Taxpayers' Heads To Attend Meeting

Several of the directors of the Taxpayers' association are planning to attend the annual dinner of the State Federation at the Statler, Saturday, December 10, President Hammond and vice-president Remington will represent the association at the annual business meeting in the morning.

Association members who have failed to pay their dues are urged to do so promptly in order to save the directors and the members the trouble of a personal call. Dues may be mailed to the secretary or left with Mr. Remington at the Aberdeen, Mr. Boutwell at the Savings bank, Mr. Grover at the Townsman office or Mr. Hopper on the Hill.

Health Department Facing Overdraft

The Board of Health will probably need more money to finish the year out, Dr. Percy J. Look stated this week. Unforeseen expenditures for rabies treatment after dog bites are mainly responsible for the threatening overdraft, the doctor stated.

On Monday the department's balance was but $518.93, and expenditures estimated for salaries alone, including use of car, amount to about $515.00.

It is probable that the board will ask the finance committee for a transfer from the reserve fund, already sadly depleted mainly from welfare needs.

The town is reimbursed by the county for the money spent on the rabies treatment after dog bite, but the reimbursement goes directly into the town treasury and not to the department which had to make the first expenditure.

May Bring Suit On Land Seizure

A bill for damages will be given to the town by the lady who claims that a W. P. A. project sliced off a section of her land at the corner of Dascomb road and Andover street without her permission or knowledge. It is expected that if the bill is not honored, she will sue the town.

Youngster Killed In Coasting Tragedy

Dick Sellars went to his eternal rest early Tuesday evening. His courage and his parents' devoted care had meant for him almost complete recovery from an attack of infantile paralysis which had seized him several years ago. He was able to walk, with a slight limp, but without the brace which had helped support him for a while after his serious illness.

It was the regaining of his health that brought death to Dick. Able once again to join with his schoolmates in the normal activities of fourteen-year-old boyhood, he had gone out to engage in the zealous sport of coasting on Chestnut street up near what used to be the Bird Sanctuary. The afternoon after his day's work in the eighth grade had been completed had been full of the fun that a real live American boy finds in the outdoors, and it was getting along toward supper time, just about the time when his dad's train was pulling into the Andover station, when Dick set off for his last ride down the street. His playmates went off ahead, Dick bringing up the rear. Part way down the hill a car homeward bound for Highland avenue came along; Dick went in under the bumper and struck the front axle of the car. Without a bit of suffering Dick had left this world of ours.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sellars of 5 Avon street. There are two sisters and a brother, Harriet, Barbara and Charles.

His classmates at the Junior High were shocked by the sudden taking away of their very popular classmate. A leader in many of the school activities, he was well thought of by students and teachers alike. The Student Council met Wednesday morning and voted to send flowers, to incorporate a memorial page in the Christmas issue of An-Ju-Hi, and to place a memorial picture in the building.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 at Christ church. Burial will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

Snow Removal Fund Depleted

The Board of Public Works have notified the selectmen that the snow removal fund is almost all used up, and that if the usual snowy December conditions prevail, it will be necessary for the town fathers to declare an emergency to meet the necessary expenditures. Yesterday morning secretary Buttrick wrote the finance committee asking for a transfer of $2700 which the week before the committee had agreed to earmark for the snow fund. Secretary Buttrick stated that at town meeting the fund appropriated left just a balance of $2300 to carry through the rest of the year, and the recent double storm ate that up.

TALKS ON FOOD RACKETEERS

On Monday evening at 8:15, in Peabody House, the Phillips Club will hear Captain Michael Fiaschetti, former internationally famous detective and since 1934 Deputy Commissioner of Public Markets in New York City, who will talk on "Fighting the Food Racketeers."

May Assess Goalpost Costs On Methuenites

There is a possibility that Chief of Police George A. Dane may ask the Methuen youths who ripped up the playstead goalposts after the Methuen game to pay for the damage they did. Last Saturday morning in North Andover trial court twenty Methuen youths were ordered to pay for the damage they did in that town following the Columbus day game there.

Chief Dane stated that had the local goalposts been cheap wooden affairs, he would pass over the matter without taking any action. However, the posts which were taken were iron set in cement, the estimated cost being about $150. This is the taxpayers' money, the Chief stated, and no one has a right to destroy this property. He has secured an enlargement of the goalpost rush picture which appeared in the Townsman in an endeavor to identify the young men.

WELFARE MEETING

The General Welfare Club will meet next Thursday at the home of Joseph G. Dennis, 8 Maple avenue.

Renew Licenses for All But Four

Four local establishments lost their liquor licenses as far as the selectmen are concerned when the town fathers on Monday night after hearing several persons speak awarded 16 licenses of varying kinds. The award of the licenses is subject to the usually granted approval of the Alcoholic Beverages Commission, while it is anticipated that some of the de-licensed proprietors will appeal to the commission for an overthrow of the selectmen's action. If the commission does this, it will mean removing one or more of the 16 licenses since the town's quota is filled by this list.

Three of those places which had had hard liquors failed to secure beer licenses. They were Howard Johnson's, Gloria Lunch (Ernest Verrette), and Jack's Place on Park street. James Heifetz of the Capitol Lunch on Essex street near the theatre lost his beer license, and this made it possible for the selectmen to grant beer licenses to four places which had had hard liquor licenses. They (Continued on Page 12)

Five Town Employees To Retire Next Year

Five town employees will retire on next July first under the recently adopted retirement act. The most important position to be vacated is that of Spring Grove cemetery superintendent Fred Swanton of Summer street, 78 years of age, who has long been in the town's service, will retire on that date, having served the extra years allowed following the actual going into effect of the law.

Four B. P. W. men will retire on the same date. They are Henry Buckley, 74, of Chester street, Oliver Coates, 75, of Center street, Sylvester Goodwin, 74, of 179 North Main street and Frank Holt, 73, of 78½ Haverhill street.

Salzburg Trapp Choir To Appear

On Tuesday evening the Salzburg Trapp Choir will appear at Phillips Academy. This organization presents a most varied program, ranging from the early masters, Bach, Purcell, Gibbons, or from their own Austrian masters, Mozart and Schubert, to Tryrolean folk songs, lusty mountain yodels, and numbers on the recorders, the old flutes that were extensively used in the Middle Ages. The ensemble consists of five daughters, two sons and the wife of Baron von Trapp. Their work is characterized by great finesse which has won them the praise of no less an artist than Lotte Lehman. At a recent performance at an eastern college the organization was compelled to give nine encores, and their work has been described as being in a class with that of the English Singers.

Super-Abundant Snow Service

It was truly an excellent job of snow removal that the department of public works did over the week-end; perhaps no town in the state had such a really complete job done on its highways. And it's been that way for some years; Andover's streets have been a model for thoroughness of plowing.

But there's another side to the story. Some other communities have a lot of things that we don't have, and the reason we don't have them is that we consider them too expensive and really unnecessary. These other towns feel that such super-abundant plowing as we have here in Andover is a luxury; most of them don't go to the ratty extreme seen in some of our large cities, but they do a satisfying job on lots less money than we spend. Now the appropriation has run out, a transfer has been asked, and with the reserve fund itself pretty low, an emergency may have to be decreed to take care of any storms before December 31.

In March the town cut that appropriation. There are two ways of looking at the town meeting's action, either that it was willing to gamble that there wouldn't be much snow, or that it wished the job to be done for less than it had in the past. Obviously, the department apparently felt that the former was true and it went on to spend the snow money just as freely as it has in the past with the feeling that the town would sanction any extra expenditures that had to be incurred.

But the chances are that the latter alternative was true. The townspeople in general felt that such a minutely thorough job was unnecessary and merely represented money thrown away. Also they probably felt that there was some wastage of funds. Sanding for instance takes up a good part of the appropriation. The day after Thanksgiving the state department awarded sanding contracts, and a Lowell contractor, whose price it is understood was matched by a local contractor, bid 50 cents a yard for sand delivered even as far away as Haverhill. And do you know what Andover's cost per yard is? It's over a dollar, nearer $1.20 or $1.30 perhaps. If we can save half of our sanding money, why don't we do it? And then truck plow hire is another item. We use that controversial Big Mike. It's costing us seven dollars an hour, and it is understood that this does not include the driver and his helper; the seven is all for Mike himself. But we hire truck plows for $3.50 and $5.00 an hour, and that includes driver and helper. And the trucks do far more work per hour than that big lumbering Austin 77 does.

All these things are unnecessary wasting of money; the town cut that appropriation; the department should have eliminated its extravagances.

Current Affairs And Ethics Subjects Of New Courses

The "Current Affairs Forum," to be given by the Phillips Academy Department of History, is one of the dozen new courses in this year's series of Andover Evening Study Groups. At each meeting of this group, two instructors will discuss some current issue or situation presenting different elements of the problem or different points of view. At the close of each hour, questions and discussions from the floor will be encouraged.

Two courses dealing with the growth of ethical and moral thought and standards will be given this year. "Ethics Past and Present," to be led by Mr. Alston Chase, will consider the origin and nature of our moral values and the grounds on which their relative worth may be determined. This course will examine these questions in the light of the thought of representative philosophers, tracing the development of the principal ethical ideas and standards of European civilization from the Greeks to the present day. Ethical problems of personal and social life which are of especial interest today will be viewed against this background.

"Origins of the Christian Religion," less general, will discuss the same interest in a more limited field. Beginning with a study of primitive religion and magic, Mr. A. Graham Baldwin of the Academy Department of Religion, will trace the evolution of man's religious thought to the high ethical monotheism which it reached in Christ. Specific phases of this history to be discussed are the Hebrew Patriarchs; Moses, the founder of a Religion; two hundred years of struggle in the Wilderness; the Prophets; the Exile in Babylonia; the rebuilding of a nation from Alexander the Great to Herod; the Religion of Jesus.

To enable this growing school to operate successfully in the spirit in which it was conceived, prospective members may be helpful in several ways.

Register early for personal benefit as well as for that of the school. All courses are limited in size, some because of the seating capacity of available rooms and others because of the nature of the work done in them. Registrations will be accepted in the order of their receipt. For all persons registering on or before December 12, 1938, there is also a reduction in tuition rate.

Cooperatives To Be Subject Of Talk

Professor Charles M. McConnell of Boston University will speak in the Baptist Church Sunday night at 7:30, on the subject of "Consumer Cooperatives." Dr. McConnell will bring with him a group of his students who visited the cooperatives in Nova Scotia last summer. These young men will each speak briefly, after which the subject will be opened for public discussion.

Library Trustees To Discuss Finances

The Library trustees will meet next Tuesday evening to discuss the financial situation of the department. At the November meeting it was reported that funds were quite low, mainly because of a tremendous increase in circulation which necessitated hiring an extra assistant, and storm damage which was not provided for in the town special appropriation. The trustees are hoping to last out the year within the appropriation, the alternative being asking for a transfer from the reserve fund. That fund now stands at $3800, a welfare transfer of $5850 having been made early in the month. The snow transfer will cut it to $1100.

Mrs. Emery Pariseau

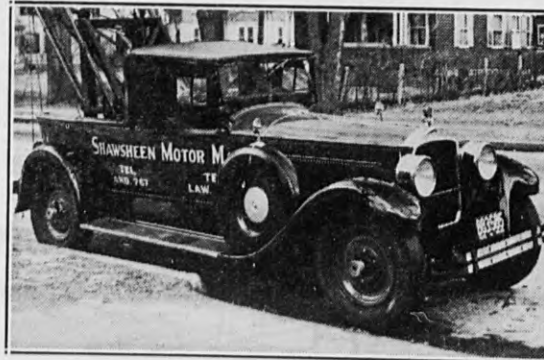

Mrs. Minnie Pariseau, wife of Emery Pariseau, died Monday evening at the family home, Laurel Lane. Born in England, she had made her home in West Andover for several years. She leaves two daughters, Dorothy M. and Irene, wife of Fred Doyle of West Andover; three sons, Cyril of Methuen, Wilbert of Lawrence, and Alvin of Andover. Funeral services are being held this afternoon at the West Parish church by Rev. Donald Savage. Burial will take place in West Parish cemetery.

Institute House

The directors of the International Institute, of which Miss Fannie Davis is President, are offering the picturesque Institute cook book as a Christmas gift suggestion, the proceeds to be used for the completion of the Orchard street house. The Institute has moved in, and plans are going ahead for the completion of the house.

The sale of the unique book, with its many drawings of many lands and its hand-lettering, has far exceeded even the hopes and desires of the directors at the time it was first brought out. Mrs. Albert H. Chamberlain of Morton street is handling the local sales, and Miss Kate H. Stevens is handling it in North Andover.

MARK ST. ANDREW'S NIGHT

A pleasant evening of entertainment and dancing was enjoyed by the Arbroathians as they observed St. Andrew's day Friday evening in Square and Compass Hall. Miss Hazel Valentine, pianist, and Bruce Valentine, saxophonist, played for dancing, while the following sang: William Calder, Isabel Greenhow, David Wallace and Robert Williams. Mrs. George Petrie welcomed the gathering.

Mad Scramble To

Pay Excise Tax

The week-end saw a mad scramble to pay automobile excise taxes, with the threat of revocation of registrations staring at some 90 motorists under the new state law. Yesterday only 50 had not paid. The revocations were due Monday, but the Registry gives five days' grace.

That the new law is taking effect is shown by the fact that at present there is less 1938 excise money outstanding than there is 1937 money.

GUEST NIGHT

The Shawsheen Village Woman's Club will observe Guest Night Monday at 7:45 in Balmoral Hall. Mrs. Laurence Kain, violinist, and Joseph Balsamo, pianist, will be the guest artists.

Ralph C. Wildes will give his interpretative series of motion pictures and slides of America with his color camera.

Residents Required

To Destroy Moths

Attention is called to the legal notice on page 7 to property owners on the destruction of the Gypsy and Brown Tail Moths and the Tent Caterpillar. The state law requires property owners to destroy these pests or be subject to heavy penalty. The Selectmen request the co-operation of owners and tenants in this work. For further information on this work, residents should communicate with tree warden G. Richard Abbott.

Charles H. Martin, 111 Main street, was one of the 121 students at the University of New Hampshire to accept bids to the 3 Greek letter fraternities last week. Martin was pledged to Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

RENEW LICENSES

were the Town Grille in the square, Hoffman's on Post Office avenue, the Shawsheen Manor and Scanlon's on the Lawrence line.

Beer licensees who were granted renewals were: Andover Lunch, Fred Perkins, Fred Wallace, Balmoral Spa. Beer package store license renewals were given to Bessie Franz, George Cheyne, Andover Market, and George Lannon. Hard liquor package store licenses were granted to J. E. Greeley Co., Jack Driscoll and Shawsheen Market. The Andover Country Club was given a club beer license.

Those who tried guessing at what the selectmen would do came pretty close, the only really big surprise being the Howard Johnson situation. It had been generally thought that the South Main street restaurant would win a beer license, and attorney Joseph L. Burns was present to speak for it. However, it was a choice between the southern end of the town and Scanlon's at the other end. The selectmen felt that it would be better to give it to Scanlon's, for the reason that precinct 3 voted wet, and if the license didn't go to Scanlon's, a number of kitchen bar-rooms might spring up in the Corbett street section of the town whose residents probably would not patronize the other two licensed places in the village. Precinct 6 on the other hand leaned toward the dry side. Patrick McDonald spoke on this particular question with special reference to the geographical situation.

Others who spoke included John Welch, Arthur Heifetz and James Heifetz.

The new orders take effect on midnight, December 31.

Adventurers' Production

Staff Kept Busy

The Adventurers, who will present "The Wind and the Rain" on December 13, are so organized that they handle everything including construction and painting of scenery, costuming, model stage making, electrical effects, sound effects, and every art related in any way to the theatre and successful production.

The production department is composed of those people who are primarily interested in the manual part of the work. The beautiful sets and appropriate atmosphere which have been seen in the Adventurers' plays are to be accredited to them. The enormous amount of detail involved in the production of a play can only be appreciated by someone who has worked with such a group.

The work of the stage model committee is to experiment with color schemes, settings, and furniture, and to help the stage crew in building the real stage set. The model when finished is an exact likeness of the stage set. The director of the play uses the model to show to the players their positions, background, and the atmosphere of the play.

Those people who spend their time helping the production "behind the scenes" can, by making themselves efficient at their particular job, not only make a direct contribution towards the success of a play but derive much satisfaction and entertainment for themselves in the process.

Both model and stage set for the forthcoming production, are nearing completion under the capable direction of Celia Nicoll and Clifford Emmons.
