Adventurers Start Third Season

Swinging confidently into its third season Andover's little theatre group—the Adventurers, invites the support of all those interested in any form of theatre activity. Besides active membership, which entails participation in some phase of the work connected with a dramatic production, associate and sustaining memberships are offered to those who wish to lend support, but do not choose to participate actively.

The first Adventurers production for the season is to be Menton Hodge's three-act play, "The Wind and the Rain," scheduled for presentation on the evening of December 13. Frances M. Cheever is directing.

Monday, November 14, the second monthly meeting of the season will be held in Stowe School Hall. A revision of the organization's constitution will be proposed, as well as plans for future monthly programs. And, as usual, something interesting from the dramatic field will be presented.

Wheaton Club To Hold Movie Day

"Romeo and Juliet" starring Norma Shearer is to be the feature at the Movie Day sponsored by the Merrimack Valley Wheaton Club to be held at the Andover Playhouse on Tuesday. In addition there will be shown Walt Disney's prize-winning cartoon review, including the celebrated "Three Little Pigs" and a short feature entitled "Tannhauser". The afternoon performance will start at 2.15 and will be continuous throughout the afternoon and evening. Tickets may be obtained from members of the club or at the door.

Several members of the club, including Mrs. Tyler Carleton, Mrs. Richard Campbell and Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast, expect to entertain friends in their respective homes at the close of the performance.

Modern Architecture In Gallery Exhibit

An exhibition of Modern Architecture is opening at the Addison Gallery today for two weeks. The exhibition consists of photographs and architectural models illustrating the development of architecture since the World War, lent by the Museum of Modern Art, New York, the American Federation of Arts, and the Department of Architecture, Harvard University. Both the "traditional" and "modern" types of architecture are illustrated in small houses and monumental buildings.

This exhibition offers an exceptional opportunity to see the different solutions to the problem of modern housing. Included in the exhibition are photographs of New York skyscrapers, Government buildings in Washington, sanatoriums, factories, and private houses, among which are twenty enlarged photographs of Frank Lloyd Wright's "House Built over a Waterfall." There are in addition three models of houses both abroad and in this country by Professor Walter Gropius of Harvard, and eight models recently published by "Life" magazine, illustrating conventional and modern houses for both large and small families.

PUNCHARD JUNIORS TO DANCE

The Punchard junior class will hold a football dance in the Memorial auditorium, Friday evening, November 18, at 7:30. Refreshments will be sold in the cafeteria. Tickets are now on sale at 35 cents.

The following social committee planned the dance: Robert Welsh chairman; Bernice Mundy, Ruth Porter, Dorothy Christie, Edward Guild, Andrew Hamilton, Warren Richardson, president.

The following members of the faculty will be in charge: Miss Marion N. Macdonald, Miss Agnes V. Dugan, Joseph B. Doherty, Edward C. Manning.

Punchard To Play Methuen Here Tomorrow

The annual Punchard-Methuen game will be played here tomorrow afternoon, Armistice Day. This game is usually the most interesting of the season because of the keen rivalry between the two grid teams which at present seem to be well-matched. Last season's encounter was a very evenly-fought contest and Punchard emerged victorious by the score of 7 to 6. Punchard will hold a football rally tonight in the Town Hall, and tomorrow evening the Legion is going to hold a public dance in the Town Hall, which the Punchard players and fans will attend, as well as many of the townspeople.

Last Saturday afternoon, the Punchard team defeated Brookline High, a class B team, 6-0 at Brookline. Last year Punchard beat Brookline 13-6, the local squad being much stronger then.

Town Stays Republican; Liquor Question Divided

Joy for the Republican party and grief for the board of selectmen was the result of Andover's heavy 88.8 percent vote on Tuesday. Right down through the ticket the town went Republican, but on the license question there was an unusual division that means plenty of trouble for the selectmen as licensing authorities. South Lawrence as usual defeated the two local candidates for representative.

The town by a 190 vote margin defeated hard liquor for consumption on the premises, thus throwing out eight licenses. Then by an 80 vote margin it approved soft drinks for sale on the premises and by the astounding plurality of 1385 votes gave an emphatic Okay to package stores for all beverages.

Town officials scratched their heads at 12:30 Tuesday night as this final result came in. For a while no one seemed to know just what it would mean, but yesterday morning it was pretty much straightened out. Hard liquor license losers are: Town Grille, Country Club, Shawsheen Manor, Howard Johnson's, Gloria Lunch Jack's Place, Hoffman's, and Louis Scanlon's. The town's quota now is 11 licenses, not including package stores for beer bottled goods or club licenses. At present there are five places with beer licenses: Jim Heifetz (Essex street), Perkins, Fred Wallace (Lakeside), Balmoral Spa and Andover Lunch. Renewals of licenses have preference over new applicants, so that would leave six more in the quota. However the hard liquor package stores are included in the quota, and there are three of these: Cordial Shop, Shawsheen Market, Jack Driscoll's. This then leaves three licenses in the quota to be fought over, and the selectmen will be the goats.

Of the eight de-licensed places, the Country Club will get its beer license as a club outside the quota. This leaves seven hard-liquor places looking for the three soft-liquor licenses. There is a possibility that one or more of the present beer licensees may be willing to transfer his license to one of the present hard liquor places.

Precincts 2, 3, and 4 went wet on all three questions, but the overwhelming majority against hard liquor on the premises in precincts 6 and 1 brought defeat.

Two years ago on question 1, precinct 1 was "No" by 70 votes, this year "No" by 257 votes. This precinct came in last, and it wiped out the "Yes" margin of 67 votes prevailing at that time. Other comparative votes were: Precinct 2, 1936, Yes by 252; 1938, Yes by 104; precinct 3, 1936, Yes by 250; 1938, Yes by 177; precinct 4, 1936, Yes by 56; 1937, Yes by 17; precinct 5, 1936, Yes by 36; 1938, No by 19; precinct 6, 1936, No by 77; 1938, No by 212.

Both horse and dog-race betting were beaten here. The town gave a substantial majority for biennial sessions, and the close vote on the taxicab stand question proved that nobody knew what it was all about anyway.

NOBLE GRAND INSTALLED

Mrs. Carrie S. Buchan, ill a few weeks ago when her officers were installed at the local Rebekah lodge had an installation ceremony held all for herself Monday evening. The incoming noble grand was installed by District Deputy President Mrs. Anne Wilson of North Andover.

BRITISH VETS NOTE

The British War Veterans will meet at the Square and Compass Club at 10 on Friday morning, then proceed to the Legion Hall on Park street to join the Legion Post. Armistice services will be held at Spring Grove Cemetery. All ex-service men are invited.

On Friday afternoon the veterans will take part in the parade at Lawrence. They will form up at Green street and will be ready to march off at 2 p. m. A bus will leave the corner of Elm street at 1 p. m. The Ladies Auxiliary is invited to participate in this parade.

What Have We Got Now?

It's hard to evaluate at present just what the effect will be of the unusual vote cast for license here in Andover. As near as can be determined, possibly four local establishments now selling hard liquors for consumption on the premises will be out on January first, while three of them will be transferred on that date to beer and light wine licenses. The board of selectmen will receive much criticism from friends of the de-licensed men when they award the licenses, but everyone in Andover knows our board well enough to realize that there will be only one consideration in their mind: the town's best interest. The licenses will of course go to the best three of the seven who will lose their hard liquor licenses.

But the problem isn't solved. Stopping these places from selling hard liquors does not provide the solution, for drunkenness and other unpleasantnesses existed in the days of the old 3.2 licenses just as they do today. A few glasses of beer, and a man is as bad as if he had a couple of swigs of whiskey—and he doesn't have to spend any more money for it, either.

No, the difficulty has not been done away with. True, the selectmen will have an opportunity to dispense with some of the less desirable places, but there will still be some here in town which have not been too good in the past. We sincerely hope that the vote of Tuesday will be a lesson to them, that they will note the wonderful endorsement given our fine package stores and the defeat given the hard liquor restaurants. If they do their bit, and if the police department will continue its present crusade against drunks, and intensify it, they may have a chance in 1940. Andover does not want drunkenness in any form.

Congratulations

Congratulations to the Republican state ticket. It was a splendid victory, and a decisive one. Congratulations too to the various county candidates who won their campaigns. And lastly, congratulations to the two local candidates for representative, Gordon Cannon and William McCoubrie, who put up a good fight against overwhelming odds, and to Bill Casey and Con Twomey, the winners in this contest.

Siftings

Well, Jim, old boy, three strikes is out in any league.

Now if Punchard will do to Methuen and Andover to Exeter what Saltonstall did to Curley we'll all be happy.

And as for liquor, do we have it or don't we?

An alleged hit-run driver apprehended, two reported shoplifters caught, and three suspected fire-lighters taken into custody, all in one week by our local police department. The people who know the stories have lavished praise on the department, and from Chief Dane down to reserve officer George Dufton, every bit of the praise was deserved.

The stories of tracking down the hit-run and shoplifting suspects have already been told in the Townsman. Last Saturday night a glowing finale was written to the week's work when officer Dufton, who had earlier distinguished himself for his over-wall and into-the-river capture of a group of escaped training school youths, stopped a lightless car containing three men and two girls. He found that the driver, a C. C. C. lad, not only had no lights, he had no registration, in fact legally he had no car. It was somebody's else. But stopping the car had more effect than George suspected.

At 1:35 the fire alarm had rung and the local fire department hastened away to the C. C. C. camp where with the help of the North Reading fire department and a fire-hole at the rear of the C. C. C. garage they fought a blaze which destroyed four trucks, two tractors and part of the garage, damage being estimated at $10,000. To the departments belongs much credit for saving the rest of the structure and another truck.

An investigation by Chiefs Dane and Emerson with state inspectors Deady and Foley and federal inspectors soon was under way, with Sergeant Ray Hickey and selectman Howell Shepard joining in. By noon, after the motor vehicle case against the three men had been continued and they were sent to Dorchester for action there on charges of larceny, two local young ladies were brought to the police station. They had been riding with the young men.

With the investigators questioning and with town house clerk Mary Loosigian drafted into some shorthand work, the two girls soon had told the whole story. At nighttime down in Dorchester the three young men, confronted by the girls, reportedly substantiated their story. According to the police report, the young men, now of a C.

C. C. camp in Baldwinsville but formerly of the local outfit, came to the camp to siphon out gasoline from some of the trucks. One of them lit a match for his cigarette, then when it burned his fingers, tossed it away. It fell in a pool of gasoline, and when the blaze flared up, they left in a hurry. Off to a restaurant in Lawrence they went to establish an alibi, one of the girls evidently being acquainted with a waitress there. But they were a little too cautious; they kept their lights off, and George Dufton was very much on the job.

So forget how riled up you were when you got that little ticket for parking or speeding, and tell the boys what a fine job they did last week. Incidentally, when they do something wrong, they get a couple of weeks off without pay; when they do what they did last week, doesn't the town owe them a little bonus in the form of a few days off with pay?

Mrs. Percy Dole is recuperating at her home on Washington avenue.

Henry W. Barnard

Succumbs At Home

Henry Warren Barnard, who as trustee of his father's estate, was the largest private property-holder in Andover, passed away Tuesday noon after a long illness. The estate includes many residences, particularly on North Main street, High street, Temple place and Barnard street.

Over 80 years ago Jacob W. Barnard began the shoe manufacturing business on a small scale in a back room at the old bank building. He worked at the bench himself and by close attention to business, he built up his trade until about 50 years ago he had to move into larger quarters, eight years later going into a still larger building, the one now used by William Buchan on Barnard street. In 1894 he took his son Henry into the business under the firm name, Jacob W. Barnard & Son. Later his grandsons, Foster and W. Shirley, were taken into the business. In 1930 the family gave up the shoe industry and since that time the elder Barnard with Foster's assistance had been occupied as trustee of the large amount of real estate left by Jacob Barnard.

Henry Barnard was born here November 5, 1868, and he graduated from Punchard high. He was one of the incorporators of the Andover Savings bank, and was prominent in fraternal circles, his affiliations including thirty-second degree Scottish Rite member, Andover lodge, 230, I. O. O. F., the Boston City club, Essex club, Andover Country club, St. Matthew's lodge, A. F. & A. M., and the Andover Square and Compass club.

Mr. Barnard is survived by his wife, Mabel (Paradise) Barnard; two sons, Foster C. and W. Shirley Barnard; one daughter, Marion P., wife of Arthur W. Cole; one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Bergstrom, and six grandchildren, all of Andover.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon by Rev. Mr. Noss at the late home, burial to follow in West Parish cemetery.

Evening Courses Meet Requests Of Members

One who has never attended the Andover Evening Study Groups for Adults may well ask if they would be of any interest to him. Each person must answer for himself, but there have been many indications that most members of the Groups have been interested, instructed and pleased. In spite of cold and stormy nights, the attendance has been excellent. The Effective Speaking Courses last year were so successful and so much enjoyed that members arranged for post-course banquets and sent the directors a petition, signed by every member of two groups, asking that a more advanced course be given this year, led by the same men, for those who have completed last year's work.

Effective Speaking II, added to the program for this reason, is one example of a course especially planned to suit an interested nucleus of persons. There are others. Amateur Photography is the result of several requests for such a course and was planned by a committee of camera fans in consultation with Mr. Blackmer and the two instructors, Mr. Benedict and Mr. Minard. Mr. Cook has already met with some of his former "students," eager to hear his Selected Readings, who have helped him decide what he will or will not read. The radio course on Current Events continues with a talk by Mr. Dirk H. van der Stucken on the Basis of German Foreign Policy. His comments on this matter, which may affect the lives of all of us, will be heard over WLAW, Lawrence, 680 kilocycles, at 3:30 p. m. on next Wednesday, November 16.

To the Commissioners of Essex County

Gentlemen:
The undersigned respectively represent that the highway known as North Main Street in the Town of Andover from the end of the state highway near Stimpson's Bridge thence southerly for about five hundred (500) feet is unsuited to the present requirements of traffic, that the concrete roadway within these limits is narrower than in other portions of the way, and that common convenience and necessity require that the concrete roadway should be widened.

WHEREFORE, they pray that after due notice and a hearing the County Commissioners may order such specific repairs to be made on the said road as in their judgment may be necessary.

Andover Underdog In Exeter Game

Andover is the underdog on Saturday as it meets the Exeter team on Brothers Field at 1:30. An inauspicious season has created the impression here that it will be tough going, but the team has picked up on its tackling and blocking in the last couple of games. The coaches were handicapped from the start by the lack of good material to fill the shoes of backs Harrison, Seymour and Tine, ends Rafferty and Hearne; and guard Lindsay. However, Saturday a team will be fielded that should show up well. The replacements are not too abundant or too promising.

Bob Bisset, star last year at Punchard High, will start in a backfield position.

BINGO PARTY

The first in a series of winter bingo parties will be held tomorrow night at the parochial school hall, starting at 8:00. A large number of prizes will be awarded. The proceeds will go to the church.

Red Cross Roll Call Starts Tomorrow

The annual Red Cross Roll Call Membership Drive will start on tomorrow and continue until November 24, Thanksgiving day. The Andover Chapter Roll Call Headquarters will be in the Legion Rooms on Park street, where the telephone is Andover 1496.

The goal this year is $5000, the amount necessary to carry out the 1939 program. Solicitors will start calling at the homes tomorrow. Their work is entirely a voluntary one and it is the hope of the Andover Chapter directors that the people will receive these workers cordially. Every penny above the first fifty cents of every donation made to Andover Chapter remains in our town to be used for the benefit of our own people. Contributions whether very small or large will be gratefully received and every working person should try to make some sort of a donation.

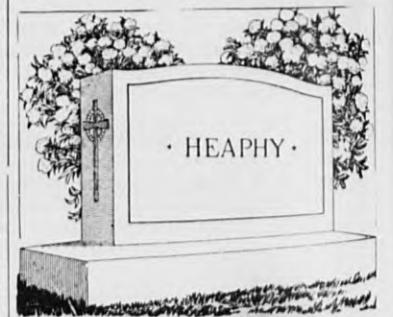

Last year Andover Red Cross spent the following amounts of money for Andover citizens: Public Health Nursing, $2439.16; Rehabilitation, $500.00; Clothing, $65.45; Food, $239.16; Fuel, $61.96; Hospital and Medicine, $159.89; Tuberculosis Treatment, $615.67; First Aid Stations, $78.55; Shoes, $169.78; Milk, $540.18; Dentistry, $45.25; Glasses, $7.35; Total, $4922.40.

Of the above total more than $500 was spent on children in our public schools for milk, clothing and medical care.

The local chapter maintains a public nursing staff at a cost of $2500 and last year the nurse made 1675 calls. Three Red Cross First Aid Stations are in operation here in Andover and classes in First Aid and Life Saving are carried on each year.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Overstreet have moved from Argilla road to Chestnut street.

ANDOVER SOCCER TEAM WINS 4-2

A game that looked like a runaway victory for the Andover F. C. in the first half became keenly contested in the second half last Sunday when the Manchester team, trailing 3-0 at half-time, netted two goals in the second period. Stewart, however, put the game on ice late in the period when he smashed one in under the crossbar.

Mark Book Week

At Junior Room

"New Books—New Worlds," is the slogan which will mark the twentieth observance of Book Week during the week of November 13th to 19th. It will be celebrated in the Junior Room of the Memorial Hall Library by an attractive display of the Newbery Medal prize books, and scenes from them. The Newbery Medal is an annual award for the most distinctive contribution to children's literature. Since many children are unfamiliar with the medal, it was thought wise to make a poster which would have a facsimile of this award.

This year, the new children's books will be on display in the Junior Room. This will provide an excellent opportunity to obtain suggestions for Christmas gifts; to see the new books; and to receive help concerning children's book problems.

The Junior Room will co-operate with the schools in celebrating the event, by distributing copies of a Book Week Game, which will be for the purpose of indicating the book knowledge of the boys and girls from grades five to nine. The observance at the Andover Junior High School Library will be in charge of Ethel Watts and Jean Schubert, two of the members of the Library Club. A display of books found in the School Library is to be featured, as well as a ballot box, so that the pupils may vote for their favorite book. A book-list has been carefully compiled of good books found in the School Library, and copies of it will be distributed to the students.

Parents, teachers, and friends are cordially invited to join with the Junior Room of the Memorial Hall Library, in making this twentieth annual celebration of Book Week the beginning of a year which will see more and better books in the home.
