Hope To Choose New School Superintendent Before January 1

Preliminary steps to choose a new superintendent before budget-considering time, the first of the coming year were decided upon Tuesday night at the school board meeting. In the meantime Principal Nathan C. Hamblin of the high school will continue on as acting superintendent.

The sub-committee on teachers was instructed to weed the large field of candidates down to not over three. Then the entire committee will interview the survivors and a decision will be forthcoming. No definite time was set for the submission of the names but the desirability of having the new superintendent start with a new fiscal year on the first of January was emphasized.

Governor Makes Red Cross Appeal

Governor Saltonstall has issued the following proclamation received by Andover Chapter, American Red Cross today:

"I join with Norman E. Davis, Chairman, American National Red Cross, Washington, D.C., in calling upon the people of Massachusetts to join the American Red Cross during the annual Roll Call, November 11th through the 30th. This great organization is facing increased demands at home and abroad. It deserves the whole-hearted support of all our citizens. No organization performs better work for the relief of human suffering and hence does more for preservation of good will among men and nations. Never was there a time when suffering was more acute or when there was greater need to revive the spirit of goodwill.

Our nation's mission in this time of crisis is to be strong ourselves so that we may be masters of our own destiny. That is the first step

REV. MR. SAVAGE TO OFFER PRAYER AT MEETING

Rev. Donald M. Savage of the West Parish church has been chosen by the selectmen to offer the prayer at tonight's special town meeting. An article approved at the March annual meeting calls for a prayer and a flag salute, to precede the business of the evening. This will be the first meeting at which this article will be put into effect.

New Manager Coming To Phillips Inn

A change in management at the Phillips Inn will go into effect on January 1, according to an announcement just made at the Academy. The managing director will be L. G. Treadway, John Stewart, the present manager who has been in the hotel business for 40 years, retiring as of that date.

The Treadways operate a string of hotels in the western part of the state and in Vermont.

Among them are the Toytown Tavern at Winchendon, the Lord Jeffery at Amherst, Irving House at Dalton, Ashfield House at Ashfield, Williams Inn at Williams town, Middlebury Inn at Middlebury, Vt., Long Trail Lodge, Sherburne Pass, Vt.; True Temper Inn, and Old Stone Shop, Wallingford, Vt.; Dorset Inn, Dorset, Vt.; and two in Florida.

USE RESPIRATOR AT LOWELL

Andover's new respirator given to the town in the spring by the local Legion post was rushed to Lowell by chief Emerson Tuesday night to assist in a futile effort to save the life of a Lowell high school girl who died of "respiratory paralysis" at midnight. Fireman Henry Pomeroy accompanied him. Their two hours' work was in vain however because apparently the girl's throat was already closed.

To the People of Andover:

The merchants of Andover are demonstrating their patriotism this Saturday by remaining closed all day in observance of Armistice Day. We hope that the people of Andover will show their appreciation for the merchants' splendid co-operation by doing all their shopping for the week-end here in Andover on Friday. Most of the stores will remain open until 9 Friday night.

Petitioners Agree to $10,000 Cut Proposed by Taxpayers' Ass'n

Finance Committee, Board Of Public Works Also In Accord With Plan To Appropriate Only $7,100 At Tonight's Meeting

In order to see for themselves what conditions were on Chandler road, a group of Taxpayers' association directors visited the dried-up wells Tuesday. In the group are B. P. W. chairman Sidney P. White, Mitchell Pyteraf, John Boloian, director Walter Curtis, director John Rasmussen, Charles Garabedian, and President Edmond E. Hammond.

Surette Studio

Complete accord has been reached by four groups on the water extension article in tonight's town meeting warrant, with the petitioners having expressed their willingness to agree to the $10,420 cut from $17,520 to $7,100 suggested first at a Taxpayers' association directors' meeting Monday night and approved Tuesday night by the finance committee. The Board of Public Works sat in on the two meetings and also agreed to the change. The money will probably be appropriated from free cash and therefore would not directly affect next year's tax rate.

The Taxpayers' association directors heard the story of the petitioners, explained by spokesman Charles Garabedian, on Monday night, and then investigated the B. P. W. side of the story. While expressing a feeling that special town meetings were undesirable since they cost the town about a hundred dollars, the directors finally decided that they should recommend the project at $7100 for several reasons. The reduced project would still furnish water for domestic purposes to the eight families involved, but would cut out the line which would service no homes but would connect to another dead end without giving increased pressure. Since this was the only immediate necessity, and since the Board of Public Works stated that this project was next on their list for West Andover, the directors felt that it should be done.

It was explained that eight-inch pipe will go up in price on January first, and therefore it was felt that the pipe should be bought immediately. Since digging conditions may be bad shortly, the directors felt that the pipe should be purchased.

Memorable Luncheon Celebrates Fiftieth Year Of November Club

On a perfect Monday in November, the sixth, at tables heightened by yellow baby chrysanthemums, the November Club held its Fiftieth Anniversary luncheon. About two hundred members past and present sat down to a delicious menu, followed by a birthday program. Among past presidents one detected at a glance Mrs. Edward Y. Hincks, Mrs. E. Victor Bigelow, Mrs. Frank T. Carlton, Mrs. John C. Angus, Mrs. James H. Eaton, Mrs. Henry S. Hopper, and Mrs. Lester E. Lynde. At the head table, occupied by present officers and by the past luncheon speakers, were three past presidents: Mrs. James C. Sawyer, Miss Anne B. Penniman, and Miss Fannie E. Davis, toastmistress.

For a short period of time the advent of the club's oldest living member, Mrs. B. F. Smith, held the center of attention as she too sat at the head table.

Mrs. Frederick M. Boyce, now President of the November Club, welcomed both old and new members. She said that for the ensuing program we were depending upon the wit and wisdom of our own membership. She then called upon Mrs. Burton S. Flagg to read a tribute to Miss Katherine R. Kelsey, President in 1914-1917, who died last summer. Miss Mary E. Bancroft moved that this tribute be accepted and sent to Miss Kelsey's

Obituaries

Henry C. Sanborn

A final tribute to late superintendent of schools Henry C. Sanborn was paid Friday afternoon when funeral services were held at the South church, Friends, teachers, school board members, a delegation of Massachusetts superintendents, town officials attended the services.

Rev. Frederick B. Noss and Rev. Wynn C. Fairfield of Newton conducted the services, both paying eloquent tribute to Mr. Sanborn.

George M. Henderson

Funeral services for the late George M. Henderson, 74, Spanish American War veteran, were held Monday afternoon at his home on Andover street, Ballardvale, where he passed away early Saturday morning. Born in Hyde Park, 1865, he soon moved to Ballardvale where he resided most of his life. For the past twenty years he has worked as a contractor and previous to that he was employed as a carpenter.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Henderson; five sons, George C., William J. both of Ballardvale, Alexander H., Robert D. and David A. of Andover; a daughter, Mrs. Clinton Livingston of Ballardvale; a sister, Mrs. Janet Anderson of this city; two brothers, John of Andover and Robert of Madison, Maine.

Interment was in the Spring Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Hannah G. Adams

Friends of Mrs. Frederick Butler of Lowell street will be sorry to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. Hannah Adams, widow of Nelson J. Adams, which occurred on Monday at the Pondville sanatorium. Besides Mrs. Butler she leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Thomas O'Hara of Yonkers, N. Y., and Mrs. William Johnston of New York City; four granddaughters and two grandsons.

Memorial services were held this afternoon at 2:30 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Butler, Lowell street. Rev. Lewis Williamson of Weston, a nephew of the deceased, officiated.

Interment was in Calais, Me.

Frank Baldwin

The funeral of the late Frank Baldwin, 66, of Hall avenue, Ballardvale, was held Wednesday afternoon at the Lundgren funeral home. Rev. Frederick B. Noss officiated. Mr. Baldwin passed away Sunday night at the Lawrence General hospital where he had been ill for several days.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, he had been living in Ballardvale for the past sixteen years. He was employed in the chemical department at the administration building of the American Woolen Company in Shawshen. He was a member of Washington lodge, A. F. and A. M., and the Royal Arcanum of Roxbury.

He is survived by his wife, Nellie C., a brother, William F. and a half-brother, Walter C. Ripley.

Interment was in Forest Hills cemetery, Boston.

Augustus Porter Thompson

Andover Hill was saddened on the morning of Tuesday, November 7, by the news of the death of Augustus Porter Thompson, Warden of the Moncrieff Cochran Sanctuary at Phillips Academy, at the Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital, in Boston, after an illness of some weeks. Born on December 29, 1873, the son of Andrew and Frances Torrey Thompson, in Honesdale, Penn., Mr. Thompson attended Phillips Academy, where he was a director of the Athletic Association and President of his class during the spring term. He then attended Yale for four years, graduating with the degree of Ph.B. in 1894. At Yale he was on the freshman football team, one of the class deacons, and a member of the class day committee. After some years as a manufacturer of woollens and worsteds, during part of the time with the George H. Kunhardt Company in Lawrence, he retired from active business and settled down in Andover. During the World War he was a Captain in the American Red Cross and was overseas for many months.

Mr. Thompson was a member of the Yale Club, the University Club, and the St. Anthony Club, all of New York City; of the Union Club in Boston, and of the North Andover Country Club. He was married on June 6, 1901, to Georgia E. Rowley, who survives him, together with two children, Emily Rowley Thompson, and Mrs. Allan V. Heely, wife of the present headmaster of the Lawrenceville School.

Mr. Thompson was a friend and generous benefactor of Phillips Academy, to which he gave a beautiful communion set in memory of his son, Augustus Porter Thompson, 3d, who was killed by an automobile accident in 1929. His especial interest, however, was in all forms of wild life, and when the late Thomas Cochran established the Moncrieff Cochran Sanctuary on Andover Hill, it was natural that he should persuade his friend, Mr. Thompson, to become its Warden. Under Mr. Thompson's direction the Sanctuary had become a place of beauty, and he was constantly devising ways of adding to its charm.

Funeral services were held at his late home, 23 School Street, Andover, at eleven this morning. The ushers were Charles D. Thomson, J. Avery Gould, Horace M. Poynter, Philip R. Allen, Irving Southworth, A. Graham Baldwin, M. Lawrence Shields, and Claude M. Fuess. The services were conducted by the Reverend Markham W. Stackpole, former School Minister at Phillips Academy, Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, Headmaster Emeritus of Phillips Academy, and the Reverend Frederick B. Noss of the South Church.

Mr. Thompson was a man of deep sympathy and philanthropic interest, generous to many causes, and always ready to do his best for his community. His personality endeared him to countless friends, not only in Andover but throughout New England. He was indeed a gentle and a gentlemanly soul.

(C. M. F.)

Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin

Mrs. Elizabeth Baldwin, 89, widow of Joel W. Baldwin, passed away Saturday at her home on Carisbrooke street, where she had resided for the past five years.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chester J. Trull of Lawrence road, North Tewksbury, and interment was in Fox Hill cemetery, Billerica.

She had been a member of the North Tewksbury Baptist church for over sixty years.

She is survived by a son, Walter J. Baldwin of Waltham; five daughters, Mrs. Chester J. Trull of North Tewksbury, Mrs. Henry I. Carr and Mrs. Leslie N. Herrick of Shawshen and Mrs. George W. Cochran and Mrs. Laura Underhill of Malden; a sister, Mrs. Mary Ripley of California.

Nowell R. Kinney

The funeral of Nowell R. Kinney, 42, who was stricken Sunday afternoon after playing football on the Punchard field, was held at his home at 12 William street, Shawshen, yesterday afternoon.

The cause of death was given as acute dilatation by Dr. John Deacy, medical examiner, who also said that Mr. Kinney had complained to his friends of a congestion high in his chest but when he left the ball field and walked to where his car was parked, he was apparently all right. When his car did not start, his friends hurried to the vehicle and found Mr. Kinney ill. He was rushed to the hospital but was dead on arrival.

Mr. Kinney was born in Methuen but had been living in Shawshen for several years. He was assistant secretary of the Columbia National Life Insurance Company in Boston. He attended the public schools in Methuen and was a graduate of Brown University where he was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. During the World War he served in the United States navy and was the first commander of Methuen Post, 122, American Legion.

He was president of the Seabrook Beach Association, member of the Merrimack Valley Brown club, John Hancock lodge, A. F. and A. M. of Methuen, and the Tolaac club of Lawrence. He was an active member of the Central Methodist church, Lawrence, and the Friendly Forum.

Interment was in the family lot in Bellevue cemetery. Rev. Ernest A. Miller, Ph.D., officiated.

He leaves his wife, Elsie (Pickels) Kinney; a daughter, Ruth H. Kinney; his mother, Mrs. Bertha Kinney of Methuen; and a brother, Raymond B. Kinney, cashier at the Methuen National bank.

Commander Reveals Amazing Facts At Veterans Meeting

"World War veterans are dying at the rate of 113 a day. Only 341,821 of approximately 4½ million American men who served in the World War, are today receiving pensions or compensation for 10 percent or more disability. Of these, more than 67,000 are actual combat-disabled cases, while only about 35,000 of the disabled veterans in the government hospitals today are technically non-service-connected cases."

These were among the statements made Friday night to members of the Andover V. F. W. by Commander Robert A. Stack.

His remarks, he explained, were for the purpose of demonstrating the need for the maintenance of veteran welfare legislation by the federal government, and the necessity for continued benefits for disabled veterans.

Village Woman's Club Hears Attorney Brady

M. Frances Brady, former assistant district attorney, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club, Monday evening, in Balmoral Hall. Mrs. Brady, who was one of the first women to be appointed to the position of assistant district attorney in the State of Massachusetts spoke on the subject "Laws Affecting Every Woman."

Mrs. Brady pointed out several laws applying to women and said that women should become acquainted with their rights and learn to apply them, especially concerning real estate and personal property owned by them. Mrs. Brady is a very forceful and fluent speaker and her address was enjoyed by all.

The musical portion of the program was supplied by Miss Edna Nutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Nutton of Carisbrooke street. Miss Nutton is one of the well-known local pianists. She played three very popular piano pieces—"Czardaz" by MacDowell, "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, "Midsummer Night Dream" by Mendelssohn.

A short business meeting was held with Mrs. William Kurth, president, presiding. Five new members were admitted to the club. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Percy Nutton of the community service committee, who presented the speaker.

Mrs. Benjamin Schubert was in charge of the hostess committee with Mrs. Howell Shepard, Mrs. Earle Rutter, Mrs. Henry Simmers, Mrs. Charles Sawyer, Mrs. Alfred Pidgeon, Mrs. Robert O'Hara, Mrs. Thomas Peters, Miss Mary Robinson, Mrs. William Poland, Mrs. Philip Pray, and Mrs. William Pedlow, assisting with refreshments.

Junior High Observes Book Week

Book Week will be observed by the pupils of the Andover Junior high school with an interesting program from WLLH on Tuesday evening from 8 to 8:30. During the program the different types of reading matter will be discussed by Alfred Harris, Jacqueline Verrette, James Caldwell, Richard Kimball, Ruth Gregory, and Thomas Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan will direct the broadcast.

The pupils have been working hard on this program for the past three weeks under the direction of Miss Evelyn Robinson, junior librarian of the Memorial library and library instructor at the school, and Miss Beatrice Stevens, English instructor. A radio will be installed at the library, through the courtesy of Temple's Radio shop for those who wish to hear the program and have no radio at home.

This week a blackboard contest is being held in the school to see which home-room draws the best book week poster. The judges will be Miss Alice Olliff, Miss Mary Bailey and Mr. Kenneth L. Sherman.

The students will vote for their favorite book at the school library.

At the parent-teacher association meeting, book lists will be distributed listing suitable books for Christmas gifts.

Blind Lecturer Explains Training Of The "Seeing Eye"

The Seeing Eye, explained the vice-president, Morris S. Frank, at the academy lecture in George Washington Hall Monday night, is not a school for the dog but a school for the blind. The dog, when properly educated by a competent instructor, will replace what the individual has lost, bringing independence and freedom, but courage and common sense are necessary for the blind person to attain success in life. To put it in Mr. Frank's own words, "It's not the handicap, it's the guy behind the handicap."

Mr. Frank went on to describe the work at the Seeing Eye and also explained how the dogs are picked and trained. He said that it takes three months to instruct the dog and one month to teach the blind person how to use the dog before the handicapped person is ready to return to his occupation.

KENNETH BARNARD AT NORTH PARISH

Kenneth H. Barnard of Andover will speak on "Textiles Tomorrow" at the monthly meeting of the North Parish Alliance being held this afternoon in the vestry. A violinist will render selections. Hostesses are Mrs. James R. Baldwin, Gertrude Berry, Mrs. Walter Boyce, Mrs. Chandler Chase and Mrs. John Loring.

MEMORIAL HALL LIBRARY NOTES

For those people to whom a home is something that changes and grows along with the members of the family and adapts itself to the stress and strain of everyday living, there should be something of interest in the display of books at the Memorial Hall library.

Color, and its use in the home, the arts and crafts of rugs, quilts and curtains, and an essay or two on the gentle art of living, round out the more or less to be expected groups of interior decorating, landscaping and gardening books.

The following books have been recently added to the Memorial Hall Library:

The Hudson, Carmer, 917.47 C21h; Distinguished addition to the River of America series, this book traces the development of the Hudson River Valley from the days of the Dutch and English explorers to the present with little known history and legends skillfully interwoven. Fine illustrations by Stow Wengenroth add immeasurably to the book.

I Believe, Fadiman, ed., 190 F12; A collection of the credos of twenty-one intellectuals, men and women—among them Pearl Buck, Thomas Mann, Ellen Glasgow, Lin Yutang, W. H. Auden—who amid the uncertainties of these days can still reaffirm a philosophy of life based on reason. Included also are the revised philosophies of seventeen contributors to an earlier book LIVING PHILOSOPHIES.

Mr. Pinkerton At The Old Angel, Frome, pseud; Mr. Pinkerton always on the spot when murder is committed becomes again involved when he is staying at the Old Angel the night Sir Lionel Atwater is murdered. Of course Inspector Bull solves this apparently inexplicable crime.

Betrayal In Central Europe, Gedye; An absorbing and well-written personal record by an English journalist, critical of the Chamberlain policies, who as central European correspondent for The Times was an eye-witness to the world-shattering events of 1938 when Germany wrote finis to an independent Austria and when Czechoslovakia was dismembered, "betrayed" by her friends.

Mr. Emmanuel, Golding; A moving and all too probable story of a kind, elderly Jew who through his devotion to a young Jewish refugee lad suffers the indignities and harsh treatment of a Nazi prison when he goes to Germany to seek information about the boy's mother.

Purslane, Harris; A regional novel which will undoubtedly remind many readers of the YEARLING and which pictures the everyday homespun existence of a truck and cotton farmer and his family in a small North Carolina rural community.

Victorian House, Hewlett; Mr. Pratt of Amber House, despotic father of a large and ever growing family felt the need of marrying them off to advantage and saw in Phoebe Miller, his rich ward, a possible wife for his eldest son. Decidedly Dickensian in flavor, this novel of Victorian England shows the author's knowledge of the period.

Modern Boat Building, Monk, 699 M75; A concise, practical book on how to build boats written for the amateur and the apprentice boat builder by an expert naval architect and well illustrated with plans, diagrams and photographs. Another book "Amateur Boat Building" tries to simplify the art of boat building so that any beginner will be able to build himself a sound boat.

The Younger Venus, Royde-Smith; A young author who rents a house in Devonshire finds there a photograph of a young girl who so reminds him of Botticelli's Simonetta that he falls in love with her; Susan Adderly in Italy runs across a book on Botticelli and straightway falls in love with the author little knowing it is the young author who has rented her home. An improbable, whimsical story written with great charm.

Connecticut, Past and Present, Shepard, 974.6 S54; With a loving hand, Odell Shepard who knows every nook and cranny in Connecticut, has written the history and folklore of his adopted state in an attempt to interpret its inner spirit. Beautifully illustrated with photographs.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Waldie of Morton street spent last week-end in New York.

KING'S DAUGHTERS TO PREPARE BASKETS

The Courteous Circle of the King's Daughters met Monday evening in the South church vestry. Supper was served at 6:30, followed by a business meeting and sewing for the Red Cross. The annual Thanksgiving work will be carried on by the group as usual this year, with baskets being sent to needy Andover families.

Delegates attended the state convention in Boston, Tuesday. Miss Florence Abbott was the official delegate for the local Circle.

LEGION DISCUSSES SONS OF LEGION DRUM CORPS

At the Legion meeting in their rooms last Thursday evening, discussion was held on the matter of loaning money to start a Sons of the Legion drum corps. A special meeting will be held on Friday evening, December 7, to decide that matter.

The Legion will hold a dinner Armistice evening, in the Legion rooms. Whitham of Lynn will be the caterer.

The post will parade as usual in the forenoon of Armistice day. It was voted to send officers, colors, and color guard to participate in the Lawrence parade in the afternoon.

The funds derived from last Saturday's Legion Poppy Day will be used for post welfare work in Andover.

The President, in his fireside chats, invites the public to write the White House and according to a little book entitled, "Dear Mr. President," from 2,000 to 7,000 requests are received every day... A Florida reader sends us the following excerpts... "Dear Mr. President: I am glad you are smarter than President Hoover. Please give me a big job or a shoe shop. God loves a cheerful giver. God sure would love for you to give me a big job. Are you going to work me at the Washington White House? Or would you rather give me a nice shoe shop? I will vote for you if you do."

AND—
"Dear Mr. President: I never saw a President I would write to until you got in your place, but I have always felt like you and your wife and your children were just as common as we are."

AND—
"Dear Mr. President, I tried since last June to get in the insane asylum but they don't seem to want me because I am not insane. The joke is on them."

We wonder if the next edition of "Dear Mr. President" will contain the following—

"Dear Mr. President, At one time I had 50 muskrat traps and now I have only 5. I set them all in the Shawsheen river near Andover where there are usually plenty of nice furry muskrats but after my traps began to disappear, I began to think there are more kinds of rats around here than you catch in traps. Maybe the government has some kind of a trap for catching the aforementioned rats which you could send me. Maybe the government suspects that it's not only the Shawsheen river that's cursing over the Dam. Maybe the government thinks I should shut my trap."

OR—
"Dear Mr. President, We think you should appoint another weather man who would take better care of West Andover. Many years ago we dug deep wells and now we ask you, where is the rain? The Board of Public Works have been building snow fences this week and what happens? It snows this morning. Now we ask you, Mr. President, if you can do it for them, why can't you do it for us?"

OR—
"Dear Mr. President, Some years ago, a group of us got together and bought a piano to be used by the pupils of the North school, now we haven't got any pupils and we haven't got any North School. Now, Mr. President, would you advise us to let THEM take away the piano, the way they're taking away the blackboard, or would you advise us to take it back? We want to do the upright thing but we really bought it for our grandchildren."

GUEST AT SHOWER

Miss Lilly Goguen of May street, Lawrence, was recently entertained at a shower in honor of her coming marriage to Laurence Richards of this town. The ceremony will take place at a 10:00 o'clock nuptial mass in St. Mary's church, November 25.

Garden Club Enjoys Shipman Lecture

Two hours was all too short a time for members of the Andover Garden club and their friends gathered in the November clubhouse on Tuesday morning to listen to Ellen Shipman lecture on "Small Gardens." Her contagious enthusiasm, encyclopedic knowledge rendered practical by long experience and the lovely pictures thrown on the screen made her lecture an outstanding event in the year's program.

That a garden is "a guarded place," a successful garden must be based on a plan drawn on paper, the leaf is more important than the flower, the shadows of trees and well-trimmed vines are fundamental rules for the success of the small garden were made evident as the glowing masses of color succeeded one another through the changing seasons in the series of pictures illustrating the work of this noted landscape architect, and pointed the way to realizing the ideal of the amateur gardener. Following the formal lecture, Mrs. Shipman answered many questions on the trimming of wisteria, the propagation of biennials, and the preparation of soil.

Among the Thanksgiving centerpieces arranged by club members, under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. Roswell Gallagher, one of gourds, autumn leaves, bittersweet and euonymus by Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith was voted the most effective, while those of fruit by Mrs. James Eaton and Mrs. Jerome Cross ranked second and third.

Recommend Purchasing Only Tagged Greens

Three members of the Andover Garden club attended a meeting sponsored by the Massachusetts Federation of Garden clubs and the Massachusetts Federation of Women's clubs in Horticultural hall last Friday, at which time plans were outlined for a campaign to encourage the public to buy only tagged Christmas greens this year. Mrs. Frank Benton, Mrs. Roy Spencer and Mrs. Leonard James were the Andover members present.

The tagging of the greens will be done to prevent bootlegging and stealing of greens from the property of owners; to conserve fast-disappearing varieties of greens; to prevent wanton destruction and to encourage reforestation of woodlands. The county agents of the department of agriculture will provide the tags after investigation. The use of white pine, fir, balsam, hemlock, Canadian yew, spruce and juniper is recommended; banned are laurel, princess pine, running jenny, trailing arbutus and the club mosses.

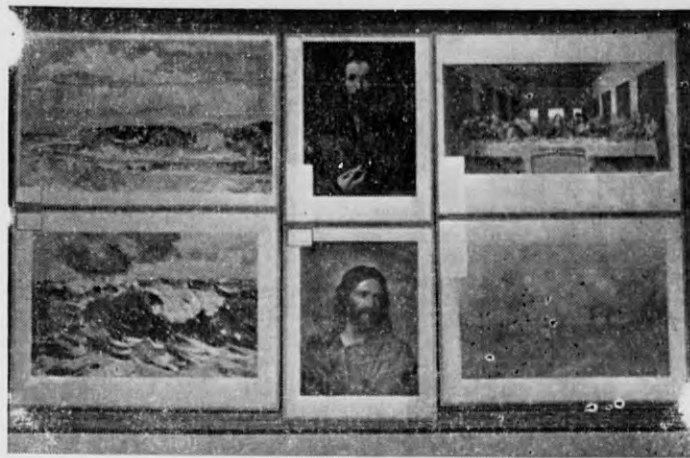

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS MEET TUESDAY

The local C. D. A. will meet at the Parochial school auditorium Tuesday night at 8, with grand regent Mrs. William Coupe presiding.

Many Visitors At Junior High Art Exhibit

Surette Studio

The Educational Art exhibit, which has been opened to the public all of this week in the Junior High school, has been both an educational and financial success. Interest was created in the classrooms through the daily study made of the pictures which were displayed. This procedure has aided the students to develop into appreciative, beauty-loving and cultured citizens. At the same time, they have created a fund for the purchase of several famous reproductions of fine art for their respective buildings.

Tuesday noon, station ART broadcast the results of the individual prize contest for the three pupils who obtained the largest fund through the sale of tickets before the opening day of the exhibit. They were as follows: Floyd Humphries, Junior High school, grade 9; Jacqueline Rainville, Stowe school, Grade 6; and Romilly Humphries, John Dove school, grade 4.

The classroom raising the largest fund is to receive a twelve dollar prize picture. This award will be announced at the close of the exhibit, today.

The Art Department wishes to thank all who have assisted in making the exhibit a success.

NOVEMBER CLUB

family and household; motion seconded and carried. Special mention was also made of three other club members deceased in 1938-39: Mrs. Fred M. Temple, Rev. Katharine B. Ball, and Mrs. Albert W. Lowe.

Mrs. Boyce then turned the program over to Miss Fannie E. Davis, toastmistress, who promptly called on Miss Kate P. Jenkins to utter the birthday wish and to cut the birthday cake. In sparkling fashion Miss Jenkins, a charter member of the November Club, described the various Club habits, referring markedly to handsome Kate Roberts of a certain House Committee. She then attacked the gold and white frosted birthday cake, later to be shared by all.

The piece de resistance of a program lasting till nearly five o'clock was the history of the Club given by Bessie P. Goldsmith. Combining early records in difficult longhand, Miss Goldsmith has compiled a document worthy of publication. Beginning with the historic meeting, November 1889, of fifteen interested women, the narrator took us step by step through the formative period, one of many excitements, down to the present. Certain big club events stand out: the Kermis, season of 1890-91; the new Clubhouse, the first to be owned by women in New England and East of Philadelphia; the series of money making ventures; the Dickens party; Noah's Flood, a miracle play; the Japanese Tea Garden of 1904-05; the Vaudeville of Trained Animals, 1908; the debate on Woman's Suffrage, 1912; the expanded membership, 1917; the Street Fair, 1925; Shawl Pageant on the fortieth anniversary. Interesting names kept flashing upon the screen of club memories: Julia Ward Howe, Margaret Deland, Samuel Crothers, Agnes Repplier, Stephen Leacock. It was a rich panorama.

Under the title "Afterthoughts," Mrs. James C. Sawyer spoke of her entrance into the November Club as coinciding with its tenth anniversary. On that occasion she saw fourteen notables at the head table. Perhaps Mrs. Sawyer did not realize that last Monday she herself was one of fourteen notables at the 1939 head table.

A witty divertissement was the Club poem written and read by Mrs. John E. Burgess. In "Impressions of the November Club," Mrs. Philip L. Hogan spoke for the younger members, who find in their club association many human satisfactions.

It remained for Miss Marguerite Hearsey in "Tomorrow's Women" to prophesy the future of American womanhood. Women, she hopes, will prove a stabilizing and civilizing force, not succumbing to the merely practical; a group in which reason shall prevail over emotionalism; skeptical, but not disillusioned.

Mrs. Boyce then declared the anniversary exercises over, and the club members dispersed, the glow of the golden chrysanthemums in their hearts.

The Educational Art exhibit, which has been opened to the public all of this week in the Junior High school, has been both an educational and financial success. Interest was created in the classrooms through the daily study made of the pictures which were displayed. This procedure has aided the students to develop into appreciative, beauty-loving and cultured citizens. At the same time, they have created a fund for the purchase of several famous reproductions of fine art for their respective buildings.

Tuesday noon, station ART broadcast the results of the individual prize contest for the three pupils who obtained the largest fund through the sale of tickets before the opening day of the exhibit. They were as follows: Floyd Humphries, Junior High school, grade 9; Jacqueline Rainville, Stowe school, Grade 6; and Romilly Humphries, John Dove school, grade 4.

The classroom raising the largest fund is to receive a twelve dollar prize picture. This award will be announced at the close of the exhibit, today.

The Art Department wishes to thank all who have assisted in making the exhibit a success.

family and household; motion seconded and carried. Special mention was also made of three other club members deceased in 1938-39: Mrs. Fred M. Temple, Rev. Katharine B. Ball, and Mrs. Albert W. Lowe.

Mrs. Boyce then turned the program over to Miss Fannie E. Davis, toastmistress, who promptly called on Miss Kate P. Jenkins to utter the birthday wish and to cut the birthday cake. In sparkling fashion Miss Jenkins, a charter member of the November Club, described the various Club habits, referring markedly to handsome Kate Roberts of a certain House Committee. She then attacked the gold and white frosted birthday cake, later to be shared by all.

The piece de resistance of a program lasting till nearly five o'clock was the history of the Club given by Bessie P. Goldsmith. Combining early records in difficult longhand, Miss Goldsmith has compiled a document worthy of publication. Beginning with the historic meeting, November 1889, of fifteen interested women, the narrator took us step by step through the formative period, one of many excitements, down to the present. Certain big club events stand out: the Kermis, season of 1890-91; the new Clubhouse, the first to be owned by women in New England and East of Philadelphia; the series of money making ventures; the Dickens party; Noah's Flood, a miracle play; the Japanese Tea Garden of 1904-05; the Vaudeville of Trained Animals, 1908; the debate on Woman's Suffrage, 1912; the expanded membership, 1917; the Street Fair, 1925; Shawl Pageant on the fortieth anniversary. Interesting names kept flashing upon the screen of club memories: Julia Ward Howe, Margaret Deland, Samuel Crothers, Agnes Repplier, Stephen Leacock. It was a rich panorama.

Under the title "Afterthoughts," Mrs. James C. Sawyer spoke of her entrance into the November Club as coinciding with its tenth anniversary. On that occasion she saw fourteen notables at the head table. Perhaps Mrs. Sawyer did not realize that last Monday she herself was one of fourteen notables at the 1939 head table.

A witty divertissement was the Club poem written and read by Mrs. John E. Burgess. In "Impressions of the November Club," Mrs. Philip L. Hogan spoke for the younger members, who find in their club association many human satisfactions.

It remained for Miss Marguerite Hearsey in "Tomorrow's Women" to prophesy the future of American womanhood. Women, she hopes, will prove a stabilizing and civilizing force, not succumbing to the merely practical; a group in which reason shall prevail over emotionalism; skeptical, but not disillusioned.

Mrs. Boyce then declared the anniversary exercises over, and the club members dispersed, the glow of the golden chrysanthemums in their hearts.

News of Other Days

Fifty-Years Ago

—George Wilson of Methuen has moved the Main part of South Hall, Abbot academy, to its new cellar on Abbot street.

—The men at work on the waterworks on the Hill expect to connect the main reservoir pipe by Saturday.

—The Harvard University Freshman football team came here Saturday afternoon, confident after having beaten Exeter 16 to 10, of laying Andover in the chest. But the Phillips eleven proved a bigger obstacle than was anticipated and drubbed the Harvard boys to the tune of 34 to 7.

—John E. Smith, son of John L. Smith, has been appointed by the water commissioners, engineer of the Andover Waterworks. It is pleasant to note on the part of the commissioners, that they have selected an Andover boy for a permanent position.

—The local coal dealers announce that the price of coal has risen twenty-five cents.

—“Kid” Wallace, P. A. '84, the famous end rush of the Yale football team for five years, was in town this week.

—Matthew Kelley has placed a street lamp near his residence.

Twenty-five Years Ago

—Cornelius A. Wood, son of William M. Wood of this town, a member of the Corinthian Yacht club, has had a successful season racing with his yacht, Little Rhody II, and as a result has secured a leg on the handsome Blackton trophy valued at $5000.

—Charles H. Newton, the horse and cattle inspector, has posted notices in all parts of the town regarding the treatment of hoof and mouth disease. He is keeping strict watch in Andover and has found no cases of the disease locally.

—The body of a man found Wednesday beside the Richardson road of Easton, Maine, was positively identified yesterday as that of John J. Timony of this town. The coroner's jury decided that he was murdered on October 27 with an axe or some heavy instrument and that he was robbed of $77.00 which he had just received from his employer. He is the brother of James Timony, a laborer, who lives here and is employed by J. J. Sweeney, the contractor, working on a Phillips academy building. James Timony will go to Maine to claim the body.

chased now, work not to be done until spring, but the Board of Public Works Tuesday night suggested that the work be started immediately and as much be done as possible, and it is probable that the directors will not insist on their former suggestion.

It was reported that the state department of public health had condemned all but the Bourassa well, and that even after the heavy rains there is not enough water in the wells to satisfactorily fulfill their purpose.

Superintendent Gilliard stated that the project had been approved by the W. P. A. and that 30 men could be put to work on it immediately. With favorable weather it would be completed in six weeks. Authorities stated that there wouldn't be enough pressure for irrigation until an addition $7,000 extension is put in from Peterson's to Lowell street to complete the loop.

OPENING SPECIALS

FROM THE COMMISSIONER

Dear Editor:

I am writing you with reference to your editorial of October 26th entitled, "I want my Third."

I was very much interested to get your viewpoint in this matter of appointments. I have heard from a number of people with respect to this topic. The comment of all has been most favorable. Your criticism is the single exception. In the population of the County of over 504,000, one must expect occasionally to find some person who does not agree with him.

Of course, you realize that I am cognizant of the fact that an editorial in a paper represents, not necessarily the viewpoint of its readers, but of the editor himself. It is merely his opinion. Some of the things contained in the editorial are too ridiculous to talk about; for instance, I was never ejected from a hearing room at the State House.

The people of my home town in Saugus in the primary last year, out of a field of seventeen candidates for the office of County Commissioner, that is, fourteen Republicans, and three Democrats, gave me a total of approximately 82% of the entire vote cast. At the election, I received a vote much higher than any other candidate on the ticket. Suffice it to say I am willing to let it rest with this statement, "One's neighbors know one best."

With respect to the other criticism which was offered, I suppose that I ought to say that it is entirely untrue, and, perhaps, the wish is father to the thought. Your innuendo with respect to the matter of the voters forgetting the word Republican after the candidates' name on the ballot, does not appear very well timed. I twice carried the Republican banner in a losing fight for Congress in the Seventh District, when, without much difficulty, I could have been reelected to the General Court where I served eight years. If to fight for economy in our County Government and to insist on efficiency is to be construed by you as disgraceful to the Party, then, I plead guilty. If to insist that squandering of public funds must be stopped, and I have repeatedly raised my voice against this practice, is to be considered as disgraceful, then, I plead guilty. If to hold that the public is entitled to enlightenment in order to become fully possessed of the facts with relation to this office, which can only be accomplished through publicity, is to earn the criticism which you have ventured as to being disgraceful to the party, then, again, I plead guilty.

I might call your attention further to the fact that I am the only one of the present County Commissioners who, in the first instance, was elected to this office. I went out and waged an intelligent, vigorous, clean fight, in the primaries and defeated all opposition. Then, won the election even with an independent candidate in the field without co-operation of my present colleagues. As a matter of fact there was open and definite opposition from that source. They refused to endorse my candidacy when requested to do so by a representation of the Republican State Committee. I feel that my victory at the polls certainly indicated the people of Essex County desired my election.

I take this opportunity to definitely state I shall continue my present policies of letting the public know what transpires in the office of the County Commissioners. I feel that it is their inherent right as taxpayers of our County to know the way and manner in which our County Government is conducted. I shall continue to insist upon increased efficiency and sensible economy. I shall also demand that I obtain that recognition to which my constituents feel I am entitled. I shall also continue to oppose the steamroller tactics of the Andover member of this Board, aided and abetted by his personal appointee.

I might call to your attention this fact. The people of our County want to know what transpires. They are entitled to know. Each one is a stockholder in this giant corporation which is our county business. They want a man who will express his honest convictions. I shall welcome any suggestions you may care to offer; I invite honest and constructive criticism. In closing, may I call your attention to what a former Governor of New York once said: "Praise me if you will, damn me if you must, but say something." I trust that in the interest of fair play you will accord this reply to your editorial as much conspicuousness as you have the editorial.

Very truly yours,
C. F. Nelson Pratt

Ed. Note—(We're all for economy, we're all for efficiency, we're all for enlightening the public about the doings of the County government. That was the reason for our editorial; properly enlightened the voters will probably act differently next time. But there's one thing we're not for, and that's the thing that Mr. Pratt slides over in the communication above, the thing that was the main point of our editorial. We said then, and we say now, that despite his protests Mr. Pratt is not, as he openly says, entitled to one-third of the county appointments when the two other members feel that his choice is not the best for the county. We can't help but feel that the mental capacities of the two other members, Fred Butler and James Bentley, when added together, aggregate at least a bit more than Mr. Pratt's taken singly.)

Francis Pottle has sold the 9 room Southern Colonial, corner of Johnson road, Elm street and Walnut avenue, Johnson Acres, to Victor Mills, of the Lawrence Machine and Pump Corporation of Lawrence. The Mills are moving from William street. The sale was made through the Fred E. Cheever Real Estate agency.

Western Auto Store Grand Opening Tomorrow

One of the outstanding events in Andover's business history is the opening of the new Western Auto Associate store, owned and operated by Maxwell T. Lyons at 31 Main street.

Most car owners in this vicinity are familiar with the Western Auto Supply company of Kansas City, Missouri, because this is the firm that used to send out so many of the little catalogs known as the "Auto Owners Supply Book" offering attractive prices on practically everything needed for an automobile. It is the oldest and largest organization of its kind in the world, founded in 1909 and now operating more than 200 stores all over the United States, formerly the exclusive outlets for many of its well-known brands of merchandise.

Now, however, the company is wholesaling these products to more than 1200 individual merchants throughout the country, enabling them to offer the public this same merchandise with an established reputation for quality at money-saving prices.

The Western Auto Associate store here in Andover will carry the same general line of supplies, accessories, and tools, including such well-known brands as Davis Deluxe tires, Wizard batteries, Truetone radios, Rubber-Coat top dressing, etc., hitherto offered only at the big city stores.

The new store offers a complete stock of auto supplies and accessories, also radios, bicycles, sporting goods and a varied line of hardware items, all at prices that compare favorably with those of the big company-owned stores. Every item is of selected quality and backed by Western Auto's guarantee of "Satisfaction or Money Back."

Mr. Lyons is well known in Andover having lived here since 1927, and has a host of friends who wish him well in his new enterprise.

The new store is now open for business, but tomorrow will be the "Official Opening Day" and Mr. Lyons promises to have special prices on a number of popular items in honor of the occasion.

Everywhere ... America praises the SOFT, QUIET RIDE OF THE NEW FORD V-8!

De Luxe FORD V-8 For 1940

TRY IT YOURSELF! . . .
The new, level, gentle, soft-but-steady ride that's already a sensation all over the country!

With 123 inches of spring-base, almost a foot longer than its easy-handling wheelbase, the Ford V-8 has a huge fundamental advantage in riding comfort among cars at its price.

And important new improvements in the 85 h. p. Ford V-8 cars for 1940 push this advantage to the limit.

A new Ford torsion-bar levelizer makes the car still steadier and easier to steer. Longer, softer new front springs, plus improved springs internally lubricated and improved hydraulic shock absorbers, now give a softer, gentler ride.

The result? . . . A true big-car ride in a low-priced car!

School Committee Pays Tribute To Late Superintendent

An "appreciation" of the late superintendent of schools, Henry C. Sanborn, was adopted by the school committee Tuesday night. It follows:

Henry C. Sanborn became Superintendent of Schools in Andover in the summer of 1916. He was admirably fitted for the position. A graduate of Dartmouth in 1896, he had had broad experience as a teacher and a superintendent. He came to Andover after nine years in a similar position in Danvers, and, previous to that, six years in Franklin, N. H. It was a difficult time to assume the new responsibility. The construction of the present Punchard building had just begun, within a year our country was to enter the war. Unusual problems of administration and of policy were constantly presenting themselves—problems that required a cool, unbiased mind and an abundance of tact for their solution. Mr. Sanborn met them with characteristic efficiency. The School Committee soon recognized that efficiency and gave him a free hand in administration. During the war years he gave unstintingly of his time and work to assisting all the agencies of town, state, and nation that needed the co-operation of the Public Schools.

The absolute integrity of his life, his self-effacing modesty which forbade his seeking the personal or professional limelight, his utter fairness in dealing with the personnel of the school system have created a respect for him among his co-workers and friends that any man may envy. Few people realize the constant demands for decision that are made on the Superintendent's office. No personal considerations or friendships have affected Mr. Sanborn in arriving at these decisions. "Is it for the best interests of the young people and of the town?" was the question which was the key-note of his policy. Progressive, without being carried away by every new "ism," he held to the things of proved value from the first, yet recognized the great changes in public school conditions which had occurred for the most part during his work here and he did his best to adapt our methods to those changes.

The Shawsheen School, the present Junior High School, and the fine Central Building containing Auditorium, Gymnasium and Cafeteria are the lasting material monuments of his administration, while he leaves to his successor a united school system imbued with the spirit of public service which he did so much to inculcate.

The death of Mr. Sanborn, following so closely upon his resignation, was a shock to the school organization and to the people of Andover. We had hoped that he would be spared to enjoy his well-earned retirement for a few years at least, and that he would continue to share with us the richness of his long experience, ripened wisdom, and sympathetic understanding of school affairs. He will be sorely missed.

The Andover school system, for which Mr. Sanborn more than anyone else was responsible, is a lasting memorial to his long term as superintendent, and to the unselfish devotion with which he served the schools of Andover for more than twenty years of his life.

Library Jr. Room Observes Book Week

The Junior Room of the Memorial Hall library will celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of Book Week next week. This year "Book Week Becomes of Age!" In 1919 Franklin K. Mathews' plea for "more books in the home" resulted in a national observance of Book Week. The slogan this year, "Books Around the World" is timely. Workers with young people realize that books can be a great factor toward promoting world friendship.

The library will, through a series of exhibits, carry out the theme of the week. The displays will be in charge of Miss Sarah A. Ballard. The new books of the fall will be in evidence, so this will afford an opportunity to secure Christmas book suggestions.

The Junior room is fortunate this year in being able to secure some original drawings from several Dutton fall juveniles. These have been loaned to the library by the publishers. It provides an opportunity to see the originals from Davis' Peter Hale, drawn by Louis Wiesenberg; one from Fox's Little Mossback Amelia, done by Marian Downer, a sketch from Wheeler and Deucher's Franz

Schubert by Mary Greenwalt, as well as illustrations from Simons' Bright Morning, and Marian Cannon's illustration for San Bao and his adventures in Peking.

Posters displaying dolls in foreign costume will be seen. Souvenir book marks will be distributed and book-lists will be given to parents and teachers.

A cordial invitation is extended to those interested in children's books to visit the Junior library next week.

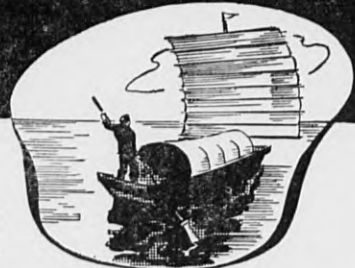

BOOK REVIEWS TO BEGIN

The first in a series of six book reviews will begin next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in Balmoral hall and continue on the second Tuesday of each month until April. These lectures are to be given by Mrs. Lewis A. Putnam of Lowell who is well known in the Village for her splendid book reviews which she has already presented to the Woman's Club.

This is being sponsored by the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club. Ways and Means committee of the These lectures are open to the public. A coffee hour will follow the opening meeting.

The tickets are in charge of Mrs. Harold Houston, Mrs. John Batal, Mrs. Herbert Cregg and Mrs. Frederick Smith.

WHY Blend ANTHRACITE LIKE TEA?

EVERY cup of tea is a blend. No one tea can taste good, smell good, and brew as ideally as the blend you drink. Teas with different characteristics make up the perfect cup you drink. Strangely enough, the finest Anthracite is blended too.

COLONIAL Blended ANTHRACITE

All anthracite is either the quick-burning high heat type called "Red-Ash" or the steady, lasting type called "White-Ash". And we found the one colliery which mines both and blends them scientifically to produce anthracite which is both quick burning and long lasting—both hot and steady. No one coal could do it. Only Colonial's Blend is ideal for cold snaps, warm days, and all-season heating.

This symbol marks a coal which is superior to all other anthracites because it is a blend. Try it. One ton is convincing.

No Sunday Sports At Memorial Gymnasium

Several minor matters were taken up at Tuesday night's school board meeting. A request to allow the use of the gymnasium for Sunday sports was turned down because of the cost of heat and janitors. There was a discussion of insurance on the cafeteria, manual training room and the chemistry laboratory, no provision being made at present for accident.

It was decided to resume noon-hour supervision at the Central schools and at West Center, the cost being $1.25 a day at the Center, $1.00 a day at the West school.

Increases for professional study were granted to: Helen McGraw immediately; Alice Oliff as of April 1, 1940; Joseph Doherty as of September 1, 1940.

Two Andover Women Win Money For Recipes

Two Andover women have been awarded prizes of one dollar each by the Brer Rabbit molasses company for their recipes, and they become eligible for the $500 national prize. In the contest which ended October 28, Mrs. Joseph Pitman of 17 Summer street won with her recipe for dark penuche, and in the contest which ended last Saturday, Mrs. Herbert Lewis of Lowell street won with a recipe for spice cookies. A third contest ends Saturday night and the final one the following Saturday. Recipes should be sent to the Townsman office in accordance with instructions in an ad in this week's paper.

The two winning recipes to date follow:

Spice Cookies

3 cups flour, 1 teaspoonful soda, ½ teaspoonful ginger, cloves, cinnamon and a pinch of nutmeg, 1 cup sugar—brown, ½ cup shortening, 1 egg, ½ cup molasses, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup raisins—chopped.

Chill thoroughly, then drop by teaspoonful on cookie sheets not too near together and bake in not too hot oven.

For a special treat mother used to add either chopped butternuts or walnuts.

Mrs. Herbert Lewis,
Lowell street, Andover

Dark Penuche

2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup rich milk or cream, 4 tablespoons molasses, pinch salt, 1 cup white sugar, 4 tablespoons grated chocolate, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped nuts.

Put sugar, milk or cream and molasses in saucepan, set over fire and when melted add nuts and chocolate. Let boil for fifteen minutes, stirring occasionally, and then test by dropping a spoonful in cold water. When it forms a soft ball, take from fire. It may be necessary to cook twenty minutes or longer. Add the vanilla and salt, and stir until creamy, then turn into cake pan.

November 16 New Date For Fashion Show

The girls of Punchard High are very busy after school hours with preparations for their Fashion Show to be presented in the Auditorium next Thursday evening for the benefit of the new Punchard Girls' Band. In the style revue the newest modes for afternoon and evening wear will be displayed complete with accessories. The following Punchard girls will act as mannequins: Betty Dow, Janet Carter, Betty McDonald, Frances Videto, Jean Davis, Elinor Houston, Eleanor Dwyer, Thisbe Paparella, Barbara Bearse, Priscilla Moss, Ruth Porter, Anne McCarthy, Eleanor Doherty, Ruth Cowen, Muriel Porter, Gloria Guild, Dorothy Miller, Jane Patterson, Jeanette Batchelder, Angeline Thiras and Nancy Rice.

There will also be a fashion parade of clothes for active sports and spectator sportswear suitable for the "Teen" age. They will be modelled by the following Junior High girls: Alva Houston, Edith Barlow, Jane Lindsay, Mina Manthorne, Joan Hartigan, Jean Schubert, Charlotte Bowes, Jean Gilfof, Ruth Martin, Joan Holdsworth, Judith Shepard, Josephine Bernardin, Helen Hodges, Jacqueline Verrette, Barbara Hill, Constance McCollum, Isabelle Deyermond and Sally Brown.

Even the little children will model clothes suitable for school, Sundays and dancing school. The climax of the Fashion Show will be the bridal scene, in which Miss Olive Butler, an alumna of Punchard and a graduate of Abbot Academy, will be the model bride.

The fashion show is being sponsored by the Cherry and Webb Company of Lawrence, under the direction of Miss Betty Carter, a member of the staff and a former graduate of Punchard and the Chamberlain School.

Joanne O'Riordan, a senior, will introduce the mannequins. The following committee of Punchard girls have worked very hard to make the affair an outstanding success: Marjorie Crosby, Gloria Field, Marjory Dunn, Nancy Thomas, Peggy Addison, Thisbe Paparella, Dorothy Davidson, Catherine Jowett, Barbara Gahn, Dorothy Christie, Doris Anderson, Eileen Goebel, Marjorie Howes, Gladys Martinson, Ruth Porter, Ruth Maylum, Constance Swenson, Janet Carter, Lillian Lovely and Jean Davis.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clements have moved into their new home on Stratford road.

UNDEFEATED PUNCHARD HIGH AND METHUEN WILL MEET SATURDAY

Two teams whose only basis of comparison is that they both played scoreless ties with Amesbury high will meet Saturday when Punchard goes to Methuen for the annual Armistice day game. Methuen is very enthusiastic about its team this year, and the fans feel that the Punchard team is overrated.

Punchard has not been beaten or scored on. Methuen lost its opener to Lawrence high and has not been defeated since although it has played two other scoreless ties. The average weights are fairly even, Methuen having a slight edge in the line if they use a 220 pound tackle and Noyes giving Punchard the weight edge in the backfield.

The local team is in good physical condition, this being the first year for some time that the team has entered the Methuen game without an injured or an ill player—unless the measles goes in for higher education before Saturday.

The game will start at two. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand.

Sluggish Andover Team Faces Exeter

With a record more auspicious on paper than on the field, Phillips academy goes to Exeter tomorrow to wind up its season. Defeated only once, the team nevertheless has left a good deal to be desired in the way of consistently good playing, most of the time acting as if their pants were padded with lead. At times it has shown flashes of brilliance, beautiful running behind beautiful blocking, but too often the blocking has been lacking.

Coach Sorota has all his charges except Seekins in condition. The starting backfield will be Harris at full, McLaughry and Anderson at halves, and Burke at quarter, with Keuffel, Smith, Semler and Arnold as replacements. The starting line, end to end, will be Brennan, Rollo Fisher, Macomber, John Fisher, Hart, Constantin and Hoopes.

The coach is using this year the double wing-back plus the regular Notre Dame. Last year the straight Notre Dame was used.

A special train will leave Andover for the game at 12 noon.

EDITORIAL

Armistice day is Saturday. Let's hope that for the United States November 11 will continue to be Armistice day—that there will be no need in a few years to establish a new Armistice day here at the conclusion of World War II.

Today November 11 means little to the countries of Europe, little but the start of a brief period of freedom from armed hostilities, a period that was brief because the hostilities still remained, without arms, after November 11, 1918. The United States does not want her boys to be sacrificed again on the altar of European political intrigue—but in the meantime this country has a real Christian aim to strive for in the bringing about of a permanent Armistice over there. And this time, the victorious countries must remember that they cannot be truly victorious unless the other countries too are allowed a chance to get back on their feet so that the conditions which brought on Hitlerism may never be allowed to gain a foothold again.

Let's Save $10,000

There is very little left to say about tonight's town meeting. You should be there of course, and you should vote for the program which everyone who has studied the proposal agrees is the soundest—that of appropriating only $7100 as suggested at Monday night's Tax-payers' association directors' meeting. Town officials and the petitioners themselves have agreed to this; approval by the voters will be an endorsement of the fine spirit of co-operation and desire to understand the other fellow's side that has motivated this week's discussion of the problem.

Fifteen Saloons

We're dead set against public drunkenness. We feel as we did a year ago that if a person wants to drink, it's his own business, but when he becomes a public nuisance, infringing upon the rights of other people, he becomes the public's business. Last week a communication gave the impression that drunkenness was on the increase in Andover, and it told of young men "staggering to their lodgings, befuddled in brain, lost to common decency and nauseated in stomach." "These things ought not to be," the writer concluded—but lest the Townsman's readers elsewhere feel that Andover has relocated across the river Styx, in fairness to the town we must say that. "These things aren't." There aren't fifteen saloons, and drunkenness is not on the increase. In fact there has been a marked improvement in the past year, an improvement that the town and the police department should be given due credit for. We still have occasional drunks—but they're the same fellows that were befuddled in brain in prohibition days before Andover even had a 3.2 beer tap, and they'd still get their liquor if Andover, Lawrence or anywhere else had no liquor establishments at all. To say that conditions are worse is to belittle the splendid work that the police department is doing. In one very serious case, the police secured the young fellow a job away from town—and he's been straightened out. It is no unjustifiable back-patting to say now that Andover is well ahead of most towns in the handling of its liquor problem; if Andover slips back, the pulpit and the press will again take up the fight—but Andover won't slip back.

Expansion Week

It's Expansion Week for the League of Women Voters all over the nation—and it's something well worth expanding. A national organization with 31 affiliated state leagues, 557 local leagues and 31 college leagues, it came into being 19 years ago after the ratification of equal suffrage and it was based on a desire to use enfranchisement as an opportunity to help improve the quality of the electorate. Since then the leagues have been busy studying governmental problems, and doing their best to pass on the results of their studies to those who could enact them into law. Particularly noteworthy in the last few years has been their work on the very vital question of improving personnel in government—procuring a trained civil service for the United States.

Andover has a league. Dues are low and the work is fascinating. Andover's women are invited to join the local league—and Andover's men can do their bit too by making contributions which will help make it possible for the league's work to become more effective.

Miss Tureck At Academy Concert

On Friday evening, November 24, there will be a piano recital in the Meeting Room of Phillips Academy, by Rosalyn Tureck, winner of the Town Hall Artist Award, of the award of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and the Schubert Memorial Award. Miss Tureck has been called the "American Myra Hess." For tickets apply to Phillips Academy Concert Series, George Washington Hall, or phone Andover 720.

Punchard Barn Dance Offers Plenty Of Old-Fashioned Fun

Real barn atmosphere from cornstalks and pumpkins to a keg of cider with spigot in the basement has completely changed the appearance of the Memorial gymnasium and when the crowd that is expected at the Barn Dance, Saturday night, start swinging old fashioned square dances and Virginia reels, modern jitterbugs will suffer a temporary eclipse.

The Alumni association has planned an evening of real honest-to-goodness fun and you can make it even more so by wearing your oldest and funniest clothes. Tickets at twenty-five cents may be purchased from the committee now or at the door Saturday night. Put it on your calendar as something not to miss!

You save money by paying $2.00 a year for the Townsman.

Drill And Degree Team Honors Go To Pawtucket, R. I.

The New England degree team competition sponsored by Clan Johnson No. 185, O. S. C. and Ladies' Auxiliary No. 42, was held in the Memorial gymnasium last Saturday evening, November 4.

Saturday morning, the men's ritual teams competition was held with Clan Fraser No. 11, of Pawtucket, R. I., placing first, Clan MacIntyre No. 128, North Adams, Mass., won second prize, while third prize was won by Clan Gordon No. 19, of Hartford, Conn. Clan Johnston placed seventh, but the team did a fine job, considering the fact that this was its first competition. The cup for first prize was presented by its donor, Samuel Resnik, for the Andover Playhouse. The second-prize cup was donated and presented by Frederick Butler, Essex County Commissioner, while the third prize cup was presented by Senator Thomas Lane, its donor.

A supper was served in the school cafeteria from 4:30 to 6:00

In the evening, the Daughters of Heather Clan auxiliary, of Pawtucket, R. I., winners of the New England championship for the third time, were presented with the first prize cup by Howell Shepard, chairman of the board of selectmen, on behalf of the board. Daughters of Argyle, Providence, R. I., were presented with a cup by Alexander Thompson, for winning second prize in the drill competition. Clan Johnston Ladies' auxiliary No. 42, tied with Ellen Douglas Lodge No. 8, of Hartford, Conn., for third place. Dr. Chart presented the Hartford winners with the prize cup. Clan Johnston will present a cup to its auxiliary.

Following the drill competition, Hastings Broadcasting Orchestra furnished music for dancing.

An ABER

Don Bate To Speak At Armistice Celebration

Don Bate, well-known newspaper man, who knows the world, having penetrated places in the Orient and in Europe usually inaccessible to the news-gather, and who interprets world spot news with authority, is to speak here tomorrow evening at the Memorial auditorium under the auspices of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Don Bate who has spent much of his life among the Chinese and Japanese, the Germans, the French, the Hawaiians and the Filipinos, and who has just recently returned from an extended trip to South America, presents to his audiences true interpretations of conditions that vitally affect all Americans. His swift-moving discussions are based upon his own intimate knowledge and observations. He co-ordinates South America, Europe, the Far East and the United States in a manner not usually attempted by other interpreters of world affairs. And his usual analysis of world events aids his audiences in forming intelligent opinions. As a speaker, Mr. Bate presents his large fund of dramatic incidents with such a ready wit and in a forceful manner, that he is an immediate favorite with his audience.

During his college days at Syracuse University, Don Bate was managing editor of the "Daily Orange." Following his college work he began his active career as a news writer on metropolitan dailies. Then came his newspaper work in the Far East, including several years on the staff of the United Press in Shanghai, then maritime editor of the China Press, foremost American daily in the Orient, and later foreign editor and special European representative for this paper.

His sincere and magnetic personality have enabled Don Bate to be more than an interviewer—cordiality, rather than formality marked his talks with important figures abroad, including many of the foremost European statesmen.

Don Bate has studied the forces and directions of various governments and he has participated in the lives and customs of their people. His background has eminently fitted him to discuss important subjects and to answer questions honestly and fearlessly. While his subject matter may be controversial, he is both sound and fair in his interpretations, and discusses events as they are, uncolored by propaganda, unbiased by prejudices.

The announcement of his forthcoming lecture here is attracting wide attention and a large audience is anticipated to take advantage of this excellent opportunity to listen to a true account of world happenings which so vitally affect all American people.

The committee for the Post Armistice Day celebration is: Robert V. Deyermund, Frank R. Petty and Walter Ebersbach.

There is no admission charge.

Editors Appointed For "Punch Harder"

The "Punch Harder," school publication of Punchard high school which was discontinued last year for various reasons that seemed to warrant its discontinuance at the time, has been revived. The new paper will be printed quarterly right here at Smith and Courtts'.

At a meeting of the "Punch Harder" staff held yesterday at the high school, Warren Richardson was appointed editor-in-chief of the paper. His staff will consist of three assistant editors, also appointed at yesterday's meeting. They are: Barbara Gahm, Elinor Houston, and Joanne O'Riordan. The remaining members of the staff will be appointed at a later date.

The first issue of the magazine will appear in about two weeks. Mr. Manning has been in charge of the staff.

Former Resident Exhibits At Abbot

Alice Frye Leach, (Mrs. James Edward Leach), who with her two daughters resided for five years in the Jenkins' house on Morton street, while the latter were Abbot students, is the current exhibitor at The John-Esther gallery in a one-man show of oil portraits and sketches.

Mrs. Leach, a graduate of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and a private student under Abbot Thayer, Ignatz Marcel Gaugengigl, and Robert Vonnoh, is showing some family portraits along with others and The Misses Elizabeth and Catherine Leach appear in several in their childhood years. Francis Merritt, Art Director of Abbot Academy, brought the exhibit to the gallery and arranged it there, after selecting some fifty of the artist's canvases.

Revisiting their alma mater, and accompanying Mrs. Leach for the first days of the show, were the Misses Leach, who appear variously on the gallery walls in a life-size triptic with their grandfather, as small girls, in portrait heads framed together, in the little scenic canvas entitled "Alice in Wonderland" and, Miss Catherine alone, in a portrait-sketch of this year's date. Other portraits show Prof. Thomas Sargent Perry, Miss Alice Richards, The Rev. Rufus Ellis, D. D., Mrs. David Frye, Mr. Joseph Fitz-Randolph Weston, Miss Helen Blood, The Rev. Hercules Warren Fay, Brother Sebastian, Judge Abner L. Braley, and Mrs. Origen Bachelor, the artist's grandmother.

The late Mrs. H. Winthrop Peirce, who was responsible for the organization of "The Barnstormers" in Andover is shown before her marriage in a be-ruffled frock on a small canvas at the gallery's end. "The Public School Boy" is a canvas reminiscent of Andover Hill, just as "The School-girl Age," showing a pert young girl, has its modern counterpart on the neighboring circle.

Those who have read Mrs. Emily Price-Post's "Personality of a House" will see the house she remodelled for her own summer home and which the book described at some length in "My Roof-tree" which Mrs. Price-Post has lent for the exhibit. A Pinehurst log cabin, by way of contrast, shows another type of architecture. Sketches of Florence, Perugia, Venice, Carcassonne and Kilarney are some of those hung and there are three crayons chosen by Mr. Merritt for inclusion in the show, one of which features a radiant old woman called, "Serenity." In a group of six "Types," the artist stresses a Norman, French peasant with white cap, bearded Russian, plaintive-looking little Alsatian girl, dark-eyed Syrian, fair-skinned English woman, and mustachioed Habitant. There are other subjects as divergent as a North Carolina Orchard and New England Fish Pier. The exhibit continues through the 17th with gallery hours from 2 to 4 P. M., Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Bisset Outstanding In Jumbo Defeat

Tufts fresh lost to Phillips academy Saturday, but the academy and the town can be justifiably proud that the best all-around play of the day was contributed by a Jumbo freshman, Bob Bisset, P. A. '39, Punchard '38. His offensive play was well above average, but the really outstanding feature was his tackling. He was in pretty nearly every play, and contributed the large majority of Tufts tackles. Hurt twice during the game, he received heavy applause from both sides, and late in the game the academy boys paid a sincere tribute with a long "Bob."
