk, followed by Chairman of the selectmen, Howell F. Shepard, who expressed the town's gratitude for Mr. Resnik's civic-spiritedness in bringing such a fine theatre to Andover as well as in his willingness in the past to allow the use of the theatre facilities for charitable purposes.

There were many baskets of flowers on the stage, gifts from Mr. Resnik's well-wishers.

For his first program Mr. Resnik was fortunate in securing "A Hundred Men and a Girl," with Deanna Durbin, charming little sixteen-year-old singer who skyrocketed to cinematic fame in "Three Smart Girls."

Officials, Corporations and Public Can All Help in Getting Wires Underground

Several home-owners whose trees have been maimed by public service companies stringing wires from pole to pole along the highways have expressed the feeling since last Friday's editorial that some definite course of action should be taken against further despoliation of this kind. That course of action would have to originate and develop from three sources: our town officials, the public service companies and the public itself.

Down in Shawsheen village nearly all the wires are underground; the town of Wellesley is equally as fortunate in this respect. The aim of the people of Andover should be to get all wires underground, to eliminate the poles and the resultant havoc to our trees. It would be a long task to carry such a program to completion, but that is all the more reason for making an early start on it.

The town officials can help in this program in two ways. The Board of Selectmen have the power to approve or disapprove of new pole locations, and if they follow the policy henceforth of refusing to sanction new pole locations, one great step would have been taken in beautifying the town. Sufficient reason for refusing to grant the locations can be found in the town's past experience with tree-maiming. Then the tree warden can refuse to allow the companies to cut the trees on the public ways. It will mean being hard-boiled, but when a tree is healthy, no really valid reason can be found for lopping off limbs here and there.

The corporations themselves can help by adopting a long-range plan of pole elimination here. Poles in the first place mean a heavy depletion of the world's natural supply of trees, and in the second place they are just about the most ugly-looking things that could be found for carrying the wires. These companies, in their merchandising field for instance, try to present very attractive articles for sale. They offer the public Duncan Phyfe lamps, but in erecting huge ungainly poles they are in effect doing the same as if they were to sell the public a stick with a bulb on it for a lamp. They make their merchandise attractive; it would pay them in good will to make their service facilities attractive too.

And the public itself has a real part to play in this program. Organizations like the Village Improvement society for instance could do much toward beautifying the town by impressing upon the town officials and the corporations the desirability of eliminating poles and the resultant tree-slashing. It would seem a worthwhile line of endeavor for the society and indeed for every civic-minded citizen in town.

We have a zoning law to make our town attractive from a building standpoint. Let us fight now to keep our trees beautiful.

Siftings

And then there's the fellow who thinks that the Nine-Power Conference is what the Giants met up with a few weeks ago.

Most Republicans endorse the Hoover idea of making the Grand Old Party the Grand Young Party by infusing new blood in it, but few of us want the GOP to become the GYP.

Just a few more days before Congress starts to get ready to rush some hasty legislation through next summer.

Two more weeks before the Exeter game, and before we know it Thanksgiving, Christmas, hockey, Easter, baseball and Fourth of July will be here.

House with Oldest Room Bought by William Rich

The house with the oldest room in Andover, the George L. Abbot house at 57 Central street, was sold this week by Miss Mary Byers Smith to William T. Rich, Jr., of School street, through the Fred E. Cheever agency. It is believed that the southeast room is part of the original house built in 1678. Miss Smith who a year ago purchased the John Lovejoy Abbot house next door, restored the George Abbot house, making it one of the most attractive Colonial homes in New England.

ADDRESSES ALLIANCE

Church Model Led at Hobby Show

One of the most interesting exhibitions ever held in Andover took place at the town hall last Friday and Saturday when the Andover League of Women Voters sponsored a Hobby Show which displayed an amazing variety and number of the leisure-time activities of Andover residents of all ages.

From the trailer at the front door to the puppet show, creche and canaries on the stage at the rear of the hall, the visitors looked with incredulous surprise at the results attained by patient and persistent use of odd moments.

On entering the hall, the onlooker was given a ballot on which to express his preference as to the most interesting exhibit. This choice proved very difficult, as he visited the different parts of the hall, gazing at a beautiful model church, interesting ship and coach models, sculpture, paintings, metal work, intricate carving, fancy work and collections of all kinds.

The prize, which was a book entitled "Hobbies for Everybody" was finally awarded to Addison B. LeBoutillier for his miniature church and grounds. Other exhibits receiving a considerable number of votes included Walter Taylor and the exhibit of the blind; Melvin Barnes for his creche, Miss Margaret Davis for her puppets, Mrs. Charles Dole for her tapestries and silver work, Mrs. Frank McCarthy for her canaries, Mrs. Samuel Moody for her metal work, George Sanborn for his whittling and semi-precious stones and Miss Edith Sellars for her collections of Mexican glass and animals.

Others receiving many votes included William Thompson, sketches, linoleum block prints, and ship models; Norman Pitman for his model airplanes; Norman Drouin for his sketches, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Surette for their marionettes and stage.

Sergeant Carney Now Lieutenant

The many friends of Master Sergeant George A. Carney will be pleased to learn that he has been commissioned a Second Lieutenant of Field Artillery, in the Massachusetts National Guard. Lieutenant Carney has been appointed to his own organization, Regimental Headquarters Battery, 102 F. A. of Lawrence. He has been associated with the National Guard for a number of years, his first venture being in 1927 when he enlisted in Headquarters Battery under the late Captain Daniel F. Maloney, who promoted him to corporal shortly after his enlistment.

On July 1, 1929, he was promoted to sergeant and has never gone below this rating. He served in 1st Battalion Headquarters Battery of Lowell for two years under Captain Napoleon J. Vigant. Later he transferred back to Headquarters Battery in Lawrence under Captain William F. Millea, where he has since remained. The present battery commander, Lieut. William E. Burton, promoted him to master sergeant a little over two years ago.

Mr. Carney was born in Andover in the old Higgins Court and attended the local schools. He is a graduate of St. Augustine's parochial school with the class of '22. He attended Punchard high school for one year, then accepted a position in the Smith and Dove office where he remained until their dissolution. At the present time he is employed by the Andover Press and resides with his mother at 75 Essex street.

The nominating committee which will appoint all necessary committees for the remainder of the year was also elected as follows: Rev. Herman C. Johnson and Ruth Keith.

Reverend Mr. Johnson gave a Bible talk and the life of Robert Louis Stevenson was discussed by the members.

The Senior Christian Endeavor society of the church met at 5.30 after which they went to the Lawrence Union to attend the Youth's Night.

Tonight both societies will attend a Halloween party at the Vale Methodist Episcopal church. They will meet at the Free church at 7.45.

Academy to Meet Bowdoin Fresh

Phillips academy will meet Bowdoin fresh tomorrow in the next-to-the-last preliminary game of the season. Bowdoin fresh has played but one game, defeating Hebron academy 19-7. The freshman team is limited to two practices a week, and as this is freshman initiation week at the Brunswick institution, the chances are that substitutions will be very frequent. The coach is bringing along 33 men for this purpose.

The Bowdoin team will line up as follows: i.e., Upham; i.g., Tonon; i.t., Walker; c., Harkness; r.g., Irwin; r.t., Toney; r.e., Howie; q.b., Williams; l.b.b., Stickle; r.h.b., Dorsey; f.b., Haldane.

HEARING ON RIVER STREET

A hearing will be held by the county commissioners at the court house in Salem on November 5th on the relocating of the lines of River street in Ballardvale. Some of the property lines on the street are indefinite.

P. A. LECTURE

When Alan Villiers spoke at Phillips Academy four years ago the audience was delighted with the beauty of his pictures and the charm of his manner. Mr. Villiers has recently completed a circum-navigation of the world under sail alone, a feat which will probably never be accomplished again. He will describe this exciting voyage, and show his remarkably fine pictures, at George Washington Hall this evening at 8:15. There is no charge for admission.

November Club to Open Season

The November club opens its season at the clubhouse on Monday, November 1, at three o'clock. Attention of the members is particularly called to the change in the time of the meetings, three o'clock instead of 3.15 as it has been in previous years. The Dramatic department is in charge of the meeting and is to present a short play.

Lost Cities to Be Lecture Subject

On Saturday night, November 6, Dr. W. Stuart Carnes, archaeologist and explorer, will speak at Abbot academy on "The Lost Cities of the Mayas Found in the Jungles of Yucatan." The lecture will be illustrated with moving pictures of the cities as they are today, after invasion by the Spaniards, and other pictures of the cities as they were 1000 years ago, when the Mayan Indians, whom Dr. Carnes describes as a superior race, lived there amid an atmosphere of culture and in harmony among themselves. He describes very clearly the ruins of an Ancient Civilization which flourished south of the some scientists, superior to our own. Under the wise rule of the great ITZAMNA and his followers, there had grown a powerful empire on the peninsula of YUCATAN. Temples and pyramids still standing, equalling in grandeur those of Egypt and Rome, and others in ruins, proclaim their builders to have been the world's Master Masons. Yucatan is a land of mystery, tropical jungles and underground rivers, massive ruins of an Ancient Civilization—THE PEOPLE OF THE SERPENT.

CHICHEN-ITZA, the City of the Sacred Well, into which maidens 14 to 18 years of age were cast as human sacrifice to appease the Rain God YUM-CHAC is the most interesting and educational part of this lecture. This and a number of other ancient cities were seen by Colonel Lindbergh from his airplane while flying over that tropical country a few years ago. Out of the silence of centuries, archaeologists and explorers are beginning to unveil the mysteries of a vast, forgotten American Empire. In the heart of Central American jungles they have found the glistening white pyramids of its lost cities, ornate palaces of kings, royal courts of games, temples of fire and human sacrifices and massive walls of bas-relief which have reluctantly yielded to their persistent efforts. Unveiled secrets of the life of the soft-eyed, sandal-footed people who reached amazing heights of social and intellectual achievement yet indulging in practices of indescribable brutality and horror.

Dr. and Mrs. Carnes bring with them a collection of relics and skins of animals found in the jungles of Yucatan, besides handcraft and pottery. They also bring their two pets "Jeep" and "Mico." These two little animals were brought from the jungles by Dr. Carnes. "Jeep" was captured in Yucatan and is the only one ever to be brought to this country alive. "Mico" is also a rarity in this country. They are the pizote and the kinkajou, respectively. Both are very tame and intelligent and add an interesting few minutes to this unique and worthwhile program.

The public is invited, the fee being fifty cents.

Dr. W. Stuart Carnes

Gulf of Mexico 1000 years before Columbus discovered America. Who were these people? Whence came they? Where did they go? How, when, and why did their mighty cities perish?

From the beginning of the Christian era until the white man first came to America these people had developed a more accurate knowledge of astronomy than had been accomplished by the science of Europe. They had an advanced system of mathematics. They had developed a chronology, in the opinion of

To the Commissioners of Essex County Gentlemen:

Hope to Prevent Pneumonia Toll

Another in the ever-increasing number of disease-preventing vaccines is being tried out at the local C.C.C. camp, with camp physician Dr. Louis Altshuler administering it to 184 members. Army medical experts hope that the new vaccine will eventually lead to the stamping out of pneumonia. Some tests have been made, and while the vaccine is not 100 percent effective, it is felt that it will do much to lessen the prevalence of the disease.

Local Boy Stars in Andover Victory

Andover slithered its way to a 7-6 victory over Harvard fresh Saturday, with the last two periods being played in a downpour that made the breaks a very important threat to both sides.

The game wasn't very old before Hovey Seymour had scored a touchdown for Andover from his own 45-yard line, thanks mainly to about as fine a piece of blocking as has been seen on Andover Hill. Sweeping around his own right end, he was protected by Kubie and Kausel of the backfield. Three Harvard men swept down on him, with Kubie and Kausel taking two of them out. The fullback was just getting set for a tackle when Jack Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lindsay, coming over from the line, rolled into him from the rear, leaving Seymour with a clear field ahead. Jack's work on the defense was also outstanding.

Seymour got off to another good run later in the period, with Ted Harrison on the next play cutting through the line for another good gain. But there the tide turned. At the start of the second quarter Andover was playing into a wind. Harvard got off a punt from its own 33 to Andover's ten, and the return punt went from Andover's own ten backwards to it three, from where Gardella scored for Harvard a play later. But Harvard failed to score the point, and since Ted Harrison's boot had been successful after the Andover score, that failure meant defeat. The rest of the game saw not even the threat of a score by either team.
