May Generate Own Electricity

School Board Given Figures Showing Installation Would Pay for Itself in 11 Years

The local school board may in the not too distant future generate its own electricity for the central schools on the basis of figures submitted at the meeting Tuesday night. Roughly, they showed an operating cost saving each year of about $1,000, with the plant being able to provide the load at about two-thirds the present cost.

The installation of a Diesel engine in the old boiler room, complete with sound-proofing, vibration-elimination, etc., would cost at present about $11,500, with the equipment paying for itself in about eleven years. The operating costs, liberally estimated, total $1950, including allowance for depreciation. The cost at present of the load of 55,757 kilowatt-hours is $2,968, making a saving of $1018, or a return of 8.7 percent on the investment.

The members of the committee were very enthusiastic over the report, but the advisory sub-committee was requested to secure more information and report back as soon as possible. There may be action at the town meeting in March on this question.

Free Church to Hold Fair Friday

On Friday, November 12th, from three to nine p.m. the Free Church will hold its annual fair in the Parish House with a turkey supper at 6:15. The fair will feature the following tables, to which all church members and friends are invited to contribute: Garden Produce, Plants, Candy, Grabs (new 5c articles for children), Bakery, Aprons, Preserves and Jellies, Dry Goods and Fancy Work, Groceries, package goods; Woolworth-Kresge counter (miscellaneous articles from 5 to 50 cents).

Anyone who desires to attend the turkey supper is requested to obtain tickets from Mrs. E. Tabor McFarlin of Elm street as precedence at the tables will be given to ticket-holders.

GIVES CONCERT

The Andover Male choir, with Mrs. Dorothy Cornwell as soloist and Miss Alda Eldridge as violinist, gave a concert on Wednesday evening at the First-Calvary Baptist church, Lawrence.

CONTINUING OLD PICTURES

In answer to numerous requests the Townsman will hereafter run each week one old-time picture, more if space allows. Those who have already submitted pictures are asked to be patient if their pictures do not appear immediately, as we have a large supply ahead.

Red Cross Roll Call to Start Thursday

The annual Red Cross Roll Call will start on November 11th. Armistice Day and continue until Thanksgiving Day. The Roll Call headquarters will be located in the American Legion rooms where a telephone, Andover 1496, has been installed. Mabel Barron, executive secretary of the campaign, will be present daily to give out any necessary information pertaining to the drive and collect any contributions that anyone may wish to leave.

The contributions of last year were disbursed as follows: Public Health Nursing, $2585.05; First Aid Stations (three), 150.00; Thanksgiving Baskets, 87.97; Christmas baskets, 70.90; Tuberculosis Treatment, 284.65; shoes, 81.54; milk, 346.13; clothing, 42.86; teeth treatment, 264.55; groceries, 55.89; fuel, 67.85; medicine, 24.37; hospital, 101.00; glasses, 11.50; miscellaneous, 12.38; total, $4186.64.

Seventy-two children had 129 dental appointments; 289 teeth were filled and 23 were extracted. Forty-three local families were helped in various ways. Tonsils of nine children were removed. Eye glasses were fitted to five children.

The Roll Call committee consists of the following chapter directors: Stafford A. Lindsay, chairman, assisted by Miss Anna Kuhn, Mrs. George F. French, C. Carleton Kimball, Philip F. Ripley, Kenneth L. Sherman and Frank P. Markey.

Accepts Call to Baptist Church

Rev. Samuel Overstreet of Gardner to Be Installed December First

Rev. Samuel Overstreet, pastor of the First Baptist church at Gardner for the past five years, accepted on Wednesday the call of the Andover Baptist church to become pastor here in place of Rev. Lorentz I. Hansen, who has resigned to devote his entire time to teaching.

Rev. Samuel Overstreet

Born in Georgia, Rev. Mr. Overstreet attended Mercer University, the Baptist college of that state, receiving his A.B. degree in 1930. In June, 1932, he received his B.D. degree from the Andover-Newton Theological seminary.

Early in his college career Rev. Mr. Overstreet was ordained and he directed the religious activities of three rural churches. In June, 1929, the Calvary Baptist church of Savannah, Ga., granted the full ordination.

While at Andover-Newton Rev. Mr. Overstreet served as student pastor at the Merrimac Baptist church. He went to Gardner from there, and on December first, the date of his installation here, he will have concluded exactly a full five year pastorate at Gardner. He is well thought of in Gardner, for his church has reported

Man Injured in Morning Blaze

A destroyed camp and a burned toe resulted from an early morning fire today at a camp owned by Donald McDonald on Rattlesnake Hill road. The place had just been entirely remodelled, and the two workmen from Wilmington who had been doing the remodelling were sleeping in it. They woke up and found the place filled with smoke, and when the department arrived it was a mass of flames. One of the two men received a bad burn on his toe when he stepped on an ember on the way out.

ARMISTICE PROGRAMS

Friday evening, Military ball, town hall, British War Veterans.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

The Sons of Veterans auxiliary will install their new officers on November 17.

Photography Exhibit Very Interesting

The Addison gallery, which is devoted mainly to painting, is now staging a very large selection of photographs, explanatory models, even cameras, to illustrate the history of Photography from the year 1839 when it first became practical, down to the present day. It is difficult in the face of so many beautiful pictures, particularly in the modern section not to wonder if photography is so far ahead of painting and drawing as a means of visual expression that the day of the latter is over. An artist who for a whole year had been painting and drawing the romantic scenery of a certain Italian district, was shown some photographs of the subjects, which not only recorded the beautiful effects of sunlight and shadow on the rocks, trees and hills he had been trying to paint, but even seemed to express the poetic atmosphere which suffused them. He exclaimed that he might as well give up painting since what he saw and wanted to express, could be done so much better by a machine. Certain pictures in this show, the pure and clear cut sand dunes by Weston, the clouds and snow by Boucher and the vivid portrait studies by Erfurth seem to encompass almost all that has been attempted by the conventional draughtsman, while other modernistic photographs are as striking and bizarre as pictures done by artists more interested in abstractions than in reproductions of nature. Only in the control and range of color does painting appear to have greater resources than photography at the present time.

It is interesting, when one sees this not yet centenary art outstrip the ancient art of making pictures with the eyes and the hands, to read that photography was first sought for and ultimately invented by

Chats About You and Us and the Other Folks Here in Andover

Well, When?

If a newspaperman can answer the questions: Who, What, When, Where, Why, and How? he can feel sure that his story is pretty well covered. It was probably this habit built up by his profession that caused one of our fourth estate contemporaries to ask a question at a meeting the other night, a question that definitely smacked of the non-joke-getting trait so commonly associated with the English.

One of the committee-members was speaking on how large a particular problem had become, very gradually, and he was illustrating it by telling a story. "It's like the camel," he said, "who stuck his head in his master's tent at night, and in the morning the camel was all the way in the tent and the master was outside."

The simile-induced stillness was interrupted by our contemporary's question: "When was this?"

Rural Delivery

A very nice fur coat was delivered to a Lowell street resident on Tuesday, but the resident refused to accept it.

It was in the mailbox, a lovely black and white civet in a natural-fitting model. Irrate at finding such a nice fur coat in the mailbox, the resident called in Officer David Gillespie, and somehow or other, Dave managed to get the coat out. If Dave hadn't had sense enough to go easy, chances are that he would have had scents enough when he got through. For these skunks aren't the nicest thing to have in your mailbox, even if it is around the first of the month.

WINS REFRIGERATOR

Miss Nan Lindsay was awarded an electric refrigerator on last Saturday evening at the conclusion of the Clan and auxiliary fair in Fraternal hall.

Four of the Village Smithies

The old blacksmith shop which still stands on the corner lot at Park and Bartlet streets, now being mentioned as a possible site for a new municipal building, back in the days when blacksmithing was a thriving industry. The above men worked there long before the building was lost in a maze of filling stations and garages. Left to right are the late Charles Bowman, former selectman; Joshua Paine, who was running the shop at the time of his death a few years ago; an as yet unidentified man; and John Anderson.

TO SUBMIT SKETCHES

Progress has been reported from the decorations committee for the new Junior high school, funds for which were provided by various organizations. A man from the Boston Museum School of Fine Arts has been asked to submit sketches for murals for the library. The committee includes Miss Mary Byers Smith, Mrs. Annie S. Angus, Miss Alice Oliff, Mr. Sanborn and Mr. Sherman.

Lay Transportation Matter on Table

The school committee on Tuesday evening, lacking an opinion from the attorney-general and from the state department of education, voted to lay the matter of transportation of five Vale children to the parochial school on the table until the end of the school year, at which time it is expected that a report will be presented on the public school age requirement. A new state law requires towns to transport children to private schools not operated for profit, and the local committee raised the question as to whether it had to transport the five children who were below the public school age requirement. In answer to a question put at the meeting Superintendent Sanborn reported that this transportation cost nothing extra, since the bus was making the trip anyway.

Talk on Movies at Club Meeting

The November meeting of the Shaw-sheen Village Woman's Club was held Monday evening, in Balmoral Hall.

The Dramatic Department is meeting this afternoon with Mrs. Leon Field, 5 Wolcott avenue.

There will be a business meeting of the Music Department at the home of Mrs. H. Garrison Holt, 9 Canterbury street, Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Amy French Pepin of Lowell, sang a group of songs accompanied by Margaret Shaw Thompson.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Paula Ellis Barnett, graduate of Teachers' College and Archer School of Dramatic Art, and a member of the play-writing staff of "Baker's Plays." Her subject was one of interest to all mothers—"The Movies and Our Young People." She said that by concerted action the major themes of Sex, Crime and Love, may be more fittingly presented to our young people who comprise twenty-eight million of the seventy million people who go to the movies each week.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. James R. Baldwin, chairman.

Library Groups Attack Politics

The Massachusetts Library Association and the Western Massachusetts Library Club, meeting jointly in Springfield October 21-22, record disapproval of the state Board of Free Public Library Commissioners' action in refusing to appoint a candidate for commissioner carrying "the almost unanimous indorsement of the library profession of the state."

The Memorial Hall Library was among the many which urged the appointment of Miss Yerxa.

Catherine M. Yerxa of Watertown had been selected by the group for the vacancy which was filled at the board's September meeting. It was charged that the position had been handed to a political follower of Governor Hurley.

Path of Glory Adventurers' Play

The Adventurers have chosen as their first offering the Path of Glory by L. DuGarde Peach. It is a delightful comedy attacking war from the standpoint of common sense. Its moral is that war today is not even profitable. The whole situation is treated humorously and satirically. So an evening of fun is assured you Tuesday, December 7th at Memorial Auditorium when seventeen of Andover's men and three of her women stage their war.

The play is in rehearsal now and is being directed by Mervin E. Stevens.

Install Andover Legion Officers

The new officers of the local Legion post were installed last night at a public ceremony held in the town hall before a large group of guests. Past department commander Jere J. Twomey and national sergeant-at-arms Richard Morrissey of Salem officiated. Many other departments were in attendance, as well as town officials. The squadron of Sons of Legion, all in their new uniforms, were present, as was the Legion Bugle and Drum corps.

The officers installed were: Commander, Stafford A. Lindsay; senior vice-commander, James F. Welch; junior vice-commander, Thomas P. Dea; adjutant, Joseph A. McCarthy; assistant adjutant, George Napier; finance officer, Arthur Jovett; chaplain, Fred E. Cheever; service officer, H. Garrison Holt; sergeant-at-arms, David Waldie; historian, Scott H. Paradise; executive committee, Joseph Remmes, Daniel Fitzgerald, Alfred Coates.

The post committee: Arthur L. Coleman, Daniel Fitzgerald, Paul Cheney, Harold L. Peters, and Fred Kuehner. The auxiliary committee: Mrs. George Cilley, Miss Ethel Hilton, Miss Doris Hilton, Mrs. Joseph Keith and Mrs. Albert Robinson.

To Receive New Church Members

The following will be received into membership in the Free Church next Sunday, at the regular Sunday communion service:

TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE

On Friday of next week, National Education Week, the Andover junior high school will hold open house day at which time parents and others interested are welcome to come and see the school in progress.

TO NOMINATE OFFICERS

The British War Veterans will nominate officers on Sunday evening in Square and Compass hall.

Tender Banquet to Lt. Carney

A testimonial banquet was tendered last evening at Lawrence Armory to Lt. George A. Carney of Essex street. He received a telephone call to report to his commanding officer, Lt. William E. Burton, no later than seven-thirty. When he arrived he found a caterer in charge, and all the members of Headquarters Battery who gave him a rousing ovation as he entered. The hall was prettily decorated and music was enjoyed during the dinner. The entertainment was in charge of Sgt. Albert Uliano and Sgt. Patrick Mahoney. The feature speaker of the evening was Capt. Peter E. Boscette, formerly of the French army who served as an interpreter with the 26th Division during the war. Capt. Boscette gave a very entertaining talk about his experiences during that time.

Cornelius F. Lynch acted as toastmaster and master of ceremonies. Other speakers of the evening included: Albert Uliano, Patrick Mahoney, Michael McCarthy, Parker Novakson, Lt. Burton, Edward Mosca and Lt. Carney.

Lt. Burton, on behalf of Headquarters Battery, presented a substantial gift to Lt. Carney. Community singing was enjoyed after the entertainment and Sgt. Uliano, Neil Lynch, Roland Massi, and Armond Morin rendered solos. Uliano also sang a song which he wrote, specially dedicated to Lt. Carney. About seventy-five were in attendance and a good time was thoroughly enjoyed.

AUXILIARY PAST PRESIDENTS HOLD MEETING

The Past Presidents association of the Ladies' auxiliary to Clan Johnston held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Lily Harris, 25 Washington avenue, Thursday evening, October 28th.

After the business session a social time was enjoyed with community singing and Hallowe'en games.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Alfred Harris.

Restrict Essex Street Parking

Parking on the north side of Essex street from the library to a point at St. Augustine's church opposite the junction of Ridge and Brook streets has been forbidden by an order of the selectmen adopted on Monday night. The reason given for the new order is that parking on both sides of the street is a hindrance to fire apparatus.

Officers Chosen by Harvard Club

G. Grenville Benedict was elected president of the Harvard club of Andover for his second term at the annual meeting held last Saturday night at the Andover country club. Atty. Irving W. Sargent was re-elected vice-president and Dino G. Valz was again named secretary-treasurer.

Nils V. (Swede) Nelson, Harvard backfield coach under Eddie Casey, gave an interesting talk replete with anecdotes.

Yale and Princeton men were guests of the club. There were about 45 present.

WHIST FOR BAZAAR

One of the ways in which the Christ church parishioners are making money for the bazaar, is by running whist parties and a very successful one was held at the Hilton home on North Main street last Friday evening. Seven tables of whist were used and the following won the useful prizes provided by the committee: Mrs. Harry Wrigley, Mrs. E. C. Edmands, Elizabeth Broadhurst, Mrs. Harold Peters, Mrs. W. E. THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Published every Friday at the Press Building, Andover, Mass., by the Andover Press
ELMER J. GROVER, Managing Editor
 Entered at Andover Postoffice as Second Class Matter

A Suggestion to the A. V. I. S. Next week the Andover Village Improvement society will hold its annual meeting. One of Andover's most important societies, this group is dedicated toward a furthering of the beauties of Andover. At times the society has been prominent in agitating against removal of certain trees and against other things that would gradually mar the beauty of our town.

We'd like to suggest to the society a program which if successful would make Andover one of the most beautiful communities in what we all feel with justification is the most beautiful section of the United States. It's a program that will require much work, much time, but no expense. The members who try to accomplish the program will be told at times probably that they are sticking their noses into things that don't concern them, but they will just have to remember that the beauty of this town is what does concern them and their society.

The program is designed to prevent if possible future transgressions, future deeds which would tend to mar the beauty of the town, and to improve if possible already existent transgressions. It is hoped that the society will give the program considerable thought at its meeting. Here it is:

First, keep in touch with the building inspector who has to grant all permits for construction. The zoning law helps very much; it limits particular districts to buildings of particular uses, but it can't prevent a property-owner from erecting a building that would be an eyesore. Public opinion can, however, and if the society finds from its contacts with the building inspector that so-and-so is planning to erect a shack of some sort on South Main street, or put up some kind of an unattractive wayside stand, the members should feel bound to go to see that person and try to make him change his plans through persuasion. It won't work in all cases, it will work when the property-owner has a sense of civic pride.

Second, keep after the billboard nuisance. Outdoor advertising of this kind does a town no good, and too often the billboards hide the real beauties of a community. Public opinion can help mitigate this nuisance, but it must be concerted and continued.

Third, list all the unsightly-looking structures in town, and see their owners about improving them or removing them. We have some right here almost in the center of the town. Again some of the owners will tell the members to mind their own business, but some will just need a little urging to do their part toward transforming eyesore.

Fourth, start working on those electric light and telephone poles. Try organizing the various streets in town, getting the property-owner to agree to pay the slight cost involved in digging from the street to the house. When all the property-owners on a street agree to do this, the public service companies should be willing to do their part, eliminating the poles and putting all the wires underground.

It will all take time, it will take years. It will be discouraging at times, but every gain made will be worth more than all the disappointments encountered.

Stopping the Machine

"Tammany Defeated in Comeback Attempt." "Curley Loses Mayoralty by 25,000." Headlines such as these that appeared in Wednesday morning's papers leave a good feeling with those real, honest, civic-minded American citizens who have watched with apprehension the control exercised over our government by the machine. Tammany bears an ill reputation because of its methods in the past, and it is nice to see the people of New York refusing to allow the Tiger to gain control again of the metropolis' government. Nearer home was the defeat of former mayor and former governor James Michael Curley, whose machine provided this state with the worst government in its history. Boston had always given Curley a strong vote, and the phrase was often heard: "Curley can't be beaten in Boston." But Curley could be beaten, Curley was beaten, soundly.

The United States still prefers cleanness in the conduct of its public affairs.

Something to Be Proud of

Congratulations to Samuel Resnik for the really excellent job he has done in changing the old Colonial Theatre into a fine, up-to-date, attractive amusement house. Having brought to Andover a theatre of which its residents can really be proud, he deserves now the whole-hearted support of those residents.

Siftings

Looks like Boston intends to make former Mayor Curley permanent former Mayor Curley.

Mr. Curley beaten by 25,000, thought of asking for a recount. That, together with his prodigious spending of the state's money, leads us to believe that he doesn't quite understand what all those zeros after the digits mean.

Weddings

Polsky-Blunt

At a noon ceremony Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blunt, 70 Salem street, their daughter, Miss Katherine Holt Blunt, became the bride of Nelson Polsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Polsky of Norwich, Conn. Rev. Frederick B. Noss performed the ceremony.

Attending the bride was Miss Kaye Perry of Boston, and Thomas D. Blunt, brother of the bride, was best man.

After a wedding trip to Mexico City the couple will live in Norwich. The bride has been medical supervisor of the W. W. Backus hospital in Norwich and Mr. Polsky is a member of the firm of the Yanti Wholesale Grain and Produce company in the Connecticut city. The bride graduated from Abbot academy and the Massachusetts General hospital, and she later attended Teachers' College, Columbia university.

Obituaries

Mrs. Thomas Manion

Funeral services for Mrs. Thomas Manion who died at her home on Walnut avenue last Thursday, were held on Saturday morning with a high mass of requiem being offered in St. Augustine's church by Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A. Burial was in the church cemetery. The bearers: Timothy Madden, John Murray, Wallace Angus and Alexander Sheriff.

William F. Chase

William F. Chase, who was taken ill at the post office a few weeks ago and who was removed to his residence at the Anderson sanitarium in the ambulance, died on Sunday night. In his 78th year, he had suffered for some time from asthma and heart trouble and had been at the Maple avenue sanitarium for about a year. Previously he had been a shoe manufacturer for many years in Haverhill.

Funeral services were held in Haverhill Wednesday, burial following in Merrimac.

Olive G. Runner

In the Hartford Courant of October 31 appeared the following obituary of Miss Olive G. Runner, well-known because of her residence here while teaching at Abbot.

"Miss Olive G. Runner died at her home, 268 North Oxford street, Saturday morning after a long illness. She had been active in Americanization work during and after the World War.

"Miss Runner was born November 26, 1878 and lived in Freeport, Ill., during her early years. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin in the class of 1903, she was also a student in the American School of Classical Studies in Rome. In 1906 she came east to teach at Rosemary Hall, Greenwich, Conn., and from 1907 to 1915 she taught Latin at Abbot academy, Andover, Mass.

"During the World War she became interested in Americanization work and taught English to foreign-born women in Paterson, N. J., and in Hartford County, under the sponsorship of the foreign-born division of the Y.W.C.A., coming to Hartford to live in 1920.

"She was a member of the Asylum Hill Congregational church, and the College club of Hartford. She leaves her mother, Mrs. Z. T. F. Runner of Austin, Minn.; two sisters, Mrs. William E. Swift of Cornwall and Mrs. Charles R. Swift of Center, Colorado, and a brother, Charles F. Runner of Detroit, Mich.

"Funeral services will be held in Freeport."

ODD FELLOWS NOTE

The local Odd Fellows will open their indoor baseball and bowling season on Wednesday evening in Fraternal hall when the North Andover lodge members will compete in a tournament. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Overstreet is also a native of Georgia, and they have one son, Robert, born in Gardner.

While a student at Mercer Rev. Mr. Overstreet distinguished himself as an inter-collegiate debater, and by faculty appointment he coached the teams in his senior year. At graduation he won two coveted honors, the Drury medal for proficiency in public address, and the key of the Honor society of Mercer, an honor to which only seven graduates are elected each year.

Mention Candidates for Tax Collector

Too early yet for candidates to make any formal or even informal announcement but not too early for rumors to spring up on what will probably prove the most interesting contest in March, the tax collectorship, this week brought forth several names as possible candidates for the position to be vacated by William J. Cheever. Among them are Carl Lindsay, Arthur Steinert, J. Lewis Smith and Frank Markey.

Gives Talk on Religious Plays

Fifteen members of the Courteous Circle of King's Daughters attended the all day Essex County King's Daughters convention held recently in Groveland.

The regular meeting of the Circle was held Monday night. A delicious supper was served by Mrs. Cheney and her helpers. After a short business meeting Rev. Mr. Drew of the Parker Street Methodist Church in Lawrence gave an interesting talk on "The Approach to Religion through the Drama." Mr. Drew made it very clear that plays not Biblical can be very religious—any play that inspires, elevates, or arouses a desire to live a better life is of more religious value than the many so called Biblical plays in which characters bearing Biblical names drape themselves in bright colored bath robes and Turkish towels and enact a scene which has no stirring impulse. The real test of a religious play is if it creates a deep yearning to make more of one's life.

The next regular meeting will be December 6 when Mrs. Henry H. Meyer, wife of Dean Meyer of Boston University School of Religious and Social Work will be the guest speaker.

Christ Church Woman's Guild Plans Meeting

The Woman's Guild of Christ church will hold its monthly business meeting next Friday, November 12, at the parish house, the date having been changed from the usual Thursday because of the holiday. President Mrs. Charles Hill will preside.

Miss Margaret I. Marston will give a talk. She is one of three distinguished speakers of the National Council. Tea will be served.

All members are urged to note the change in date and to attend the meeting.

November Club Opens Season

The November club held its first meeting of the season on Monday afternoon at the club house with the president, Miss Anne B. Penniman, presiding and the directors acting as hostesses.

After a brief business meeting the Dramatic department delighted the club with the presentation of an amusing one-act play entitled "Heaven on Earth" by Philip Johnson. The cast, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Trott, was as follows: Jill Hubbard, Miss Evelyn Rumney; Laura Hubbard, Mrs. Henry Hopper; Adrian Illidge, Mrs. Roscoe Dake; Ernest Hubbard, Mrs. Irving Sargent; Ellen, Mrs. James Eaton.

At the tea which followed Mrs. Henry Hopper and Mrs. Lester Lynde acted as pourers.

Gives First Talk on "History in Making"

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor on Wednesday morning when she gave her first talk on "History in the Making" at the November clubhouse. After a summer spent in Europe in intimate contact with some of the countries which are today claiming our very earnest and anxious attention, Mrs. Taylor is excellently equipped to interpret recent events and to comment on the trends which foreign affairs are likely to take.

This was the first of a series of eight lectures which Mrs. Taylor will give under the auspices of the November club. Tickets at an extremely reasonable price are available for single lectures or for the series.

Photography Exhibit Very Interesting

people who wanted to draw as accurately as they had seen others do, but who lacked the ability.

Camera Obscura

In the first room of the exhibition, where the man-size Camera Obscura is put up, there are also shown reproductions of old pictures which were drawn with aid of the image projected through the lens into the Camera Obscura. The possibility of such an image was known a long time before the invention of photography, which was really the discovery of the methods by which this image could be fixed, not by tracing but as the light made it. The French scene painter, Daguerre was the first man to discover a method of fixing the image, and a reproduction of the earliest daguerreotype in existence made by him in 1837, is shown in the room devoted to "Primitives in Photography." It is thrilling to think that we have the record of the light cast upon objects grouped together nearly a hundred years ago, and that the light itself which is now so many years of light away from us, was thus arrested for the first time.

There is a great charm in the group daguerreotypes, made about 1850. They seem to be more lifelike than present day portrait photographs. One cannot see the faces at once, but must peer around until one catches them at the proper angle, quaintly looking out as though from a window. The gravity of the moment was upon the sitters and it is still evident in their faces, reproduced with every detail, yet with a certain softness which seems to be typical of the daguerreotype.

Calotypes, which to the layman, differ from the daguerreotype by being printed on paper instead of glass, have a broader, stronger effect, more resembling present-day photography. They were invented by an Englishman named Talbot and the method was later improved by others. In 1843 a mediocre painter named Hill, having secured the aid of a chemist named Adamson, turned to this new method of making pictures. He posed and lighted the sitters, his associate made the calotypes and the resulting portraits have great artistic merit. After five years of this partnership, Adamson died and Hill returned to his mediocre painting.

School Pupils Visit Museum

The Junior High Pupils of the Briggs-Allen School spent Wednesday morning at the Children's Museum at Jamaica Plain. A special lecture—"Indians of the Atlantic Coast" was given by Miss Seymour for the group. The lecture was illustrated with colored lantern slides which showed pictures of the lands bordering the seacoast from Maine to Florida where the Indians used to live. It gave an opportunity to compare the shelters, clothing and crafts of the different tribes of Indians. The Briggs Allen group found the visit to the Museum an ideal way to learn history.

Abbot Academy Notes

Alfred Graham Baldwin, school minister at Phillips academy, will be the speaker at the vesper service on Sunday night. The service will begin at 7.30 o'clock.

The first hockey match between the Gargoyles and the Griffins, ancient rivals at Abbot academy for athletic honors, took place on Monday afternoon. The Griffins were victorious 1-0, which promises an exciting final match on the annual fall Field Day, November 15. The line-up for Monday's game was as follows:

Gargoyles, Phyllis England, Jean Appleby, Phyllis Crocker, Anne Flaherty, Constance Smith, Beatrice Tye, Sally Walsh, Joan Brown, Mary Howard, Sally Peck, Norma Forsyth.

Griffins—Marjory Hill, Sally Sutor, Carolyn Cross, Catherine Flaherty, Elise Duncan, Lloyd Pierce, Margaret Hall, Jane Littauer, Doris Hauser, Ruth Pond, Mary Curtis.

On Tuesday, the first basketball matches of the season were played, with the Gargoyles showing themselves superior in all three games. Line-ups were as follows:

First teams—Gargoyles: Audrey Rugg, Adelle Sawyer, Marie Appleby, Sue Anne Eveleigh, Janice Hunter, Carol Parker, Mary Elliott. Griffins: Jane Vogt, Shirley Hamilton, Mary Lee Crawford, Marguerite Hall, Diana Greene, Virginia Rice.

Second teams—Gargoyles: Madeline Grou, Adelle Sawyer, Marie Appleby, Audrey Rugg, Elise Jewett, Jacqueline Proctor, Gisela Bolten, Jane Russell. Griffins: Eleanor Knox, Dorothy Heidrich, Nancy Harrison, Priscilla Russ, Margit Hintz, Arlene Teichert.

Third teams—Gargoyles: Virginia Jones, Mary Lou Sheedy, Frances Cross, Marjorie MacMullen, Joan Webster, Christine Robinson, Constance Thurber, Mary Dean Naff. Griffins: Ann Oakman, Doll Hudson, Joan Hubbard, Joyce Curran, Ann Dooley, Patsy Selden.

An exhibition of the works of Horace Giles will be shown in the John-Esther Art gallery from 2 to 5 p.m. daily for three weeks beginning Wednesday, November 10. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Add Color and Gaiety to Your Entertaining with Servaides

Moisture-proof Cellophane Doilies in colored backgrounds with unusual designs produced in gold and silver are unquestionably the newest and smartest accessory to add a colorful note to your table. The beauty of clear crystal glassware and white china is further emphasized when used with colorful Servaides. Use them under vases, in china closets, on your buffet.

DESIGNS . . .

- Floral, in dainty patterns.
- Fruit, resembling the Wedgewood type of design.

COLORS . . .

- Yellow, with red, green, or blue. Red, with blue or green.
- Gold and silver with colors.

Unbeaten Punchard Meets Brookline High Here Tomorrow

Obstacle in Way of Perfect Season—Has Had Fair Record

Punchard high, unbeaten in six starts, unscored-on in five starts, will meet its strongest opposition tomorrow when Brookline high, one class higher than Punchard, comes to the local playstead. The local team has run up 202 points to the opponents' six so far this season, and it is expected that the largest crowd of the year will be out tomorrow to see whether or not Punchard can win out against opposition which theoretically should be better than any met so far.

In the football rating system used by the Eastern Massachusetts Sports Writers Punchard is considered in Class C and Brookline in Class B. In winning six games Punchard has secured a total of 15 points for an average of 2.50, being up among the leaders in its class. The points are given in accordance with the rating of the team defeated, a win over a Class A team counting five, a win over Class B four and a win over Class C three, etc. Punchard has defeated three Class C teams and three Class D teams. Brookline has defeated one Class C team. If Punchard beats Brookline four points will be added to its total, bringing its average up quite a bit.

The Brookline team has five veterans, Berman, Captain Beal in the line, and Foster, Fitzpatrick and High in the back-field.

Academy to Wind Up Preliminary Season

Phillips academy will play its final preliminary game tomorrow against Tufts fresh. Tufts has won two, lost one and tied one, beating Huntington 18 to 0, Dean 44 to 0, tying Northeastern fresh 0 to 0, and losing to Lawrence academy 13 to 8. John Murphy, stellar halfback of a year ago, may see his first action tomorrow, having been injured in early-season practice. Hank Williams, injured quarter, was back last Saturday.

Andover on the basis of its fine record to date and on the basis of Exeter's disastrous season, will go into the Exeter game a week hence a heavy favorite.

Punchard Slaughters Stoneham High

Last Saturday afternoon an undefeated, untied Punchard eleven won over Stoneham High School here in their most decisive victory of the season.

In the first few plays following the kick-off at the start of the game, Bisset, Punchard's versatile quarterback, acquired the ball and ran from his own 40-yard line, down the length of the field for a touchdown. John Noyes rushed the point after. After a few rushes and passes by both sides, Mal Lynch ran from his own 42-yard line and crossed the goal. Walker then ran over the goal, and tried to catch a pass being thrown by Lynch for the point after, but it was knocked down. Shortly after this Stoneham booted the ball and Lynch got it on the enemy's 40-yard line and made a brilliant run down the field for another touchdown. Walker rushed the point to make the score 20-0. The Stoneham eleven was on its 23-yard line when the period ended.

Going into the second quarter of the game Stoneham kicked and Punchard recovered the ball on Stoneham's 34.

Lakin took it to the 28, Lynch passed to Bisset bringing it up to the 25, Lynch took it to the 24, Lakin to the 22, and Lynch to the 16. On the following play Lynch passed the ball to Walker who was waiting on the enemy 10, and in turn Walker ran the ball down to the 3. Lakin, in an end run, succeeded in bringing the ball up to the goal line and then Walker ran it over for the fourth touchdown of the game. Lynch rushed the point after.

In the second half Punchard got possession of the ball down on their own 40-yard mark. Lynch passed to Bisset which brought them up to the Stoneham 45. Then Lynch passed to Lakin who caught it on Stoneham's 33, and rushed it to the 23. Lynch made a wide end run which brought him up to the 17 and Bisset plowed through a hole to the 13. Lynch score on the next play, and Bisset attempted a pass to him for the point after but it was knocked down by the inrushing opponents.

In the fourth quarter on a Stoneham kick Lynch got under the ball on the 50-yard line and ran for a touchdown. Walker made the extra point. Noyes soon made another touchdown. Walker passed to Lynch for the point. Later Walker intercepted a pass on Stoneham's 20 and was promptly downed but he managed to hold on to the ball. Lynch gained a yard and then Walker made one of the most brilliant runs of the game, maneuvering through the enemy territory until he was over the goalline. Walker then passed to Lynch for the point.

Academy Blanks Bowdoin Team

The Phillips academy football team without exerting itself won a 13-0 victory on Saturday against a plucky, two-practice-a-week Bowdoin freshman team. Features of the game were a 61-yard touchdown jaunt by Tine, who very casually straight-armed three Bowdoin freshmen and then turned around to give a downward shove to the last head diving for his legs. Kausel made the first touchdown after a 45-yard march in which he did most of the plugging.
