Andover Townsman

Andover everywhere and always, first, last—the manly, straightforward, sober, patriotic New England Town—PHILLIPS BROOKS

5 Cents—$2 Per Year

ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS, OCTOBER 5, 1939

Volume LII—Number 52

Nominate Seven

As T P A Directors

Ballots were mailed out this week to all members of the Andover Taxpayers' association for the election of directors and other officers, the result to be determined by a count at the annual meeting next Monday evening.

The ballots contained the names of those nominated by the nominating committee consisting of Mitchell Johnson, Joseph Burns and Carleton Kimball. Seven directors are nominated for a three-year term, as follows: Bernard L. McDonald, Edmond E. Hammond, Wallace E. Brimer, Joseph T. Gagne, George Brown of the Board of Health, Walter E. Curtis and James L. Toohey. Elmer J. Grover is renominated as secretary, and Frank R. Petty is nominated as treasurer to succeed the late Frederick S. Boutwell whose duties have been carried on by the secretary since his death in the spring.

A meeting of the directors will be held Monday night at which time a president and vice-president will be named.

Court To Rule

On Shaw Removal

A final decision in the case of former officer William R. Shaw will be rendered shortly by justice Albion G. Pierce of the District court who held a hearing Tuesday on the officer's petition for a review of the proceedings. The justice is awaiting a brief from Shaw's lawyer.

Town counsel Arthur Sweeney stated that the first action of the selectmen in suspending the officer was in error, in that the procedure used was that for removing any municipal officer. However, the procedure specifically to be applied to police officers was later followed. Shaw's attorney claimed that the officer was automatically restored to his position on June 29 because of the improper removal.

S R O For Skinner

Monodrama Friday

George Washington hall is very nearly sold out for the performance of Cornelia Otis Skinner for tomorrow night. Already some temporary seats have been sold. In addition to the very heavy public demand, there has been an unusual number of academy boys buying tickets.

Adventurers To Meet

"Dramatics on the Radio" will be the subject of the guest speaker at the first fall meeting of the Adventurers to be held Monday night, October 9, at eight o'clock. Plans for the year will be outlined at the business meeting.

The committee will stage a one act comedy. All associate members are invited to attend.

WOMEN TO SEW FOR RED CROSS

Many women in Andover are forming groups to do sewing and knitting for the Red Cross War Relief work. The Red Cross rooms at 3 Main Street will be open from 2 to 6 P. M., on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays to give out materials and instructions, and for those women who wish to sew at the rooms.

Consider Purchase

Of Snow Plows

The Board of Public Works has been spending considerable time recently on the purchase of new snow plows to be used with the new fleet of trucks. There is a possibility that a different type of plow will be bought than those used in the past, one which is curved sufficiently so that it rolls the snow over and off to the side instead of merely butting up against it.

The Board hopes that the new trucks will show a great saving on snow removal this year.

Republicans To Talk

About Fake Claims

"Fake Claims," will be the subject to be discussed by the speakers tonight at the meeting of the Young Men's Republican club in the National Bank building. But you guessed wrong: it's not fake political claims—it's fake insurance claims.

The first fake claim to be dispensed with will be the previous announcement that Dr. Charles Currier would speak on "Socialized Medicine" at the meeting. Dr. Currier will instead speak at the November meeting.

The speakers will be: Everett B. Mersereau of the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York, on "Stock Companies vs. Fake Claims"; Raymond Pearl, North Andover, general counsel on life insurance, on "Fake Life Insurance Claims"; John M. MacKenzie of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, on "Fake Industrial and Fire Claims." A general discussion will follow.

Movies of the big football games of 1938-39 will be shown by Donald Court of Shawsheen.

To Attend Congress Of Recreation Ass'n

A number of Andover residents are planning to attend the National Recreation Association's 24th annual Congress to be held at the Statler October 9 to 13. Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, chairman of the Guild directors, has been appointed by Governor Saltonstall as one of the hosts. Playground and guild boards and instructors are planning to attend in addition to some of the local school teachers. Anyone else who is interested may attend.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS SANBORN RESIGNS BECAUSE OF ILL HEALTH

Becomes Effective Nov. 1st; Mr. Hamblin To Assist This Month

Henry C. Sanborn, superintendent of schools for the past 22 years, under whose administrative leadership Punchard high school, the Junior high and the auditorium-gymnasium were built, on Tuesday night tendered his resignation to the school committee because of illness. The resignation which was accepted with great regret, will take effect on November first. In the meantime Principal Nathan C. Hamblin of the high school will assist Mr. Sanborn. Although nothing has been done definitely about a successor, there is a possibility that Mr. Hamblin may serve as acting superintendent until the end of the school year, thus allowing the committee more time to choose a suitable man for the post.

Mr. Sanborn's letter of resignation follows:

October 2, 1939

To the School Committee Ladies and Gentlemen:

I herewith tender my resignation to take place November 1, 1939. I regret very much that I have to tender my resignation at this time just as schools are beginning another year, and when there are so many things to be looked after. Nevertheless, for the sake of my own health and the welfare of the schools I feel that I should do this.

I owe much to the present school committee, both collectively and individually, for the pleasure and happiness of my work in Andover. There should be included in this list the many individual members of the committee in the past who are no longer serving in that capacity. Owing to the thoughtfulness and kindness of those who have worked with me, I have had for twenty-two years the most exceptional pleasure in my various contacts and labor.

Very truly yours,
HENRY C. SANBORN
Superintendent of Schools

The superintendent was quite seriously ill several years ago, but had apparently regained much of his previous strength. Only three weeks ago he told the Townsman that he was feeling well and was looking forward to his final three years as superintendent. However, since then he was again taken ill and this prompted his decision.

Prior to the announced resignation Mr. Hamblin's salary had been raised $100 in recognition of his years of service.

News of Other Days

Fifty Years Ago

—The Si Plunkard Company which was advertised to appear in the Town Hall, Wednesday night, failed to show up. Quite a number were at the door waiting entrance.

—One of the incandescent lamps used in the street lighting was broken on Thursday night, evidently the work of boys. The Electric Company promptly offers a reward for the conviction of any such mischief makers.

—Pray conveyed a party to the Lawrence Opera House, Friday night to witness the "Dark Secret."

—In the yard of Mrs. Doherty's property on Harding street is a tree laden with Baldwin apples and right in the midst, this week, was noticed a fine cluster of apple blossoms, quite a rare thing for this time of year.

—Ripe strawberries were picked from vines on Mr. Joseph Shaw's place Sunday and several plants are in bloom.

—Mr. Joseph Kintz's large and handsome cat has been lost or stolen.

Twenty-five Years Ago

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Thomas of South Orange, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jeannette Ogden Thomas, to Edward Barton Chapin of this town.

—Miss Florence Kimball of the Andover Savings Bank returned to Andover, Monday, after a two weeks' vacation spent in Kearsarge, N. H.

—Kenneth Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Foster, of Summer street, has resumed his studies at the Boston School of Fine Arts.

—Mr. and Mrs. Nathan C. Hamblin spent last Saturday at Barnstable on the Cape.

—J. Everett Collins, who has been behind the bat for the Manchester, Mass., baseball team, completed his work last Saturday, his team winning the North Shore championship from the K. O. K. A. team of Gloucester.

—The hose wagon has been brought down from the Center and placed in the Ballardvale engine house together with the pair of horses that go with it. This gives the local hose company as good, if not better, equipment than any village of its size in the state.

Ten Years Ago

—Miss Margaret Stewart of Old Kilpatrick, Dumbartonshire, Scotland, arrived recently on the Cunard liner, Caledonia, and is now making her home with her aunt, Miss Agnes Stuart of Main street.

—Miss Lucy Sanborn of Morton street has resumed her studies at Bryn Mawr.

—William Harnedy has returned to his home on Summer street after spending two weeks in Savannah, Georgia.

Wheaton Club Holds First Meeting In Lowell

The Merrimack Valley Wheaton club opened their season last Friday evening with a meeting held at the home of Miss Barbara and Miss Helen Fisher in Lowell, Miss Jane Sullivan of Lawrence presided over the business. On October 20th a telephone bridge will be held to raise money for a scholarship fund. During the month of November the club will sponsor an exhibit of the drawings and models of the proposed art center at Wheaton, which last year won the architectural contest held to determine who should be the architects of this building and which will be the basis for the plans when the center is actually started. At present the winning architects are at work on the Student-Alumnae Building for which the college and its alumnae have planned and worked for so long. The exhibit of drawings will be held in connection with the modern architectural exhibit at the Addison Gallery during November.

The meeting closed with a talk by Miss Emma B. Brown, a Wheaton alumna and supervisor of district nurses at the Lawrence General hospital, who discussed the interesting problems met in the field of public health nursing.

Andover members present were: Mrs. F. Tyler Carlton, Miss Margaret Snow, Miss Ruth Whitehill, Mrs. Donald Savage and Mrs. Otis C. Severance.

—Miss Ella Holt has returned to Andover for a few weeks after spending the summer with relatives in Unity, Me.

Professor Emerson Discusses Embargo

"The embargo on arms and implements of war is the major point of conflict in Congress and in all discussion of our neutrality legislation today." So said Professor Rupert Emerson of Harvard University in his talk on American neutrality at a luncheon meeting held by the Andover League of Women Voters on Monday.

"There is general agreement," Professor Emerson said, "that the United States should adopt the cash and carry policy in trade with the belligerents, that is, that goods sold should be paid for before they leave this country, and should be carried away in ships belonging to the purchaser. This cash and carry policy is a provision of the bill now before Congress, and it was originally a part of the Neutrality Law of 1937.
Other provisions common to both bills forbid American citizens to travel in belligerent areas or on belligerent ships, and forbid loans or credits to belligerent countries.
The new bill, however, carries a provision for 90-day credits to be offered to belligerents on goods bought here.

"The conflict now raging in Congress is mainly over whether the embargo on arms and implements of war shall be lifted so that these, as well as other goods, shall be sold to belligerents under the cash and carry system."

After outlining the arguments for and against the arms embargo, Professor Emerson discussed the probable effects of lifting it. He pointed out that it would not add to the volume or value of American business as much as is generally supposed, since business is already showing a great increase through trade with England and France even under the embargo, and since the major part of our trade with these countries in war time is in other goods than munitions, which account for only 10 or 12 per cent of the total trade.
The effect on the Allies would be an immediate ability to buy airplanes in this country. "Airplanes are the vital need of England and France at this time," he stated,
"for their own munitions industries are able to supply them with other arms at a sufficient rate to keep up with German production."

In speaking of the embargo as a matter of American policy, Professor Emerson stated that a large body of the public feels that it would be a real loss to the world and to the democratic form of government if the Allies were defeated, and that England and France serve as a bulwark for us against the dictatorial system of Europe. It is to the American interest, he said, to see that German influence is not spread, and since,

by lifting the embargo on arms,
we could aid England and France to stop its spread, it would be good policy for America to lift the embargo.

About ninety women, members and friends of the League, attended the luncheon meeting, which was held at the Andover Country club. Preceding Dr. Emerson, Mrs. A. Graham Baldwin of Andover, who is first vice-president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, spoke for a few minutes on the necessity for strengthening our defenses at home today by improving our democratic institutions and working for better government and fair working conditions. "The League of Women Voters," she said, "calls all women who feel this necessity, to work with it in preserving and strengthening our democracy here at home."

Many members renewed their membership in the League at this meeting, and others joined for the first time. Membership may be renewed or taken out through Mrs.
Isaac Brockbank, Treasurer. Members were also presented with a tentative list of study groups in five fields proposed for the coming year.

—Mrs. Andrew Hamilton and sons

"Our Ration Cards Come Later"

"My porter rang me up at 11 Sunday to take cover...I hope you will never hear that beastly siren. It walls right into the solar plexus, sets the heart to racing, vibrates through every nerve and turns the legs to spaghetti...at 3 a. m. came the next warning.

"Just to live a bit longer is the whole object of one's life now... At sunset all England is so black there is nothing to do...Our ration cards come later...I have a very smart bag in which to carry a mask, a bottle of iodine, a shot of brandy, aspirin, bandages, chocolate, crackers, cigarettes, matches, a torch and what have you... When the wind is in the right direction, quite plainly we can hear the guns on the Franco-German front.

"Some seem to think it will be a short snappy war with some sudden finish. Let us all hope so. This horrible slaughter and all the misery is certainly not going to help the world."

This letter, published in the Littleton (N. H.) Courier, pictures how people feel in what was once the peaceful English countryside—a peace that is marred now by sirens and by the sound of guns, to say nothing of that internal disquietude caused by the feeling that tomorrow you and your family and friends may be dead or maimed for life. But that peace needn't be marred, if only people, including our own, will use their heads instead of their guns.

Down in Washington at present the proponents of embargo repeal use as one of their arguments the feeling that if we supply England and France with munitions, it will help them rid the world of the inhumanity brought about by Stalin and Hitler. Of course the next logical step is that we can also aid this way by sending over our young men to take part in this crusade. But why should we do either? Why should they, over there, continue this struggle? Why shouldn't they conduct this crusade by helping the German people instead of killing them?

France has, justifiably, a fear complex of Germany. Because of that in the Versailles peace treaty she did everything in her power to keep Germany down, mainly by creating and reviving buffer states around Germany. Lloyd George, a member of the Versailles group, in his book speaks of this, and doubts that Poland should have been such a large nation, containing Germans and Russians within its border. And in 1923, to make Germany pay a punitive war debt that would help starve its citizens, France sent troops into the Ruhr district to seize 80% of Germany's coal, to drive out 147,000 Germans, to deport 19,000 German officials. Incidents such as these sowed the seed for Hitler and Hitlerism.

Why won't they have a peace based on real economic security for all nations? France would be far more secure with a Germany whose people, happy and well-fed instead of being driven by hunger and by desperation, would not fly to madmen like Hitler to help them out of their plight.

Obituary

Mrs. Emma Holden

The funeral of Mrs. Emma (Hadfield) Holden, widow of the late James Holden of this town, was held in the Lundgren funeral home Sunday afternoon with Rev. Frederick B. Noss officiating. Mrs. Holden passed away last Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Philbrick of Concord, N. H., with whom she had been residing since her husband's death last May.

Born in Providence, R. I., she became the bride of James Holden in that city in December, 1889. After a few years residence in Lynn, they moved to this town where they remained for 43 years. Mrs. Holden died two days before her seventy-third birthday.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Eugene L. Philbrick of Concord; a son, William of Malden; two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Freehoffer and Mrs. Nellie Pickles, both of Providence; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The same men who acted as bearers for her husband's funeral last May were the bearers for Mrs. Holden Sunday. They were: E. L. Philbrick, William Philbrick, James Philbrick, Holden Philbrick, Carleton Holden and Jessie Billington.

Interment was in the Spring Grove cemetery.

—Mr. and Mrs. James B. Mulholland of this town visited the Time and Life Building in Rockefeller Center during their stay in New York last week.

Arbroathians Hold Annual Get-Together

They came from different places all over Massachusetts and the surrounding states, but the main reason they came was that originally they all came from the same place—Arbroath. Three hundred of them were present last Saturday night at the annual Arbroathian get-together in the Memorial auditorium, enjoying a banquet, entertainment and general dancing.

President William Vannett presided at the banquet, with Rev. Herman C. Johnson and Richard Spink of New York speaking, the latter bringing the greetings of the Empire state association. A very enjoyable musical program followed, featuring melodies of old Scotland.

Up-To-The-Minute Chic Shown In Fashion Show At Parish House

Thisbe Grieco, Eleanor Brown, Martha Billings, Everdike Thiras and Frances McTernen in the style show at the Christ church parish house Tuesday evening. (Svrette Studio)

Hooded sport dresses, peeking petticoats, bustles and hats with velvet snoods are some of fashion "musts" for fall and winter chic that were highlighted in the fashion show sponsored by the Junior Woman's Guild of the Christ church held in the parish house Tuesday evening. Up-to-the-minute chic for sport, afternoon, street, dinner and strictly formal wear as interpreted by Michael Jay's shop on Main street were worn by models of all types from the very fair to the very brunette.

A full-skirted afternoon dress which excited approbative gasps from the large audience present was made of blue taffeta shot with rose lame which formed glistening polka dots. A snugly-fitting bodice showed the graceful skirt to advantage. Another daytime costume of particular interest was a grey costume suit of Juillard's woolen. An exciting feature of the dress was a black suede belt studded with nail heads and the jacket had a matching front of kidskin. When your date book is filled with teas, theatre and dinner engagements, a black velvet dress is indispensable and Michael Jay's advises a tailored one-piece with blue faille collar and cuffs and blue buttons. A dash of the new burnt sugar is always good, especially when contrasted with a polyneaux green dress. Rich in detail the gown modeled at the show had a shirred bodice and buttoned to the waistline.

As the football season swings in, wools of all the lush warm colors of the forest take their place in the front rows of the bleachers and with one of the new ultra formals, invitations are aplenty. Five of the models pictured above would disrupt any stag line with Thisbe Grieco's gown a striped splash of color with just the right conservative note of black velvet at the neckline. Eleanor Brown's brocaded white follows the same subtle lines, and the two velvet dinner gowns worn by Misses Martha Billings and Everdike Thiras are incomparable for usefulness. Miss Billings' is made of fine French velveteen topped with green lame that buttons down the front. This style was also carried out in a street style dress with black crepe skirt and velveteen top. This could be interchangeable, making a triple duty smart afternoon frock, a dinner dress, and without the jacket, a formal gown. Nicky's jacket is pink velvet. Frances McTernen's gown is flatteringly simple but with lines that simply shriek décolleté.

Modeling were: Frances McTernen, leading the parade. Thisbe Grieco, Eleanor Brown, Everdike Thiras, Martha Billings, Muriel Porter, Mrs. Irene Dantos, Mrs. Ellen McCollum, Mrs. Grace Nichols, Doris Anderson, Mrs. Phyllis L'Antigua and Mrs. Bessie Whipple.

Miss Minnie Valentine played the piano and Miss Constance Swenson sang.

Mrs. Edwin Lewis was chairman of the committee in charge.

—A. P. Thompson of School street is improving from a recent illness.

—Miss Betsy Etsell of Winnipeg, Canada, is visiting with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Coates of 70 Morton street.

—Albert W. Lowe, who recently returned from Texas, is recovering from injuries received when his car hit a post Tuesday.

Weddings

Buchan-Atkinson

A former popular teacher in the Andover Junior High school, Miss Reta Atkinson, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. Frank Newton Atkinson, became the bride of Charles Edward Buchan, of the Central fire station, son of Mrs. Carrie Buchan and the late Charles S., at a pretty three o'clock wedding in Frederickton, New Brunswick, Monday afternoon. The bride's brother, Rev. C. Harry Atkinson, performed the ceremony at his home at 372 Brunswick street, in front of the living room bay window which was artistically banked with fall flowers and ferns. Another brother, Earle N. Atkinson of Jacquet River, New Brunswick, gave the bride away.

An informal green wool dress with antique gold jewelry and brown accessories was worn by the bride and she added a matching coat trimmed with sable-dyed squirrel for a traveling costume. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

The only attendants were two four year old nieces, Misses Helen and Vaughan Atkinson, who wore basque style dresses of peach taffeta and chaplets of sweetheart roses. Sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley decorated the table.

About thirty guests, mostly relatives, were present. The bride's mother wore an attractive wine crepe gown.

After a wedding tour through the White Mountains, the couple will reside in Ballardvale.

MARRIAGES

The marriage of Raymond Parker, son of Mrs. George E. Parker of Chapman avenue, to Miss Ruth O'Flaherty of Los Angeles on September 9 has recently been announced. Parker is attached to the U. S. S. Bagaduce now stationed at San Diego.

Max George Ludwig, Marland street, and Cora Mary McNeal, 33 School street, October 1 by City Clerk John J. Daley of Lawrence.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Bernard P. McMahon, 310 Middlesex avenue, North Wilmington, and Viola J. Biggar, Andover street.

Edward C. Williams, 14 Phillips street, Westboro, and Ruth Iister, 12 Essex street.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S UNION ENTERTAINS

The members of the Junior Woman's Union held Guest Night for the Woman's Union of the West church last evening. About fifty were in attendance and a very enjoyable evening was spent. A musical program consisted of piano and cornet selections by Miss Doris Newton and Harlan Newton, also piano solos by Miss Evelyn Dow. The Devotional service was led by Mrs. Savage, Rev. Mr. Savage gave an interesting talk on "Woman's Part in the church," and a one-act play entitled "A Woman's Privileges" proved very entertaining.

The committee was Mrs. Savage, Mrs. Haartz, Mrs. Silva and Miss Newton.

Cooling Off

The Legionnaires had one grand time in Chicago...just ask Harold Peters, or Joe Remmes, or Bill Gordon, Andover representatives...or Jerry Twomey, a state representative...Through some error in the reservations, the Andover delegates were separated from the rest of New England and were given rooms on the seventh floor with delegates from Texas, Arizona, etc. (yes, the latter made a good room-mate)...No complaints were made...the rooms overlooked the street where the parade marched...it was something like sitting in the first row of the balcony...except there was no one sitting in back...Then the rains came, and I tell you (Oh, that was last week, wasn't it?)...anyway, it rained all morning and our town's men sat snugly in their room until after one o'clock...then the command came to "fall in" (Way from the seventh floor?)...I guess they had been rooming so long just a few floors below the weather man that they had struck up an acquaintance, and when they joined the parade, just as a favor, the rains stopped...it was better than getting the key to the city...

Robert Taylor's picture in the Addison art gallery?...and painted by Dunlap?...It just goes to show you can't tell an actor's age, either.

Edith Sellars of the town hall is reported to be enjoying a two weeks' vacation in New York and the World's Fair and the strangest part about it is, that's just where she is...Usually the rumors that drift over from the town house about people on vacation are not quite verifiable...For instance, we were told that Mary Loosigian spent hers in Woods Hole, but we know that Mary isn't twins and she was spotted in West Andover during the alleged Cape Cod visit...and Mary Collins was seen in town at the same time that she was supposed to be in Hackensack, N. J...honestly, if we keep on placing confidence in locals of the town house, by the town house, but for the Townsman, we're liable to GET the sack, and New Jersey would be as good as any place to flee to... (Maybe now would be a good time to confess that Fred Gould never did get to the World's Fair.)...

The Andover News Store has put a governor on their delivery truck just to make sure that a desire to deliver papers from the R. R. station to the store, mornings, in the shortest possible time won't have any drastic results...So that instead of turning turtle, the car had to turn tortoise...the boys didn't mind it at first...after all it isn't every person who has a governor riding in the same car...but one day when they were tearing right along a boy in a coaster wagon coasted past them...remember, just because you can't be fleet, don't give up the boat...

A group of public school teachers bowled last night at Recreation... as befits their profession, they were of course very quiet, so quiet the fact that at times you could hardly hear a pin fall.

—Miss Frances Hartmann has returned to her home on Elm street after spending two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Carl Caverly of Bow Lake, Stratford, N. H.

Rock Gardens Are Not Gardens Of Rocks

"There is no such thing as a rock garden," said Mr. Alexander Heimlich at the Garden club meeting Tuesday afternoon at the November club, as he showed movies of landscape made beauty spots by the introduction of ledge gardening. "The type of garden which is made up of a clump of rocks, is the kind that the true gardener is trying to discourage. The attempt should be to reproduce nature's ledges."

Mr. Heimlich introduced his talk by showing colored views of natural gardens to show how nature plants so that the flowers can be seen. The desired effect is not to see the rocks at all, and in views of gardens which he developed, the feeling of rock had disappeared and the splashes of color in artistic combinations created the beauty of the garden. He brought out the fact that the primary purpose of rocks in a garden is to cool the roots of the plants.

A mass of bright color at the front of the hall was the focus of attention to the large gathering before the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. William Rich, Jr. The display of autumn flowers were exhibited by club members under the direction of Mrs. Wallace E. Brimer. A copper bowl of dwarf dahlias entered by Mrs. Rodney Brown was by popular vote considered the most interesting exhibit. Bittersweet in green pottery by Mrs. Frank M. Penton was second with a mixed bouquet by Mrs. Douglas Byers, third.

Members of the Andover Garden club are invited by the Eclectic club to the North Andover Town hall on Friday evening, October 13, at 8 o'clock, to see the colored pictures to be shown by Jack Lamb of Texas. The pictures include those of Southern gardens, as well as fishing and sporting scenes. There will be no admission charge.

Richardson Wright will speak under the auspices of the Lowell Garden Club on Wednesday, October 11, at three o'clock at the parish house of All Souls church, East Merrimac street, Lowell. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

CURRENT EVENTS LECTURES TO START

Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor's series of lectures on current events will start at the November club house Wednesday morning, November 8. There will be eight lectures on Wednesday mornings through the winter, individual lectures being 75 cents and the series $4.00. The directors of the November club now have season tickets for sale.

To Open Kindergarten Here October 16

Miss Eileen M. O'Leary, a recent graduate of the Lesley Teachers' Training School of Cambridge, will open the Spencer School, Nursery and Kindergarten, at the Square and Compass club on October 16th. Registration of children from two to six will take place from October 9th through the 13th.

Miss O'Leary took a three-year course at Lesley's during which time she did considerable practice-teaching in Winchester.

P. A. Eleven Goes To New Haven

Phillips academy's team goes to New Haven to play Yale fresh Saturday, with possibilities of presenting a strong eleven if flashes from last week's game with Nichols are any indication. Shabby blocking marred Saturday's game, but when the blocking clicked, it gave hope for real offensive power when the boys learn to get-together. Andover won 20-2. Keuffel tallying the first touchdown on a beautiful play in which the Nichols men were all mowed down. Anderson scored the second on a 51-yard run aided by his teammates. Preceding both plays the Andover backs plugged Nichols' line full of holes.

Expect Changes In Punchard Lineup

There will be several changes in the Punchard lineup as the local team faces Reading high Saturday after its scoreless tie with Amesbury last week. Lindsay will be at left end, Boucher will probably replace Anderson at right half, and Green will be at center for captain MacLauchlan whose ankle has been injured. Simmers, regular left end, is also on the injured list. Noyes, McMackin and McMahon, also injured, will be available for service.

The Reading team is reputed to be as strong as last year's aggregation. It has played but one game, a scoreless tie with Howe high.

The game will start at 2:30 at the playstead.

Punchard and Methuen would seem to be evenly matched to date, both having played a scoreless tie with Amesbury. Statistics of the game reveal that the two teams are about on an even footing. Punchard's line, defensively, did a fine job, while Muller, Noyes, Haggerty and Connolly did some nice running.

Laundry Goes Into Undisputed Lead

The Andover Steam Laundry went into undisputed leadership in the Andover bowling league this week, with the V. F. W. and Andover Coal close behind.

The standing to date:

Team	Won	Lost	Ave.
Laundry	8	0	1.000
V. F. W.	7	1	.875
And. Coal	7	1	.875
Boys' Club	5	3	.625
Teachers'	4	4	.500
Greeley's	4	4	.500
Hood's	4	4	.500
Republicans 2	3	5	.375
British Vets	3	5	.375
Republicans 1	1	7	.125
Legion	1	7	.125
First National	1	7	.125

High triple this week: Callahan (Greeley's) 353; Farley (Andover Coal) 344. High triple to date: Kulck 370.

High single this week: Farley 150; Crockett (Hood's) 145. (Both are better than previous high singles.)

Three Hurt In Village Accident

Three Lawrence men were taken to the hospital this morning as the result of an accident at the traffic lights in Shawsheen. One of them was held there with a bad laceration of the scalp, the other two released after treatment.

According to police, the most seriously damaged car was proceeding south and stopped at the lights. Another car coming north stopped to pick up two girls. In order to avoid hitting it a bakery truck going north swung out and hit the other car, then turned over. The car that had stopped to pick up the girls went off.

S. Of V. Auxiliary

The Sons of Veterans auxiliary will hold a public bakery sale Friday in the Musgrove building.

Drill Team Of Clan Johnston

A new member will be initiated at the meeting of the Clan Johnston Drill team tomorrow night in Fraternal Hall.

FOOTBALL SUNDAY

The Andover Trojans will meet the Essex County Training school Sunday afternoon at the playstead at 2.

—Miss Mary Loosigian, clerk at the town house offices, is a member of the committee in charge of the A. D. L. Juniors dance which will be held in the French Social building in Lawrence, Saturday evening.

—The name of James Francis Lewis of Andover appears on the Dean's List at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he is a senior. The list is composed of students with high scholastic standing.

—Miss Anna M. Greeley and Frederick Butler are co-chairmen of the Calvin Coolidge Memorial committee in Andover. The drive will be launched at a dinner to be held at the Boston Chamber of Commerce, October 10th.

—Mrs. Maurice J. Curran of North Main street has subscribed to the group of lectures, "Public Questions; Home and Foreign" given by Professor William Starr Myers of Princeton University at the Women's Republican Club in Boston.

—Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Reed of Morton street have moved to Haverhill.

Young Man Dies
From Severe Burns

Andover's second tragedy within a week took place last Thursday afternoon when Omer Martineau, a Lawrence boy, received burns which brought about his death on Friday morning. The young man was singeing chickens, at Norman Morgan's Poultry farm, using an alcohol flame, and in some way there was a flare-up which ignited his clothing. Three local boys, Gordon Hall, Elmer Peterson and Howard West, were slightly burned in rushing to his aid.

MINSKY HITS TREES

Julius Minsky of Minsky Brothers—dealers in poultry in case you were wondering—was slightly injured Monday noon when his truck allegedly hit a pair of trees on River road. Sixty-two ducks escaped unscathed, Julius being the only one not to duck. The truck was damaged, and the bark of the trees scraped so that they looked like stripped-trees.

Club Applauds Trio
At Opening Meeting

A talented trio of musicians were featured at the first fall meeting of the Shawsheen Woman's Club which was held in Balmoral hall, Monday evening. Norma Jean Olson, 'cellist; Rand Smith, baritone, and Edith Stearns, pianist, entertained the large gathering present with several classical and semi-classical selections.

At the business meeting which preceded, the following announcements were made: Mrs. Howard Dolan is in charge of the rummage sale to be held at Cross street, Lawrence, Friday; the dramatic department will meet with Mrs.
Lester M. Thompson of Argyle street, October 20; Mrs. Philip Pray will be in charge of the all-day meeting, October 17. It was also announced that the book reviews will begin November 14, Mrs. Lewis Putnam and Mrs. Frederick C. Smith will be in charge.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses who were:
Mrs. William Merchant, Mrs. Frank
R. MacMackin, Mrs. Albert J. Malley, Mrs. Clifford Marshall, Mrs.
George McCollum, Miss Margaret

McLay, Mrs. George A. Mellen, Mrs. Alexander Morrison, Mrs. Joseph A. Mulvey, Mrs. John Mur-

"See these two coals? This dull-black anthracite is 'Red-Ash'. It burns with a hot, quick flame—marvelous for heat."

"What's the shiny coal?"

"That's 'White-Ash' anthracite. It's very hard, which makes it burn long and slow. It's ideal for a slow fire."

"Which is better?"

"Both are perfect specimens of their type. Both came from Colonial Colliery which produces two coals from one mine. Both are filled with heat and very low in ash. But they burn differently."

"Could the two be blended?"

"That's just what happens in our Colonial Blended Anthracite. We buy from the only colliery which actually blends its entire output. It's the blend that gives you a hot fire which banks well. Try one ton and you'll never go back to ordinary anthracite."

Interesting Exhibit At Addison Gallery

A little more than a hundred years ago, William Dunlap, American painter, dramatist, and critic, set forth the attitude of the cultured American toward the arts. In an effort to evaluate his taste and that of the age in which he lived, the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, has arranged an exhibition of Dunlap's own work and that of his contemporaries whom he admired. The exhibition will continue until October 29th.

Dunlap lived and worked in New York during the closing years of the 18th century and the first third of the 19th century. He lived at a time when the arts were only just gaining a footing in this country, under the still powerful dominance of Britain, moving in the circle which included James Fenimore Cooper and Washington Irving, and knowing everyone who was worth knowing in New York and many in Baltimore, Philadelphia, and Boston. Born in 1766, he went to London where he studied under the most famous American painter of the day, Benjamin West, who was the Dutch uncle of all young Americans who were polishing up their artistic educations abroad. Dunlap was a man of inexhaustible energy and versatility; he made portraiture his chief means of support, interspersing painting activity with theatrical management, playwriting, lecturing on art, writing histories of New York, the American theatre, and the first history of American painting. He even became assistant paymaster-general of the New York State Militia and on his trip through New York State, he made many water-color sketches of scenes which appealed to him, many of which are on view in the exhibition.

The artist's particular field in painting was portraiture, for which there had been a demand ever since Americans had moved out of the log cabin. He was one of the hundreds of painters who turned out portraits sufficiently workmanlike in form and color to satisfy thousands of sitters from New Orleans to Maine. In the miniatures and the larger oil portraits exhibited, the men and women whom the artist painted are shown in all the dignity of the period, reminding one of their Empire furniture and high ceilinged rooms.

His interest in the theatre, besides his writing and directing, included paintings illustrating scenes from the theatre. One of the first pictures which he painted on his return from Europe in 1788 is exhibited, showing himself, with palette and brushes, displaying to his parents a painting of the ghost scene from "Hamlet." Two other theatre scenes—one a dramatic scene from "School for Scandal" and another from his friend Cooper's play, "The Spy" are included in the exhibition. In these paintings as well as in his portraits, it can be seen that the artist's style represents a more advanced step than the straightforward painting of the 18th century Colonial face painters, a more sophisticated, flashy style, with the intricate brushwork of English painters like Reynolds and Gainsborough. Although Dunlap can scarcely be called a great artist, either in his dramatic or in his painted works, he stands as the typical portrait painter of the early 19th century.

In 1834 Dunlap published "The History of the Rise and Progress of the Arts of Design in the United States." It is mainly an encyclopaedic collection of biographical data and critical opinion of American painters. Using as a basis Dunlap's own opinions, the Addison Gallery has selected one painting by each of twelve artists, and exhibited them with Dunlap's own comments. Some idea of the early 19th century artistic criteria, so different from our own, may be gotten from his statement: "The good artist who is not a good man, is a traitor to the arts, and an enemy to society; and it is the duty of his biographer to expose him in his true colors as a warning to others." The large gallery which presents this cross-section of early 19th century paintings illustrates the many different types of painting at that time—historical and religious scenes, portraiture, landscape, and still life, in works by Trumbull, Allston, Sully, Morse, Vanderlyn, Jarvis, Inman, Ingham, Stuart, Cole, Leslie and West.

Driver Shot In*Back Fined $15

Fifteen dollars was the fine levied on a Boston man who was speeding through Shawsheen square at an alleged 70 miles an hour on September 2 because as he told the court "he was afraid of being shot." The day after his arrest he entered his house and was shot in the back, lending some substantial credence to his story.

Officers O'Brien and McBride and the telephone line between Shawsheen and the square were responsible for the arrest. The driver said that he had received a warning he might be held up and that a black car was following him through the square. The operator of the black car has already been fined $50 but he probably prefers being short $35 in his pocketbook than being shot in the back.

Turkey To Be Served At Free Church Fair

The supper committee for the Free church fair which is to be held in the parish house, October 19 and 20, met with Miss Grace Lake on Monday evening. Plans for a turkey supper to be served from 5:30 to 7:00 on Friday, October 20, were made.

An important meeting of all those in charge of booths will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the ladies parlor of the church.

LEADS CLASS THREE YEARS

Joseph McCarthy, recently elected secretary of the Punchard senior class, follows president Richardson's example of "elected for third term." Eleanor Gorrie was elected treasurer and Richard Simmers, chairman of the social committee at last week's meeting.

School Committee Awards Oil Contract

Aside from the resignation of Mr. Sanborn, most of the matters taken up at the school board meeting Tuesday night were minor ones: awarding of the oil contract to Cross Coal company at .01125 above the Boston wholesale tank car price and not over 5 7-8 cents; appointment of Herbert Lyle to take the annual school census; increasing the salary of principal Miss Catherine Barrett of the Central Grammar grades $100; referring to the advisory sub-committee a plan to accept Dr. William Emons' services in the examination of pupils' eyes; approval of the practice teacher plan of physical education again this year; reference to the teachers' committee of the adult education program for this year; reference to the buildings and grounds committee of the night fireman problem.
