Garfield Temple, Knights Of Pythias, Gives Up Charter

Another fraternal organization gave way to the modern day's demands on Monday night when Garfield lodge, Knights of Pythias, surrendered its charter, just a few short weeks after it had celebrated its thirtieth birthday.

For many years Garfield lodge had held a position of prominence among the local fraternal groups, and many of its members were honored by being chosen to higher office in outside Pythian circles. Its members remained staunchly loyal to the Pythian banner over the years, and even in disbanding, they are becoming honorary members of Black Prince lodge in Lawrence. But the radio, the movies, the automobile have drawn away the younger generation today, and they are not being attracted to fraternal organizations the way that their fathers used to be.

Robert O'Hara becomes the last chancellor commander of Garfield lodge.

Mayor Griffin To Address Banquet

A man who has brought order out of chaos in the city of Lawrence, a man who will probably be elected mayor just as long as he wants the job, the Honorable Walter Griffin, will be the principal speaker next Thursday night at the annual Past Presidents' Night banquet of the Square and Compass club which starts at 6:30 in the club hall.

Mayor Griffin took office in the darkest days of the depression, and possibly in the darkest days of Lawrence's financial history. The city was unable to pay its help, unable to borrow because of its poor credit standing and because of very obvious maladministration. Today, all has been changed, mostly due to Mayor Griffin, who has not been in the least bit loath to clamp down on department heads during their budgetary requests and during their spending of the money His Honor finally gives them. At times he has overridden his entire council.

There will be an entertainment from the Keith Circuit.

Charles R. Scott is chairman of the following committee: Joseph Higginson, Rowland Luce, Charles A. Hill, Frank Buttrick and Carl Elander.

Sir Hercules Hewitt Coming To Andover

Andover's dramatic talent is taking to the high seas this spring—seriously, too. No vagabond cruises these, but official proceedings of the British Navy. Aboard H. M. S. Pinafore last week eighty students of the junior high school tunelessly distorted themselves during a visit of the First Lord of the Admiralty.

Now the Adventurers announce that on the evening of Tuesday, April 18, Admiral Sir Hercules Hewitt, K. C. B., will pay a visit to H. M. S. Falcon. Though the only music heard will be dance music, "The Middle Watch" will present as many delicate situations as did "Pinafore"; indeed, the explanation necessary to appease the Admiral—not to mention the practically unappeasable Lady Hewitt—would tax even the talents of Buttermilk.

Under the direction of Marjorie Edwards the following cast is already in rehearsal: Marine Ogg, William Hughes; Ah Fong, Everett Gorrie; Captain Randall, Richard Cooper; Fay Eaton, Carol Orr; Flag Lieutenant, Edward Manning; Marjorie, Palmer Hughes; Nancy Hewitt, Eleanor Bishop; Commander Baddeley, Harold Wenik; Charlotte Hapkinson, Gladys Hill; Admiral Hewitt, Roland Fraser; Mary Carlton, Thisbe Grieco; Lady Hewitt, Margaret McFarlin; a sailor, Robert Bisset; Captain Maitland, Geoffrey Nicoll; Corporal Duckett, Charles Armitage.

Speaker Of House Here On Thursday

The Honorable Christian Herter, speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, comes here next Thursday night to address the annual banquet of the Young Men's Republican Club, to be held at the November club rooms. Occupying today one of the highest positions in the state and bound to occupy even higher ones as the years go on, the speaker is expected to attract a large attendance.

The annual election will be held following the close of the banquet program.

MALE CHOIR REHEARSAL

There will be a joint rehearsal of the male choirs of the Essex County district at Beverly, Saturday night. The Andover Male choir members will meet at the choir rooms at 7:00 o'clock.

SLATTERY CLASS TO ENTERTAIN THIMBLE CLUB

The Margaret Slattery class of the Free church will repeat its minstrel show tonight at the annual Guest Night entertainment of the Thimble club.

School Board to Consider Budget

The school board, wanting $4,000 that it doesn't have and the majority not wanting $500 that it does have, meets on Tuesday night to decide definitely just what shall be cut in order to live within the slashed budget passed by the town meeting. The problem of the North school, which the board has been asked by town meeting to keep open, will also come up, the $500 appropriated for this purpose not being transferrable to any other school.

There has been some feeling that the board might eliminate teachers by combining or transporting grades in Shawsheen village, Indian Ridge and Ballardvale, and already opposition similar to the North school agitation has arisen in those three sections. There is also a possibility that the board might yield to the finance committee's suggestion on the elimination of one clerk, a procedure made easier by the approaching marriage of one of the girls. Undoubtedly other savings will be found, probably many of them in the buildings and grounds account.

Award Contracts For Compressor, Chassis

The Board of Public Works, in deciding on the purchase of an Ingersoll-Rand compressor, and a second hand truck chassis, have accepted bids totalling $2846.21, which will come out of the $3200 allowance given the board by the town meeting.

In neither case was the lowest bid accepted, but the board felt that the contracts awarded will give the town the greatest value for its dollar.

Speaker Tells Of Madame Chiang Kai Shek's Endeavors For Chinese People

Madame Chiang Kai Shek shivered. The phone rang; she answered it, then shivered once more. "Dr. Shepard," said she, "have our soldiers their winter uniforms?" "Only some of them," replied Dr. George Shepherd, director of the New Life Movement in China. It was a sparkling autumn day of 1938 with a hint of winter in the air. "Telephone such and such provinces," went on Madame, "while I round up the women here." Within two hours she had gotten the local women to work; within ten days the soldiers had their warm clothes, contributed by the provinces, one giving 20,000, another 50,000, a third 60,000 winter uniforms.

When the Generalissimo and his wife moved hurriedly to Chungking, the province of Szechuan, feeling that a rented house was not adequate for their National leader, built a modern bungalow with conveniences. On the way up to inspect the new home, Madame noticed an old woman displaying a large square of cloth. She stopped and said, "Why do you have so many patches in this square?" The old woman replied, "They are not patches. I have sewed together 9 pieces of cloth, and now I can cut out a garment for my daughter." Madame was very thoughtful as she walked through the rooms of the house soon to be occupied by her. Finally, she turned to the Generalissimo with this: "The provinces must not spend money on us, for our personal comfort, while there are people like this old woman without whole cloth to make garments." Mayling Soong is still occupying the rented house at Chungking.

These were but two of the many incidents related by Dr. George Shepherd, just out of China, as he faced an audience of more than 4000 people, including many Andover church-goers, in the Lowell Memorial Auditorium last Sunday evening. Back of him, in tier upon tier, were the surpliced choirs of the 37 different churches uniting in a two-day Missionary Rally. On the platform itself were the ministers of these churches, flanked by Boy Scouts with huge international banners. On the floor, facing Dr. Shepherd, was a Junior Choir of two hundred voices, led, as was the Senior Choir, by Augustina Smith of Boston University.

"There Are No Foreigners" was the text of an address by Russell Henry Stafford of Boston. His descriptions of various picturesque type at the Madras Conference last December brought forth shrieks of delight from the Junior Choir. Dr. Stafford learned to know India at first hand through its heat, its dust, its color, its crowds, and through its wonderful hospitality at Madras. All the delegates there spoke English, those from Africa very English English. When Minna Soga of South Africa was introduced to a Boston audience she exclaimed, using homely in the British meaning of comfortable, "You are the homeliest people I have ever met!" Language notwithstanding, the 472 delegates found their great bond in loyalty to Jesus Christ.

The magnificent Hallelujah Chorus by Handel climaxed a most impressive mass meeting.

News of Other Days

What You and Your Neighbors
Were Doing in Days Gone By

Fifty Years Ago

We have two more very interesting letters from Dr. Bancroft who has been up the Nile as far as Philae and has returned to Cairo. He spent Washington's birthday in the vicinity of the First Cataract, no doubt joining with his fellow voyagers from home-land in singing "America," which he was accustomed to give out on that day in the Academy chapel.

The Hegira from Andover to Europe begins early this year. Miss Mary G. Perley and Miss Florence Gillette are to sail April 10, by the Red Star Line, for a prolonged sojourn on the Continent.

The West Centre School house is undergoing needed repairs in the way of shingling.

On Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock some one set fire to the brush and leaves on Carmel Hill. Superintendent Allen was soon upon the scene and saw that there was no danger.

Another alarm in Ballardvale at the same time on Sunday for burning brush on the land of George P. Pillsbury quickly brought Mr. Buck and his horses to the house in time to save considerable woodland from being burned over. This is the first alarm this company has responded to since April.

Mr. Silas Buck is putting an addition on his barn.

Twenty-five Years Ago

J. Francis Allison, the present Superintendent of Schools in Great Barrington was unanimously elected at a School Committee meeting last Saturday to fill the place of George M. Bemis who recently resigned.

D. J. Costello of North Andover has a contract to build a house for Paul Simeone on High street and will begin the work shortly.

Edward Whitcomb has returned to Alberta, Canada, after spending a few weeks with his brother, Monte Whitcomb, of Central street.

An auto, which proved to be the one stolen from Dr. George B. Whitney of Haverhill, was found on Chestnut street last Friday night where it had been abandoned.

Ten Years Ago

Selectmen Frank Hardy, Andrew McTernan and Dr. Daly attended the hearing Wednesday at the State House held upon the bill providing for the apportionment of costs of the northern artery.

Charles P. Rea celebrated his 83rd birthday Saturday with a party at his home on Park street.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon of Red Spring road observed their Silver Wedding Anniversary in Fraternal Hall.

A telephone has been installed in the Ballardvale Fire Station.

Mrs. Arthur Lewis entertained the members of the Hawthorne Club at her home on Lowell street on Wednesday evening.

Irish Portraiteuse

To Give Sketches

On Saturday night, April 8, the first Saturday after the reopening of Abbot, Maeve MacMurrough, Irish player and portraiteuse, will give a program in Davis Hall at 8:15. Miss MacMurrough was born at Edenderry, Offaly, Ireland, studied at Alexandra College, Dublin, and with Sara Allgood at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin. Later she toured with the original company of world famed Irish Players with whom she played leading parts. From early childhood Maeve MacMurrough possessed a natural gift for mimicry. As a child she would delight her friends by reproducing the Irish characters she met in her daily life. As this talent developed, she decided to devote her time to studying the various types of Irish peasant folk, and finally produced in public an array of real life portraits, which after a marked success in Ireland and England are now delighting her American audiences.

Miss MacMurrough's sketches are quite unique and cannot be regarded as monologues in the ordinary sense of the word. They are really miniatures of living characters. "The Dublin Fish Wife," and "The Ulster Woman," "At the Dressmaker's," "A St. Patrick's Day Hunt" will illustrate the versatility of her unusual program. Such a series of portraits could be rendered so convincingly only by years of studying people, watching them and listening to them and learning how they think. The English, too, are represented in her performance—not composite "types"—for unlike some others who are a complete company in themselves, she presents definite, personal studies with the result that although she uses no make-up and no change of costume beyond the addition of a hat, a pair of glasses or a shawl, she becomes for the time being the thin-lipped English aristocrat trying to "improve" the villagers, the young girl going on a holiday, the old Irishwoman in the workhouse, the lady crossing the channel, or the country girl lost in the Underground Railway. All her portraits are sympathetic and kindly, although not sparing in the inclusion of human foibles.

Shawsheen

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dean of Kensington street left last Friday for a vacation in Bermuda.

Dorothy M. Hendrick was given a shower last Thursday night by her fellow workers at the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company in the insurance building. Miss Hendrick will become the bride of Stephen Brennan, Jr., of North Andover in April.

Mrs. James R. Baldwin of 19 William street is recovering from a painful injury to her hand which she sustained on Monday.

Mrs. Walter Webster of Kenilworth street, was chairman of the dramatic committee which presented a short play at the annual guest night of the Women's Union of the Lawrence Central M. E. Church Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhart Hartman of 15 Fleming avenue observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage recently at a turkey dinner and dance at Freedman's Hall in Lawrence. Many friends were present, and Mr. and Mrs. Hartman received gifts, cards, and flowers.

Barbara Gibney returned to her home in New York Sunday after spending some months with Dorothy Babb of Princeton road.

Jean and June Steinert of Union street have recovered from their recent illness.

Richard Ward returned to his home on Lowell street, Sunday, from the Lawrence General hospital where he has been confined for four weeks.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our kind friends and neighbors for their acts of love and sympathy during the recent loss of husband, father, and brother. We are very grateful for the beautiful flower tributes. We also wish to extend thanks to St. Matthew's Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and to the Rev. Frederick B. Noss.

Poll Tax Bills

Ready To Mail

Within a day or two the poll tax bills will reach the masculine population of Andover—more of the masculine population than ever before. Under a new state law all males above 20 must be assessed, the previous maximum limit having been 70. However, four classifications can be freed from the tax if they apply in writing on an approved form to the assessors by October first. They are soldiers and sailors; those 70 or over on January 1; those who received old age assistance in 1938; those who received money in 1938 by the municipalities for the relief, support, maintenance and employment of the poor.

Stream-lining Town Meeting

Some of the few of you who were left at 11:30 in the auditorium a couple of weeks ago may have wondered between yawns the same thing that we did—between yawns. As the clock worked its way around toward midnight, we took stock to see what had been accomplished and then we wondered: why did it take so long to accomplish this? We had started at seven with a pretty full hall; at 11:15 we were still going, but the hall was nearly empty. In the hands of the few left was vested the power not only to settle the remaining matters, but to overturn, by reconsideration, everything that the fuller meeting had done!

And so we kept on wondering. What could be done about this? What could the town do to bring the meeting to an earlier close? The most obvious answer of course is that something should be done to curtail the oratorical efforts of some of our more garrulous speakers, but then you run into the argument that a debate restriction is a limitation of the sacred right given by our democratic town meetings. Of course it might be a good thing to limit the abuse of that right.

In our town meeting notes we found two things which led us to believe that Andover might find some approach to a near-streamlined town meeting. One was the change in the method of choosing the trustees of the cemetery. Here the old plan of electing the trustees from the floor was dropped and in its stead a new method of appointment by the selectmen was adopted. Elections from the floor are far from satisfactory, and this particular article occurring early in the meeting: "To elect all other officers not elected by ballot," could well be eliminated in order to save time.

But only a few minutes would be saved here. The regular departmental budgetary procedure brought forth a new little wrinkle from chairman Shepard, when instead of reading off the entire specified list of town officers' appropriations, he said in effect: "For town officers, $21,289, as listed in the town report on page 215." Perfectly legal and yet it saved time. Why can't this be done all through the warrant? Why does the town clerk have to read every last word in every last article? We are all given warrants at the meeting. We all can read (if you can't, you must have slipped past the checkers at the door). That takes a long time, and we could do just as well without it.

Even if all the orators were given the privilege to speak as long and as often as they spoke the other night, at least an hour could have been saved by the elimination of unnecessary procedural encumbrances.

Shopics by the Townswoman

The Easter Bunny begs for attention. In just one more day, the untamed March lion will roar for the last time this year, and by Easter April will have set the stage for floating veils and light spring suits. March isn't entirely to blame for our unseasonable weather, however. According to Andover's winter vacationists, it has been a fairly pleasant month outside of New England. (Especially in Havana.)

It may seem like rushing the season to mention cottons even if April is only one day off, but wait until you see the ones at Irma Beene's. You can put them right on now and just for fun count the number of times your friends ask, "Really cotton?" Then she is featuring colored rayon gloves that look well with any costume and how they brighten up last year's suit. With matching hat and bag you won't mind economizing.

Speaking of last year's suit, don't be discouraged at its appearance when you're shaking out the moth balls. The X-L Cleaners will call for and return it to your door in X-Lent condition for Easter—and there's no extra charge for delivery. Just call 1319 for prompt and superior service, or drop in the office, conveniently located on the square.

"Show just as much of the hair as possible" fashion advises and the smart townswomen trek to the Raven Beauty Parlor to make sure their coiffure is modishly neat and becomingly curled. Well they know that charm vanishes with the first straying lock. The Raven beauticians are very skillful in adapting the newest headdress to suit individual types of women who care. If you have been wondering what is the most becoming style for you, consult one of the beauty advisers and greet spring fashions with assurance.

For that feminine touch, and it is more important than ever this year, don't overlook the coyly ruffled collars in the Harborn Shop. Flattering and youthful, you'll want several of your frocks and make them new again.

Housecleaning may not be one of the most eagerly anticipated of Spring's sports, but with a new supply of brushes and cleaners the scrub team will mind the work a little less and the results will be a shining victory. Hill's Hardware store has all kinds of helpful aids imaginable. The most essential one is, of course, a G. E. vacuum cleaner, but drop in and see them and let Mr. Hill tell you about his easy payment plan.

Being sure is the safe way, and although we'd rather forget it, spring is a hazardous time for fires and accidents. Let the William A. Doherty Agency provide you with sound security against loss. They write all forms of insurance in reliable companies.

For a Happy Easter, candy eggs and bunnies will delight the whole family, and Dantos Brothers have just received a new supply that will make the old fashioned easter eggs hide in shame. They come individually, or packed away with tiny multi-colored eggs in small spring-like baskets. And Dantos' lilies are due in very shortly, too.

Don't let this cold mist dampen your spirits. They're really coming—blue skies, warm weather, Easter. Wait and see!

NOVEMBER CLUB AND SHAWSHEEN WOMAN'S CLUB PRESENT TABLEAUX

"Pretty as a Picture" was Patricia Barnard posing in a living painting of Joshua Reynolds' "Age Of Innocence" at the November Club meeting Monday afternoon. Dressed in the characteristic white dress with red sash and bows, Patricia looked reminiscently off into space with her hands calmly folded across her chest. She seemed so much like the original painting that it was difficult to believe that she was a flesh and blood child. She won the enthusiastic applause of the large audience as did Billy Nichols who whimsically posed as the "Boy With Torn Hat." Whistler's "Mother" contained all the balance of design in grey and black that typifies the famous painting, and Mrs. Leroy Zumph was the mother.

Other models were Miss Mary Brooks as "Mrs. Strachn; Miss Bessie Goldsmith as "Mrs. Crewe"; Mrs. Jessie Bottomly as "Mrs. Ella Brant"; Mrs. George Sanborn as "Mrs. Siddons"; Mrs. Nathaniel Stowers as "Lavinia"; Mrs. L. Denis Peterkin as "Carmen Carmencita"; and Mrs. M. Phillips Graham

"Madonna Adoring the Child," representing the famous painting by Correggio, was the first of the awe inspiring pictures presented at the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club meeting Monday night in the Shawsheen school. The brilliant coloring, the gleaming halo and the reverential expression of the Madonna are all characteristic of the original artist's work.

Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis as Ruth and Mrs. Edwin Bramley as Naomi picturing Calderon's "Ruth and Naomi" were particularly like an actual painting. Almost all of them were of a religious nature, although there were several, Marie Antoinette, Queen Louise, and Queen Victoria, which were purely character portraits. "Faith," "Hope," and "Charity," the concluding representations, contained very difficult poses; Valerie Simmers, as Faith at the foot of the

Junior King's Daughters To Hold Bakery Sale

Surprises aplenty—pleasant ones, not the kind usually found on April first—will greet those who on Saturday patronize the food sale to be held by the Junior King's Daughters of the South church in the vacant store in the Musgrove building. The energetic committee of young ladies under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Walter Partridge, will offer a fine selection of home-made bakery—cakes, pies, doughnuts, turnovers, and, not least, real home-made bread and rolls. The sale, proceeds of which will go to the church building fund, will last from 11 to 5:30.

Marjorie Crosby and Nancy Thomas, co-chairmen, are assisted by Ebon Bendroth, Barbara Gahm, Ethel Cherowbrier, Eleanor Houston, Solveig Haakonsen, Mary Zecchini, Ruth Holt, Louise Higgins, Ruth Anderson, Dorothy Cederberg, Mary Deyermont, Mary Gates and Kathleen Stowers.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yeaton of Elm street, at the Lawrence General hospital last Sunday.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Austin of High street at the Lawrence General hospital last Sunday.

A son, Charles Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowman of 66 Park street at the Boston Lying-in hospital, March 20.

A daughter, Gail Theresa, to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Joseph McIntyre, Baker Lane, March 1.

A daughter, Barbara Louise, to Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Townsend, Andover street, March 18.

Talks On Effect Of Politics On Crime

The effect of politics on crime, all traceable to the indifference of the average voter, was attacked at the Service club meeting last Thursday by Loring R. Kew of Lowell, a Middlesex county deputy sheriff. He stated that because of political interference the police are unable to make arrests, and when arrests are made, political interference may hamper the district attorneys in their attempts to prosecute. He added that political appointments may hurt the efficiency of the police departments, with many cities having police officers who themselves have records. Voting for John Doe because "He's a good fellow" is the cause of it all, he felt.

China Missionary To Speak Wednesday

Experiences which might well have been lifted out of a novel star the life of Grace Frederick (Mrs. Charles H.) Riggs of Nanking, China, whose early years as a missionary were spent in the mountainous farming districts of old China far up the tortuous Min River from Foochow. Mrs. Riggs, who first went to China as a bride in 1916, will speak Wednesday in the West church.

MEETING POSTPONED

The General Welfare club meeting scheduled for tonight at Mrs. James Thomson's on Summer street has been postponed until next Thursday.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL CHILDREN SCORE SUCCESS

"The nerve of them! Expecting junior high youngsters to do justice to one of our best operettas." So might Gilbert have said to friend Sullivan a few weeks back when the junior high faculty launched its rehearsals of H. M. S. Pinafore, but had the two gentlemen witnessed last Friday night's performance they would have realized that any such doubts would have been a great injustice both to the students and to the faculty.

No one could have asked for anything different. There was a large audience, each of whom paid 35 cents admission—all of whom would be willing to pay more for a like performance. The choruses, both the boys and the girls, must have made their hard-working supervisor, Miss Miriam Sweeney, very proud, and the soloists must have made their parents as well as Miss Sweeney proud. The diction was fine—to Miss Mabel Marshall of the faculty goes the credit for that. The dancing numbers were evidence of the hours that Miss Evelyn Oliver and Donald Dunn of the faculty must have spent in drilling the youngsters. In fact, the only faculty production member who didn't have to work hard was the prompter—there was only one of those silent pauses, and that didn't last long enough to be the least bit painful.

The first solo number, Little Buttermilk, by Constance Swenson gave promise of a very pleasant performance, for the attractive little blonde girl has a very charming voice. In the ordinary cast her poise too would have deserved special mention, but this was no ordinary cast—they all had poise. And then there was—you really should have been there to appreciate him—The Right Honorable Sir Joseph Porter in the person of George Levi, who incidentally deserves a bit of extra praise because just one week before he had trod the same boards in another dramatic effort at the St. Patrick's entertainment. George—well, as we said, it was your fault if you didn't see and hear his antics in the song which told of how he became the ruler of the king's navy.

They were all fine—Angeline Thiras as the silver-voiced daughter of the captain, Alva Houston as the deserved first cousin of the many-cousined Sir Joseph, John Hickok as the first in command of the Pinafore, Thomas Sullivan as the aggressive young seaman, Harry Duke as the obnoxious Dick Deadeye and Richard Stevens as the boatswain. When they sang they did well; when they danced, they did well; when they acted, they did well.

Others of the faculty who assisted were: costumes, Miss Reta Atkinson, Miss Nancy Hird and Miss Florence Gates; lights, Benjamin Dimlich; publicity, Miss Beatrice Stevens and Miss Alice Oliff; properties, Mrs. Alberta Espey and Carl M. Gahan; ushers, Miss Evelyn Parker; tickets, Milton Blanchard; make-up, Miss Mary Bailey, Mrs. Walter Partridge and Miss Evelyn Rutter.

NOVEMBER CLUB NOTES

The dramatic department will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Charles E. Abbott at her home on 70 Main street.

The art department will hold its annual meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Alice Jenkins at 39 School street.

The literary department will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon with Miss Julia Twitchell on Bartlett street.

A picture of the entire cast will appear in next week's Townsman.

May Award Truck Contract Tomorrow

The Board of Public Works, after studying truck bids until 11:15 last night, adjourned until tomorrow night at which time the members hope to finally award a contract. Confronted with a maze of figures on trucks with two inch springs, three inch springs, eleven inch clutches, twelve inch clutches, and many other different specifications, the board decided to look at three or four models tomorrow night in order to get a better idea of the comparison among them.

The new compressor is expected here on Friday.

GUEST SPEAKER AT SCOUT MEETING

Friday night, Frank Druin, Jr. of Andover will give a talk to the boy scouts, at their regular meeting in the precinct room, on bows and arrows. He will speak on the history of archery and will demonstrate the proper method of shooting.

November Club

Miss Alice Jenkins was the General Director; Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast, narrator, and Misses Marjorie Davies and Harriet Carter were the pages. Painted backgrounds were done by Mrs. Joseph Ashton, Miss Alice Bell and Miss Grace Jenkins. Mrs. Chandler Carleton had charge of backstage lights and Mrs. Byron Hall had charge of the hall lights. Back stage director was Mrs. Hilda D. Sheppard, assisted by Mrs. Edward Nichols and Mrs. Wilfred Lord.

Assistants for the models were: Mrs. Hilda O. Sheppard, Mrs. Frank L. Brigham, Mrs. Shirley Barnard, Mrs. Edward Nichols, Mrs. Charles C. Abbott, Miss Alice Bell, Mrs. Wilfred Lord, and Mrs. Woodson Ezell.

Between the paintings Miss Marion Abbott played the piano. Mrs. Hilda Oram Sheppard and Miss Alice Jenkins, chairman, poured at the tea.

crude cross; Hope, a blind-folded figure, crouching on the world, clutching her lyre with the one remaining string, done by Miss Elinor Houston who maintained her back-breaking pose without a tremble; and Barbara Bartlett as Charity, the most important of the three Graces, equally motionless, with her hands upraised.

Walter Tomlinson, Jr., taking the part of little Ishmael in "Hagar and Ishmael in the Desert," couldn't resist the temptation to turn his head just once, and then quickly resumed his pose. "I just wanted to see where you were, mummy," he explained afterwards. It is decidedly unfair to mention only a few of the paintings as each one was so carefully and beautifully done. Much of the credit is due Mrs. Henry Williams Inman, under whose direction the pictures were produced, and to Mrs. J. Albion Burt, the narrator. The four Fra Angelico Angels who were very impressively stationed on each side of the curtains were: Dorothy Dean, Theresa Whalen, Rebecca Stevens and Gloria Field. Mrs. Henry Simmers was general chairman.

The musical interludes between the paintings were carefully planned so that each selection was applicable to the preceding picture. Mrs. Frederick Smith was the musical director and the chorus was composed of Miss Ann Stone, Mesdames Albert Curtis, William Foster, H. Garrison Holt, Frank Kefferstan, Edward Lawson, Fred McCollum, Jr., Charles Lynde, William Pedlow, Henry Simmers, Clinton Stevens, Lester Thompson, Earl Waddington and Albert Wade.

The program, with the pictures interspersed by musical numbers, follows:

Slavic Dance and On Wings of Song: Trio, violin, Miss Frances Magoon; cello, Miss Ethel Farrington; and piano, Mrs. Frederick Smith; Madonna Adoring the Child, Mrs. Arthur Steinert; "Ave Maria," Mrs. Henry Simmers; Ruth and Naomi: Ruth, Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis; Naomi, Mrs. Edwin Bramley; "Entreat me not to Leave Thee," Mrs. Albert Curtis; Hagar and Ishmael in the Desert: Hagar, Mrs. Jeremiah O'Connor; Ishmael, Walter Tomlinson, Jr.; "Kol Nidre"

—Old Hebrew, violin solo, Miss Magoon; Marie Antoinette: Marie, Mrs. William Poland; Priest, Mrs. Leonard Johnson; "The Marseillaise," Club Chorus; Queen Louise, Mrs. Lester Thompson; "Coronation March," Trio; Queen Elizabeth and Mary Queen of Scotland; Elizabeth, Mrs. A. E. Knowles; Mary, Mrs. William Kurth; "Land of Hope and Glory," Chorus; Queen Victoria, Mrs. Joseph Gagne; "God Save the Queen," chorus.

To a Wild Rose, Dream Hours, Robin Singing in the Rain, and Stop dat Whimperin', chorus; Joan of Arc, Dorothy Christie; "Adieu Forets" from Jeanne d'Arc, Miss Gertrude Farrington; Lady Hamilton as Circe, Mrs. Alex Ritchie, Jr.; "Serenade," Trio; Jenny Lind, Mrs. George Weldon; "Last Rose of Summer," Mrs. Henry Simmers; Ann Hutchinson: Ann, Mrs. Garfield S. Chase; Child, Betty Jane O'Connor; "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," Chorus; Faith, Miss Valerie Simmers; Cavatina, Trio; Hope, Miss Elinor Houston; "Whispering Hope," Mrs. Lester Thompson, Mrs. Curtis; Caritas (Charity), Miss Barbara Bartlett; "Panis Angelicus," Miss Gertrude Farrington; Violin Obligato, Miss Magoon.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET ON MONDAY

Mrs. L. Joseph Eno of Bradford, editor of the Year Book of the Garden Club Federation, will speak at the Andover Garden Club meeting to be held at 10:00 next Monday morning in Phillips Inn. Mrs. Eno will talk on "Making a Garden From Annuals."

Final In Vesper Series On Sunday

The final service in the series of vespers which have been held in co-operation with local ministers will be held Sunday afternoon at the academy chapel, with Rev. John Grant, a retired minister now a resident in the town, preaching the sermon. The South church choir will sing.

TO TELL OF FIRST FIRE ENGINE

The second in a series of industrial dramatizations of local interest will be presented over station WLLH on Monday evening at 8:15. Three local persons, J. Lewis Smith, Emil J. DesRoches and Ralph W. Emerson will take part. The subject will be the first steam fire engine. The first dramatization a week ago had Mr. Smith telling of the first linen flax mill established in America by his great grandfather, Peter Smith, down in Frye village. Mr. DesRoches is the employment manager at the Pacific mills.

for Spring!

• Winter has been hard on your car. The ignition system, the cooling system, the motor, the entire chassis have all been subjected to severe strain. To make your car ready for spring, you should check these points:

1. BRAKES AND LIGHTS

The state requires you this year to have your brakes and lights inspected in April. The Motor Mart is an authorized station. Don't delay—do it now.

2. IGNITION SYSTEM

Battery, wiring, generator and spark plugs all demand attention at this time of year.

3. COOLING SYSTEM

Radiator and all hose connections should be checked carefully.

4. MOTOR TUNE-UP

All those knocks that have developed should be eliminated. A check here will save you money in oil and gas.

5. REAR-END, TRANSMISSION

Winter grease should be replaced by heavier lubrication, just as crankcase oil should be changed.

6. CHASSIS

A complete lubrication will make riding more comfortable and less expensive. Let us iron out dents, and by all means simonize your car.

WOULD YOU DRIVE WITHOUT A SPARE TIRE?

The wise family man needs life insurance for readjustment just as much as his car needs a spare tire. Whether it is all the protection he owns, or simply one policy in a complete life insurance program, it is likely to be the most important factor in his family's financial future—if they ever have to go along without him.

The John Hancock readjustment plan is designed with the idea of continuing the breadwinner's support for a year or more after death. It gives dependents time to prepare for living on a reduced income or for arranging to replace the breadwinner's earnings with their own.

This special protection is within the reach of every man who can earn a comfortable living for his family today. Ask a John Hancock representative about the Readjustment Plan or write for descriptive booklet.

P. A. Honor List

Andover boys again did the town honor the past term at Phillips academy, with two boys out of the eight on the first honor roll being local residents and two other Andover boys making the second honor roll. In the first group, in which the minimum grade is 80 and a grade of a least 90 in half the number of hours required, Lawrence Harold Bixby, Jr., son of Major and Mrs. Bixby of Sunset Rock road, and Lincoln Duffton Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clark of Stirling street, were listed. Edmond E. Hammond, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hammond of Porter road, and John Rodney White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter White of South Main street, made the second honor roll. Bixby has been named an alternate to West Point; White as the boy who last year won the Butler-Thwing prize for having the best entrance examination grades.

The boys receive a bonus in the form of a few extra days' vacation. School resumes next week.

A TRUE FISH STORY

Over twenty years ago this firm started business as a fish market, buying directly from the fishing vessels. We pay a little more this way but we get the very freshest fish caught. Buying fish at the public auction is cheaper, yes, but it is not the right place to get good tasting fish.

Last-Period Debacle Ousts Boys' Club

In a game which featured a stirring up-hill fight made useless by a last quarter debacle, the Andover Boys' club was weeded out of the Greater Lawrence Senior Basketball championship by the St. Michael's club 52 to 34 last Saturday night. The Y. M. C. A. will meet the St. Michaels in the finals Saturday, while the Boys' club will line up against St Augustine's in the consolation finals between the two teams which reached the semi-finals to be eliminated there.

The Boys' club trailed by but one point at the end of the first quarter, 11-10, and at the end of the half, the St. Michael quintet had increased the margin to three points, 32-29. Before long Andover had gone ahead 34-33, but then came the deluge. The Saints peppered the basket, and before Andover could score another point the Saints had scored 19 and the game was over. Fettes scored 14 for Andover, Mooney 10, Walker 8 and McKee 2. Others playing were Bisset, Brown, Doherty, Holden and Gorrie.

You save money by paying $2.00 a year for the Townsman.
