News of Other Days

Fifty Years Ago

The abutters on the new street running from Summer street to Elm street have unanimously agreed to ask the town to give it the name of Washington avenue. This might seem a somewhat pretentious name for a short street, but is thought particularly appropriate from the fact that the street is laid out just at the time of the much-celebrated "Washington Centennial." Besides, didn't General Washington, a few months after his inauguration, ride right past the end of this future avenue on his way to breakfast at Abbot's tavern? We learn that B. F. Wardwell has taken time by the forelock and got the sign-board up at his end of the street.

Several Ballardvale business men are showing commendable enterprise by having electric light fixtures put in. Dr. C. H. Shattuck, Jr., Green and Woodlin and J. S. Stark have had their places wired this week.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Everett Collins was hurt while playing ball last Saturday with the Manchester, Mass., team. His knee was spiked and lamed severely.

Oliver W. Vennard has purchased a Maxwell automobile.

James Souter of Washington avenue has purchased the house now occupied by Henry Symonds.

Miss Ethel Howell of Summer street who has been spending the winter at her uncle's in Morgan-ville, Kansas, has gone on to Montana where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Ralph Liggett.

Ten Years Ago

Mrs. Sarah McMahon of Main street terrace is convalescing at her home after an operation performed at the Lawrence General hospital.

Miss Edith P. Sellars of Brook street has returned after a trip to Waynesboro, Virginia, where she visited her sister, Mrs. William L. Hogg.

Motorcycle Officer Carl Stevens is ill at his home on High Plain road. Special Officer George Dunells has been doing duty in his absence.

Blanchard Frye of 63 Elm street is arriving home on the S. S. Aquitania, due to dock at New York today. Mr. Frye has just completed an eight-weeks' business trip through England, France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Holland and Italy.

More than a thousand persons enjoyed the presentation of "Ali Baba," the Marionette play, given in Punched hall by the pupils of the Stowe school Thursday and Friday. In the cast were: Isabella Greenhow, Elizabeth Croy, Mary Barnard, Isabella Batchelder, Ruth Pratt, William Perry, Betty Bliss, Betty Buchan, Lyndel Lawson, Helene Hall, Edith Rohrer and Priscilla Abercrombie.

Abbot Academy Notes

Tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1:45, the year of sports will be brought to a close with the annual Spring Field Day when finals in tennis, track and baseball will be run off between the rival Gargoyle and Griffin teams. Finals in golf, badminton and several minor sports have been run off during the week. The teams will be led on Friday by their captains, Audrey Rugg, of Newark, Ohio, Gargoyle, and Dorothy Heidrich, of Peoria, Illinois, Griffin, in this final dash for the 1939 championship and the honor of having the team engraved on the coveted shield. In 1936 and 1937 the teams ended the year in a tie. Last year the Gargoyles were victorious.

Individual and team honors will be announced at a gathering of the school some time during the week-end.

The Senior Banquet will be held on Saturday evening with its President, Charlotte Skinner, of Lakeville, Connecticut, hostessing the occasion. Guests of honor will be Miss Marguerite Hearsey, Principal, and Miss Alice Sweeney, Director of Studies.

The Abbot Christian Association will sponsor the Sunday evening vesper service. Friends of the school are cordially invited to attend in Abbot Hall at 7:30 o'clock.

Final examinations for the year will be held from Tuesday, May 30, to Friday, June 2.

You save money by paying $2.00 a year for the Townsman.

TOWNSWOMAN TOPICS

Although it's pretty safe to predict Memorial Day weather as: "fair and warmer" (how could it be much colder?) with gentle northeast winds shifting to east or southeast or possibly northwest; slightly cooler later in the day with possible showers, rainbow showing through the clouds (if the sun comes out); generally fair except for scattered showers and thunderstorms in some portions of New England; (Andover probably has as good a chance as any town!)—it is not safe to predict whether or not White will be able to make her customary debut on the holiday.

Better to play safe and have X-L Cleaners prepare you for smart weathering. A warm woolen suit has just as much chance of being suitable attire for the Memorial services as a short-sleeved cotton. It's just a case of waiting until Tuesday morning to find out, and of having several possible outfits hanging in the closet, freshly cleaned.

Are you having tennis troubles? Bring your problems to the Shaw-sheen Spa where particular care is given, in restringing and repairing rackets, to testing their balance, weight and grip-handle. Even a difference of a quarter of an ounce over or under can throw your game all off and treat your opponent to a quick victory. So if you're planning to perfect your stroke this summer, make sure of your racket and form will come easier.

Coolness is one of the pleasant features of the Spa courts. Bordered with shade trees, they are close enough to the river to receive whatever breeze may be stirring on a warm summer day, and then you always have the privilege of using the locker room and showers. Hourly reservations may be made in advance, or if you play often, a season ticket or a special scholar membership will add to the economy as well as the convenience of the sport.

OPENING tomorrow afternoon at 96 Main street is the new Madison Beauty Salon to be operated by Mrs. Ida Puglisi. This coolly painted shoppe with its modernistic furniture and the very latest equipment is an ideal place to relax while experienced hands perform miraculous changes in your coiffure. Close cropped curls or smooth waves are becoming and very practical for the gay whirl of summer activities—but they must be kept neat and tidy. Mrs. Puglisi also specializes in beauty treatments that will keep skin soft and glowing in spite of the drying effects of salt water and bright sun. Visit her salon on Friday or call 1325 for an appointment.

Going traveling? Recent experience has proven that luggage has a grievous faculty for getting left behind in railroad stations, hotel rooms or even stolen cars and so the Doherty Brothers, who have a protection against all mishaps, suggest a short term insurance on personal effects. Then if you forget your baggage in a less honest city than New Haven (ask the Male Choir), you will be assured of adequate compensation for the loss.

WOMAN'S GUILD DISCUSSES PLANS

The Woman's Guild of Christ church held their final meeting of the season last Thursday afternoon, with the present officers holding over pending the definite formulation of new plans.

A communion service was held, with the Book of Remembrance being presented by Mrs. Charles Warden and Mrs. Arthur Boutwell. Rev. Mr. Morris gave a brief talk on future plans of the church at the annual meeting in the afternoon. Annual reports were presented by treasurer Ethel Brown, and the secretary, Mrs. Ralph Berry. Mrs. Arthur Boutwell made a report on the United Thank offering which was presented last Wednesday at the service in the Cathedral at Boston.

Surprise Party Tendered Miss Cuthill

Miss Bertha Cuthill of High street who leaves for Bristol, Conn., next Wednesday to take a half-year course in dietetics at a hospital there, was tendered a surprise party by the officers of the local chapter of the Eastern Star on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Alex Thomson, Summer street. She was presented with a gift.

GARDEN CLUB NOTES

The spring conference and pilgrimage of the Federated Garden Clubs of Massachusetts will be held at Springfield, June 8 and 9. Any person wishing to attend should make reservations for lunch and dinner, cost $2.35, by making application before June 1, to Mrs. J. Franklin Collins, 86 Atwater Terrace, Springfield. Reservations at either the Hotel Kimball or Hotel Stonehaven may be made before June 6.

The spring pilgrimage of the Trustees of Public Reservations will be held June 2, 3, and 4. Persons wishing to join the pilgrimage should communicate with Mrs. Miles Malone, Taylor Hall, before May 26.

"Glamour Galore"

Tomorrow Night

"Glamour Galore," a review which replaces the traditional Punchard Senior play, will be presented tomorrow evening in the Memorial auditorium. Songs, dances, sketches—practically every conceivable form of stage entertainment will be on the program which has been arranged to give as large a number of Punchard students as possible a chance to display their talents.

In addition to several solos the program will include an American Indian dance, Pennsylvania Dutch song and dance, blackout, Greek dances, several sketches, Irish jig, Irish monologues, Spanish dance, travesty on an opera, piano solos.

Hold Fashion Show Next Wednesday

A lovely June bride will be featured at the Junior King's Daughters' fashion show in the South church vestry next Wednesday afternoon. Other models will show styles in bathing suits, sport and street dresses, and evening gowns. Tea will be served.

Tickets for adults at thirty-five cents and for students at twenty cents may be purchased from members of the committee: Barbara Gahm, chairman; Solveig Haakonsen, Judith Hardy, Evelyn Dow or Jeanette Batcheller.

Male Choir Has

Annual Concert

The Andover Male Choir in their eleventh annual concert last night demonstrated to Andover's music lovers what it is that won for them the championship of New England in the annual contest at New Haven two weeks ago. Herbert J. Gurney, founder of the New England Federation of Men's Glee clubs, was present, and congratulated the club on its fine work in the contest and in last night's concert. He also spoke of what a great asset such a club is to a town.

The director, J. Everett Collins, was presented with a golf bag by president James P. Christie, in behalf of "the boys." In making the presentation, Mr. Christie told of how indispensable Mr. Collins had been to the club, and the latter spoke of the hours of hard work the members had put in.

Garden Club Plants

Trees On Roadsides

Seven trees have been planted on Andover's principal streets by the Andover Garden Club to replace some of those lost in the September hurricane. Elms were planted on Central street, Elm, Main, and Punchard avenue, and maples on Florence and High streets.

The trees and the planting were paid for by the club, and Mr. Abbott, the tree warden, has cooperated by placing guards about them. Inspired by this work several private individuals have replaced street trees in front of their own property.

Main Street Fixtures

"Can't something be done about these decorations along Main street?" we were asked this week by a local businessman, who having knowledge of conditions in other communities feels that Andover has more than the average number of men idling about the business section. It's a condition we all deplore, but deploring it does no good unless something can be done about it.

There are several different types of men who congregate in these street corner gatherings. One is the man who, after a hard day's work, comes up town to meet other hard-working men, chat with them a while, bother nobody, and then go home to rest up for another hard day's work. He does not provide any problem. Another type is the man temporarily out of employment. When Washington comes to its senses and enables private industry to call men like this back, this problem will vanish. But the really objectionable type is the man who loafers practically all the time because he drinks practically all the time. What can you do about him? You can't stop his drinking, because he'll manage to get it somehow, but he should be kept off the Main street. Many of them are derelicts gone beyond reclaiming; some of them are young people who must be helped now so that they won't become derelicts in later life. Many young men have been taken off the street by the newly-formed Men's Club, and more such ventures as these to keep young men occupied will in the long run give Andover a less "decorated" Main street.

Speeding Drivers

More Than Speeders

The state police at the local barracks decided to stop two speeding cars at separate times this week, and they found:

Car number 1: a stolen car, operated by men allegedly stealers of many other cars, also allegedly gasoline-thieves who tried to force gas station operator Fred Broadley to jump off the running-board at sixty per.

Car number 2: another stolen car, with stolen plates, containing four men who didn't mind turning on two wheels into Pearson street and then bouncing along the railroad track to the entrance to St. Augustine's cemetery a quarter-mile away where a bumper bump than the rest made the car turn completely around. Thence the four men ran along the tracks with trooper Carl Thomas in civvies and gunless legging it after them. Mrs. Chester Abbott's car was handy with key, and now that is stolen. Behind in the other car they left a sawed-off shotgun. Hours later New Hampshire police found that four men with sawed-off shotguns had robbed some forty men patrons of a legally non-existent bookie joint at an old Searles castle in Salem.

Punchard Battles

Johnson For Lead

The first of two very crucial games will be played at the Andover playstead tomorrow, when the Punchard team entertains the Johnson high team at three. This game will determine the leadership of the league for at least a week, and will have a very strong bearing on the title for this season.

Punchard 6—Tewksbury 3

The Punchard high school baseball team eked out a close six to three victory over Tewksbury high at the Andover playstead Tuesday afternoon, and thereby went into undisputed possession of first place in the Merrimack Valley suburban league. Warren Deyer-mond twirled good ball but his support was the poorest that has been shown by the team at any time this season. In all, five errors were chalked up against the home club.

Don McLauchlan, hampered by a split finger, was shifted to the outfield, and Cal Deyermond filled in at third. Walker Lindsay continued his hitting streak by getting three hits in as many official trips to the plate. Warren Deyermond and John Collins each collected two hits.

Punchard 9—Wilmington 4

The Punchard team returned to the win column on Friday with a victory over Wilmington High school at the playstead, 9 to 4. Howard Proctor, heretofore the ranking catcher on the squad, returned to his first love, pitching, and worked the entire game. He was touched up rather freely for nine hits, but managed to tighten up in the pinch, and was never in any very grave danger.

The home team went to work on Woods in the very first inning and scored five runs to really win the game at the start. Coach Driscoll replaced him with Murphy at the start of the second, and the latter slid by, allowing only four runs and seven hits.
