Water Satisfactory For Public Bathing, Engineers Report

The Fomps pond bathing beach has been given a clean bill of health by the state department after an examination undertaken at the request of the local board of health. The state engineers reported that the water "continues to be of a satisfactory quality for public bathing," the only defect being the presence of a "considerable number of organisms which, although not dangerous to the public health, might at times give the water an undesirable appearance and odor."

Only One Fire On The Fourth

It was a quiet Fourth for the local fire department. The night before a number of men and some apparatus were stationed at the bonfire to protect residences on Morton street.

The only call on the holiday came from Box 74 for a fire under a stairway at the Rasmussen home on Lowell street and Bellevue road. Damage was estimated at about $150.

Wednesday the department was called out for a slight blaze in a waste basket at the Milne home

Thief Gets Part Of Fourth Proceeds

An "Andover Booster" in reverse managed to steal an amount estimated at between $75 and $150 from one of the booths at the Fourth of July celebration Monday night, according to a report filed with police. The theft was a hard blow to the committee which had spent much time and effort on securing funds to finance the celebration.

Additional Boosters who donated money are: E. V. French, Andover Service club, Dr. Hulme, James P. Christie, Arthur Jowett and the Young Men's Republican club.

Playground Totals Over 500 Registration

Prospects of a busy season faced the playground instructors this week as the total registration up to last night mounted over 500 despite the fact that the weather was very hot and on two of the playgrounds the equipment had not been installed. The holiday also would be expected to cut down the registration.

The Vale and Shawsheen equipment will go up today. Tomorrow night there will be couple races, and the regular schedule will start next week.

MAYOR KANE TONIGHT

Mayor Kane of Woburn will address the Young Men's Republican club tonight at the town hall. The public is invited to hear the well-known mayor.

Hundreds Attend Fourth Observance

Hundreds of Andover citizens stayed home over the Fourth to witness a gala celebration staged by the Men's club, featuring the night before bonfire, a parade with patriotic floats and Ballardvale humor, sports, band concerts and fireworks. Above are pictured two of the prize-winning groups in the parade. At the top, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Mrs. Max Lyons and Mrs. John Whittemore, all of the Vale, are shown displaying their wears on Main street. To them went $10 for the most horrible effect.

Below is shown an unusual shot taken by the Townsman cameraman a moment after the local police department had made an arrest of a drunk in front of the town hall. The inebriate was immediately put into the White Maria liberaly plastered (the car, not the inebriate this time) with placards having especial reference to the Andover guardians of the law, with most especial reference to "Carl and Connie." Frank and James Haggerty and James O'Donnell of the Vale were the officers and inebriate. Their score of arrests along the route earned them $15. In the background of the above picture Officer Frank McBride is seen grinning at the take-off on his fellow-officers.

The local Legion post won first prize of $20 for its float showing a buddy's grave over which Claremont Gray and Alexander Waldie stood guard in uniform.

The Legion auxiliary also presented a fine float showing the making of the flag, with Mrs. George Cilley, Mrs. Whelton Muise, Mrs. Arthur Jowett, and Mrs. John Keith taking the parts of George Washington, Betsy Ross et al.

Public Hearing To Be Held Monday On Shaw Removal

A public hearing will be held Monday afternoon at two at the town house at the request of former police officer William R. Shaw, removed from the force a week ago by the selectmen following court action in which the then officer was fined $60 on charges of operating to endanger and operating under the influence of liquor as the outgrowth of an accident in which he was reported to have crashed into a lamp post in Shawshen village while on his vacation.

Chief of police George A. Dane will prefer charges against the former officer at the hearing, with the three selectmen sitting as judges. Mr. Shaw will be allowed to present his case either personally or through counsel, producing witnesses if he so desires, while the chief may also produce witnesses.

Town Treasurer Off For California

H. Allison Morse Appointed Acting Treasurer Under New Law

A bill recently enacted by the state legislature is making it possible for town treasurer and Mrs. Thaxter Eaton to take a trip to the Pacific Coast. Under the terms of the bill assistant treasurers may be appointed, and H. Allison Morse will occupy this position during Mr. Eaton's absence. Next Tuesday will be the first town payday Mr. Eaton has missed in nine years.

Mr. and Mrs. Eaton plan to make the trip by boat and by train, via Galveston, Texas.

Basses And Tenors In Annual Discord

After a year of harmony, the best in New England, the Andover Male choir gave vent to its annual discordant outing at Pelham last Saturday, with the basses clashing with the tenors. In the annual baseball game the Oompahs defeated the Tin Horns 8 to 4, but the tenor who prepared the publicity for the papers tooted his own tin horn by alleging that Umpires David Coutts and Dana Clark, both being basses, were good on the basses but terrible on the tenors. The teams were captained by Bing Crosby and George Knipe. Cigarettes were awarded the winners.

Robert Crosby won a safety razor for his victory in the sack race with C. Arman winning a flash light for his runner-up position. DeRosa and Bonanno won neckties for their first place in the three-legged race, and Knipe and Wilcox were second. Moore slid in a ringer to help his partner, Cousen, defeat Christie and Wilcox 11 to 9 in the finals of the horseshoe pitching contest, the prizes being thermos bottle, razor, tennis balls and brushes. Wilcox won sneakers for his victory in the ball-throwing contest, with Ev Collins winning second and a necktie. The same prizes went to Crosby and DeRosa in the mixed shoe race.

The basses have asked the Townsman not to mention that the tenors won the tug-of-war quite easily.

That Nickel Toll Charge

Some of our local telephone users are again talking about the five-cent toll charge to Lawrence, North Andover and Methuen, and a few have indicated a desire to go to the state house to start proceedings whereby the charge may be eliminated. At least twice within the past 15 years polls have been taken here to see if the subscribers wished to have this situation changed, and those in charge felt that while there was a majority in favor of elimination of the charge, it was not a large enough majority to warrant making any such change. A limited system was put into effect after the last poll, but it has not proved acceptable to the large majority of users.

It would be well to conduct another poll to see if the preponderance of opinion has changed any since the last poll was taken eight years ago. While the Townsman feels that the differentiation between the two districts is an unjustifiable one, nevertheless it would be obviously unfair to change the system unless there was a real demand for a change. It is understood that merging with the Lawrence district would mean giving Andover users a higher base rate. This would mean that to some people who call Lawrence infrequently the total charge would be higher, but to those who have frequent cause to call Lawrence the total would be lower. A higher base rate would of course be justifiable since such a merging would make the telephone so much more useful.

The entire ramifications of such a proposal should be explained carefully to the subscribers, and then they should be asked for their opinion. If enough people want the charge eliminated, it should be—if not, it should remain just as it is.

Sport Without Sports

At the next meeting of the Essex county Legion Junior baseball committee, we hope that the Andover delegates will make a plea for the encouragement of more sportsmanlike conduct among the players and managers. The crowd likes a good scrap of course—it likes to see the players and managers getting after the umpires, and it likes to see the umpires putting them in their place. But the main purpose of the program is to build up character in the youngsters, and if you've got a good loser, one who can take a decision from a constituted authority without complaint even if he doesn't like it, you've got character. Andover's boys do pretty well, but some of the visitors, last night's in particular, seem unable to take it.

—William L. Doherty and Edward Gill returned Saturday from a few days' stay in Hartford.

Adventurers Flourishing As Third Year As Community Theatre Ends

In these days of constant and rapid change existence is likely to be more or less transitory for many things and institutions. Styles change with the seasons, last year's best seller is a back number now, and organizations with an enthusiastic membership in 1936 or '37 are decrepit if not deceased.

It is with a certain feeling of awe that the Adventurers realize that at the hoary age of three there are no signs of senility; indeed life seems just at its prime.

Through the fall of 1935 a small group of enthusiasts from the Pynchard Alumni held some informal gatherings in the interest of dramatics. This group formed the nucleus for the organization which held its first business meeting on January 13, 1936 and elected Eric Hulme president. So great was the confidence of the group that $225 was voted for the first show, though no treasury existed. And so generously did the public support that first show that the expenses were covered.

"The purpose of this club," to quote from its constitution, "shall be to provide opportunity for participation in dramatic production." Its educational value was recognized by the State of Massachusetts when tickets for performances were made tax-exempt.

Membership was divided into three classes: active, which requires the candidate to take active part in the work of the organization; associate, and sustaining. Associate members are those who lend support by purchasing season tickets. Sustaining members are those who contribute at least $5 annually to the club. Those who were members as of May 11, 1936, sixty-nine in number, were made Charter members.

The constitution also stated that "All income of the Club shall be used for the benefit of the club," and the need of protection for such a non-profit organization being recognized, a sinking fund was created.

The first production, given in the spring of 1936, was "Candlelight." Since that time seven other plays have been presented: "The First Mrs. Fraser," "The Bad Man," "The Enchanted April," "Path of Glory," "Dulcy," "The Wind and the Rain," and "The Middle Watch." Besides the activities required for these public performances there have been the monthly meetings, which attempt to educate members in various phases of dramatic work and give novices a chance to earn their wings.

The machinery of play production is complicated. Its synchronizing qualities must be judged by the performances themselves. First, the play-reading committee goes into action. A policy of selecting a variety of types is maintained whenever possible. Certain definite limitations to play selection must also be recognized: box office appeal, number and difficulty of sets called for, casting problems, and finances. One or another of these has been responsible for the rejection of many fine plays.

Once a play has been recommended by the reading committee and accepted by the executive committee, the task of casting begins. Tryouts are conducted, as being the most democratic method of casting. A director must be found who is skilled and who has the welfare and ideals of the organization at heart. Fortunate indeed is a group which can boast three local directors as fine as the Adventurers have had. An assistant director chosen from the active membership prompts, conducts line rehearsals, makes helpful notes during rehearsals, and is invaluable to the coach. After the director has spent a week or so blocking out the work, rehearsals begin, lasting usually about six weeks. A special effort is made to develop small parts, on the theory that they do much to make a show workmanlike.

Meanwhile the workshop is a beehive of activity. The crew learn to design the set, to build a working model to exact scale, to revise plans as necessary, to build set frames and cover and flame proof them, to paint the set. Set pieces must also be constructed. A few days before the performance, the back stage crew begin the rehearsals which enable them to set up and shift sets quickly and accurately.

The properties committees must provide the required furniture and hand props. Since the latter are used in rehearsals, those responsible must attend. Sound effects and lighting may both require hours of planning, experimentation, and construction. The costume committee must do research, collaborate with director and production manager, and be on hand for the dress rehearsal and the show itself. Correct character makeup must be provided, often under very trying backstage conditions.

While all this production activity is moving towards its climax the publicity and ticket committees must keep the show before the public and do everything possible to please the patrons. The press, the radio, poster display, the telephone, and the postal system, are all employed.

The average cost of show production has been approximately $250. Whenever practicable the money is spent locally. About $100 a year goes for rentals—the meeting rooms, the workshop, and the auditorium. Three years ago the club was without funds or property. Now there is on hand equipment to the value of about $800, exclusive of labor cost. The sinking fund is well on the way to completion. And this has been accomplished in the face of a reduction in the price of associate membership this year. This reduction was made as a gesture to the public who so generously support the club. That it was appreciated is attested to by the sound financial condition of the club and by the growing membership.

It is a matter for satisfaction to the club that disinterested outsiders whose judgment may be respected have repeatedly commented on the fact that the shows have been of a more finished, professional quality than is usual for amateur groups. Perhaps this is partly due to the application of all funds and personnel to productions rather than to member entertainment. Surely the Adventurers has earned the right to its title—a community theatre. Its memberships are drawn from the community, its work is done for the community. But in the final analysis it is the intelligent, whole-hearted support of the community which makes such high standards possible of achievement.

SMITH MANSION COMPLETELY RAZED

John Campbell and Bert Lyle have finally completed the work of razing the barn and mansion house of the old Peter D. Smith estate on Shawsheen road. This splendid estate on the road to West Andover, once one of the finest in town, is surrounded by much history associated with the Andover of two or more generations ago.

A reliable authority tells us that the house was built by Deacon Peter Smith about 1848. Broad rolling acres of farm lands and beautiful grounds surrounded the many buildings of the estate which at one time consisted of a mansion house, stable, greenhouse, cow barn, gardener's cottage and other small buildings, all of which were outlined on the street side by the neatly laid wall and high hedge familiar to at least three generations of Andover residents.

The Smith family have contributed much to the history of Andover, particularly in the West Parish where they took an active part in church affairs and all worth while community life.

Legion Juniors vs. No. Andover Sunday

The Andover Legion Juniors, after losing a 4-0 decision at Salem last Sunday, came back strong last night to tie East Lynn 5-5, with the tying run being scored in the last half of the last inning through a couple of clean bingles by Mac-Lauchlan and Bishop. Darkness halted the game about 8:40. Errors gave East Lynn an early lead, but in the last of the sixth Andover brought the score to 5-4, with Ferguson fanning the last visitor in the seventh to pull himself out of a hole.

Andover now has won four and lost three. The East Lynn team has been beaten but once to date. Next Wednesday Andover goes down there for a return engagement. This Sunday the North Andover team comes over here for a game at the Playstead.

Abbott-Corliss

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the West Parish church Saturday at 3:00 when Miss Wilma Frances Corliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Corliss of High Plain road, became the bride of Hartwell Brown Abbott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester D. Abbott, of Red Spring road. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Donald Savage of the West church and Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South church.

The bride, who was gowned in white frosted organdy over white taffeta, was given in marriage by her father and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and baby's breath. Miss Helen Corliss, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor and she wore white frosted organdy over rose taffeta. Mrs. John W. Hall, Jr., and Miss Priscilla Abbott, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids and they wore gowns of frosted organdy over green taffeta. Roger Huntress of Palmer, formerly of Andover, was best man.

The ushers were John W. Hall, Jr., George Zink, Alvin Zink, Jr., and John Collins. Miss Abbott, church organist, played the wedding marches. The church was very prettily decorated with delphinium, roses and syringa.

Following the wedding trip through the White Mountains, the couple will reside at 115 Red Spring road. Both are graduates of Pynchard, class of 1932, and the groom is a graduate of the Massachusetts State College.

Principals in one of Andover's many mid-June weddings: Anne Beer, Elizabeth Beer, Mrs. George H. Fish (Mary Beer), George H. Fish, Francis Carroll, John McMahon and William Reardon.

Bliss-Watts

Miss Vivian Watts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Watts of Chicago, became the bride of William Bliss, son of Mrs. William C. Bliss of Florence street, at a pretty ceremony in the chapel of St. Peter's Episcopal church in Chicago, June 19th.

Wearing a white frosted organdie gown in basque style and a finger-tip veil caught up with orange blossoms, the bride was attended by an aunt, Mrs. Henry M. Hedges of Illinois. She wore a blue frosted organdie gown and a picture hat. Her flowers were sweetheart roses. Mr. Hedges was the best man.

After the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip through the Great Lakes and New York. They spent the holiday week-end with Mr. Bliss's mother here, and they are now living in Boston.

The celebration started the evening before with a band concert, followed by block dancing. The bonfire at midnight, the only one in the vicinity, attracted crowds from miles around. Sports followed the early morning parade, and in the evening fireworks at 10:30 ended the program.

Sports Program

A softball and baseball game were held during the day, with the Andover team blanking the Vale team 4 to 0 in baseball and the Married Men edging the Single Men 14 to 13 in softball. The lineup:

"I KNEW MY BIRTHDAY WAS COMING—"

BUT all I said was 'Isn't the new Servel Electrolux a beauty?' I could have hugged him when he said, 'Let's get it in time for the party!' The new 1939 Gas Refrigerator is the best thing you've ever seen! But even more important (to us, at least) is the silent way it does its work, with NO

MOVING PARTS. Jim says no noise means no wear... and low operating cost that stays low. Do you wonder I'm so thrilled?"

Expect Circulation To Reach 115,000

The number of books issued at the Memorial Hall library during June was 7391. At Ballardvale, 695 were borrowed, making a total use for the month of 8086 volumes. This is an increase of 561 books over the corresponding month in 1938.

Just half the year of 1939 has passed. For the six months of 1939, the number of books borrowed for home use at the library is 57,639. This is an increase of 6076 books over the same period in 1938, and of 14414 over the use during 1937. At this rate, the library, which issued 99440 books during 1938, should reach 115,000 for 1939.

Many borrowers have already availed themselves of the vacation privileges. On request, books may be charged to become due upon September 15th. No new fiction may be taken in this way, nor any books which have been upon the shelves less than six months.
