Abbot Graduates Monday Morning

Commencement week will start tomorrow night at Abbot academy with the annual school rally at 7.45 with singing on the steps of Abbot hall. This year Phillips academy's commencement week festivities take place a full week after the Abbot program.

Alumnae day will take place at Abbot on Saturday, the principal features being the annual meeting of the Alumnae association at 2.30, the reception in honor of the graduating class at 4, the alumnae banquet at six and the Draper Dramatics in Davis hall at 8.30.

On Sunday at the 10.45 service at the South church Rev. Donald Bailey Aldrich, D. D., of the Church of the Ascension in New York city, will give the Baccalaureate address, and at 7.30 in the evening the commencement concert will take place at Davis hall.

On Monday will come the graduation proper, with President William Allen Neilson of Smith college giving the commencement

May Hold N. E. Concert Here

Andover may have an opportunity of hearing 700 male voices in a joint concert next May if an idea now being talked about materializes. Yearly the New England Federation of Men's Singing clubs holds a contest and a concert, and at these in the past the Andover Male Choir has played a prominent part, being a frequent prize-winner and in 1936 the grand prize-winner. Now that the annual event held this year at Springfield is over, some of the choir members are talking about the possibilities of having the contest and concert here in the Memorial auditorium.

Comments from the Haverhill, Maynard and Beverly clubs at intermission in the joint concert last Friday night have added impetus to the idea, many of the visitors expressing pleasure at the appearance of the auditorium and suggesting that it would be a good place for the New England event. The essentials for the affair would be classrooms for headquarters for each club, a large stage, and a convenient eating place for the contestants between the afternoon contest and the evening concert. All these the new buildings offer, with the primary objection being the size of the cafeteria, which would probably make it necessary for the men to eat in two separate groups.

If the choir decides to go through with the plan, some such organization as the Service club may be asked to join in sponsoring it. In other communities it has usually been the Board of Trade.

Save Town $1,000 on "Iron Mike"

Selectmen Receive Check As Reimbursement For Repairs On "Austin 77"

The Town of Andover received a check for $442.85 Tuesday from the Alexander Supply company to terminate a long controversy between the selectmen and the Board of Public Works regarding the purchase of the so-called "Big Mike," or Austin 77, combination scraper, scarifier and plow. The selectmen had claimed that the $442.85 had been illegally paid the company for repairs on the machine. In addition the company waived all claims to the payment of another $500 odd for repairs not paid as yet.

The machine has been in the process of being purchased by the board via the rental method, with a certain sum per hour being paid. Before town meeting the selectmen received an opinion from Director of Accounts Theodore Waddell at the state house that such a method of purchasing would not receive the state's approval, since all purchases of such equipment have to be authorized by specific town meeting vote. At town meeting the board tried to incorporate a provision in one of the appropriation votes to take care of the balance due, but the town did not adopt the suggestion. However, after town meeting the same procedure continued, and about two months ago the selectmen held up payment of a rental bill on the machine.

In investigating the contract between the board and the company, the selectmen found that the company agreed to take care of all repairs. Back bills were looked up, and it was found that despite this clause $442.85 had been paid by the town for repairs. The selectmen then demanded that this amount be refunded to the town, and Tuesday's payment marked a successful end to their work. They had refused to honor any rental bills until this check was received.

The company will continue to rent the machine to the town, and it will also rent it to private contractors. In all probability the town will again be asked next March to purchase it.

The Alexander Supply company was the same company from which the B. P. W. purchased a sidewalk plow a year and a half ago, payment for which was held up by the town accountant and the selectmen until the town meeting approved the purchase.

To Decide Fate of Alumni Ass'n

By January of 1894 the Punchard Alumni association, according to its secretary, had "lived through many a cold water bath of adverse criticism." Next Monday evening the association will meet in the Memorial auditorium to decide just how it will combat the present cold water bath not of adverse criticism but alumni apathy.

Financially in good condition, with a $5000 scholarship fund intact, the association has lived through depressions and prosperity, but its trouble today is not lack of funds. It will be 47 years old next December, which is still too young to die, and the chances are that next Monday evening will see an overwhelming vote in favor of continuing. If this is so, there will be the usual banquet to the incoming members after their graduation on June 14. Officers will also be elected.

HEALTH BOARD OFFICE MOVED

The Board of Health office was moved over the week-end from the rented quarters on Park street to the former checkroom on the second floor of the town hall. Some alterations have been made, and the relief office has been moved across the hall. It is estimated that the move will save the town at least $300 annually.

MISS TROTT TENDERS RESIGNATION

Miss Dorothy Trott, whose engagement to Walter Partridge of Walnut avenue was announced a few months ago, has tendered her resignation from the local public school teaching staff. Miss Trott has been teaching in the high school and the junior high for the past few years, having previously taught elsewhere after her graduation from Boston University.

Action on the resignation will be taken next Tuesday night at the school board meeting.

SERVICE CLUB TO HOLD LADIES' NIGHT

The new slate of officers of the Andover Service club was formally elected last Thursday night. Next Thursday night President Richard G. Whipple will conclude his duties with the annual Ladies' night to be held at Phillips Inn.

The officers elected were: President, Francis E. Wilson; first vice-president, Kenneth L. Sherman; second vice-president, Attorney Walter C. Tomlinson; secretary, Walter E. Billings; treasurer, Frederick W. Gould; directors, T. Augustine Farragher, Virgil D. Harrington, Harold W. Leitch, A. Huestis Sulis, Jr. and Richard G. Whipple.

Wallace E. Brimer of the Tyer Rubber Company and Edwin L. Bramley of the Telephone Company were the speakers.

Rate Probably to Be Under $30

Additional Figures Of State Predict Drop From March Estimate

Andover's tax rate, which will not be officially announced for a few weeks, will probably be below the thirty dollar mark, it was learned this week. The town meeting estimate was $30.60, but since then additional figures have been received from the state which tend to show that the rate will be below that amount.

The $30.60 guess was based on estimates of receipts and valuation which were agreed upon by the assessors and Taxpayers' association as the nearest possible at that date. The finance committee's estimates of receipts and valuation gave a rate over a dollar higher.

The effects of the depression on the income from the state income and corporation tax will probably not be felt until 1938. This year's income is better than was anticipated, and the valuation will also probably be higher.

The work on assessing has been slowed up some by the large amount of transfers of property and of building of new property.

International Day to Be Held Tomorrow

A Morning Coffee, an Afternoon Tea, a sale of Foreign and American foods, against a background of rare Exhibits from different nations, is being held by the Lawrence International Institute at the November Club House, Locke street, Friday from 10 to 6 o'clock.

Hours of research have gone into the preparation of an International Cook Book presented for sale for the first time at this affair. The Cook Book is hand lettered, illustrated with charming sketches, and contains about 450 recipes gathered from the four corners of the world. The Committee in charge of the affair is, Mrs. Albert H. Chamberlain, Miss Kate H. Stevens, Mrs. Carl Pfattheicher, Mrs. B. Allen Rowland, Mrs. Felix W. Knauth.

On the following Monday the group will hold a Mothers' night at the Log Cabin.

grees at the 53rd commencement exercises at Rollins college in Winter Park, Fla., on June 2, and a glance at her record shows that "tentative" is an unnecessary word in her case. She is a member of the Key society, which is the local honorary scholastic society corresponding to Phi Beta Kappa, and she is also on Zeta Alpha Epsilon, local honorary scientific fraternity.

Miss Dean has had an active career at Rollins. She is president and was secretary of the Pan-Hellenic council, secretary of the student-faculty discipline committee, rushing chairman of Gamma Phi Beta and president of Gamma Phi Beta, alternate to the student council, member of the archery team and treasurer of the Key society. Her academic interest has been mainly in qualitative and organic chemistry, having won a chemistry handbook for her work in organic last year. She is a graduate of Abbot Academy.

Memorial Day Observance Held

Andover's hero war dead were honored Monday as the town's patriotic organizations conducted the annual Memorial day visit to the cemeteries to pay tribute to those who had laid down their lives for their country. Gone are all Andover's Civil War vets, but the veterans of the World War have taken over the task of honoring them for their struggles for the Union as well as paying homage to their own buddies who died in battle-scarred France.

Andover's new group of clergymen were the principal speakers of the day, with one of them, Rev. Samuel B. Overstreet, remarking that he was a Southerner by birth and the grandson of a Confederate soldier. The idea of Memorial day, he said, was started by a Southern woman. General Grant's action in sending the Confederate soldiers home with their horses in time to work on their crops was never forgotten by the Southerners, Rev. Mr. Overstreet stated.

SHAWSHEEN SCHOOL HEALTH PROGRAM

Under the sunny skies of an ideal June day the children of the Shawsheen School held their annual Health Day program yesterday. The lines formed in the rear of the school and under the leadership of Alva Houston and the color bearers, Harry Emmons and Gordon Robb, and the drummer, Charles Sanborn from the Junior High School, they marched all around the building and onto the lawn at the side of the school where the exercises were held. The first event in the long program, with all the children participating, was the Shawsheen Maze Walk. A pretty sight it was with the children dressed in sport costumes or play suits or just pretty dresses. Then followed three or four cheers that would put any High School to shame, and then came Health Songs. Mr. Todd was on hand to help the teachers and the children in preparation of the events, and Bobby Waugh had charge of the distribution of pint bottles of chocolate milk which the teachers provided for all the children, 150 or more.

The various events were won as follows: Necktie Relay — "The Greens", Paul Cheney, leader; Fetch and Carry Relay — "The Greens", Paul Cheney, leader; Hopping Relay — "The Blues", Polly Black, leader; Circle Relay — "The Orange", Jimmy Gillen, leader; Human Croquet — "The Yankees", Alan Mosher, leader; Cap Transfer — "Mt. Drinking On The Job

A thing that Andover's unemployed, and Andover's citizenry as a whole, can't seem to understand is the seeming preference given to men with a certain liquid capacity when town laboring jobs are given out. They know that if town business were run as a private business, sobriety would be one of the first qualities taken into consideration by the employer before hiring a man; and they know, too, that in private business if a man shows up on the job in the morning in a condition unfit for work, or if he drinks during working-hours, he would be thrown out mighty fast.

Possibly you are dead-set against anybody drinking under any circumstances; possibly you're one of those who, granting a man a right to drink if he so desires in private, are dead set against public drinking and the resultant public drunkenness. But whatever be your views on liquor, you undoubtedly feel that drinking has no right to affect the quality or quantity of work a man gives his employer, whether that employer be public or private.

In Andover this unfortunate state of affairs has been seen in two instances. There have been cases in the public works department, proved beyond question, of employees intoxicated on the job, with at least one having spent an afternoon in a shed in a hangover on the town's time. What these men, chosen by the department because it feels they are the best workmen available, do in their own time is nobody's business but their own, but no matter how good workmen they are, if they drink on the job, or if they have a hangover on the job, they should be fired.

The other group is the W. P. A. workers chosen because of their need. Yet part of the small amount of money some of these men earn goes into liquor. If these men spend the government's money on drink, naturally the unemployed who want money for bread and clothing for their families will wonder if they are being treated right. Liquor is not a necessity, and if a man can afford to spend money on it, he is not needy. As a matter of fact, the reason we have so many permanent unemployed is that many of them drank earnings away, and whenever they get a job, their first pay ends up in a bar-room cash register.

Votes vs. Profits

no voter wants to bite the hand that feeds him. And yet when the President recently after his fishing trip came out with another blast at businessmen, wasn't he biting the hand that's been feeding America's workers for years?

President Roosevelt received a good many votes in 1936 because he had given the voters work, for naturally

Can you, can the President, honestly say that your boss likes to see you idle, likes to tell you not to show up for the next few weeks because there's no work for you? That is the wildest sort of irresponsible political talk, for your boss is making money only when you are working, only when his plant is working at pretty near capacity. Equipment lying idle makes no money of itself; not until men start earning wages by working with that equipment does the businessman start making money. When the President stops squawking at people who do not feel that he knows how to run their businesses, men will go back to work in the jobs that they once held.

Yale-in-China Teacher to Speak

Mr. Sweet, who had an able career at Yale, was one of two Seniors chosen to teach for two years at Yale-in-China, Changhsa, where part of the Yale-in-China work is carried on, lies 225 miles south of Hankow, the present capitol of China. Here there is a preparatory school of 351 boys, known as Yali Union Middle School. Other branches of Yale-in-China operate in different parts of the country. Mr. Sweet was present in Changhsa during the first of the bombing raids by Japanese airplanes. He has travelled through other parts of China and the Near East and has a first hand knowledge of the situation of that country. At present he is lecturing throughout the United States on behalf of Yale-in-China, and has spoken in many large cities from the Pacific Coast to the East. LIFE In Andover This Week

Patterson, most popular girl; Betty Carmichael, prettiest girl; Virginia Batcheller, best girl student. Center, left—When Andover faces Exeter in baseball Saturday, the outcome of the game will hinge on Ted Harrison's leg and arm. Up to the Tilton game two weeks ago Ted had struck out nearly two men per inning, but in the fourth inning he attempted to score and hurt his leg. He is reported to be in condition to play, but if he isn't, it will be too bad, for he's the whole team. The team, save for Ted and Junie O'Brien, can't seem to hit, and the Lawrence lad will be sorely needed Saturday. Center, right, top—The Junior High presented Huck Finn last Friday night. Caught in a tense scene are left to right: John Humphreys, Robert Costello, Charlotte Eaton, Ben Cole, Janet Carter, Eleanor Dwyer, Dot Miller, Louise Dowd, Isabel Johnson. Bishop Administers Confirmation

Lack of individual Christianity is more of a menace to the world today than communism, fascism and all the other isms rampant now, which make this modern world seem almost chaos, said Bishop Henry K. Sherrill in his sermon at Christ Church on Sunday, where he administered the rite of confirmation to a large group of candidates. Bishop Sherrill said much of the woe in the modern age was due to a lack of Christianity in the home and in the political world and it was only when man came back to Christ and his way of living that peace would come to the nations. He took his text from the 4th chapter of the Acts of the Apostles in which Peter was speaking to the rulers and elders of the people who had put Jesus to death, in which he said, "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved."

In his exhortation to those confirmed after he had blessed them by the laying on of hands, Bishop Sherrill told them to seek an inner spiritual grace, one that they could feel deep in their hearts, and follow it as their way of life.

Many, Many Thanks

Last week in our advertisement, we asked our many customers to cooperate with us in relieving the holiday rush by leaving their orders Friday afternoon.

Their response was so great that the number of orders delivered on our early morning delivery was over five times greater than ever before. For this we give our sincerest thanks, as it gave us time to secure the right cuts, at the right price and deliver them at the right time.

We hope that those who found this system advantageous last week will continue to use it and that many others will give it a trial. Again we want to thank you and hope we will continue to merit your kind cooperation.

One Afternoon or Evening at Andover Guild Costs Only Two Cents

The Andover Guild is little more than a name to a great many citizens of the town. They have heard of it once a year when solicitation for support of its work is being made, but if they were asked to describe what takes place in this building, located on Brook street, they would find it difficult to give an answer. In the Andover Guild Building, itself, is a gymnasium, a bowling alley, a carpenter shop, a kitchen, library, game rooms of several shapes and sizes, and a number of shower baths. All of these facilities are in use practically every week-day from the first of November until the first of May. A visitor to the Guild might on the same afternoon or evening see gymnasium classes at work, bowling and basketball teams competing, boys and girls engaged in carpentry and hand-work, a group in the kitchen learning to cook, or half a dozen boys studying carefully the position of their men on the chess board. On other occasions, this same visitor might become a member of the song and story club or attend one of the motion picture or puppet shows, or find himself or herself included in any one of a dozen games that are constantly in use.

Of course, all of these activities are held under the supervision of trained leaders, and so a visitor would find in charge of the Guild a superintendent of this work and several part-time assistants. The Staff includes four paid workers and a large number of volunteer workers. Without the generous support of the community both in time and contributions this recreation center could not possibly continue its work. One of the ways of estimating the value and efficiency of any organization is to balance its costs and its accomplishments. The total operating budget of the Andover Guild is approximately $5,000 a year. From this must come the pay for the superintendent and her assistants, the janitor's wages, the cost of fuel and lighting, insurance expenses, and the general up-keep of the building. Many people have rightfully asked, "How is it possible to cover all of these costs from so modest a budget?" The answer is that a constant effort is being made to get the maximum value and efficiency from every dollar. If it were not for the generous spirit of the superintendent and her assistants, this would not be possible.

Someone will ask, "Who attends the Guild, what groups are served by the support of this Building and its Staff?" The answer is not simple because the range of the Guild's work is wide and broad. In this past year there have been enrolled 51 primary or pre-school children, 89 other boys and girls under 11 years of age, 69 between the ages of 11 and 14, 84 in the age group from 14 to 18, and 138, 18 years or over. The total number of registered members for this past year is 431, but this does not exhaust the list of those who have used the building. There are other groups, some of them parents of these children, and some who are at the other scale of the ladder, the 50 children in the pre-school clinic. We would, therefore, have to add another 145 to the list of those who are benefited by this organization.

Perhaps the best way of estimating how far the money given for this work goes is to say that for each regular registered member of the Andover Guild the total cost per year is approximately $1.00. Since each member averages between forty and fifty visits a year, an afternoon or evening spent at this recreation center, where cleanliness and protection and fun prevail, costs a little over 2 cents.
