B.P.W. Considers Sewer Projects

Discuss Health Chairman's Suggestions For Sewer Projects

Sewer projects, water extensions and sidewalk work were considered at the meeting of the Board of Public Works held on Tuesday night, but no definite action was taken because of lack of funds. However, a special town meeting is being talked of by some private citizens, and the projects may come up at that time, probably not before September, however.

Following the recent Townsman editorial about gravel road projects, Franklin H. Stacey, chairman of the board of health, sent to the Board of Public Works a list of possible sewer projects for their consideration. They included a Pine street project, a Ballardvale system and one on North Main street from Stinson's bridge to Haverhill street. The average cost of a sewer is $2.20 per foot, with the abutments on either side of the street being assessed $1.10 per running foot, the cost to the town in many instances being nothing. Fred E. Cheever attended the meeting to offer his cooperation on the project with rights-of-way in Johnson acres, etc., and the board is planning to take elevations through his land to see if it would be possible.

It is impossible to run sewerage from Pine street to Elm because the intersection is at a low spot, with gravity not carrying it to the present sewer at the intersection of Walnut avenue. The plan talked

Dies Ten Days After 91st Birthday

On July the first, Mrs. Jane Sheasgreen observed her 91st birthday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Boudreau, well-known ticket agent, of 53 Essex street. Last Sunday, ten days later, Mrs. Sheasgreen passed away, having been ill but a very short time.

Mrs. Sheasgreen had lived in Andover the past seven years. She was born in Canada, but had lived in Lawrence for many years.

A high mass of requiem was held in St. Augustine's church yesterday morning, burial following in the church cemetery.

North Scores Hole-in-One

The second hole-in-one of the current season at the Andover Country club was made last Saturday by Clifford M. North, chairman of the greens committee, on the fifth hole, 130 yards. George Culver was the previous holer-in-one.

Hold Up School Department Bills

Selectmen Feel Transportation Charges of Supervisors Exorbitant

Several school department bills have been held up by the selectmen because of alleged exorbitant charges for transportation. The bills were from several supervisors who use their own cars for transportation to the outlying schools. The selectmen objected to the charge of three dollars for trips to the North School, the round-trip totalling nine miles.

The rate of thirty-three cents per mile is in contrast to the rate of five or six cents per mile in other departments. The selectmen allow welfare agent Arthur W. Cole six cents a mile because of all the stopping and starting he has to do. The W. P. A. supervisor is paid five cents per mile by the town. The selectmen formerly received five cents per mile for their traveling, but they have absorbed the charge themselves in recent years as well as telephone charges and a number of other items.

The school committee considered the three dollar charge a few years ago and it had been thought that the arrangement had been changed. Before the private cars were used, the supervisors had to hire taxis and the charge for the trip out to the North School was three dollars. When the supervisors started using their own cars, they continued the three dollar charge.

Intensify Drive Against Speeders

Registrar Goodwin Compliments Local Police—Eight In Court

Efforts to cut down speeding in Andover are to be intensified, Chairman Howell F. Shepard of the Board of Selectmen stated Tuesday night. Eight speeders appeared before Judge Hargedon yesterday morning in local court, and the names of many others have been sent to the registry of motor vehicles.

Judge Hargedon fell in with the aims of the local department when he levied fines of five dollars on six of yesterday's defendants and fines of ten dollars on the other two. He issued a warning that he'd go higher if necessary to cut down speeding here.

Two weeks ago a check-up was made at the corner of North Main and Harding streets where there have been many complaints of speeding. A large number of names were sent into Boston as the result. The usual procedure followed by the registry is the sending out of warning notices, followed for second offenses by suspension of licenses for seven days. Speeding over fifty results automatically in a suspension, as does driving and being stopped for an alleged violation when there is an odor of liquor on one's breath.

Police estimate that only about ten percent of those stopped are brought into court on complaints, and about half the other ninety percent are reported to the Registry.

Frank Goodwin, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, has written the local board complimenting the police department on its work, and stating that the Lawrence office will continue to assist in cutting down speed here in Andover.

Babe Popularity Contest Friday

Tomorrow night the annual baby popularity contest will be held on all three playgrounds, and the following week an amateur contest will be held.

There will be five groups in the baby contest: under one, under two, under three, under four, and twins under four.

On next Monday night the tournaments will begin, including sand-building, heel toss, checkers, jackstones, box hockey, miniature bowling and croquet.

PENNY BEANO

The British War Veterans' auxiliary enjoyed a penny beano after their meeting last evening. Refreshments were served.

Legion Juniors Looking Better

The local Legion Junior team is now in the throes of a late-season warm-up. After a very slow start, the boys have come back to show some really effective baseball in their last three games. Last Friday night they lost to Lawrence 1-0, and on Sunday afternoon they took Beverly into camp 9 to 5. Tomorrow evening they play Salem here.

Warren Deyermond did a good job on the mound in the Lawrence game, but the local team lost when a Lawrence player who had walked scored on one of the three hits Deyermond allowed. Andover had several chances to score.

Proctor did the hurling in the Beverly game, and was given good support. He allowed 13 hits, but fanned ten and kept the bingles well-scattered.

Board of Health Adopts New Rules

The Board of Health has adopted an extensive set of new rules and regulations. The first rules were adopted in 1892, revisions being made in 1916.

Under the law most of the rules have to be legally advertised, and a portion of them appear in today's Townsman, the balance to follow next week.

ARBROATH PICNIC

Eighty-six adults and over thirty children attended the Arbroath association's annual picnic held last Saturday at Pelham, N. H. Races were enjoyed, and in the feature sports event, the women defeated the men in a baseball game, the score of which according to one of the men was "7-2 or sumthin like that."

Drowns Week Before Wedding Day

Yesterday was to have been a joyous day at 199 North Main street, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Forsythe. Their 18-year-old daughter May, was to have been married to a fine, clean-cut young man from Worcester. Her sister Connie, just out of junior high, had been looking forward to standing up for her older sister.

The bridegroom-to-be came up for a visit on the Fourth and had been enjoying a rest the following week.

Last Thursday was very hot, and after supper Sam, Jr., and the young man, Joseph P. Hawthorne, Jr., decided to go for a swim in the Shawsheen river down near Hartwell Abbot's, at the "Clay Bottom." Joseph swam out about 15 feet, while Sam sat on the banking. Then before his eyes the Worcester boy sank from sight. Sam swam in and dove four or five times, then dashed back to the Chester Abbott's to telephone the police. The fire department inhalator was sent down together with a rowboat.

It was shortly after six that the police were notified. Between then and 7:40 the boat hovered near the spot where Joseph had gone down, while several swimmers including Sam Forsyth Jr., dove many times in repeated efforts to locate the body. It was John Robertson, former head lifeguard at Poms pond, who finally located the body, and then shortly afterwards Warner Sayles hooked it into the boat.

Until 8:20 rescue workers tried to resuscitate the young man, with Dr. Hartigan's pronouncement of death putting an end to their toil, which convinced though they were that the boy was beyond help was none the less earnest. In the meantime Mr. Forsythe, who had heard in the square that someone had drowned near Abbott's and had taxied down there with fear in his heart, was taken home by Sidney White to break the news to May. The girl broke down, but later in the evening was bearing up bravely.

Andover Resident in Czechoslovakia

Mrs. Hugh D. McClellan sailed for Prague, Czechoslovakia, early in May, with her son, to visit her family. She writes that the situation was quite serious. Just before she arrived there, a little fighting had started and some railroad bridges were torn up to keep the Germans out. Then some big squadrons of Soviet airplanes made them decide to turn back. She also writes that things in Austria didn't happen as we read about it in the papers. A train before hers took four hours to pass the frontier.

Mr. McClellan is employed as an architect in the Federal Housing authority.

Fire Department Lights Square

Andover square and a good part of Main street were in darkness last night as the result of a broken lamp socket on Essex street. Shortly before eleven the fire department ladder truck was sent out to the square to flood-light it with the new generator and lights bought after the flood period two years ago. For several minutes firemen yanked at the generator in a vain endeavor to get it started, and then Selectman Shepard reached down, fiddled with a jigger here and an other there, Gus Reilly gave a tug on the rope and the lights went on.

Shortly after this the power company had remedied the trouble, evidently caused by the throwing of a stone.

Sergt. Leonard Saunders of the police department is enjoying his annual vacation. Sergeant Ray Hickey is occupying the night desk during his absence. Officers Stevens and Gillespie have returned from their vacations.

Charles Winters of 78 Haverhill street left last Saturday for the National Guard Camp, at Falmouth, where he will be located two weeks.

Avis Robson, bookkeeper at the J. E. Pitman Estate, is enjoying her annual vacation at Old Orchard.

Chief Alfred H. McKee of the North Andover police and Chief George Dane of the Andover police, spent the week-end with Chairman Howell F. Shepard at New Bedford. While there Chief Dane assisted Chairman Shepard by pumping out a leaky lobster boat.

about Tuesday would be to have the sewer run down Pine street, part draining into the Summer street sewer and the rest into Shipman road in Johnson acres, thence along Shipman road to a low spot, across Mr. Cheever's lots, through the Burton property, then into Carmel road, or through town property to

Philip Hardy and John Pike attended the meeting to speak in favor of concrete sidewalk work. Under the W. P. A. plan the abuttor furnishes cement at a cost of 60 cents a yard, the W. P. A. furnishes the labor, but there is an

Two residents of County road were present asking for a water extension, but this would be up to a town meeting.

Clean Up Andover Square

"Clean up Andover Square" was the order given out to his officers by Chief of Police George A. Dane recently, and since that time some improvement has been seen. The drive came very much into prominence over the Fourth when three young men allegedly under the influence resisted efforts of two young officers to make them go home, the result being what inevitably happens to young men who think that they can "get away" with being smart with the law.

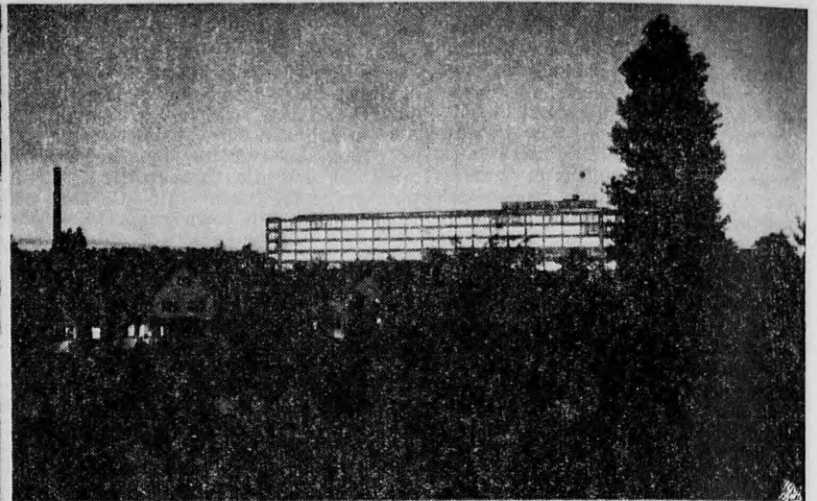

Then the young men and their Andover square comrades decided that one of the officers was using his authority too much, and they even talked about petitioning for his removal. Fortunately those who have the power to remove officers are men who would side with an officer who was doing his duty rather than a group of men who had hoped that the officer would be afraid to do his duty.

If license is ever repealed in Andover, it's not going to be those who are against it who will defeat it as much as those who are too much for it. Andover square, especially on Saturday evenings is pretty much of a disreputable-looking place, and unless those who have made it look this way come to the realization that they themselves are killing license, some biennial election will see Andover back in the "dry" column.

There are many voters here in Andover who voted for license not because they cared anything about drinking themselves, but because they felt other people who wanted the privilege had the right to drink provided that they did not infringe upon other people's rights in so doing. They feel that if a man wants, he can sit in his own home and have a drink; some feel that if a man wants he can go into a restaurant and drink, even guzzle; but they all feel this: that no one has a right to drink to excess and then allow himself to become a public nuisance. That is what has happened in Andover square. Saturday nights respectable people have hesitated to come through the square shopping because of the unpleasantness of passing a group of inebriates. It has definitely hurt the business of merchants who have their shops near that section. It has resulted too often in decidedly unsanitary conditions up Post Office avenue and even on Main street and Elm street.

The police are to be congratulated for trying to get these men to go home when they have had too much. It isn't helping Andover one bit to have passersby see the square crowded with men who are nothing more than a disgrace, men who are under the mistaken impression that the license the town gave them to drink carried with it the license to be a public nuisance. When Andover's voters showed themselves in favor of license, they said that they were willing that

Mormon Elders in Work Here

Two missionaries representing the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints recently arrived in Andover to take over Church activities in this section of Eastern Massachusetts. Laboring for what is better known as the "Mormon" Church, these young men, Elders Max Browning and Elbert R. Simmons, expect to remain here during the summer months and as much longer as is seen fit. They are residing at 28 Essex street. Each Sunday morning, they present a program over a local radio station which features choral and organ music of the famous Mormon organ and choir located at the cross roads of the west in Salt Lake City, Utah. Other activities include giving of illustrated lectures, and speaking upon their religious philosophy at different churches and service organizations as well as in homes. Both missionaries are ordained ministers, and have had preliminary theistic training in connection with regular high school and college work in Utah. Mr. Prowning attended Weber College in Ogden, while Mr. Simmons attended a church institute at the Utah State Agricultural College in Logan. After a period of two years, which is devoted entirely to missionary work, they will return to their homes in Utah, and new missionaries will take their places.

Young Republicans Name Committees

The Andover Young Men's Republican Club held its monthly meeting last Thursday evening in the choir rooms in the National Bank building. A large gathering of interested young men attended and heard Representative Edward Sirois present a very fiery and enthusiastic talk on the conditions in the Massachusetts legislature at the present time. Mr. Sirois spoke at some length on many topics of special interest to every Massachusetts citizen. He explained the situation which now prevails in the legislature as somewhat similar to that of the nation in that it apparently is one of politics rather than one which holds the best interests of the people. As chairman of the municipal finance committee, Mr. Sirois is well-acquainted with the problems which many cities and towns are facing because of the state tax and he stated a few instances where the various communities are having a real struggle for existence.

In concluding his talk, Mr. Sirois spoke of the advantages and opportunities the young people of the Republican party had to further their cause and he hoped that the Andover group would keep up its enthusiasm and have great success.

A short business meeting was held at which time the following committees were appointed: Activities: T. Fallon, A. Davidson, Paul L'Antigua; Publicity: E. Grover, D. Petrie, D. Crocket; Program: A. Zink, A. Flye, R. Wilkie; Membership: Precinct one, A. Chadwick, precinct two, Hartwell Abbott, precinct three, A. Ritchie, precinct four, A. Chambers, precinct five, R. Comins, precinct six, T. Blunt.

Walter Davis was elected to the position of corresponding secretary to fill a vacancy left by Clifford Wadman who has moved out of town.

Visitors to the club from Beverly were introduced and Mr. Lariver of that group gave a short history of a Republican candidate for governor, Leverett Saltonstall.

No Rabies In Vaccinated Dogs

The anti-rabic program conducted in Andover by the board of health is the subject of an article by chairman Franklin H. Stacey in the recent issue of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health Newsletter. Mr. Stacey states that it is the board's conviction that if statewide vaccination of dogs were carried on, the disease would eventually be practically eliminated. The board, he reports, has for some time been considering submitting a bill to the legislature, but has deferred action pending an investigation by the state board and the ascertaining of how long immunity lasted. It probably lasts a year, he reported.

About one-half of Andover's dogs are vaccinated, he said, 282 by the town in free clinics and 45 privately. In the past ten years there has not been a single case of rabies among any of the dogs vaccinated in Andover, and the board feels that it is much more economical for the board to do this work than to provide anti-rabic treatment to exposed persons.

THIS SOBER TOWN

Governments have had deficits before, according to Horace M. Poynter of the academy faculty. At the annual Lincoln spelling matches, after one sixth grader had favored Andover's town father number one by spelling "shepherd" "shepard," conductor Poynter told about the deficit that Tiberius faced. When it was suggested that he raise his taxes, Tiberius said: "My friends, a wise shepherd shears his sheep; he doesn't flay them." (Washington papers: please copy.)

Shop The Comfortable Way

During July and August when the weather is so uncomfortably hot, shopping and carrying your bundles is not only burdensome, but very expensive. You will find our prices on Native vegetables and fruits are as low, and often lower than Cash and Carry Chain Stores. On our higher grade groceries and better quality meats if we are a penny or two higher than chains, the higher quality of the goods more than offsets that small difference.

Learn to shop the comfortable and economical way. Try it during the hot months of July and August.

Picturesque Town Meeting Figure Dies

"Mr. Moderator, I move that it be indefinitely postponed!" The stentorian voice that was often heard making this motion in Andover's town meetings was stilled forever last Thursday morning when John Traynor passed away at his home, Jamacia street, Lawrence. One of the most picturesque figures at the annual meetings, he added immeasurably to the picturesqueness of the proceedings, sometimes making the assembly rock with laughter, sometimes bringing it back to the straight and narrow path which real old common horse sense dictates.

A native of Belfast, Ireland, he came to this section at an early age, and later went into the real estate, insurance and auctioneering business. For a long time he lived down in old Frye Village and up until five years ago in new Shaw-sheen village. Illness then ended his town meeting activity, and he moved to Lawrence, his son Joseph and his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Quigley, being the only local survivors.

He was very fond in his last years of telling humorous stories of old Andover town meetings or of Andover elections, going back to the days before the Australian or secret ballot was introduced when everyone knew for whom everyone else was voting.

CLAN AUXILIARY PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Grand lodge officials were entertained last Thursday evening at the meeting.
