Boiler Blast Rocks Business Block

(Surette Studio)

With a thud which, in the words of one tenant, sounded as if the Andover Savings bank had collapsed, a boiler in the block at the corner of Main and Chestnut streets blew out Tuesday evening about eight. The boiler was in the southeast corner of the building and no one was injured, although tenants reported that the building vibrated when the blast occurred.

No fire resulted, and no one was injured. The heating system was put completely out of order, however, and for the past few days reliance has been placed on portable electric and oil-heating units. Fire officials were summoned from Hartigan's drug store in which there were a number of customers at the time of the blast. Chief Emerson, shown above examining the wreckage, felt that lack of combustion caused by the clogging up of the chimney by soot was responsible for the blast. The doors were blown off, the oil burner was badly damaged, a portion of the chimney was pulled out, pipes to the chimney were shattered.

Donations Needed For Holiday Baskets

Thanksgiving baskets will be filled with the contributions of the townspeople and the number of needy families who receive them will depend upon how generous the more fortunate members of the community are.

The Andover Red Cross acts as the packing and distributing agency, the work being done by members of the nursing committee and their assistants, in order that the baskets may be handled as fairly and efficiently as possible. The list of recipients is made in co-operation with the Town Welfare Board, Briggs-Allen school, the King's Daughters and the Mothers' club. To avoid duplication other organizations or individuals desiring to give baskets are asked to consult with Mrs. Roscoe E. Dake, Hidden Field, telephone 1455-W, who is in charge of the work.

Churches and schools are helping with contributions of canned goods. Gifts of money for the purchase of meats and other perishables should be sent to Mr. Philip Ripley, 7 Abbot street as soon as possible.

Next Monday fruit, canned goods, potatoes or other vegetables will be received at the South church. If everyone who can share remembers the date and brings even a small amount none of Andover's needy will be unprovided for on Thanksgiving.

No Water Pollution In Andover Homes; Tax Association Directors Bring Agreement On Rule Enforcement

Filtration Plant Unnecessary; No Bacteria At Intake, Officials Say

The peace of mind of those citizens who have feared that there was the possibility of pollution in Andover's water supply was set at ease this week when it was reaffirmed, at a meeting called by a special committee of Taxpayers' Association directors, that there is, and has been, no pollution at the intake at the pumping station. Today, as the result of an agreement reached between the town officials at that meeting, a survey is being made of the watershed, and if any violations of Board of Health regulations are found, it is planned to have the property-owners correct them so that the possibility of pollution in any part of the pond may be lessened.

The meeting was called by the Taxpayers' committee because it was uncertain which of the town boards should enforce the rules for the watershed. A number of rules and regulations were adopted in 1908 by the Board of Health, covering sewage disposal, etc., but the state department of health on a recent survey found that these rules were being violated in a number of instances. It was decided at the meeting that the rules should be enforced to eliminate a possible source of pollution.

Town counsel Arthur Sweeney, at the meeting on invitation from the association, gave his views on the subject, and after a lengthy discussion an agreement between the board of health and the board of public works was reached whereby the latter will enforce the rules in connection with any violations that the state and local health authorities report. Today secretary Franklin H. Stacey of the board of health with a state department engineer and B. P. W. superintendent are making a survey of the properties surrounding the pond.

It was reported at the meeting that some Andover residents afraid of pollution had been boiling their

NO MAIL DELIVERY THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Because today is Thanksgiving day as far as the President and so the federal government are concerned, there is no afternoon mail delivery. Townsman subscribers are scheduled to receive their copies by mail in the Friday morning mail delivery.

Next Thursday, Thanksgiving day, as far as the Governor and the state are concerned, there will be a morning mail delivery. The Townsman will arrive in that delivery and will also be available on the newsstands Thursday morning.

PARLOR STOVE NEEDED

The local Red Cross has received an urgent call for a small parlor stove for a needy family. Anyone having such an item which he would care to donate is asked to call the town welfare agent, Arthur Cole, 1323.

Christ Church Bazaar To Offer Many Gifts For Holiday Season

Articles for the children's table for the bazaar at Christ Church, December 7, were made at the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary held on Tuesday in the Parish House. A varied assortment of bibs, aprons for little girls, babushkas, and gaily colored handkerchiefs, was on hand, already cut out to finish, and a great deal of work was accomplished.

Additional assistants on the food table for the bazaar are Mrs. James Baldwin and Mrs. Frederick Smith of Shawsheen Village.

It is hoped that many persons will have silhouettes made, especially those who have children, for these make adorable Christmas gifts when put in small frames. Mrs. Herbert Farnsworth will assist Miss Frances Dalton in making the cut-outs.

The fair opens at two o'clock and the afternoon entertainment will be a moving picture on Africa, which comes highly recommended. While this is especially for children, the older folks also will find it interesting.

Two new features which have been added for entertainment are a fortune teller and a "horoscopist" and hand writing expert. The future will be carefully scanned and truthfully told.

W. P. A. Ready To Start Water Job

Everything is now in readiness for the Chandler street water main project, sufficient transfer slips having come through to start a W. P. A. crew on the special project. Public works officials expect that some progress will be made before the ground becomes unworkable, with the rest of the job to be finished in the early spring when the ground conditions improve.

Last week-end there was considerable excitement when it was announced that the people of the district would start digging themselves—even the women and children were to pitch in. Two explanations were given: one, idealistic, said that the residents wanted to show their appreciation to the town for having appropriated the money; the other, human, said that they wanted to show up the W. P. A. for its red-taped slowness and for its small local quota. The latter view was expressed by the men themselves to B. P. W. chairman Sidney P. White who told them they'd get publicity but they wouldn't get the water any sooner.

They did get the publicity. Cameramen arrived at the scene, and the men, women and children posed with their shovels. Boston newspaper editors disturbed the peace of mind of their local correspondents. But further than that nothing was done. The men didn't start digging, and the job will go on just as planned, with the B. P. W. supplying the eight families with free water from a protected underground tap in the meantime.

Andover had its first real touch of winter-driving hazards Tuesday night when the light snowfall hardened on the roadways, making them very slippery. There were no injuries, although a Haverhill car turned completely over on the bypass and a smash occurred in Shawsheen Village. There were a number of traffic tie-ups.

The Bachelorettes club will hold a business meeting at the home of Miss Barbara MacLellan, of Poor street, Shawsheen Village, Friday evening. MR. COOK DISCUSSES MODERN NOVELS AT A. P. C.

Members of the A. P. C. sorority of the South church had, last Thursday, the double pleasure of having as their guest the A. P. C. Sorority of North Andover and Mr. Allan T. Cook of Phillips academy as guest speaker. Mr. Cook was filling a return engagement and lived up to the expectations of his audience by discussing with humor and penetration, some of today's best-selling novels. He emphasized his disappointment in the writings of present-day English novelists which, while offering charm and entertainment, lack the substance of the work of such literary forbears as Trollope and Eliot. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated Thanksgiving table.

The regular meeting scheduled for tonight has been postponed to January 18, and the Sorority will next meet on Thursday, December 14.

School Manikins Add Glamour To Chic Models

(Surette Studio)

Poised as a professional manikin, Sally Anne Bergeron, first to model the trim playtime frocks for children at the Punchard Fashion Show in the auditorium last Thursday evening, seemed little disturbed at the applause and exclamations that distinctly approved of her pink flowered cotton dress and blue bows. Equally confident was Ruth Anne Chadwick whose hesitating walk allowed the large audience full appreciation of her wine and white sport cotton before she began her self-assured progress up and down the auditorium aisles. A gay party mood and taffeta party frock were shown to advantage by Helen Dowd, and Jane and Jean Steinert, identically dressed in teal blue with pink socks and ribbon, were appropriately gowned for any occasion.

Smartly fitted coats included a brown, double-breasted reefer with velvet collar worn with brown accessories by Shirley Sawyer and a Scotch plaid reefer and scottie hat modeled by Barbara Dean.

The introductory model of the Junior High school students was Edith Barlow wearing a short blue velvet skating skirt and red silk dress, and her white shoe skates seemed in no way to detract from the gracefulness of her circuit of the hall. Sally Brown's maid Kildaire suit was also lined for skating and she topped it with a becoming scottie hat. Constance McCollum relieved her grape wool reefer and matching hat with a white scarf forming a youthful but very chic "any-time" costume. Jane Lindsay's chinchilla coat was definitely a sport outfit and featured brass buttons and a red lined hood.

Fashions modeled by the high school students ranged from the very girlish to the very sophisticated, from the very sporty to the very formal. Jeanette Batcheller contrasted brown fur jacket, hat and matching accessories with a peach dress and could with assurance go from football game to tea dance. Ruth Maylum preferred a bright red reversible, briskly military, with shining brass buttons. The bright hood was lined with navy. Eleanor Doherty seconded the motion on red and wore a tailored crepe with a black hat that picked up the red accent. Betty Dow decided that red should be worn in the evening, too, and chose a long black taffeta skirt with a red jersey bodice. The red turban was a real inspiration. Another accomplishment in the sport formal was a black wool evening sweater with gold applique worn by Mildred Forsythe with a black taffeta skirt.

Many other outstanding gowns and unusual combinations were modeled by Punchard's fairest and the culmination of loveliness was in the final showing of a bridal party (pictured above) whose white satined bride, Olive Butler, found a rich foil in the purple velvet gown of her maid of honor, Evelyn Dow. The bridesmaids, Agnes Martinson and Evelyn Rutter, wore icy blue and pink satin and all three attendants wore shoulder length veils matching their gowns. Ethel Hibbert was the small flower girl wearing pale pink.

The styles were from Cherry and Webb Company in Lawrence and were personally selected by Miss Betty Carter, Punchard Alumna, who is now employed by that establishment. Miss Miriam Sweeney, supervisor of music, was in charge of the show and of training the manikins.

The Fashion Show, which was given for the benefit of the Punchard High school girls' band instrument fund, realized over $250, and it is expected that the purchase of five instruments can now be made which will become the property of the music department to be loaned each year to worthy students.

Goldsmith Prize Speakers Named At Punchard High

The speakers for the Goldsmith prize contest were announced this morning. The contest will take place December 15th.

That athletics and good work in the educational field can go hand in hand is shown by the selection of Donald McLaughlan, captain of the football and baseball teams, as one of the senior speakers. Nancy Thomas is the other senior, Jane Guild and Bernard Woods, the juniors, and Catherine Pattullo and Clifford Stowers the sophomores.

Cooling Off

Since the Thanksgiving propagation, it's the thing to say, "Happy Thanksgiving!"

The academy students find themselves in a hubbub because they are only allowed one holiday, the 30th, and in some cases the date doesn't agree with the one observed by their native state, New York for instance...it's nothing for the authorities to get chicken-hearted about, however, because in most cases their families will visit them here next week...besides two Thanksgivings can prove to be rather disconcerting too...the post office, the C.C.C. and the W.P.A. have two holidays on their hands and they can't decide whether to be patriotic or statetrotic...it's a golden opportunity for them to see how it is to eat a lamb chop on Thanksgiving—and have their turkey, too...but that's ducking the issue...the main squabble seems to be, where are we going to get enough gallinaceous birds to go around?...Time the Poultry Growers' Association began to talk turkey...

Maybe it's time we did think twice about all the things we have to feel thankful for...When we hear an explosion, we can be thankful that it's only birdshot...and we can still be thankful that our government is successfully side-stepping goose-steppers...The town welfare department is thankful for the ten pair of shoes it received recently from one of the Selectmen, and certain merchants are feeling very thankful for ten new pair sold just as recently to fill the gap in "Shep's" closet...

We understand that a traditional change took place in Ballardvale recently, too, when the water fountain on Andover street, which was only a few years younger than the first water mains, was removed... Now that Ballardvale is a one-horse town, it has no further use for the fountain...

It's none too early to shop for that most personal of all gifts—your photograph. A sitting now will solve some of your most trying gift problems, and solve them economically, too.

Miss Chickering Gives League Opinion In School Appointments

"The Andover League of Women Voters is vitally interested in the choice of the new school superintendent," said Miss Helen T. Chickering, Chairman of the Department of Government and its Operation for the Andover League of Women Voters today. "The League has always worked for the 'Right man for the right job' in public service, believing that our government should be run by those who have the knowledge and experience to do their work most efficiently. For several years, the League held study groups on Civil Service and Better Personnel in Government, and its members have not only been interested, but have studied quite thoroughly the problems of efficiency in public service.

"In the school system, particularly, training and experience are prime requisites. All Andover League members will watch with great interest the choice of the School committee, hoping that they will decide upon an applicant who is qualified to take this important post in the Andover schools by training in teaching and administration and by experience with children."

BRIGGS-ALLEN NOTES

Through the Red Cross the Briggs-Allen school has been given names of six families to whom to give Thanksgiving dinners. Mrs. Briggs started it in 1909 and it has been carried on ever since with the aid of the first parents and friends. Mrs. Maurice J. Curran, Jr., as she has done for many years, has charge of the delivering of the dinners.

Collecting Thanksgiving Proclamations is a new hobby. At present proclamations from twenty states have been received. The state of Iowa seems to be the most elaborate but all are interesting.

A Negative Freedom?

Thanksgiving day, 1939 model, is different in two fundamental respects from Thanksgiving day, 1639 model. The Pilgrim Fathers had much less to be thankful for than we have, but they had much more of a disposition to express their thanks than we have. They had their feast, just as we do; we take ours as a matter of course, they went to church to offer thanks for theirs.

There's no Thanksgiving abroad these days. Their nights are black, their days are periods of fearing what the night might bring. Something has been pushed aside over there—and we're pushing the same thing aside over here. Totalitarianism, the idea that the State is all, that one man holding that State's power is all, has swept away Christianity, religion, Hitler, Stalin—to their followers they're gods—and their followers are taught that there is no other God. That is why Europe is plunging head-long into ruin today.

But over here so many of us are ego-totalitarians. So many of us have decided that we know everything; within ourselves our intellects are gods, and our intellects admit of no other God. Then others of us are careless about it; "Perhaps there is a supreme being," we say, but we don't want to spend the time on Sunday morning to offer thanks to that Supreme Being.

We have freedom of worship over here; it's a privilege we cherish, a privilege we wish other nations offered their citizens. But do we exercise it right? In one sense we do: nobody forces anyone else to understand a religion that they don't want to understand. But in another way we lose the benefit that that freedom might give us, for in wanting to avoid any semblance of partiality or bias, we avoid religion, and in our schools, nobody helps anyone else to understand a religion that they do want to understand. Over in Germany the students are taught Nazism; they are taught no other religion than that. Over here in class we imply that Democracy is an awfully nice thing, but we carefully avoid getting down to the whole basis of right and wrong in this world of ours.

We can use that freedom in a positive sense: it needn't be always just a negative freedom—for if it remains negative, the day will come when it will have gone. We must educate our children in religion. We teach them that two and three makes five, but there are things just as true as that in religion, and far more important. We teach them good citizenship: in algebra, the languages, any subject we start with the fundamentals; what is the fundamental of good citizenship if not religion, with its Golden Rule? And this can all be done under the Constitution, the only stipulation being that children may be made to study the religion they or their parents want them to study, and no other. The local clergymen have worked out a plan along these lines—and some day, for the good of Andover, we hope that it will be put into effect.

"I DON'T WANT TO FIGHT"

This seems to be the stock answer of many of the young men in this vicinity when asked to join the Massachusetts National Guard. If they would only stop to think and reason, their own common sense would tell them that we who are members of the Guard, are not keen on fighting ourselves. But, if that unhappy day should arrive, the Guard will give a good account of itself as on all previous occasions.

Also, when that day arrives, he who is unwilling to join now and learn the rudiments of modern warfare, he who now has the opportunity to become a member and make friends of his buddies, will find himself drafted by the government and placed with strangers. In all probability will always be just a private doing all the hard tasks. A way to avoid all this is to take advantage of the membership drive now being conducted by the National Guard all over the country.

The Massachusetts quota is to be increased by 2340 men.

There is ample opportunity in Lawrence for the military minded. In Lawrence we find Infantry, Field Artillery, Cavalry, and Quartermaster. Andover at one time was well represented in these units but today the young men of Andover do not seem interested in peace time soldiering. At the present time in the Lawrence Infantry unit there are three Andover men. In the Quartermaster only one. In the Headquarters Battery, 102nd Field Artillery there is one.

The commanders of the various units when speaking of the present membership drive stress the fact of Andover's minority. There is plenty of room for Andover men. Now is the time to join. Learn how to handle a rifle, pistol, telephone, radio, telegraphy, gas mask and all about the new tanks, stories about which appear in headlines every day. Let's have Andover representation in the military.

Is Liquor Only Sin?

Dear Editor:

It is a good habit to be moderate in all dealings with humanity. Whether it be of a low or high degree, temperate indulgence is the better plan.

Of all the millions of souls in America, there is singled out to us here in Andover a few unfortunates whose only fault against society is getting drunk, with liquor. May the good Lord preserve us from the Volsteadian Ghost of America's folly.

It has been the custom of reformers to harp on the curse of liquor since time immemorial. Is that the only sin there is in the world for us to combat? If we shun our fellowman because he gets drunk with liquor, we are not improving him. In fact we sin ourselves in so doing. St. Paul advises a little wine if thy stomach offends thee. It is a greater sin to be drunk with power, pride and ill will, than the happy relaxation by the cup that cheers. Let us keep the privilege for our citizens to have and get their refreshment here in Andover. It is always good business to support the home markets. The best way to reform is to search oneself for faults secret or open and when found practice self improvement. That is the true way by which we can ever hope to make our town, aye the world, a better place to live.

Abbot Academy Notes

Red Cross Drive

The Red Cross drive for membership is under way at Abbot Academy under the sponsorship of the Abbot Christian Association, and indications are that the results will be 100 percent successful. The three hobby groups which meet on Friday evenings in the interest of service for the Red Cross and Andover community projects are hoping to complete their work well before the Christmas holidays begin. The Senior Class is busy dressing dolls of all sizes and descriptions to be sent to the Hindman School in Kentucky to help out Santa Claus on Christmas Eve.

Abbot Motion Pictures

On Saturday evening the Philomatheia Society will sponsor a program of professional and amateur motion pictures of life at Abbot. Music will be furnished by the school band under the direction of Elizabeth Travis, president of the Senior Class.

Mr. Harrington In Academy Concert

On Sunday evening the Academy will present Howard Harrington, tenor; Edna Merritt, contralto; Ludwig Juht, contra-bass; and Edwin Biltcliffe, pianist; in a concert which will begin at 8 o'clock and to which the public is cordially invited. Born in Andover, Mr. Harrington has appeared in concert throughout the country and was soloist in 1938 with the Indianapolis Symphony, in 1936 with the People's Symphony, and in 1935 with the Boston Orchestra, as well as five years with the New Hampshire festival. Miss Merritt has appeared with several major symphonies, including the People's Symphony, the Indianapolis Symphony, and the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Her appearances with Mr. Harrington in duet recitals have added to her prestige and reputation. Mr. Juht was born in Estonia, is a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and before coming to this country was a member of the Riga Symphony Orchestra, professor of music at its Conservatory, and played under the batons of the most noted conductors in Europe, giving solo recitals in many of the leading European cities at the same time. He plays a Francesco Ruggieri (1679) Cremona Contra-Bass. Of Mr. Biltcliffe it has been said that he is a decidedly competent and understanding pianist, an intellectual interpreter rather than a seeker after spurious dramatic effects.

This concert affords an unusual opportunity to hear four such prominent musicians in Andover, and friends of the school are most welcome. There will be no admission charge.

MEMORIAL HALL LIBRARY NOTES

The following books have recently been added to the Memorial Hall library:

Escape, Vance; A distinguished German-American actress is seized upon her return to Germany and charged with distributing anti-Nazi propaganda in America. Secretly tried, she is condemned to die for treason. As the story progresses, escape appears to become less possible and the unique way in which it is effected is amazing.

Green Money, Stevenson; On George Ferrier's twenty-fifth birthday, he accepts the trusteeship of the wealthy Mr. Green's beautiful daughter for he believed the gentleman when he boasted that he was good for another twenty years. The unexpected happened and George finds that supervising the welfare of his ward leads to many unforeseen complications. A light, amusing story.

Hardly A Man Is Now Alive. Beard: Dan Beard tells many an amusing anecdote of his boyhood in Ohio around the Civil War time. During his youth he traveled through the midwest as a surveyor and later he chose the career of artist and illustrator. Of late years he is best known for his leadership in the Boy Scout movement in this country.

Men Under The Sea, Ellsberg; Commander Ellsberg writes of the real adventures of men who lead a life of daring under the sea. Here, in are accounts of the tragedies that befell the S-51, S-4 and the

Squalus and the undersea inventions that were used in the rescue work. 627 E47m

North Of The Danube, Caldwell; The author writes about the summer of 1938 which he spent traveling through Czechoslovakia and becoming acquainted with the people and their problems. The book is illustrated with many beautiful photographs by Margaret Bourke-White. 914.37 C12

Open Sky, Strong; On a lonely island off the coast of Ireland, a doctor seeks to regain his health after a breakdown. Looked upon with distrust by his superstitious neighbors, he finds friendliness only in the girl, Sheila, whose striking resemblance to a large portrait in his cottage arouses his curiosity.

Return To Dust, Covert. The Dust Bowl region in Oklahoma is the background for the story of a woman's courage through many misfortunes and her belief in a husband who is too easily discouraged.

The "Butter and Egg Man" by George S. Kaufman is the first play of the year to be given by the Adventurers in Memorial Auditorium on December 5. New York first-nighters roared at the dialogue of this stage comedy. You will love the story of the naive, whimsical lad from Chillicothe, Ohio, who has a small fortune and decides to go to New York and produce plays.

Everett Gorrie is playing the lead as the innocent boy from the country. You have laughed at Mr. Gor-pay and also makes the secretary. Stephen Whitney, of the Phillips Academy faculty, is a New York theatrical agent who talks out of the side of his mouth in his best New York accent and has ambitions as a play producer. Mr. Whitney played the part of a medical student in "The Wind and The Rain." With the aid of some very clever dialogue and a hat, he tries to blind Peter to the facts of the business.

A newcomer to the Adventurers, Carolyn D. Howe, leads Peter astray as she brings all her acting experience into play. Mrs. Howe comes to us as an experienced actress, having played in Winchester with the Group Theatre, the Unitarian Players, and the Unitare Club Cabarets.

The butter and egg man temperament in Peter wins out, however, and not even the arm of the law overcomes our not-so-dumb hero.

Book Week Display Shown At Junior Library

"Book Week" was observed last week, and the local library's observance of it was something of which the town might well be proud. Clad in costumes of various countries above are: Irene Shorten, Patricia Robinson, Katherine Lefebvre, and Zita Surette. (Surette Studio)

The Junior Room was the scene of much activity last week when it joined libraries all over the country in celebrating "Around the World in Books." Many teachers, parents and children enjoyed the book exhibits, and the opportunity to examine the new books.

Kathleen Lefebvre, Irene Shorten, Patsy Robertson and Alice and Zita Surette were the hostesses. They are members of St. Augustine's school. Mrs. Mark Surette made and loaned the attractive costumes worn by the children to represent America as well as foreign countries.

On Tuesday night, thirty-seven pupils gathered in the room to listen to the broadcast given over station WLLH by members of the Book Week committee of the Andover Junior high school.

The room was very attractively decorated for the Open House for teachers of the Elementary and Junior High school held on Thursday afternoon from four until six.

On Saturday afternoon, a special story hour was held for the children.

The Junior Room wishes to express its appreciation to all those who made Book Week a success.

Wins Final Recipe Contest

Mrs. William P. Foster of 96 Central street has been adjudged the winner in the final week of the Brer Rabbit contest for her recipe on old-fashioned molasses layer cake, a recipe which has been handed down for three generations. It will be entered in the national contest for the $500 prize.

The recipe follows:

Old-fashioned Molasses Layer Cake

1 egg, 1 cup of molasses, 2 tablespoonfuls of melted butter, 2 cups of flour, one-half teaspoonful of soda, 2 level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 1 teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of salt and 1 cup of hot water.

Beat egg in mixing bowl, add molasses and melted butter and beat together. Stir in flour sifted with soda, baking powder, cinnamon and salt. Mix and slowly stir in hot water. Bake in three layers in a moderately slow oven.

Lemon Filling

Put 4 level tablespoonfuls of flour and one-half cup of sugar in sauce pan, mix well, then slowly stir in 1 1/4 cups of boiling water. Stir constantly over fire for 15 minutes, take from range and add 1 tablespoonful of butter, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon and the beaten yolk of one egg. Return to stove and cook 3 minutes more. Cool a little and spread between layers. Frost with 8 minute icing or boiled icing.

(This is a very old recipe, handed down for three generations.)
