FOR THE LOVE OF GOLD DON'T STAY AWAY

Whatta Play!
Whatta Cast!
Whatta Thrill!

You have been warned! If you want to miss the monumental, super-colossal magnificence of the Andover Evening Study Group's stupendous production: "The Reward of Crime" or "The Love of Gold," stay away from George Washington Hall on Saturday, March 16th. If you don't want to see the most gorgeous extravaganza ever produced in Andover, Mass., get on a bus at 8:15 p.m. and rife as far away as your ten cents will take you. Those same ten cents would have admitted you to this thrilling New England saga. BUT if you want to release your pent-up emotions or if you want to enrich your cultural background, come and see this stark drama and relive the hardships endured by our ancestors. Come and watch Roscoe Duke suffer agonies of remorse as he portrays the role of Hazel Greene, the misguided farmer. Hark to the moral preachings of his faithful wife, Clarinda, Marguerite Fecteau. Thrill to the evil machinations of Thomas O'Donnell and George Driscoll whose plottings as Simon Barrs and Brandon Coyle would make Machiavelli, himself, green with envy. Tears will come to the eyes of the most hard hearted at the trials of the lovers, Mabel Greene and Hart Hawkins,—Marie Leonard and Frederick Hinman. You will smile through your tears at the antics of rollicking Rose Cranberry and Tim Gleason, gayly depicted by Evelyn Cilcus and John Hall. These stellar performances polished to brilliance by the direction of the famous Mervin Stevens will undoubtedly make dramatic history.

Don't forget the seven big specialty numbers, singing, and dancing stars and a chance for you yourself to raise your voice in song. The biggest ten cents worth ever offered an audience. No reserved seats. Doors open at 7:30.

B.P.W. Asked, Received $3200 Less Than 1939

Appropriations requested by the Board of Public Works and granted by the town meeting this year were $3193.53 under last year's comparable total.

Following is a complete list of appropriations asked for by the Board of Public Works for the years 1939 and 1940. Any other special articles such as water extensions which may come under the supervision of this Board have been petitioned for by individuals or committees other than the Board of Public Works. The water extension for 1939 calling for $1,200.00 expenditures was petitioned for by the Board as an improvement to the system in replacing an old two-inch line.

The original appropriation requested for Highway Maintenance in 1939 was $54,000.00 which was cut to $51,800.00 due to purchase of new trucks. Savings in other Departments were made due to the purchase of these same trucks. The sum of $51,800.00 was made up by the sum of $13,150.00 received by the State and voted under Article 5, 1939 to be used in conjunction with the appropriation for Highway Maintenance of $38,650.00 voted under Article 4.

The comparison follows:

	1939	1940
Highway (Maint.)	$51,800.00	$52,900.00
Park	4,708.00	4,600.00

Tax Rate To Be About The Same

Andover's tax rate for 1940 will be "approximately the same as last year's," chairman Shepard was able to state after the conclusion of the town meeting Tuesday night. "I can't say that it won't be a bit higher, or a bit lower, but it will be around $30," he said.

The town appropriated $668,719.28, to which must be added $7100 voted at the special meeting last fall. The total appropriations at the March meeting in 1939 were $639,141.16. This increase of $36,678.12 made the town responsible for what would have been a better than two dollar increase in the rate, and in addition there was $10,000 less voted from free cash to reduce the rate this year.

However, state figures released by commissioner Henry F. Long this week made it possible for Mr. Shepard to predict an approximately 30 dollar rate. Total state and county taxes and miscellaneous assessments this year will be only $68,421.29 as against last year's $96,883.59. Receipts are only $200 under last year's.

George R. Cairns, trailer by eight votes for a second place on the B. P. W. at the annual election, picked up a net of three votes on his successful opponent, John White, in the recount Friday night, the latter winning finally by a five-vote margin.

Annual Town Meeting Provides Usual Quota Of Humor — And Fortunately Sense

A thin sliver of silver moon hung over Andover's Memorial Auditorium Monday night; it was pitifully thin, its thread of light being sufficient only to make its outline visible and entirely inadequate to the task of lighting the streets of Andover which for a few jittery moments were destined to be darkened because under the roof of that auditorium some 800 Andover citizens had settled temporarily into lapsae mentorum.

But failing to vote, for those few minutes before reconsideration rectified the situation, for money sufficient to light the streets of Andover was the town's only sample of mob haywyracy. True there were individual cases of straying from the normal paths, but there always is at town meetings. Not overly generous, not unduly penurious, the town went through the appropriations pretty much as the finance committee recommended, and the only real waste came in the use of the English language and as a result in the time of the citizens of town of Andover. In fact, so many words were wasted on Monday night that the voters had to return on Tuesday night to act on some 20 odd left-over articles.

The Monday night section started with its usual matter-of-formness with the town clerk reading the preamble and postlude to the warrant while the voters chafed a bit at the bit. They kept on chafing while under article one the clerk, in accordance with law, read off the votes for officers—news a week old by that time. Then after electing Fred Cheever to the Cornell fund trustees, the fun began.

Increases for Two Officers

Article 3 looks innocuous enough. To establish the salary of elected Town Officers for the ensuing year, Chairman Shepard read off a list of salaries, and anyone watching pages 17 and 18 of their Town Report would have noted but one change: an increase of $200 for the town clerk. However, town treasurer Thaxter Eaton manages to get along pretty amiably with the voters, and his self-made request for an increase of $500 a year was predestined to success. Explaining that when he took the office, the salary was $2500 and he voluntarily cut it $500, Thaxter tossed in a few extra statistics on check-writing to show that the

County Board Of Trade Meets Here

An enlightening talk on the business of recreation in New England, particularly in Massachusetts, was given by Stewart Paine, assistant director of recreation for the N. E. Council yesterday noon at the meeting of the Essex County Board of Trade held at the Andover Inn. A number of representatives of the Andover Service club attended and were introduced by club president Kenneth L. Sherman. Rev. A. Graham Baldwin gave the welcoming address.

Mr. Paine reported that vacation expenditures in Massachusetts amount to $200,000,000 annually, or twice as much as in Maine.

Lawrence Hart, manager of the Chamber of Commerce in Gloucester, spoke on a map of Essex county now being prepared.

Too Wet For You?

There's one very important conclusion that one can find from our town meeting, in addition to the fact of course that its conclusion didn't come as soon as it should have. If one examines the articles and examines the results, he will discover that with the single exception of the tree articles, everything that a town board asked for was granted.

That is as it should be. We elect town officials to supervise the operation of town departments; they naturally are in closer contact with the needs of the departments than any private citizen can be. It is their duty to present these needs to the town at town meeting, and if everything in our representative form of government is working as ideally as it should, the town meeting will have little hesitancy about approving the plans.

But this makes another one of our civic duties very, very important. The almost automatic approval of officially requested items presupposes a good set of officials. If we do our duty right on election day, we have little to worry about a week later at the appropriation meeting. But last week there was quite a bit of grumbling about the election results; and the pitiable thing about it all was that the attendance at the polls was very poor. Too many of those who cluck-clucked were among those who just didn't bother going out to vote. It was wet, of course—but there were plenty of candidates who were providing free transportation so that anyone who really wanted to vote could have done so without any inconvenience or any serious chance of endangering his health.

Lack of confidence in officials on town meeting night can be caused only by lack of interest on the part of voters on election day.

The Greeley bowling team, winners a week ago of the second half in the Andover bowling league, won the league championship Tuesday night at a rolloff with the Boys' club, first half winners. LIGHTLESS NIGHTS, FISHLESS PONDS, ENLIVEN TOWN MEETING added cost of government was proving added work for him. It took courage to ask 800 people for more money, and it took courage to stand up and speak against Thaxter. Taxpayers' association president Edmond E. Hammond spoke against it, as did John F. O'Connell and for the finance committee, its chairman, Harvey G. Turner, later to prove the "great clarifier." In clarifying this particular situation, Mr. Turner spoke of other towns where in practically every instance the office of treasurer is tied in with other positions. He felt it was not a full-time position, but after Joseph Burns and the self-styled buddy of Thaxter's back in Camp Devens days, Robert Deyermund, had upheld his cause, the increase went through, with moderator-county commissioner Fred Butler forgetting himself for a minute by saying: "To establish the salaries of 'County' officers."

Thaxter Saves $150

Then into the regular departmental budget the town went, Chairman Shepard making the motions and for a while the town letting the moderator pass them unaided. Everything went off as the finance committee recommended until the treasurer's appropriation appeared. Remembering the change in salary, Chairman Shepard moved $3050, or $500 more than the $2550 that the finance committee had suggested. But up popped Thaxter again, amending it to $2950. Somewhere, in postage or something, Thaxter's going to save $100, bringing the net cost of his salary increase down to $400. Later, on the interest item, a recommended $11,400, Thaxter was up again to amend to $11,350—net cost of salary increase now $350. But that's where that story ends.

Chairman Shepard had been steaming through the budget pretty fast, and he was bound to take a toss sooner or later. Anyway, even when you're not talking fast, "Purification Plant Portion" is not too easy to say. Moderator Butler avoided the pitfall by ducking under a general "this article."

Abolitionist Appears

As we said, Chairman Shepard had been steaming through the budget pretty fast, but Matty Burns was bound to be up sooner or later. He made his entrance this time on the Ponds pond appropriation, and his talk here was typical of the rest of the two-night meeting. Matty was in an abolitionist frame of mind. He was going to liquidate quite a few committees, etc., including the pond committee, the playground committee, the Co-ordinated Recreation (ice-skating) committee, the tree warden and man, but the call never arrived. He didn't know just how the budget figure was arrived at and why it should be higher than last year's. Moderator Butler put the question on the recommended $18,665.72, and it was voted down! Gradually the light began to dawn on the faces of the voters. They looked at each other, their amazed lips forming the two words: "NO LIGHTS!"

Chairman Shepard asked reconsideration—"we must have street lights." Taxpayers' president Hammond asked reconsideration, and after Henry A. Bodwell remarked that it was a sad reflection on the town that no member of the committee was present to report on it, Mr. Hammond moved an appropriation of $18,513.72, the same as last year's. Into the picture then stepped Ernest Edwards, a committee member who knew something about the situation and who clarified it for the town and for Matty Burns who wanted again to know about the standards in Shawshen village. After Mr. Squires said something, the reduced appropriation was carried, and Andover's attempt to outkane Mayor Kane of Woburn proved short-lived, although Bob Deyermund was in favor of putting the lights out on moonlit nights.

The school committee, butt of a cut a year ago, had no trouble this year, and in addition later in the evening when yawns were epidemic the committee was presented with $425 more to add to the $500 which it didn't use to reopen the North school a year ago. Just what the committee will do this year can only be guessed, but with the foremost member of the minority, Herbert Carter, having retired, the chances are that this $500 and this $425 will just be the start of a new reserve fund or something.

On the playground appropriation, where that lone wolf with the abolitionist bent again was very much in the limelight, Matty and committee chairman Stafford A. Lindsay exchanged compliments. On the vote Matty was second best.

B. P. W. Has Easy Time

Chairman Sidney P. White of the Board of Public Works found it easy sailing on the B. P. W. items until he became stuck on the snow appropriation. But he managed to plow through some arguments offered by Bob Deyermund and came out with an appropriation of $10,500. Not exactly pleased with the handling of the snow was Bob; he had a couple of suggestions, buying more trucks and tractors and getting on the rocks for good, and cutting the appropriation 20% and letting them muddle along. Mr. White reported that the average expenditure over the past five years had been $25,000 passed, up came the North school matter again. Last year's arguments were again used, the only difference being that this year the school committee, speechless last year, presented a report through chairman Fred Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fieldhouse, Mrs. Albert Hardy, and B. P. W. member-elect Barron spoke for reopening the school, the latter worrying about the increase in the children up there. Mr. Hammond wanted to know what the school committee would do; Herbert Lewis wanted to know what the school committee would do, after asking "Who has the most power, the school board or the voters assembled?"; in fact everybody wanted to know what the school committee would do. Maybe even the school committee wondered. Mr. Lewis' question was answered indirectly by a voter who suggested that the committee either do what the meeting said, or else—the town should get a new committee. The school board, according to the laws of the state, has the most power here, and the only way the North district people can be sure of reopening the school is through recourse to a change in committee at the annual election. As it is, back into the laps of the school committee goes the problem, with the chances being that it will remain in the lapse of the school committee.

Ice-skating, for which $500 was appropriated last year, came up on Article 44 and so did Matty Burns. He was going to abolish this committee and turn the duties over to the Board of Public Works, but instead the town took it away from this board, appropriated $250 with the suggestion that it be done in conjunction with school authorities.

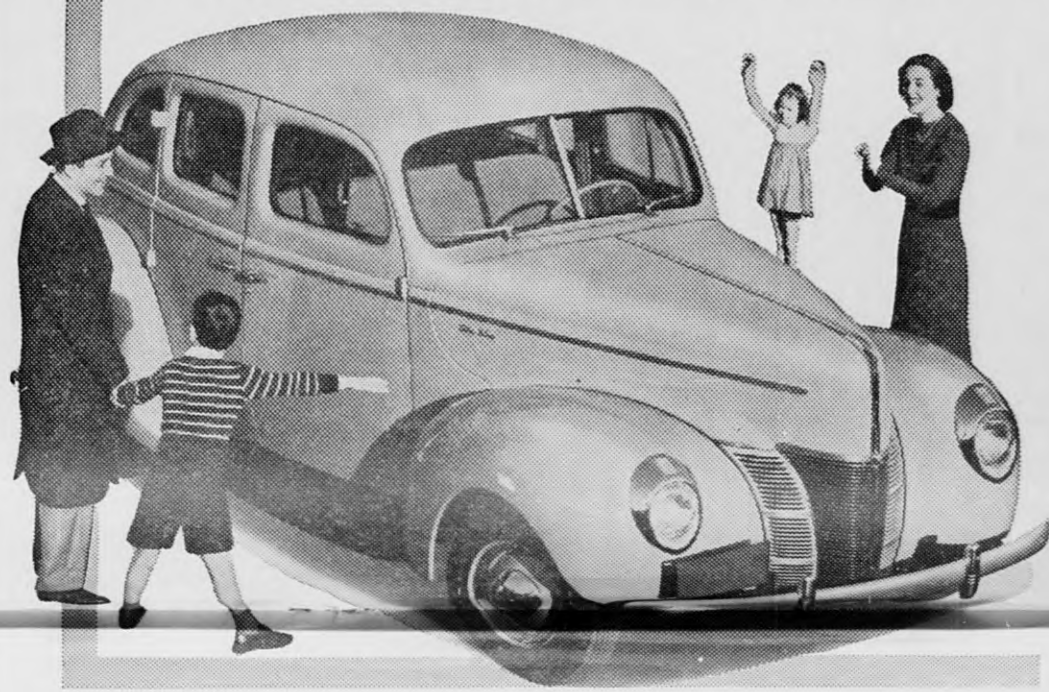

Bleachers Defeated

The bleachers article, asking $1500, took up considerable time, with Messrs. James Mosher and Harold Wennik carrying the burden of the offense, and Clarifier Turner, Mr. Hammond and Mr. O'Connell, with Mr. Squires, opposing it. The bleachers, they said, were movable: so was the argument. Mr. Squires started on the bleachers, a luxury, he said, and landed up on the water extensions in West Andover. Mr. Mosher started off on the bleachers and landed on the brush fire truck which he said could be bought for $1200 instead of $3000, thus evoking an explanation on the truck which had already been bought way back in the meeting. Finally, as lids became heavy and mouths indulged in frequent involuntary exercises, the bleachers were indefinitely postponed.

The town still doesn't own Hussey's pond. Matty Burns was all for seizing it by right of eminent domain for $750, but Harvey Turner was not sure that the Ice company

Abolitionist Appears

As we said, Chairman Shepard had been steaming through the budget pretty fast, but Matty Burns was bound to be up sooner or later. He made his entrance this time on the Ponds pond appropriation, and his talk here was typical of the rest of the two-night meeting. Matty was in an abolitionist frame of mind. He was going to liquidate quite a few committees, etc., including the pond committee, the playground committee, the Co-ordinated Recreation (ice-skating) committee, the tree warden and by implication part of the Board of Health. The Board of Public Works under the abolitionist scheme was to be the beneficiary of these appropriations and of the responsibilities, work, etc.

The town was unanimous on all these proposed changes, unanimous against them. Matty wanted to cut the pond appropriation to $1800 from $2200, with the suggestion that school teachers not be employed as life-guards. After styling the committee a "political full-back" and himself "a lone wolf," Matty suggested that instead of suggesting that the President cut the budget, the "poor misguided Republicans" should cut their own. Mr. Shepard, life-guard McBride and Joseph Hargedon spoke against the abolitionist suggestion, while Robert Deyermond spoke against employing school teachers, but the town's vote showed that the voters were not afraid of the lone wolf.

The next change in the figures submitted in the printed report came when Chairman Shepard stated that through error no figure had been printed in the report for printing the report. A sum of $709.50 was inserted.

The police department was apparently in danger of losing a man when Mr. O'Connell moved for a $1500 budget cut, opposed by Mr. Shepard and George M. Squires, who in his first appearance of the night before these "intelligent faces" was against abolishing any of the policemen.

Tree warden G. Richard Abbott did not ask for any budget increase as he had planned to before the finance committee, and in the Tuesday section his request for $600 for new trees was voted down after Matty had tried to abolish the position and after Hugh Bullock, pinch-hitting for clarifier Turner on the Tuesday shift, had explained that the trees could be had for less if the department adopted the nursery plan that the cemetery trustees use.

The Light That Failed

And then came the light. William Barron, a member of the lighting committee, reported that they had met once a year ago, adjourned subject to the call of the chair-

Chairman P. White of the Board of Public Works found it easy sailing on the B. P. W. items until he became stuck on the snow appropriation. But he managed to plow through some arguments offered by Bob Deyermond and came out with an appropriation of $10,000. Not exactly pleased with the handling of the snow was Bob; he had a couple of suggestions, buying more trucks and tractors and getting on the rocks for good, and cutting the appropriation 20% and letting them muddle along. Mr. White reported that the average expenditure over the past five years had been $25,000 and with more snow this year, it would be only $14,000. Without the new trucks, he said, it would have been $20,000.

After, without discussion, the police and fire apparatus were voted, Mr. White had little difficulty in securing all the new pieces of equipment asked in special articles, although Mr. Squires wanted to lump them all together and spend $1000. Under article 13 Mr. Deyermond wanted to know whether Elm street was to be one of the new sidewalks, and Mr. White said it was being "considered." Bob may have that sidewalk—or he may not. The small runabout truck at $656 was withdrawn, but all the others were okayed, so that this year Andover won't have to borrow a road home from North Andover or a cold patch mixer from Methuen.

Three streets were accepted, and the water pipe bought from the petitioners. Under article 29 a sewer recommendation for North Main street was cut to $1000 from $3480, the W. P. A. to furnish the labor and betterments to be assessed up to the cost of the project to the town.

Harvey Turner moved that eight water extension articles be taken up collectively, and while Mr. Squires was expounding his views, Bob Deyermond set about to spin a yarn, or rather rewind a ball of yarn which had found its way from the lap of a knitter and gone on a little jaunt down the hilly aisle. The laughter drowned out Mr. Squires' remarks. There were some objections to grouping, but when Mr. Turner clarified the situation, it went through with no trouble. Mr. Turner moved that $10,000 be appropriated for new water construction at the direction of the Board of Public Works, with W. P. A. labor, the plan being to take the more necessary extensions first according to a sound engineering plan. Some of the eight projects may be done, others won't.

Under the W. P. A. materials appropriation Mr. White lopped off $6,000 to bring it down to $12,000 and nobody objected.

North School Again

Then after four planning board zoning by-law amendments had bleachers, a luxury, he said, and landed up on the water extensions in West Andover. Mr. Mosher started off on the bleachers and landed on the brush fire truck which he said could be bought for $1200 instead of $3000, thus evoking an explanation on the truck which had already been bought way back in the meeting. Finally, as lids became heavy and mouths indulged in frequent involuntary exercises, the bleachers were indefinitely postponed.

The town still doesn't own Hussey's pond. Matty Burns was all for seizing it by right of eminent domain for $750, but Harvey Turner was not sure that the Ice company would even accept $1500 until Stafford Lindsay clarified him on this point. Speaking for it were Mr. Lindsay, Mr. Lamont, Mrs. Harold Kitchen and Mr. Lewis; speaking against it were Mr. Turner and Mr. Squires; just speaking was Bob Deyermond who wanted to know if Poms under the plan would be given up, and nobody could give Bob the answer until Bob stopped asking it because he still had the floor.

The clock was getting dangerously near midnight. The warrant had 68 articles, and the town had acted on 46. Mr. Shepard's motion in the early evening to have 7 p. m. Tuesday night for an adjournment time had passed unanimously. C. Carleton Kimball presented then a welcome motion and adjournment was passed.

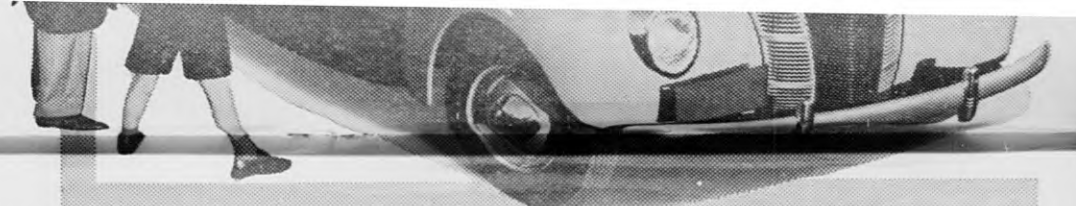

Back Tuesday Night

The Tuesday night shift was quite a bit smaller, but it was apparently a tax-conscious group. In short order it disposed of several articles as follows. High Plain road indefinitely postponed, Sutherland street hard-surfacing and curbing referred to B. P. W., River street sidewalk no motion, Walnut avenue walk appropriated $950, Dartmouth road drain no motion, Andover street and Argilla road straightening $625. Then Mr. Abbott's request for $600 for new trees went down to defeat, the $200 band concerts received the same fate. John MacKenzie moved that a committee of eight be appointed to look in to the garbage and rubbish problem and report at the next annual town meeting, and Mr. Butler now has this problem.

Angling for Friday

The first long-winded discussion Tuesday night was piscatorial in nature. Under article 56 the Board of Public Works was to be instructed to open Haggetts for fishing and boating, but this apparently from the town counsel's opinion was like the North school article, the "so-what?" variety. Do what you want to it, the town counsel said, in effect—but the Board still can't open it for boating. Matthew Burns had come to the meeting

TOWN MEETING

Tuesday night, and since he's been fishing at Haggetts a reputed 50-60 years, he was interested. After reading a Townsman editorial which suggested that filtering of Haggetts pond water was about as necessary as a mine-sweeper for the Shawsheen or something like that and which further suggested that filtering on election day might be a good idea, Matty, who's getting publicity now in sufficient quantity to offset that given us, read a letter from Dr. Jakmauh. Others in favor of fishing were Gordon Cannon, Vincent Irvine and angler Bob Deyermund who had the night before reeled in an embryonic sweater or pair of socks. Opposed was Mr. O'Connell, and reporting officially were Mr. White and state health department employee Joseph McCarthy who explained that Haggetts is not and never has been dangerous water, but that all sources of human pollution should be kept from it.

After the fishing was defeated, the rest of the articles went through with little controversy. The town treasurer's and tax collector's terms were changed to three years, the tree warden's wasn't but the Burns' abolishing motion was abolished by the moderator. The Bailey school was voted to be sold—a few years back a similar article was thrown out. Lawrence isn't going to receive anything from Andover for the electric light rate study made by the Lawrence government without consulting Andover's officials—because, said Selectman Shepard, apparently little if any of the rate decrease that came from the study benefitted Andover.

The Osgood street straightening at $150 was approved, and then with grateful thanks a legacy of $10,000 from the David and Lucy Shaw estates was accepted, income to be used for relief. A $200 Legion essay gift was accepted. At Samuel Resnik's request action on the Temple Emanuel cemetery was referred to next year, some preliminaries not having been disposed of.

Under the disposition of free cash Town Treasurer Eaton recommended that $15,000 be used to reduce the tax rate.

Under the last article Chairman Shepard moved that a study be made by the planning board of the public dump situation with a view to closing the High street dump. Then in the same vein he asked for permission to sell some junk.

This plan is especially designed to provide income to cover essential family expenses during the readjustment period following the death of the breadwinner. By keeping the family financially secure, it gives them time to prepare for the future.

MEMORIAL HALL LIBRARY NOTES

The following books have been added to the Memorial Hall library.

A GOODLY FELLOWSHIP, CHASE. A very human record of thirty eventful years of teaching in which the author has recorded with zest a variety of experiences—teaching in rural schools in Maine and Montana, graduate days at Minnesota and in Germany, the openly avowed joys of a lecture tour and college teaching at St. Catherine's and Smith.

CAPTAIN ABBY AN CAPTAIN JOHN, COFFIN. The Pennells of Casco Bay were a part of the Maine seafaring tradition. John Pennell carried on that tradition and with his wife, Abby, who accompanied him on every voyage, saw most of the far places of the earth. Mr. Coffin has told their story from old diaries and personal records.

A HALF INCH OF CANDLE, GIBBS. Disillusioned by the World War, John Riversmead settled in a little French Riviera village and tried to find peace and contentment in his painting and in the simple life about him. The local setting is especially well done and the rather idyllic love story well handled in this novel which is a passionate plea for peace.

WASTED MANPOWER, GILL. The author, assistant commissioner of the Works Progress Administration, views the tremendous problem of unemployment, tells ways which have been taken to ameliorate the situation and considers means of reducing it to a minimum.

THE TOWN CRIED MURDER, FORD. Even without the services of our old friends, Colonel Primrose and Mrs. Grace Latham, the author has written an absorbing mystery story with the setting, Williamsburg, Virginia, and with the main action revolving around domineering Melusina Yardley of Yardley Hall.

NO ARMS, NO ARMOUR, HENRIQUES. Tubby Windrush might have remained just the conventional type of young British army officer had it not been for the influence of two unusual and quite different older officers who stimulated in him the desire to seek out for himself a working philosophy of life. A very thoughtful and often beautifully written book.

BUT YOU ARE YOUNG, LAWRENCE. Kelsie Wright, a young manicurist, faces the problem of being the sole support of her family and sees no possibility of marriage and a home of her own. An older married brother and sister feel no obligation to share the responsibility. The problem is not solved although Kelsie does take a desperate chance for happiness.

LAND BELOW THE WIND, KEITH. A young American woman married to an English official in Northern Borneo writes with humor and affection of her life there—of their jungle expeditions, of friendships with the native people, of her unusual animal pets. Attractively illustrated with sketches by the author.

PAGEANT OF ELECTRICITY, MORGAN. A very readable account for the uninitiated layman of the history and development of electricity from the earliest times to the present day.

—Miss Lucia Trombley of Shaw-sheen road is enjoying a month's vacation with her family in Spartansburg, South Carolina.

Taxpayers' Ass'n Contacts Members In Record Time

No town meeting "blitzkrieg" can stump the Andover Taxpayers' association, as was the case several years ago on an adjourned town meeting, Monday night when this meeting adjourned until Tuesday night it then became possible for any group whose articles had been tossed out to muster enough strength at the adjourned meeting, ask reconsideration and then overthrow the previous vote. Faced with the problem of impressing upon the 600 members of the association the importance of returning Tuesday night to forestall any such move, the directors met the situation with no difficulty and on Tuesday afternoon nearly every member of the association had received a printed post card.

Submitted to Smith and Coutts company at 7:30 Tuesday morning the type was set immediately and thanks to the new stencils bought by the association for the mailing list, the 600 cards were all addressed and in the post office by 10:30 Tuesday morning. Only those on the rural routes, who received only a morning delivery, were unable to be reached. Tuesday night it was apparent that the majority of those present were association members.

The card follows:

TAXPAYERS!

The annual town meeting was last night adjourned to TONIGHT Tuesday, March 12. There are still over 20 articles to be acted upon—and in addition, parliamentary rules allow reconsideration of any motion made last night. Therefore, it is very important that you attend the town meeting at 7 tonight to prevent any group from voting something already voted down.

Ski Tales

I've just got wind of a new ski club that is on the making and it seems that aspirants have to pass very rigid tests before they will be accepted by the charter five as one of them...not only in skiing—"the excuse for being"—but in sports of all seasons which the prospective members care to muscle in on... But the primary requirement is that you MUST be a ski enthusiast, the rest will come...

In spite of granulated snow that scratches, icy spots that jump up to meet you, and deep ruts that would make lovely tracks for a centipede, the thickly populated slopes of last Sunday seem to indicate that the club won't have much difficulty in getting a good start...What they will need will probably be a good instructor to keep it on its feet... Kerr Sparks ought to be able to supply the right spark if he doesn't stowe away too long...He has been an instructor at Mt. Mansfield this season and in the Vermont professional cross-country race, last Saturday, he came in third...

Everett and Ruth Mercereau, Betty and Marie Holihan, Ann Beer, Midge Buchan, Ronald Valentine, John Lowe, Kay McDonald, Lucy Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Rafton and daughter, all seemed to be having a good time at Cranmore, Sunday, although there seemed to be a general tendency to quit early...Dorothy McDonough and Virginia Wise went back to New Boston but they also found conditions poor...Gilford was fair...But Harold Rutter reported that Cannon had plenty of powder... "perfect" in fact and soft enough to exclude drastic results when you hit the trail...The Carleton Kimballs who have been journeying north themselves in past weeks, found Prospect Hill very good over the week-end...

It's an old Swissian custom to put a feather in one's cap for every new 'Alp but it's an old American custom to carve a notch in one's belt every time one conquers the headwall...

DISCUSSES FINNISH TREATY AT P.T.A. MEETING

The recent Russo-Finnish treaty of peace inspired Dirk van der Stucken's talk on European affairs at the Shawsheen P.T.A. meeting last night in the school hall. Tracing the important events in the conflict, Mr. van der Stucken stressed the advisability of peace even at the price that Finland had to pay and he described the great destruction of an "unrestricted war" in which there is no victor.

The Fathers had charge of the program which also included a male quartet, a song, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling" sung by James Waine and piano selections by Chickory Skyeirik. Carleton Shulze, chairman of the committee, also displayed "The Art of Magic."

Over 150 people were present with the second grade, Miss Leary's room, having more parents present. Mrs. Joseph Mulvey and Mrs. James Abbott assisted by other second grade mothers had charge of the refreshments.

Miss Doherty Plays Scotch Lassie In Senior Class Comedy

"A lovely, lovely lassie, sweet as the heather in the dell" is Bonnie Little Marigold; aging James Payton, Laird of Kettinfoot, thinks so, and you will too when you see Elinor Doherty play the title role in the Punchard senior class play to be presented in the Memorial auditorium, Friday evening, March 29.

Warren Richardson plays the Laird—and woo Marigold he does, as well as creaking bones and cracking tones will let him.

Misses Ruth Cowen and Elinor Houston, will be seen as Miss Valencia Dunlop and Miss Sarita Dunlop, respectively. These characters are the aunts of Archie Forsythe, portrayed by Gordon White, and neighbors of Mrs. Pringle who has taken it upon herself to bring up our heroine, Marigold.

Thisbe Pararella plays the role of Madame Marly, the French play actress and Marigold's mother, with the finesse of a true Thespian. Amidst the burrs in the third act there will be a Highland fling, with the leading lady, Warren Deyermund, Philip Beck and Gordon White taking part. The whole play will have you laughing, with Tommy Davies as Peter Gloag, the young divinity student, providing many of the laughs.

The play is being directed by Mervin E. Stevens, of the faculty, assisted by Miss Dorothy Christie, who has the responsible position of student director, under which comes the job of prompter.

The stage crew is as follows: Thomas Noyes, Jacob Jacobson, Donald Hill, George Brown, Herbert Muller and Frank Haggerty.

The following committee has been chosen to take care of the properties: faculty, Miss Armistage, furniture; John Miller, Andrew Hamilton, Howard Proctor and Marilyn Lewis.

—Benjamin Cameron of Maple avenue is ill at the Lawrence General hospital.

—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Douglas of Main street are enjoying a vacation in Bermuda.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edmond E. Hammond and son, Edmond, Jr., of Porter road left today for a vacation in Florida.

—Otis Severance and Kenneth Minard of the academy faculty are taking a group of students to St. Petersburg, Fla., stopping en route at Washington and Pinehurst, N. C.

—Miss Esther Smith of Shawsheen road will spend two weeks in Pebble Hill Plantation, Georgia.

—Mr. and Mrs. George D. Braddon of South Main street are enjoying a few weeks' stay in Florida.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Irvine of Whit-tier street is on an extended visit with relatives in Baltimore, Md.

—Miss Mary E. Harnedy, 24 Summer street, has returned from a vacation in Miami.

—Robert L. Maxwell of 17 Kenilworth street, Andover, senior at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy enjoyed an educational trip last week to Detroit, Indianapolis, and Washington, D. C., with a group of 58 other seniors from the college.

—Mrs. Willis Tewksbury, Hilder road, is convalescing after a recent illness.

—Rev. Albert C. Morris, rector of the Christ church, was the speaker at the Lenten service in the Grace church, Lawrence, last evening.

Cooling Off

It was pretty difficult to get the right angle on the Haggetts pond situation at the second town meeting Tuesday night but it was finally realized that a state of fishiness will no longer exist at our water supply...and boating also suffered a similar de-feet since, as one gentleman put it, who would want to "drink water that other people wash their feet in?"...And if the voters were gullible, they might even have been led to believe that sea-fowl frequent Haggetts...Cannon exploded the theory that the sportsmen were responsible for the "condemnation" and the serious condition of the water was White-washed by the chairman of the Board of Public Works supported by the Mr. McCarthy of the State Health Department who reminded everyone that our water system is something to be proud of.

While Mr. Squires was discussing the water extension program on Monday night, a ball of yarn which had been resting on Miss Marion Hill's lap un-wound its way complacently down the Auditorium aisle to the speaker's feet...from where Bob Deyermund rescued it and brought it back to its owner only to find that it was no less willing to accede the floor than some of the speakers and it once more rolled towards the stage...Only this time it strategically made its way under the seats...This problem could not be so easily solved since Mr. Deyermund couldn't quite see himself crawling back the same way...It almost seemed as if he should have left wool enough alone...So the yarn had to be disrupted...and meanwhile town problems had also been unraveled...

But after two nights of discussion and voting it evolved that although the minds of the voters had been taxed considerably, the rate of tax is probably no heavier this year than last...and if town meetings are any prediction, there will probably be a run on the woolen industry...

Town treasurer Eaton attended the Phillips Club meeting last Thursday and listened attentively to Dr. Bock's talk on "The Common Cold and Other Delusions" and now he is suffering under the delusion...which would give Confucius, if he didn't have laryngitis, by this time, a chance to say, "He who listen to lecture on 'The Common Cold' often find something to sneeze at."

Men's Club Rehearse Annual Minstrel Show

The entire cast of the Andover Men's club's second annual minstrel show which will be produced Friday evening, April 5, in Memorial auditorium, will rehearse this evening at 7:30 in the club rooms. A competently trained chorus will consist of thirty-six male voices, probably the largest chorus ever to appear in a local show. The costuming, scenery and acts are all worthy of a long run Broadway production.

James J. Darby, director of last year's show, will act as interlocutor. He has had varied experience, having participated in innumerable K. of C. and Smith and Dove shows of a decade ago. Mr. Darby is also very active in club affairs and is chairman of the house committee and also a member of the executive committee.
