May Ask Sewer for Dufton Road

There may possibly be an article in the coming town warrant for a sewer in the Dufton road section of the town to alleviate a serious sanitary situation brought to light during the construction of the W. P. A. diverting drain. Health and public works authorities are now working on the problem. Monday a state board of health engineer, Dr. Archibald of the state department, Chairman Stacey of the local board, Frank Buttrick of the board of public works, Superintendent Gilliard, Mr. Delaney of the W. P. A., and Mr. Dufton surveyed the situation.

It had been found that the sewage had been emptying into an open drain. A number of W. P. A. men required medical treatment for rashes which developed while they were working on the drain.

The work has been slowed up some by the rain, which has made it necessary to bolster up the sides of the trench with wood, at a greater cost to the WPA but no more to the town. The Board has decided to use second-hand brick on the manholes in the drain, at a cost of less than half the new brick figure.

Dogs Invading Chicken Yards

West Andover has been besieged by dogs lately, with the latest development being the killing of 78 chickens at the Morgan poultry farm. There have been several other cases in the past week. One dog has been captured and given over to the M. S. P. C. A.

Catherine Clarke of Bridgeport is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. William Simmons.

In answer to many requests, we are going to run a cartoon on local events every week. By so doing, the Townsman, one of the few small-town weeklies using pictures extensively, becomes one of the first to use local cartoons.

Speaker Cahill Lashes Gov. Hurley

One of the most prominent figures in the Bay State's political life today, Horace T. Cahill, Republican speaker of the House, who has been engaged in a fight with Governor Hurley, came to Andover last Thursday night to address the Young Republicans. He minced no words in describing the deadlock at the State House, nor in telling what he thought the future course of the Republican party should be.

Speaker Cahill wound up his talk by speaking of the deadlock between the Governor and the legislature. He stated that the Hurleyites would have the people believe that the Republican majority in the House is against relieving unemployment, a most silly, outrageous statement since Governor Hurley has been given more "dough" to spend than any previous Governor, and the state department of public works has had more money appropriated by the state with the addition of federal contributions than any other previous department, not excluding the one which had Governor Curley's $13,000,000 bond issue to play with. When the fight started a month ago, the speaker stated, there was $28,000,000 available for work, lying idle, waiting for the Department of Public Works to get going. It was being held, Mr. Cahill asserted, until just before the primary and the election to let the administration put tens of thousands of men to work, and

Selectmen Not to Ask Funds

The B. P. W. study of possible WPA projects continued this week in preparation for the September special town meeting which is to be called not solely on the initiative of the Board of Public Works but rather as the outgrowth of the joint meeting of selectmen, and finance committee with the board a short while ago. At that time the members of the finance committee present agreed to transfer $5,000 from the reserve fund to the then depleted WPA account to carry the workers through to September at which time according to the agreement, a special town meeting was to be held when vacationists had returned. Of the $15,000 reserve fund $10,000 had more or less been earmarked for the welfare account, and since the finance committee wished to hold $5000 in reserve for emergencies it was impossible to transfer more than $5000 for WPA. This left only $5000 of the earmarked $10,000 and it was thought at that time that the selectmen at the special town meeting would also have to ask for extra welfare money.

However, welfare expenditures have dropped off markedly since

VALLEY EXHIBIT ENTRIES TO CLOSE

All entries for the Merrimack Valley Art Association exhibition, to be held at Marblehead from September 4, are to be made at the Addison Gallery, August 12-13. The Gallery is open from ten to five every day except Sunday. People should have their objects there before noon on Saturday.

Miss Nellie Trainor of Whittier street is vacationing at Wells Beach, Me.

CHIEF BACK FROM VACATION

Back on the job this week were police chief George A. Dane and officer John Deyermond, both of whom were on a vacation for the past two weeks. Sergeant Hickey and officer Shaw are now on their vacations.

PLAYGROUND PICNIC HELD YESTERDAY

Five bus loads, with 250 children, went to Canobie Lake for the annual playground picnic yesterday. Games and races were enjoyed. In a baseball game the Shawsheen group defeated the Central.

LE CHAT NOIR SOLD BY SELECTMAN

"Le Chat Noir," Selectman Shepard's boat which has proven a week-end rendezvous for many town officials, has been sold and replaced by a larger boat, "Mother Goose." The new acquisition has many fine appointments, and of interest to police sergeants is the fact that it is less easy to acquire seasickness.

Mr. Shepard was able to be out again Monday. On Tuesday he went to Onset in connection with the boat.

You Can't Eat Freedom

People have to eat. Government officials, most of them in recent years of the Democratic party, have seemed to recognize that fact. Last Thursday night at the meeting of the Young Republicans here in Andover, there were strong, encouraging indications that the Republican party would also realize that fact, and act on it.

There aren't many really thoughtful members of our Republican party who are particularly proud of the stands its standard-bearers took back in the Presidential election two years ago. It was nothing but a negative party; it sent its speakers up and down the land talking about the deprivations of the liberties our forefathers handed down to us; it preached freedom, rugged individualism, anti-paternalism. But the people then, and the people now, were interested not in the glorious idea of freedom so much as in the more practical idea of eating, of bringing something home every week with which to feed their young ones, with which to clothe their little limbs. They'd swap a square meal for all the rugged individualism in the universe. The Republican party then did not answer the question of how they were going to eat; all it did was say that the Democratic politicians then in control were wrong, but they didn't tell what was right.

The resultant overwhelming defeat should have taught the Republican party a lesson, and it did teach some of them, although Alf Landon more from habit probably than anything else still talks about freedom and Herbert Hoover still preaches the cause of rugged individualism. But one of those who learned the lesson spoke to Andover's Young Republicans last Thursday night with thoughts that were a real stimulus to these young men who want their party to be a really progressive, positive, social-minded party with a real program to offer as a solution of today's ills. Speaker of the House Horace Cahill asked why the W. P. A. men view with alarm the possibility of a Republican victory, and his answer was this: "We haven't presented an affirmative program to appeal to those boys!" He suggested that the party recognize that some such agency as the W. P. A., which incidentally was conceived by the then secretary of commerce Herbert Hoover, must exist to take up the slack in industry. He suggested that the Republican party dispense from people's minds the idea that the party is against unemployment compensation insurance, for "it's here to stay, a highly-motivated social advance."

But there are abuses under this Democratic regime, serious abuses, and Speaker Cahill recommends that the Republican party forge ahead to wipe out those abuses, including the removing of political influence from appointments to the W. P. A., requiring the Unemployment Compensation workers to be chosen from Civil Service rolls, presenting an affirmative program to make it easier for the W. P. A. worker to get back into industry without having to wait 60 days to get back on the W. P. A. when the private job peters out.

Andover's Young Republicans left that meeting encouraged, and well they might be, for they were able to envisage a new party, one devoted to taking care of the needy, one willing to accept social reforms, one anxious to drop the "arrogance that licked the old party." It's no longer a party that says: "No, let's do nothing;" it's a party that says: "Let's do something, but let's do it right!"

The Coat Fits Again

There is a scheme afoot to boycott those advertising with him." One of our prominent advertisers this week received a letter, from one who lacked the courage to sign his name, urging the advertiser to stop advertising with us because of our man's feelings that (1) men who drink should not report to work for the town while under the influence; (2) men who have drunk too much should not remain in Andover square to become a public nuisance; and (3) a number of the town employees are not giving the town as much for a dollar as private employees and the rest of the town employees do give. Briefly, those are the important points we have been bringing out, those are the points that Andover's respectable citizens, including the town workers who do work and those who drink without inflicting their gayety or ugliness on the public, are very glad to have brought out.

Someone whom the coat fits doesn't like it, and he wants to try to stop us by writing anonymous letters. But frankly, we're going on with our fight, and we know that the decent citizens of this town will back us up by showing their loyalty to the firms which now advertise with us. If you want these unfortunate conditions to be cleared up, just mention, when you trade with our advertisers, that you see their ad in the Townsman.

If the anonymous gentleman

Dear Sir,

Dogs Favorite at Three Playgrounds

Dogs seem a universal favorite with Andover's children. Down in the Vale they like puppies, a lot of them, down in Shawshen they lean toward scotties, while at the Central playground terriers are preferred. William Bates' seven puppies won the gold ribbon at the Vale last Friday night, Richard Bolton's collie won first in the village, and up here in the Center Gerald Lynch's terrier led the field.

The division winners at the Central: Dogs—First, Rita Downs; second, John Craig; third, Mary Baker. Puppies: First, Gerald Lynch; second, Edward White; third, William O'Connell, Museum—Stuffed animals: First, Zita Surette; second, Claire Lefebvre; third, Philip Crowley. Kittens: First, Stanley Poremba; second, Margaret McDonald; third, John Thomson. Flyers: First, Mary McCormack, pigeons and second William Downs, canary.

Ballardvale: Dogs—First, Samuel Lowry; second, Richard Moody; third, Edith Anderson. Puppies: First, William Bates; second, Carol Reading; third, William Shaw. LASHES GOV. HURLEY

"Phoney" State Tax

The real question has been on the disposition of the five million dollar gas tax, which Governor Hurley wants to reduce the state tax, thus to present what Speaker Cahill called a "phoney" state tax, whereas the Republican majority want to distribute it for immediate work relief to the various cities and towns. Under this plan Andover would receive slightly over $13,000 for work on its roads. But the Governor didn't like that plan: he wanted to give the money to D. P. W. commissioner Callahan, whom two years ago in a pre-election statement he promised to fire in a clean-up of what Hurley then called the "most rottenly polluted" department. If the money went to the state department, "contracts would be given out, and contractors in other elections have been known to donate 10% to campaign funds," speaker Cahill said.

The Democratic party, he said, is not giving us the kind of government the average man wants for himself and his children. The Republican party, however, he said, must recognize that the W. P. A. is here to stay just so long as men are out of work, and it must present an affirmative program to appeal to those boys. He urged the party to rid the W. P. A. of its present political tendency, for 35% of the W. P. A. payroll goes to eight percent of the workers, the political "in-the-know" boys. He suggested that it should be made easier for men to get back on the W. P. A. when their temporary private employment gives out, and he also stated that the W. P. A. should give a man an opportunity to continue on with his own trade.

He also urged the party to realize that the unemployment compensation plan is here to stay, a highly-motivated social advance. The party, however, should try to eliminate the political appointees from that huge staff, for out of 2400 only 900 are on civil service, most of the others being political ward-healers. Fred Butler Speaks

The first speaker at the meeting was county commissioner Fred Butler, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. Fred spoke about redistricting, which he said will probably result in Andover's separation from South Lawrence. He urged his nomination as "one who can win the election," mentioning his feat in running 14,000 votes ahead of the field at the last election. He said he knows what it is to work in a mill, and in a mine, how to run a business, and how to conduct public affairs. The county tax has been cut from $1,300,000 to $1,000,000 since he was on the board, and the $2,200,000 debt has been removed.

Mr. Bauer urged that the state do something in the way of inducing industries to come here.

"Let's get this party back; let's kick those knaves out of the State House; I want to fumigate the State House," he concluded.

Several candidates for representative spoke, including Paul L'Antigua, William Beaulieu, Gordon R. Cannon, and William McCoubrie. State Senator Frank D. Babcock, unopposed, also spoke, saying that the Republicans were going to fight till the snow flies on the gas tax fund issue.

G. Hudson Driver, present registrar of deeds, spoke briefly.

MACHINE OVERTURNS; TWO INJURED

Two out of six occupants of a machine received slight injuries on Monday night when a tire blew out on a rain-soaked road, causing the machine to turn over completely and right itself again. The occupants were all Roxbury residents. They were travelling north on South Main street when the blow-out occurred. Lacerations and bruises were the only personal injuries, but the car was badly damaged.

COUNTY TENNIS TOURNAMENT STARTS SOON

The thirty-fourth annual open tennis tournament for the championship of Essex county is to be held on the courts of the North Andover Country club beginning Saturday, September 3. Samuel F. Free Church Field Day Successful

They had quite a time down at the cricket field last Saturday. It rained every once in awhile, but that didn't matter. Pretty near all the events scheduled for the Free Church field day were held, and enough of the rest were held to give everybody a good time. The Margaret Slattery class lined up against the Young Men's class in baseball; it's the part of discretion to say that it was a close game. The married men and single men also played a game of sorts, with each of them winning according to each of them respectively.

The following were winners in the races:

Boys under six: first, Charles Dwyer; second, William Dennen-court; third, Richard Woodhead.

Boys' special race: First, Richard Woodhead; second, Donald White, and third, Russell MacLeish.

Boys, 8 and 9: First, Paul Kirwin; second, John Craig; third, Donald MacKenzie.

Girls, 8 and 9: First, Catherine Craig; second, Barbara Quill; third, Ruth Gillespie.

Boys, 10 and 11: First, David Cargill; second, Joseph McAtamney, and third, James Souter.

Girls, Special Race: First, Barbara Nicoll and second, Shirley Smith.

Boys, 12 and 13: First, Donald Servis; second, George Craig; third, John Quill.

Girls, 12 and 13: First, Marjorie Thomson and second, Delores Diaz. Girls, 14 and 15: First, Ann Thomson and second, Florence Nicoll.

Peanut Hunt—All Children: First, James O'Hagan; second, Donald Servis and third, John Dwyer.

Young Ladies' Shoe Race: First, Elinor Gorrie; second, Ruby Laurie and third, Helen Gorrie.

Potato Race: First, Isabel MacLaren; second, Margaret Laurie and third, Edna Woodhead.

Special Event: First, Jean Deymond; second, Ruby Laurie and third, Margaret MacLaren; consolation prize, Mrs. John Souter.

Young Men's Obstacle Race: First, William Skea; second, Paul A. L'Antigua; third, William Anderson.

Obituaries

Peter H. Markey

A requiem high mass was offered in St. Augustine's church on Friday morning for the late Peter H. Markey by Fathers Austin, Smith and Dillon. John A. Welch and Rep. Louis A. Scanlon sang two selections. Burial took place in the church cemetery.

The bearers: John Markey and Frank McCarthy of Salem, Joseph Murphy and John Lough of Lawrence, and Richard Terry and Kenneth McDonald of Andover.

Mrs. Margaret Nicoll

Funeral services for late Mrs. Margaret Nicoll were held Friday afternoon at the home of her son, Claude, on Summer street, by Rev. Herman C. Johnson, burial following in Spring Grove.

The bearers: her four sons, Claude, Frank, Harry and Alfred; Charles Fettes and Edward Anderson.

Edwin S. Davis

Edwin S. Davis passed away last Friday evening at his home, 66 High street. He was born in Tennessee 82 years ago. Surviving are his wife, Lutie; a son, Edwin, Jr.; and a daughter, Margaret, director of the Andover Guild.

A music service was held at three Saturday afternoon at Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge. The ashes will rest in Nashville.

Miss Ellen Joyce

Miss Ellen Joyce passed away at the Lawrence General hospital on Sunday evening, the victim of a cerebral hemorrhage which apparently took place Friday evening. She was discovered unconscious by neighbors Saturday morning, and officers David Nicoll and William Stewart ordered her removed to the hospital. She had been in failing health for a long period of time, and physicians held out no hope for her recovery on Saturday.

Miss Joyce was born in the Vale 70 years ago and had resided there all her life. An uncle and an aunt, Thomas and Catherine Joyce of Salem, N. H., were her closest survivors.

A mass of requiem was offered at St. Joseph's church yesterday morning, and burial was at the St. Augustine's cemetery.

MARKS 83rd BIRTHDAY

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Edgar Wright celebrated her 83rd birthday. Some of her friends gathered at her home during the afternoon and tendered her a party. She received many gifts and numerous beautiful birthday cards, all tokens of the very high esteem in which she is held. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Slate and Mrs. Lewis. Those present were Mrs. F. H. Winslow, Mrs. John Fielding, Mrs. Mary Fielding, Miss Mary Fielding, Mrs. John Noyes, Mrs. Earl Slate, Mrs. Arthur Lewis, Miss Annie Wright and Mrs. Edgar Wright.

Legion Juniors to Play Tomorrow

The Andover Legion junior team will play the Wakefield team here tomorrow night, starting at 6:15. Last Saturday the two teams played to a 3-3 tie, the game being called at the end of the ninth because of rain. The local boys, still not too powerful at the bat, did a good job of fielding, while Proctor was holding down the Wakefield boys to six hits. Hits by White and Deyermond in the first were responsible for two runs. In the fifth White again singled to score Burnham who had also singled.

Upper left: stocking-footed lassies trying to untangle their shoes in the obstacle race at the Free church field day last Saturday. Tangled themselves are Margaret Cargill, Helen Gorrie, a guest, and at the bottom of the heap, Peg Laurie. Bringing up the rear are Margaret Cargill, Helen Gorrie, and Martha Thompson.

Upper right: Gerald Lynch and the puppie which won the gold ribbon in the pet show at the Central playground last Friday night.

Lower left: just out of the picture is the ball which Martha

Thompson has just hit, down at the Free church field day. And from her stance, the position of the bat, and the look in her eyes, that ball is by this time way, way out of the picture.

Welfare Club Meets Tonight

There will be a meeting of the Andover Welfare club this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dennis at eight. Mr. Dennis reports that it is the opinion of those interested in old age pensions that a Federal measure will be passed by the next Congress. A new bill has been drawn up for presentation in January, 1939. The bill which did not receive action this year is automatically dropped.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Stafford A. Lindsay and Thomas P. Dea will attend the state Legion convention at Worcester next week-end, with Harold Peters and Garrison Holt as alternates. Present plans call for leaving on Wednesday, with the drum corps and other members leaving Friday at five in buses.

Shawsheen Reconditioned Automobiles

We guarantee our reconditioned cars, for our reputation for square-dealing in Andover is too valuable to sell a used car that isn't reconditioned properly.

No Strings

Many times on picking up a newspaper you may see an article advertised at a price far below cost, provided you buy a certain amount of other products along with it.

Anybody knows that the store that sells below cost couldn't exist and you can easily see that if some items are sold below cost, others must necessarily be jumped in price to balance the books.

This over-used "come on" is not our policy. There are no strings attached to any of our specials. They are honest sales offered to you to save you money.

NEW MEN'S STORE OPENS TOMORROW

The Leslie Men's Store will open tomorrow in the old gift shop formerly owned by William H. Higgins and more recently by Miss Nelson. The proprietor of the new store is Norman Leslie who was formerly connected with Jordan Marsh Company in Boston. He and Mrs. Leslie have lately been residing in Pennsylvania, but are planning to make their permanent residence here.

Mr. Leslie intends to cater primarily to the townspeople.

NOT TO ASK FUNDS

that joint meeting, because of increased textile and W. P. A. employment, and for that reason chairman Howell F. Shepard was able to say this week that the selectmen would not have to ask for any money at the special town meeting. With the aid of a transfer of about $5000 to $7500 the welfare accounts will finish the year all right. The increased W. P. A. quota on the other hand makes a town meeting necessary.

The B. P. W. is planning to submit actual figures to show the cost of bona fide work projects to the town as compared to the gravel road type of expenditure, letting the town decide which it wishes to adopt. Some 5000 yards of cement sidewalk work can be done in conjunction with private property owners if the town wishes to contribute its $1.14 a yard.

Townsmania—

Back From The Front

He rushed through his supper at such a speed that he feared lest he suffer another attack of the shingles. He hurried up to the station, and then on up to the now historic Morton and Main intersection. From eight until one (he said 2:30) he watched cars, took their numbers, warned them.

And then—we failed to put his picture in last week's cartoon. Maybe he was too far down the road or something, but anyway he just didn't get in. In fact, we could have taken one incident alone, and built another cartoon around him. He stopped a car and went out in front to take down the number in the light afforded by the headlamps. The driver stuck his head out the window, and yelled: "Get out in back where you belong!"

"What do you think I am, an owl? I'm having a hard enough time seeing things out here," the sergeant stated.
