Bonfire, Aerial Acts, Sports To Feature Fourth Celebration

Andover is to have a Fourth of July celebration this year, with fireworks de-emphasized, according to plans formulated this week by a large committee of St. Augustine's parish workers. The affair will take place at the Smith and Dove cricket field, now the property of the parish.

The celebration will start Wednesday evening at six with a league baseball game between the C. Y. O. Intermediates and the St. Patrick's team. Later there will be an exhibition of aerial and tumbling acts by Jack Zecchini and his troupe, augmented by out-of-town talent. Following a "snap-cracker festival" there will be a monster bonfire at twelve.

On the afternoon of the Fourth at three o'clock there will be races for children and other sports. At 4:30 the C. Y. O. seniors will play a ball game probably with St. Mary's. From 6:30 to 8:30 there will be a band concert by the Andover Brass Band.

There will be no large fireworks display in accordance with the current desire to aid the Red Cross by reducing fireworks activity this year.

Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O.S.A., is honorary chairman, and the co-chairmen are George Markey and Francis Kelley, with M. S. Burke as treasurer. James Sheard is in charge of the bonfire committee and James D. Doherty in charge of sports.

There will be refreshment stands, etc. Tags will be sold to finance the program.

Playgrounds Open Monday Afternoon

"Good Citizenship and Patriotism" will be the theme of the Town of Andover summer playground season which will start next Monday at two. Registration will take place Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The playgrounds will be closed on Thursday, but on the fifth the heavy apparatus will be put up.

The three playgrounds will be open every afternoon and evening in July and August until dusk, and parents are urged to co-operate by keeping their children away at other hours to avoid injuries, etc.

In accordance with the summer's theme, Miss Margaret Davis, now starting her thirteenth year as general supervisor, has recommended to the Ballardvale and Central Playground associations that they purchase flags and flagpoles. The Shawsheen playground is already equipped.

There will be a staff meeting Monday at nine at the Central playground. The staff has been assigned as follows: Central playground, Caroline Abbott, Mary Angus, Alma MacTammany, Eleanor Raidy, James T. Bisset, James D. Doherty; Shawsheen, Mildred Schruender, George Zink; Ballardvale, Benjamin Dimlich and Eleanor Driscoll.

National Red Cross Commends Local Chapter

The Andover Chapter of the American Red Cross has received the following telegram from National Chairman, Norman H. Davis: "Heartly congratulations on exceeding war relief quota. Please extend our sincere appreciation to all who helped in campaign and to all donors."

The Chapter has also received two other communications which it believes may be of interest to the people of Andover, who have supported it so loyally. The first is from the Central Committee in Washington and has to do with the production of garments to be sent to Europe. It reads: "The Central Committee hereby expresses great satisfaction with the manner in which the volunteers in the Chapters have responded with a large volume of production of surgical dressings, garments and other articles for the war sufferers. The Central Committee urges that the Chapters do not allow this work to lag during the summer months as there is desperate need for the greatest possible quantity of supplies which can be produced by the Chapters."

The second, also from National Headquarters, states: "While conditions for rendering relief may change, the policy of the American Red Cross remains the same. Cessation of hostilities in France does not diminish the terrible suffering and needs of refugees. We therefore intend to continue to extend all possible relief, but only upon condition that we have liberty of action and protection so as to insure that our aid goes solely to those French men, women, and children and refugees for whom it is intended. There are already great needs for American Red Cross assistance in England. These will doubtless increase in the near future. Our campaign for funds must go forward, I am confident that our people will continue to trust their Red Cross to do its best to relieve human suffering under the changing conditions of the world today."

The Andover Chapter of the Red Cross is continuing its work in accordance with the spirit of these communications. Its production of garments, which is under the supervision of Miss Anna W. Kuhn, Chairman of the Nursing Committee, has already won commendation from National Headquarters. The work will go forward during the summer. The Chapter also will continue to receive gifts of money for the War Relief Fund. Fifteen percent of such gifts is allotted to the Local Chapter for the purchase of supplies to be used in the manufacture of clothing. As in the past, contributions may be left with the Andover National Bank or sent to Philip F. Ripley, Treasurer, 7 Abbot street, Andover.

Urge Allied Aid "Short Of War"

A program to aid the allies by shipping all available material, speeding up production of war materials, refusing aid to the Axis powers, extending credit to the Allies, and permitting U. S. citizens to volunteer in the Allied service was endorsed Monday night at the first meeting of the newly formed Andover branch of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

The meeting was mainly devoted to a discussion of plans and organizations. Temporary chairman Edmond E. Hammond appointed a nominating committee of Rev. Frederick B. Noss, school superintendent Kenneth L. Sherman, and school board member William A. Doherty to present a slate of chairman, treasurer, secretary and executive board of five members at the next meeting Monday night.

The resolutions will be transmitted to the Congressmen representing this district.

Present at the meeting were: John H. MacKenzie, Dr. Earl J. Waddington, C. Carleton Kimball, H. Garrison Holt, Rev. Mr. Noss, Mr. Doherty, Robert V. Deyermund, Atty. Alan T. Polgreen, Dr. Claude M. Fuess, Alexander Duke, Charles J. Fettes, George Mitchell, James Mitchell, George Addison, Mr. Hammond, Joseph A. McCarthy, Superintendent of Schools Sherman, Capt. L. Denis Peterkin, and Selectmen Shepard, Collins and Hardy.

What Would The Score Be?

One of the great American institutions is the opening football game at the outset of each season. For one reason or another the big, powerful colleges usually take on small colleges, the result usually being a score somewhere in the late fifties or early sixties.

The United States has the makings of a great team, but it just hasn't been playing football lately and it's going to take some time to develop a new defense, let alone a new attack. Were this country today to follow the desires of its Dorothy Thompsons and plunge into Europe's war, it would still be in the position of Squedunk Junction College facing Notre Dame—except that it wouldn't even get the guarantee that makes the small college's beating worth while. The President of this college has been talking with a good deal of bravado and indiscretion about the Axis powers, but war takes more than breast-beating. It takes guns, tanks, planes, ships—and we don't have enough to do a good job of defense in our own country, let alone offense in another country. France had all the emotional ideals that besiege us at times when the Axis powers aggress too aggressively, but you need more than emotions; you need what a former President spoke of Tuesday night as our "first line of defense—clear, realistic and sober foreign policies directed to secure respect, good will and peace."

We like the word "realistic." The United States had been getting away from it. President Roosevelt gave a fireside chat in which he frightened us by telling us how very few miles separate the possible outposts of Hitlerdom from the United States; ex-President Hoover urges that the real danger, "immediate danger," be not exaggerated, for "the 3000 miles of ocean is still a protection." With competent preparedness by men who are not so addicted to fumbling as those who have been handling the job the past few years, "no foreign nation will entertain the dangerous thought of starting over these 3000 miles of ocean."

President Roosevelt's actions and talk have been characterized by a lack of constructive foresight. Ex-President Hoover, who has a good deal more solidarity in him than his successor (it would be good for the United States if Roosevelt were also Hoover's predecessor) looks to the future when "hate will be sitting at the peace table. We might with our moral force and our counsel abate its dread consequence. I know the famine, disease and suffering that is yet to come with this war. With our economic strength and our compassion we can save millions of lives, give aid to reconstruction and inspire tolerance and hope again to the world."

Our policy must be this: we're neutral, because Germany has done nothing to us; we should be prepared, because the present leadership in Germany has shown in the past that it can forget neutrality when it feels that that's the opportune thing to do; we should do everything in our power to bring peace, to reduce suffering, and in short to defend the United States by aiding the world to return to realistic common sense.

Miss Walsh Awarded Many Honors

Male Choir Ends Successful Year

The Andover Male choir ended another year of hard, but gratifying, work with the field day on last Saturday. According to the secretary's report, the club during the year had 37 rehearsals with an average attendance of 46 out of 55 members. There were 17 public concerts on the crowded schedule, with the year's climax being the winning of the New England championship at Melrose.

In commenting on the place of the choir in the community, the report states:

The Andover Male choir has become an institution in Andover, such as few communities can boast. It has brought honor and distinction to the town and its work is much admired by the many organizations it has served. The choir is an educational, benevolent and social organization. It is educational because it gives the youth of Andover an opportunity to develop its musical talent; it is benevolent because it contributes to those agencies which promote ideal citizenship and serves the common good of all. It is social because it provides intimate fellowship among men and furnishes a restful diversion from their daily tasks. Such a group with such a background must be ever mindful of the public whom it would serve, rendering only its best efforts for every occasion.

Good leadership is essential to the success of any enterprise. The fact that this group has enjoyed so much success may be attributed to the inspiring, vigorous instruction of J. Everett Collins, the Conductor of the choir. He has given of himself, his energy, his time, and his talent such as no other member of this choir can give. Each member receives his instruction, accepts his criticism and follows his judgment without equivocation. This statement does not detract in any way from the work of the executive officials. The choir is exceptionally fortunate in having such a dynamic leader to whom the word "failure" is unknown. All this cannot be accomplished by one individual. There must be united co-operation by every member of the group and the degree of success attained by the choir signifies its genuine co-operative spirit.

We own that no small measure of success is due to the efforts of Miss Marion L. Abbott, our very efficient pianist. Her task would appear rather uninteresting, especially during rehearsals, when she may sit a whole evening merely striking a chord for pitch, without playing any accompaniment whatever. It has been demonstrated many times, that the value of an accomplished pianist lends considerable confidence to the singer or player.

Repulse Enemy
 Air-Raid On Lawrence

An enemy air-raid on the great United States industrial center of Lawrence was successfully repulsed over the week-end by Battery C, 211th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft First Corps Cadets, stationed at Camp Manning on Pumps pond.

There were no enemy air-craft of course, but if the time comes when New England is invaded, the United States Army will be ready and that's why over a hundred men with half a million dollars worth of equipment gathered here Saturday and Sunday. Four of the latest three inch aircraft guns and the latest type stereoscopic height finder were included in the equipment. The men were given intensive training in setting up the guns and in rapid firing at the imaginary enemy air-craft. Local police and fire officials aided the army unit in its work. The group will later go to Cape Cod and then on to Plattsburg in New York state.

Alumni Keep Promise Of Record Attendance At Punchard Reunion Banquet

It took the magical touch of Carleton E. Shulze to make a burnt dollar bill re-appear in an orange, but it was the enthusiastic work of the executive committee which made 275 Punchard Alumni, scattered over many states in U. S. A., appear Thursday evening in the cafeteria at the high school reunion banquet. A tremendous success, the occasion began with the alumni marching by classes to the dining room where special tables were reserved for the reunion classes.

Miss Eunice G. Stack, president of the Alumni association, who was re-elected for another term, welcomed the assembly and introduced the speakers. Rev. Frederick B. Noss, chairman of the trustees, offered the invocation. Rev. Joseph A. Robinson, returning for his 25th reunion, and Principal Nathan B. Hamblin made appropriate remarks and Dr. Guy W. Gilbert of Brockton, class of 1890, read a letter from his classmate, Frederick H. Ladd, who was unable to attend. Miss Evelyn Rutter, retiring secretary, gave the secretary's report and the roll call of classes, and Frederick W. Gould read the treasurer's report. Edmond E. Hammond, treasurer of the trustees of the trust fund, reported $5114.13 in the scholarship fund and $57.88 in the Millett fund. Scholarships were not awarded as the committee is waiting for the results of college board exams.

The nominating committee consisting of David Petrie, chairman;

Roger Whitcomb and Mrs. William V. Emmons, submitted the following slate of officers which was elected: president, Miss Eunice G. Stack; first vice-president, Joseph B. Doherty; second vice-president, Richard Sutton; third vice-president, Mrs. Paul P. Simeone; recording secretary, Miss Betty Buchan; treasurer, Frederick W. Gould; statistical secretary, Miss C. Madeleine Hewes; executive committee; Miss Everdike Thiras, Miss Annetta Anderson, Miss Ruby Laurie, David Petrie, John E. Haggerty and Robert Nicoll.

Edmond E. Hammond was re-elected a trustee of the association trust fund for three years.

At the close of the business meeting, J. Everett Collins led the singing before the alumni adjourned to the auditorium where Mr. Shulze executed his baffling tricks of magic. A grand march around the gymnasium concluding with the singing of the Punchard

Ode, once more led by Everett Collins, was followed by general dancing, and a Virginia Reel was enjoyed.

Committee: Miss Eunice Stack, chairman; Joseph B. Doherty, Miss Evelyn Rutter, Miss Gladys Downs, Frederick W. Gould, Roger Whitcomb, Miss Annetta Anderson, Miss Betty Buchan, Miss Everdike Thiras and Mrs. Madeleine Simeone.

Couple Enjoy Golden Wedding Honeymoon Visiting Children And Old Homestead

Last Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Greene quietly passed the fiftieth milestone of their married life at the old homestead, 96 Central street. Mrs. Greene was born there and it has been in her family more than 200 years.

They were married at noon, June 25, 1890, in the Old South church, by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Blair, the bride being given away by her brother, Homer Foster. The ceremony was witnessed by a large company of friends, and followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. M. Foster. The bridegroom, a graduate of Phillips academy, Amherst College and Yale Divinity school, was the son of Dr. Joseph K. Greene, who was a missionary of the American Board at Constantinople for 51 years.

Two weeks after the ceremony the newly-weds sailed from Boston on a honeymoon trip that took them six thousand miles due East to Mount Ararat. They sauntered along for three months, first through the English Lake Region, then the Scotch Lakes and the Cathedral towns, then over to Antwerp and up the Rhine to the Swiss Lakes and through the Alps to the lakes of Italy, and on to Milan, Venice, Vienna and Constantinople. After a month in this boyhood home of Mr. Greene, they followed the course of Jason in search of the golden fleece, to the end of the Black Sea. Not finding the fleece, they landed at Trebizond, mounted horses, and for three weeks climbed the trails that Xenophon and his ten thousand Greeks had descended in their retreat from the head-waters of the Euphrates in the mountains of Armenia.

In the beautiful city of Van, 6,000 feet up, the Greens made their home, while engaged in missionary and educational work. Here they had two sons. Among the little Armenian boys that Mrs. Greene helped to train, was lame Aram Torosian, now professor of Architecture in the University of California, and Haig Patigian, the foremost sculptor on the Pacific Coast.

In 1894, in order to put back the progressive and restless Armenians, the Turks began a series of massacres near Van that lasted three years and spread all over Turkey, with a quarter of a million victims. Mr. Greene's activities during these years in raising funds in the United States to save the survivors prevented his return to Turkey. He then took up social work and served for fifteen years as Executive Secretary of the United Hospital Fund of New York.

Their four sons and fifteen grandchildren are so widely scattered that Mr. and Mrs. Greene hit upon the idea of having a golden wedding honeymoon trip visiting the children. So, starting from their home in Upper Montclair, N. J., last January, they visited their son, Joseph, a chemist in the Lederle Laboratory at Pearl River, N. Y. Then they went to David, the Assistant Principal of a school in Stockton, California, and to Edward, Assistant Professor of Psychology at Ann Arbor, Michigan. The oldest son, Dr. Phillips Foster Greene, was beyond their reach at the Yale-in-China Hospital in Changsha, 700 miles in from Shanghai, where he has been leading a very strenuous life during the past three years of Japanese aggression, greatly aided and prolonged by essential supplies from the United States. Dr. Greene's wife while at Wellesley lived in the same house with Mei Ling Soong, who is now Madame Chiang Kai Shek. The last clipper letter from Dr. Greene, dated May 25, said that his wife was just starting for Chungking, the Capital of free China, which was terrifically bombed during the middle of June. It is believed that Mrs. Greene escaped by airplane to Hongkong, and joined her children in Shanghai.

The couple had a quiet observance in the rambling old Foster homestead. Homer Foster, who gave away the bride and still runs the farm, was on hand as was Dr. Edward N. Greene, the best man. Son Joseph sprung a surprise by reading a poem, one line for each year, giving the picture and spirit of an old-fashioned Andover family so well that we reprint it here that others may enjoy it:

Fifty years of love and sharing,
Fifty years of hope and caring!
Your lines have been in pleasant places,
These fifty lines are just the traces.

Fifty years of work and mending
Washing, cooking, baby-tending,
Scrubbing dirty little faces,
Putting playthings in their places.
Comforting each childish woe,
Binding up the bruised toe,
Reading stories, playing games,
Making scrap-books, guessing games.

Sending little boys to school,
Teaching them to mind the rule,
Reading stories from God's Word,
Teaching us to love the Lord.

Praying much, forgiving often,
Teaching us our words to soften,
Giving good advice when needed,
Oft repeated when unneeded.

Making plans and dreaming dreams,
Mending socks and sewing seams,
Watching boys grow tall and taller,
As the clothes look small and smaller.

Sending youths away to college,
In the hope of useful knowledge,
Writing letters without fail
Every Tuesday, for the mail.

Seeing all the brood get scattered,
Their best good was all that mattered,
Seems as though you've done quite well,
You could stop and rest a spell.

But hardly had your rest begun
When grandchildren start to run,
So dear Grandma starts once more
All the tasks she did of yore,

Taking many hours to bake
Cookies, bread and gingercake,
Tending babies, knitting sweaters,
Keeping up the much-loved letters.

Who would have thought so long ago,
How large the family would grow!
All four sons found loving spouses
And have homes in pleasant houses.

Grandchildren number now fifteen,
Strong and lively, kind and clean,
Fifty years of love and cares,
Fifty years of answered prayers.

Your sons and families now say
God bless your Golden Wedding Day.

You Wouldn't CHURN BUTTER

It would be ridiculous for you to milk the cow—pour pails full of milk into a tub—and then churn until every muscle ached. Ridiculous, because modern methods bring butter to you ready to serve. It's just as old fashioned for you to do your own washing and ironing! Why? Because modern methods take soiled clothes out of your home—and bring them back.

MEDICAL AID FOR CHINA

To the Editor:

When gunmen are on rampage, shall we double bolt the front door and leave the back door wide open? Our back door is the great trade areas of Asia that by their purchases give work to Americans here and contribute to the high standard of living in the U. S. A.

The Chinese of free China in four years of bloody warfare have held this back door for us against aggressors.

Shall we desert them now, when their wounded are mercifully being shot because there are insufficient bandages and medicines to dress their wounds? Shall we not rather send them a little aid?

Will you contribute to buy medicines, supplies and/or bandages for the Free people of China? Do not fear: Every dollar is conscientiously distributed. However small, your gift will be heartily welcome. A dollar goes far in China, where costs are unbelievably low. You can, therefore, do actually more good with a dollar spent this way than in almost any other way. The need is as great as any of the great needs in the world today.

See what Bishop Sherrill of Massachusetts says in welcoming into being our own Local Chapter of the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China:

"My dear Mr. Wood,

Your letter has been received, and I am very glad to commend most highly the cause of the American Bureau of Medical Aid to China. The need in China I know from many of my personal friends there is tremendous, and even the greatest help which we can give would prove to be inadequate to relieve all of the human suffering which is there. I shall be very glad to have you use my name in any way which will be of help in this regard.

Faithfully yours,
Henry K. Sherrill."

May we count on you to join the membership of the new unit now?

Andover Chapter
