Make Move to Change By-law

Planning Board Hopes to Clarify Cheever Situation by Suggested Amendment

The town planning board this week announced a public hearing to be held on February fourth in connection with an alternative proposal it has for solving the Johnson acres difficulty. The board is suggesting an amendment to the zoning by-laws which in brief would permit the board of appeals to allow land to be subdivided into lot areas of not less than 9500 square feet in cases involving practical difficulty or unnecessary hardship. Mr. Cheever's amendment to reduce the minimum requirement to 8500 square feet is still slated to appear in the warrant, also.

As the board of appeals would apply this suggested amendment to Mr. Cheever's two lots which are between 8500 and 9000 square feet, he would be asked to cut 500 feet off two adjoining lots, which it was said by the board would bring four lots within the 9500 feet requirement instead of two under and two over.

Three other amendments, not connected with the Cheever situation, are also suggested, and they are all advertised in the legal section of today's Townsman.

Pleads Guilty to Crash Charges

Andre Arsenault, 50, of 32 Thorndike road, North Andover, will appear in District court on Monday morning on charges of operating under the influence and operating to endanger. He was arraigned last Monday morning and pleaded guilty, the case being continued a week.

Arsenault was the alleged driver of a car which collided with another car on North Main street in Shawsheen village last Saturday afternoon. It was reported that the Arsenault car suddenly veered left into the car driven by Alexander Milne of Methuen, who received a possible fracture of the rib. Sylvester Keaney of Ballardvale, a passenger, suffered contusions of the scalp and a laceration of the knee.

Circus, Parade Coming to Town

The Andover Brass Band will sponsor the production of a riotous, laugh-provoking comedy at the Town Hall on January 25 and 26, Tuesday and Wednesday. This play has been produced throughout the United States and has been greeted with hearty approval from its audiences. The plot chiefly concerns the trials and tribulations of circus life and the strange antics of the circus people.

Already many plans have been made for the show and for the publicity of the play. Committees have been appointed to conduct all the details of the work and the Brass Band is enthusiastic in their demand that this production be the finest that Andover has ever witnessed.

Thomas Page, the president of the organization, has appointed four committees: the Talent Committee which is headed by LeRoy Wilson and Irving Newman; the Ticket Committee which consists of Harry Dennison, George Smith, LeRoy Wilson, and Robert Crosby, the Publicity Committee which will

LOCAL RED CROSS NEEDS CHILDREN'S CLOTHES

The local chapter of the Red Cross has found that there is an urgent need for children's clothing in Andover. Any outgrown or used articles in good condition may be left at the W.P.A. room at the town hall and the donor may be assured that they will find grateful wearers.

Hungary's Greatest Violinist to Play

On next Wednesday evening, January 19th, at 8:15, Joseph Szigeti, Hungary's greatest violinist, will play a recital in the Meeting Room of George Washington Hall, Phillips Academy. It should be sufficient for any lover of music to be referred to the words of Ernest Newman, probably the greatest music critic writing in the English language,—"admirable Szigeti played superbly." Another critic says, "Szigeti is perhaps the greatest musician-violinist now living."

Mr. Szigeti's program is as follows:

- Sonata in D major, no. 4 Handel
- Sonata in A major (Kreutzer) Beethoven
- Intermission
- Poeme Chausson
- Nigun (from Baal Shem Suite) Bloch
- Minstrels Debussy
- Aubade (from "Le Roi d'Ys") Lalo-Szigeti
- Flight of the Bumble Bee Rimsky-Korsakoff
- Danse Russe (from "Petrushka") Stravinsky

Reserved seats for Mr. Szigeti's recital may be ordered from Phillips Academy. Seats will also be on sale at the door.

Many Take Out Election Papers

Mrs. Angus, Morse Retire—Dr. East, Mrs. Musk, L'Antigua Enter School Race

Andover's political contests burst into full force this week with the taking out of nomination papers by a large number of candidates, with the tax collectorship as was expected the most sought-after prize. When the list of incumbents seeking re-election was made up, it was learned that in addition to the retirement of tax collector William B. Cheever and school committeeman Dr. Nathaniel Stowers, there were two other retirements: Mrs. Annie S. Angus of the school committee and Walter I. Morse of the Board of Public Works. At midweek Mrs. Julie Cross Musk and Paul A. L'Antigua, both of High street took out papers for Dr. Stowers' one-year unexpired term; Dr. Harry C. East, popular young physician, took out papers for the three-year term, and he is expected to be a strong candidate.

Mrs. Musk is running for the same position that her mother, the late Mrs. Jerome W. Cross, filled. Mrs. Cross died in early 1931, and Mrs. Ralph N. C. Barnes defeated the present chairman, Frederick C. Smith, for the two-year unexpired term. Mrs. Barnes was re-elected in 1933 and in 1936. A year ago she passed away; her position was filled by the appointment of Dr. Stowers, and it is this position which Mrs. Cross' daughter now seeks. Miss Mary E. C. Gagan and Frederick C. Smith are candidates for re-election.

Ralph T. Berry, former tree warden who resigned the post a little less than two years ago, took out nomination papers yesterday to oppose the present warden, G. Richard Abbott.

Many Potential Collectors

The tax collectorship list of aspirants is rapidly mounting. Most of those mentioned earlier in the Townsman have taken out papers, including Carl Lindsay, David Coutts, Frank Markey, J. Lewis Smith, and Roland Luce. Arthur Cole will probably not run. James P. Christie of Shawsheen village, son of the late George Christie, a one-time member of the school committee, took out his papers on Saturday morning a few minutes after Mr. Smith started the stampede. On Monday many others took them out, and by midweek there were eleven candidates

Gone Are the Sleighs

The last remnant of something entrancingly picturesque is definitely on its way out. Yesterday morning we heard an awful chug-chugging down outside our office, and on looking out the window we saw the once much-discussed sidewalk tractor plow going past. Two years ago when we also used to have snow, instead of hearing a raucous sound of an exhaust, we used to hear the jingle of the old horse snow-plows clearing off our sidewalks.

Progress has done an awful job on the old sleigh-rides, and on the picturesque spindly-looking sleighs drawn by high-stepping horses. In fact, a high school student today more often than not does not know what a pung was. But ask them about snow-trains and ski-racks, etc.—they'll know.

There are still some horse-drawn sidewalk plows working in Andover, but the tractor has done away with several of them. It's something to be regretted, but what a howl we'd raise if the sidewalks weren't cleaned off just as quickly as possible.

School Head Speaks on Marking System

"Have a Heart" was the subject of a very interesting address which was given Wednesday evening by Dennis E. Callahan, superintendent of the Lawrence Public Schools, at the monthly meeting of the Shawsheen P.T.A. at the Shawsheen school. His address measured up the needs of little children in the schools.

The meeting was under the direction of the President, Mrs. Harold Houston. Mr. Sanborn, superintendent of the Andover schools, was present.

Mrs. Houston spoke of the Christmas decorations which had been left up for the parents to see and which were attractively done by Mr. Todd. James L. Dean, the treasurer announced that about $30.00 was spent in marking off and painting the "Gym" Floor. The banner was won by Miss Anderson's room. The music of the evening was played by Edna Louise Nutton, a former pupil of the Shawsheen school.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James B. Gillen and Mrs. Joseph Hargodon, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Bradley, Mrs. Theodore Peterson, Mrs. Alexander Wallace and Mrs. Harold Eastwood.

Mr. Callahan, who was introduced by Joseph A. Mulvey, stated that many tragedies and near tragedies occur over the marks children receive in school. "The hidden springs we do not know," but it is well to try and look behind the scenes. Only recently a boy whose marks had fallen from 75 to 72 was severely beaten by his father, and his mother in trying to come between father and son received the same treatment, so the mother told Mr. Callahan she was getting a divorce. In looking into the case it was found that the father had had no job for a long time.

In a recent Geometry paper that was sent from one end of the country to the other and marked by 114 first class teachers, the marks ranged from 28 to 92, a history paper from 44 to 90, and two English papers the same proportion. "Have a Heart"; don't depend upon written tests or formal tests, but upon personality and character in measuring little children, the superintendent said.

Then there are the children who repeat grades. Many times it may be due to defective hearing or defective vision or both. The parents of many Lawrence children have not had sufficient income to spend for these examinations, but there is a law that the School Department now can pay for glasses for children where they are needed. Mr. Callahan recently had all the children in the Lawrence schools tested for their hearing by the audiometer.

Mr. Callahan complimented the men who made the Shawsheen school a reality.

A bakery sale conducted at the end of the meeting netted a good sum, and was in charge of Mrs. Joseph A. Mulvey and Mrs. Frederick C. Smith.

The next meeting of the association in February will be Fathers' Night.

Let's Put a Stop to Betting

From the stories in the Boston newspapers, it would seem that Andover, before electing its tax collector, should ask each of the many candidates one very important question: "Do you play the horses?" For if any of the candidates do lean toward betting on horse-races, it should automatically disqualify him in the voters' minds. Too often we've been reading of state auditors having to step in to investigate a town's books because a collector started out with his own money, collecting on his first few bets, and then starting to lose, dipping into town funds more and more until his malfeasance is exposed. We've had cases very close to Andover, and the most recent one comes from Salisbury where it is said that the collector used $58,000 of the town's money to try to recoup his gambling losses.

And the temptation to be dishonest by dipping into other funds in the hope that they'll be replenished by the next race's winnings isn't confined to tax collectors alone. Many others, not so much in the public eye as town officials, have ruined their business careers and wrecked their home life by "just taking one more chance on the fifth at Hialeah."

At the annual dinner of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' associations, Governor Hurley gave a very excellent speech on economy, in one portion of which he made the statement that to do away with horse-racing in Massachusetts would deprive the state government of some much-needed revenue. But do we want money that way? Is it any different from a public lottery, except that it leads to worse things? If we have to provide money for running a government, can't we do it in some way that won't ruin so many people, in a way that won't be a temptation toward wrong-doing?

Furthermore, would the suspension of race-tracks in Massachusetts, in a move which might influence other states to do likewise, really in the long-run deprive the state of any revenue? The chances are that there would be an increase from the normal sources of revenue, merchants for instance whose sales have been reduced because so much money goes to the horse-races and whose bad debts, tax-exempt, have mounted constantly because people have lost so heavily at the tracks. If the money isn't spent on the races, it would be spent in some other revenue-producing source, and the state financially would be just as well off and morally much better off.

Children's Clothes Needed

Elsewhere in the Townsman appears an appeal from the local chapter of the Red Cross for children's clothing to be given to some of the town's needy families. It's a request worth answering. Look around in your house and pick up the coat that Johnny grew out of and the five-year-old dress that seven-year-old Mary will never wear again. Take them down to the W.P.A. office at the town house where they will do a world of good.

Built on a Firm Foundation

Andover's two banks held their annual meetings during the past week, and as has been the century-old tradition with both local National and Savings banks, the annual reports again showed that the institutions were still going forward on the same firm foundation that have kept them serving Andover through a long history of national economic ups-and-downs. Andover should be proud of its two banks and proud of the men who manage them, for when other institutions were closed up, when they failed to live up to the trust their depositors had placed in them, the Andover Savings bank and the Andover National bank were able to conduct their business as usual. It was the Savings Bank's 104th annual meeting, and the National bank, a little older, is starting its 112th year, having paid dividends continuously as a National bank since it joined the National bank fold 73 years ago. Institutions that survive a century can be sure that their long life is based on one thing: integrity.

PAST PRESIDENTS MEET

The Past Presidents' Club of the Women's Relief Corps met at the home of Mrs. Carrie Buchan on Florence street on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Thomas Platt, the president, presided. After the business meeting whist was enjoyed and the following prizes awarded: Mrs. Mary Valentine, first prize; Mrs. Edward Cole, second prize; Mrs. John Ralph, consolation. The mystery prize was won by Mrs. Valentine.

Delicious refreshments and Scotch short breads were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Clare Norton of Elm street at a date to be announced later.

Madrigal Singers to Give Concert

The Madrigal Singers of the Federal Music Project will present the second of the current series of Phillips Andover Academy concerts next Sunday in the Cochran chapel.

This unit of eight voices, under the direction of Earl Weidner, is one of the most interesting of the Federal Music Project ensemble. It is the 20th Century version of a medieval musical group.

An important feature of the Madrigal group is that each of its eight singers is a professional artist in his or her own right, and each has been chosen to sing in this group because of particular adaptability to this type of singing. This careful selection of voices results in a remarkable tonal blending and thoughtful interpretation.

Club Entertained by Monologist

Miss Margaret Ruth Adams entertained the November Club last Monday with a pleasingly varied group of her original monologues. Her sketch of an Irish fortune teller at a fair, a girl at the appointment desk in Henry's Beauty Salon, a young woman making her first appeal at a Welfare House, an Italian mother visiting a clinic with her sick child were some of the monologues which were excellently written and excellently told.

Mrs. Harrington and Miss Hearsey poured.

The Art Department meets next Monday afternoon with Mrs. Edward Nichols, 31 Wolcott avenue, the Literature Department on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Emma Gould Carter, 1 Punchard avenue, and the Dramatic Department on Friday at Mrs. Myron E. Gutterson's, 57 Chestnut street.

News of Other Days

What You and Your Neighbors Were Doing in Days Gone By

Fifty Years Ago

It is pretty severe weather for a boy to lose his overcoat—if any one finds one (a blue one), let him refer to our advertising columns.

Mrs. Pasho and her family had a narrow escape from suffocation by coal gas last Friday night. By some accident the dampers were left wrong, and the isinglass being out of the stove door, the escaping gas gradually filled the house. One of the inmates awoke in time to save the others from fatal results.

Several weeks ago Whiting advertised in our columns an alarm clock, a cure for oversleeping, dark mornings. An employee of one of our mills who had been troubled that way, purchased one and for a time obeyed its summons but soon began each morning to doze after its alarm. According to his story, the clock determined not to stand this and one morning as he was settling for his after nap he was startled to see the clock jump from the centre of the table toward him and land on the floor uninjured. He says he rises at the first stroke now as he dares not disobey a clock that will go after a man if he cannot get him up any other way.

The fire alarm wire is in place but the gongs are yet to be placed before it is complete.

Twenty-five Years Ago

The insurance offices have just issued a large fire alarm card which contains all the boxes now in service.

The high wind which prevailed on Friday night and Saturday did considerable damage in Andover and its outskirts. Large trees were blown down in all parts of the town, chimneys toppled over, and windows were broken, the latter being in some cases blown out and in others blown in. On Saturday afternoon one of the chimneys on the South church fell with a tremendous crash but no other part of the building was seriously damaged.

The winter number of the "Punchard Ensign" has just been issued. It contains attractive stories, poems and school items.

New steel shelves were placed in the vaults in the town house this week.

George F. Smith and John M. Stewart are enjoying a trip to Panama.

Ten Years Ago

Miss Dorothy Trott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Trott of Central street, has been elected secretary of the annual junior week of Boston University to be held as usual late in the spring. Miss Trott is a junior at the College of Liberal Arts. She is a graduate of Punchard high school and has been very successful in both high school and college.

The pupils of the Stowe school had a day off Monday because of the bursting of one of the underground steam pipes which connects it with the main heating plant. Repairs were made and the school reopened Tuesday.

The senior choir of the Free church met Thursday evening to start rehearsals for the concert to be given in Jordan Hall, Boston in the spring by the ensemble choir of Greater Boston, of which the Free church choir is a member.

Motorcycle Officer David Gillespie is ill at his home.

Jean McGlynn of North Main street is convalescing at the Lawrence General hospital after an operation for appendicitis.

State Health Official to Speak

Dr. Florence L. McKay, Assistant Director of Child Hygiene of the Massachusetts Public Health Department, will be the speaker at the meeting which will be held Tuesday at three at the November Clubhouse, by the local league of Women Voters. Dr. McKay will describe the services offered by the Division of Child Hygiene and the benefits derived by the children from the activities of this department.

This meeting concludes the series of study group meetings of the Department of Government and Child Welfare, under the supervision of Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast. This group has been studying local and state public health problems and was very fortunate in securing able speakers who maintained the interest of the members at a very high level.

The Government and Its Operation study group, of which Miss Helen Chickering is chairman, will meet Monday at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Horace M. Poynter, 6 School street to continue the study of the President's Reorganization Plan as affecting Civil Service and the report of the Brookings Institution. They are also studying: The Ramspeck bill; the Bacon Bill; the McKellar Bill.

The last meeting of this group proved to be of unusual interest to its members with Miss Clara A. Putnam reporting on the President's Reorganization plan as affecting Civil Service, and Miss Catherine A. Stewart reporting on the many exceptions of the Brookings Institution to this plan. Miss Annie J. Hurley gave a most enlightening report of the post-masters in regard to Civil Service—How positions are obtained in Civil Service—Length of Service—Grading of post-masters first, second and third class.

He was also chairman of the Children's Division of the Boston Council of Social Agencies and chairman of the North End conference of the Family Welfare Society.

Accident Victim on Road to Recovery

Miss Elizabeth O'Connell, 45, of 6 School street made a steady gain during the week and today was reported out of danger at the Lawrence General hospital after having been seriously injured by an automobile on Central street Friday evening. Miss O'Connell sustained a bad compound fracture of the right lower leg, and it was feared for a time that amputation might be necessary.

George H. Musk of 29 High street, operator of the car which struck Miss O'Connell, rushed her to the hospital. Later he reported that Miss O'Connell was crossing the street while he was driving on Central street toward the square. He did not see her until the machine hit her, he reported to police. Miss Margaret McCarthy of 48 School street helped Mr. Musk place the injured woman in the car preparatory to the dash to the hospital.

Miss O'Connell has been employed as housekeeper for Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Poynter for several years.

Escapes Death in Bad Crash

Edward E. Desilets of Barre, Vt., miraculously escaped death or serious injury on Tuesday night near midnight when the car which he was driving crashed into the rear of a truck on South Main street, a little the Andover side of the overpass. Although the right side of his car was nearly ripped off the chassis, and the left side was merely a tangle of metal, the driver escaped with head and face cuts and abrasions. The steering wheel was badly bent, and all the glass was shattered. Had he had a passenger with him, there would certainly have been a fatality. Part of the right side of the car entered the body of the truck.

Desilets stated that he was driving toward Andover behind a truck driven by George Enos of Medford when the truck suddenly stopped in order that Enos might fix the radiator. Enos had pulled about half-way off the road.

Urge Payment for Xmas Seals

Somewhere in Essex County is an abundance of Town Criers—all of which are found on the 1937 Christmas Seals. For the last month these tiny Town Criers have been struggling to come forth from their dark enclosures of carefully sealed envelopes, to carry the message of health protection throughout the land. But this many of them have been unable to do for some of the letters have been left unopened.

Alarmed by the fact that so many of the Town Crier Seals are still unaccounted for, the Essex County Health Association and local committees urge those who have not yet made returns to consider this matter now.

Paints Portrait in Coming Lecture

Richard Lahey will lecture at Phillips Academy on the evening of January 21st, at 8:15 on "The Artist's Point of View." Mr. Lahey's lecture is designed particularly for the layman interested in art. It is not a stunt, but a serious attempt to introduce the public to the way an artist works in his own studio.

Mr. Lahey actually paints a portrait from a living model, and throughout the entire demonstration there is a constant flow of interesting talk about the artist's methods and purposes together with exciting reminiscences about American artists and their work; as well as a presentation of the universality of art. Mr. Lahey is one of the few artists who has great ability as a lecturer as well as a painter. The time of the lecture is about ninety minutes, and because of the great interest in the development of the portrait, he holds his audience to the end. The public is cordially invited, and there will be no charge for admission.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

The Essex County council of the American Legion auxiliary will meet at Odd Fellows hall, Salem at 2.30 Saturday. The state district directors will be invited guests.

Radio Tenor to Sing at Abbot

Clifford Menz, the popular young tenor who has been having such success singing regularly over the Red network of the National Broadcasting Company, will give a song recital at Abbot Academy on Saturday night, January 15th at eight o'clock.

Probably many Andover people have heard Mr. Menz over the radio; if so they will certainly want to hear and see the young artist in person, for he has a voice of great beauty and vitality and a spontaneous gusto that make of his performances an easy fusion of the singer and actor. The press notices of his opera and stage performances are uniformly good, but his appearance in Andover is due to his magnificent performance of Haydn's "Creation" at Chautauqua last summer under Mr. Howe's direction. His singing created a sensation not only in the audience but in the orchestra as well.

Mr. Menz is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and played quarterback on the Varsity football team. He intended to be a lawyer and attended the University Law School but suddenly realized that his gift of song was his greater asset in life. Both of his parents had been professional singers, touring in opera companies in the middle western states. Going East, Menz immediately got a job as tenor soloist in the road company of "As Thousands Cheer" and toured the country from coast to coast. He then went to Italy for further vocal study and operatic coaching. On returning to America he was appointed tenor soloist of St. Bartholomew's Church in New York and has toured extensively in concert. His more recent appearances have been in Strauss' Opera, "Salome" and as soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

The program Mr. Menz will sing at Abbot Academy is one that only a sound musician would offer. It follows:

- I

- O Sleep, Why dost Thou Leave Me Handel

Circus, Parade Coming to Town

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) has universal appeal because it is a combination of several forms of entertainment. It is interspersed with acts, specialty groups, dance choruses, clown cats, side-shows and singing. People of all types, classes and ages enjoy this production because of its originality and its clean wholesome comedy situations.

The show is being supervised and directed by Miss Bartan Lowell, a representative of the Amateur Theater Guild of Boston. Miss Lowell has directed more than twenty-five plays within the last year in various communities and has discovered much latent dramatic ability in the local townspeople she has coached. Miss Lowell has stated that the townspeople of Andover possess valuable talent and with their help and cooperation she can offer the town an evening of entertainment that will long be remembered.

G. F. S. Conducts Quarterly Supper

About forty were present at the quarterly supper meeting of the Girls' Friendly society at Christ church parish house last Monday evening, the new rector and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Albert C. Morris being invited guests.

A chicken-pattie supper was served by an efficient committee and the tables were attractively set with gaily decorated tablecloths in blue and white, covered with ships, sails set, emblematic of the beginning of a new year and another profitable voyage in the work of the society.

At the head table were seated the guests of honor, Rev. and Mrs. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Howe, Miss Martha Howe and Mrs. Charles Warden.

Following the feast, to which all did justice, games and stunts, and community singing were enjoyed. Rev. Mr. Morris also gave a short talk on the need of both work and play to achieve success.

The committee included Mrs. Benjamin Jaques, chairman; Mrs. Walter Howe, Mrs. Gardner Shaw, Elizabeth Hilton, Bertha Hilton and Marjory White. Thelma Beck had charge of the games and Agnes Deyermond acted as accompanist for the grand march.

Savings Bank in Annual Meeting

Burton S. Flagg was re-elected president of the Andover Savings bank at the 104th annual meeting held on Monday afternoon. The only change in the list of officers and corporators was the election of George F. Sawyer of Elm street as a member of the corporation. He is connected with the credit department of the First National Bank of Boston. Trustees elected for three years were Frank A. Buttrick, Edward V. French, Alfred E. Stearns and Abbot Stevens. Louis S. Finger was elected treasurer, Frederic S. Boutwell vice president, and Dr. Alfred E. Stearns clerk.

Reports were very encouraging for the past year in all departments. The surplus shows a substantial gain over last year.

It was decided to change the interest dates so that money will hereafter go on interest the fifteenth of each month instead of just quarterly as heretofore. Dividends will be declared on the fifteenth day of April and October instead of in June and December as in the past.

Many Take Out Election Papers

Up to yesterday noon there were four aspirants for Mr. Morse's vacancy on the B. P. W. They were Sidney P. White, William C. Crowley, Jr., William McCoubrie and the perennial candidate, George M. Squires. Thomas F. Morrissey had come out against tree warden G. Richard Abbott, and Benjamin Brown had taken out blank papers, with the suspected intention of running in the health race against his namesake incumbent, George Brown.

George E. Boddy of 66 Maple avenue and John F. Moriarty of 24 Haverhill street entered the tax collector's race yesterday to bring the list to 13. James W. O'Donnell of Tewksbury street entered the one-year school board race.

Benjamin Brown yesterday confirmed the previous opinion that his papers were for Board of Health.

None of the others aspiring for reelection have any opposition as yet.

John M. Erving, school committeeman, has as yet made no statement as to the truth of the rumor that he would run against selectman J. Everett Collins.

Matthew Burns, although having asked over the telephone that papers be prepared for him for moderator, has not yet taken them out.

The town clerk yesterday announced that February 18 will be the last day for filing nomination papers. Signatures of 110 voters are required.

February 11 is the last day for filing special articles for insertion in the annual warrant.

Present Photo of Late Pastor

A large photograph of the late Rev. Alfred C. Church, pastor of the Free church, was presented Sunday morning by the Sunday school to the church. Treasurer George Keith made the presentation, with a brief eulogy of the late pastor, and David M. May, chairman of the board of trustees, accepted it.
