Explanation Of Map

On the facing page appears a map of Andover of fifty or so years ago when the Townsman first made its appearance. The copy was made by photographer Donald Surette through the courtesy of the Andover Historical society at the home of which hangs the original.

At the bottom of the picture to the right can be seen a train making its way toward the station which was in those days covered over. Across Essex street is the freight house and just beyond it the old Free church. In the lower left corner are the Marland mills on what was then Marland street, now Stevens street, which joined Village street (Shawsheen road). At the junction at the very bottom of the map is the old Smith place which has just been razed. The Smith and Dove mills are below the railroad station.

The South church can be seen in its present site on Central street and just above it the old Christ church. Chestnut street in those days reached only to Bartlet street which was far from being its present connected self. Old Punchard and John Dove school are in the center background, the street beside them being Punchard street, a disjointed section of the present Punchard avenue. To the right of the schools is Pike street, which at various times was Green street and Ramcat Alley, now Morton street. Beyond Rabbits pond to the right can be seen the old Andover Theological seminary, with the Stone Chapel, now torn down, and Bartlet, Phillips and Pearson halls, now remodelled. Further to the right is Bulfinch hall, with cupola, and below it Brechin hall, now torn down. The main building of the academy is at the head of School street on which can be seen Abbot academy, the building with the observatory having since been swung around.

Copies of the map may be had from Donald Surette.

The estate of Chester N. Boutwell has sold the old homestead in West Andover consisting of two large ten room houses, barn and about 85 acres of land to John Asonian and Harry Loosigian who have been living there and operating a successful market garden. The sale was made through the Fred E. Cheever Real Estate agency.

Retiring Commander Thomas Dea and incoming Commander H. Garrison Holt at the Legion installation last Thursday. (Surette Studio)

H. Garrison Holt was installed as commander of the Legion post last Thursday night, succeeding Thomas P. Dea who was presented with a Past Commander's jewel. County Commander Arthur L. Coleman and Louis P. Saunders of North Andover were the installing officers.

Others installed were: first vice commander, George C. Napier; second vice commander, Alfred Coates; adjutant, Joseph A. McCarthy; finance officer, Harold L. Peters; chaplain, Lewis N. Mears; historian, Scott H. Paradise; service officer, Francis P. Markey; sergeant-at-arms, George W. Wilcox; executive committee, Arthur E. Steinert, Albert E. Coates and Thomas P. Dea.

Adventurers To Present The Butter And Egg Man

The Adventurers, Andover's dramatic organization, held the first meeting of the year Monday, October 9, in Stowe School hall. The staff of officers includes: Charles A. Armitage, President; William Hughes, vice-president; Dorothy Winn, secretary; Roland Fraser, treasurer. A welcome was extended the new members. The treasurer reported the organization solvent and the Sinking Fund complete. The Executive Board has completed plans for the course in Dramatics to be given by the Adventurers as part of the Adult Education Group of Phillips Academy. Joseph B. Doherty, chairman of the Publicity Committee, and Louise Hulme, chairman of the Ticket Committee both reported work under way.

The first production of the year is the "Butter and Egg Man" by George Kaufman. Try-outs for casting purposes will start Wednesday, October 11, 1939. Mr. M. E. Stevens, who is directing the play, outlined the plot and the cast of characters. It is a comedy of Broadway proportions.

Mr. Hughes introduced Mr. Stanley Schultz of WLAW, who spoke on Drama on the Radio. According to Mr. Schultz radio drama goes from one extreme to the other—from the serials to which the housewife listens with sympathetic emotion, to the children's serials in the afternoon.

"Radio is not fortunate in its material. Very few noted writers write for radio. It rather gives the beginner an opportunity to have his work produced. His play is produced only once, however, with not more than two rehearsals. There are no royalties paid for these plays, only a price for the script which is comparatively small. There are no dramatic critics as far as radio is concerned. The author must write for the eye of the mind. He may hint as to the way the play is going and let the audience build the play as it develops. Your characters must be linked from episode to episode. You can't kill off your principal character in the first episode; in fact, you will find that very few people die in a radio serial. There must be a certain amount of misery to give the housewife an affinity with the characters of the play. She loves to commiserate with them. In fact most radio serials may be boiled down to the fact that boy gets girl, boy loses girl, boy gets girl again, they get married, boy loses girl to another man, Bang! The housewife must not have to exert too much effort to pick up the plot the next day.

Taxpayers' Ass'n Seeks Action On Water Pollution

Committee Named To See That Sanitary Rules Are Enforced

A committee of three was appointed at the meeting of the directors of the Andover Taxpayers' association Monday evening to secure some action on the part of the proper town department toward remedying the situation at Haggetts pond where, according to local and state health authorities, sewage conditions exist contrary to local regulations adopted in 1918.

During the discussion at the meeting it was reported that apparently the Board of Health and the Board of Public Works were at variance as to which one had the responsibility of seeing that these regulations were enforced. The committee, consisting of president Edmond E. Hammond, Fred H. Eaton and James E. Greeley, will probably try to have the question settled through recourse to the town counsel.

Our 52nd Birthday

It's the Townsman's fifty-second birthday today, and in this issue we've done a bit of delving into the past to show you what the paper and the town used to look like. Fundamentally neither one has changed: the town is still what Phillips Brooks said it was: manly, straight-forward, sober, patriotic New England town"; and the Townsman is still what its first editor said it would be in his first editorial 52 years ago today: "It is the Townsman, standing for all the interests of the town, striving to help forward, so far as it may, the social and business welfare of the town, and proving itself the ally in its own way of the best moral sentiment and most useful Christian work."

Andover has progressed in those 52 years; so has the Townsman. Andover is going to continue to progress; so is the Townsman. This issue as we said is delving into the past; the number of pages however gives you a glimpse into the future of the Townsman, for if everything goes as we have planned and as we expect it will, the time when the Townsman will be running 20 and 24 pages regularly is not very far distant. Business has improved very rapidly, and that improvement we intend to pass on to our readers in the form of more pages. Every page of advertising that we get extra means an extra page of news that you get, and we're making a concentrated drive toward that goal now, made possible by a change of organization in the editorial staff.

We wish to express at this time our thanks to the entire staff of Smith & Coutts Company, our printers, for their very willing co-operation, to our advertisers for their continued support, and to our readers for their loyalty. To you all we pledge our every effort to make our 52-year-old paper a very much alive, progressive Townsman.

Dr. Judd To Speak On Japan Invasion

Dr. Walter H. Judd, who spoke at the South Church last year, will lecture in the Meeting Room of George Washington Hall on Tuesday evening at 8:15. This lecture is sponsored by the Society of Inquiry, a student organization interested in social, religious and international problems. Because of the very great interest in this problem of the Far East and its challenge to our own affairs this meeting is open to the public and all who care to attend are invited to do so.

Dr. Judd has just returned from a lecture tour to the Pacific coast. He has spoken before Chamber of Commerce groups, in churches, and in schools and colleges throughout the country. Called to testify before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, Dr. Judd's testimony won him and his cause the respectful attention, not only of that committee, but of many others vitally interested in the terrible situation now existent in China.

The following excerpt from an account of Dr. Judd's lecture in Chicago, contained in the Chicago Daily News and written by Mr. Vincent O'Brien gives a true picture of Dr. Judd and his point of view.

With certain notable exceptions, lecturers fall into two great groups—those who have something to say and can't say it; those who are eloquent and have nothing to say.

Among the exceptions I would say that Dr. Walter Judd is tops. I heard him a week ago, and I still quiver at what he said and the way he said it. Should he ever come your way drop everything and hear him.

As I explained the other day, he is a voice crying in the wilderness of our ignorance and apathy as regards what Japan is doing in China.

He is not vindictive. There is no hate in him. As a people, he is more than friendly to the Japanese. His passion burns only against the Japanese idea.

We have not understood that idea and, even if we may have been dimly apprehensive about it, we have continued, unwittingly, to give it aid and comfort. By default, we have helped our enemy to do us hurt. Dr. Judd makes that all too painfully clear. The conquest of China is a long way from being the sole objective of armed Japan. The conquest of China is but a single step toward the conquest of the world—specifically, the conquest of the United States. And this, says Dr. Judd, is far from being a mere megalomaniac dream. With China enslaved and her resources available for manufacture, we shall find ourselves cribbed and confined as not the most pessimistic among us ever imagined we could be.

What can we do about it? Well, we can cease supplying a competitor with the means to put us out of business. Without wasting any sympathy on agonized China we can do a little practical sympathizing with ourselves.

Will an embargo on munitions of war—direct and indirect—hurt us? It sure will, but a little hurt now may be better than a big hurt later on.

OCTOBER 9TH DOUBLE BIRTHDAY

daughter, Sarah Fern, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chase, whose son on the same day was marking his first birthday.

To Stop Tossing Of Garbage In River

Many complaints are being received from a number of sources about persons tossing rubbish, including garbage, into the Shawshen river over the Essex street bridge. Residents of the vicinity are seen frequently walking along the road with a paper bag in their hands, and quite discreetly flipping it into the river. Frequently the rubbish can be seen at the Marland Mill dam.

WHY DOES A WALK-OVER WEAR SO LONG?

The answer goes deeper than the mellow long-life leathers—the weather-resistant soles. It's in the extra quality of inner workmanship—the dozens of additional hand operations—that make your Walk-Overs feel so naturally comfortable and keep their distinguished good looks, mile after mile of rugged wear.

Cooling Off

Someone just paid the Townsman a compliment which we prefer to consider well-meaning... It seems that on this, its fifty-second birthday, it doesn't look a day over twenty...

Maybe he was the person who poked fun at one of our real estate advertisements not so long ago about a house "with bath near square." An excerpt from an advertisement in the very first Townsman will convince him that we really have improved.

Farm For Sale

...It is very pleasantly situated in the south part of the town, and consists of a commodious dwelling house, connected with a very large and convenient barn, with a good cellar under the whole, well arranged for the keeping of a large number of hogs. A never failing supply of water runs into the barn.

It is only after reading the contents that we realize that commodious has been misspelled... It should be commodiferous.

From another advertisement for Blacksmithing, Horseshoeing and Jobbing, we learn that special care is given to interfering and over-reaching horses" (attention mounted police.)

Under For Sale there is a startling bit of information that "a three-tiered farm wagon will be sold low." It does not say anything about the fellow that was sitting on the third tier when that happened... he probably found himself in tiers.

In 1887, men's clothing was more highly advertised in the Townsman than women's. Under Fall Clothing, one gentleman announced that he had "a lot of last season's stiff Hats" and an "odd lot of Suspenders closing out at forty-five cents." Bet the town's men snapped them up! The stiff hats were probably ideal for football games... there were a few onlookers at the Punchard-Reading game last week who would have appreciated one... it would have served as a protection against the shower of beans that were coming from a bean shooter somewhere in the audience. The person behind the bean shooter was apparently stiff too.

Anyway, the wording of the old advertisements wasn't any more ridiculous than the remark, also made in our hearing, by a subscriber when he heard of our front page picture of the hand tub, "Oh, I didn't know they had wash basins in the fire department."

RED CROSS ROOMS CLOSED

The Red Cross rooms are now closed and any groups or individuals wishing materials or instructions for sewing and knitting should get in touch with Miss Anna Kuhn, telephone 46, at 48 Central street.

—Miss Elizabeth L. Buchan, assistant editor of the Townsman, left this morning for a week's vacation which she will spend in New York and Washington.

—Miss Bertha Wessell of the Merrimack Insurance offices and Miss Ethel Wessell of the Shawsheen Mills office have gone to Havana.

Our Schools' Future

The many friends of Superintendent of Schools Henry C. Sanborn were sorry to learn last week that illness had made him decide to relinquish his duties three years before the state compulsory retirement act would have made his retirement mandatory. Those who have worked with him, as teachers or as school committee members, feel that the town is losing much, and the present members of the teaching staff, aware of his loyalty to them over his many years of service to the town, know that his will be a hard place to fill as well as he himself filled it.

Two years ago a portrait of Mr. Sanborn was presented to the school system, with Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, former headmaster of Phillips Academy and member of the school committee which selected Mr. Sanborn for the position here, making the formal presentation. The teaching profession, Dr. Stearns said, means finer character, dearer and finer ideals and better citizenship, "and I know of no one who has done it better than Mr. Sanborn."

In concluding his address the eminent educator said: "We are giving this portrait so that future generations may feel the same stimulus that we have been privileged to feel." The exercise of that stimulus will rest in the hands of the new superintendent, and so the task that the present school committee faces in choosing a successor to Mr. Sanborn is the most important one since Dr. Stearns' committee did such an excellent job back 22 years ago. Probably they could do no better than to use as their criterion in making a choice the same standards which Mr. Sanborn set up for himself in recommending teachers. His every aim was to try to get the best that the town could afford; if he could get them in Andover, he did; if he couldn't, he'd get them elsewhere. The superintendency is such an important part of the school system, combining as it does a need for sound business practice and conservatively progressive educational policy, that the school board should make its choice slowly and carefully, examining each application with only one thought in mind: we want the very best possible. The new superintendent will have a very important part in the choosing of future teachers, and in order to make our future teaching staff keep at the same high standard it now is, the present school committee must make no mistake in their choice.

"Rents Are So High"

"Rents are so high in Andover." That remark is heard very often from our local residents, but it really becomes a serious community problem when it is said by some outsider who would like to live here, but who feels that he can't because of the high rentals.

The real difficulty is that there aren't enough houses available here to rent at a level that the average person can pay. There are some large high-priced places, but there aren't many today who can pay anything like the rent which would have to be asked for such places. There have been some houses of the average-man type built within the last few years, but nowhere near enough to fill the demand. They were snapped up pretty fast while other more pretentious places remained vacant. It's a real investment for someone who can afford to put up some nice attractive houses. People like Andover, and if they don't live here, they'd like to, because it's an attractive, well-governed community. But let's not be high-priced, because high prices are sure to ruin a business, whether it be a private enterprise or a public development. There are so many really fine people whom Andover would be proud to have living within her borders, but they can't come here until someone realizes that there's a gold-mine in a large-scale moderate cost real estate development here.

LITTLE W. P. A. WORK

Very little progress is being made on town W. P. A. projects, because the larger part of the Andover W. P. A. group is now being employed by the state on a local sidewalk project.

PERFECT RECORD
IN SAFETY DRIVE

Figures on the result of New England Power Association system's October safety drive for the first seven days of the campaign show that the Lawrence Gas and Electric company's record for that period is perfect.

No accident has befallen any of the local unit's 398 employees, and with 21 days remaining, particular emphasis is given daily to the elements of "common sense" on the job. The company's theme during the drive—"with intelligence there can be no carelessness"—has been hammered incessantly, and so far, with excellent results.

The Lawrence company plans for the drive were drawn up by the local safety committee, headed by Henry E. Barry. Other members of the committee are D. J. DeCourcy, William McQuestion, B. M. Johnson and A. L. Day.

Bay State Historical League To Hold Meeting

The fall meeting of the Bay State Historical League, of which the Andover Historical Society is a member, will be at Concord, Saturday, October 21, at 2:00 p.m. in the Unitarian Church, corner of Walden and Hubbard streets. Mrs. Frances J. Bush of Brookline will speak on "Old New England Houses," showing many beautiful colored lantern slides. Tea will be served at the Old Manse built in 1769 by Rev. William Emerson, who six years later watched the battle at the Old North Bridge from his window; also famous as the home of Ralph Waldo Emerson and later of Nathaniel Hawthorne. All members of the local society are entitled to attend. Route 62 leads directly to Concord and would offer a view of some beautiful autumn foliage. Those who have cars with seats to spare might invite their friends and thus spend a pleasant afternoon. Telephone Mr. William A. Trow, President of the Society, for instructions to delegates.

The regular annual meeting of the Andover Historical Society will occur sometime during this month, with date, place, and speaker to be announced shortly.

The Society, for two years now, has been at work on a large-scale map of Andover as it was previous to 1830, including what is now North Andover, since the towns were not then separated. The project involves locating on this map everything in both towns that has historic interest from the first settlements up to a century ago, including streets, boundaries, structures, and most especially old dwellings and their sites. The preliminary map is now ready for inspection at 97 Main street. All persons in Andover and North Andover who have any information concerning anything that is or should be included in this map are urged to appear promptly at the Society's rooms with all possible corrections and additions for the final draft.

Dues Expected By Next Meeting

The following is a list of paid-up members of the Society. It is hoped that the few still in arrears will pay their dues before or at the annual meeting.

It was reported that one of the causes of pollution at the pond was the presence of toilet facilities draining into the pond. A lengthy discussion of the situation took place, during which it was suggested that some localized conditions of rust and stagnation might be rectified by the elimination of dead ends in the water main system.

Garbage collection was also mentioned at the meeting as one of the services which the town lacks. No action was taken.

The question of soldiers' relief was raised, the feeling being expressed that the town was not receiving as much from state funds as it might. Joseph A. McCarthy was appointed to act for the directors on this matter with town welfare agent Arthur W. Cole and Frank Markey.

Directors Elected The directors' meeting followed the annual association meeting at which George Brown of the board of health and Wallace E. Brimer treasurer of Tyer Rubber company became new directors, with Edmond E. Hammond, Joseph T.

ADVENTURERS PRESENT

Melodrama is very popular. Radio has become the home of old Shakesperian actors. Radio plays are carefully censored so that that which goes out into the country air must be as pure as the country air. Action is much faster on the radio than in the theatre. They have a happy faculty of getting to China in five seconds, by means of bells, whistles, and a bit of Chinese language. As to dialogue in radio play, if you attempt to be erudite, you are making a great mistake. Gossip is what the audience is interested in—of the good old New England variety. Again, it is easier for one soldier to capture another than it is for an army to capture a city. It is more graphic for radio production. The author always leads the listener to the climax which gives the listener a personal satisfaction—a typical O'Henry ending. Mr. Schultz suggests that if the audience could see what the director goes through directing a play it would be almost more interesting than the play.

Sound effects on radio are most unique. The sound of a pistol shot is not made with a pistol. The original instrument of sound is very rarely used to produce that sound on the radio. Men do not mill around the microphone to produce the sound of marching feet. It is made by a recording or by a series of wooden blocks dangling on strings.

A play can be made or broken by the amount of motion a person can put into his voice. A microphone is not inspiring. You should see an actor make love to a microphone! You must speak with clear, clean-cut diction. The microphone elaborates on any deficiency in your voice. It is more sensitive than the ear. Since you cannot use motion to convey a meaning, your voice is your stage, your props, your scenery, your every agent to command your audience. Nowhere in the world is acting so vociferous as it is on the radio."

Mr. Schultz believes radio is a tremendous force to stir the emotions of the listening audience. In a question period following his talk he brought out the fact that it is estimated that the greater part of the listening audience is interested in the common run of serial romances rather than the few better play productions which are now on the air.

Everyone Enjoys Eating Out!

Business men enjoy our tasty and varied lunches. They are very satisfying.

The Whole Family feels that eating out is fun—and saves a lot of work.

Daters top off pleasant evenings with delicious after-the-show snacks.

Wives are happy to take a day off and be relieved of the every-day drudgery of cooking.

Children love to eat out because they get a "grown-up" feeling from ordering meals.

It's Fire Prevention Week—and this is what they used to extinguish fires that hadn't been prevented fifty years ago. At the left is the hose wagon and next to it the steamer. For some reason the gentlemen in charge of the ladder wagon wore derbies, while the others wore uniforms—very class-conscious, these social climbers.

Threat To Democracy
May Result In Chaos,
Says P. A. Instructor

Is our civilization doomed? After spending a summer in Europe and considerable of that time in Germany, Dirk van der Stucken of the Phillips Academy faculty in his talk at the Square and Compass meeting last Thursday, said that the outlook is very disheartening.

"The English empire," he said, "is threatened, not alone by Germany, but by the allies of Germany, thus we have utmost confusion, with two possibilities. Either the war in the west will stay in its present state, resulting in stalemate and eventually resulting in a fraternizing between the armies of both sides, or there will be an inside break-up, resulting in a falling prey to Russia or even worse than that, chaos."

Mr. van der Stucken did not place much importance on whether United States enters the war or not, or whether we enter now or later, "but it makes a tremendous difference if Europe is destroyed," he predicted, "for then we will not be able to hold out. We are safe from ships and guns, but we are not safe from the possibility of losing our democratic system with control of money. The only solution will be the coming of peace before the break-up in Europe."

"Whether the embargo is lifted and the neutrality repealed makes little difference." He quoted Colonel Lindbergh's remark that we cannot become an arsenal for one party without becoming a target for another. He suggested the possibility that if peace is not concluded, the powers may go down fighting.

A large audience was present at the meeting and refreshments were served. President Rowland L. Luce introduced the speaker.

—Miss Joyce Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Jr. of South Main street, is attending Marymount-on-the-Hudson in Tarrytown, N. Y.

Cornelia Otis Skinner Delights Capacity Audience

Cornelia Otis Skinner gave three short monologues before introducing her seven part "Mansion On The Hudson" at George Washington Hall, Friday evening. Her swift changes in characters in a skit representing types of passersby on Times Square at the theatre hour, were accomplished by different drappings of a bright colored shawl, characteristic dialect of the portrayed persons and other subtle changes in gestures and mannerisms of which the artist is an accomplished enactress. Beginning with the weary steps of a gum vendor, she skillfully changed to factory girl, southern belle, sailor's girl friend and parvenue and back to gum vendor quicker than the ordinary woman can straighten her hat.

As a preoccupied madam suddenly confronted by one of her son's mathematical problems, which, of course, she can solve, but wouldn't it be better if he deciphered it for himself? She became greatly disturbed by the unnatural conversations of the leading small-boy characters, A, B, and C, really problem children. A, B, and C were playing maw-bles and after a long dissertation on how many maw-bles were changed and inter-changed, it had to be discovered how many maw-bles each boy had. In the end, the boy's father was phoned at his club to figure out the mysterious unknown quantity, X. To mother went the credit of the solution and back to the card game went the interrupted father.

The humor in the sketch representing an American lady who has become imbued with the French customs and Paris fashions so as to be no longer American is incorporated in the "atrocious" French which she uses sparsely with slang from across the Atlantic. It was enough to make a Frenchman shiver, an American shop in New York and the large audience at the George Washington Hall shout with laughter.

Her performance in "Mansion On The Hudson" deserves an undisputed five star rating although the Phillipian's under-estimation is that "Miss Skinner's characters, both as a playwright and an actress, are a trifle too brief and too sharply drawn to be anything more than good entertainment." The "sharply drawn" characterizations rather lift her beyond the "good entertainment" status and it is only an artist who can accomplish briefly what an entertainer must take great lengths to do.

The history of "Tall Trees," which is the setting for "Mansion On The Hudson" was adequately described in six short scenes, by one woman's impersonation of six female characters. If Miss Skinner is not to be accorded the honor of being an artist, then it is inevitable that she be acclaimed a magician.

It began with sketches of women in the Howland family, proud owners of an ancestral estate which was, even at the opening of the play, beginning the process of decay. Pride kept Tall Trees in the family long after their income warranted the ownership but eventually it was sold to the Kellys who were a classic example of nouveau riche. The two remaining Howlands, Carrie, who had at one time refused to marry Mr. Kelly because his background was inferior, and her brother, an artist without fame, suffered unfortunate endings, one in an institution for the insane and the other as a drunkard in his family estate which had been finally converted into a roadhouse.

Punchard Captain Wins Championship

The annual banquet for the caddies of the Andover Country club was held Saturday night in the Grill Room of the Club. Again as in the past two years, Andover boys have walked off with top honors. Donald MacLauchlan of Shawsheen road, who is captain of the Punchard eleven as well as the baseball team, defeated Arthur Coleman of Summer street for the Championship award. William Calder and James Goodwin also of Andover were awarded prizes for their playing in the second division.

The caddies were complimented on their good work throughout the year by Mr. M. Phillips Graham Chairman of the Golf Committee John Shimkonis, professional, and William Addison, assistant pro.

Many Andover youngsters were in attendance, and a thoroughly good time was enjoyed by all.

Laundry Continues In League Lead

The Steam Laundry maintained its lead in the Andover Bowling league this week by outbowling the Republican number two team 4-0. Still close behind is the V. F. W. team which defeated First National 4-0. The Boys' club's blanking of the Republican number ones moved it up past Andover Coal which dropped a 3-1 decision to Greeley's. Tied with Andover Coal now are the Teachers and Hood's, Greeley's being right behind and the others well in the rear.

Boys' Club Team

To Hold Raffle

An extra ton of coal or 200 gallons of fuel oil would be nice for you this winter and some new uniforms would go well on the Andover Boys' club basketball team. The combination revolves around chance. If you take one of the chances that the boys will begin selling this week, there's a possibility that you may win the fuel either coal or oil, and if enough chances are taken, there's a possibility that the basketball team will be outfitted this season as becomes a team with so many victories to its credit.

The raffle will be held on November 4, the place to be announced at a later date.

Autumn Alumni

Day October 21st

An autumn alumni day will be held at Phillips Academy on Saturday, October 21, when a large number of graduates from the eastern part of the country are expected to return to witness the actual everyday life of the school.

The program will closely follow the boys' program for the day, starting with breakfast in the Commons and morning assembly, followed by guided tours about the Campus or visits to class rooms. The president of the Student Council and Headmaster Dr. Fuess will speak after the luncheon at 12:30. Then there will be the Harvard fresh football game and a 4:30 tea as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Fuess. Supper at the Commons will be followed by a showing of old Andover films and a prep school classic that is one of the year's outstanding movies: Goodbye Mr. Chips.

CLAN AUXILIARY TO HOLD BANQUET

At the meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary to Clan Johnston last Thursday evening in Fraternal Hall, it was decided to hold an early meeting on October 19 with the anniversary banquet following at 6:30. A reception to the grand president will be held in Haverhill, October 24. Mrs. Jean Morgan of Holyoke is the new Grand deputy.

Punchard To Meet Concord Saturday

Muller snaring a pass in the Punchard-Reading game Saturday. (Surette Studio)

Punchard high meets Concord Saturday afternoon at Concord, with two whitewash victories and a scoreless tie on its record to date. Concord is reputed to have a stronger team than last year's. Coach Lovely hopes to start the same lineup as he did last week, with the exception of Simmers, end, who is in pretty bad shape. Lindsay will start in this position. The local team had no trouble with the Reading team last Saturday, winning 31 to 0, from an eleven that was very nearly second-string because of injuries and player suspensions. Punchard's five touchdowns all resulted from Reading-inaugurated plays, three of them on intercepted passes and two on blocked punts. However, the Punchard team proved much the better in rushing, netting 92 yards to Reading's 10. Punchard tried 16 forwards and completed 10, five of its own and five of Reading's. Their punts averaged better than twice the distance of Reading punts.

Academy To Play

Northeastern Fresh

Phillips Academy, twice victorious, will meet Northeastern fresh, twice defeated, Saturday afternoon at two at the academy field. The freshmen have met defeats at the hands of St. John's Prep and Rhode Island fresh, while the academy team has won over Nichols Junior College and last Saturday 20-7 over Yale fresh. It was the first victory over Yale fresh in three years. Both the line and the backfield presented a much better brand of play than they had the previous week.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY

The Andover All-Stars will play its second football game of the season Sunday against the Lawrence Gordon A. C. at the Andover Play-stead at 2 o'clock sharp. So far this season the Andover All-Stars have played one game, having won by a close score of 6-0 over a much better organized and heavier team.

The Andover All-Stars lineup will be as follows: Robert Neil, 135 lbs., re; James Morrisey, 140 lbs., rt; Alex Renny, 140 lbs., rg; Edward Brucato, 130 lbs., c; Joseph Davies, 135 lbs., lg; Robert Anderson, 145 lbs., lt; David Robb, 135 lbs., le; Robert Towne, 140 lbs., qb; Benjamin Forbes, 140 lbs., lhb; Thomas Brennan, 140 lbs., rhb; James Davis, 140 lbs., fb. Subs: James Renny, 135 lbs.; George Bancroft, 130 lbs.

Tickets are being sold by the members of the team. The prize will be a small bedroom Philco Radio. The proceeds will go to buy jerseys and other equipment for the team.

After the Game

Celebrate the team's victory at our fountain . . . a soda, or sundae to ease your hunger, or a steaming cup of coffee or chocolate to chase the chill out of your bones. You'll find good cheer in the food and good fellowship in pleasant surroundings.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP

Of The Andover Townsman, published weekly at Andover, Massachusetts, for October 1, 1939, State of Massachusetts, County of Essex, ss.

Behind The Townsman Scenes

These are the people who give you the Townsman each week. Of course the editor and assistant editor gather and write the material, but these people translate their work into type for you.

In the rear at the left is Al Manley, pressman, whose Thursday mornings, noons, and early afternoons are occupied with rushing the Townsman onto, through, and off the press again. Next to him is Al Ernst, one of the Townsman's most thorough readers; he sets the material on the linotype, along with Eddie Coates who is standing next to him. Alex Renny's chief functions on the Townsman are casting the mats from which the pictures in the ads are made, feeding the machine which puts the wire stitches in place, and going out to get Coca Cola for the staff. Second from the end is Ed Batten, compositor who sets most of the ads; his chief dislike in life is the editor's drawing board on which the ads are laid out. On the end is Frank Nelligan, make-up man, who puts the stories and ads in place in the forms.

In the front row are Joe Dennis, job pressman, who will shortly be printing those Tell-tales you've been waiting for; Mrs. Bertha Clark, also a thorough reader—proof-reader; the boss, Dave Coutts who established the business and who, unlike most bosses, pitches right into the actual work; and Mrs. Allicon, bookkeeper, who can also do such things as stitch the paper and even operate the linotype on occasions, in addition to giving us our printing bill. They say that the most important part of the army is the men behind the front who aid the men on the front. Much of the progress made in the past year on the

Think!

YOUR home, furnishings, automobile and other possessions are valuable. They should be insured... not only against fire but every hazard that threatens. But think before you choose the type of insurance. There is a difference.

Consider this: 4 out of 5 property owners choose Capital Stock Company Fire Insurance because it provides definite protection at a known cost... because it is backed by financial surplus and capital stock as well as legal reserves... because it maintains local Agents for quick, courteous service when you're in trouble.

MEMORIAL HALL LIBRARY NOTES

The following books have recently been added at the Memorial Hall Library:

KERN, C. J. NURSING THROUGH THE YEARS. 649 K45n
Starting out on her career about the turn of the century, Mrs. Kern shows the progress made in the field of nursing during her years of service. This is a simply written account of the hardships and satisfactions that go along with the profession. Those who enjoyed her earlier books, "I Was a Probationer," and "I Go Nursing," will find this equally interesting.

WATSON, W. E. MISS PETTIGREW LIVES FOR A DAY.
The fortunate readers who found Margery Sharp's "Nutmeg Tree" to be a treasure of little laughs should follow Miss Pettigrew, the English governess, through her hectic but glorious day.

O'BRIEN, E. J., ed. FIFTY BEST AMERICAN SHORT STORIES. 1915-1939.
Intended to be a one-volume assembling of the outstanding short stories since 1915, this book also serves as a chart to mark the growth and new tendencies in the structure and presentation of the short story.

CHAMBERLAIN, SAMUEL. NAN-TUCKET; A CAMERA IMPRESSION. 917.44 C35n
A beautiful little book of the far-out island where the charm of simplicity has defied the advance of so-called progress. This is an example of excellent photography with a small amount of running comment. There is a companion volume, entitled "Lexington and Concord" that is very attractive.

JACOB, NAOMI. THE LENIENT GOD.
This well written story follows the growth of character of a young man who finds, through the friendship of a woman, a new courage to reach out again for an elusive goal. It is human and interestingly told.

FORD, LESLIE, pseud. FALSE TO ANY MAN.
As usual, Leslie Ford provides more than murder for her mystery story. Interesting people, clever conversation, unusual situations, and of course, the ever-present Colonel Primrose and Sergeant Buck.

DU MAURIER, DAPHNE. JAMAICA INN.
An evil spot on the wild Cornish moors is the setting of this tale of adventure. Smuggling, treachery and murder stalk through its pages. This is even more thrilling than "Rebecca," by the same author.

FORESTER, C. S. CAPTAIN HORATIO HORNBLLOWER.
A collection of the already famous books set in the period of naval sailing ships when American sailors were the only ones who cared to meet English sailors ship for ship. Published separately as "Beat to Quarters," "Ship of the Line" and "Flying Colors," the adventures of Captain Hornblower have been classed as the "best" by an ever increasing number of readers.

COLVER, ANNE. LISTEN FOR THE VOICES.
Fiction and facts tie together such personalities as Emerson, Thoreau, Harriet Beecher Stowe, the Alcotts, Hawthorne, Ole Bull and many other famous people in this charming story of Concord, Massachusetts.

Announcing THE NEW FORD CARS FOR 1940

22 important improvements, added to fundamental Ford features, represent the most advanced engineering in the low-price field

WHAT do the Ford cars for 1940 offer to match their brilliant new beauty? New comfort, convenience, quiet, safety—and the roomiest, richest interiors ever designed for a Ford car.

They have a host of interesting new features. Finger-Tip Gearshift on the steering post. An improved transmission, unusually easy to shift. New Controlled Ventilation. Improved shock absorbers. Softer springs, improved spring suspension and a new ride-stabilizer.*

A combination of new features makes the new cars quieter in operation. They have big, powerful hydraulic brakes. They have new Sealed-Beam Headlamps that are safer, stronger and stay bright longer. They have the famous Ford V-8 engine (85 hp in the De Luxe Ford. Choice of 85 or 60 hp in the Ford) —which blends 8-cylinder smoothness with economy.

News of Other Days

Fifty Years Ago

—The caucus tonight to choose a candidate for representative promises to be a lively one, and every Republican voter should endeavor to attend.

—M. J. Daly comes out this week with his depot carriage shining from the paint-shop of William Poor.

—Shorter hours for the pupils of the public schools was the verdict reached by the school committee at its meeting, Monday afternoon. It is designed to have five hours of study and two recesses of fifteen minutes each. Most of the school sessions will be from 9:00 to 12:00 and from 1:30 to 4:00.

—John L. Smith has a very promising six-year old colt, just arrived from the country.

—Prominent members of the South church are contemplating lighting the church by electric light.

—The correspondent of another paper for Ballardvale comes out with a meaningless combination of high-sounding phrases, which, from the general make-up, suggests the thought that gas is more highly prized where the article originated than either the electric or the "intellectual" light which is so funnily referred to; and all to say that which was brought out in this column two weeks before, namely: that there should be more light on Chester street and vicinity. The lamp committee are public servants and we are confident that any complaint from the proper source, to the proper parties, will be promptly and courteously attended to.

Twenty-five Years Ago

—Miss Ella Holt and Miss Clara Putnam spent the week-end and holiday in the White Mountains.

—Miss Sarah Cummings of Newfields, N. H., has been elected to fill the vacancy in the Indian Ridge school caused by Miss Moriarty's resignation.

—Miss Helen Higgins, who is studying at Jackson College, spent the week-end and holiday at her home on High street.

—Roy W. Lindsay of Buffalo, N. Y., has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David S. Lindsay of Summer street.

—Have you noticed the new temperance poster circulated by the League to be found posted in the mills and in several of the town stores?

—The chief feature of the observance of Founders' Day at Phillips was the dedication of the Memorial Gateway presented by the children of the late John Charles Phillips, a direct descendant of the founders of the school.

Ten Years Ago

—Peter Dantos has returned to his home on Summer street after spending two weeks at Philadelphia.

—Rev. Charles W. Henry continues to be incapacitated by a sprained ankle, the result of a fall which occurred nearly a month ago.

—Mrs. Charles S. Buchan was guest of honor at a reception tendered in the Town hall by the Woman's Relief Corps.

—Mrs. Kellogg Boynton won the ladies' championship of the Andover Country Club Tuesday by defeating Mrs. K. G. Harig, 3 to 1, in an 18 hole match.

—Richard Carter has left for Hartford, Connecticut, where he is continuing his studies.

—Francis E. Merrick of Lowell street, a member of the class of 1930 at Radcliffe College, has won a place on the Dean's list because of the excellence of her grades last year.

Mrs. Little Named League President

The board of the Andover League of Women Voters has accepted with regret the resignation of the league president, Mrs. Frederick Butler. Mrs. John Little has been appointed president by the board to succeed Mrs. Butler. Mrs. Little presided at a meeting of the board on Tuesday when plans were discussed for open meetings and study groups to be held this winter.

FAREWELL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. John Mulvey of 4 Carisbrooke street were given a farewell party at the Andover Country club Saturday night. They were presented with a silver coffee set by their many friends in the village. Mr. Mulvey has been transferred to a mill in Providence, R. I.
