Mansion On Hudson Subject Of Monodrama

Cornelia Otis Skinner will open the fall season of entertainments at Phillips Academy at Andover. Miss Skinner, presenting her costume monodrama "Mansion on the Hudson" will appear in George Washington Hall at the school on Friday evening, October 6, at 8:30. The public is invited to attend.

Now at the top of her career as a one woman show, and already making a name for herself as an actress with a supporting company, Cornelia Otis Skinner is famous on both sides of the Atlantic for her character sketches and her more elaborate costume monologues including "The Loves of Charles II," "Edna, His Wife" and "The Empress Eugenie."

Daughter of a famous father, she decided early in life to make her own reputation without the aid of her father's name and this she has done. With the production of "Edna, His Wife" from the novel by Margaret Ayer Barnes she reached the peak of success in the field of the one woman show and is now interesting herself in regular plays

Knights Of Columbus Probably To Continue

A goodly number of members of the local Knights of Columbus met last night to discuss the question of the future of the Council. The announced possibility of disbanding found the members eager to do everything possible to continue the Council, and another meeting will be held next Thursday to further reorganization plans.

English Exchange Students Arrive

Reported not due to come at all and delayed three times in their sailing, two students from England arrived at Phillips academy last week-end. The boys are Alexander Grove-White, and Robert William Clifford.

Three Phillips boys are definitely unable to carry out the exchange by going to England.

The Sunday program will include attendance at the Episcopal and Congregational services in Andover in the morning. Senior teas in the afternoon, when the Seniors will be at home to the rest of the school, and the weekly vesper service at 7:30. The service will be conducted by Miss Hearsey, the Principal, who will also be the speaker. Friends of the school are cordially invited to attend this opening service.

Prof. Emerson To Give Lecture On U. S. Neutrality

Professor Rupert Emerson of Harvard University, who will be the speaker at the first fall luncheon meeting of the Andover League of Women Voters on Monday, is well qualified to treat his subject, "American Neutrality." Professor Emerson took his Ph.D. degree from the London School of Economics, and is now Associate Professor in the Department of Government at Harvard, specializing in international affairs. He is also the author of two books: "Malaysia," and "State and Sovereignty in Modern Germany."

The Andover League expects a large crowd to hear Professor Emerson. The luncheon will be at the Andover Country Club, at 12:45 P. M. Mrs. Harold Rutter is in charge of the arrangements committee, Mrs. John Barss, first vice-president of the League, will preside at the meeting, and among those who will be at the head table are Mrs. Claude M. Fuess and Miss Marguerite Hearsey. Annual dues, which this year are $2, will be payable at this meeting.

Plan Election Of Tax Directors For October 9th

Ballots To Be Mailed Out To All Members For First Time In Years

Plans to start the 1939-1940 Tax-payers' association year with an election of directors to be held on Monday evening, October 9, were formulated at a meeting of the present directors at the town house Monday evening. Within the next few days ballots will be mailed to all the members of the passing year, to be returned by October 9.

This is the first time that ballots have been sent out since the association was reorganized a few years ago. It was felt by the directors that since annual business meetings usually hold little of interest to members, it would be well to give as many as possible an opportunity to express their preference for officers. Later the annual reports may be sent out to the members.

Cards are to be sent to members this year as they pay their one dollar dues entitling them to attend the association meetings. No one will be allowed at the open meetings unless he is a member.

Seven directors are to be elected for three years, and a secretary and a treasurer for one year.

Garden Club To Meet On Tuesday

The opening meeting of the Andover Garden club will be held Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the November clubhouse. Alexander Heimlich will speak on "Ledge Gardening." There will be an exhibit of Fall bouquets by club members. Mrs. Henry S. Hopper is chairman of the exhibit committee. Afternoon tea will be served.

Members will please note the change from the usual hour of meeting.

—Albert Hulme, who has for some time been employed by the Tyer Rubber Co., has begun a three-year course at the Harvard Dental school.

—"Your company is respectfully requested at the Andover Electric station, on Wednesday evening, September 25, at 8 o'clock," were the words on a neat card which was received by a large number of our citizens this week. On the knoll near the station, an arc light was suspended, tables had been placed, and everyone was invited to partake of steamed clams and lobsters served with green corn, boiled eggs, sweet potatoes and hot coffee. Verses below, taken from the "Book of Andover" will no doubt be found interesting in this connection.

"One old Patriarch, whose days were many in the land, by name of George F. Holt, preached unto the young men and maidens, saying, 'Woe unto ye, ye roosters on stone walls and fences, and ye seekers after dark places, for I say unto you, great is your punishment: know ye this day darkness is dispelled in Andover, for there is a great light spread abroad in our land—Electric Light.'

"Rejoice, my brethren, for the blessing we have brought you... Therefore let there be rejoicing and feasting and a wonderful clambake."

Brigadier-General
Asks Preparedness

"In no war were we ever actually prepared to take the field," generalized Brigadier General Walter I. Rose of the Massachusetts National Guard in his speech stressing the necessity of preparedness at the Service Club meeting last Thursday in the Square and Compass Club. General Rose went on to point out the needless loss of lives in the last World War that were directly traceable to unpreparedness, inability to use rifles and gas masks correctly. "As a result," the speaker said, "our men were slaughtered."

General Rose referred to the pacifist as a sincere yet incorrectly informed citizen. "The soldier is the true pacifist," he said, "for he alone knows the real horrors of war." Strong military organizations are the necessary protection against war.

Besides the many members present at the meeting, which was the first of the fall season, there were a number of guests: General Rose, Lt. Col. Basil D. Spaulding of Quincy of the regular army, Major Kenneth McKillop of Medford of the National Guard; Earl E. James, guest of Harold G. Bowen; Clifford P. Wadman, guest of his father, Harry W. Wadman, and Ralph C. Sturke, guest of Milton Blanchard.

Popular Young Man Killed In Crash

(Surette Studio)

The Andover by-pass claimed another life last Saturday afternoon when Francis J. McDonough of 49 Elm street died at the Lawrence General hospital shortly after his car collided with a truck about a quarter of a mile from the North Andover line. The young man never regained consciousness. His death came as a severe shock to his many friends and to the friends of his bride of a year, the former Dorothy O'Connor who is the popular bookkeeper at the Andover News company.

The cause of the accident may never be known, although it is apparent from the tire-marks and from the truck-driver's story that the McDonough car went out of control either because there may have been some mechanical defect or because the driver, who had been working nights, may have dozed off at the wheel. His car, a convertible sedan, was headed toward Boston when the truck came over a hill. The operator states that the sedan came into the center lane and then over onto the third lane directly in his path. Tire marks showed Mr. McDonough's and the truck driver's desperate efforts to avoid the crash. The sedan went off onto the soft shoulder on the wrong side of the road and then back it swung to the center of the road, with the driver apparently thinking the truck would pull to the right. But the truck driver thought that the sedan would stay over on the shoulder and he too pulled to the center, hitting the sedan broadside. Its momentum pushed the sedan sideways about 14 yards across the road over onto the soft shoulder on the opposite side. The picture above shows how completely smashed the car was, with the left side practically hitting against the right. The bumper of the truck was hooked in the sedan's steering-wheel.

The fire department ambulance was called and made the futile trip to the hospital.

It was Andover's second automobile fatality of the year, a Reading teacher having been killed when she was pinned against a tree by her own car. It was the second serious accident that Mr. McDonough had been in; while only a youngster, he received a severe head injury when he was hit by a train in the Lawrence yards.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by three sisters, Mrs.

Holts From Far And Near Attend Reunion

The Holt Association of America held its 12th annual summer reunion in New England at Andover on Sunday. About sixty members attended morning worship at the West Parish church, where both the music and the sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Donald H. Savage, were most suitable to the occasion.

Following the service, the family group strolled about on the lawn, renewing old friendships and making new acquaintances, then gathered in the parish house for luncheon. Mrs. William Trow and her loyal helpers, ladies of the parish, had prepared coffee and other delicious additions to the box lunches brought by the members.

At two o'clock the annual summer meeting was called to order by William Trow, vice-president for New England. Mr. Trow served as chairman throughout the meeting, greeted the members, gave a brief outline of the historical setting for the reunion, then introduced in turn the President, Mrs. Edith Holt Tydeman of Easton, Pa., the secretary, Mrs. Helen Holt McLaughlin of Meriden, Conn., and Charles Tapley of Danvers, who read an extract from the book, "The First Three Generations of Holts in America," relating to the history of the old Holt homestead on Holt's Hill, owned by Mrs. Charles Ward.

The meeting was made very short, including, in addition to reports of the officers already mentioned, the report of the Chairman of Membership, Miss Hattie F. Holt of Nashua, N. H., whose service in her department is an achievement of which the Association is indeed proud.

Then came the visit to the old home on Holt's Hill, where "Cousin Mabel" Ward greeted all with her usual generous hospitality. Several additional members joined the group on the hill, and together with Mrs. Ward and her aides, all dressed in Colonial costumes, made a picture never to be forgotten. Several young people acted as guides to lead the hill-climbers to the spot on the top of Holt's Hill, where Mrs. Ward has erected a very unusual memorial to her husband. This monument is in the form of solstice stones, arranged about a giant mill stone so as to mark the spring and fall solstices.

After the climb all were again welcomed to the charming old home and enjoyed cider and dainty refreshments. A long, perfect day of sunshine, joyful reunions, and promises of other happy days to come had ended, and regretfully the "cousins" found their way down to the highways, feeling refreshed by another cherished experience in the little town of their ancestors, and well repaid for the long hours of travel that led them to Old Andover for a glimpse into the life that used to be, and for a renewal of faith and courage so needed today, and in the days to come.

James W. Carney of Shawsheen and Mrs. Eugene McAteer and Mrs. Charles M. Breen of Lawrence.

A high mass of requiem was offered in St. Augustine's church Tuesday morning by Rev. Francis J. Carroll. Louis J. Scanlon, Charles O'Neil and Margaret T. Murphy rendered selections, with Miss Annie G. Donovan playing the funeral music.

The bearers: Edward Garvin, James Carney, George Delaney, Walworth Johnson, James T. Platt, and Eugene McAteer.

Burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery, with Father Carroll being assisted by Fathers Austin and Smith.

—Dr. Carrie P. Bacon has returned from a trip to New York where she attended the convention of the New York Cosmotologists and visited the World's Fair.

—Miss Phyllis Burrige, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Burrige of Bancroft road, has resumed her studies at Katherine Gibbs secretarial school in Boston.

Legion To Install On Next Thursday

Dea whose term of office has given the Andover Legion such a prominent place in state Legion circles. Mr. Holt is the father of H. Garrison Holt, Jr., who was the first captain of the local Sons of Legion squadron.

Other officers to be installed are: first vice commander, George C. Napier; second vice commander, Alfred Coates; adjutant, Joseph A. McCarthy; finance officer, Harold L. Peters; chaplain, Lewis N. Mears; historian, Scott H. Paradise; sergeant-at-arms, George W. Wilcox; service officer, Frank P. Mark ey; executive committee, Thomas P. Dea, Albert E. Curtis and Arthur E. Steinert.

With the transportation difficulties, apparent because of the war, importation of Cleercoal becomes increasingly difficult. Our Colonial Anthracite comes the nearest of any American coal we know of as a substitute—a truly economical blended coal with a low ash content.

To Hold N. E. Competition Here November 4 Drill Teams, All Women, To Take Part In Affair At Local Auditorium

Clan Johnston and the Ladies' Auxiliary will hold the New England Drill and Degree team competition in Andover on Saturday, November 4, in the Memorial auditorium. Many teams from New England, New York, New Jersey and Canada will be present to take part in the competition. It will be remembered that the Andover team has twice been selected as the international champions, and will seek claim to the title again this year. This is something new in the way of entertainment for Andover and should prove most enjoyable for all attending.

Each team has from 12 to 20 members, all ladies. All teams are uniformed and present a beautiful sight as they march around the hall in formation, making human letters and figures and doing maneuvers of all sorts. They are judged very strictly by army officers, the same way they judge their troops in smartness, dress, time and straightness of lines.

Officers from the Lawrence and Lowell armories will act as judges. Cups and trophies which have been donated by our local, suburban and state officials, will be awarded to the winning teams. The cups and trophies will be on display in local merchants' windows as soon as they are ready.

General dancing will follow the competition, music being furnished by Hastings Orchestra, Boston.

—John Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gallagher of 105 Main street, has begun his studies at Tufts college where he is taking a liberal arts course.

EDITORIAL

Shall We Aid Mass Murder?

One of the best tests of neutrality is whether the other fellow thinks you're being neutral, because if he doesn't, the chances are that it won't be long before you're placed in a situation where you're actively non-neutral. Possibly President Roosevelt thinks the United States would be really neutral if we sold arms to belligerents and necessarily only to certain belligerents, but over across the Atlantic the totalitarian powers feel that if such a situation is to be called neutrality, the word needs redefining.

The neutrality bill at present running the Congressional gauntlet is a queer one. Yesterday the owners of American ship lines protested because they would be unable to transport such innocent things as fruit even to possessions of belligerent nations far from the scene of the present crazy conflict. But the bill will allow foreign ships to enter our ports and load on munitions to kill each other with. Those nations today aren't following any rules of international law or any rules of fair play, and if this provision went through, it would not be at all surprising if in some mysterious way an English, German, Russian, or French ship were to blow up in New York harbor, or if a munitions dump in our own borders were to be exploded in some unexplained way. The latter happened before in the World War; it can happen again, and after a few such incidents we'll have the same big chip on our shoulders that brought our boys to their death over there in 1917 and 1918.

That whole mad melange over there is something that we'd better steer clear of. It is none of our business; let's not make it our business. Let their ships come and buy foodstuffs, clothing, etc., to keep their civilian population alive, but let us not sell them anything to help kill anyone. We'd be participating in mass murder, and that can't be right under any conditions. Those munitions that the President wants us to sell would be loaded with boomerangs.

Congress is meeting and talking about munitions. Don't you suppose that among these 531 men whom we elect there's one who might be thinking of striving to bring those countries to peace? Isn't someone down there going to offer a resolution asking those war-mad countries, without implying blame against any one of them, to halt operations for say 90 days and to send delegates to a conference over here? Maybe it wouldn't work, but it's worth trying.

Works Of Dunlap At Addison Gallery

Art of a century ago, best exemplified by the prolific works of William Dunlap (1766-1839) are now on exhibition in the Addison gallery until October 29. Dunlap's talents included paintings, playwriting and producing, and historical writings, excelling in criticisms of the arts.

One of the rooms has been entirely given over to his portraits and although he describes portrait paintings as "pot-boiling" and a "waste of genius" his paintings of Robert Taylor, John Adams Constant, Mrs. Benjamin Woolsey and others, which include a self-portrait, are masterpieces in characterization and depth of expression. Another room displays his water colors, miniatures, and a case of some of his famous writings.

As a connoisseur of the arts at that time, he especially commends the value of the historical painting because it "conveys to rising generations invaluable lessons of religion, love of country and morality." Landscape falls into second place and from this type of painting he demands strict "truth to nature in drawing and color." His criticisms in relation to the works of artists such as Stuart Cole, Ingham, Trumbull, Allston and Morse.

reflect the feeling of his age, and pictures by these men accompanied by quotations from Dunlap's "A History of the Rise and Progress of the Arts of Design in the United States" simplify a study of the works of that period.

The artists represented in the exhibit, including Dunlap, were strongly influenced by West, and that master's "Destruction of the Beast and the False Prophet" has also been contributed to the exhibition.

Dear Ed—

Once more I'll have to beg off writing a column because instead of spending last night at the key hole, I went to see "The Rains Came" and to quote the enthusiastic person sitting in back of me... "I never see such scenes, I tell you"...the idea that it takes two to make an argument is just so much hearsay...I tell you, I never hear the picture...I tell you it was discourseting...

Have you seen Chief Emerson's new car?...His purchase was influenced by the trade name, I think, although he didn't get any guarantee that it would Dodge state walls any better than his last...

Speaking of Dodgers, Bill Jaquith's ability must be automatic... The other morning with his head buried in...Well, let's say it was the Townsman...and with cars to the left and right of him, he walked safely across Main street...opened the door of his car and still reading his paper started to climb in...but the front seat was already occupied...Herb Chase sat as coolly behind the wheel as if it were his car...It was his car...and since there's no insurance policy that offers a solution for accidental embarrassment caused by mistaken identity, "Bill" had to shift for himself...he put himself in reverse, backed out of the car with his hat raised and sped up the street to his own...I tell you, I never see such suffusion...

Frank J. Drouin isn't suffering from mistaken identity...he's not suffering from anything unless it's extreme astonishment...Just because at one time the telephone company gave him 342 for a number, instead of 432 or whatever your number is...he received a draft for $1,000...I tell you, I never see such a draft coming in my window...Maybe we've been humming the wrong tune...maybe we should be singing Tum-tee-tummm instead of Whata'nda-choo...

Officer Stevens has not only been steeling off to Flint's Riding Stables for a gallop but now he's attending Horse Shows. I tell you, I can-ter-magine anything more...oh, well, maybe you'll sit in front of some one like that some time too...and whether the rains come in gentle pitter patters or whether they come in torrents with thunder and earthquakes, you won't hear anything but the stream of conversation in back of you...but I tell you, you never see such scenes...

Kulck Has High Triple In League's Season Opening

Andover's bowling league opened Monday evening with matches continuing through Tuesday evening. The only change in teams was the substitution of Hood's Milk for the Service Club.

The standing to date:

Hood's	0	4	.000
Greeley's	0	4	.000
British Vets	0	4	.000

High triples to date: Kulck, (Laundry), 370; P. Doherty (Coal), 355; J. Fettes (Boys' Club), 352.

High singles: Fettes 140; Kulck 137; Doherty 137; Williams (Rep. 1) 135.

Academy To Start Season Saturday

Phillips academy will meet the Nichols Junior college eleven at two Saturday in the first game of the year. In early scrimmages with the Jayvees the academy eleven looked pretty good, a weakness in pass defense being the only glaring difficulty.

Coach Sorota is pretty well-decided on the lineup, with the exception of Jack Fisher who may start in place of Brennan at end or Seekins at center. The backfield probably will be Burke, Harris, Anderson and McLaughry, with Keuffel probably seeing considerable action. Others in the line will be Hoopes at end, Constantine and Fisher tackles, and Hart and Macomber guards.

AMESBURY MAY PROVIDE STIFF BATTLE

Stocks snaring a Storey high ball carrier last Saturday, with Haggerty being blocked out in the fore ground. (Surette Studio)

With one victory under its belt, a victory that was so easy that it really proves nothing, Punchard high travels to Amesbury Saturday to meet a team that looks as if it will provide stiff opposition. Last week the Amesbury team fought to a 0-0 tie with Methuen, which the week before had held Lawrence high to a 7-0 score. Last year Methuen defeated Punchard and this year it looks stronger than last.

The Amesbury team has a rugged aggressive line, nearly as heavy as Punchard's but less rangy. Outstanding are Perkins at left tackle, and Frost at center, with the Papoulias brothers, Nick and Alex, real threats in the backfield. The team, using a typical Notre Dame offense with shift and flexing ends, makes up in fight what it lacks in ability. It made the only serious scoring threat in the game last Saturday when after recovering a Methuen fumble it made a couple of first downs only to lose the ball on the three-yard line.

Punchard has not played Amesbury for about five years, when it won convincingly. Coach Lovely plans to start the same line-up as last week: Simmers le; Renny lt; Brown lg; MacL auch'an c; Collins rg; MacMackin rt; Deyermond re; Muller qb; Haggerty lh; Noyes rh; Anderson fb.

The Storey team proved a surprise last week. The management thought that Punchard had a tough game at the outset since Storey's teams the last few years have rated pretty well. But Punchard had no trouble in winning 39-0. Coach Lovely found many errors in his team's play, but the opposition provided no basis for judging just what the team can do. The line averages over 160 pounds, heavy for a high school, while the backs come close to 160.

Andover 342 Proves One Grand Number

Frank Drouin's telephone paid for itself for the next 30 years Tuesday night. The bell rang and he answered. Over the wires came a voice: "Congratulations, you're the winner of $1,000."

Frank, who lives at 115 Abbot street, is not particularly gullible, however, and with considerable skepticism he went back and told his family and friends that someone had called and said that he had won $1,000. But before long he was able to believe the story. His telephone started ringing; friends from everywhere started calling him to congratulate him. One call came in from Detroit, another from Hartford. Then came evidence which could not be doubted: Western Union called from Boston to say that they had a $1,000 draft waiting for him and it would be forwarded to the Andover office in the morning. Morning came and so did the draft.

It was stomach-aches that really started the whole thing. If it hadn't been for after-dinner distress, etc., Tums never would have been put on the market, and if that had not happened, there would have been no Tums company to stage a radio program in which a telephone number was drawn from thousands of numbers selected at random all over the country. The plan, as it is understood here, is that if the person whose number is selected answers the 'phone in one minute, he receive $1,000; if he does not answer within the minute, he receives only $100.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith of Boston really deserve some of the credit for the cash. Mr. Drouin had planned to go out Tuesday night, but the Smiths dropped in for a visit. Had he gone out, he would have been out—$900.

The next morning a photographer arrived from Boston to take Mr. Drouin's picture. There also arrived another 'phone call, this one from a doubter in Providence who was willing to pay a toll to find out if the program was on the level. Mr. Drouin, having just received the draft, was very convincing in his answer.

A furniture-maker and restorer of old furniture, Mr. Drouin has a wife and four children, two of whom are in school. Especially for their sake is Mr. Drouin glad that Andover 342 brought him 100,000 pennies from heaven.

Champion Globe
 Trotter In Visit

"I'm the champion globe-trotter of the world."

We looked up from an ad we were laying out, and there he stood in front of the desk. "You are?" was the only thing we could think of to fill the gap left by the young man's very momentous announcement. He was rather a personable fellow, clean-cut, with b'ond hair that was clean but not cut—as long behind as it was sparse before.

Naturally we were honored by the visit, although we wondered momentarily if the reason for the visit might be a little touching. But it seems all the world's champion globe trotter wanted of us was to borrow our typewriter for a half hour to finish a story.

While he was wearing off the tops of his two index fingers, he left us a clipping from a Worcester newspaper to read. It had his picture and quite a story about the man who had decided he was going to be another Richard Halliburton. That and his championship title, however, were only aspirations. At present he is headed for Alaska, and having taken a couple of weeks to get from Worcester to Andover, he informed us that it would be probably 1941 instead of 1940 that he would arrive in Nome. He uses the rule of thumb method of transportation. If he ever becomes another Halliburton, he will probably give the credit to three things: two index fingers and one thumb.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westcott were tendered a surprise party in honor of their silver anniversary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Judge of Summer street last Thursday. The couple received two purses of silver and a set of silver from their friends and relatives. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. George J. York and Mrs. Homer Judge.

John P. Alexander entertained with dancing and singing.

L. G. and E. Starts Drive For Safety

At exactly 12:01 A. M. Sunday morning over 8,100 employees of New England Power Association system, of which the Lawrence Gas and Electric company is a unit, will start upon the system's annual safety drive, held each year during October.

October has been selected as the month for the safety drive, because past experience has shown that it is during this month that accident frequency rate is highest in industrial and commercial establishments throughout the country.

On Monday morning each employee of the local company will find on his desk or locker a safety card containing a brief message about "playing it safe" on the job. Other reminders will appear before him as he goes about his day's work, each designed to make him safety conscious during this dangerous month.

Various reasons have been given as the cause of the high accident frequency rate in October, and one of the most commonly expressed is the shortness of the days and the early setting in of darkness. Highway statistics bear this out and particular stress has been given to the importance of proper lighting of company cars, offices and plants so that every possible hazard will be eliminated.

The main objective of the system's more than 8,100 employees during the October drive will be to better the campaign of 1935, when one accident in the entire New England Power Association system marred an otherwise perfect record. Each of the 398 persons employed by the Lawrence Gas and Electric company has pledged himself to be extremely careful during the 31 days of October. Other companies are following suit in this united attempt to beat "Ole Man Accident."

What's more, she knows it is far cheaper to commute by train.

If you are one of the less fortunate girls who have been depending on hit and miss transportation that has you "on the carpet" for being late only too often, why don't you acquire this sensible girl's habit of commuting by train? Do it now, for the sake of yourself, your boss, and your family.
