Hurricane Wreaks Destruction

Town Meeting to Be Held Oct. 3rd

Ask $8,500 for W P A, $2,250 for Hussey's Pond Purchase

Selectman Shepard announced last night that an extra article was being inserted in the warrant, asking an as yet undetermined sum of money to take care of the heavy unforeseen expenditures incurred by police, fire, public works and tree departments because of the hurricane and flood.

A total of $12,550 is requested in the warrant for the special town meeting to be held Monday evening, October 3, published on page 7 of today's Townsman. The largest part of this, $8500, is for material, supervision and truck hire to be used in conjunction with W. P. A. labor on four specific projects. The town is also asked for $500 for North Main street, to be spent in conjunction with $500 from the county and $1000 from the state on widening the road from the Shawsheen bridge south to Harding street, thus completing the job now being carried on by the state from the river north to the Lawrence line. Another article asks for $1100 for a County road water project already mentioned in previous Townsmans.

The selectmen are asking for $2250 for the purchase of Hussey's Pond from the New England Cities Ice Company and the Coordinated Recreation committee appointed after the last town meeting requests $200 for skating areas. The $8500 W.P.A. appropriation is divided as follows: $4200 for water main work on Hidden road and Sunset Rock road; $1300 for water main work on Lincoln street, connecting two dead ends; $1000 for removing ledge on some of the W.P.A. roads off South Main street $2000 for farm-to-market gravel roads, this to be used during the winter when more substantial projects cannot be carried on.

Another article asks permission for the location of a Jewish ceme-

WE'RE SORRY

The Park street power lines failed to function all night, but the power company managed to give the Smith & Coult's printing plant power at 4 o'clock Thursday. We're sorry for the delay, but we're making every effort to get the paper to you Thursday night.

Mail service between here and Philadelphia is at a standstill and for that reason we have no pictures from our Quaker city engraver, but we'll use them and others next week.

Ministers Vote To Oppose Restaurants, Not Package Stores

Andover's ministers last Thursday morning voted to oppose restaurant licenses for the sale of liquor but did not vote to oppose package store licenses. The clergymen had a long discussion of Andover's problem, during which it was felt that the real trouble comes from the restaurants and not from the package stores. Therefore, the association which in the past has been out-and-out dry decided to make a concession to this extent, but was firm in its stand against the restaurants.

The statement of the association follows:

"Unfavorable conditions growing out of the use of alcoholic beverages in Andover have claimed the interest of the ministers of the town. A careful consideration of the subject, at a well attended meeting, led to a unanimous opinion, that at the present time Andover is burdened with excessive drunkenness and reckless driving.

"Most of the intolerable behaviour was found to be definitely connected with such public places as dispense alcoholic drinks for consumption on the premises. Therefore, in the interest of public safety, good citizenship, civic pride and common decency, the ministers urge the people of Andover to vote in the November elections for the withdrawal of such licenses. The motion passed in the ministers' meeting is as follows: We, the undersigned, are opposed to the sale of alcoholic beverages in Andover for consumption on the premises. Signed by Claude Butterfield, Samuel Overstreet, Albert C. Morris, Frederick B. Noss, Donald H. Savage, Herman C. Johnson, George B. Frost, G. Edgar Folk, Newman Matthews."

North School Cellar Flooded In Storm

The North school cellar was flooded on Tuesday as the result of the heavy rains. It has been planned to fill in a large area in the corner of the school yard to prevent accumulation of water there which eventually backs up into the cellar. The area formerly drained through a culvert under the street but this was blocked up in a construction job.

SUFFERS SHOCK

Henry Barry of Methuen, an employee of the power company, suffered burns to his hands and shock this afternoon at five when he picked up a live wire in front of the Samaritan house, School and Main streets.

Flood Threatens to Augment Damage from Windstorm

At six tonight officials felt confident that the peak of the flood would be reached between ten and twelve tonight, based on reports from upriver. Haverhill street was under a foot of water.

Authorities turned their attention early this afternoon to a threatening flood in Shawsheen Village after spending a night in combatting the worst hurricane the town has ever witnessed. Large crews of men were busy all day clearing away the many fallen trees from the roadways, most of which at one time or another were made impassable by fallen trees, telephone poles, wires, etc. Communication and power systems were all tied up, with every unit of public service settling down to what will probably be a long task of reconstruction.

At 1:50 this afternoon Selectman Shepard and Officer David Gillespie closed off Riverina road, then under several inches of water from the Shawsheen. Officer Joseph Davis had previously suggested to the residents of the street that they shift their furnishings to the upper floors. Basements of the Spa, power plant, dairy, etc., were being flooded.

B. P. W. to Fire Men Who Drink

The Board of Public Works "laid down the law" on Tuesday evening to a group of about fifteen men, including foremen and all others who at any time of the year have charge of any workers. It was made clear that the board is not going to tolerate any more liquor and that the department is to be cleaned up. The board stated that it will not feel obliged to keep men on the payroll who are constantly spending money on liquor, and the foremen were ordered not to give any afternoon work to men who they knew were in a tavern in the morning.

The Board earlier in the evening instructed the superintendent to summarily dismiss anyone who appeared on the job after having been drinking, without waiting to bring the matter to the board. It also stated that it would fire anyone about whom complaints are received from a reliable citizen of the town, and members expressed the hope that citizens would volunteer this information when the occasion arises. The names of those co-operating in this way would be kept in strict confidence, the board stated.

Peak Yet To Come

At two no one was sure how high the river would go, some asserting that the peak would come at midnight, others at five a. m. tomorrow, others at 2 p.m. tomorrow afternoon. The water was then rising at the rate of five inches an hour.

Several people received injuries last night, the most serious being officer James Walker's, who received a dislocated shoulder when a tree fell on him while he was on watch at the corner of Locke and Main streets. Mrs. Edward Harvey sustained a fractured wrist on Main street. Patrick Hannon received serious scratches and abrasions and a MacAtamney youngster also received slight injuries.

An official estimate of the number of trees blown down was 350, which could only have been a guess since the trees came down so fast that no count was really possible. Officer Winthrop White, stationed at the desk, received almost continuous telephone calls for several hours during the night, notifying him of trees and wires down, and residents stranded in other towns who couldn't reach local relatives because of lack of telephone communication.

Early in the storm the fire alarm was blown by hand, ten blows to summon all firemen and policemen,

L'Antigua, Ouellette Petition For Recounts

Paul A. L'Antigua, in third place for Republican representative nomination by 18 votes, and Arthur Ouellette, in third place for the Democratic nomination by two votes, are both planning to ask recounts, they announced yesterday. They will contest the second place positions tentatively won by William McCoubrie and Cornelius Twomey respectively. First place in each contest was won by Gordon Cannon and William J. Casey. Andover's sole entry in the Democratic contest, James Darby, went out of Andover with a wide margin, but South Lawrence defeated him, dropping him to fifth place. Cannon was well ahead of his field.

Fred Butler, Andover's gubernatorial candidate, ran fourth, and in Andover his many friends evidently were besieged by a defeatist complex, for they gave him only a slight margin over Leverett Salt-onstall, the winner. When asked over the radio if he would support Salt-onstall, Fred said: "I'm a Republican." Andover's Democrats went for Hurley, although both Kelly and Curley received sizable totals.

Mr. Cannon stated yesterday that he was "grateful for the vote of (his) Republican friends in the town of Andover and Lawrence and (he) shall endeavor to reciprocate by giving them honest legislation when elected in November."

Can They Have Forgotten?

The sane-minded people of this Commonwealth, those Republicans and Democrats who are proud of Massachusetts and all the uprightness it has stood for in its 300-year history, are wondering today just what the majority of the Democratic voters were thinking of Tuesday when they nominated James Michael Curley for Governor. Either they have forgotten in two years just how Curley ran this state when he was governor, or they just don't care how it's run.

James Michael Curley has been given a lot of free tickets to public office. But he won't be passed this time. He had one strike on him when the voters of this state, with two years of Curleyism still ranking in their minds, elected Henry Cabot Lodge senator instead of Curley. He had another strike when Maurice Tobin licked him for mayor in Boston. Let's give him a third strike, let's put him out once and for all in November.

A Real Start On a Hard Job

A lot of our local orators, now that the town meeting date has been announced, are probably very carefully rehearsing at present the remarks which they will make at that time. Some of course will talk about "Little Hitlers"; others will tackle the Board of Public Works for the laxity that has existed in the department.

But it is hoped that the evening will not be given over to that form of criticism. The program has been very carefully thought over and has received the consideration of not only the Board of Public Works but also the selectmen and the finance committee. The principal article will ask for $8500 for materials to supplement W. P. A. labor, and there can be no doubt as to the necessity of such an appropriation, for these men must be kept at work.

However, probably no one will question the need of this appropriation; the main argument if any may come on the workings of the public works department. For the reason that on Tuesday night the Board showed that it was willing to tackle the serious problem of inefficiency before them, it would be fairer to wait and see how things work out before criticizing either the department or the board. If matters are cleaned up as the Board wishes to clean them up by the time the annual town meeting rolls around in March the town can confidently expect to see reductions in costs resulting from the new efficiency in the department. If the department is not cleaned up by that time, then criticism would most certainly be in order.

It's a big problem, a truly big problem. We have a board whose members are business men; we wouldn't want a board whose members weren't business men, for we have few enough of this type of man in office today. But they naturally have not had time to stay around town and see some of the things that the townspeople have seen, and so naturally it has taken some time to convince them of the serious situation in the department. Now they have become cognizant of it however, and they've called in all their foremen and laid down the law to them. There are other things to be done, of course, but this is a real start in which the Board should have the co-operation and support of the townspeople.

So give their campaign a fair trial. Criticize them later if criticism is due; support them now when your support will give them courage and desire to go on with the task ahead of them.

Why Not on The Front Cover?

It's pretty near time for a new telephone directory. Soon the company's salesmen will be around to check up on listings and to try to sell new listings in the advertising section.

We'd like to suggest a listing to appear on the front cover of the directory at no cost to the subscriber involved. It should include the numbers of the police and fire departments in the several towns in this district, tabulated for easy access in case of emergency. At present one has to remember not to look under "P" and under "F" but under "Andover, Town of," and then it is necessary to wade through public works, health, school department, etc., before the number wanted can be ferreted out.

Siftings

"Follow the Leader" was played by most of the candidates on Tuesday.

From the primary returns it is evident that the voters don't wish to pronounce Roosevelt II—"Roosevelt Aye-Aye."

Evidently the Democratic voters prefer to place an X after Curley's name than an "ex" before it.

Townsmania

Blacker List

Over at the police station they have a select list of names. A glance at the list would show that it does not include names of the better citizens of the town, but the police keep the list in the hope that the men will become better citizens. Legally the police department has no right to ask a liquor licensee to refuse to sell liquor to anybody and the department has no right to put anybody's name on a black list. However, the local licensees do cooperate in this attempt to lessen drunkenness, but unfortunately some of those not on the list frequently manage to buy liquor and pass it on to the select group.

One local licensee has gone farther than the police black list. When Chief George Dane first compiled his list, mainly based on requests from the families of the habitual drunkards, he took the list over to the Cordial Shop, the Barnard Street Package Store operated by James E. Greeley. After Greeley explained his errand, Mr. Greeley turned to his clerk and said, "Will you look over this list and see if he has any names on there that we don't have on our list?" The clerk went into the office and soon came forward with a list that was two or three times longer than the police black list! It included, Mr. Greeley said, the names not only of those who could not take care of their liquor, but also of those who could not afford it.

The police department's chief trouble with the list is that at times the families get soft-hearted after having a name put on the list and come down and request that the name be taken off again.

Chickens, 50c, 60c, 75c, 65c, 62c

"Does it pay to be so conscientious when one does not ever appreciate it?" asks Hyman Krinsky in a letter this week to the Townsman. Mr. Krinsky encountered an unusual business proposition last Thursday down in the Vale, and here in his own words is what happened:

"Last Thursday a young fellow living in Ballardvale offered to sell me 40 chickens. I say to the boy: 'How much do you want per chicken?' He says '50 cents each.' I, seeing the size of the chickens, realized that they were worth more, said '50 cents is not enough for the chickens; I'll give you 60 cents each.' Hearing that the boy turns around and asks 75 cents each. I said, 'No, they are not worth that much. I was honest with you and offered you more than you asked, why do you now ask 75 cents?' So he came down to 65 cents. I, realizing that he did not appreciate my honest offer and my honesty, refused to pay the 65 cents. Finally he came down to 62 cents and I took them, and as a result he gained almost five dollars, which I could have saved by paying him his asked price."

An Obstacle For Al

The Phillips Academy Alumni Bulletin was extensively quoted in the New Yorker of September 10. An article taking up about seven column inches quoted verbatim a bulletin morsel which told of Dr. Stearns' many speaking engagements during the past year. We counted them up and they're in the neighborhood of 60 or so. After enumerating the many engagements, the Bulletin added: "He was recently elected trustee of the New England Home for Deaf Mutes."

And added the New Yorker: "That ought to stop him."

The Advance for September contains an obituary of a former well-known resident of Andover, Mrs. Josephine Richards Gile, wife of the late Prof. M. C. Gile, instructor in Phillips Academy for nine years, and later professor in Colorado College.

Mrs. Gile was a graduate of Abbot Academy in 1877, and a teacher there for two years before her marriage. Their home in Andover was the house on the corner of Bartlet and Morton streets, built by her father and now owned by Col. E. C. Greene.

Mrs. Gile was a woman of strong personality, and was noted for her generous interest in educational and religious undertakings. There are two daughters and three sons. Mrs. Gile's death occurred on July 9 at Colorado Springs.

Smith, O.S.A., and Rev. Matthew McDonald, O.S.A., celebrated the mass. Charles O'Neil rendered a solo, with Miss Annie G. Donovan at the organ. Burial followed in Lowell.

Attending the mass were his fellow employees at the Andover Press where he had been a faithful, diligent worker since 1924. His death came as a shock to those associated with him, for he had seldom been ill. Thursday morning he set off for work with no hint of trouble, and waved a good-morning to several people as he walked up High street.

The bearers were John F. Davis, James Souter, Alfred R. Harris, John Greenhow, Frank Hanson and Philip Johnson.

Obituaries

William H. Drugan

William H. Drugan, who made life sweeter for many an Andover resident, died last week at his home in Reading, funeral services being held in Reading, Sunday. He will be remembered here as the man who 30 or 40 years ago used to come through Andover in a candy wagon with a span of horses, selling candy from door to door. His route went from Boston to Haverhill and many a night he put the horses up in Higgins' stable and stayed overnight. Later he shifted to a truck, retiring about eight years ago.

Demarais Vanquishes Graham In Finals

Mel Demarais, 1937 Haverhill Country Club Champion, defeated Jim Eaton and Phil Graham at the Andover Country Club last weekend to annex the local title for this year. He defeated Jim, perennial title-holder himself, 3 and 2 on Saturday, and on Sunday he vanquished Phil 8 and 7, the latter failing to capitalize on a good start.

What You and Your Neighbors Were Doing in Days Gone By

Fifty Years Ago

Alice M. Hinton had a party of the members of the Senior class at Punchard, of which she is a member, on Wednesday evening.

Last Saturday evening there was a breakdown of a carryall which had been hired of Spaulding and Murray of Lawrence. The party had been to Lowell, and mistaken the way; in turning, the forward wheel was broken. Officer Gillespie telephoned to the city for another carriage and also for Chief of Police Cheever, who was soon on hand and took possession of three cases of liquor.

Base, bold burglary, instead of a beautiful blue bouquet, characterized Parker's window on the opposite side of the street, one night this week, a glass-plate advertisement of "Burnett's Extracts" being extracted from the outside of the window.

Geo. R. Carpenter who has been studying in Europe for two years past, came home on the Arizona, landing in New York on Monday.

Rev. F. H. Johnson and family have returned from Bar Harbor.

Mr. Warren J. Abbot has been advanced to the position of Paymaster in Pacific Mills.

Twenty-five Years Ago

A son was born on Saturday, September 13, to Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm B. McTernan.

David Shaw has been appointed a notary public for Massachusetts by Governor Foss.

Mrs. Burton S. Flagg and children, who have been spending the summer at Kennebunkport, have returned to Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boutwell and family of West Andover left today for New York where they will visit relatives.

The total registration at the Punchard School is now 146 pupils, including all four classes. Of these, 87 are members of the entering class.

The work of completing the bandstand in the park was commenced the first part of the week, and workmen have been busy in constructing the top.

Ten Years Ago

Miss Margaret M. Doherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Doherty of 21 Harding street, has resumed her studies at Emmanuel College, Boston. She is a member of the Senior class.

Miss Alexina Reid Harris has returned to her duties as monotype operator at the Andover Press, after spending eight weeks at Indian Pond Camps, Marr's, Maine.

Neil Cussen of Chestnut street attended the Topsfield fair last Friday.

James M. Gorrie of North Main street, a member of Troop 2 of the Free Church, was awarded the cup offered by the Andover Townsman to the Andover Boy Scout who won the handicap hike from the Andover Press building to the fire tower on Prospect Hill, which was held on Monday evening of this week.

Edward Dwyer of Summer street and John A. Polgreen of Washington avenue have enrolled in the evening classes of the Lawrence Commercial School.

Miss Frances Dalton of Chestnut street has returned to her home after spending two weeks at Lakeport, N. H.

special and regular. The tree department was on the job immediately clearing away as many trees as they could, cutting through some to make a passageway, tugging others aside by use of trucks.
The old Pierce fire truck was pressed into service for this purpose. At 7:30 a crew of 30 or more B. P. W. men were called out to aid in the work. There were many volunteers assisting.

Tyer Roof Blows Off

The most spectacular property damage took place at the old Tyer Rubber factory where a whole section of the top floor in the rear was torn apart, throwing bricks and girders onto Lewis street. Several houses lost their chimneys and parts of their roofs; garages caved
in either with the wind or a tree;
billboards were torn apart, one settling over on the railroad tracks near the Essex street shanty where one crossing gate cracked off. The old Abbot homestead, oldest house in Andover, was badly damaged in front when a huge tree went in on top of it. A house on Central street below the Baptist church, occupied by the Grants, was damaged badly in front by a tree which cut off the street. Many other homes in town were slightly damaged by falling trees, or just narrowly missed serious damage.

Most of the streets by this afternoon were cleared for traffic, excluding Harding street where a tree from the Goodwin yard fell across the street carrying wires with it and rested with its branches on top of the house at 4 Harding street, forming a bridge
high enough for the ordinary car to just get under. It is hard to say where the worst tie-ups in town were, but the general consensus of opinion gives the doubtful honor to the Hartwell Abbot bridge section where several trees fell down in addition to the Abbot homestead one, with runner-up position
going to the corner of Elm, Florence, Maple and Summer where a group of giant trees cluttered up the road. Some trees fell in Shaw-sheen, but the wind there was nowhere nearly as severe as that in the higher parts of the town. Phillips Academy and Abbot Academy lost many of their trees. Part of the Barnard estate retaining wall
at the top of North Main street
went out when a tree gave way;
just below it a pole cracked in two and is still hanging across the road, now supported by tie-rods in back. To name all the property-owners who lost trees and all the streets which were blocked would provide pretty much of a complete Andover glossary. The Playdon greenhouse lost quite a bit of glass, although it escaped really serious damage when a big tree gave way. The pine grove at the pumping station is now a group of tall skeletons, almost branchless.
Parker's wharf off Andover street
in the Vale collapsed under a tree.
Windows in Miller's shoe store and Lowe's drug store caved in.

Church Steeple Leaning

The Baptist church steeple underwent a severe strain and is now slightly leaning. A small spire on St. Augustine's crashed and the rectory escaped serious damage
when a tree just missed it.
The lights failed early in the evening and the selectmen requested that no current be turned on until it was certain that there would be no loose live wires. At ten the power company had completed a line up Lupine road, Ridge street, Essex street to the business section where those stores fed by the underground wire received current, but the fire and police station had to be fed by the generator bought after the 1936 flood.

A large force of officers stayed on all night.

The chances are that it will be some time before light and phone service are entirely restored, and the managements of both concerns
ask that their patrons have patience in this trying situation.
Every effort is being made, and has been made since 4:30 yesterday afternoon, to alleviate the conditions.

LEWIS AND BUXTON
STREET WORK TO START

Work on Lewis and Buxton streets will start within a few days,
the Board of Public Works announced Tuesday night.

Fishy Taste Will
Last While Longer

A fishy taste in Andover's water,
first noticed, appropriately enough,
last Friday, will probably persist
to some extent for a while, Joseph A. McCarthy, state water inspector, asserted Tuesday night. While copper sulphate added to the water has cleared up the taste somewhat,
it will not be completely clear until the pond turns over as it does every fall.

Taxpayers' Directors

Taxpayers' Association will meet

Seven directors will be elected for a three-year term, in addition to a secretary and treasurer. The directors whose terms expire are:
Milton Chambers, Fred H. Eaton,
James E. Greeley, J. Augustus
Remington, Louis S. Finger, John Rasmussen and Joseph McCarthy.

tery in West Andover as described in last week's Townsman. The Board of Health has called a hearing on this for next Friday night, the 30th.

The Hussey's pond purchase is of interest from a recreational angle, the hope being eventually to fix up a bathing beach as close to the Richardson school playground as possible, and large enough to divert much of the center of the town group away from the stagnant waters of Pumps.

The meeting will be held at the Memorial auditorium.

Notably absent were sewer projects advocated by the Board of Health which this week received a recommendation from the state department of public health "that the proposed sewers in Pine and George streets, and the sewers for the village of Ballardvale, are worthwhile public improvements which are in the interests of public health, and accordingly the Department provisionally approves these projects." The department had previously approved the Dufton road sewer.

A petition was presented on the Pine street sewer, but town officials stated that it was not their understanding that it asked for action by a town meeting but rather consideration by the sewer department. No figures were mentioned.

Miss Elaine W. Eaton, of 12 Highland Road, has left to undertake the duties of her senior year at St. Lawrence University, Canton, New York.

Miss Irene Cole and Miss Mildred Buck of the Merrimack Insurance office and Miss Marion Emerson of Rockport Lodge, Rockport, spent the week-end at Framingham.

Reception And Tea Held For Miss Eaton

A reception and tea was tendered Miss Phyllis T. Eaton at the home of Mrs. Carl F. Pfatteicher at Park House on Saturday afternoon from four to six to give her friends the opportunity to wish her God-speed to Pasadena and her approaching marriage. The guests were received by Mrs. Carl F. Pfatteicher, Miss Eaton and her fiancé Fulton Freeman. Also assisting at the tea were Miss Barbara Folk, Mrs. F. E. Newton, Miss Alice C. Jenkins, Mrs. F. S. Mills, Mrs. Winfield M. Sides and Mrs. Claude M. Fuess. Miss Eaton left on Sunday for 675 Magnolia Avenue, Pasadena, California where she will be until January.

Officers Elected

By Local Rebekahs

Mrs. Carrie S. Buchan, a past noble grand, was elected noble grand of the local Rebekahs Monday evening. She succeeds Mrs. Annie Laurie.

The installation will be held on October 17, with district deputy president Mrs. Ann Wilson and her staff of Ruth Rebekah lodge, Lawrence, installing.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Mary Manning, vice-grand; Mrs. May E. Valentine, P.N.G., recording secretary; Mrs. Mary E. Faulkner, P.N.G., financial secretary; Mrs. Edmond Dunwoody, P.N.G., treasurer; Mrs. Faulkner, trustee for three years; Mrs. Millie B. Hammond, trustee for one year.

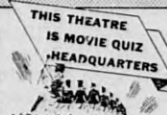

Accidental Mistake

It was just by accident that last Thursday's Townsman said James White's car skidded into the rear of Denonville Croteau's car on Thursday morning. A car skidded, but it was Croteau's and not White's. Even in newspaper work, accidents will happen.
